A valuable object lesson in the value of crop-rotation is furnished by recent experiments, notably at the Virginia station, says an exchange, where corn has been growing continuously on one plot since 1894, with an average yield of 1000 of over 23 bushels per acre. A three-year rotation of wheat, clover and corn, the corn yield has averaged over 42 bushels per acre since 1900, showing a difference of over 21 bushels per acre in favor of rotation. Where the land was manured at the rate of about eight tons per acre in a five-year rotation of wheat, timothy and clover, hay pasture, oats and corn, the corn yield has averaged over 60 bushels per acre. Auker, who lives three miles east of Wayne, says the farmers are very much interested in the development of Wayne. "We appreciate what has been done in the way of improving the city the last few years," says Mr. Auker. "The farmers are not less interested than town people—in the building up of a strong state school here. They realize the advantages it offers for the education of their boys and girls. They know that as Wayne grows and improves so the value of surrounding lands increases, better markets are guaranteed and greater advantages of trade, schools and society are made available. We farmers are not indifferent to the importance of Wayne, and shall boost for the city as long as we live in its territory. As to settling the policy of the city with reference to schools, we rejoice that the campaign was carried on without malice or contention, and that the result is accepted without bitter feeling."

ROONEY JOINS STRONG LAW FIRM AT CHADRON. W. P. Rooney has sold his business in Wayne to C. H. Hendrickson, Allen, and leaves this week for Chadron, Neb., where he will be associated with a leading lawyer in the practice of the profession. Mr. Rooney came to Chadron, Neb., where he has successfully been building up a healthy law business. He is a young man of energy and ability, and quite as essential as either, high integrity and general good character. He is conscientious and dependable, and his many Wayne friends wish him the good fortune and contentment he deserves in his new field. The Allen News speaks well of Mr. Hendrickson, who succeeds Mr. Rooney here. Mr. Hendrickson has been associated with A. C. Kingsbury of Ponca in the practice of law, and it is understood the partnership will be continued. Wayne's legal profession will welcome him to its ranks. Mr. Hendrickson was born at Strand, Ia., in 1881, and graduated from the law department of the Nebraska University in 1906. He formed a partnership with W. A. Kingsbury in 1907, with offices at Chadron and Allen. Mr. Kingsbury, who is a native of Illinois, went to Ponca in an early day, and was admitted to practice law in 1894. CASE IS APPEALED TO THE DISTRICT COURT

The town board at Carroll met last Saturday and voted three to two in favor of granting a saloon license. An appeal was taken by Attorney Davis and Berry, in behalf of the residents of the town. It is believed that there will be no saloon in Carroll unless the case is taken to the district court. The action of the Carroll board on Saturday followed a hearing which occupied two days last week, and brought out evidence on both sides of the question.

BRIDGROOM IN TROUBLE

Saturday's Norfolk News: G. W. Smith, a relief operator at the Hoskins mill, who married Miss L. M. Munk, daughter of W. M. Munk, a salaried maker at Hoskins, were arrested in a local hotel late Friday night on charges filed in Judge Easley's court by the bridegroom's father against the groom, who is charged with leading and deceiving his daughter from home. He declares the girl is but 16 years old, though she looks much older. Smith was held in jail and the girl was allowed to remain in the hotel. The young couple in company with a friend from Jackson, eloped from Hoskins in an automobile, and were married to Judge Bates at Madison at 2:30 P. M. Saturday. They followed them to this city, and at 6 o'clock he furnished Patrolman O'Brien with a warrant and the young telegrapher was arrested. The girl claims she will get 18 years out within a few months. Both sides have obtained lawyers and the trial will be held today.

WAYNE DEFEATED IN GAME WITH STANTON

The Wayne baseball team went to Stanton Monday and suffered defeat at 2:30 P. M. Stanton was victorious in a while do we find a surprise in the score today. It was an orderly contest, and players on both sides were gentlemanly and well behaved. The Stanton team is considered much stronger than last year, and it is up to Wayne to stimulate his skill in order to win. The same team goes later in Wayne this afternoon, when it is expected the local team will make a different showing. Following is the report of Monday's game:

Resolutions were discussed, and a committee for each church was appointed, with instructions to report at an early date. Officers were elected as follows: Charles Beebe, president; C. E. Sprague, vice president; Mrs. J. C. Sprague, secretary. Discussed: J. C. Sprague, superintendent of home department; Professor Britell, superintendent of adult department; Rev. Richardson, superintendent of advanced grades; H. J. Richardson, superintendent of elementary department; Miss Corlett, superintendent of temperance department.

NEWSPAPER IN FISH BAIT

Found in fish bait. A newspaper was found in fish bait. A newspaper was found in fish bait.

ing business so that there are many who are trafficking in fish bait, which they should be in prison making trousers or underclothes. And it is true, too true, but fabric in explanation that is an exaggeration. It is true that fish baiters are getting into every kind of business and profession, even into the industry. It is encouraging to observe, however, that fewer and fewer of our city men are seeping into journalism. For more than thirty years the compiler hereof has had occasion to observe with more or less personal interest the tendency of things, newspaper men spending. During this time there has been a palpable improvement in the rank and file of newspapermen, which betokens a corresponding improvement in their editors and in the content of their papers. In fact, we regret to report, there are many first class occupying the editorial tripod who imagine they have a calling to cure everything they see with which they do not agree or of which they do not approve. These are editors who do not differentiate between private and public matters. They lack the sense of balance and proportion. In the old-fashioned periodical journalism was more common. These editors felt it necessary to take a fall out of every man on every provocation. Bitter personalities were common. It was "smart" to say things in language more or less maligned. Personal attacks had conspicuous examples of that kind of editors, but they have vanished by the process of elimination and by the operation of the law of the survival of the fittest. In the sure days of this disappearing species, and the fact is lauded by optimists with such acclaim as the upholders should find.

NELSON MAKES LOSS

Neligh, Neb., May 30.—Judge Graves of this city wandered out of town yesterday afternoon and became lost. He was seen by a local hunter, who found by Officer Nichols about three miles north of this place and going farther away from home as fast as he could. The hunter and some automobile loads were pressed into service to locate him before it became dark. When approached by Officer Nichols he was in the best of mood and consented willingly to return home. What was the cause of his being out? It was said, "I have been looking for a crowd of people all day," Mr. Graves replied. "I am a newspaper man, and this is the best joke I have ever had played on me."

More than ten years ago Mr. Graves was editor and proprietor of the North Advocate, and on account of ill health he disposed of the plant. He is one of the oldest newspaper men in this section of the state, and his ability as a writer in his younger days was first class. His memory is apparently particularly clear as to details and events during the past few years. He has also his newspaper experiences in Galena, Ill., Vermillion, S. D., and of this city, but all recent details and happenings are gradually a blank. He has been absolutely failing in health, but managed to take a walk several times a day, both in winter and summer.

PIERCE GETS REUNION

Special to Tuesday's Norfolk Daily News: Pierce has secured the North Nebraska Grand Army of the United States, and will hold a reunion at this place. The reunion will be held in the beautiful grove of Dr. J. M. Alden, one-half mile north of Pierce. Arrangements have been made for 100 tents to be placed in the grove for the accommodation of the old soldiers and members of their families in attendance. Speakers of note will be present and address the old soldiers and their families. Amusements of all kinds are being arranged for by the committee. The committee having general supervision of the event consists of Captain William Kelly, George A. Brown, and Dr. J. M. Alden. A. Videman of Norfolk is commander of the association and Joseph Forsyth of Pierce is senior vice commander.

DISTRICT SCHOOL CLOSURE

School in district No. 25, taught by Miss Lou Duhart, closed Friday, May 26. The school was closed by the action of Alex Shurtz, who the pupils from district No. 57 joined in the festivities, and about 120, comprising the students, teachers and parents. They were present at a picnic during the day at noon, and during the afternoon ice cream and cake were served. A baseball game between teams furnished from the two schools, besides a number of other amusements, furnished amusement. All had a good time.

My only ambition is to sell good clothes.

--- KATE ---

I want to sell more good clothes than all the other dealers in Wayne put together, and if PRICES and the GOODS will do the trick, I'll be elected—just as sure as you are reading this ad.

I'm not going into the details of the clothing business. It's too long a story for any man to listen to who doesn't intend to make a business of it. All I know is that I've been in the business all my life—and my store is now more successful than ever before.

You are not going to buy my store, however—all you want is just ONE SUIT OF CLOTHES that will prove ALL RIGHT and that will SATISFY YOU in EVERY WAY. THAT'S SO, ISN'T IT?

I'm not selling clothes to make myself or anybody else rich. I'm selling the best clothes I can buy to build up the biggest business on clothes that I've ever had in Wayne.

I'll give you a stronger guarantee on Kate's Clothes than any other store dare give—a guarantee that means something. I'll guarantee every suit to stand up and keep its shape and style until it is worn out; that the fabrics are all wool—fast color and cold water shrink. I'll guarantee long wear—satisfaction to the last stitch and inch. YOU'LL be the ONLY JUDGE. If not, come back for new goods or the money—any time—next October, or next year.

There'll be no sour looks about giving new goods, either. I want to do it. I can't afford to have one man—no matter where he lives—keep anything from my store that's unsatisfactory. I'm here with the goods. It's YOUR MOVE. COME IN!

I'm showing an elaborate array of this season's styles in the following lines: STRAW HATS, OXFORDS, OUTING TROUSERS, SUMMER CAPS, OUTING SHIRTS, SUMMER NECKWEAR, HOT WEATHER UNDERWEAR, etc., etc.

You'll have to buy before long. It will pay you to try KATE.

CAMPBELL BROTHERS' CIRCUS IN WAYNE

BEING IN TWO PERFORMANCES

Being Memorial Day, Circus Men Show All Possible Consideration to Old Soldiers.

Campbell Brothers' circus, a very excellent aggregation, showed to good crowds here Tuesday afternoon and evening. It was unfortunate that the circus had to be here on Memorial Day, but so it happened, and the managers did everything possible to show due consideration for the old soldier. The circus band led the Grand Army of the Republic procession, and the circus performance was put off for an hour. Also the old soldiers were furnished complimentary tickets to the show. These marks of respect were appreciated.

Campbell Brothers' circus is a Nebraska aggregation, having headquarters at Fairbury, and pride in Nebraska institutions inspires satisfaction over the achievements of these men in the circus line. This year they did not winter in Fairbury, but spent the cold months in New Orleans. They will not do so again, however, because the climate and food did not agree with their animals, and consequently they came out of winter-quarters in poor condition. One elephant and a few other animals died. The Campbells have their eyes on Texas as a desirable section of the country in which to spend the winter, though they may decide to come north. It is understood that Norfolk has offered inducements to the circus to winter there.

People lined the streets in the business district when lively band music heralded the coming of the parade. It was a long and gayly decorated procession—three bands, five horses, eight cages of wild animals and grotesquely dressed clowns.

The menagerie attracted the usual interest. The hippopotamus performances were of a high class, some of the groups of actors performing feats of skill and strength are the best that can be produced by the Ringlings, monarchs of the circus world. The four Lambly brothers, sensational acrobats, are certainly surpassed by none in skill and strength in the circus world. Their acrobatic stunts, performed in wonderful feats. Also Campbell Brothers' herd of performing elephants, which showed excellent intelligence and training, are worthy of special note.

The Campbells will receive a cordial welcome in Wayne whenever they choose to return.

FEAT NOW BUILDING MATERIAL

Astonishing Results Secured by the Germans in Experimenting with the Manufacture have been accomplishing all manner of wonderful things with peat, some astonishing quantities of which they have brought to light. There has been exhibited in Germany a building in which everything from the carpets on the floor to the curtains in the windows and the paper on the walls was made of peat. The fibers of the remains of the roots and grasses of which peat is composed have, of course, their original physical and chemical characters changed, but the fibrous structure remains unharmed, and the fibers themselves are extremely durable, elastic and are non-contractors of heat.

It is stated that fabrics woven from them are as tough as linen and that they possess the warmth of wool, and it is further claimed that there is no cotton fabric that can be woven from these fibers. Blankets and other coverings used for horses and cattle have been found to excel in warmth and cleanliness when made of peat.

Paper of several qualities has been made, and the uses to which peat fiber has already been applied indicates possibilities that may render the peat logs of Ireland a more valuable addition to the resources of that country.

Systematic Fertilizing

Manure may be profitably applied to the soil at any time of year in ordinary farming, but in intensive farming the application must be systematic, and the soil value depends chiefly on the quality and condition of the material. It can not afford to plants until it is decomposed and is soluble.

Stable manures are generally more valuable than any other kind of manure during cultivation, yet where there is an abundance and it becomes a nuisance in the barnyard, it can be hauled out and scattered upon the land in winter. When applied in this manner, the value depends upon the results the first year and show well the following season.

Instruction vs. Education

Our great mistake in education is to teach the child to read, write and learn the confusion of instruction and education. We strain the memory instead of cultivating the mind. The child who is taught to read and write in schools are weary by the mechanical act of writing and the interminable intricacies of spelling; they are oppressed by columns of dates, by lists of names and places, which convey no definite ideas to their minds, and have no definite use to them. Water is the best of occupations.—Sir John Lubbock.

Taking the Bain Cure

The complexion sure of the high school is the main cure, according to the Fall Mail Gazette. The Irish woman puts on her raincoat, and a small hat, without a veil, and saunters out for a brisk walk in the hardest weather, letting the raindrops play on her face as they will. Water she returns to her home she changes her wet clothes, rubs her face with a soft, warm towel and rests all her facial muscles.

High Agricultural Section

It was mentioned at the annual dinner of the Lincolnshire Farmers' association that there were 137,000 cows in the county—a record for the number of cows in any other county in England. Lincolnshire, too, had the largest acreage of potatoes, with the exception of Lincolnshire, having 45,000 acres under cultivation.

BAD WEEK ON THE BURLINGTON ROAD

TWO PASSENGER TRAINS HEAD ON

Pointless Passengers Are Killed and Twenty-Two Injured in a Wreck Near McCook, Neb.

McCook, Neb., May 30.—Two Burlington passenger trains collided at McCook, Neb., on Monday morning and fourteen are dead and twenty-two injured. The Burlington train, No. 9, and No. 12 are headed to meet at Red Willow. No. 9 was a few minutes late, and No. 12, eastbound, is a superior train. It is said that orders should have been issued at McCook, Neb., to delay No. 9 until No. 12 had passed and that they were not issued. No. 12 did not wait, passing Red Willow practically on time.

Two miles west of Indianola, near the junction of the Burlington and Chicago and North Western roads, a head-on collision occurred between two passenger trains. The Burlington train, No. 9, and No. 12, were headed to meet at Red Willow. No. 9 was a few minutes late, and No. 12, eastbound, is a superior train. It is said that orders should have been issued at McCook, Neb., to delay No. 9 until No. 12 had passed and that they were not issued. No. 12 did not wait, passing Red Willow practically on time.

Restoring Worn-Out Lands

Where lands have been "freed up to death," as one plain farmer has said, the best way to restore them is to plant a live stock farm in the spot, cheapest and quickest method of restoring its fertility. In live stock farming the crops raised on the farm are grown primarily for the purpose of feeding the stock, and the manure of the stock is returned to the land in the manure. Since the animal products do not, as a general rule, contain large quantities of fertilizing ingredients, it is easy to see how the fertility of the land is restored by the system of farming.

MAKES $30,000 IN A DAY

"Telephone Boy" May Cause Stampede of Wall Street Pickers by His Luck.

As the result of the passage through bankruptcy of a local firm of stock brokers, James R. Keene's plugging "telephone boy" has been hailed into the limelight. An astonishing controversy occurred in court as to whether or not the "telephone boy" was taking advantage of the so-called Hocking pool. The "boy" insisted that he "cleaned up" only $30,000 on that deal, and stuck to his statement. The airing of his market dealings is likely to cause a stampede into the "telephone boy" business, and a strenuous contest is expected to follow.

National Need

Now, if some one will invent an endless shirt to fit the entire neck, and some kind of a collapsible umbrellas to fit the vest pocket, for use when you are returned suddenly to leave town, they will realize its grand, sweet song.

Their Deficiency

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

HAPPENINGS AT THREE PERIODS.

Chief Deaths in Wayne County Thirty Years Ago—Old-Time in Dixon County.

From the Wayne Review, published by Heiler & Childs, La Porte, Neb., June 2, 1881.

B. B. Wilbur has refused his acre for his farm.

E. J. Morgan has bought sixty acres of land from A. D. Allen.

Justus Busby and Mr. Wittaker, who purchased land in this county last summer, have arrived.

The five cases of diphtheria in our county are being treated under the treatment of Dr. Marzani.

Leslie precinct contains 303 inhabitants, and La Porte precinct, 40. A big gain over the census in 1880.

Report from school district No. 4, Jennie Frazer teacher, shows an enrollment of twelve and an average attendance of eight.

James M. C. Childs, Stephen D. Hart, J. W. Fox, Charles Green, T. Hart, J. W. Maholin, P. E. Moses, August Rosker, Abner Rice, Frank Rice, Robert Steath, E. E. Templein, J. A. Van Demark.

Chief Engineer Brown of St. Paul has come over to look at the territory of Brookfield in Wayne county, Nebraska, seven miles west of La Porte.

The new town is at the junction of the north and south branches of the Logan, and is said to have a fine water supply. Just north of the acres will be laid out in lots. O. B. Brown will start a bank there, and Frank Peavey will put in a grain buyer and implement dealer as soon as the town is constructed.

Several parcels of land have already been applied for town lots. The new town will doubtless be the county seat of Wayne county—Sioux City, Minn.

So now we have the town of Brookfield in Wayne county, Nebraska.

The location of the town of Brookfield has been generally manifested in regard to its date of the new town. It is not at the junction of the north and south Logan, but eight miles farther west, within the new town of Wakefield, which occupies the site of the old town. It is seven miles west of La Porte, but it is two miles nearer the Dixon county line. As regards the county seat question, Brookfield will have a chance to become a city of some importance before it gets to be the capital of this county.

From the Wayne Herald, published by W. H. McNeal, June 11, 1897.

Thomas J. Steele sells his farm northeast of Wayne to Henry Evans.

Married, June 6, by County Judge Martin: Mr. John Deids and Miss Mary Deids, near Wakefield.

A. L. Tucker is building a $7,000 residence, and John T. Bressler is getting ready to build one that will cost $10,000.

From the Wayne Herald, published by W. H. McNeal, June 13, 1901.

Among the students just graduating from the university law school is Elmer Lundberg.

On account of increased business, the M. & O. railroad will enlarge its depot at this point.

George Van Norman and Mattie Deane were united in marriage by Judge Hunter.

The eleventh grade of the high school presented Professor U. S. Conn with a gold watch and chain.

It is reported that Judge W. F. Norris has been re-appointed to his position at the Philippines.

The Old Folks' had memorial services June 9, with a sermon at the Presbyterian church by Rev. Mont. Conroy.

Rev. D. C. Montgomery preaches his farewell sermon at the Presbyterian church preparatory to leaving for the Philippines.

From the Ponca Journal, published by William Huse and W. N. Huse, June 9, 1881.

Charles Hupke and Bibbee went to Omaha to attend the trial of the case in the federal court held at the railroad tons of Dixon county.

The new town of Brookfield in Wayne county is booming. It is expected that Brookfield will soon be the county seat of that county and one of the most important towns on the railroad between Sioux City and Norfolk.

The lecture of Lieutenant Norris in "France" took place Saturday evening at the Grange school house. An immense crowd of about hundred attended, so great a number that not one-fourth could get into the house and the lecture had to be delivered out of doors. The lecture was excellent, and was very appreciated. The men from Ponca and Marshallburg were in attendance and discoursed the best of music. All from this place were royally entertained at the hospitable house of Mr. Jeffrey.

The well kept condition of the cemetery at Ponca in 1911 contrasts, with what it must have been in 1881, according to the following criticism which appeared in the Journal at that time: "Those who live and read Mark Twain will remember the story of a neglected, dilapidated graveyard. Perhaps he did not allude to the cemetery in Ponca, in some particulars it looks like it. The story recounts that a certain lawyer got ground was so neglected that everything in and about it went to ruin. Fences rotted down, weeds sprang up and the graves settled into the earth presented the appearance of tan pits. When the graves were filled with water, and resistance to them was so intolerable that the occupants revolted and kicked out of their coffins, and climbed upon the fences or on the tops of the tombstones until dry weather came. Then they crawled here and there on their hands and knees to get out of their graves, and crawl back again. At last they became so disgusted, that, after holding an indignation meeting over the way they were treated, they shouldered their rifles and left in a body for another cemetery, where, amid pleasant surroundings and in dryer and cleaner beds, they could repose with more comfort and satisfaction. On reflection, we do not suppose Mr. Twain belonged to the Ponca graveyard. He said that when the graves became water soaked the occupants crawled out and sunned themselves on the tops of the fences and tombstones. This could not have referred to our cemetery, because there are no fences to climb upon. Nor could they have climbed many of the tombstones, for many of them have been broken off and are so unsteadily and wobbly that they would not very securely places to sit. In other respects Mr. Twain's description applies. Some of the graves are so open that you can run a pole down and touch the coffin. Everything is in a neglected, forlorn, disordered and disgraceful condition."

TELEPHONE TALKS NO. 5

THE SLOW ANSWER

Your telephone bell rings—it rings again. You are busy and do not answer. The operator finally reports to the party calling you: "They do not answer." (Note she never says: "They are not there.") Then she disconnects you.

Five seconds later—just six seconds too late—you answer. You get no reply. You angrily exclaim: "My bell rang!"

Your delay caused either the loss of a customer or inconvenience to a friend. You cannot afford either.

At certain hours in the day, especially wants to talk at the same time, and telephone calls come thick and fast. At such times all we ask is for you to be considerate, remembering that the "Central" on your line will answer you as quickly as possible, and will do all any operator can do to give you quick and accurate service.

CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY OFFICES

PLenty OF AVAILABLE TIMBER

Sheriff's Office Causes Greatest Excitement So Far—Will Be No Scarcity of Candidates.

The woods are full of candidates and near candidates for county offices, and in due time enough will no doubt fill for each place to give plenty of interest and animation to the pre-primary campaigns.

The sheriff's office, though not carrying an overly large salary, seems to be the most popular position in sight. Howard Walker, August Walter, John Short and Fred Benhoff have filed as Republicans, and John Soules as a Democrat for that office. If all the others mentioned file there will be enough in the field to quest of Sheriff Mearns' shoes to supply need in all the counties in north-east Nebraska. Thus, Wayne county will have an abundance of available and competent timber to select from.

The treasurer's office seems also to be sought after early in the game. Lambert Rob and Oliver Graves, both Republicans, having already filed. The Democrats also are likely to soon trot out a few candidates for that office.

It seems that Charles Reynolds, county clerk, is undecided whether he will run again or not. As the clerkship is one of the most desirable offices in the county, it is natural to assume a number of strong candidates will enter the race for it.

Judge James Britton for county judge and Mrs. Elsie Littell for superintendent of schools are expected to ask for second terms.

OBITUARY.

MRS. HANNA E. LUSH.

Anna E. Halbur was born at New London, O., on the 10th day of January, 1845, and died at Wayne, Neb., on the 29th day of May, 1911, at the age of 66 years, 4 months and 19 days.

In her early childhood her parents moved to Elkhart, Ind., thence to Illinois, thence to Ottumwa, Ia., and later to Vergil, Pottawatomie county, Illinois, where she grew to womanhood.

Here she met Mr. L. L. Lush, to whom she was married on the 11th day of October, 1868, in Adair county, Iowa.

By Mr. and Mrs. Lush were born three sons and three daughters, all of whom grew to manhood and womanhood, and all of whom were in attendance at the funeral except George.

After the funeral she resided in the United States in the Phillips pine islands and who died in the hospital there on the 4th day of February, 1903. Later the remains were brought home and now rest in the Wayne cemetery.

In 1898 Mrs. Lush came to Nebraska with her husband and family from Fremont county, Iowa, where they had moved about one year after the marriage. They settled on a farm near the town of Wayne. Here they resided until three years ago, when they moved to Wayne.

On the 11th day of October, 1905, Mrs. Lush joined in the largely home after an active Christian life.

As a girl of 17, Mrs. Lush united with the Baptist church. But soon after their marriage she and her husband became members of the Methodist church in Adair county, Iowa, and from then until the time of her death she has been an earnest Christian and a faithful member of the Methodist denomination. Until a few years ago, when her husband was incapacitated, she was a Christian of large activity in the church and in the community wherever she lived. For the last five years she has been confined to the home most of the time and for the past four months she has been a patient and an intense sufferer. But her moral fiber was of that type that glows in the fire of affliction.

Her faith never faltered. She lived ready to obey the command, and on passing to the "house not made with hands" last Monday morning she experienced great relief and left to her children and to her brothers and sisters, of whom there were ten, few, but a rich inheritance of faith and noble service.

Her body may sleep in the dust from whence it came, but such a life never dies.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist church yesterday afternoon, Rev. C. N. Dawson of Omaha, formerly of Wayne, officiating.

COMMENCEMENT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Last Friday evening, at the Methodist Episcopal church, occurred the annual commencement exercises. After the invocation by Rev. William Grant, Esq., Inauguration opened the program with a violin solo.

J. H. Boveridge, superintendent of schools of Council Bluffs, gave the address, his subject being "The Mobility of An Idea." For over an hour Mr. Boveridge spoke to the attentive audience, presenting practical and helpful thoughts in a vivid and a comprehensive way.

The address was followed with a vocal solo by Herbert Welch, one of the graduates. Herrett was introduced and applauded that he had responded with a second number.

T. W. Moran, president of the board of education, then spoke briefly, on the conditions of the schools as to enrollment, attendance, courses, finances, etc. Mr. Moran presented the diplomas to the fifteen graduates and congratulated them on being the largest class to graduate from the high school.

Ruth Welch received first honors with an average of 94.13-17 per cent for the four years' work, and to her was presented the scholarship ($100) given by the Nebraska Association of Colleges and Academies. Vera Thomas won second honors, with an average of 94.44-44 per cent, and Elizabeth Palmer third honors, with an average of 92.58 per cent.

The class was graduated with from thirty to thirty-four university credits.

The program closed with a vocal solo by Willis Fleetwood, after which the resolution was pronounced by Rev. Richardson.

The Honorable Senator Sagebrush

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1910, by Street & Smith

SYNOPSIS

Evran Blount, son of Boss David Blount, senator ("Sagebrush"), has been elected by Patricia Anders, Dick Gantry and his friends to the office of fighting his father, McVicker, head of the railroad, and "Boss" Blount.

The boss demands that the railroad give up the right to meet his father. Evran says a man who takes him for a father's employer.

Evran is abnounced by a band of men, violently laid corporation agents, and is taken to a mansion owned by a woman.

The boss in Warrance Hall, Senator Blount's home, and the woman, Mrs. Evan's stepmother, whom he had never met.

Evran proposes running Evan for attorney general despite the young man's recent arrival in the state. Evan objects. He hears his father call a political blunderer.

McVicker defies Senator Blount to a duel. Senator Patricia and her lawyer father arrives at the Sagebrush camp.

McVicker's request Evan joins the railroad's forces as division counsel. He is elected to the office of Evan's clean politics, but finds that his office is made a rallying point by small political hangers-on of the road.

CHAPTER VIII

THE QUEEN'S GAMBIT

WHEN THE NEWS went out to the Sagebrush bills that Boss David's son had accepted a place on the railroad's legal staff the first war of ammunition was fought off by many guesses as to what young Blount's action portended.

The Sagebrush principal defiers, and the leading organ of the reform, was the first to find an ulterior motive in Evan Blount's appointment. It was a sign, they said, that he had a half-complaint in which to put out his spite and vigorous phantoms that threatened the commonwealth in the re-election of the railroad and the machine.

The Lost River Mirror, on the other hand, said that the appointment of young Blount was acting altogether in his father's interest in taking the place of the late Senator Anders.

Elsewhere in the state press comment was made on the appointment of public opinion appeared to read party loss or gain in the appointment of the son of the senator's son, and the whole the senator's son was given to prove of the doubt and a chance to prove up. Time would tell.

"I don't want to see his father and son, in which Evan had announced his intention of accepting a place under McVicker, nothing was said in the newspapers. It was the good reason that no reporter was present.

"If the young man had been prepared for a storm he would not have been appointed. The interview took place in the evening of the day Mr. McVicker was in the city, and he was in the sitting room of the senator's private box. Blount had come to take the step which would put such a summary end to the attorney generalship scheme. But when the time came to give his assent to the purpose of accepting the railroad appointment he did not find it entirely easy to utter the words.

"So McVicker asked you over?" was the father's quick comment. "It's all right, son. You're a man grown, and I don't want to answer him. You want to do it. If it puts us on opposite sides of the political creek we won't let that roll the water any more than it will."

"Do such a mild mannered surrender or appear surprised the purely filial respect of no less than to tremor blurted.

"You don't let it," was the quick reply, but after that he added, "I feel that I want to make some things clear to you, though. I've been talking with my eyes and ears open, and I must confess that the political field has been cut to answer me. I'm attracted to me. From what I can learn the political situation in this state seems to be very tranquilly controlled by the business of bargain and gain. I couldn't go into anything like that and keep my self respect."

and the confident mistress of politics. "It won't do to let Evan see too much of the young woman until after his course of treatment has been begun. Shall we send her tomorrow? And will you telephone Dawkins to bring down the big car? I think Miss Patricia Anders will be what he will expect you to do, isn't it?"

Mr. McVicker had not defined the lines of the new, assistant consanguinity very clearly. There was a strong inference running through all that was said to the effect that the headship of some political responsibilities.

At the moment Blount had been rather glad that such was the case. The vice president had convinced him that it would be a practical compromise of the company's empery.

While Mr. McVicker was talking Blount had better hoped that his new position would give him opportunities to place the railroad's point of view fairly before the people of the state, and to do this in a way that he would have to enter the campaign as a political worker. Surely his father must know this, and he went boldly upon his assumption that his father did know it.

"I am to be chief of the legal department on this division, and as such I shall have to defend my client in court and out of court," he said faintly. "And I mean to do it."

"But course you do, you've got to be honest with yourself—and with me. I don't mind telling you, son, that I am squarely on the other side of the fence. But if you're not going to be—But if you're not, why, that's the end of it. We won't quarrel."

Now, this was not at all the paternal attitude which the young man had anticipated. "But before anything more is said," said Mrs. Anders, "I would remind them both that they had a dinner appointment with Professor Agley and his daughter and that there was a party at the home of the Blounts after the informal little dinner for five in the Inter-Mountain cafe, even though the weather is so hot."

"I was to be there, set a table after the Inter-Mountain cafe, even though the weather is so hot. Besides being disagreeable, it seems so useless to haul out in hot weather. If more than three men agree on a movement, they claim the whole town is behind it."

"I see, and it is necessary to prove your honesty don't depend on your unsupported word."

A stray dog is usually willing to sacrifice a good deal of his liberty for a bone. It is the same with a man. It is difficult to induce a man to leave a Better Life by telling him how much better his neighbor is."

"But they can't keep him from finding out about it," she protested. "They are going to try mighty hard to keep him from finding out about it."

"Not very much," McVicker had said things to suit himself. Evan's law office position is to be the prize large enough to give him the right to know too much, which means that the bribery is not to be done by legal department in this campaign."

"But they can't keep him from finding out about it," she protested. "They are going to try mighty hard to keep him from finding out about it."

"I don't want to see his father and son, in which Evan had announced his intention of accepting a place under McVicker, nothing was said in the newspapers. It was the good reason that no reporter was present."

"If the young man had been prepared for a storm he would not have been appointed. SIX ARE MURDERED BY JILTED FARM HAND

REVENGE IN LOVE AFFAIR CAUSE

D. A. McVicker and Wife and Their Two Children and Sheriff Are Murdered.

Pawnee City, Neb., Special to Tuesday's Omaha Bee says: D. A. McVicker, his wife and two children, were murdered Monday morning with a hammer by James Fielder, a farm hand, at the McVicker home, seven miles south of Pawnee City.

The murderer fled, and when discovered at a school house in Sherman County, Fuller, shot the officer three times, fatally. Fielder then committed suicide. Sheriff Fuller died Monday night.

Two other children of the family of eight are in a serious condition and expected to live.

The motive for the deed was revenge upon Mr. and Mrs. McVicker, who had refused consent to the marriage with their daughter, Jessie, aged 18.

The assassin was a thresher, 34 years of age, who had worked for McVicker for some time as his home guard and to the daughter. The parents were angry in their refusal to permit his attentions, so about two months ago Fielder started a new place.

Fielder, who was being high Fidler, called on the McVickers home to see Jessie and when he left a short time after, asked to return, but was denied the privilege. He returned to the McVicker home some time between 4 and 5 o'clock Monday morning, and not finding the doors locked, he entered, presumably with the intention of wreaking vengeance on the family.

Reaching up a hammer he entered the room where the McVickers, his wife and daughter Nettie and 2-year-old baby were sleeping, and struck McVicker over the head, crushing his skull and killing him instantly.

Fielder then attacked Mrs. McVicker and her daughter, attempted to assault her. Being unable to accomplish this, he killed her by crushing her skull with the hammer.

The murder attempt was to try to subdue her broke her neck.

Leaving this room, he went upstairs where the three boys were sleeping and attacked them. One of them was killed and two others are in a serious condition.

Jessie, who slept in a bedroom upstairs with the other 2-year-old baby and 10-year-old sister, was awakened by the noise and was getting up to see what was going on when she was choked and threatening her, forced her to accompany him in his buggy.

The murderer then drove two miles south and getting out of the buggy, shot and killed the two boys, saying that the folks were all right and that they would find him in a brush pile.

Jessie, upon returning home, discovered the terrible crime and telephoned to sheriff H. H. Reynolds, who left town for the McVicker home. Tanking him and wagon and accompanied by two men, they started in pursuit.

They tracked Fielder to a school house in Sherman county, Nebraska, where the sheriff called and at once left town for the McVicker home.

Thinking that Fielder might be in the woodshed the sheriff approached unarmed. He called on Fielder to surrender, and the man replied that he would do so if he would let him have one of the shed door. Fielder fired three shots at the officer.

With another bullet, Fielder then ended his own life by shooting himself through the head.

The other two boys, seeing that the sheriff had been shot down, immediately fled to help, not knowing that Fielder had ended his own life. A posse arrived and the sheriff was taken to the hospital in a neighboring town where he died.

The McVicker family have been residents of this section for the past ten years. Mr. McVicker was considered a well-to-do man, owning a threshing machine for several seasons, and was well thought of in this part of the county.

Out of this family, consisting of the parents and eight children, the father and six children are now dead. One boy is seriously injured and not expected to live and the remaining five escaped with slight bruises.

James Fielder, the murderer, and his wife, Nettie, were taken to the jail for the past three years, having come here from Tennessee. He owned a half interest in a threshing outfit and had worked for McVicker much of the time.

Mr. Fuller, the sheriff, was shot on his fourth term and was a very popular official. He leaves a wife and four children.

AN INSURANCE SETTLEMENT

The letter below speaks for itself. The Bankers' Life of Lincoln is now twenty-five years old, and is making fifteen and twenty-year settlements that beat the world. Mr. Hetrick has written upwards of $50,000 during the past three weeks.

This great company has a large business in Wayne county. The following letter from a well known Nebraska citizen is going for Nebraska people.

Wayne, Neb., May 5, 1911.—Bankers' Life Insurance Company, Lincoln, Neb., Gentlemen: My policy, No. 1763, a $1,000, twenty-payment, full return policy, matured today. I have your draft No. 12577 handed me by your general agent, Mr. H. B. Hetrick, of Council Bluffs, Ia.

"The annual premium on this policy was $36.75. The total amount paid was $2,250.00. I have paid you $2,192.54. Your second option of settlement offered me $346.00 cash and a paid up policy for $4,000. This paid up policy was to have participated in the profits and to have been paid up annually in your third option you offered me a full paid up policy of $2,117. I had I have had an average of $1,237 net income for twenty years and now have a profit of $354.54 above amount I paid you."

This is certainly a splendid showing. I have always been a strong booster for the Bankers' Life. One son has $25,000.00 and another son has $10,000.00. Mr. Hetrick wrote the other one today for $2,000. My best hearty recommendation the Bankers' Life to all who desire the best in life insurance.

Thinking you are wishing you the best in the business, I am faithfully, Yours very truly, JOHN MEISTER.

FOOLED SALT WATER SAILOR

City Bred Bluffer, Measuring Depth, Is Led to Believe Perdition is Nearly Reached.

The skipper of the W. H. Oliver was in a reminiscent mood as he sat in the boat window watching the man who "thoater" lovers would call the "Duke" on his way to the brilliant lighted entrance.

"That long, slim fellow there reminds me of the watchman I had on the ship last year," he said. "He was city-bred but when he came on board the ship he was not such a bluffer as this fellow is."

"I just blow in from salt water," he replied, and I knew in a minute he was handing me a bunk.

"It was so willing to show he knew everything that we had up a joke on him when he was casting the lead up on Superior in a fog. The mate told him waiting on the fog to get the depth and tussling the buiter to place the location. In the end of the lead there was allow to catch the soil on the lake bottom. He the soil we could tell where we were at."

"The watchman heaved the lead. The mate stepped forward and when the lead came to the side substituted one which he had heated to red hot color in the furnace at the place where the railing was situated."

"How deep is it?" I cried.

"About five fathoms," he answered.

"What's on the buiter?" I called.

"It's brought up to the tip. His tongue touched his tongue to the hot tip and jumped a foot in the air, dropping the lead on the mate's foot."

"Great God, captain, stop the ship," he belched. "We all lie in bell in five minutes."

Unlucky Example of Theft.
By dint of extraordinary saving an octogenarian woman named Essler, who has just died in South Germany, has achieved a record. The woman, the widow of a railway station master, had been blind since her thirty-eighth year. Many years ago she or some other in her household when they should between them spend only twenty cents a day for all their requirements. The woman's estate has now revealed an estate of $126,000.

Danger in Ambition.
The history of the past is useful only as used by one of America's purest patriots, Patrick Henry, as a light to guide us in our present path. The examples of ambition—from ambition down to our day are useful as indicating to us the characteristics of the ambition that is dangerous from that which is beneficial. The personal element too much emphasized is one of the most common types of the ambition that is dangerous.

Oil Now Made Solid.
Tank steamers taking oil to the world around may in time be a thing of the past. Now they have got up better oil, and they declare it is almost pure petroleum. Slight pressure, such as squeezing a cake of oil in the hand, sends the oil to come out. The cake of petroleum, perhaps packed into a wooden case lined with tinfoil, thus preventing waste or evaporation, may be shipped all around the world.

Peculiar Mexican Liquor.
"Comitica" is the name given to a saturnal liquor manufactured in Comita, state of Chiapas, Mex. It is an exclusively local product, and is no other part of the country. It is said to be a mixture of various insects or agave from which it is distilled there only within a radius of ten or twelve miles.

America's Sweet Tooth.
If America's annual candy supply were loaded on one train there would be over eight thousand trains full of candy, biscuits and other goods. This load of sweetmeats for the sweet tooth of the American girls costs the consumers about $125,000,000 every year.

WHY THE AEROPLANE FLIES

Air Pressure Beneath it and Its Motion. Keep the Flying Machine From Falling.

Ask a scientist, "What is an aeroplane?" and he will reply, "Any flat or slightly curved surface arranged horizontally through the air." That, being merely a definition of a thing, and not an explanation of right, that is what is most wonderful about a flying machine. Time and time again we have all asked ourselves: Why is it that this combination of planes, ropes and rudders does not fall? Why is it that a machine many times heavier than the air stays aloft?

It is the air pressure beneath it, and its motion, that keeps up a plane. It is to remain in the air, an aeroplane must constantly move like a skater on thin ice. The skater must move fast enough to reach a new position of ice before he falls; the aeroplane must move fast enough to reach a new section of air before it falls. Both are constantly struggling with gravitation.

The simplest and most familiar example of an aeroplane is the kite of our boyhood days. By holding it against the wind, or by running with it, if there happens to be a gentle breeze, the oldest of flying machines is kept aloft. Invent a substitute for the string, some device—by other words, which will enable you to hold the kite in the proper direction, and you have invented a flying machine. The pull of the string of an engine-driven propeller is that substitute.—Harper's Magazine.

In Different Circumstances.
"Hurry dear!" exclaimed the husband. "The fire is getting. We must get out. HURRY! You got your clothes on?" "Oh, I can't go out this way, the screen." "I couldn't find anything to get out with," said the wife. "I'm not going to face all that crowd in that!"—Life.

BEST WAY TO GET GOOD REST

Wear Clothing as Loose as Feasible and Lie Flat on the Back With Feet Up.

Too much is preached about exercising, and too little about resting. Few women know the value of resting or how to get the most out of a free half-hour. It can do wonders toward building up a strong body and mind, but it must be thorough. While lying flat on the back with the feet do up, and most important of all—resting blood in hotly manufactured twice as rapidly as in any other position, and the process of "restoration" is going on in the body with the greatest possible speed. Boots should be removed, and loose slippers donned, and it is a great help if fresh stockings are worn. There is a tendency to get chilly when a tired person first lies down, and if the body is called upon to make extra effort to do anything while up, the "resting" is not complete. Hence the necessity for throwing a covering over you, even if resting in a warm room. The words of a man, courteously enough, reach me on this subject.—Mr. Seymour Hecht, whose "Best Way to Rest" is a book that causes for fame, says he likes to do the best of the time between five and six o'clock to resting. When he is so tired that he can't rest, he lies on his back, or how trying has been the day, he goes to his sleeping's good quite refreshed. "But," says this jolly actor, "I don't really rest. It's only the clothes, don't you know, pull down the blinds, get into bed, and imagine I am resting for the night. A half-hour of rest under these conditions is worth more than half-a-day's less thorough sleep." Negligee garments are useful in themselves, and so women who value her good looks will fall to form the habit of exchanging street clothes for dainty and attractive home gowns when she is at home for the evening.

Wanders Return.

FARMERS SHOULD BE CAREFUL.

With the Summer Management of Home Manure. Wallace's Farmer. About ninety per cent of the flies of the country are bred in horse manure. For the farmer, therefore, the fly problem is largely in handling this product. If it is thrown out of the stable each day and left to ferment, you can be absolutely certain that you will have flies—gainers, and will wonder whether the fly plague in Egypt in the days of Pharaoh was any worse. That will get into your eyes every time the screen door is opened and if you have no screens, then you are a fit subject for the prayers of the church. There is no reason, however, for worrying and brooding commissions at the stable. All that is necessary is to have your manure spreader where you can throw the clippings of the stable into it. (If you do not have one, buy one.) You need it on general principles. When you go to the field, take it with you and scatter it over the pasture. You will thus get all of the food of the horse manure and none of the evil. Then if you will keep the screens on your house in good repair and have a few pieces of dry paper about to catch any that may get in, it will save a great deal of annoyance, and the possibility of very serious illness and heavy doctor bills. For it is perhaps the greatest single distributor of germ diseases, two of the worst of which are consumption and typhoid fever. Arrangements can be made in the beginning of the season, before the flies start, to secure the common increase of flies in country places.

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS.

Government to Experiment on the Making of Good Roads. The interest and attention of the national lawmakers, says an exchange, are more and more being directed to improvement in the condition of the country's highways, and while suggestions have from time to time been provided to enable the department of agriculture to experiment in roadmaking, the amount appropriated has never been adequate to the necessities of the work, and as a result the matter has scarcely progressed beyond experimental stages. Representative Shepard proposes to establish in the department of agriculture a bureau of good roads, whose function shall be to make inquiries regarding systems of road management throughout the United States and to give expert advice on the subject, to investigate the best methods of road-making, including materials, and to furnish expert advice on road-making and maintenance, and in addition to investigate the chemical and physical character of road materials and publish the results of such investigations and experiments for the use of the public.

Very Polite.

Ques: "You are quite comfortable, isn't you dear?" "Yes, love." "The cushions are easy and soft?" "Yes, darling." "You don't feel any jolts?" "No, sweetie." "Then change seats with me." What Deluded Her. Ques: "The coming winter was probably done by hot bottles." "Yes."

FINDS RABIES ARE QUITE PREVALENT.

CASES COULD BE DECREASED.

Bureau of Animal Industry Official Urges All Dogs Muzzled—Sounds Warning.

PHILADELPHIA, RICHMOND.

According to a bulletin just issued by the department of agriculture, there is a serious danger in certain sections of the country with reference to the increasing prevalence of rabies. The bulletin was prepared by John H. Mohr, of the bureau of animal industry. Mohr says that many of the newspaper stories have been exaggerated or are entirely false, but it is not true that all are fabrications, says Dr. Mohr. "This is shown by a number of cases traced to the states where the diagnosis had been made in reputable laboratories by recognized scientists. In our investigation of the prevalence of rabies we used a number of press clippings and in no instance did a press report lack official confirmation, which is quite contrary to the general opinion on this subject. Reference is made to recent outbreaks in the central states. Not only is there a gradual increase in the number of outbreaks, but many new varieties, which appear to be more or less permanent, are being established from year to year. In connection, Dr. Mohr says: "In order to secure state and municipal legislation for the control of rabies it will require concerted action on the part of all interested parties, whether professional men or laymen, to prove to the public the actual value and benefits of such a procedure. With such legislation properly enforced no dog would be seen running at large without a muzzle. Those contracting the disease would be unable to transfer the virus to other animals. Monetary loss, untold suffering and death among both human beings and animals, caused by the disease, would decrease as a result of the short time rabies would be contracted from the animals. After reaching its desired goal the reappearance of the disease could be readily prevented by a six months' quarantine of all dogs imported into the United States from countries where rabies is prevalent."

NOT A NEW DISCOVERY.

The Art of Irrigation of Land is a Very Ancient One.

Wallace Farmer: We are talking a great deal about irrigation these days, now that the government has taken up the job of irrigating the lands and using them for stock raising, horticulture and for irrigation. We are disposed to think that this is a new discovery of man, one of the bright and shining successes of the nineteenth century. We are prone to forget that the Indians in the southwest practiced irrigation hundreds of years ago, abundant proof of which is found in the remains of the irrigating ditches. We are prone to forget, even if we read our histories, that irrigation was practiced in Egypt in the days of Moses. It may be a surprise to some to know that civilization has always begun in rainless countries; that the agricultural civilization of Mesopotamia was sustained by irrigation. It may surprise our readers when we say that this fact is almost now simply because the inhabitants have forgotten the art of irrigation. The country is full of the remains of ancient irrigation ditches, and it is likely to be one of the great food supplying countries of the world. The water is stored in a way quite similar to that in which we store water in the Rockwell and applied to the land. It may be still more surprising to know that as a matter of fact the English engineers are grinding up the actual bricks of the old towers of Babylon, mentioned in the eleventh chapter of Genesis, for the making of concrete dams, in order to store the flood waters of the mountains of that country. So it will be seen that our irrigation projects are not new, but are not a discovery of our age, but that the plan is almost as old as man himself. Solomon once incidentally remarked that there was "nothing new under the sun," and every year we are finding verification of the wisdom of this remark.

Dahlias and Potatoes.

By a kind of horticultural irony, says the Scientific American, the dahlias, that popular flower that so often forms a conspicuous display at flower shows, has a decidedly prosaic past. It has been developed from the Mexican tubers introduced about 150 years ago by the Swedish naturalist, Dr. Dahl. For the purely commercial purpose of supplying the market with tubers, Dr. Dahl's scheme did not meet with favor, and the dahlias died soon disappeared from most tables, but the gardeners of "The Old Country" have preserved the great possibilities of the flower, and accordingly proceeded to produce the double dahlia and other delightful floral fantasies. The tubers of the dahlia, too hard for most tastes, are still eaten in some parts of France.

One Day Only Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

Offer Their Services Free of Charge

The Associated Doctors, licensed by the state of Nebraska for the treatment of deformities and all chronic and chronic diseases of men, women, and children, offer to all who call on this trip consultation, examination, and free making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will make a conscientious effort to his friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatments have been discovered that are reasonably safe and that result in a maner which has been their results that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle.

Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, blood, skin, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys, bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, bed-wetting, bad ulcers, weak lungs, and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to attend.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, gonorrhea of certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to bear the name of the "Bloodless Surgeons," by doing away with knife, with blood and with pain in the treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have history of bladder trouble, the drug two-ounce bottle of your urine for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

Deafness often has been cured in six days.

No matter what your ailment may be, no matter what others may have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to consult at once. Here it is forever setled in your mind. If your case is incurable, they will give you such advice as may relieve and ease the disease. Do not put off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are depending on you, as you will never visit at this time—costs you nothing and may help you.

Remember, this free offer is for one day only.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their fathers.

WHAT PAPERS IN VICINITY SAY

Excerpts From News and Editorial Columns—Facts and Opinions That May Be of Interest.

Wayne Herald: Ward Barfo came home from Kansas last week and is now sick with typhoid fever at the home of his parents. Mrs. Thompson and wife went to Rochester, Minn., Tuesday to consult the Mayo brothers in regard to the latter's health.

Wayne Tribune: Friendship was reconstituted by her friends Monday with a birthday social and shower. She was 44 years old, and Father Time is treating her very graciously as far as her looks are concerned. She is as young as most people are at 50. May she celebrate many more birthdays in the wash of the Triton.

Madison Post: Up at Wayne the commercial club has found a novel way of relieving interest in its affairs by getting on a mock legislature. At these meetings the club is with the same officials as a legislature, speaker, clerk, etc., while the balance of the members sit as legislators. In this way many ideas which are for the betterment of the town are introduced in the form of bills and then thoroughly discussed. If a bill passes it stands as an endorsement by the club. It is a pleasant idea which might be carried out to go into effect by the Madison organization.

Laird-Advocate: Wayne has taken up the idea of inviting all tramps and beggars to move out of town on short order—without any parleying. This is the way they have been known handling them all spring. Either make them move or travel. "The indications are for a beautiful crop of cherries and plums notwithstanding the late frost." "It is too late to make a crop of cherries and plums. It is all killed off." True, some of the earlier varieties of cherries and plums got in the frost's way and the buds were somewhat nipped, but the later varieties are looking fine.

Cherokee Herald: To keep her youth and good looks in excess says that the first thing in the morning she takes a good laugh. If there is nothing to laugh at she thinks of some old chestnut of a boy's and laughs at that again. Then she laughs all on all day. If she trips her heels she laughs; if she falls on her face she laughs; if she falls on her back she laughs; if she slips on a banana peel she laughs; or if somebody else does the same she laughs. "I'm sure my husband has but pigistic sticks in a man's eye; she laughs if the street car jerks her down into a man's lap, she laughs on a baby, she laughs. In short, she laughs with those who laugh and with those who are not. Owing to a good natured sort, we should say.

Tekamah Journal: Last Thursday evening, Sam Fremont, an Omaha Indian, committed suicide at the home of a friend, two miles northwest of Deatur. Fremont was a young Indian. He was known to all in the vicinity. He lived in a shanty at the street at Carlisle. He has been going at a rapid pace of late via the booze route and its accompanying evils. Fremont was in Tekamah only last week and while in the city he was taken to Omaha and back. He apparently committed the deed while under the influence of whiskey and dope. The bunch of sharks who ply their calling at Weirfield and other sections point out to spectators that his body in his hand had got their work in on Fremont and the loss of his eighty acres. To these sharks willing to pass the young Indian to destruction had no doubt cost them more than $25,000. It is reported that the sheriff cannot locate the attorney and coroner within the scope of the tragedy in the evening.

Bloomfield Monitor: Mose Red Owl a noble descendant from some more or less illustrious red warrior of the Panhandle section and better known to the west with the oil of Jay last Saturday and spent Saturday evening and Sunday in the Castle Hasmann, the guest of the city marshal. On Monday morning he was taken before his honor, Judge Barr and caused to divulge the secret methods by which he and his trusty braves procure their secret and fabulous joy. The result of the information was a warrant for his arrest and he was taken before Judge Barr and caused to divulge the secret methods by which he and his trusty braves procure their secret and fabulous joy. "SHE."—
And she was "handsome wile".
Said everything was out of date—
"From bottles down to making love."

Mere man, of course, could sign a check.
But women were the one great hope;
The world would surely go to wreck
Unless with "problems" they did cope.

Her future work she talked of much.
Of women's rights and how to cure.
Our citizens tremble she did touch;
And from "the masters" she would quote.

Of love and matrimony, too,
There was so very much to say.
The pros and cons raised such a hue,
No title "spiced ran away."

So, time rilled on, as time will do,
And she grew wiser day by day,
And when the right man came: "Will you?"
"She said, "In the same old way."

—Wheeler Martin, in New York Times.

The Biggest Apple.
The biggest apple in the world, probably the biggest that has ever been grown, was sold at Oxford, Kansas, recently. The apple, which says the Pall Mall Gazette, is a beautifully proportioned and colored golden malum, was grown at The Kings' Acre Farm—Freesburg, Mo. It weighed 14 1/2 pounds, not less than 2 1/2 pounds. It has a circumference of 20 1/2 inches and is 5 inches in height.

ASSOCIATED DOCTORS, SPECIALISTS, WILL BE AT THE BOYD HOTEL, Monday, June 12 and will remain

One Day Only
Remarkable Success of These Talented Physicians in the Treatment of Chronic Diseases.

Offer Their Services Free of Charge

The Associated Doctors, located by the state of Nebraska for the treatment of deformities and all nervous and chronic diseases of men, women and children, offer to all who call on this trip, consultation, examination, advice, etc., making no charge whatever, except the actual cost of medicine. All that is asked in return for these valuable services is that every person treated will state the result obtained to their friends and thus prove to the sick and afflicted in every city and locality, that at last treatment has been discovered that are reasonably sure and certain in their effect.

"These doctors are certainly among the foremost patients among America's leading stomach and nerve specialists and are experts in the treatment of chronic diseases and so great and wonderful have their cures recently been that in many cases it is hard indeed to find the dividing line between skill and miracle. Diseases of the stomach, intestines, liver, bladder, kidney, nerves, brain, spleen, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, sciatica, diabetes, back-ache, leg-ache, weak legs, and those afflicted with long-standing, deep-seated, chronic diseases, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call.

According to their system no operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, rotter or certain forms of cancer. They were among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeon," by doing away with knife, with blood and with pain in the treatment of those dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder trouble, or find a two-ounce bottle of results for chemical analysis and microscopic examination.

Deafness often has been cured in six to eight days. This means that you cannot matter what other men have told you, no matter what experience you may have had with other physicians, it will be to your advantage to see them at once. Have it forever settled in your mind that if you can be cured that will give you such advice as may relieve and stay the disease. Do not get off this duty you owe yourself or friends or relatives who are depending on you for their recovery. Stay at it this time cost you nothing and may help you.

Remember, this free offer is for one day only.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their fathers.

MEET A GOOD REASON

Wayne People Can Tell You Why It Is So:
Don's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why they cure so always lasting. This remedy has cured me and has cured me by helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause back ache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Wayne people tell you of many cures. Price $2.00 per box. Buy three boxes.
Mrs. Henry Hanson of Wayne, Neb., says: "Three years ago I was anxiously, by sudden pains in the small of my back, caused by exertion of the carter of a coal, there was a shooting throbbing across my loins and at times I was so lame and sore that I could not get up after sitting. Headache and dizzy spells annoyed me. The kidney secretions were in a disgusting condition and every effort to relieve until I used Don's Kidney Pills. They eventually cured me and there has never been the least return of my trouble."
For sale by all druggists. Price $2.00 per box.
