RAILROAD OFFICIALS HERE

INSPECT THE LOCAL GROUNDS

Disquieting Report Appearing in Lincoln Journal About Depot Prospect in Wayne.

There have been no definite developments regarding the building of a new depot in Wayne, though some suggestions have appeared to arouse interest and anxiety. A special train of three coaches carrying leading M. & O. officials stopped for a brief time in Wayne this morning. Among them were A. W. Trebilcock, general manager; F. B. Pechin, general superintendent; P. E. Nicolas, division superintendent; E. Bigle, superintendent of terminals; Charles W. Johnson, chief engineer, and several other officials belonging to operating departments of the road.

The visitors looked over the grounds here and talked about building a sewer to carry off waste water. They said nothing about building a new depot, except that some members of the party were quoted as mentioning that the officials were anxious to know the decision of the railway commission.

This paragraph appearing in the Lincoln Journal yesterday suggests a suspicion that would not meet the demands of traffic here and would give rise to a profitable outcry of dissatisfaction. The state railway commission has announced the approval of a change in the time card of the M. & O. railroad. Many minor changes have been made in the time of the leaving of trains from Omaha to Sioux City, but the most important change is the extension of train No. 50 which will be running from Bloomfield to Wayne. This train will be extended from Wayne to Emerson, where passengers will change for the main line. It will relieve the congestion complained of at the Wayne depot. Wayne is proposed to build a new depot, but the railway commission held a hearing and investigated the situation. Instead of getting a new depot, Wayne will have to continue to use the present one.

It is understood that the proposed change in train time which is slated to go into effect soon, would bring the westbound morning passenger from Sioux City at 9:30, not departing at Emerson with the Omaha train. The proposed change would mean that the Omaha passenger would arrive at the Omaha passenger. This arrangement would accommodate Omaha passengers bound for Wakefield, Wayne and points on the branch, but not those going to Winfield, Hastings and Norfolk. It has been suggested that the railway company of the new schedule would be to lessen congestion of traffic at this point, and thus reduce the cause for building a new depot. But it is believed the arrangement would not meet the demands of traffic handled at this point, and would be regarded by Wayne people as a most feeble attempt to satisfy local needs. But in view of the fact that the state commission has sanctioned the change, the railway company has no objection to assume the loss of the report of such a disposal of

A FIELD FOR CO-OPERATION.

Omaha Trade Exhibit, One of the burning issues of the recent municipal election at Seward, Neb., was whether the hitching posts should be replaced around the court house square. It was decided by a vote of 17 to 13, not to replace them. From this distance the decision seems sensible, since there are reported to be ample hitching facilities in the side streets.

It is impossible to determine the amount of business caused by our being tiny towns by the extremely unsatisfactory conditions prevailing around hitching racks. For one thing, such places are prolific breeding grounds for that nasty and disgusting pest, the fly.

A public good and pleasing hitching-watering and feeding facilities at nominal charges, kept in a clean and sanitary condition, and under the management of a general association of the business and mercantile, is probably the best solution to the hitch rack problem.

There and there individual merchants have found it a paying investment to provide such facilities, and for the benefit of their patrons, if it pays individuals to do this, it certainly seems that a co-operative movement among a number of merchants for the benefit of the community would be a factory result, and at much less expense.

ALBERT MILLER, EVANGELIST.
Albert Miller, the young man referred to in an article in Monday's Herald, is now preaching the Wayne State Normal, and is preparing himself for greater usefulness in religious fields. He is now supplying the Christian pupils at Waterford, and is spring to "evangelize" every other Sabbath. The news article says:
"Evangelist Albert Miller, who delivers the opening sermon at the seven-month annual convention of the Fourth District Nebraska Christian Association society Monday evening, is no stranger in Norfolk, having received his education in this city under the direction of J. L. Stine, formerly pastor of the local Christian church and chief principal of the Harrington, Nebraska school."
"Mr. Miller is probably the youngest evangelist in the state to deliver sermons in two languages. He is now about 19 years old, and at the age of 17 delivered sermons at evangelistic meetings in different parts of the state."
"Mr. Miller, although claiming Wayne, Neb., as his home, really belongs to Norfolk. The story of this young evangelist is a unique one. About fourteen years ago he came from Germany with his parents and located in Minnesota, where his father died a few years later. At the age of seven he was brought to Norfolk by Mr. Wilkie, so the Deutsche Pacific hotel in Norfolk, where his sister, now Mrs. John Steinhauser of West Point, was engaged as a waitress. He was left with his mother in Norfolk."
"He studied after working hours at the German Lutheran schools and later became interested in the Christian faith, which was confirmed. His superior knowledge of the English language and his soon the leader of the choir. It was at this time that Mr. Stine became interested in the boy, who became an apt pupil. Today he is speaking at evangelistic meetings in both German and English. He preaches and delivers sermons in both languages."

THE ROLL OF TEACHERS.
The school board met Monday evening and elected three teachers, filling all departments except two—Mathematics and Language. The three elected Monday night are Miss Eva Bushman for the fifth grade, Miss Pearl Sevell for the eighth grade, and Miss Josephine Graves for the science department. In the High School, Miss Bushman was undecided about taking the place again until recently, when she concluded to do so. Miss Sevell has been teaching in Norfolk for a few years, but her home is in Wayne. Miss Graves has been teaching the first year at Laramie, Wyo., but formerly taught in this city and is well known here. Here is the roll of teachers thus far employed:
Professor A. H. King, superintendent.
Mrs. M. A. Phillips, principal.
Miss Josephine Graves, science department.
Miss Pearl Sevell, eighth grade.
Miss Emma Hughes, seventh grade.
Miss Ella Leahy, sixth grade.
Miss Eva Bushman, fifth grade.
Miss Irene Bushman, fourth grade.
Miss Irene Ferguson, third grade.
Miss Ethel Scherwin, second grade.
Miss Manie Wallace, first grade.

There is talk that it may be necessary to employ still another teacher for the grades. Every one of the grades is crowded.

COMMENCEMENT AT SHOLES.
Professor Ben F. Robinson, principal of the Sholes school, was in Wayne Saturday. He was recently re-elected to his present position with his salary increased from $900 to $1,000 per year, an evidence of appreciation which naturally makes him feel good. He organized the Sholes school with ten grades four years ago, and after having been in charge, he will return two years ago, which he did, and has since been in charge. He will have the first commencement exercises in the history of the school this spring, when nine young people will graduate and receive diplomas. The final program will be rendered May 19, when the school closes for the year. Here are the names of the graduates: Alice Gramdin, Alice Root, Iva Root, Emma Clark, Ida Clark, Vera Sallan, Lee Sallan, Erna Davidson and Resie Grant.

THE 1911

United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separators.

The skimming power is there. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—0.333 of one per cent.

With the new interlocking skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so intensified, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so lengthened, that the skimming force is increased, that the interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly one-half and runs with about half the power required for older models.

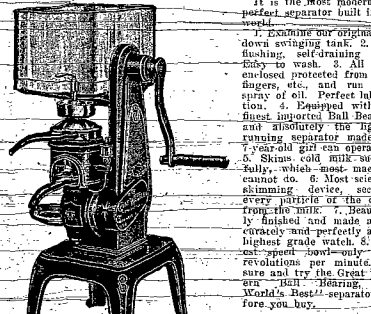

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the heating volume of the whole milk evenly outside the cream zone, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk and increasing the life of the milk. The interlocking bowl of the Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

EARLY DAYS IN THREE COUNTIES

HAPPENINGS AT FOUR PERIODS

Chief Events in Wayne County Thirty Years Ago—Old Times in Cedar and Dixon Counties.

J. M. Strahan of Malvern, Ia., arrived in town.
From Wayne Review, published by Hunter & Childs at La Porte, April 21, 1881:

School opened with eighteen scholars Monday morning. There are 37 scholars in the county, compared to 491 in 1879.

Ernest Behmer reports that seven teen persons are on their way from Germany to Wayne county, where they will farm, among the number being a son of Mr. Behmer.

R. Willig last week sent out cattle during the winter, besides one seal, selling a valuable horse, Dr. E. Moss of the Prussia farm reports that his horses have been confined to one cow and a two-year-old steer.

Last Sunday the Logan creek was the highest that has been known by the oldest inhabitant. The wind was on the few days, preceding had noticed the snow so rapidly that the banks of the stream could not contain the rising water, and the consequence was that the bottom lands were overflowed from bluff to bluff, in many places from two to three miles wide. All the bridges in Dixon and Wayne counties are reported gone or wrecked except one near Frank Green's and that over the Detroit branch by T. L. Reed's. The rail road grade is badly damaged, the water being over it from ten to eighteen inches. Jens Nelson's house was surrounded by water and he was compelled to take his family to a neighbor's, leaving his stock to high bluff. McHenry took his family out of his house in a boat, as did also Mr. Elliott. The water came up to the windows in D. L. Lask's house and his wife's farm was flooded.

The new bridge near Laska's, which was built by Frank S. Hesperidge of Sioux City at a cost of $1,300, raised up in the center, and will probably break in two in the next season. This and the new bridge over South Logan creek probably all the longer sustained by Wayne county. Last Dixon report has advised the loss of several if not all of her bridges across the Logan. Some of our bridges will probably remain, but the Logan creek does sometimes get out of its banks and that the bottom land is subject to inundation from one to three feet.

Twenty-two persons took refuge in the woods from the high water being at flood.

L. T. Reed, W. G. Morley and others took the folks here in town yesterday, having arrived across the Logan creek on a wagon load.

By the prompt action of Commissioner McGuire and others the lower bridge across Logan creek will be saved with but slight damage.

Through the operations of William G. Morley the Conover bridge was stopped and anchored a short distance below where it originally stood.

The new bridge being put in by W. P. Apler over the South Logan, near Myers' was badly wrecked, but fortunately was not carried away.

From the Wayne Herald, published at Wayne by W. H. McNeal, April 16, 1891:

The summer normal at Wayne has aroused great interest.
Charles Herick has arranged to open his factory at Wayne.

Die, April 11, 1891, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Legan.
The young son of Fred Ulrich had one of his fingers crushed in a corn shell.

News of the death of Mrs. Lodge, who formerly lived in Wayne, reached this city.
John Sherbahn is hauling brick for the new residence of Dr. A. C. Chick, Phil Landrum and John Hartigan.

Dr. B. B. Beyer is preparing a chair for James Drifton, a residence for J. M. Strahan, and an addition to the residence of J. N. Lawrence.

The Carroll Tribune mentions a musical concert to be given by Professor Davies of Wayne to raise funds with which to lay an organ for the Methodist Episcopal church at La Porte.

The Wisconsin Watchman mentions that John T. Argesser was in that town to complete arrangements for playing out an addition, which would be placed and the lots offered at auction sale.

The cow did not smell very good, yet the variety of the braves really took possession of it, skinned it and sold the hide and carried away the meat for cooking purposes.

SPHERDITY IN BUSINESS.
Sheridan, Ore., Sun: It may be set down as a decided fact and axiom is a proposition that a successful business and a business has no chance in a business deal, and he who is overestimating grasping for the best of the bargain and exacting the toll, in the last instance is sure to be overthrown. In his trading and in his business, the object of success by those who would deal liberally and fairly. No greater principle than a business man make than to be close and mean in business. The penny will not count finally against the cash. Liberal expenditure in the way of business is just that much capital invested that is sure to return a revenue without squandering. There are people in the world who are short-sighted enough to believe that their interest is best in the long run by grasping and clinging to all they can get and never letting a cent slip through their fingers. As a general thing it will be found, other things being equal, that he who is liberal and most successful in business. Of course we do not mean it to be indulgent that a man should be indulgent in his expenditures, but that he should show his customers, if he is a trader, of those whom he may be doing business with, that in all his business transactions as well as social relations, he acknowledges the superiority of the liberal and can be no permanent prospect, or good feeling, or community which benefits are not reciprocal.

MINISTERS REFERS TO WAYNE.
Several Wayne parties attended a minstrel show at Norfolk Friday night, and were amused by this rhyme which appeared on the tip of one of the actors' noses.

All are splittin' cotton.
The bar is gone,
But it's not forgotten.

was another cold spell, when it went down to 31, and the night of the 4th to 7th, but there was nothing to freeze, so it did little damage. This was the first time since the 21st of January that the three days and the weather was something awful to contemplate. This spring has somewhat cool and every thing as if it should be.

PIONEER SUICIDES.

Pioneer suicide to Thursday's Norfolk Daily News: W. A. Tawney, a pioneer of 100 years, was a member of the Wisconsin State Fair, Minnesota, in whose hall President Fair made his famous Wisconsin tariff speech a year ago last fall, admitted suicide last evening on his farm three miles west of Omond, by hanging.

The man was in poor health, having given a quarter section of land. He is not known to have worried about anything. Temporary insanity, the coroner's jury was the cause. A leading physician of Omond, who examined his lips in indignity. The same summer ten or twelve years ago.

Tawney told a tale to a father and grandfather. He leaves a wife and three young children from 12 to 16 years of age. His wife was a widow for so far as known. He was insured in the Modern Woodmen lodge and was a church member.

The father lives in Saunders county, Iowa, and is now in the Wisconsin formerly of Pierce, is now engaged in sheep ranching at Grand Junction, Colo., an extensive scale.

Tawney was 42 years old. He was considered a splendid citizen and a good father. At times, however, he was moody.

LOCATING AN INCUBUS.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: A prominent southern member of the Wisconsin is reported to have remarked that Mr. Bryan is the greatest democratic incubus and one of the best republican assets. A great many democrats, observing Bryan's activity in shipping money out of the country, will agree with this opinion, though perhaps not included at the moment to see so. But in Bryan or the party itself, the incubus? Three times he has been the nominee and in each of the three battles he received over 2,000,000 more votes than ever given any other democratic candidate. The democratic record vote Bryan-Bryan's advent was Cleveland's 5,566,618 in 1892. Bryan's record vote in 1896 was 5,566,618 in 1896. It is a fact that in 1896 was an incubus in 1892 led to the nomination of Parker, who was named under, getting a total vote of only 5,074,211 and losing by the unaccounted majority of 5,566,618.

There is a democratic incubus somewhere. But is it the man who has far exceeded any other man in gaining votes for the party? There is apparently a paradox in the situation, but the simple fact is that there are not enough votes in the country to elect anybody to the presidency. The people decline to give the party a vote of confidence. Bryan is his party's best vote getter, but he is not the best vote getter in the country. He has received 5,566,618 of 5,000,000 to 1,250,000. The party owes him some gratitude for his democratic high-water marks. They fell short, but he did the best he could, and better than Parker, who was elected the best of Harlan or Woodrow Wilson. Democrats who are railing for their ineptness in national politics should not open fire on Bryan without examining these figures. Here is the point: Bryan obtains more votes than the best of Harlan or Woodrow Wilson. The democratic best, therefore, falls short. Calling the best an incubus suggests that the label should be put on the party itself, and not on its strongest candidate.

AN HONEST HORSE TRADER.

Harrington News: Henry Korff reports a deal that goes to show that all horse dealers are on the order of the Kansas-Jeans. Some weeks ago he bought a span of mules for some of the county of Harlan, by D. H. Bruns, and King. The mules were returned to be sound. Mr. Korff notified and called attention to a slight abrasion on the ear of one of the mules. In a few weeks this abrasion had become a sore, and he wrote Mr. Bruns, who replied that he would be here soon. He arrived, and after an examination of a veterinary, who pronounced the abrasion a cancer, he promptly paid Mr. Korff the full purchase price, cheerfully and without a protest of any kind.

Lots of time is wasted in hesitating over things you know you will finally do anyhow.

At its session last Monday evening the official board appointed William Beckenhauer and Oliver Graves a committee to make a general inspection of the church—a much needed improvement.

The bazaar and supper given by the Ladies' Aid society last Thursday afternoon and evening took in gross receipts of $115. Presbyterian— (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held at the church on Wednesday evening of last week. The reports of the pastor and presbytery showed the church in a flourishing condition, and the various organizations also reported progress during the year. Mr. Arthur Enry was elected as an elder to serve for the ensuing three years, and Mr. P. O. Philleo was elected to fill the place of Messrs. Dan Harrington and P. O. Philleo. At the close of the business session a reception was tendered to the new members who have recently united with the church, and light refreshments were served.

"The Altness of Christ" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. At this service, Mr. F. G. Philleo, who was chosen as an elder at the recent congregational meeting, will be ordained and installed.

In the evening the pastor will continue his exhorting sermons, which he has been preaching from the book of Romans. The subject next Sunday evening will be—"How the Gospel Promotes Morality, or the Practical Result of Denying Justification by Faith." A new Junior society has been organized and meets every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Mamie Wallace is the superintendent, and the outlook for the Juniors is excellent.

Why I Sell Only Groceries of Known Quality

Did you ever stop to think why I sell only such well known quality brands of groceries as Chase & Sanborn's Coffee, Advo Canned Goods, White Pearl Flour, and many other brands to numerous? Here's the answer: The manufacturers of these goods have spent thousands of dollars and years of hard work establishing their products and maintaining their name and reputation for quality. The people soon found out that it paid to buy these well known, advertised goods because the quality was there and they were cheaper in the long run. And now the manufacturers wouldn't think of lessening the quality of their products, they couldn't afford to. That's why I sell these well known brands—because I know their quality will never be lessened and their uniformity will never vary. So if you want the best things to eat you want to come here to get them. Nothing but the best is sold at this store.

FIVE AMENDMENTS.
Lynch law. One year from November Nebraska voters will have some five measures in addition to some fifty more to pass judgment upon. Rather, these five measures will be passed upon just about one year from today. The constitutional amendments depends on whether they receive party endorsement at the primaries so as to have party circle votes counted for them at the election. Next year is presidential year and the new primary law the primary law one that went in mid-April so as to include delegates to national conventions. These measures, as summed up by Senator Selbeck, are constitutional amendments providing for:
1. The initiative and referendum.
2. Home-made charters for cities of over 5,000 population.
3. A board of control for charitable and penal institutions.
4. Limiting to twenty days the time for the introduction of bills in legislatures.
5. Biennial elections.
Each one of five of these measures are of such fundamental importance that the voter's task will not be hard one. There is no visible opposition for any of the first four. There would be no questioning of the fifth, the biennial elections amendment, but it is stamped under the burden of filling at one election or after one campaign the forty or more offices now dealt with at two elections and after two campaigns.
Parents and organizations specially interested in one or more of these measures will doubtless see that the voters do not forget them. One of the good laws of the first legislature is one that has been long since forgotten, but the voter's attention. Election officials hereafter required, as they hand out the ballots, to remind voters that measures as well as men are there to be voted upon.

LAW FOR LAZY HUSBANDS.
Omnibus. Among the varied assortment of reform laws enacted by the late California legislature is one dealing with lazy husbands, who fail or refuse to support their families. The law, from the spirit that involved in the law, to work already having modified his first victim and given him a job on the chain-gang. Under the provisions of this novel statute the man who fails to support his family for a week and the money is devoted to the support of his neglected family. The law assumes full responsibility for seeing that the man earns enough to warrant the state or county in paying that amount to his dependents.
It seems at first glance to be a fair proposition. Chain gangs when properly directed may be turned to great account, and surely in these days of liberal wages, any able-bodied man should earn his most money. But that is only one side of the question and the least important one. To think of the moral effect—how it will inculcate the spirit of industry and will quell senses of obligation. Homes now filled with these mental indolences will be brightened, hearts gladdened and greasy bills paid. Under the beneficent workings of such a law, a wife's comfort and support rest entirely with herself—that is, if she can get comfort and support out of the man provided he is supported. "Gives her, all she has to do is to borrow the use of a telephone to call up the police and report the case. In a few minutes the delinquent husband is in his pickup or shoved in hand to do by the sweat of his brow and the pool of the law what his own accord he would not do.
Here is one, personal liberty law that cannot be considered for its inherent weakness to accomplish what it set out to do, for its compulsory clause seems to be fully equal to the demands that will be made upon it.

SOBRIETY WAGES WAR.
Biblicy in Lincoln. Senator Sorenson is waging a war of extermination on a small army of what he terms "necessary quacks" who impose upon the credulity of the residents and fish from their innocent victims' purses of money, giving nothing in return but quantities of useless and often injurious dope. In many cases making them recover under scientific treatment. The senator forgets that this is a free country, and that Omaha is rather a stickler for the liberty that prevents the individual to prey or prevent upon, as he may elect. If the fellow who is physically down and unable to select his own occupation, and be freed of on the installment plan, so much more monthly can be advanced, whose trust is not to be broken, but the doctor agrees to "bring him out" in six months or "bring him out" in six months or "bring him out" in six months, and he finds himself "all in" when the time has elapsed, how are you going to improve that the doctor is a fault-finder.

TESTING THE "YOUNG BUD"

Old Bachelor Strays Into Young Police Party and Turns a Heat-Corn-Plimant.

An old bachelor had somewhat arrived into young people's parties and realizing that he could not hope, among so many handsome youths, to make the best of a stiff and frothy froth, he said to the nearest girl whose conversation had shown some what more good sense than he had experienced.

"Look about the room. Notice that the girls have removed their gloves and that the boys have not removed theirs."

"But neither generalization is me," answered the girl, "and you see, have one arm bare and one glove what would you say about me?"

"I would ask you to let me look at them," said the old bachelor confidently.

The girl took a few steps out, paused, and returned.

"Take the other glove off," said the old bachelor.

Real is a Beautifier.

Real is one of the greatest of beautifiers. It not only gives a complete relaxation to its occupant, immediately the nerves and muscles are relieved of their tension the sweats that are given off by a certain stiffness is experienced. Many you do who long for a clear, fresh complexion, fewer wrinkles, bright eyes and an enviable complexion would find these things within their grasp if they added an hour or two to their slumbers. Resting for five minutes or longer is very refreshing during the day.

RANDOLPH BEATS PIERCE.
The Randolph high school debating team which defeated Wayne students in debate recently won from Pierce at the state chess festival. The question being "Resolved, That the policy of maintaining a United States at its present strength is preferable to a policy of substantially increasing it." Professor H. H. Hall of the Wayne State Normal was one of the three judges. Randolph 49th next, Charles Madison and the will be decided the championship of the north central district.

Compliment of Envy.
But the public does recognize that a man who is not doing even a little better than his neighbor is doing better and he is actually advertised by a band of cheap competitors who neglect their own affairs for the sole purpose of knocking and sitting up to take notice of him and his increasing business. For five minutes or longer he is doubly secure. He will have no real competitors—envy is a complaint.

Medical Genus.
An old doctor, seeing a young one who was going along the street with half a dozen shabby-looking men and women, called him and said: "Who are all these people, and where are you going with them?" "I will tell you in confidence," was the reply. "I've hired them to come to my clinic in my reception room. I expect a rich patient this morning, and I want to make an impression on him."—Judge.

Remarkable Gifts.
The late Mrs. Perkins kept in his library at Yorkers a strap-book of typographical errors—perhaps the most complete of these errors. It was a gift from the society column of a fashionable New York paper.

Little Foreign Trade in West China.
The amount of foreign goods coming into the west of China is small as compared with the size of the population. Until the means of transportation are improved, the trade in this section of the empire is brought into touch with the outside world, but little improvement may be expected in foreign trade opportunities in West China.

Pennsylvania's Largest Newspaper.
The Pennsylvania's largest newspaper has four bottles of seventeen year old cognac as follows: 1821, 1826, 1836 and 1895. He was 12 years old when he was born and he was 72 years old. Each bottle is labeled and contains the name of the date when it was made. Philadelphia Record.

RUBARB SOMETIMES POISONOUS.

Unlucky Correspondence in Omaha. That ordinary rubbish, at a certain stage of its development, some times contains highly active poisons has been determined, and is fixed as a condition of person interested in the matter. The correspondence in the case of Mr. W. Crozier and the severe illness of his husband, both of whom were poisoned at their home in University Place last week. Other vegetation found in the Crozier yard from which the poison was taken, was proved to have no dangerous qualities, according to an analysis made by Deau C. E. Bessey, head of the botanical department of the University of Nebraska.

Corresponding Dr. Mrs. Crozier, who, we are told, was very ill, was treated upon Mrs. Crozier Saturday, rubarb at times develops dangerous toxins, which injected into animals have caused conditions similar to those in the Crozier case.

Springtime housecleaning is due, and the housewife, with Mr. Easter has replaced with a remnant of a last year's apron, and a scrubbing brush in the kitchen. The scrubbing brush, which, after a week's use, is likely to suffer somewhat of an abridgement.

Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

These doctors are considered by many of our patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases, and so great and wonderful are their results that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nervous system, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, for ulcers, weak lungs and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, gonorrhea or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first to attempt to wear the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with knife, with blood and with all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous ailments.

They will have X-ray or biplane fluorium for chemical analysis and microscopic examinations.

Diagnosis often has been correct in the past.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind. If your case is incurable they will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or your friends or relatives who are suffering because of your sickness, as a visit at this time costs you nothing and may help you.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and members with their families.

cost of which a young college man can live "on the edge of poverty" is New York.

The items don't sound extravagant—hall bedroom at $1 a week, hall room meals at $1 a day, two suits of hand-made clothes, one overcoat, a moderate amount of underclothes and linen, theater eight times a year, a little stationery, a few postage stamps, and $1 a week for spending money. The total is $925, with nothing for travel, food, 1675, dentist, druggists or Christmas presents.

If it costs the young college man with no family $925 a year to balance on the edge of poverty, what does it cost the old college man with his wife and children?—The answer is he gets off easy.

And how about the average young man with a big family and less than the sum of $720 offered by the parsimonious school board of New York? Compared with some people, the average young man is a college graduate. The fact remains that in a world of plenty it's a tough problem for most people to make a living.

Perhaps we shall manage better later on.

EMIGRANT ON COAST COUNTRY

The migrating birds from W. Idaho appear in the last issue of the Wakefield Republican, and is a view of the coast country not usually presented: "Waverly, Cal., March 31, 1911.—Wm. B. I request you are looking for a letter by this time. I did not locate in Oregon. I was in the state nine days. Central Oregon is still a wilderness, especially around the sheep range lines set apart of cross country. The region there is to be well defined tracks. I looked over the situation at Klamath Falls and found it a poor place to invest money. Marsh land around the Klamath lakes is held at $75 to $100 per acre. The price is based on the theory that when drained it will make good alfalfa land, but I wouldn't know how much it will cost to drain the land, nor how much labor and how much water it will require. The land is boggy and lies two to four feet above the surface of the lakes. Valley land outside the marshes is held at $100 per acre. The theory is that it will make good alfalfa and fruit land. Klamath Falls is 4,000 feet above the sea level—low high for fruit growing in some of the areas that have a high north and low south background. The nights are cold. Corn needs slow growth except in July and August. Only two ordinary crops of alfalfa can be harvested. Nearly all land values in the west are based on some kind of a theory—the substance of the theory is the farmer's money. I heard of a land owner while at the Falls. If there is any land there to be purchased it is probably some of the hills that border the valley. The ranches might be of some value for raising frogs and muskrats. The hills would afford pasture for a few cows. "I was in the coast country, California, five weeks. During the time I was there forty inches of snow fell, and the mercury was below zero twelve times, reaching at one time to 40 below. I can remember not seeing a snowflake. At 150 miles north of Sacramento, the southern part of the California basin is a bed of yellow sand with a mixture of brown and clayey particles productive when wet water, and mud and kaolin are the only crops that can be depended on here to grow without irrigation. Unimproved land without water rights in this part is held at $50 to $100 per acre. Improved land $150 to $300 per acre, and on up, according to improvements. "The truth about western land told in a few words is this: All the best land—timber, ranch, mining, springs, and locations, have been bought up and are held at such high prices that no money can be made on moderate investments. The only way for anyone to get a large tract of land is to get a small tract of good Oregon or California fruit land, occupy it, and while developing it raise chickens and berries. By doing a person could get a large tract of land, establish themselves on a fairly good footing. However, it should be remembered that fruit growing by money men, even in California, is not a successful success. There is no money to be made in fruit growing. A few years ago there was a crop of acres of pear trees that were planted. Just now, peach trees are affected with root knots. The chances of success in fruit growing are small. The market for fruit is not always good. If the fruit crop is heavy both in quantity and price are low. Then, again, if growers do not understand fruit packing, they are obliged to patronize the packers, and the commission men cut off a large margin of the profit. The fruit grower's net profit will be well below what the business is overdone. Pigs and chickens are a crop and pay well, but it is not a considerable one. There are a few things to be noted in the eighth year. There are fortunes in raising chickens for those who can raise to pay, but it takes two to fifty years for a season to get the money out of the timber. During all ways pay well. Pastures are green here on the year round, but no one should begin on starting in the dairy business with less than $20,000. "One thing is not clear to have no money. Anyone who goes land here, get land to sell. Those who have no money. Anyone who can do well here should be able to do well in the eastern states. The homestead act is not in force in this region in crossing the Rocky mountains, but that is to enjoy the climate. Anyone who has plenty of money and likes sandy land, and some good crops, and can realize comfort in the presence of bugs and pests and in the possession of sea-birds, can find in southern California their ideal paradise. "The people who expect to find general improvements in California will be disappointed. Most farm tracts are built a great deal on the plan of small barns without roofs. There isn't one farm house in six that is painted. "Some of the hills that border the valley are better than they were twenty years ago. It is a good place for Asiatic laborers, but the poorest place in the world for American folk that follow common work. On fruit crops, Asiatic laborers are provided with living quarters, but American workmen are still obliged to carry blankets and sleep out of doors, in barns, under sheets, or any place they can find to sleep. "The law has got a step to open gambling, but season license is still low. The state license is only $15 per month. Some small towns have a season license for 100 inhabitants. In most small towns both seasons and the stores are open on Sundays. The average old timers and the average native born Californians indulge to excess in liquor—strong and probably the same. "The fruit crop is not so good as it was with the rest of the country still retains a portion of the rough, filthy, barbaric ways of the once wild and uncivilized west. "With the exception of a variety of scenery, landscape, soils and climates, there are several peculiar features. Among them are Auburn, Oakland and Santa Cruz. To whom honor his cup of them, let it be said there are good people in the state, and there are some good neighborhoods—just a few—Turlock is one. "Californians want eastern men and money, but they don't want new comers. In fact, they are not interested in affairs. In other states a man can vote here. He has been a resident for six months. A man can't vote in California until he has lived within the state for a year. "California is a great state, indeed. It is the land of fruit and flowers, sunshine and shadow, mild ocean breezes and snow. It has mountains that reach the clouds and valleys that are fertile and rich. The people here are of many races and colors, and there are many who have prospered. It has nearly all kinds of weather in all three of the states. Among the laborers are people of all nations and creeds and faiths, even dog worshippers. Yes, in reality they are dog worshippers, for they are more interested in dogs than in the welfare of the human family. California is 500 miles long and is infested with grafters from one end to the other. It has a few good statesmen and a host of corrupt politicians. In other words, California is a mixture—a combination of all that is good and evil—the latter appearing at the top—being conspicuous throughout and formed in a crust at the bottom. "If people from the east who at first look upon California as a new acquisition in 1913 make it a part of their business to investigate rural conditions and to search out graft, the California boom will come to an end before the first of the year. "I will leave to him in a few days and go to central Texas. When I get located, I will write and let you know what conditions are in the Lone Star state. Closing, I will say: Central Oregon needs railroads. California needs good citizens. "W. BALDFO.
