STANDARD OIL MAN ON ROAD IMPROVEMENT

URGES USE OF OIL FOR STREETS

Explains the Cost to Number of Wayne Business Men—Committee Will Investigate

Mr. Curtis, representative of the Standard Oil company, was in Wayne from Lincoln last Friday to explain the cost of using oil for streets. He said that the cost of oil for streets is about four and seven tenths cents per gallon, that the first application would require two thirds of a gallon to the square yard, and subsequent applications only a year or so later to the square yard. He explained that after the streets have been oiled for four or five years, they will be all right for two or three years without oiling. An attachment to apply the oil costs $50. Mr. Curtis said that the cost of sprinkling during a season.

Members of the Commercial club have become very much interested in the proposition to use oil for street and road improvement. They have organized a committee to visit St. Louis and other points to inspect oiled streets. They have also talked to members of the county board with the view of an expenditure from the highway fund for an experimental road leading from Wayne. The fund is designed for road improvement, and there is no more available place in the county for the type of a stretch of oiled road than on the highway.

VON SEGGERN BRESLER

The union of two young people in the sacred bonds of matrimony was witnessed by forty relatives and friends at the spacious home of Mayer and Mrs. John T. Bressler Thursday evening at 6 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Kate, was married to Mr. William E. Von Seggern, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Von Seggern of this city. Good taste was shown in the decorations, with an avoidance of excess or ostentation. Yellow roses, yellow and white daisies and spray were used. At 8 o'clock, the bride was attended for the ceremony, with brides drawn the house was brilliantly lighted with electricity.

At this hour, Harriet Susanna of Sioux City struck up a wedding march. At 8 o'clock, the bride appeared, the bridesmaid on the arm of her father. The bride looked splendid in a gown of white chiffon over silk and carrying a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. Froelich, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Alexander Conkey of the Presbyterian church.

Following usual felicitations a four-course dinner of excellent quality was served. During the presence of the dinner and throughout the evening Harriet Susanna furnished music. In the

RAILWAY COMMISSION GIVES LONG-NEEDED NEW DEPOT

SUCCESSFUL EFFORT OF COMMERCIAL CLUB FOR WAYNE

Plans for Proposed Building Must be Submitted to Commission for Approval by Middle of June

COMPANY CANNOT USE WOOD IN CONSTRUCTION OF WALLS

Commission Reviews Evidence Adduced at Hearing and is Convinced of Justice of City's Demand

The railroad company has been instructed to build a new depot at Wayne. Such is the order of the state railway commission. P. A. Berry, secretary of the Commercial club received a copy of the order yesterday. It sets forth the needs of a new depot here, and that it be built of material other than timber, and that plans for the improvement and location be submitted to the commission not later than June 15. After plans have been approved, the commission will fix the time for the completion of the structure.

The decision for the city adds a new and important link to the chain of achievements forged by the Wayne Commercial club. Wayne rejoices over the result, and should not fail to give credit to the active and effective efforts of the commercial club. Following is the complete report made by the commission:

Before the Nebraska State Railway Commission. F. A. Berry, complainant, vs. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway company, defendant. Formal complaint No. 41. Submitted March 30, 1911. Decided April 25, 1911.

SUIT AGAINST TWO WINSIDE SALOON MEN ARE ASKED TO PAY BIG DAMAGES

Mrs. Maude E. Worthen Charges Failure of Husband's Support and Unlawful Sold by Defendants.

Attorneys Berry & Berry filed in the district court here yesterday a suit brought by Mrs. Maude E. Worthen in behalf of herself and six minor children, against George T. Manfrico and John Dimmel, proprietors of saloons at Winside, asking for $5,000, with interest from April 25, 1911, claiming that they sold liquor to her husband, James Worthen, and that thereby he had become a drunkard and incapacitated to follow his occupation and this has failed to support his family. The action also seeks against the parties of the defendants' maintenance. The plaintiff alleges that the sumner named should be paid to recover the damage sustained by herself and six minor children.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS FILED

Attorney Fred S. Berry is in Lincoln this week to file in the supreme court the petition and bill of exceptions in the appeal of William Flegle, who was convicted at the district court at Wayne of selling his sister, Louise Flegle, and sentenced by Judge Garber to life imprisonment. Flegle's attorneys have noted seventy-five assignments of error, and the petition occupies fifty-two typewritten pages. There are 1,843 pages covered by the bill of exceptions.

THE WEEK AT THE STATE NORMAL

A meeting of the board of education will be held in Lincoln on May 1.

A preliminary survey on plans for sewer and water is being made this week. The work is in charge of Guy St. John.

Miss Ethel T. Stone of Waverle and Miss Ruth Thomas of Vardel enrolled for work Monday. Both of these ladies are experienced teachers and they expect to remain in school until the close of the summer term.

Miss Charlotte White spent Tuesday inspecting the work of the school. Mr. White is one of the first graduates of the Nebraska Normal college and for years has been recognized as one of the leading contributors of northeast Nebraska.

A column representing the alumni of the Nebraska Normal college held a meeting Tuesday evening and decided to hold a convocation on Wednesday, May 3, as a grand day in the commencement exercises of the year.

The convocation will be held in the evening, but will be a social occasion. It is expected that the graduates of the institution will be present.

The board of trustees announced the appointment of A. H. Aldrich to succeed Dr. Luther P. Ludden as a member of the board of education. Mr. Vile is known to a number of the citizens of Wayne, who speak very highly of him as a successful business man, a man of ability and integrity and one who will fill very acceptably the responsible position to which he has been appointed.

Professor Dickinson's class in agriculture is now ready to take up the subject along practical lines. Each member of the class has been given a small plot of ground for a garden and the prospects are bright for the appearance of the near future of every kind of vegetation, from grasses to cultivated crops.

J. H. Cranston of Omaha, who has been employed by the board of education as architect of the new building, was in Wayne the first of the week and talked over plans with President Conn. Mr. Cranston will have plans sketched ready for the board at the meeting on May 3. The plan recommended will be for a first floor brick structure, 60 feet. The library will be located on the first floor, and the departments of chemistry, physics, botany, geography and domestic science will be on the second and third floors.

A great deal of interest at present centers in the debating contest between Wayne and Peru, which will be held at Wayne on the evening of May 3. The acceptance of Superintendent Haskock of the Sioux City schools and of Dr. May of the University of Nebraska for judges in the debate have already been received. James Britton, Waldo Hahn and Gerald Cross will speak in favor of fortifying the Kansas boundary against invasion from the Peru normal, will be expected to uphold the negative side of the question. There will be an abundance of enthusiasm, the discussion of a live, up-to-date question, and a measure of strength between two well-trained debating teams. Do not miss this contest.

NEW MEMBER NORMAL BOARD. A. H. Vile, president of the board of education of Norfolk, has been appointed by Governor C. H. Aldrich to succeed Dr. Luther P. Ludden as a member of the state normal board. Dr. Ludden's term expires June 25. Mr. Vile is a furniture dealer at Norfolk and is said to be a business man of sound judgment.

TWO RUNAWAY BOYS. While General George Miller was in the railroad yards Monday he discovered a couple of boys who had run away from home. Their names are Fred and Emil Norman, aged 14 and 11 years, respectively, and their home is on a farm five miles south of Hinkley. They had come to Wayne on the afternoon freight.

Marshal Minor caught the younger boy and took him in charge, but the older one escaped and could not be found. Emil Norman explained to the marshal that he and his brother desired to go to Emerson, where they had friends. Mr. Minor kept him overnight and Tuesday morning sent him back to Hinkley, patiently explaining to the marshal that he and his brother desired to meet the boy and see that he went home.

Emil is a good-looking lad, having the appearance of a good disposition. It is not known who his brother is, but he wanted to lay home unless to see the world.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS. Dr. J. J. Williams, health officer, was called Monday to the farm of Chris Christensen, fifteen miles south east of Wayne, to investigate a disease with which the family is afflicted. He pronounced it infantile paralysis, and immediately ordered the child quarantined. One child, 130 months old, died from the disease Sunday, after an illness lasting only one hour, and another child is now in bed.

one seriously. It is reported that the disease has been prevailing to some extent in counties south of here, but that the highest incidence is only one known to be afflicted in this county. It is hoped a strict quarantine will be maintained and prevent the disease from spreading.

A MATTER OF PUBLIC INTEREST

Mention is made in the normal note in this issue of the Herald of the song of the deplorable team. Plans to meet that of the local institution. The people of this community should rally in a mass and with enthusiasm to support this entertainment. This should not be taken to encourage the team, but to show that the community is interested in the welfare of the local institution. Local support will not assist to make the young people do their part of the entertainment, but it will set a standard of enthusiasm and loyalty that will not only encourage those students who are working, but will also work of deterring. In short, nothing the town can do for the support of the Normal is more important than support of the intellectual efforts of the faculty.

There is a further source of interest in Wayne people in the fact that two of the local debaters are Wayne boys. One of these is an alumnus of the Normal, and the other is a student of the hearty support of his former schoolmates. Distinguished gentlemen will act as judges and the contest will be a most interesting one. The Normal is satisfied of local interest in the Normal, that the state has done wisely in instituting this worthy institution to Wayne's care.

ANDERS JENSEN. Anders Jensen, aged about 71 years, died at his home in Winside last Saturday, and the funeral was held there Tuesday. Rev. J. H. Karpenstein of the German Lutheran church officiating, with interment in the Winside cemetery.

Mr. Jensen was born in Malmo, Sweden, February 17, 1840. At the age of 17 he came to Nebraska. He was married June 1, 1875, to Ann Margareta Jensen. They lived in Denmark fourteen years, and they became the parents of six children, three of whom died in infancy. Besides the surviving widow, one son and two daughters survive him, being Mrs. Hans Jensen of Tripp county, South Dakota, Neb.; Mrs. Herman, Neb., and Mrs. Sophia Toft of Blair, Neb.

His farm is near Ames, 19 1/2 miles from a farm in Washington county, Nebraska. Later they removed to a farm in Wayne county, and in 1902 to Winside.

THE LICENSE ISSUE

The necessary petition preliminary to calling a special election to vote on the license issue has been filed with W. P. Rogers, city clerk, and accordingly the law requires that a special election, which he will do in the near future. With no other question involved, and the election of no man to be considered, the contest should be a fair and full exposure of the license issue—whether the city shall license saloons or not. Thirty days' notice in advance of the election is required.

CALLS PASTOR

The Baptist church at this place has issued a call to Rev. B. P. Richardson, pastor of the church here. Rev. Richardson is just now finishing a postgraduate course in school at Ames, though he had previously served six years in the ministry. He will be here May 14, and comes highly recommended.

THE EDITORIAL CRUSADER

Emporia Gazette.—This world is getting too full of editorial crusaders—men of one idea who are running the newspaper business into a mere pamphlet business.

Editorial crusaders, male and female, have the idea that all that is necessary in newspaper work is enthusiasm. The belief is general that anybody can be an editor or farmer. No training or education is necessary. All you need, in editorial work, is a fountain pen and a pile of copy paper, and a "cause" of some kind. The editor with a "cause" can't realize that the things which seem vitally important to him are of minor consequence to others. One of the things gained by long service in newspaper office is a sense of proportion. The skillful editor doesn't take any personal satisfaction in his position on our subject the whole world is lost on the same subject. Part of his business is to discover what his readers are interested in, and to talk about that, instead of the thing he is interested in. If he has anything to say to ride it, it is a sign that he is going into his dotage, and people begin to stop their subscriptions.

The editorial crusader who regards his personal ambition as a valuable asset, can't get this point of view. He harps upon a subject that is only mildly interesting to a majority of people. He sees the populace indifferent to his personal ambition as a valuable asset, and he begins to scold and abuse harmless individuals, who have done him no wrong. For this reason, the paper that is devoted to the advancement of some particular cause or person does not prosper. You can't win converts to your creed by abusing or scolding people, or by boring them, talking on one subject in season and out of season.

AFTER THE PROPOSED ELECTRIC RAILROAD

WAYNE COUNTY MEN GET BUSY

Mass. Kohl, Panning, Erbelein and Assessor Interview Promoters at West Point.

Paul H. Kohl, of Wayne and Fred Panning, Frank Erbelein and William Assessor of Atkins drove to West Point in an automobile Friday to meet and interview the promoters of the electric line proposed to be run from Omaha to Norfolk. The Wayne county men were informed that proposition has been made to build the line and that it would be completed as far as Fremont this year.

The promoters were impressed with the feasibility of a branch line to Wayne, via Atkins, and have agreed to take up the proposition with those behind the enterprise. Also the Wayne county men will pursue the prospect, and see if something tangible and definite can be done looking to additional transportation facilities.

No argument is needed to convince any practical promoter, who studies the north and south line would be a pay-off to "short" the line, looking to the well established and is growing too fast to be injured by any competing town that might appear by reason of another line. Wayne will always maintain the pre-eminence of the section, and additional transportation facilities will bring in new industries and new people.

FEARED A TRAP.

A Bit of Japanese Strategy That Goes

Many a man has fallen to guess an easy riddle because the simple solution looked like a trap to him. Here is an instance in which this trap human nature was cleverly played upon by a Japanese nobleman.

The noble had been forced to flee with only 200 men before an enemy with 10,000 and barely had time to reach his castle ahead of his foe. There were no reinforcements near at hand, and he knew that if an attempt was made to storm his defenses he and his men would be dead before help could come.

The enemy's forces advanced rapidly, and scouts rode up near the castle to reconnoiter. To their amazement, they found the gates, doors and windows open and all the appearance of a holiday celebration. They rode hastily back to inform their master that the foe was dancing and that hands were clapping in the city.

The powerful enemy was too wise a man to put his head into any such trap as that. The defenders of the castle must have some plan to slaughter his forces by wholesale or they would never invite him in that way. He drew back to a safe distance and endeavored to wait developments. Soon the re-enforcements for the castle came up behind, attacked him suddenly and defeated him, while the gates were shut. "You bet he knows he's broke his pick with me, all right"—Chicago Tribune.

Rossini's Reception of Wagner.

Wagner and some companions called upon Rossini. Hearing them on the stairs, Rossini hastily placed the keys of "Johannes" on the piano, and when the German composer entered he said, pointing to it, "You see, illustrious man, here is an studying your work." "But the score is upside down!" exclaimed the other, seeing how the book was placed.

Wagner returned Rossini calmly: "The fact is I have had it the right way up for some time, but could make nothing of it," and then all present began to laugh. Rossini said: "Wagner himself—Voice and Violin."

The Honorable Senator Sagebrush

By FRANCIS LYNDÉ

SYNOPSIS.

Eván Blount, son of "Boss" Debbily, "Senator Sagebrush" has been rejected by Patricia Amers, Dick Gantry's daughter, for his position with the Transcontinental railway, which is being run by Father McVickar, head of the railroad, and "Boss" Blount's father.

The boys demand that the railroad give Blount his position with the Transcontinental to meet his father. Eván meets a man who takes him for a forestry employe.

CHAPTER III.

As a church fete decreed it turned out that Blount was to be given Gantry for a traveling companion beyond Chicago. On the second day of westward ferring the railroad train, whose business followed him wherever he went, had intentions to meet Mr. Hardwick McVickar, his vice president, and his sons metropolis, and on the morning of the following day Blount continued his journey alone.

Twenty-four hours later the expriment was not "not crossed" at the Missouri river, at Omaha, and he continued upon someone who ought to have been familiar—though had been and was not, so many and great were the changes wrought during the last few years of absence. He got into a motor car he fell into talk with a prominent-looking man whose thin, hawk-like face was so out of keeping with the low, square jaw and heavy-lidded eyes of the man who had boarded the train at Omaha.

At first their conversation was held in the park, but he had been rejected, was a minor matter whose property, vaguely located somewhere "in the mountains," was involved in litigation which had reference to the forest lands of the government, and the awakened interest being wholly professional.

Blount was good "anteriorly" bright. One of his classmates in law school had been preparing himself to enter the legal branch of the forest service. Dick Blount had acquired a good deal of working knowledge of the forestry situation in the west and of the legal status of the western timber lands.

which Blount missed. Especially if they are traveling on a secret mission, they would be in danger. You can't get into anything the government could make use of," returned Blount carrying the just one necessary move for the moment.

It was precisely at this point, as Blount remembered afterward, that the forestry subject was dropped. As a matter of fact, the talk had drifted back to business and from thence to politics, the hawk-faced man announced his intention of going back to a position in the body of the car to take a nap.

A little further along toward evening the train, which had been waiting for hours in the way to define itself in peaks and high, bald shoulders of wind swept peaks, and Blount was glad to find some stirrings of the homecoming wanderer's quickened pulse answering to the near view of the mountains.

At the dining car dinner, which was served with the high peaks, of the main range was still reflecting the light of the day, and Blount missed his luncheon companion.

Now that he recalled it he remembered that he had seen nothing of the man again since that early afternoon. But the absence of companionship was a relief rather than a deprivation.

Blount without knowing it found himself hastening through his dinner to that he might return to the Pullman window. When at least he had the time for a half hour of quiet, he sat with the solitary night bird hanging by one leg in the saddle to watch the stars for a half hour of quiet.

At a small timber shipping station well within the mountains where the train stopped, Blount saw a rough-hewn water chute from the wood of heights, rocky piles distant there was a longer stop than usual, and Blount got out of the train.

There was a freight truck at some point a few miles farther west, and the train would probably be delayed for several hours.

intelligible to the sharpest eye. When of the brown plain, passed him at a distance. You can't get into anything the government could make use of," returned Blount carrying the just one necessary move for the moment.

CHAPTER IV. THE HIGHLIGHTS. WHEN the three men who had pulled him from his horse and bound him back to the farther side of the campfire to wrangle morosely over what should be done with him, Blount found it difficult to realize that they were actually captives, as one of the expedients, the fitting of his body into the head and strings of his hood to the side.

The difficulty lay in the creature's earlier life. Five minutes earlier he had been riding peacefully up the trail, wondering how far he was from home and how much farther it was to be. Then, at a sudden turn in the narrow trail, path, he had found himself looking into the muzzle of a revolver.

From that time on, the man who had bound him back to the farther side of the campfire to wrangle morosely over what should be done with him, Blount found it difficult to realize that they were actually captives, as one of the expedients, the fitting of his body into the head and strings of his hood to the side.

of an agent of the national forest service was an enemy to be disposed of as expediently as possible, and Blount saw that he had only himself to blame, since he had allowed the man to believe that he was a government employe.

Having the clew to the mystery, however, his course was a little easier to see.

"My name is Blount and I am the son of ex-Senator David Blount of this state," he asserted. "Now, whatever you are going to do with me, do it with me."

"What's that you say?" asked the outlaw.

"You heard what I said. Go ahead and do the most of it afterward."

The hard-faced man turned on the outlaw and the other two at the fire. Blount caught only a word now and again of the low-toned, wrangling argument that followed.

FOLLOWING THE "BELL"

Among the numerous advantages that the modern farmer has that his father did without, none has been more profitable than the Telephone.

The Bell Telephone has been the rural pioneer, and rural mail delivery, the automobile, and other modern conveniences, have followed the blazed trail.

If you are not enrolled, you should join the great army of farmers who have learned that they cannot adequately carry on their business without local and long-distance Bell Telephone Service.

THE 1911 United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been numerous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separator.

THE SKIMMING POWER IS THERE. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—1038 of one per cent.

With the new Intensive skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so INTENSIFIED, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so LENGTHENED, the skimming force so INCREASED, that the Interlocking Spins for any given capacity is reduced nearly ONE-HALF and runs with about HALF the POWER required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the incoming volume of the whole milk EVENLY OUTSIDE THE CREAM ZONE, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk, and you will see why it is that the Interlocking Spins U. S. Cream Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

THE EARLY DAYS IN THREE COUNTIES HAPPENINGS AT FOUR PERIODS

From the Wayne Review, published at Fort Porter, April 25, 1891, by Hunt & Childs: "Mrs. O. E. Chaffee is suffering from a severe attack of quincy."

Abner Rice killed twenty-one rattlesnakes one day this week, and it was not a very good day for snakes, either. Rev. H. Schorr of Tama preached to the citizens of La Porte last Sunday, and will preach again on the same place in four weeks.

M. B. Richardson, our energetic road supervisor, is busily engaged in repairing the "road" caused by the flood in his road district. Our mail for the past two weeks have been very irregular. Sometimes we get none, and more times we "don't" it. On Thursday of last week the mail pouch came up from Winona very empty. On the following day, the same pouch was loaded down with one postal card. As a consequence, when the exchange fund came in, "just to place at some of your life," he got "half-baked."

From Wayne Herald, published by W. H. McNeal, April 23, 1891: "Eight new houses are now in course of construction in East Addition."

Prof. J. M. Pile of Fremont has been engaged to "visit" in the summer normal in Wayne. Dr. J. Williams was summoned to Winslow on account of the serious illness of Dr. Cherry.

S. D. Belyea had just put up in the store of Harrington Bros. & Co. Married, Henry Lorenson to Miss Lulu Moore, Hays River to Miss Mary Hanson, Peter Lundahl to Miss Lottie Ahlgren.

At the meeting of the Nebraska Presbytery at Harrington, Rev. F. P. Baker of Wayne was elected moderator for the ensuing year. The race course of James Britton and Ed Perry is nearly completed and will make one of the finest tracks in the state.

A. P. Saxberg, the hydraulic well man, has just had his contract with Sioux City Northern and returned with his machinery to Wayne, where he will again make his headquarters.

Anton Lorenz's new house is going up rapidly. C. O'Leary of Omaha is visiting his brother, Neil, in Wayne. Nels Grimley has been selected to serve on the federal grand jury.

D. Bryant and William Worthing left for their future home in California. Judge E. Hunter enjoyed a visit with an old American comrade, William Wilson.

Mr. Frank Fuller and sons arrived home from their winter's visit at the national capital. Wayne bankers attended the meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Bankers' Association at Norfolk.

Ray Johnson has purchased J. H. Holden's interest in the hardware shop just south of Gaebler's furniture store. From Harrington Herald, April 26, 1891: "The skating rink attracts a good deal of attention from amusement-loving people."

Messrs. O'Flaherty, Lambers and Clapping shipped fifteen carloads of fat stock to Chicago. Some people believe there is coal in the county of this county, and are prospecting for it.

"FAVORITES" WOULDN'T FIGHT General Jackson Greatly Disappointed When His Pugnacious Birds Resolutely Refused to Do Battle. Cock fighting had been one of General Jackson's favorite home amusements, and he had become possessed of a fine lot of pugnacious birds that was invaluable in Tennessee. He had some of these pugnacious birds brought to Washington and one spring morning he took them to Madisonburg with a select party of friends to see a "main" fought between the Hermitage and the Annapolis cocks. The birds were well trained to fight but were equipped for their work. Their heads and necks were plucked, their tail feathers were neatly trimmed and their natural spurs were cut off and replaced by "gaffs," or sharp blades of finely tempered steel. General Jackson was confident that his favorites would again be victorious, but there was no fight to the end of the contest of all birds. The long confinement in coops on the stages appeared to have deprived the Hermitage birds of their wonted pluck, and the Annapolis birds showed in triumph—Perley's Reminiscences.

Man Injured Didn't Need It. It is getting to be such a common thing nowadays for persons to be knocked down by motor cars when crossing Fifth avenue between the Hermitage and the Annapolis hotels that the clerks of these two hotels do not any longer consider such a thing out of the ordinary. A man was knocked down there recently by a man stopping at the St. Regis was helped him to the sidewalk and escorted into his own hotel and got a glass of brandy to take to him. He himself was white and shaking, and when he got back with a clerk and two porters to where he had led the victim of the accident and found the injured man had disappeared. He tried to find his own life, but I guess I need this as badly as he did," he remarked.—New York Sun.

What I Wanted. He was a foreman and when he came down to breakfast and looked at the menu card and saw printed at the top, "Eggs 25 cents," he looked to him like a safe order. He beckoned to the waiter and pointing to the line said, "Bring me this." The waiter brought him a proprietary cereal. The next morning the performance was repeated, only the waiter brought a different cereal, and all through the week the list of cereals in the kitchen was exhausted, and the first cereal was again served the afternoon.

Madison County News: Henry Kromedid of tuberculosis Friday, April 14, at his home in this city. The funeral was held at the Catholic church in this city on Monday and the body was interred in the cemetery at Bow Valley. The church was held at St. Michael's, Gargaway, November 15, 1850. Editorial in Dentrice Daily Express on a bill of the possible fate of the bill prohibiting the traffic in opium which was passed by the late lamented legislature of this state, may be gained by reading what happened to a similar bill in Massachusetts—the other day. The supreme court of that state has decided that the bill is unconstitutional on the ground that "it would forbid transactions that are not different in principle from contract of sale, which always have been held within the constitutional right of persons in every state to possess, and acquire property, to transfer legitimate business and to buy and sell and get gain."

The court cites a number of decisions in other states along the same line and says there is nothing in the trading stamp business that is of a gambling nature or involves the element of chance. While the Nebraska law is probably somewhat different from the Massachusetts in minor particulars, it is probable that the same process of reasoning that applies to the law in the eastern state will apply with equal force to the Nebraska law. Governor Allen is signing the law, but that has not doubted its constitutionality, but preferred that the matter be threshed out in the courts rather than to take upon himself the responsibility of killing it.

THE DANDELION.

O' beautiful yellow flower of spring,
Dandelion,
Of sweetest perfume and song.

Dandelion.
A friend of man indeed thou art,
And, nestling close to nature's heart,
Thou twin'st him search by torn apart.

I strive to land you with a speed,
Dandelion.
My name, not this, sweet flower, 'is "fond."

Dandelion.
I trust you from your bed of clay
And those you root and all away—
A new one smiles on me next day,
Dandelion.

Your breath is foul,

One Conductor Helped Back to Work.

Mr. Wilfred Adams is his name, and he writes: "I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism and used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect. The third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism." It clears the blood of uric acid. Foley's Pharmacy.

An Impossibility.

We observe that the man's fingers are all twisted and bent into the most curious shapes.

"Poor fellow," we say to our friend, "evidently he is a victim of rheumatism."

"No," our friend explains. "He is deaf and dumb, and has been trying to buy Scotch dialect on his fingers."—Life.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic.

Mrs. E. Martin, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Our little boy suffers from chronic bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured him so much that he was able to play and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house."—Foley's Pharmacy.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health.

"Can not be over estimated and my ailment has been cured by a course of health." J. L. CONFIRMED FEBOO.

Residents of Wayne Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ailments—doctors have published testimonials about Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Wayne, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Wayne kidney sufferers.

Mrs. D. S. McVicker of Wayne, Neb., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills a few years ago when I was suffering from pain across the small of my back and a burning down the urinary tract. This remedy cured me and at that time I publicly told of my experience. I am now willing to con- firm my former statement."
