

WILLIAM FLEGE RELEASED UNDER BOND FROM STATE PENITENTIARY

HIGH COURT GRANTS FREEDOM PENDING ACTION ON APPEAL

TWO BROTHERS OF PRISONER GUARANTEE BOND OF $25,000 REQUIRED.

F. S. BERRY APPEARS FOR FLEGE

Appeal for New Trial Likely to Be Disposed of by Supreme Court Some Time During Summer.

William Flege, who was convicted in the district court at Tama of the charge of murdering his sister, Louise Flege, was sentenced by Judge Guy T. Graves to life imprisonment, was released from the penitentiary Tuesday under a bond of $25,000, on order of the supreme court, pending final hearing of the appeal for a new trial. Flege was taken to Lincoln early in the week to appear before the supreme court in an effort to secure the release of Flege on bond, and presented an argument in his behalf to Judge Guy T. Graves in this city. William Flege arrived in Wayne yesterday, accompanied by his two brothers.

Within a few months a lengthy brief, now being prepared by Fred S. Berry, will be presented to the supreme court in support of the appeal for a new trial, and some time during the summer a decisive action by that tribunal will probably be taken.

The following article covering the case was published in yesterday's Lincoln Journal.

In spite of the solemn warnings of attorneys representing the state that if William Flege, convicted of murdering his sister in Dixon county, were permitted to bail, a lynching or a murder or two would follow, the supreme court yesterday issued an order that upon the execution of a bond of $25,000, the goods of the penitentiary should be given up to the detainer of the court. It was announced the two brothers of the convicted man, Henry and Fred Flege, and his brother-in-law, Herman Flegen, substantial farmers of Dixon county, who are connected with the case, had signed their signatures and agreed to a schedule of property worth $25,000, and they went to the prison and handed with the court order, secured his release.

Flege's home is in Logan township, Dixon county, a community of thirty Germans, regarded as one of the wealthiest precincts in the state. Flege and his sister lived together on the homestead, which had been given to him by his father's death. On the afternoon of June 30, 1910, she was found murdered on the premises. The official inquest narrowed into the only two suspects of the crime were the 18-year-old hired man, Albert Eighteen camp, and the brother, William. At the coroner's inquest the two were known nothing about the murder, but later said he was a witness to it and that William had killed his sister following a quarrel in which she had upbraided him for spending so much time

SOMEWHAT NEW FOR LOGAL CLUB MEMBERS

Mock Legislature to Be Organized and Consider Number of Interesting Measures.

The committee in charge of the annual Commercial club smoker promises something unique in entertainment for the forthcoming event which is likely to "take place" on the evening of May 15, as a contest feature of the program has been proposed to have a mock legislature. This is deemed appropriate following the keen interest taken by Wayne people in the late session of the legislature at Lincoln. The "mock legislature" will be organized in the form of a bill, and bills designed to stir up interest and merit will be introduced and pushed for passage. Among the bills will be one to amend the constitution to make a dead man eligible for office; another to move the state capital to Wayne; another to inflict a fine punishment on J. M. Cherry, ex-cousin enunciator, on account of the size of the returns returned in for Wayne. Several other interesting bills will be introduced and a United States senator will be elected.

The whole performance will be a rich treat. There will be plenty of music, and refreshments will be served, and all who attend will get a good time from the new and novel time from start to finish.

FUNDS TO FURNISH LIBRARY BUILDING

WILL HOLD SERIES OF PARTIES

First One at Home of Mrs. C. A. Chase Provides Source of Great Pleasure—Mrs. Chase Granted.

Ladies of the library have begun a series of parties for the benefit of the library to raise funds with which to properly furnish the proposed new building. The initial party took place Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. A. Chase, and was of the nature of a May day event. The sum of $11.95 was raised. Forty ladies were present, and they had a grand time. Some of the amusements:

The company was divided into four crews, each group going into a separate room to prepare for a line of original contests alluded to in the program. The first division recited original poems about May day, and the poetic effort of Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury is mentioned as deserving of special praise. The second division recited in concert Teasdale's "May Queen". The third division sang a song of Spring and May.

The fourth division appeared in appropriate costumes and gave the May-pole dance. The ladies, arrayed in white and standing on a stool, revolved admirably as the pole, around which the dancers tripped in merry glee. Miss Charlotte White was chosen "May Queen" and she was escorted to the throne and crowned amid drum and ceremony. From the splendid white throne, the May queen, radiant with the grace of royalty, made an appropriate speech to the assembled guests and music also added to the pleasure of the occasion, and an excellent two-course luncheon was served at 5:30 o'clock. Tulips and sweet peas were the floral decorations.

Jones Bookstore

All Aboard for Minnesota!

Kolb Investment Company, Fosston, Minnesota

WE OFFER FOR SALE, ON EASY TERMS, A LARGE NUMBER OF CHOICE FARMS LOCATED IN EASTERN POLK COUNTY, MINN. MOST OF THESE FARMS HAVE GOOD BUILDINGS AND ARE IN A HIGH STATE OF CULTIVATION. THESE FARMS WILL BE SOLD ### for $30 to $50 per acre

Eastern Polk County is recognized as one of the finest localities to be found in Minnesota for mixed farming. The soil throughout the entire district is the famous black loam, very rich in quality and underlain with a clay subsoil, giving strength to the soil and rendering it practically inexhaustible. It is "well watered" and the district is partly covered with beautiful hardwood groves, streams and lakes, giving the country the appearance of a great park. The cultivation of all kinds of vegetables, roots, wild and tame grasses, CLOVER, CORN, small fruits, etc., is followed with great success. Grains, such as wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax, yield excellent crops. Many instances can be shown where one single crop of grain in the year 1910 paid the purchase price of the land. Horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry are raised most successfully. Some of the prize herds of the state will be found in this locality. The entire district is well served with railroads, thus affording the farmers good connection with the extensive markets on the Iron Range, Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

SEVERAL REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD BUY A FARM IN EASTERN POLK COUNTY:

- Considering improvements, producing values and good markets, our land is cheaper than any other section in America.
- Good schools. Here you have all the advantages of the older settlements of Iowa and Illinois in getting a practical education for your boys and girls. Polk County has a School of Agriculture and Experiment Farm, besides the schools at McIntosh and Fosston have Departments of Agriculture, Domestic Science and Manual Training. An up-to-date telephone system, owned and operated by the farmers. A complete net of telephone lines cover the entire district.
- The climate is pleasant and buoyant in summer, with fine cool nights and long days. The winters are cold, but dry and invigorating, with no slush or mud as in Illinois and other states farther south. No cyclones, no bad storms and no earthquakes.
- Close to markets—The Soo Railway from St. Paul to Winnipeg gives us a direct line to the Twin Cities. Two railways, the Great Northern and the Soo, connect us with the Iron Ranges, Duluth and Superior. Close to us on the east are many lumber camps, and the great Masaba, Vermilion and Cuyuna iron mines furnish us a magnificent market for all kinds of farm and dairy products.
- Timber—On the east of us, beginning a few miles from Fosston, is a vast territory covered with fine timber. Here the farmers have an abundance of material for building and farm purposes, and cheap fuel in great quantities. Small mill men will put in portable mills and take your logs and cut lumber at $3.00 per thousand, or $3.00 per thousand when you haul your logs to their mill.
- Water and rainfall: This district is peculiarly favored in possessing an abundance of good, pure water. Flowing springs are found throughout the district, and the best of water is procurable anywhere at a depth of from twenty to fifty feet. The average rainfall is about 23 inches, falling largely in the spring and fall months.
- Crop failures are unknown. From drought, and the drainage system takes care of any excess rainfall.
- Land can be purchased in this district for $20 to $50 per acre, according to improvements and location to markets.
- We have looked this proposition over personally and find it exactly as represented. Railroad fare refunded to purchasers. See us for literature or further information. We have secured the services of Theodore Duerig to assist us as field man.

The postoffice force is interrupted and annoyed by unnecessarily frequent visits of school children to the office. Complaint is made that the same children call at the office four or five times a day and ask for mail, with the result that there is usually some thing proper enough for children of eight age to call for mail, but they should not do so several times per day, merely as an excuse to go down town. The postoffice force not only does not need the exercise, but is often unnecessarily overtaxed in responding to useless calls from little folks.

The young man and Philip Beauchemin, a youth of about his own age, had driven into the country with a gun. For some reason they were out on a buggy. Oscar Lambert was in the act of recocking the buggy when Beauchemin was in the act of putting shells into the gun. One of accidentally discharged and the charge struck Lambert in the heart."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

Chief Justice in Wayne County Thirty Years Ago—Old Times in Dixon County.

B. F. Peacher went to gain a residence on his homestead last Saturday. Miss Maggie Laughlin is teaching the summer school in the Graham district.

Rev. F. H. Childer will lecture at the court house Saturday evening on "Religious Fanaticism."

A large number of towns in the vicinity of the proposed town of North Star will be opened during the present season.

It is learned that the owners of land through which the railroad grade was made and abandoned, have made claims for damages to the company.

A brother of Ernest Behmer with a family of seven persons, a brother of Fred Schuster, Charles Ober, wife and two sisters, have recently arrived in Spring Branch direct from the old country, and will make homes for themselves in that precinct.

At last the town of Brookdale has been located just where the Review says it would be some time ago, notwithstanding the assertion that "the Review lied." The town is not only located now, but was located last fall and contract was made between the railroad company and the proprietors of the townsite.

Arthur T. Chapin, who had last purchased $1000 of land in the vicinity of a place here, this week from Washington county. He brings with him some six teams, 200 head of cattle and will at once begin building houses, barns, etc. He will employ four or five bands carpenters, and expect to break at least 200 acres this year and develop one of the largest and best stock farms in the county.

Reader, did you ever get "stoughed" if so you can sympathize with Maxford and Betty, who while making every exertion to connect with the train yesterday morning, got into one of our Nebraska bloughs, got both horses down, and were obliged to wait for their boots, take to the water and carry them and children to dry land in their arms; but, didn't the poor horses have to suffer for this misfortune. For over a mile the horses were driven on a dead run and only got to the train as the conductor was giving the signal to "go ahead."

From the Wayne Herald, published by W. H. McNeal, May 14, 1911: A number of Wayne people went to Omaha to see President Harrison.

George Wilbur was kicked by a horse and suffered two broken ribs.

The young son of Frank Strahan fell from a chair and broke one of his arms near the elbow.

A public meeting is called for the purpose of preparing for a celebration of the Fourth of July.

James Perdue and family arrived from Malvern, Ia., and moved on the place purchased of John Connor.

A. A. Welch and B. F. Peacher returned from Fort Scott, Kan., where they invested in some business land.

A threatening fire started from a defective gasoline stove in a restaurant near J. P. Garrison's furniture store and J. S. Lewis' harness shop, but prompt action on the part of citizens prevented big loss.

The Winslow Watchman announces that William Sonnenken's oldest child has been dangerously ill with diphtheria since the family's removal to New York. A telegram to William Zutz says the little one was improving.

From the Wayne Herald, published May 15, 1911: Professor Pile has had work started on the new dormitory.

Jacob Brugger of Chapin prefect died of cancer of the stomach.

Peter Colman purchased the house and lot of A. G. Goff, just north of the front block.

Frank Moses and Charles Sheldahl went to Omaha to attend a sale of black spotted cattle.

Mrs. T. B. Wheaton underwent a surgical operation at the Samaritan hospital in Sioux City.

Miss Rena Olmstead and Miss Pearl Reynolds have been elected to positions in the Emerson school.

Rev. Montgomery goes to Philadelphia to attend the general assembly of the Presbyterian church.

by William Huse and W. N. Huse, May 1, 1911: A company has been organized in Cedar county for the purpose of boring for coal.

A copy of the Elk Point Tribune, published April 27, has just been received. It was delayed by the flood. Lieutenant Norris is booked to deliver another of his outstanding lectures at Summer Hill on the subject of "Pranks."

Wm. Foster states that Cedar county would, in his opinion, be glad to vote bonds to the amount of 5 per cent in aid of a railroad through that county.

Never before was vegetation known to start as quick as this season. The wheat did not come on three days till it was up and looking green and fine. Corn planting is well under way and the harvest is likely to be as early this season as usual.

The boy's right leg is broken and crushed between the knee and hip in two places, and his left leg is broken between the knee and hip. Mr. Gross was returning from West Point on the highway and was overtaken by the young Norris in company with some other boys. Gross gave warning, but owing to a passing train the boys failed to heed the machine and Norris was caught. Mr. Gross has a reputation for habitually fast and reckless driving.

Hens Lay Scrambled Eggs

A Tarrytown N. Y. dispatch to the New York Herald has the ordinary feeling story laid a mile, says: Tarrytown, N. Y., May 10.—An unusual crop of deformed chickens—this spring, and the heavy-blasting against the hen is responsible, according to well known poultry men. The discovery was made by Irving C. Coates. Coates had fifty-two high-grade eggs in his incubator, and hatched out only five chickens. These were particularly deformed, and Mr. Coates was puzzled. He happened to be home when the blasting was going on across the river, and as each report reached this side he noticed the chicks putting their legs against their feet. At first he thought the chicks were saluting him, it being the fifth anniversary of the civil war, and the blast was the cannon in the distance. But as they continued to hold their legs against their ears until the blasting was over he realized what the trouble was. Mr. Coates believes that while they were in the shell they heard the noise and the constant raising of their legs to protect their ear drums was the cause of their deformity. Eggs that have been placed in incubators refuse to hatch and there promises to be a big shortage in the chicken crop this spring.

Itching Skin on Horses

Agricultural Pathologist: It is said that in case of itching skin the horse should be shipped and the grain ration cut down noticeably. No corn should be fed. The animal will do best on oats, bran and hay. Green grass often leads to itchiness of the skin. After clipping apply to the itching parts, as required, a mixture of one dram each of diluted sulphuric acid and carbolic acid in a pint of water. A little menthol added is effective where itching is excessive. Wash the affected parts before applying the medicine. Should the trouble continue, give a tablespoonful twice daily of a mixture of equal parts of powdered wood charcoal and granular hypophosphate of soda.

The Care of a Cow

Southwest Trail: Feed the cow very lightly until she has fully recovered from calving and then gradually increase her feed until she has reached the full limit of profitable feeding. Wean the calf gradually, and give her all the feed that she will use at a profit. Never allow a serious drop in the milk. After she has reached her highest milk yield, keep her up to that point as long as possible. As the cow begins to decline, gradually reduce the feed, but keep it always up to the limit of profit. Most men lose in trying to give less cows the feed that five should have. The best way to get a cow to give, so do not keep one. Cull the herd, get rid of the poorest half or three-fourths, and then give all the feed to the profitable cows.

Money From Hogs on Forage

The Missouri experiment station has just given out the results of an experiment lasting three years, according to a dispatch, which shows large profits from feeding hogs on forage crops. The average from clover forage was $43.11, from rape and oats $23.63, from corn and cowpeas $20.05, and from blue grass $17.71. The estimates are all made on the basis of 50 cents a head for the corn fed, and 6 cents a pound for the hay produced. The results are important, as indicating what may be accomplished when the hogs themselves do all the harvesting.

The Poet Philosopher

Put seven dollars ($7) in the bank as soon as you can do it; prepare for seasons lean but never, you will never have any more.

SALTING - Always sugar in them down as fast as I could catch them; when I had some scale of it, I made a rule to burn them. I bought all kinds of salt, and I salted my fish and my cats; and then one happy, fatful day, I pickled seven dollars ($7). I put these roubles down in a big tin can, and I had a new job take this bunch of mine: I was soon called for more, and soon I had twenty; each week I put in three or four, and soon I'll run in plenty. Since I began this "salting-graft my soul" project, I have found that I'm as fat as a pig, and just as sick as a dog. I am the young man, instead, the youth with glad, youthful; the whole town wants to get my trade, because I have the "bottle". I do not fear the Friday, whereas the other fellows, so take my plan - go right away and salt down seven dollars ($7).

If you have helped a neighbor and taught him how to do it; you have learned to labor in haste and patient style; if you believe that WORTH singing is far better than WHILE wringing your hands and WHERE "springing" your journey to see it. If you are always trying to sidestep sin and guilt; if you are still denying your hand to customs vile; if you believe that toiling is better far than soling your soul with futile brooding, your journey is worth while. If you are always "prognosticating" a body out of style, if you award that sewing is but a sign of life; if you, since you were married, have always homeward carried a basket by grocery unburied, your journey is worth while. If you are always "prone to curse" and using language vile; if you make folks unhappy, because of your temper's snappy, and you are cross and quarrelsome, your journey is worth while.

O, laugh and be joyous! Don't fret and annoy us by telling your troubles - we've some of our own; you don't need to be so nervous, then, and don't fret or chafe, then, and don't fret.

BE CAREFUL - dry old grocer's should let us alone. We try to keep smiling in manner beguiling, and just when our faces are stretched into smiles, some old dud starts making us suffer by telling us stories of leasars and craps. We try to be sunny and cheery and funny, we try to be "big" and "big" as many boys - their heads like a heavy ball - and we try to be "big" and "big" as many boys - their heads like a heavy ball.

The children are singing and dancing and singing, and playing with marbles and rolling their hoops; they're laughing and laughing and laughing. HAPPY CHILDHOOD they ran past my cottage in jubilant froth. I look and I listen and bring tears to my eyes and my cheeks are streaming, but I can't see my dear old father, and my old mother is crying, and my old mother is crying, and my old mother is crying.

THE OLD - a milk and water TIMM VILAN villain, is the modern, cheap jargon, which you'd mistake him for a hero if he had a hat and a sword. I'm yearning for the villain of the olden, golden times, who would tighten his suspenders, and go "wading-deep" in the sea. He would murder folks for nothing, and he would be a "big" and "big" as many boys - their heads like a heavy ball.

The meeting was closed with a short address by Dr. J. B. Kelly of Hainesville, who was the pastor of the church at Atkinson.

Ahern's

Buy Your Summer Dresses Ready-Made

Before you plan to make any dresses for yourself or the children, come in and look over the fine assortment of ready-to-wear dresses at Ahern's. These dresses are made and sewed just as nicely as you could wish; the styles are as pretty as you'll find in any of the late fashion books; the materials are as good as you can buy by the yard; the prices are very little more than you would pay for the bare materials. Ahern's is the place to come for ready-to-wear dresses because we make a specialty of this kind of goods and always have a fine assortment for you to choose from.

Ladies' Silk Dresses

At $16.00 to $18.00 you can buy a beautiful dress of Fouland, Messine or Taffeta Silk. This is just about the price of the materials used. Our dress-makers will make the alterations necessary to a perfect fit free of charge.

Ladies' Wash Dresses

Pretty Lawn Dresses, in the correct styles, at $2.75 to $6.00. Gingham and Percale dresses, suitable for every day wear, at $2.50 to $3.00. All materials perfectly washable. You'll be surprised at how nicely they fit.

Misses' Wash Dresses

For young ladies, 14 to 16 years of age, there are dozens of dresses to choose from, both in Lawn and Gingham. The styles are nobby and particularly designed for youthful figures and tastes. You could not make them cheaper. $2.00 to $3.50.

Graduation Dresses

Before making the white graduation dress, be sure and see the white waltz frocks you can buy at $6.00, $7.50 and $10.00.

Your daughter may be better pleased with one of these ready-to-wear dresses at these reasonable prices than with a dress that would cost you more money and much more work and worry if you were to make it.

Little Folks' Wash Dresses

Last week we received another large shipment of Gingham and Percale Dresses for the little folks, 4 to 12 years of age. You cannot afford to sew when you can buy for 75c, $1.25 and $1.50 dresses that are so well made and please the children so well. The goods used in these dresses are washable - the dresses button down the front to the hem of skirt in order to make the washing and ironing simple. The dresses are made in the styles that you can see in the pictures. We don't like to say that it is a fact that most parts like the style of these dresses better than the dresses mother makes at home.

Ladies' House Dresses and Wrappers

The spring shipment of Mendel's Make Wrappers and House Dresses is here. This is the only make of wrappers I have ever found that please and satisfy my customers. Mendel's uses good materials - it washes well and it wears well. Mendel's says his wrappers just as neatly and as nicely as you could possibly do it. Mendel's wrappers have a neat, becoming style - and best of all a Mendel's wrapper is cut full and roomy - they fit like a dress and look like a dress. The waist is lined with good stuff - the shoulders are bound - and the finishes are put on evenly, neatly, and securely. You'll never complain about Mendel's Wrapper or House Dress. PRICE: $1.25 and $1.50.

weighed after each milking. The record should furnish a means of recording the weights of the milk given each day. These may either be made at home or purchased at low cost. It is arranged with the names of the cows at the top and the date of the milking at the side. This furnishes a complete record of the milk for the month. The next step is to take a sample. This must be done carefully in order to get a representative quantity of milk. Proceed by dipping a ladle and pour the milk from one vessel to another several times and then immediately transfer a portion of it to the sample jar by means of a small dipper. It is very essential to stir the milk before taking a sample in order that an even distribution of the fat globules may be obtained. If the milk is allowed to become quiet the fat rises to the surface and if our sample is taken from the top it is high in fat, while if taken from the bottom it is low. The sample jars should be air tight. The most practical jar at the present time is the pint or half pint milk bottle which has the narrow lip. It is cheap, durable and easily cleaned, which are the essentials of any milk vessel. There are two methods of taking samples. One is known as the individual while the other is the composite. By the individual is meant a portion of milk taken in a single milking; placed in the jar and tested separately. The composite sample consists of a proportionate amount of milk taken from several milkings, placed in one bottle and tested collectively. The first method of averaging is the more correct for the average farmer because definite proportions of milk are not necessary. After the samples are properly secured and the milk weighed, it only remains to determine the percentage of fat. This is accomplished by the Babcock test. The operation of this test is a difficult one and should be thoroughly understood before one relies on his work. Because of the limited space I shall not explain the operation of the test, but shall refer the reader to a book or lecture on the subject. Bullulas may be secured free by writing to the experiment station. The objection frequently raised to weighing and testing milk is that it requires a great deal of time. It is true that this extra time is required, but if it furnishes as a means of finding the poor animals and disposing of them it is not time well spent. There are many herds of fifteen cows that are producing as much profit at the end of the year as some herds of forty. I have a neighbor who has been testing his cows a year ago. His herd was one such as we find on the average farm and was composed of forty cows. After using the Babcock test for several months he found that ten of his cows were not paying for the feed they consumed. Among these ten were cows which he had previously considered as the best in his herd. Better fifteen more were found profitable. He visited his farm a short time ago and found that he was making only fifteen cents in talking with him I found that his profits from these fifteen cows were larger than those from the other thirty of forty that he had the previous year. This man was well satisfied with the Babcock test and said that no one, no matter how small his herd, could afford to do without it. If we would consider we were milking out of our 700 times each year and that many of these animals are not paying for their feed, we would realize that we were doing a great deal of work and then paying for the privilege of doing it. The milk should be weighed each day, but only two days each month are required for taking the samples. If it is during the summer and we find ourselves busy in the field, we need not test our samples then. We should then use a preservative tablet in each bottle and place them to remain until we find time on a rainy day. This testing can be done when field work is impossible. It is here that the cow owner realizes the benefit which a cow owner realizes by weeding out his herd, but there is another great factor which enters into the profit side of dairying due to the Babcock test. At the present time we are purchasing a large number of inferior animals of both sexes. I find that the demand is much greater than the supply. However, the man who contemplates starting a young herd just demands a record of the animals which he purchases. There are a few breeders who have been keeping production herds. As a result they can demand a high price for their calves because with each record they can give a complete record of his or her ancestors. I have in mind one instance in which a breeder has been receiving from $25 to $50 more for his grade dairy calves because the scales and Babcock test furnish an accurate record of the descent of the calves. He has created a demand for his young stock which will undoubtedly provide a channel for this ready and profitable side for some time to come. The next testing association is also solving the problem of weeding out the poor individuals. These are farmers' organizations in one community that have a man to test their cows once each month. The man in charge of such work should be responsible and if possible a graduate of the dairy schools. He should understand dairying in general so he can assist the farmers in feeding, breeding and caring for their stock. The expense of such a position can be paid by a definite assessment upon each animal under test. The farm at the present time is one of the greatest factories which we have. However, the average farm has less systematic work than any other concern. There are very few farmers in Africa that know at the end of the year what their farms have cost them and what their exact profits are. They have a record of how much food their horses, cattle or pigs consume, but they simply record these animals and sell them regardless of how much they are making or losing. This same lack of system is found in regard to the dairy herds. If the Babcock test and the scales were used on every farm it would furnish the owner a complete record at the end of the year and he would be able to determine his profits or his loss.

How to Cure Corns in Horses.

Michigan Farmer: Corns are caused by bad shoeing or from allowing the shoe to wear too long without re-shoeing. One remedy, which has seldom failed to effect a cure, is as follows:—Have the shoes pulled off, the feet pared and then pointed out. Your knife should be sharp and the quick, extract the cores of the corn by means of a small pair of forceps, and then apply spirits of salts to eat away any remnants of the corn which may remain. By this time the foot must be allowed to see a new growth of the foot, which may be satisfactorily and quickly attained by placing the foot of the patient in blue clay for three weeks or longer if necessary. If these operations are followed, a new foot and a permanent cure will be the result. And although it takes time, you should remember that anything worth having is worth waiting for. Rubber pads and bars will help a horse temporarily, only, but will keep him going in a cramped way. But if you are impatient you can take your choice between quickness and thoroughness.

A Governor on Good Roads.

Governor Hadley of Missouri: If you are going to have good roads, the new systems of transportation and less in attempting to regulate the public service corporations, we refer to the better developed today. I would be the country roads. It costs more to build a road than it does to haul a ton of freight from St. Louis to Jefferson City, a distance of 125 miles. My farm is five miles from Jefferson City, on a good county road, would be as remote from Jefferson City, measured in the cost of transportation as is the state capital from the city of St. Louis. But a good rock road leads from Jefferson City to my farm, and it reduces the cost of hauling just 60 per cent.

Giving Quick Service.

Omaha Trade Examiner: A young man brought me to drug store and threw down a prescription: "Fill this for me right away, will you?" he said to the clerk. "Well half an hour is satisfactory!" the pharmacist said. "Not if I can get it in less time than that," the customer replied. "I've got several prescriptions here, but if you're in a hurry I will have for you in five minutes." "All right, let's see you do it," the customer said, while walking away with a smile. Just then he saw one of his friends who had overheard the conversation. "I wish the doctor got men like you to do business with," he said, addressing his friend. "The other day I had that prescription filled down the street and they made me wait forty-five minutes while the prescription clerk stood around and even got into the shop for a long enough to talk to one of his fellow clerks. You bet I'll know where to go hereafter."

On Old Age.

Washington Star: The late Archibald Ryan illuminated every subject in domestic and social life in a banquet at Philadelphia. He illuminated strangely the subject of old age. "We, ourselves," he said, "never seem to grow old. Our hearts remain young and even our faces in the glass don't look old, do our own friends' faces." "One day on Chestnut street a very withered, very bent graybeard accosted me." "What is he, he said, 'Don't you remember me? We were classmates at Carlisle.'" Archibald Ryan paused, then answered: "I was taken aback. It was unusual for me to be asked such a question. I didn't know him."

TESTING THE FARM

(Nebraska Farmer.)

The subject of improving the dairy herds of Nebraska is one which should interest every farmer. The fact that over half the cows milked in our middle western states at the present time are not paying for the food they consume should interest everyone to use some means of finding out what their animals are doing. The average annual production of butterfat is only 140 pounds. While there are many individuals that are producing four times that amount they are dragged down and humiliated by their neighbors. If we were to visit the herds of Nebraska we would find animals standing side by side under the same conditions of feed and care, and appearing in general conformity to be the same, but which when tested would be found producing greatly different amounts of butterfat. Some would no doubt be producing three or four times as much as others. It is this lack of knowledge of what our cows are doing that brings the average down to such a low figure. The farmers of the Mississippi valley are noted for their thrift and progress along many lines. They have improved their horses, hogs and beef cattle until they are the recognized leaders of the world, but the average dairy cow is no better than the average cow of a hundred years ago. It is true that we have animals producing a thousand pounds of butter a year, but these are exceptional. While we have one cow that produces this amount we have hundreds that are not producing more than one tenth as much. At the present time, however, there is an awakening along dairy lines, and the more progressive are beginning to realize the importance of keeping good records and the importance of keeping the poor animals. The owner must consider his cow as a machine for the production of milk, and just as the man who operates the factory must dispose of that machine if it does not accomplish the purpose for which it was meant. The one way to determine the amount of butterfat produced by our cows is to weigh and test the milk. By doing this the butterfat production of each animal is determined, and if at the end of the year some of them fall below a certain standard they can be sold to the butcher. It is well to set some standard. Then if our cows fall below it they can be sold or fattened off best. The problem of weeding out the unprofitable cows is one which can be solved by every cow owner. The dairy milk scale which is generally used in testing is a convenient place in the barn and each cow's milk

WAYNE NORMAL WINS IN DEBATE WITH PERU

SHARP CONTEST FOR HONORS

What Final Speakers Thought in Debate Reception for Visitors given in Terrace Hall.

The loyalty of the Wayne people to the Normal school was demonstrated in the subject last Friday evening on the subject of the first annual debate between the local institution and the State Normal school at Peru. Naturally, too, the friends of the victory were plentifully represented to witness the contest last night at the whole session. However, it was a battle royal, in which the vanquished had no occasion for any sense of humiliation.

In defining the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That the United States Government should fortify the Panama Canal," the local team was sought by careful analysis to prepare a consistent statement of all the facts and interests involved and the to make a chain of logic that should appear throughout the affirmative argument.

James Brighton had the delicate task of developing the theme for our obligations, moral and legal, in the matter. He pointed out our interests involved, showed the treaty rights and obligations, and stated that the canal was an American enterprise and should be maintained as such. American interests while promoting the commerce of the world.

Waldo Stamm, the second affirmative speaker, developed the subject of the military necessity of fortification, because treaties are not absolutely binding and the use of fortification is better than to depend upon the army. This is clearly shown.

The last affirmative speaker, Dennis DeWitt, took the subject of the fortification makes a strong case. It was so eloquent and telling stage.

The endeavor of the negative to break the chain forged by the affirmative was strenuous, but in the judgment of the judges, the affirmative was successful. For Peru, Mr. Roberts made a strong case for the neutralization of the canal by international agreement, pointing our numerous precedents for such action. Miss Hebl made an excellent address for the negative, and as an example of the spirit of peace, Miss Bellas set forth the claim that fortification would be in sufficient defense and unnecessary an international agreement.

In the closing address, Miss Bellas delivered the Wayne team was generally recognized the superiority. The judges, Dr. Maxey, Superintendent Haddock and Principal Hunt, decided in favor of the affirmative. One judge voted in the negative.

That it was a good debate, with honors nearly even, was generally agreed. The Peru team did excellently well and deserves congratulations for a game fight and a fine presentation. The Wayne team won that first speaks for them.

A delightful reception to the visiting friends was held in Terrace Hall after the debate. Punch was served by the young women, who were there in evidence every where during social time was had. At a late hour the young people sought their beds wishing many happy returns and best wishes to Peru.

The excellent showing made by our own boys not only reflects their strength as debaters, but also reflects much credit on the faculty of the Wayne Normal school. J. T. House and Professor J. C. W. Lewis, who are coaches for the local team were so generous in time and labor to make the boys strong for the contest.

In the distribution of honors, the State Normal team, Professor H. C. Hooper, awarded no prize. It is surprising the fact that he has the custom of appointing debaters for four contests with other schools, at the same time acting as head of the department of the State Normal of that large institution, his team gave us the light of our lives and you've vote out of three.

State Normal Notes.

Miss Jewell was called to her home at Peru last Thursday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her mother.

Professor Coon has been out of the city most of the week giving addresses to a number of high schools in this part of the state.

Professor Louis J. Knoll of Lincoln, who is visiting Monday. Professor Knoll will begin his work in Wednesday.

Miss Ruth Nordgren, one of the successful teachers of Boone county, is a new student at the Normal. Miss Nordgren will remain here until the close of the summer session.

Judging from the correspondence of the past week great interest is taken in our summer school session which opens on June 9. The attendance for of the school... The board of education met at Lincoln on May 3 and passed upon a number of matters of interest to the State Normal school at Wayne. Architect Paulson presented the plans for the new building for the new library and science hall, and upon motion these plans were approved and the architect was instructed to prepare the plans and specifications as an urgent item at the next meeting of the board. Miss John Johnson of Lincoln was elected a kindergarten teacher for the summer term and Miss Alvine W. Larsen of Columbus as assistant in the art department. The job of the Wayne Department for the printing of school stationery and office blanks was assigned. The board adjourned to meet at Wayne on May 24, Peru on May 29, and at Chariton on June 2.

There has been considerable damage done to the faculty of the Wayne school to give high school commencement addresses, and whenever there is to conflict in dates, our teachers are glad to serve on such occasions. As many of these dates were for engagements during the closing week of our own session, it was necessary to disengage many high school principals who applied to the Normal for a commencement orator. The dates so far definitely agreed upon are as follows: President Coon will be in charge on the evening of May 26 and at Oronogo on May 27. Professor Brighton will speak at Bellwood on May 18, at Carroll on May 19 and at Menasha on May 23. Penn. Hahn is engaged for South Sioux City on the evening of May 16. Petersburg on May 24. Greig, May 25 and Antwerp, May 26. Professor House has an engagement at Beiden on the evening of May 16.

RIGHT GRADE EXAMINATIONS.

The county superintendent held his right grade examinations in Wayne today and the results are as follows: From different districts of the county are on hand to take the test. The annual eighth grade graduating exercises will be held this year the middle of June, and Dana Eames of the Western University has been secured to give the principal address.

THE MOSQUITO QUESTION.

Lincoln Journal: With his usual thoroughness in his scientific department, the county superintendent has reminded that it is for us to say how much we shall be bitten and blistered by mosquitoes this summer. Mosquitoes are not alone the "acts of God" for which we disclaim responsibility in insect epidemics, title of houses and other contracts. We are as responsible for the mosquito on the back of our neck as for the dirt that may be there. God made them both, but gave us a free moral agency to be rid of them.

There is not even the excuse for the mosquito that there is for the dandelion. Nobody knows a practical way to overcome the yellow pest. Every body knows, or can know by asking how to beat it, the mosquito. The Panama canal zone has been troubled from a pest-bloc to a health resort by the simple trick of exterminating the mosquito. Our Nebraska brand of mosquito is not a menace to health or life. It is merely a nuisance to peace of mind, and that is important. It is well worth exterminating.

To exterminate it, as everybody ought to know, involves nothing more difficult than to drain such pools of stagnant water as may exist about the city. This is easy and inexpensive. There are plenty of such pools. Many are the fault of the railroads in not providing for the drainage of lands along their lines. These lands have been made. They are to be found both within the city limits and near by on the outside. In some cases mill-rail public roads are at fault in the same way. Then, too, mosquitoes breed in places which are allowed to stand, though it be but a gutter can or a watering trough. A little work now with shovel, or plow, or scraper, would make Lincoln practically free of the mosquito pest for the summer.

It is a crime to breed one pound of corn to three pounds of skin milk. In this way we get very nearly a balanced ration, and get the pleasantest possible place to live at the cost of a misdeedman for one to go on breeding mosquitoes after being warned of the offense. We do not allow careless people to fill the air with noxious odors from a filthy yard or alley. Why permit them to fill the air with noxious insects from filthy pools or unscreened kitchen flies?

Here's a Clothing Story That You Never Heard Before

When I read some of the clothing advertisements I often let a smile come over my face. It's the same old story—nothing new—the same old line of talk about "distinctive styles," "excellence of design," "exclusive materials" and "perfection in fit," and then the oldest one of the whole bunch—"satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded."

It all listens great—looks good in type—but take it from me it's nothing more or less than a fine line of punk, and you know it.

I want to be fair. I can make more money by being fair and square. That's reason enough for any sane man. I don't want a man's trade who is getting what he wants from his tailor or clothier. I don't need it, and the other man is entitled to it.

The man I want—the man I'm after is the man who's been putting out GOOD MONEY for BAD clothes. I want those who have tried to get their money back from one of those "satisfaction guaranteed" flim flam artists and been double crossed.

Four Button Novelty Suit, No. 712

I want the man who knows a square deal when he gets one to come here this week and buy a suit of clothes. If he doesn't get a SQUARE DEAL on the suit or if by any accident of dyestuffs—wear—or workmanship—it should prove in any way wrong, and he doesn't get satisfactory adjustment at once, I want him to call Kate a faker.

I would rather sell ONE MAN a GOOD SUIT every season for TEN SEASONS than sell TEN MEN TEN BAD SUITS in one season and have them organize a "KNOCKER'S CLUB" and roast KATE all the rest of their days.

I'm not playing the game alone. I'm selling only the class of clothing that is guaranteed to me. I pass the guarantee along to you. I wouldn't handle these clothes if I couldn't stand back of them to the limit.

I want you to do business with me—this season—and next—on the above basis.

I've stocked this store with a line bigger in scope than ever before—they're new, good, stylish goods. I want you to look at them—try them on—see how they look and if they appeal to you—BUY ONE.

Honestly—as man-to-man—I want to do business with YOU, and I'll do my part to make the business satisfactory in every way.

I'M READY I'VE GOT THE STORE AND I'VE GOT THE GOODS.

(Alice L. Wood in Hampton's) "As we grow older and at last are left Without the love that seemed so much a part Of each day's life that never had we thought. Of it as love, but simply life itself. What is it that comes back of her we miss With tears more bitter because shed so late Is it the loving counsels that through back, The wisdom doubly prized as daily proved? Is it her beauty and her graciousness That haunts me while I wake, and comes in dreams? No, no. All day and many nights and days My mind is filled with myriad little things. The way she kissed me when she tied my head. And sent me off to school; it little girl; The infinite pains she took to dress my dolls. And made me parties with 'real' things to eat. And how she'd come a dozen times at night To bring a drink, or comfort me, or afford. My grown-up years seem sudden blotted out. And all the day and in my dreams at night I see her doing all the little things That she, when we were children, used to do. I hear the little words she used to say When I hurt myself, or someone made me cry. But now I weep; she cannot comfort me. And bitter are my tears that it's so late To say, 'I do know now how wonderful you were!'"

TELEPHONE COURTESY.

In telephone affairs, as in every other business, the personal element must be considered. You are human and the person with whom you talk as well as the operator who connects you are human.

The hastily spoken word and its inflection, no matter what its provocation, conveys an undesirable impression. Careless talk over the telephone is like oil on machinery—it prevents friction and pays big returns.

Our operators are required to be brief, but polite, under all circumstances. They are instructed not to answer complaints or carry on any conversation. Their whole time is taken up in executing orders for connections.

In dealing with you we try to be forbearing, considerate and courteous, realizing that the wire between us takes none of the sting out of unkind words. Our operators try to treat you as they would face to face; won't you afford them and the persons with whom you talk the same consideration.

A MARVEL OF EASY-RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separators.

THE SKIMMING POWER IS THERE. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—2019 of one per cent.

With the new interlocking skimming device, the centrifugal action on the milk is so INTENSIFIED, the course along which the milk is forced to travel so LENGTHENED, the skimming force so INCREASED, that the interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly ONE-HALF and runs with about HALF the POWER required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the incoming volume of the whole milk SEVENY outside the cream zone, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk and you will see why it is that the Interlocking Style U. S. Cream Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

I Wanted Needless Sweeper. Omaha Trade Exhibit: A hardware dealer tells a story about a grim old lady who came into his store the other day to purchase a carpet sweeper. She was an exchange. She gazed here and there about the store as if confused, and finally going up to the dealer she looked at him quizzically over her glasses and asked: "Do you keep carpet sweepers?"

"Yes, madam," replied the dealer and handed her two kinds which he said he had in stock, asked which she desired.

"Well," said the lady, "you may show me both kinds, if you will." "Just a moment, madam, until I get them from the rear of the store." And with that he went to an obscure corner to "haul down the carpet sweepers from their hooks upon the wall."

It happened that in front of one of the makes which he desired there was a lawn mower so long that he had to move it. He took it down from the hook, and as he did so it rolled along the floor with a grinding rattle.

He heard the old lady shout from the front of the store: "That makes more sense than my old one, and I don't care to look at it," and so spring she sprang out of the door, leaving the dealer to wonder whether the job was worth the loss of the sale.

TELEPHONE COURTESY.

In telephone affairs, as in every other business, the personal element must be considered. You are human, and the person with whom you talk as well as the operator who connects you are human.

The hastily spoken word and its inflection, no matter what its provocation, conveys an undesirable impression. Courtesy takes over the telephone as like oil on machinery—it prevents friction and pays big returns.

Our operators are required to be brief, but polite, under all circumstances. They are instructed not to answer complaints or carry on any conversation. Their whole time is taken up in executing orders for connections.

In dealing with you we try to be forbearing, considerate and courteous, realizing that the wire between us takes some of the sting out of unkind words. Our operators try to treat you as they would face to face; won't you afford them and the persons with whom you talk the same consideration.

FARMERS ATTENTION

On FRIDAY and SATURDAY, MAY 12th and 13th, 1911, I will be at the Boyd Hotel, Wayne, Nebraska, with a complete set of maps, plans and photographs, showing the Government-irrigation project and irrigated farms that can be homesteaded near POWELL, Wyoming, where Mr. B. E. Elliott of Wayne has located. Come to see me on one or both of these dates and let me tell you about the opportunities there to get valuable farm homes.

Come and see the photographs showing the splendid crops grown on these rich irrigated lands. These farms with perpetual water rights can be had on a ten payment plan, without interest.

Remember, you get both the land and the water from the government, and there is no profit to anyone except the settler.

United States Separator

A MARVEL OF EASY RUNNING

There have been tremendous advantages in the running qualities of the United States Cream Separator.

THE SKIMMING POWER IS THERE. The same that won the world's record in fifty consecutive tests extending over a period of thirty days with the milk of ten different breeds of cows—0.18 of one per cent.

With the new Introducing skimming device, the centrifugal action on the MILK IS SO INTENSIFIED, the course along which the MILK IS FORCED TO TRAVEL SO LENGTHENED, the skimming force SO INCREASED, that the Interlocking bowl for any given capacity is reduced nearly ONE-HALF and runs with about HALF THE POWER required for older models.

Now add to this great improvement the fact that the United States Separator is the only successful separator that distributes the remaining volume of the whole milk EVENLY OUTSIDE THE CREAM ZONE, thus preventing any mixing of cream and skim milk and you will see why it is that the Introducing Style U. S. Cream Separator is gradually displacing every other separator on the market.

Wanted Nominer Sweepers.

Omaha Trade Exhibitor: A nominer dealer tells a story about a firm of men who came into his store the other day to purchase a carpet sweeper, they an exchange. She passed here and there, along the store as she entered, and finally going up to the dealer she looked at him quizzically over her glasses, and asked: "Do you keep carpet sweepers?"

"Yes, ma'am," replied the dealer, and naming the best kind which he said he had in stock asked which she desired.

"Well," said the lady, "you may show me both kinds if you will." The dealer, however, fearing, arranged to get them from the rear of the store. And with that he went to an obscure corner to take down the carpet sweeper from their hook upon the wall.

It happened that in front of one of the men, which he had to hold to move it. He took it down from the hook, and as he did so it rattled about the floor with a grating rattle.

"Before" he turned to turn around he heard the old lady shout from the front of the store: "That makes more sense than my old one, and I don't care to look at it," and so saying she whisked out of the door, leaving the dealer to wonder whether the joke was worth the loss of the sale.

Carelessness on the Farm.

Exchange: Millions of dollars annually are squandered by the farmers of the United States through carelessness. Manures spoil on the heap or run off like water after a shower anywhere but to the place where they would do good. Neither means nor technical knowledge are lacking in the matter of working the soil, it is precisely in this particular that the average farmer ranks very low. Small or farm holdings make possible a better preparation of the soil. Disruption of the large cattle ranches and the consequent gradual tending to stock raising, encouraged by high prices of meat, will provide the small farmer, who will do some cattle raising, with enough of the very best fertilizer. Stock raising also will enable the farmer to plant various kinds of crops.

"If a man really has money, he denies it."

We also admit some difficulty in understanding the man who pays real money for water cross."

"White men are somewhat cowardly," it was recalled that the white men and negro kept any of them at home."

A sportsman is a man who goes to the most trouble to catch fish, and gets the fewest fish for his efforts."

A Speedy Cow.

Exchange: The cow got on the train, while the train was coming down the plateau canyon. The shoe-drummer, who had been cutting cards for the cigars, beckoned the porter.

"Boy, is that cow still on the train?"

"Yes, sah."

"How fast is the train moving?"

"'Bout fo' miles an hour, while de cow was on de train."

"And how fast is the cow moving?"

"'Bout five miles an hour, sah."

"Well, here's a quarter. Take a few yards of rope up to the engineer and tell him to hitch the train to the cow; we might make better time."

The husband was disgusted, and exclaimed: "Why, I sell the same thing at the store for 75 cents." The wife then bridled up and retorted: "Why don't you advertise so people will know what you're got?" It's a good story and contains a mighty good moral.

Warning to Railroad Men.

E. S. Bacon, 111 East Street, Bath, Me., sends out this warning to rail road men: "A conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflammation of the kidneys, and I was unable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills, and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."—Foley's Pharmacy.

Missout-Goat's Bed in Tree. A recent dispatch from Fulton, Mo., says that a goat roosting in a tree is the newest bit of scenery on the farms of Robert Rogers, said that city. Recently Mr. Rogers shipped a load of goats to St. Louis and upon coming they missed one of the animals. Next day a pedestrian discovered the strange retreat of the missing goat. The tree projects from the bank in a steep fashion, which enables the goat to scale it. The branch on which the goat makes his nightly bed is curved in a peculiar fashion, making it possible for his goatship to lie down without danger of falling.
