Buy Red River Valley Lands

ALWAYS GROW GOOD CROPS.

CROP

This year's crop, the old resident farmers declare, is but a fair one. Spring wheat going up to 35 bushels per acre. Barley up to 45 bu. and Oats up to 70 bu. per acre. We can bring you in touch with Red River Valley farmers who have raised 46 bu. spring wheat, 60 bu. of barley and 110 bu. oats per acre.

SOIL

Is a rich, heavy, black, sandy, loam with Clay sub-soil, standing both dry and wet weather to perfection. Both large and small running streams drain the County into the Red River. This soil has raised wheat for over 20 years and is still growing up to 35 bu. per acre.

WHEAT

Winter wheat is just being introduced and is doing fine. One farmer raised 36 bu. per acre and sold it for $2 per bu. for seed, so it will soon be a common crop there. This will enable a farmer to put in part of his crop in the fall of the year.

CORN

While we do not claim the Red River Valley is a corn country equal with Wayne County, yet we have the assurance from what is now being grown there that it will produce 30 to 40 bu. of a good early variety of corn if planted in May and properly tended. It will surprise you now on corn.

HAY

With the Red River Valley growing fine Clover, Alfalfa, and Blue Grass, you are sure of an abundance of pasture and hay. Also you can ever enrich the soil and always produce bumper crops. DO YOU KNOW that few lands will grow tame grasses that can be bought at Red River Valley land prices?

SAFE

Safe as U. S. bonds are Red River lands. Never failed a good crop in 20 years, which is sure evidence. Some good quarters bring up to $1200 in rent. Well improved farms at 30 to 60 dollars per acre on good terms. Get busy as these farms will double in price the coming five years. WHY? Because they produce the goods.

 The old building on south Main street, that was occupied some years ago by the Schneider saloon, has been a source of annoyance to the town for some time, from the fact that it projected several feet into the street, which prevented the sidewalk from being put through. The owner refused to move it without going through a process of law, which would take time, and hence one day during the past week it was unceremoniously put in its proper location, and now the walk can be put through as it should be, and taxed up to the proper parties.
