SUIT TO RESTRAIN THE CITY COUNCIL

ROW OVER PROPOSED HALL SITE

Objection to Fisher and Orcutt Lots Causes Action for Temporary Injunction.

A petition has been filed in the district court asking for a temporary injunction against the city council to prevent purchase of the Fisher and Orcutt property as a site for the proposed city hall. Henry Kellogg, J. H. Wright and J. H. Atkins are the plaintiffs who are represented by Attorneys Berry & Berry of this city, and Judge R. E. Evans of Dakota City. City Attorney C. H. Hendrickson and County Attorney A. R. Davis appear for the defendants. The hearing will take place before Judge A. A. Welch next Monday.

The petition alleges that the city council cannot use the money voted for a city hall to buy a site larger than necessary for the building, and that the purchase of a plot for a park was not granted in connection with voting bonds for the hall. It is charged that the mayor and three councilmen were influenced in the proposed purchase of the Fisher lots by a gift of money. The plaintiffs will contend that the mayor had no right to cast the deciding vote and that the support of a majority of the council was necessary to make legal a motion to buy a site. The Fisher property is objected to as unfavorably located.

If there is no way to settle the differences or make progress out of court the case may land in the supreme court, with a likely delay of a few years, before the will of the people for a city hall can be put into effect.

OSCAR BERKHEIMER DIES FROM TYPHOID

OSCAR BERKHEIMER DIES FROM TYPHOID

Oscar Berkheimer who moved to Tulsa, Tex., with his wife last January, died there Friday morning from typhoid fever, with which he had suffered for five weeks. The remains were taken to Malvern, Ia., his old home, where the funeral and interment took place Monday afternoon. Ed. Meeboer and Harry McMullen, close friends of Mr. Berkheimer, went to Malvern to attend the funeral. Mrs. Berkheimer is also very sick with the disease, and the announcement of her husband's death made her condition worse. She is the only surviving member of the immediate family, there being no children.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkheimer had just become comfortably situated in a new house which they had built, when they were stricken with typhoid fever. Their home is on a twenty-acre tract adjoining Tulsa, and they also had a half-section of land in the vicinity.

Mr. Berkheimer moved to Wayne county from Malvern, Ia., about twenty years ago, and remained here until last January when he sold his property and moved to Texas. He had a host of friends in this county, and all regret to hear of his death. He was aged about 42 years.

WALLS OF DEEP DITCH CAVE IN ON TWO MEN

George Hoguewood and John Lewis who, with other workmen, were engaged in digging ditches for the new sewer system at the State Normal, were buried by the walls caving in on them Monday morning, and had there been no one to rush to their assistance, they would doubtless have perished. They were down eleven feet, and the rain of the day before had softened the walls. Suddenly and without warning a great bank of earth fell on them. Their companions made haste to rescue them. Young Hoguewood suffered a fracture of his left shoulder blade, but both were considerably bruised. Dr. Naffziger was called. The accident happened between 8 and 9 o'clock.

CASE AGAINST JERD JANSEN DISMISSED

The case against Jerd Jensen of Hancock precinct, charged with tearing down a live fence, Martin Redmer being the complainant, was dismissed on motion of the county attorney after a number of witnesses had been examined. Attorney H. E. Siman of Winslow appeared for the defendant. Following were called as witnesses: Herman Deck, August Deck, William Schultz, William Jansen, Geril Jansen, Bernard Pololl, William Eckert and Herman Weichtenthal.

A SOUND PROGRESSIVE.

Lincoln Journal: Ex-Representative Hinshaw returning to Nebraska after a respite from official duties, speaks out in positive tones in favor of the reelection of President Taft, and also the return of Senator Norris-Brown to the senate. Mr. Hinshaw believes that President Taft is a more effective progressive than even Theodore Roosevelt. He believes that his habit, formed while on the bench, of paying no attention to attempts to influence his action by personal pulls, makes him a safer man in the present crisis than the last president. "Let President Taft make up his mind that a certain thing is right," says Mr. Hinshaw, "and it is impossible to swerve him from doing what he considers his duty. His wealthy friends cannot influence him one particle. It is his habit of thought to act only on proper evidence, not on the appeals of his friends."

Mr. Hinshaw is of the opinion that if the critics of the administration here in the west could go down to New York and hear the malefactors of great wealth talk about the president and the way he is "ruining the country" with his "attacks on business," they would feel entirely different on the second term question. He believes that President Taft represents the so-called Roosevelt policies quite as faithfully as Roosevelt himself. He is very sure that he is a closer follower of Roosevelt than Senator LaFollette, whom he recalls as an opponent and not a sympathizer with Roosevelt when he was in the white house. Mr. Hinshaw is also unreserved in his support of Senator Brown as a progressive senator who has earned a second term at the hands of the people of this state.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The Eastern Star lodge had its regular meeting Monday evening.

The P. E. O. will have a meeting next Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Chase.

The ladies of the Catholic Guild will give a social at the home of T. W. Moran tomorrow night.

The Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian church meets tomorrow evening at the home of Miss Reba Nangle.

The Bridge Whist club met with Miss Ruth Bressler Tuesday evening. Charming refreshments were served.

The Bible study circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Elin next Wednesday at 2:30. All the ladies cordially invited.

The Mouldy club met with Mrs. C. A. Chase Monday afternoon and discussed current events. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Cunningham.

The Minerva club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. J. Miner, a mile south of Wayne. The lesson treating of the history of commerce, was led by Mrs. Bright. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Miner.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weber entertained a party of sixteen guests Saturday evening. After a three-course dinner, cards furnished amusement. Mrs. Raymond won the ladies' prize and Dr. J. J. Williams the gentlemen's prize.

The ladies of the Tuesday club surprised Mrs. G. J. Green by gathering at her home in a body Saturday afternoon and spending the time in sewing and social conversation. They were supplied with refreshments which were served at the proper time.

The A. M. club met at the home of Mrs. John T. Bressler Tuesday afternoon. The members studied Stoddard's lecture on England, and Mrs. Blair read selections from Tiverton's tales. At the conclusion of the study, Mrs. Bressler served a 5 o'clock tea.

The U. D. club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Fisher. The problem of cutting and preparing beef and pork was considered. Mrs. Hufford read an interesting paper treating the subject. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Morris.

Twenty-five young people gave a surprise for Miss Myrtle Kopp at her home Tuesday evening in honor of her nineteenth birthday. Various amusements occupied attention for a few hours, and then delicious refreshments were served. The Philathea class of the Baptist church presented Miss Kopp with a silver mounted umbrella.

Last Friday evening the young people of the Baptist church gave a reception in the parlors of the church in honor of the students and faculty of the Wayne State Normal. The first assembled in the auditorium of the church where they were entertained by the following program:

Song, America... By the Congregation
Opening Remarks... Miss Ruby Hughes
Male Quartette...
Messrs. Sprague, Davies, King and Nicholas.

Short Talk... Professor House
Solo... Professor Coleman
Revitation... Miss Violet Woosley
Short Talk... Rev. Richardson
Solo... Charles Nicholas
Reading... Miss Ina Hughes
Male Quartette...
After the program they gathered in the parlors in the basement of the church where the remainder of the evening was spent in getting acquainted and having a general good time. The decorations in autumn colors added much to the scene of merriment. Punch and wafers were served throughout the evening. Though weather conditions were unfavorable for a large crowd, there were about 150 present. As the crowd dispersed at a late hour, their joyous faces reflected evidence of an evening well spent.

DEPOT CASE TAKEN TO FEDERAL COURT

The following letter to Attorneys Berry & Berry explains the status of the Wayne depot case:

"Replying to yours of the 25th instant, relative to the Wayne depot matter, will say that this case was removed to the federal court on September 28.

"This department will prepare a motion to remand the case, and will be prepared to resent its views of the same. I shall be glad to have you also look up the matter and, if you like, argue it at the time the motion is taken up. If the motion is overruled, of course, I shall expect you to look after the trial of the case in the federal court the same as though it were in the supreme court.

"After the motion is prepared, and as soon as I can ascertain the date when the motion will be heard, I will advise you of the date of hearing.

Yours very truly,
"GRANT G. MARTIN,
"Attorney General."

TRADE BOOMING.

Saturday was one of the biggest trade days Wayne has ever had, and dealers were gratified by the large volume of business done. It is pleasing to see the increasing number of people who make Wayne headquarters for all kinds of supplies. They are more and more appreciating the successful efforts of local dealers to meet foreign competition in quantities and prices, and accordingly more business is coming here.

There is every advantage to be gained by people in this territory trading in Wayne. People should read the newspaper advertisements carefully every week and be governed by them in doing their trading. It is always the wise and profitable course to follow.

 J. M. Bressler who lives two and one-half miles northeast of Wayne, has grown about 400 bushels of popcorn on fifteen acres of land this year. He has been offered a cent and a half a pound for the crop. It may thus be seen that raising popcorn is very profitable business.
 William Miller and daughter, Miss Pearl, were arrivals last week from Wenatchee, Wash., and are visiting friends and relatives in and near Wayne. Mr. Miller was formerly a resident of Wayne, having lived here with his family in the early days. From here they expect to go to Omaha where a daughter of Mr. Miller, Mrs. Isenhart, is recovering from an operation.
 The officers of the county Sunday school association have just received word from the State Association office that the state workers will be in Winside and will assist in the county Sunday school convention scheduled for that place on November 9 and 10, 1911. Every Sunday school in this county, by virtue of its existence, is a member of the state and county association, and in order to get the most benefit should have one or more delegates at every session of the convention. The state workers come prepared to discuss all phases of the Sunday school work, and the Sunday schools in this county will receive much help and inspiration if represented in the coming meeting. Remember the time, November 9 and 10, 1911, and the place, Winside, and plan to be there.
 METHODISTS TO MEET.
 Lincoln, correspondence in Omaha Bee: The Nebraska congress of Methodism will be held in this city October 25 and 26 under the leadership of Bishop Nuelson of Omaha. The gathering, according to those who have the preparations in charge, will be the greatest Methodist affair ever held in the state and will bring more members of that church together than any previous event in the church history. At the banquet which is to be held during the session arrangements are being made to seat more than 1,000 delegates. Each church in the state is allowed one delegate at large to the congress and one for every fifty members or major fraction thereof.
 Election of delegates to attend the big gathering will be held over the state October 14.
 ALONZO M'HENRY.
 Wakefield Republican: Alonzo McHenry died Sunday, October 1, after a long and painful illness. The physicians who examined his body with an X-Ray counted no fewer than eighteen internal cancers. Hence he must have been a much greater sufferer than others know for he always avoided talking about his troubles. He was occasionally on the streets of the village to within two weeks of his death; but for many months he showed he was a very sick man.
 He was born at Springfield, O., June

Why we handle The FAVORITE

Being a Story of How we Were Convinced

First, we were attracted by the handsome appearance of the Favorite, but we did not decide to handle it for this reason alone, although we decided it was the most handsome base burner on the market.

We wanted a better reason than an attractive looking stove, so we looked it over thoroughly, comparing it point by point with other base burners, and this is what we found:

That the material from which it is made is all of the highest grades—the doors, mica frames and joints being absolutely air and paper tight.

We were told the Favorite produced the most satisfactory results with about half as much coal as other base burners. We discovered this to be true. We found the reason to be in its Triple Exposed Flues.

The sectional cut herewith explains these flues better than we can in words. The heat passes from the fire pot into the two outside down flues, across the bottom of the stove, under the ash pan, where it enters the central flue. It then passes back over the bottom and up the central flue to the chimney. Just think of this great radiating surface, and it is more than doubled, because the flues are SET OUT from the back of the stove. The flues therefore radiate from all sides, and the back of the stove radiates heat, also. This feature alone places the Favorite in a class by itself, making it the best and most economical heating stove in existence. But other features of its construction must not be overlooked. Would like to tell you all about them.

Do not put off buying your heating stove until the cold days come. Come and see us now, and our Favorite will be your Favorite too.

6, 1866, hence was forty-five years and nearly four months old at the time of his death. He was married December 14, 1902, and his wife had been exceedingly devoted in her unremitting attention during his illness. Besides his wife he leaves only a sister who was in Kansas when last heard from. His funeral occurred at his late residence Tuesday afternoon, Dr. Caldwell officiating and a choir assisting in the services. A larger number were in attendance than the house could contain. The remains were laid to rest in the village cemetery.

WHAT VOTERS SHOULD DO.
 Lincoln Journal: The current issue of the Commoner praises Dan Stephens because he is a democrat. It doesn't commend him for anything he ever did or said or hinted at for the honor or glory of his country, and its endorsement is therefore of no value. He should be defeated for congress on suspicion, and the voters will make a terrific mistake if they fail to place the mark of their disapproval of Dan in the little square opposite the name of Jim Elliott.

A Better Store for You

The World Do Move, and So Do We.

TODAY WE HAVE A STORE THAT OUR CUSTOMERS AS WELL AS OURSELVES ARE PROUD OF...

---knowing the advantages of a store after which this is patterned, in the way goods can be shown and displayed, I found it necessary, to gain the added display features, to make room for new staple and fancy goods, and greatly increased business.

It is impossible for us to wait upon you at all times as promptly as we would like to do; also impossible for us to mention the long list of items to be had in a high class grocery. Now you can see many things for yourself while we are getting ready for you. I find that if I had a salesman at every three feet of counter space, you would not be as well satisfied as you are now, to be able to get close to goods and inspect at leisure.

While working in one of the best groceries in Sioux City, I was in position to see the number of mail orders for items that were not to be had in towns like Wayne. There is a lot in knowing your business—and yours alone. I pay rent and have the door unlocked, am too busy to ask you personally for your business, and take this opportunity to ask you to come in, become a customer, and help maintain a high class grocery in Wayne.

Here We Are Again

"STALEY"

Nice : Warm : Soft : Elastic : Durable

FOR thirteen long years we've been selling Staley fine wool underwear in WAYNE. This is our thirty-second year selling this World Famous Brand of Underwear. Perhaps you say, "You've advertised this brand long enough". No, there are still a few men in Wayne county that do not wear this celebrated underwear, and we're going to keep on advertising Staley until every man in this vicinity knows it. Yet we have to find a single man who has ever worn Staley who is willing to wear any other kind. One funny thing we can't understand—most men in Wayne who do not wear Staley know that they need it and SHOULD wear it. Perhaps it's because they regularly trade elsewhere and think they have to do with something else. Staley is not high priced. Anyone can afford to wear it. There's no excuse for being without it. Wear it. Enjoy good health and be comfortable. Ask some one wearing Staley (almost every man wears it) and he will recommend it. Ask your doctor; he will recommend it. Come in and ask us to show you Staley. Feel it. Look at it. Understand why so many wear it, and you will be ready to buy and wear it yourself.

WHY IT IS BETTER.

The wool used to make the STALEY underwear is pulled, not sheared, which leaves the ends of the fibers smooth, and not blunt and sharp as all other wool underwear is. Then the wool is put through a process of cleaning that takes out all foreign matter such as grease impurities, sand-burrs and chaff. It is thoroughly cleansed, then it is carded and spun into yarn and knit into garments. These garments are put into great vats of hot soap suds and thoroughly shrunk. That is why the STALEY wool underwear does not irritate the skin, and is worn by men and even women in Wayne that never found any other wool underwear that they could wear.

Why It Is Comfortable.

It is made to fit; not stretched to cover; the seams are all sewed with a double over-stitch, which makes a smooth seam that will never rip. This seam is found only in the STALEY underwear, and you will always feel comfortable with STALEY underwear on. Keep yourself warm in STALEY underwear this winter and you will always wear it.

A FINE ASSORTMENT

STALEY underwear is made in fifty different kinds. We can please the rich and poor alike. We can fit any person, no matter what his shape or size may be, big or little, short or tall, lean or fat, at the same price as the regular sizes. We have it in all colors and can please the most particular man, and we guarantee satisfaction to the wearer.

WHY YOU SHOULD WEAR IT.

The best medical authority in the world concedes that wool underwear is the only underwear fit to wear. We can give you the names of more than fifty cases of rheumatism that have been cured by wearing STALEY all wool underwear. This is the only factory in America that makes an exclusive line of high grade wool underwear which is sold direct to the retailer and cannot be bought from a Jobber. Wool woven and made into undergarments by the STALEY methods absorbs the perspiration, thereby preventing the wearer from suffering through sudden changes in the weather. Now don't wait until you get a good case of pneumonia before you are converted into the STALEY family. Six dollars' worth of STALEY is cheaper and worth more than twenty-five dollars' worth of medicine.

IT'S REMARKABLE; THIS STALEY.

It makes you feel like new; gives you a better grip on things; gives you a new determination. You too will become possessed with a desire to tell your friends, and send them here for STALEY.

Come Now--Join the Big Staley Family.
Keep Healthy. Keep Comfortable. Keep Warm.

Get into some of the nicest, softest, warmest, most comfortable and durable, underclothing that you ever have worn. The cost is little; the effect is incomparable. You can't afford to wait.

THE STALEY OVERSHIRT.

Teamsters, railroad men and every other man who has out-of-door work, and who wants to keep warm should invest in the celebrated STALEY all wool Jersey knit overshirts. There is nothing in the market that will outwear them and nothing that can be made warmer. You can laugh at zero weather with one on. $1.00 to $2.50 Each

FIRST PUBLICATION OF DELINQUENT LIST

PAPER'S EFFORT FOR THE PLUM

Initial Newspaper is Launched None too Soon to Catch the Annual Delinquent List.

In the early days when newspapers depended more on county business than they do now, the publication of the annual delinquent tax list was an important source of revenue each year. The average county paper in those days was not a very heavy literary or news production, and operating expenses were necessarily kept down to the minimum. Thus, the delinquent tax list, which was considerably larger and more profitable than it is today, meant much to the newspaper exchequer and was eagerly sought. So, when the first newspaper was started in Wayne county, the delinquent tax list was one of the pecuniary essentials in prospect.

It was in 1876 when C. E. Hunter, now of Wakefield, ordered equipment for a paper at La Porte, and he expected to have it started in time to handle the tax list that year. In the absence of a county paper, the treasurer would post a notice showing delinquents and would reap the revenue which would otherwise go to a regular publisher.

As the time approached for the publication of the tax list, Mr. Hunter made haste to get his plant on the ground and in shape for business. He imported a printer, and set him to work putting up the Washington hand press and properly arranging the type. The first printer in a new settlement is welcomed as a biped of rare skill, and is recognized as an individual of importance that deserves a good deal of attention. The county treasurer got acquainted with him, and manifested a lively interest in his preliminary work looking to the county's introductory feat in journalism.

The delinquent tax list was finally in type, and Mr. Hunter anticipated with relish the $300 or $400 he would realize from it. That kind of a start was not to be regarded lightly by a newspaper launched in a raw and sparsely settled country.

Publication day arrived, and to make the notice of the tax list legal there could be no delay. But a dark shadow was unexpectedly thrown over the path of the publisher. The printer suddenly discovered that the setscrew to the press was gone, and conveyed the disturbing information to Mr. Hunter. It was impossible to print without it, and there was no way to make one and no time to get one from a distant foundry.

But people who have the hardihood to meet the ill winds of the frontier are not baffled by obstacles. They have the metal in them to surmount difficulties, and wrest success from threatened failure. So, finding the paper could not be printed in LaPorte on time, Mr. Hunter gathered up the forms, loaded them on a wagon and hurried them off to Dakota City to be printed. He returned to LaPorte sometime during the night of the same day, and had the papers circulated before morning.

The county treasurer, evidently fearing that the paper would not be issued soon enough to make the publication legal, had posted the notice on the court house door. In time the treasurer was awarded the publication fees and it looked as though the pecuniary boost which the impatient journal had made such a struggle to deserve, had evaporated.

But one Sunday some time later, the deputy county treasurer, who was a cousin of the treasurer, attended religious services and at the close of the meeting met Mr. Hunter and told him that the setscrew to the press had been purposely taken from the machine and dropped between the walls of the building. It was charged that the printer had been hired to defeat the publication.

Mr. Hunter began suit against the treasurer to secure the publication fees, but before getting into court, a compromise was effected. Prior to this unexpected development, a new setscrew had been made, the paper issued regularly, and the conscienceless printer had departed.

That is the story of the publication of the first delinquent tax list in Wayne county as told by an old timer.

COUNCIL MEETING.

A regular meeting of the city council was held October 9. In the absence of Mayor Kate, the meeting was called to order with President of the Council W. W. Kingsbury in the chair, and the following councilmen present: Bright, Meister, Sprague, Larison and McVicker. The reading of the minutes of the last regular meeting was dispensed with, but the minutes of the special meeting of October 2 were read and approved. The following bills were then allowed: A. E. Smith, September, reading meters, $15.00; Wayne Herald, printing, 5.00; J. E. Hufford, supplies, .75; H. W. Barnett, hauling hose cart, 4.00; Interstate Electric & Manufacturing Co., supplies, 11.46; Dean Steam Pump Co., supplies, 1.70; H. S. Ringland, freight and express, 4.33.

The May, 1911, light bill of the Methodist church was brought before the council and found to be wrong and by motion the clerk was ordered to collect same at $2.40.

No further business appearing before the meeting motion was carried to adjourn, until Monday evening, October 16, at 7:30.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS.

Real estate transfers for two weeks ending October 10, 1911. Reported by I. W. Alter, bonded abstractor, Wayne, Neb:

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

German Evangelical Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor.) Next Sunday services at 11 a. m. and Sunday school at 10 a. m. Every one cordially invited.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. C. J. Ringer, Pastor.) Sunday school at 10 o'clock. No preaching service on account of the pastor being absent to attend the meeting of the Nebraska Synod which meets at Omaha this week.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Priest.) The forty-hour devotion will commence Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Monday morning at 9 o'clock will be celebrated the solemn high mass, Rev. Father Groebel of Randolph, to have charge of the services and Rev. Father McNamara of Bloomfield to deliver the benediction in the evening. High mass Tuesday at 8 o'clock a. m. closes the devotion.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) Our new church year began most hopefully last Sunday. We were greeted by two large audiences.

The students and friends of the normal were given a reception in the church parlors last Friday evening. In spite of the wet weather a large number present. We appreciate the presence of students at all our church services.

We now have a nursery established at the church parlors to care for the small children, whose mothers desire to attend morning worship. Those in charge are ready to lend their best service to mothers who will use this opportunity to attend church worship.

Next Sunday morning at 10:45 the pastor will preach. In the evening at 7:30 the subject will be, "The Transformation of the Soul."

On next Monday our state convention meets at York.

A cordial invitation to all to attend our services.

Methodist Church. (Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.) Rally day for the Sunday school proved to be quite popular and successful. Very nearly the total enrollment was out, 293, besides over one hundred other people.

The Brotherhood bible class as such begins the work at Sunday school next Sunday. The class is open to all men who desire to have part in its work.

The Ladies' Aid society meets at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the parlors of the church.

Prayer-meeting people are much interested in the Epistle to the Romans which has been the study for a few weeks. Many would be greatly interested in the next two or three services if they should attend the meetings.

On Friday afternoon at 2:30 the W. F. M. S. will meet with Mrs. William Beckenhauer. And in the evening at 7:30 the young men of the E. L. will give a social in the parlors of the church with a candy sale in connection. Everybody is cordially invited, young people particularly.

Next Monday evening the official board meets in its regularly monthly session.

The usual services next Sunday. The pastor will preach morning and evening.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) Next Sabbath morning the Communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed at the Presbyterian church. The subject of the pre-communion address will be "The Mystery and the Glory of the Death of Christ." During the opening exercises an object talk will be given to the children on "Our Daily Bread." In connection with the service the ordinance of baptism will be administered and new members received into the church.

Beginning last Sunday morning rally day services have been held in connection with the work of the church, including a workers' conference on Wednesday evening. The closing meeting will be held on Sunday evening when the subject of the special sermon to the members of the church will be "Our Mission to Our Community."

The Sunday school begins promptly at 10 o'clock and the communion service at 11. The juniors meet at 3:00 p. m.

The hour of the evening services has been changed to 6:30 for the C. E. prayer meeting and 7:30 for the church service.

The Brotherhood will entertain their friends at a social meeting to be held at the home of Mr. F. G. Philto on Friday evening, October 20.

Grand Illustrated Lecture on Rome. Mr. A. E. Turner, L. L. D., president of Hastings college, Nebraska, has been secured to give his famous illustrated lecture on the Eternal City in Wayne on Friday evening, October 27. The lecture will be given at the Presbyterian church and will be illustrated by beautiful picture views. Dr. Turner is already known favorably in Wayne as a popular lecturer and his descriptions of Rome, based on his own observations in that ancient city, will be a great treat. In order that the largest possible audience may be present the prices have been made popular, and the charge for admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children under 12. A special rate has been made of 15 cents for normal students and the pupils of the high school. Assisted by an expert electrician, who will manage the picture machine, Dr. Turner's entertainment will be of a high order and the audience will be given a treat second only to an actual visit to this unique city of the ancient and modern world.

Annual Missionary Supper. The annual missionary supper of the Missionary society of the Presbyterian church has been one of the pleasures of the fall season to many Wayne people and this year will be no exception. This supper will be served in the lecture room of the church next Saturday evening, beginning at 5 o'clock. Supper will be served until all who come have been waited upon. The price of the supper will be 25 cents, same as formerly. It is urged that as many as possible come at 5 so as to avoid the rush.

DEATHS AT NORFOLK. Norfolk, Neb., Oct. 9.—Dr. W. H. H. Hagey, president of the Elkhorn Valley Medical society and prominent here for years, dropped dead at midnight from apoplexy. Mrs. L. B. Musselman, former grand matron of the Eastern Star in Nebraska, died at 6 a. m. after a prolonged illness.

ULRICH-FENCH. Wednesday at high noon took place the marriage of Mr. Frank Ulrich and Miss Frieda Fench at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. William Silligmann, south of Wayne. The groom is an industrious farmer and well known in this community. The bride came from Germany several years ago and has made her home near Carroll.

DON CUNNINGHAM HUET. Mrs. E. Cunningham received a letter from her son Don explaining an accident which he suffered but which was not so serious as the following paragraph in an Ashton, Idaho, paper would suggest: "Don Cunningham met with a painful accident the last of the week. One of his legs was badly crushed, the result of a wagon running over it." Don assures his mother that no bones were broken and that the result was not serious. Fortunately, Mrs. Cunningham received the letter ahead of the paper. The latter in advance would have caused her great alarm.

ELLIS-BJOEK. The marriage of Mr. Faye A. Ellis of Wayne, and Miss Alva Bjork of Hawarden, Ia., was solemnized in Sioux City Monday, the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of that city officiating. The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ellis of Wayne, having attended school here and later studying pharmacy at Des Moines Medical college, and is now engaged in the drug business at Sioux City. The bride is a lady of accomplishments and was studying music at Sioux City the past summer. Her relatives live at Hawarden, Ia. The young couple went to housekeeping immediately in Sioux City. The Herald joins their host of friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous married life.

AUCTIONEERS ORGANIZE. Tuesday's Norfolk Daily News:—North Nebraska now has an auctioneers' association. Thirty auctioneers living in north Nebraska met in the Norfolk Commercial club rooms Monday afternoon and organized what is known as the North Nebraska auctioneers' association. A committee was elected to draw up a constitution and by-laws. This committee was instructed to make a report at the next meeting which will be held in Norfolk some time in 1912. Fremont and Columbus were active in bidding for the next meeting. Secretary A. W. Hawkins of the Norfolk Commercial club acted as temporary secretary of the organization.

The purpose of the organization is to get together all auctioneers of north Nebraska each year to discuss matters of interest to auctioneers and to make united efforts to have desired legislation passed. It is believed when the new organization meets in Norfolk next year there will be 200 members present. The following officers were elected Monday: Bruce Webb, president; Tim Ereece, Battle Creek, vice president; John Haddis, Elgin, secretary and treasurer.

STOVE PEDDLERS. F. A. Berry, secretary of the Wayne Commercial club, has received the following bulletin from the secretary of the Federation of Nebraska retailers: "During the month parties selling wrought iron ranges from a wagon through Antelope and Pierce counties, on complaint of the county attorneys of these counties, were arrested, one at Neligh and the other at Pierce, Nebraska. Each of these parties was taken before the county judge and given a fine. They put up bonds and have appealed to the district court, under the contention that they were engaged in interstate commerce. In the case at Neligh, they found that the stoves had been shipped to Randolph, Nebraska, and stored at that place, and were then taken out on wagons and sold to the consumers. The price paid for the stoves is reported to have been more than the very best ranges could be bought for from the local hardware dealer.

are the three distinguishing features of the Wayne Variety Store. Any sort of personal or household want may be supplied here at the minimum prices consistent with good quality. If you want something we do not keep and it is in our line, tell us so and we shall order it. We want to please and accommodate all our customers—meet them more than half way in everything. If you can do better somewhere else, by all means go somewhere else—if you can do better with us, in justice to yourself, come to us and come FIRST. See what we have, compare our prices, take everything in consideration and if you find that you can do better here than elsewhere, don't dodge consequences—be fair to you and to us and buy where it is to your advantage to buy.

The Poet Philosopher

The winter soon will make a trip this way, in maulin frenzy, and then we all will have the grip, sore throats and influenza. The blizzard will come blizzing forth, with rude and shocking manners, and all the storm kings of the north will shake their icy banners. And then, alas, poor weary soul, you'll suffer the emotions, when buying clothes and buying coal, and buying drugs and potions. Methinks I see you in the street, on icy pavements totter, and long to bask in summer's heat and ply your patient swatter! I hear you mutter: "Can it be that I was sadly sighing, when summer breezes baked the sea, and happy men were frying? And did I, 'neath the golden skies, unweaved by stoves and heaters, heap mal-contents on the flies and damn the meek mosquitoes. Oh, whistling whisksers," say you then, "King Winter is a hummer! My heart will never know joy again until it's cooked next summer!"

I like to talk of pleasant things, that make one's spirit light, so when some dreary gossip brings a tale that reeks with spite, some stale PLEASANT and dismal anecdote THEMES about a neighbor's faults, I straightway get that gossip's goat and tell him he must waltz. "This life is short, my friend," I say, "for us poor mortal skates, and every man who goes his way has got some foolish traits. But every man, as you will find, if you should seeking start, has some good qualities of mind, some virtues in his heart. And I have found it better far to help poor human joys to hitch their wagons to a star, by giving words of praise, than to discourage them and mock by saying bitter things, so soak your head and take a walk and don't come back, by jings!"

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

An old man can't prove how young he is by riding a bicycle.
An Atchison man is good at remembering names and nothing else.
Making it a state emblem didn't keep the snufflower from being a weed.
Everyone wants sufficient vocabulary to say mean things in a nice way.
Some men never know how hard they can hit until they begin slamming their kin.
So many jokes are invented that it is a wonder that there are only a few good ones.
A brogue may be musical and otherwise charming, but it is easier to understand English.
Aside from the way he rides a horse, an Englishman's joke doesn't usually amount to much.
About the meanest thing a woman can say to her husband is that his hair is becoming thin.
One of the lessons of the years is that it doesn't matter much what town one comes from.
Another question for the Lansacer literary society: What is the idea for making stogies so long?
What is needed is an arbitration court which can handle family rows without getting whipped.
There may be an excuse for catching cold, but no one should talk enough to cause hoarseness.
A good horseman has little use for a whip. And it might be possible to handle children as humanely.
As we understand it, to make a good landing a balloon must come down on the installment plan.
It is also a little difficult to understand the parent who kills his children because he loves them so.
Some men are almost as tiresome in telling of their triumphs as other men are in exploiting their troubles.
Our sense of humor isn't keen enough to enable us to get much fun out of another man's black eye.
A crow talks a good deal, considering how little he has to say. But a crow doesn't monopolize that trait.
It is all right to be in the pink of condition, but one shouldn't concentrate the color in the end of his nose.
It is our notion that the flavor in chewing gum ought to train for endurance; it has too much speed now.
If there were only two sides to a question a reporter's work would be simple, not to say one glad sweet song.
Some fault is found with the way women get off street cars, but the fact remains that they usually get off all right.
When babies come with considerable regularity, the younger ones' knowledge of new clothes is mostly second hand.
It may be said for a superior person that it isn't necessary for him to spend most of his time showing that he feels that way.
Rah-rah clothes won't make an old man look young, and we have too much respect for old age to say what they might make him look like.

JUDGE A. A. WELCH

The Plainview News "can find no fault with Judge Welch," but opines that "he has had the office long enough." Coming from a democratic source this is not bad. It shows that the people are opposed to the present re-election. It has no ground other than strictly partisan bias to offer in favor of Ex-Senator Allen's candidacy. If length of service is to be the limiting factor to a public officer's career, then certainly the former senator's plea for votes has but slight claims for consideration. He not only served as district judge, but was elected to represent the state of Nebraska in the United States senate, and was afterward selected by a democratic governor to serve part of the unexpired term of his republican successor. On the other hand Judge Welch is serving his first elective term and has never held any other public office than the one he so ably fills. Judge Welch is recognized throughout the district as the ideal man for the place; he has kept himself aloof from all political entanglements; he has devoted his whole energy and his broad knowledge of the law with a single eye to the performance of the onerous duties of his office. It would appear unwise to make a change which would substitute a no-time successful politician for so useful and worthy a man as Judge Welch. Another aspect of the case is that if a judge is to be retired at the end of his first term which has proven entirely satisfactory to all parties, merely to give place to a man who has a record for long distance talking, the inducement for a good lawyer to sacrifice his practice in order to serve on the bench is not very alluring. The ablest lawyers should be our district judges, but the salary of the position is not more than such men can earn by regular practice, consequently, if no fault can be found with the occupant of a judicial seat, it is folly to risk a change from mere caprice.—Tilden Citizen.

It seemed very strange to me at first, to find myself in a town of five thousand and not know a single individual. However, they knew me though my friends in Nebraska, and I hope my work will not fall short of what my friends have led them to expect of me. I certainly am busy, but that is what I like, so I ought not to mention it.
The Herald is a most welcome visitor. I hope to have the Nebraska Democrat, but up to the present it has failed to reach me.
Miss Brookings who teaches at Green River, and myself will meet in Salt Lake Thanksgiving week. During that week the state teachers' association will meet there. The school board pays railroad fare of each teacher to and from Salt Lake and one dollar per session attended. As there are three sessions per day it means all expenses. This is a little different from Nebraska school boards.
I fear this letter has been more about myself than I intended, but the next will be of a different make-up. I am,
Yours truly,
ELLA J. PILE,
Springville, Utah.

Clearwater Record: Judge Welch of Wayne, candidate on the republican ticket to succeed himself as judge in this district, was in town Friday getting acquainted with the voters. The judge is one of the nicest men to meet we ever had the honor of shaking hands with, is as common as an old shoe and seems to have the knack of getting next to the hearts of the people.

LETTER FROM UTAH.

Editor of Wayne Herald:—I take this opportunity to write a letter to the Herald as per promise, regarding this section of the country.
Springville is in Utah county, fifty-two miles south of Salt Lake on the main line of the Denver and Rio Grande R. R. Provo, the seat of Brigham Young university, is the county seat. Springville has a population of near five thousand, with over twelve hundred children in the public schools. It is one of the early settlements of the Mormons, hence has quite a history. I will not give that, but more especially speak of the schools.
The administration of the public schools is different from Nebraska. They are divided into three departments, viz: Primary, which includes all grades up to the fifth; grammar, which means all other grades below the high school; then the high school. However, they now have a township high school system, which gives to Utah school system, with a teaching force of two hundred fifty, three high schools, one of which is in Springville. The high schools are maintained by a tax from the county. This certainly is the wise and the just way to regulate the high school. It relieves the towns of this enormous expense, and thus enables them to make their elementary schools much better. My position is supervisor of these primary grades with the responsibility of the teaching of a fifth grade. I have an assistant who relieves me half of the day so I am enabled to do quite a little supervision. I have

With the proposed depot and city hall in court, we still have the normal school building, in process of erection, to rejoice over and point to with pride.

One way to stand up for Wayne is to stand up for Wayne county, and there is opportunity to give evidence of doing it in the coming election by supporting the three men who, in the roster of candidates, represent outside territory.

Appendix has broken into aviation circles, one aviator having had an operation for the disease. The fashion having been started among flying machine manufacturers, they will all feel they ought to have it in order to circulate in good society.

Now comes Rockefeller and complains that the assessment on his house is too high. He has probably felt the lack of public attention of late, and registers a kick to let people know he is still alive and young enough to take an interest in the conservation of his material possessions.

California has voted down a proposition to grant equal suffrage to women, but adopted the initiative and referendum and recall. Wouldn't it be quite as sensibly progressive to allow women to vote as to permit the men of California to recall their judges? Do the women know less about public questions than the men do about the duties of courts?

Gifford Pinchot concedes in an article in the Saturday Evening Post that President Taft has been improving his record the last few years, but assumes that if given a second term his record would be more like that of the opening months of his presidential experience. Gifford is a man of powerfully searching wisdom, but we wonder how he found out that.

center of Main street. There is still room in Main street for public institutions. This city hall could be raised in the center of an intersection of streets, and by perching on tall stilts, its admirable appearance visible to the surrounding country, would largely offset the inconvenience to traffic.

Witness the spectacle of a political party asking Wayne county to support a ticket made up wholly of Wayne men. The rest of the county has no representation on the ticket, and yet its voters are asked to go to the polls on election day and help elect Wayne men. Outside territory would of course concede that the county seat deserves a share of the offices, but will naturally and properly resent the presumption that it should have all of them.

If conflicting differences over a site for the proposed city hall can be settled amicably and without a prolonged contest in court, it ought to be done. The hall is needed and voters did not contemplate a long delay when they voted the bonds asked for. A sense of the wishes of the majority as to a site might be advisable. If so, a mass meeting might be called to reflect the popular desire. If common sense cannot agree and cannot otherwise make progress, it would seem proper to appeal to the people for advice.

Wayne cannot live aloof from the surrounding country. Its support must come largely from Wayne county, and therefore there must be friendly and reciprocal relations between the city and the rest of the county. Although the greed of some might suggest taking every advantage in sight if possible, it would be a selfish and shortsighted policy to do so. And we believe a majority of the people of Wayne will appreciate the justice in following a broader and fairer course. Three men outside of Wayne have been nominated for county offices, viz: Frank S. Benser for clerk, George T. Porter for sheriff, and Eph Anderson for commissioner. The balance of the nominees on the republican ticket and all the nominees of the democratic party live in Wayne. Won't the people of Wayne who must look to the country for support, join the country in electing these three men? Is it too much for the rest of the county to ask? We should say no, and we believe a majority will agree with us.

ODDS AND ENDS.

We have never found any detached fingers in the kind of tobacco we use. It is so cheap that manufacturers cannot afford to put fingers into it and leave them there.

There is only one objection to reduced cost of living, incident to a democratic administration—would our pay be trimmed accordingly, so we couldn't meet expenses even though the standard were greatly lowered?

W. F. Ramsey who from experience appreciates the hardships of war, recommends that the unpleasantness between Italy and Turkey and the insurrection over the Wayne city hall site be submitted to the Hague peace tribunal, soon to convene.

Col. Bixby speaks with refreshing assurance in this: "Why should one be afraid to die when so many billions of earth's children have passed through the ordeal safely and serenely? On an average it is the very best thing that can happen to a fellow."

J. C. Elliott, republican candidate for congress, refutes the charge that he opposed the election of Governor Aldrich. On the contrary Elliott says he supported the governor. Then it would seem up to the governor to come into the Third district and do some boosting for the congressional nominee.

When a fellow feels dejected and sad and is about ready to join the democratic party, any one who happens along with words of optimism and cheer truly performs the part of a good Samaritan. People's troubles are largely fancied, and can be wonderfully lightened, if not obliterated, by earnest words of hope and encouragement.

With great warmth and enthusiasm and ecstas, such as would become a crystallizing statesman, Dan Stephens, candidate for congress, says he is against increasing the navy. This resolute and brave stand will of course distress the navy, but will not interest Third district voters so much as a proposition to make the Logan and Elkhorn navigable the whole length, which we are sure our candidate will favor and support.

We note that Dan V. Stephens, candidate for congress, is scheduled to give the main address before the teachers at Emerson next Saturday on invitation of county superintendents of northeast Nebraska. Knowing Stephens was slated for the congressional nomination, and being actively interested in the success of a republican, as witness his part in the congressional committee meeting at Norfolk, Superintendent, Teed of Dixon county must have fought desperately, if not triumphantly, to resist choice of the Fremont democrat. We can imagine how horribly piqued and generally upset one who participates in congressional committee meetings and conventions, would feel to have a political opponent of known congressional aspirations thrust to the front.

Caution.
"Are you giving credit now?" asked the man who had returned to his old home. "No," answered the proprietor of the general store. "What has become of that old sign you had over the counter, 'No Trust'?" "I decided to take it down. I was afraid some of the corporations that supply me with goods would misunderstand it and take offense."

Don't Expect Kindness.
There are six sorts of people at whose hands you need not expect much kindness. The narrow minded think of nobody but themselves, the lazy are too indifferent, the busy have no time to think, the rich disregard appeals for kindness, the poor have neither spirit nor ability, and the good natured fool is not capable of serving you.—Home Notes.

Economical Housewife.
While a Boston man was in Vermont he went to dinner with a friend who has some political aspirations. As they came in the door he heard the woman of the house say to the hired girl: "I see Mr. Jones has somebody with him to dinner. Take those two big potatoes down to the cellar and bring up three small ones."

ORIGIN OF THE THREE BALLS

Familiar Sign of the Pawnbroker Really is the Arms of the Medici Family.

Few persons seeing the signs of the vast wealth of our avuncular relatives in most thoroughfares in London pause to consider their origin. Of course it is the balls of gold to which we refer. Not only may they be taken as indications of wealth, but as a sign that pledges are received. But the balls do not indicate what they really are. They are the arms of the Medici family. Whoever has visited Florence will recall the three balls alternated with the red lilies. But how comes it that the decorations of the Tuscan palace have found their way to London?

The explanation is not difficult if we give the subject a moment's thought. The first gold changers to settle in London, as in Paris, were the Florentines or Lombards. They chose Lombard street as the place where they could carry on their business. These early settlers are perpetuated today by the bankers. In the early days the inhabitants counted among their number some of the Medici family and to inspire confidence they exhibited their family arms, to which they had a perfect right. The family of Medici is extinct today, but their arms survive them, the present users thinking the respectability of the origin too great to be dispensed with.—London Globe.

Ever Responsive to Genius.
"There is no work of genius which has not been the delight of mankind; no word of genius to which the human heart and soul have not sooner or later responded."—James Russell Lowell.

Distrust.
"That man wants to know whether you are going to stand by him," said the political assistant. "I'm obliged to," replied Senator Sorghum. "It wouldn't be safe not to stand by him close enough to watch him."

Buttermilk for Gout.
If you are troubled with gout you should drink at least one quart of buttermilk a day. It is said to have the property of keeping various salts dissolved in the blood and thus in use rid in gout. It promotes the circulation.

Scotch Dog's Business Instinct.

Left one night on Wagonfire mountain with 3,088 sheep by the death of John Sagodry, her master, one female shepherd dog two weeks later delivered to Manuel Saunders, owner of the sheep, 3,085 of the animals, having lost only one during two weeks of privation. The dog's achievement was carried out despite the fact that she was the mother of puppies only a few days old when her master died.—From Our Dumb Animals.

London's Italian Colony.
The Italians in London, England, are sufficient of themselves to form a large town. There are as many as 14,000, about 2,000 of whom are ice-cream vendors and 1,000 organ-grinders. The other 11,000 are chiefly engaged as plaster bust sellers, artists, models, cooks, valets, teachers, artists, restaurant and hotel keepers, and so on.

Uses of Nitrate of Soda.
Sodium Nitrate is the only nitrogen salt that can be used in solution, as all the other soluble salts of nitrogen become fixed as soon as they come in contact with the soil. However, they become available in a short time. The released sodium may correct soil acidity or may liberate calcium, potassium or magnesium from the soil.

Going Backward.
The conditions of existence in Saxony have changed so much in the last few years that, whereas the husband's earnings used to suffice for the needs of his family, now they do not, and the wife and children must help earn the daily bread.

Identifying a Scientist.
If you know the name of every thing that bites you in the woods you're called an entomologist.—Galveston News.

Endurance Tests.
"I kind of wish," remarked the government employe, "that they'd give me another kind of an endurance test—"You want physical exertion?" "Yes, I wish that for a change they'd let me see how many miles I can ride on horseback instead of how many hours I can sit at a desk."

Town Owns Herring Brook.
Brewster, Mass., owns a herring brook, and at the town meeting every year, following an old custom, a committee is elected by ballot to catch the fish and dispose of them. The proceeds are turned into the town treasury.

World's Longest Rivers.
The longest rivers of the world are: North America, Missouri and Mississippi, 4,575 miles; South America, Amazon, four thousand miles; Europe, Volga, 2,300 miles; Asia, Yangtze, 1,000 miles; Africa, Nile, 4,100 miles; and Oceania, Murray and Darling, 1,500 miles.

British Interested in Gas.
In addition to 1,255 gas undertakings in England, there were last year 20 British companies owning gas works on the European continent and in other parts of the world.

Counting Up.
"Think of the golden moments you have wasted playing bridge," said the serious friend. "Yes," replied Mrs. Flimgilt, regretfully, "besides a lot of silver coin and paper currency."

Pathetic Cries of Quadrupeds.
Coming to quadrupeds, the cries of none approach more closely that of the human voice than those of some when lamenting the loss of their young. The cry of a wounded hare resembles that of a child in distress.

B. F. Feather who, with his wife departed Tuesday for California, wished to be remembered with esteem to the many friends whom he was unable to see before leaving. All will wish the worthy couple a safe journey and happiness in their new home.

Burkett F. Wright who lacked but few votes of winning the republican nomination for county superintendent in Dixon county at the August primary, has consented to run for that office by petition. His friends circulated a petition unsolicited by him, and soon had the support of between 400 and 500 names. He has therefore decided to enter the race and will make a personal canvass, seeing as many voters as possible. He has been a successful teacher and is a young man of high character.

Occupation Not Overcrowded.

In a period when many business and professional men complain of unusual dullness in their various callings it is pleasant to record that one occupation diligently followed by many persons of both sexes is at its height. We refer to the business of minding other people's business.

In the Misfit Halo Region.

"I believe," said a Billville author, "that if we finally reach Paradise we'll worry about having to fly too high and sing too often, and some folks will complain about the streets of gold because the hard pavement may hurt their feet."—Atlanta Constitution.

Humiliated Indian Tribe.

When the Quakers came to Pennsylvania in 1682 the only Indians in the neighborhood were the Delaware, who had just been terribly beaten by the Five Nations and forced into a treaty by which they submitted to be called women.

Still Possible.

In spite of the many associations, societies, guilds, bands, organizations and clubs that exist in this country, it remains possible occasionally to find a man who has never had to learn parliamentary rules in order to act as a chairman.

What He Might Expect.

"Trimmins has a first-rate voice," said the critic at the concert; "but he always comes in behind time." "Yes," replied the man who lends money. "I guess it's force of habit. Trimmins' notes are always overdue."—Stray Stories.

OVERTAXED.

Hundreds of Wayne Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed. Have too much to do. They tell us about it in many aches and pains.

Backache, weariness, headache. Early symptoms of kidney-ills. Urinary troubles. Bright's disease follows.

A Wayne citizen tells here a reliable remedy for kidney ills.

Anton Biegler of Wayne, Neb., says: "About two years ago my back was very stiff and I could hardly get up after sitting for awhile. At night after a hard day's work, I was in such pain that I could not get my proper rest. The kidney secretions caused me much annoyance by their frequency in passage. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box and their use helped me so greatly that I continued taking them until I was well. I have never had a serious recurrence of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

The Blushing Octopus.

The octopus frequently changes its color, like a marineameleon. It would appear, from recent studies of the creature, that the colored pigment whereby this change in color is effected is contained in envelopes in its skin, in the tissues of which are muscular fibers actuated by nerves. Should these fibers become relaxed a dark pigment appears. The phenomenon is said to be analogous to blushing.—Harper's Weekly.

Immense Bird's Eggs.

The largest known bird's egg is that of the extinct aepyornis of Madagascar, of which the museum of New York has now a specimen. It has a capacity of two gallons, measures 26 inches round the middle, and the shell is one-eighth of an inch thick. The largest egg of a living bird is that of the ostrich, which is equal to about thirty-six hens' eggs.

Fashion Note.

Ladies who are interested in the subject may take a trip to Washington and examine in the Bureau of Manufactures samples of the wood which the African Anopheles beetle uses for a face stand and paste which have been sent over here by our vice-consul at Lourenco Marques in the interest of American beauty.

In Praise of Poetry.

The old hymn says: "Religion never was designed to make our pleasures less, and the same thing ought to be said about poetry. The distaste for poetry arises from the habit of treating it as if it were only a more difficult kind of prose. The prosaic commentary obscures the beauty of the text.—C. M. Crothers.

Undecipherable.

"Do you know anything about Euripides?" asked the erudite relative. "A little," replied the young man with nerve. "And what are your impressions?" "Well, what I have seen of his stuff convinces me that he wrote a mighty poor hand."

Still a Woman.

Tillie Clinger says that although she is naturally strong-willed and self-governed, practiced in restraint and poise, if a rich widower were to get down on his knees to propose to her she is afraid she would fall on hers and thank the Lord.

Maybe He Doesn't Say It Now.

"I wonder," mused the contemplative boarder, "what has become of the old-fashioned man who used to get up in meeting and confess that he had just enough religion to make him miserable?"

Draws the Line at Files.

We try to sympathize with our dumb animals in their afflictions, but somehow it is rather difficult for us to feel very sorry for the common house fly who ventures too far into our paste pot.—Ohio State Journal.

Lights Replace Ushers.

To economize on ushers a New York moving picture theater has installed small incandescent lamps on the backs of the seats, arranged to burn only when a seat is unoccupied.

Spoke From Experience.

"Say, pop, what is meant by letting well enough alone?" "A good example of it is when an unmarried man just continues to remain single."—Phillips Bulletin.

DON'T TELL OF THEIR RICHES

Great Britain Has Many Millionaires Who Keep Quiet About Their Great Wealth.

"While people in Europe marvel at the big incomes of our American magnates," said Arthur Albert Brooks, late of London, who has come to this side for permanent residence, "it must be admitted that there are many men in Great Britain who are blessed with large incomes and are careful to make no reference to the fact that the newspapers. Possibly England has as many millionaires to the population as this country, but it would be disputed of hand by any one who had not taken the pains to look up the figures.

"They are reaching out in England for a higher tax on incomes, and it was the operation of this new law that brought forth the information. In the United Kingdom there are more than 10,000 persons with an income of more than $50,000 a year. They average $83,000 a year each. There are 30 men in commercial pursuits who have an income each of more than $250,000. "I am told that you can find 20 men in one business block down town in New York city with that income, and anxious to double it. Possibly in some of your industrial towns you have groups of millionaires who will laugh at our claims in England of large incomes. But our average to the population will keep up well.

The aggregate gross income of the inhabitants of the United Kingdom is more than $5,000,000,000, and the average to each inhabitant will compare favorably with the annual incomes of citizens on this side of the water."

Deserved Reward Came Late. Writing of the celebration of the one hundredth birthday of Ambrose Thomas, which took place a short time ago, Karl Dehitz says that the career of the great French composer furnishes another instance of achievement late in life. He was only seventeen years old when he had mastered the piano and the violin and was sent by his father, also a musician, from his home in Metz, to the Paris Conservatory, where he won many prizes for his extraordinary work.

"But he was fifty-five years old before his 'Mignon' was performed and at once placed him in the same class with the great performers," adds Dehitz. "When it had been performed in Paris 1,000 times the president of the republic invested Thomas with the Grand cordon of the Legion of Honor. He lived to be eighty-five years old and enjoyed three decades of recognition."

Would Be Rid of Undesirable Ambassadors from a Besieged Town were treating with Alexander the Great on the terms of surrender, Alexander ordered that Acuphis, the eldest of the ambassadors, should be the governor of the town, and that he should send immediately as hostages 100 of the best citizens. Acuphis then smilingly observed: "Sir, I could govern better if those who permit me to send them 100 of the worst citizens instead of 100 of the best."

J. H. WILSON, Gen'l Mgr.

New Kensington, Pa., Oct. 7, 1911.

R. Bruce Payne, Wayne, Neb:

Dear Sir: Replying to your letter of Oct. 3, all 1911 shipments into Nebraska are made from our East St. Louis warehouse. We maintain a district sales office in Chicago, but do not ship from that point.

The shortage condition, however, at East St. Louis is no worse than it is at New Kensington. It is simply a case of selling goods faster than they can be made. In 1910 you will recall that we did not take on any more salesmen after March, the occasion for this being that we experienced so much trouble with shortages the latter part of 1908. We have practically doubled the capacity of our factory and in no way did we anticipate trouble with shortages this year, or we would have followed the same plan that we did in 1910.

We realize the inconvenience as well as the trouble it is causing and you may rest assured that we are doing all in our power to better the situation. By working night and day the factory is getting caught up with our current orders and you may rest assured that our East St. Louis branch will have the goods as soon as we have them here.

We can assure you that we are doing everything in our power to manufacture the goods and make shipments of orders received.

Yours very truly,

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne County Review, published at LaPorte, November 3, 1881:
Rev. F. H. Calder expects to move to Wakefield.

School begins in the Mettlen district with Miss Jennie Frazee as teacher. Dr. R. B. Crawford has rented rooms in Sioux City, with the intention of moving there for the winter. Married, by Rev. T. H. Hicks, Mr. Clarence W. Porter of Red Oak, Ia., and Miss Mary E. Rice of Wayne county.

Wakefield market: Steers, $3; cows, $2.50 to $2.60; hogs, $4.50 to $5.10; corn 35 cents; oats, 30 cents; potatoes, $1.
E. F. Feather, late of the firm of Crawford & Feather, started east on Saturday. Is it anybody's business if we "guess" what may transpire while he is gone?

Word is received of the suicide of A. A. Fletcher at Pomeroy, Ia. He formerly resided in Wayne county and was this county's first probate judge. He feared the world was coming to an end and his mind was unsettled.

An addition to the town of Wayne will be surveyed and platted in a few days, and will be known as Lake's addition. It will lie north of the town proper and east of the township line, in section 7 in township 26 range 4. The land belongs to Fitch & Lake, and we learn from Mr. Fitch that they will place the price of lots at reasonable figures.

We learn that a daughter of Stephen Dugan, of Spring Branch precinct, accompanied by two small children, became lost in the fog and rain on the prairie, on Thursday morning last, and wandered about all that day, lying in their water-soaked garments at night. A party of men went in search of them, but did not find them, and on the following evening, they managed, half dead, to find their way home with good appetites for supper.

From the Wayne Herald, October 22, 1891:
A. H. Miller moves from Wayne to Sheldon, Mo.

The plans of the new college building drawn by S. D. Relyea have been accepted.

The new brick buildings of J. P. Gaertner, James Britton and Alf Clark are nearing completion.

At a meeting of the city council C. A. Chace was appointed city engineer and A. P. Childs police judge, in the place of B. F. Feather who resigned.
Married, October 17, 1891, at Sloane, Ia., Lindo E. Carlson of Wayne, to Miss Ida E. Johnson, at Wayne, October 9, 1891, Mr. James Downey to Miss Anna Bushey, at Wayne, October 19, Mr. Herman Mildner to Mrs. Johanna Allers.

From the Wayne Herald, October 24, 1901.
A new dynamo was installed at the city electric plant.

The death of the infant child of Andrew Spike is announced.
Paul Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Young, was operated on in Chicago.

Mrs. M. Goodyear accompanied her son Robert to Sioux City for medical treatment.

The new Methodist church building was dedicated with proper ceremonies on Sunday, October 20, 1901.

E. P. Olmstead was badly burned by an explosion of a gasoline stove which he was inspecting with a lighted match after it had been cleaned.

Dr. and Mrs. Wightman, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrington and Mr. and Mrs. Main gave a reception to two hundred guests at the Wightman home in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Ivory.

The Bloomfield train went off the track three miles west of Wausa on account of a broken rail. No one was killed though the dozen passengers aboard were more or less injured.

From the Ponca Journal, October 27, 1881:
Lieutenant Norris' speech at the Silver Creek school house did not come off last Saturday evening, on account of the bad weather.

We are informed by Mr. Stevens, the railroad agent, that the report that only three trains per week will run to this place during the winter, is totally and absolutely untrue. The train will run regularly every day, the same as heretofore.
Captain Paul Boynton, the swimmer, went up to the headwaters of the Yellowstone a few weeks ago and started to swim from there down to the Missouri, and from thence down the Missouri to its mouth. His swim is a long one but he has thus far progressed very well. He passed Fort Pierre a few days ago, and will pass Ponca landing the last of this week. This will be the longest swimming experiment on record.

A few days ago Mr. Jeffreys of South Creek met with an adventure which shows how one is sometimes liable to be deceived by outside appearances. Mr. Jeffreys, armed with a pitchfork, was down in the meadow making hay. He was busy turning the grass over, when he came to a romantic little dell, in which to his great surprise and delight, he saw what appeared to be a nest of young kittens. Being fond of kittens, he stopped to look at them and to smooth them down on their backs so as to hear them purr. But he didn't hear them purr with a cent. He had neglected, it seems, until then, to remember that there are such things as skunks in this world. But he now recollected and retreated with speed, pursued for some distance by the kind regards of the skunks. By burning over the field of battle, and burying the clothing he had on, Mr. Jeffreys was soon enabled to restore the atmosphere to its normal condition. But he will never again attempt to make friends with a nest of kittens in the hayfield.

NEIGHBORHOOD RUTS.
(Wallace's Farmer.)

Most men, from the laborer to the United States senator, are inclined to move in the line of least resistance. This is human nature. They are likewise naturally inclined to do that they did yesterday and to do it in exactly the same way. This, too, is human nature, and forms the basis of habit. We always expect that the average man will walk and talk and act today as he did yesterday and last week and last year. To a certain extent this must be so, for we are creatures of habit. However, if we always move in the line of least resistance, if we do things as we did yesterday and last year, progress is at an end. We are in a rut and keep there because it is easier to stay there than to mark out a new track.

There are neighborhood ruts as well as individual ruts. Farmers get into the habit of conducting their farm operations in a certain way, and sometimes it is the best way, the rut being made by doing things in the right way; but more frequently it is the way their fathers have done them, and they keep on from year to year, assuming that this is the best if not the only way, and satisfied if their crops are good as those of their neighbors. "How are your crops this year?" we asked a farmer. "Oh, neighborlike," and being "neighborlike" he was satisfied.

How to get neighborhoods out of ruts is often quite a problem. Sometimes they are pried out by natural law, or rather by the Power that is behind nature's laws. For example, in the early settlements of these western states farmers were obliged by necessity to raise cash crops—wheat, oats, flax and corn—and sell them in the market. This was not only the right thing for them to do, but the best thing for the time being. Inasmuch as these crops did well and farming was profitable, they assumed that they had hit upon the best way, and kept on and on until finally the Power behind nature took a hand in it and reduced the crops until they were no longer profitable. They abandoned the growing of spring wheat and flax in Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, southern Iowa, eastern Kansas and Nebraska. They would have kept on growing these crops until their lands had been utterly and absolutely exhausted if they had been permitted to do so; but they were pried out of that rut.

Farmers in certain sections of the western corn belt have got into the habit of growing corn, corn, corn; possibly corn, oats and then corn. Whole neighborhoods and even townships, some times counties, have fallen into that rut. It is easier to keep on doing what they have been doing, using the same rotation, than to plan a new one. In fact, corn growing has become the habit of the lives of whole townships and counties of farmers, and they keep on because they think they can not do anything else. Well, it is only a question of time till Providence pries them out of that rut, and they will be obliged to do something else.

There are other sections where they are lifted out gradually by the example of some bright, progressive, intelligent and energetic farmer, who has devoted his brain as well as his brawn to his work, and is farming not for a living but for business. He adopts a rotation with a legume for a basis. He adopts new methods of cultivation and gets new machinery. For example, he buys an improved haying machine, putting the hay in the barn without touching it with the fork. He gets a manure spreader and practically doubles the value of his manure. Or instead of growing the common livestock of the neighborhood, he invests in improved stock—better beef cattle, better dairy cattle, better horses.

Is this fellow popular? Not at first. Men feel rather surly when Providence pries them out of a rut. They will not allow any man to pry them out, and will resist any attempt at it. They must be coaxed out by being shown unobtrusively and inoffensively that there is a better way. Usually a man who is a pioneer in this improved farming is first ridiculed, then covertly imitated and then openly; and in time he comes to be regarded as a bright and shining example. You can't pry men out of ruts. You must coax them out, lift them out. You must show them that there is a better way. You must help them to get out of the rut as soon as they manifest a willingness to succeed.

The men who get out in getting their neighbors out of ruts are always men whose range of observation is wider than their own neighborhood. It may

President Conn was in Peru Monday and Tuesday in attendance at a meeting of the Board of Education.

Miss Stocking will read a paper before the primary section of the Teacher's association at Emerson next Saturday.

The pottery kiln which was installed last summer has done excellent work and the pupils of the model school and teachers of the summer school who took the course in Clay Modeling have several pieces each of glazed pottery. The development of this work from the clay to the finished product has been of great interest to those who took the work.

Mr. E. S. Turner, state secretary of the student Y. M. C. A., spent Monday at the normal. Mr. Turner met the officers of the association during the day and gave a number of valuable suggestions in regard to the work of the young men. In the evening, Ralph Sterling, assisted by Miss Killen and Miss Ruth Sterling, entertained Mr. Turner and the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

At the chapel period Monday morning Miss McBeth read the opening chapters of Ben Hur. On Thursday the selection was from the meeting of Ben Hur and Messala. These readings are proving an attractive feature of the general exercises of the school and the students and members of the faculty look forward to the chapel hour with much interest.

A few weeks ago the Sprague Publishing company of Detroit, Mich., offered a prize for the best essay on the "Recall of Judges." Prof. J. G. W. Lewis entered the contest and has just received notice that the judges awarded his production first prize. Mr. Lewis directed his argument against recall, and the full text of the paper he submitted will appear in the November issue of the Law Student's Helper.

A student of the summer school has sent President Conn the following problem for solution: "If a man and a half carry a bushel and a half up a story and a half for a dollar and a half, how much must be paid for five men to carry five bushels for five miles up five stories?" President Conn is out of the city, but solutions to the above problem may be filed with his secretary not later than 12 o'clock midnight Saturday, October 14.

Professor House has been appointed by Governor Aldrich as a delegate to the American Prison association which meets in Omaha October 14-19. This is a meeting for the discussion of sociological questions, the organization having for its object the prevention of crime. Professor House has made a special study of social problems, and assisted Professor Henderson in the preparation of a valuable work on "Prevention of Crime."

The first number of the school paper will appear on October 30. The following editorial staff has been announced: Editor-in-Chief, Gerald E. Cross; Associate editor, Fannie Britell; Alumna, Annie B. Bright; Y. M. C. A., Jesse H. Wichman; Y. W. C. A., Fannie Britell; Catholic association, Anna B. Winteringer; Athletics, Milo J. McGee; Philo-Library, Gerald E. Cross; Crescent Literary, Winifred K. Angel; Faculty, J. T. House; Business Manager, Ralph W. Sterling.

The first football game of the season proved an easy victory for the Normal. By a score of 11 to 0 Madison high school lost a hard fought game last Saturday afternoon. Although the Normal team slightly outweighed the Madison boys the game was fast from the beginning. The forward pass was used considerably by both teams and netted good gains. On October 21 our boys will go to Neligh and the return game with that team will be played in Wayne on October 28. At present two full teams are practicing daily; interest in the game is increasing, but what we need, as Professor Wiley puts it, is "more cast iron to make into steel."

Truth Eternal. Truth, like genuine gold, will always bear the touchstone, and appear the brighter the more it is examined.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST

Treasurer's Office, Wayne County, Neb., October 2, 1911.

Notice is hereby given, that in compliance with the revenue laws of the State of Nebraska, I, Chas. S. Beebe, the county treasurer of Wayne County, will on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1911, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at the office of the county treasurer, in the county court house in Wayne, in said county, offer at public sale, and sell the following described real estate, or so much of each tract of land or town lot, as shall be necessary, for the amount due thereon for the taxes of 1910, as herein stated, together with all expenses for advertising, costs and fees that by law have or may have accrued, at the time of payment. I will adjourn the sale from day to day until all the said real estate has been offered for sale.

CHAS. S. BEEBE, County Treasurer.

Mechanical Lightning Calculator.

The clerical staffs of many of the big insurance companies have of late years been considerably reduced by the employment of mechanical calculators.

One of these, the invention of a German, is a compact little affair resembling a music box. It may be made to perform almost instantaneously the most portentous sums in addition, subtraction, multiplication by one or two factors, division, squaring and cubing. It is required, for instance, to multiply 531,975 by 924. The first factor is set by touching little knobs representing 531,975.

To multiply by the other factor you turn a handle four times, push along a slide one place and turn the handle twice, then push the handle nine times. The long multiplication is now done, without the possibility of error so far as the machine is concerned, and the dial shows 491,544,900. In the same mechanical way may be done all the other arithmetical processes.

Read and Reflect.

If the reader, says the Providence Journal, after perusing the following description of the probable mode of the formation of the earth, given by an English scientific writer in a new volume, does not understand the process, he had better leave this "internal spherical vacuity," and go where bigger words are used—"A formal-idea of the heaven and earth may be obtained by imagining the heaven as at first an effluvia generation from a monacentral point, occupying or creating and occupying space; the earth, as the arrest or end of such generation action, with the gradual relaxation of central tension and abnegation of such center, the consequence being the formation of a huge internal spherical vacuity, termed in the Genetic record "earth."

Critical Sense.

"That youngest son of Bliggins seems to have the making of a true musician in him." "Does he sing or play?" "No. But he cries piteously when Bliggins tries to."

CARPETS, RUGS and FURNITURE

OF THE BETTER SORT

TEMPERATELY PRICED

You will need a few pieces of Furniture and a new Rug or two to make the home more cheerful and comfortable during the long winter which is almost here. Now is the time to make a selection while the stock is full. In rugs I have almost anything that you could desire from the cheap ingrain to the Hardwick Wilton and a large assortment to select from.

In Furniture my stock is very complete. The furniture purchased in the eastern market this summer is just arriving and I have some very choice pieces at prices you cannot duplicate.

The Life time Furniture is what I call Cheap Furniture

It does not cost much more than the cheap trash and you have the full value of your money. A few pieces of The Life Time Furniture added to the home is not a luxury as many think, but shows good judgment in investing. Poor judgment is buying furniture that you will have to throw away and replace in two or three years. I have the goods and have the prices. Come and examine the goods. I am always pleased to see a customer thoroughly examine the goods before buying as all of my goods are sold for exactly what they are. My motto is "not how cheap, but the best possible value for the money."

KILLING OFF THE MOSQUITO

Much Has Been Done With Crude Petroleum, and the Fish Experiment Works Well.

According to those who have given much time to the question of destroying the mosquito, considerable progress has been made in that direction in the last few years. Many of the breeding places have been wiped out in New Jersey and Staten Island, but unfortunately enough still remain to give the insects plenty of chance to multiply. Crude petroleum has been used with good effect in places where the drainage is bad, but this, of course, can bring only a temporary cessation of breeding.

The fish experiment is said to have been used successfully in the Barbados. All the swamps and ponds were stocked some years ago with a species of fish that feed on the larvae of the mosquito. These fishes multiply rapidly and thrive in the West Indian waters. In a short time there were millions of them in the swamps and ponds, and it was observed that mosquitoes were comparatively scarce in the islands.

The success of this experiment led to the stocking of standing waters in Jamaica a year or two ago, and the health authorities of that island report a considerable diminution of fever as a result of the destruction of the mosquito larvae.

"Mule" Stampeded.

It was in the battle of Stone River, a raw Hoosier recruit in one of Grose's regiments got very much interested in the fight. It was the first time he smelled fire. He had been long enough in the army to learn its slang, and he used it zealously. The fellow fought like a tiger. He loaded in a good deal less than "nine times," and fired whenever he could see a head. His whole soul was in it. Every time he leveled and fired he shouted: "Here's your mule," snap bang, "here's your mule!" At about the twentieth round a confederate sharpshooter struck him in the left arm. He looked at the wound with amazement and with a sort of spasmodic ejaculation "they've shot me!" then laying down his musket carefully, and stripping off his accoutrements, he also laid them down deliberately, and ran to the rear with frantic energy. It was evident that "here's your mule" was stampeded. The officer who described the affair said it was the most ludicrous incident he had ever witnessed on a battlefield. "Rosey" laughed at it until the tears rolled down his cheeks.

Special Privilege.

Rev. Lyman Powell of Northampton has a bright little son who is very much frightened in thunderstorms, says the Cosmopolitan. One day a heavy shower came up when the little fellow had wandered away from the house. His father, who was watching for him, saw him come running toward home as the first drops fell. He looked terrified and his lips were moving. "What were you saying?" asked his father. "I was reminding God that I am a minister's son," the boy replied.

Myth Concerning the Salamander.

Newts and salamanders are pretty much like frogs and toads, only they have a tail and look like a lizard, and then in some breeds the pair of hind legs are small and in others lacking. Salamanders often get into old rotten logs and if put on the fire run out without being hurt in many cases, because they are more or less damp and may not actually pass through much fire. But folk think a salamander is right at home in the fire.

Homemade Perfume.

Into a bottle holding two ounces alcohol put one-half ounce orris root, broken into fine places. Add to this a bunch of newly gathered rose petals. Cork the bottle tightly and shake well. After it has stood ten days, a few drops on the handkerchiefs will give the scent of fresh roses.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Attendance is good.

A few pupils enrolled this week.

The first examinations for this year occur this week Thursday and Friday.

On Friday of last week the Wausau public school teachers visited our schools.

Our foot ball team won from the Sioux City second team last Saturday on the local gridiron. Score 6 to 0.

The high school students gave a reception to our foot ball team and the Sioux City team last Saturday evening in the gymnasium.

Recent visitors were Mesdames Moran, Hunter, Miller, Wightman and Brown and the Misses Sheffield of Randolph.

The game which we were to have with the Lyons team this week was declared off by Lyons on account of their team disbanding. We hope to arrange for a game on the home field this week.

The spare room in the basement has been equipped and next Monday an additional teacher will be added. Miss Hattie Shulteis will have charge of the school in this room which will be half second and half fourth grade pupils.

On Wednesday morning our high school had the honor of being entertained with a couple of vocal solos by Mr. Lansing of Omaha. Mr. Lansing always delights his hearers with his excellent singing, as was indicated by the hearty applause given him.

On Friday morning the tenth grade gave the following Eugene Field program with Ralph Bohner presiding: Piano solo by Ensign Young; biography of Eugene Field by Hayes Main; vocal solo by Henrietta Moler; quotations from Field by all members of the tenth grade.

MUSTN'T JOKE WITH SCIENCE

Member of German Research Society Hoaxes His Colleagues and is Promptly Expelled.

The phlegmatic German temperament lends itself little to the vagaries of the jester, and when that phlegmatism is ribbed with the spectacular importance of a German scientific society the slightest deviation from that path of stupid ponderosity brings quick rebuke and speedy vengeance. German scientific reputation is a weighty thing even when error makes it ridiculous.

A member of the Cassel Scientific Research Society of Frankfurt has felt the hand of both speedy vengeance and swift rebuke, for he has been expelled from the learned society, publicly rebuked and is now threatened with legal procedure—all because his vein of humor prompted him to take advantage of his colleagues.

It happened in this manner. A skull was recently found in the ancient grove near Stemen and the playful research society savant pronounced it to be a human skull of the prehistoric period.

The find was forwarded to the eminent anthropological expert of the University of Breslau, Professor Herman Kladtsch, who declared it to be the skull of a modern chimpanzee.

The author of the joke was promptly and publicly rebuked.

Blissful Ignorance.

Holden, the New York "bird man," lately had in his shop a tacturn parrot. Day after day it sat silent on its perch, indifferent to every question. At last a Cuban lady came into the shop and spoke to it in her native tongue. The parrot brightened up at once, opened its beak and emitted a "jubilant" volley of vehement Spanish words. When the parrot finally ceased speaking the lady turned to Mr. Holden and, blushing violently, asked:

"Do you understand Spanish?"

"No," he replied.

"Thank God!" she replied and left the shop.—Success Magazine.

BUILDS LARGEST OF NESTS

Jungle Fowl of Australia Constructs a Substantial Mound About Fifteen Feet High.

The jungle fowl of Australia is the bird that builds the largest and most substantial of all nests. It seeks out a secluded spot and then begins the work that will keep it busy for a stretch of weeks, according to naturalists who have studied the bird of Australia. It gathers leaves, grass, twigs and dozens of other materials, weaving them together so skillfully as to construct a mound that is qualified to withstand any stress of weather.

The bird toils away until its mound is about 15 feet high, the circumference at the base being often 150 feet. At the apex the nest is made, and from this perch the bird is able to see the approach of any one of its jungle foes in time to take defensive measures.

The bush turkey of Australia also adopts similar methods in building its nest, although the foundation is not so large. Instead of making a moundlike base, the turkey constructs one in the shape of a pyramid. Naturalists say that it takes the combined strength of several men to move one of these big nests.

Bibles Furnished Free.

Young couples who furnish their flats, under the direction of a Third avenue furniture house are bound to begin housekeeping in plush frame of mind. For every $50 worth of furniture they buy, either for cash or on the installment plan, the dealer makes them a present of a Bible.

"I just got in a case of fine Bibles yesterday," he said, "and as soon as they are gone I shall lay in another supply. Before I went into the furniture business I was a book agent. The peeps I got then into people's homes showed a deplorable lack of Bibles, especially among the young couples. I did not have much chance to remedy the defect then, for I was not handling Bibles and anyhow I wouldn't have been in a position to give them away, but since I have gone into this business I can afford to throw in a Bible with every $50 purchase."—New York Times.

Drilling With Diamonds.

A diamond bit for rock drilling is quite an expensive article. Its value, however, will undergo fluctuations, dependent upon the price of the diamonds. Perhaps $800 is a fair value for a bit. The diamond used is exceedingly hard—harder than those usually used as jewelry. Their carat price is considerable, averaging, say, $60 a carat. The diamonds used will weigh from one to two carats, so that eight have a value ranging from $480 to $960, on the average. The loss of a bit means so many diamonds gone and may lead to difficulty with the hole. The diamond is not tough, but brittle. It will withstand heavy pressure if applied evenly and without shock. It can readily be seen that drilling through seamy rock may become quite unfavorable. If there is much quartz present the abrasion may become excessive. Under ordinary conditions, however, the wear on the diamonds, while considerable, is by no means prohibitive.—Cassier's Magazine.

TOMB OF SEMINOLE CHIEF

Traveler Tells of Amusing Inscription On an Old Monument in St. Augustine, Fla.

"Recently," said a traveler, "while in the old town of St. Augustine, Fla., my attention was attracted by a magnificent specimen of a billicus tree in full blossom. It was growing in the rear of a drug store on the southwest corner of Orange and Cordova streets.

"Stopping for a moment to admire it I was surprised to discover beneath its branches an old stone monument, evidently of great antiquity, almost completely concealed by its blossoms.

"The monument bears no date, and persistent inquiry failed to elicit any information as to its origin or history.

"It is about four feet in height, and bears the following epitaph on its side:

"NOTICE
This werry elaborate

Is erected in memery

HUMOR OF MEDICAL STUDENT

Dutch Physician Relates Pathetic Incident of His Days in College at Amsterdam.

Dr. Frederik Van Eeden, the Dutch physician and author, can never lose sight of the injustice of fate that subjects the poor to tortures from which the rich are exempt. He tells the following bitter little anecdote which occurred during his student days in Amsterdam.

Once a poor man was brought in affected with a very strange and rare disease of the spine that caused him, by involuntary spasms of the legs, to jump and to continue hopping when he tried to stand on his legs. One professor wanted to show this to his students and he requested the patient to stand on his feet. The poor man looked at the crowd around and said with a pathetic, imploring look:

"If the gentlemen will please not laugh." The professor promised they would be serious.

And yet, when the man began to hop the "gentlemen" roared. And I felt the tears coming to my eyes and my fists close in my pockets.—The World's Work.

Boss Among Vultures.

The most beautifully colored of all vultures, belong to the New World family; it is the true king vulture of South American forests. Its plumage is of a delicate cream, with black quills, and the bare head is brilliantly colored with red and orange.

This handsome bird exercises regal authority over black vultures and turkey buzzards, in the same way as the Pondcherry vulture does over griffons, etc., so that if any dissatisfied Indian vulture succeeded in reaching South America, he would find some new boss awaiting his arrival.

The American boss, however, is not as large and strong as his Indian relative named Pondcherry. Both of these bosses, it should be mentioned, are much more strikingly colored than the subjects over which they exercise authority.—Rosary Magazine.

ONLY TAKING OUT WRINKLES

Woman Gives Her Gowns Steam Bath and Alarms the Entire Hotel Staff.

The couple had been traveling and the wife's gowns had got wrinkled. After dressing they went to the theater, having previously unpacked the trunks, hung all the wrinkled dresses up in the bathroom and then filled the bathtub with hot water.

Not long after their departure persons passing along the corridor noticed something that looked like smoke coming out through the open transom, and an alarm of fire was given. One of the managers and a lot of porters and bellboys, some armed with fire extinguishers, rushed up to the scene. Things looked serious.

The manager produced his pass key and the brave followers prepared to rush in and distinguish themselves. The steam was so thick in the room that not a thing could be seen. One look established that the vapor was not smoke. When the traveled couple got back to the hotel they found an irate manager and a lot of soaked frocks. The woman said she had often taken the wrinkles out of dresses by a steam bath and she didn't see why the hot water was kept so very hot anyhow, for goodness knew that nobody wanted to take a bath in boiling water.

A Rainfall of 450 Inches.

The rainfall of a village among the hills of Assam, during ten weeks this year, was 250 inches. The village is Cherrapunji, the rainiest spot in Asia and presumably in the world. Its annual rainfall is something over 450 inches—say, fifteen times as much as London. Cherrapunji stands on a plateau, overlooking the plain of Sylhet, and it is 4,355 feet above sea level.—Westminster Gazette.

OLD FASHIONED BARBER BEST

Writer Objects Strenuously to the "Tonsorial Artist" With His Atrocious Clothes and Talk.

Scarce a man living but at times drifts into dreaming and picturing what he might do if he had wealth Many—far too many!—aspire to something that may contribute to the sensational headlines. Here and there is one who merely inclines toward some modest benefaction. For our own part, suddenly finding ourself rich, we should like to devote much of it to eliminating the "tonsorial artists" from the field of barberdom; separating the tares from the wheat as it were.

The average "tonsorial artist" affects the most atrocious neckwear; dons a millionaire's vest with a millwright's trousers, and puts popular ideas of garb all at points. He talks glibly of scandal; horse races and hair restorer and eventually drives many a man to whiskers who is perfectly sane and normal otherwise. There are too many of him!

On the other hand the old fashioned "barber" knows his financial, mental and artistic limitations. He seldom feels better acquainted with you the second time over than he did the first. He assumes you know what you want better than he does and rarely forces his "extras." Mostly he is a good tradesman, cleanly and careful in his work. One of his stripe puts greater crimp in the safety razor business than all the "artists" combined. Bless him, there is not enough of him!—Buffalo News.

POLITENESS OUT OF PLACE

Old Lawyer Did Not Want His Client to Think He Could Get Free Advice.

Politeness is politeness, but business is just business. One of the clerks of the supreme court tried to combine the two the other day, but hereafter he is going to attend strictly to business. He was anxious to destroy the common belief of many persons who visit the New York county courthouse that little courtesy is shown by the attaches to those seeking information. The clerk was standing in the corridor on the second floor when two men came along, one of them gray haired. The younger one asked the elder the way out of the building. The clerk heard the query and at once told the questioner several ways he could get out. The older man turned on the clerk with the injunction to mind his own business, adding that he had been in the building before the clerk was born and could himself answer his companion. A little later the old man looked up the clerk and apologized, explaining that the man who wanted to know how to get out of the building was his client and that he did not want him to get the idea that he could receive free advice. "If he gets that notion," said the old practitioner, "I'll lose him as a client."

Some Women Have No Hearts

A Cleveland man was complaining the other day about the lack of sympathy in the world.

And then he offered a personal example. He said he went home from his business on a recent afternoon and received a great scare on the way. He was still trembling when he entered the house.

"Well, Mary," he said, as he dropped into a chair, "I got a bad scare just now. As I went around the end of the car at the corner a big touring car went by me like a wild thing, and say, it was so close when it passed that the hubs of the wheels brushed my pants!"

Did his wife turn pale at this recital? Did she express joy and thankfulness over his narrow escape?

No, she didn't. She just looked him over and said: "Well, your pants certainly needed brushing!"

Salt on French Roads.

As a general rule the roads in and around French towns are tarred at the commencement of the summer in order to abate the dust nuisance. It has, however, been found that tar, although excellent in the case of macadamized roads, is of little or no value where car lines exist and paved street crossings intersect the roads in every direction, as tarring cannot be carried out on stones.

The authorities, basing their action on the well known hygrometrical properties of common salt, have made a test of its value in laying the dust. Twenty yards of roadway have been sprinkled liberally with salt and then watered freely. If the results are satisfactory salt will be used throughout the town of Havre, it being impossible to tar the majority of the streets, as they are paved with rough stone blocks.

Misuse of Via.

A stroll through the shipping district gives many a wrench to the purist's soul. "In front of all the commission houses," he said, "I see bales and barrels labeled 'via boat' or 'via train.' Why does not somebody tell the shipping clerks that every time they write that they are insulting the English and every other language? 'Via' can be applied properly only to the place through which a parcel passes, not to the means of transportation."

WHY NOT GROW MORE ALFALFA?

Alfalfa enthusiasts east and west and south are constantly asking why farmers in the corn belt do not grow more alfalfa instead of clover. It is not because alfalfa cannot be grown. So far as the mere growing of alfalfa is concerned the average corn land in the corn belt with good natural drainage and good fertility will grow almost, if not quite, as many tons of alfalfa per acre as any of the lands where alfalfa is a main crop, and almost as much as the lands in the northern part of the irrigated section.

It is not because alfalfa is less nutritious than clover. As we all know, it is even more nutritious if properly cured. It is not because there is any great difficulty in securing a stand of alfalfa. It is a little more difficult than to secure a stand of clover. It requires more labor, more forethought; but it can be done. Why, then, you say, do you not urge farmers to grow more alfalfa?

We thoroughly believe in the possibilities of growing it. We have experimented with it long enough to determine that beyond all question: The reasons why we do not urge the growing of alfalfa instead of clover on the average corn belt farm are these: In the first place it does not fit into the rotation. After a man expends the amount of labor that he must expend in getting a good stand of alfalfa on land reasonably free from weeds, he does not care to plow it up every second year. In fact, he cannot afford to do so. He must allow it to stand at least four years, which is about the usual length of a stand of alfalfa in the corn belt today, due not to any fault of the land, but of the difficulty of keeping it free from blue grass and white clover, which are the worst weeds that can get into the alfalfa field.

It is not possible without great care, which the average farmer will not give it, perhaps cannot afford to give it, to cure the alfalfa crop east of the Missouri as it can be done west of it. The first crop must be cut about the first of June, about the time the farmer is harrowing his corn and giving it the first plowing. There is liable to be rain about that time. There is not usually sufficient heat to cure the alfalfa in the field. It must therefore be put in cocks large enough to spread out, possibly in cocks and covered again. Now a man can handle a few acres that way but he cannot handle the same quantity that he can of clover. The second crop will require cutting when the farmer is harvesting his winter wheat, and the third crop at that exceedingly important time when he wants to go fishing.

Nevertheless we have repeatedly urged farmers on quarter sections to put in at least five acres, preferably ten, of alfalfa on land adjacent to the buildings, which can be used as a hog pasture, pastured as needed, and which are taken out of the regular rotation. By proper harrowing the first year, disking the second year, and disking after every cutting the third year, a stand can be maintained until about the fourth year. Then this land should be plowed up and put in some special crop, such as potatoes, seeded again to alfalfa or possibly put into wintered wheat and alfalfa. Under these conditions it is profitable, especially for the dairyman, to grow alfalfa; for there is no other forage that he can possibly grow that will fill the place as well in the dairy barn. We estimate that ten acres in alfalfa will produce about as much nutriment for the dairy cow as twenty acres of clover, as clover is usually grown; but if the farmer were to take the same pains in curing the first crop when it should be cured, and then follow the same methods, the difference would not be so great as it appears now. At any rate we think he could secure at least 33 to 50 per cent more nutriment for the dairy cow and brood sow than he can from clover.

THE CONVENTION AND PRIMARY.

Senator Lorimer of Illinois, is also charged with buying his seat. But it is not through direct primaries he is elected, but through the good old machinery which direct primaries supersede. If the Stephenson case proves the primary a failure, the Lorimer case proves the old system a failure.—Lincoln Journal.

The Lorimer case does more than that. It proves both old system and the primary to be failures. The old system was not resorted to in Illinois until after the direct primary had failed to deliver the nomination to Senator Hopkins. Incidentally the Stephenson case proves the popular election of senators as well as the primary, a failure. A primary such as the republicans held in Wisconsin was virtually a popular election, with the whole electorate participating. The indication was that, with plenty of boodle, it was about as easy to buy a nomination from an electorate as from a legislature. What is the moral of it all? Evidently it must be: Abolish the United States Senate!—Sioux City Journal.

NO LIMIT.

The Christian Endeavorers of the state will notice a new feature in connection with their great convention to be held in the Lincoln auditorium, October 26-29, 1911. No limit is placed upon the number of delegates from any church. Some societies will send their entire membership. This was found to be necessary on account of the international scope of the program, and a general protest went up in regard to the representation being limited. Besides this, entertainment is to be furnished to all who attend on the Harvard plan, i. e. lodging and breakfast free.

The program is complete with specialists in every line of Young People's work, and it is particularly a young people's convention, a large representation is assured; 2500 to 3000 delegates are expected. Any desired information in regard to the convention can be obtained by writing to Mr. Ray G. Fletcher, 361 Fraternity Bldg., Lincoln, Neb.

WAYNE WINS FROM SIOUX CITY 6 TO 0

It was an exceedingly interesting and good game of foot ball which was played by the Wayne high school team and the Sioux City high school second team on the fair grounds last Saturday.

The teams were evenly matched in weight, but the Wayne team had the better of the playing all the way through. Every fellow played his position admirably and the whole team worked as one unit of strength. The boys had little trouble making their down through Sioux City's line. Strahan and Gildersleeve, our two half backs, made five gains through the visitors' line. Neither team scored the first three quarters of the game, but the last quarter Marsteller, on a fake touchdown which he followed with a goal.

Wayne's goal was at no time in danger, the nearest Sioux City getting to the goal line being when Marsteller lost the ball on a fumble on the ten yard line. Wayne, however, soon recovered the ball and forced it into safer territory. Every fellow played a star game, particularly Marsteller, Strahan, Mines and Gildersleeve.

Referee, Leavens; Umpire, Brewer; Head linesman, J. H. Pile; Timekeepers, Williams and Reed.

WAYNE NORMAL WINS FROM MADISON TEAM

Special from Madison to Monday's Norfolk Daily News:—The Wayne state normal football team met the Madison high school team on the Madison gridiron Saturday afternoon with a score of 10 to 0 in favor of the Wayne normal. The lineup is as follows:

Madison: Wayne Normal: Robertson center, Dederman Oberg r. g., Whittenhiller Carlson l. g., Lamberson Smith r. t., Magee Dobson l. t., Barker Loomer r. e., Cartwright Hobbs l. e., Lewis Skala r. h., Deering Faes l. h., Foster Baish quarter, During Schmidt t. b., Cress

The game was remarkable for forward passing by Madison boys. The sensation of the game was Cress' line plunging, and runs and all round playing. In fact, he played the game for the Wayne normal boys. Another feature was the punting of Smith of Madison. Madison ends recovered five different punts. There were two touchdowns, with no goals. Officials: Huntmen of Wayne normal, and Findley, principal of Madison high school.

CEDAR COUNTY CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6:—Arguments in support of a new trial of Mrs. Maggie Davis who shot and killed Ira Churchill on a Cedar county, Neb., farm on the 2nd of November, 1910, were submitted to the supreme court, and the matter taken under advisement. Mrs. Davis is now serving a life term. It was shown at the trial that the two had sustained intimate relations; that they had planned to be married, but that Churchill afterward wedded another woman.

Arguments for the prosecution were made in the supreme court by Assistant Attorney General Edgerton and County Attorney O'Gara. The defendant was represented by Attorney Millard of Hartington. The unwritten law exerted into the argument in behalf of the woman in the court today, the claim being made that Churchill had wronged her under promise of marriage, later repudiating her. The state argued that the sentence was justified.

TWO WAYNE BOYS ARE CHOSEN FOR DEBATE

Among the winners of fifteen places in the University of Nebraska Intercollegiate Debate seminary for 1911-1912, are two Wayne boys, Leslie A. Welch and Jerome Forbes. Sunday's World Herald makes the following mention of them:

Leslie A. Welch, '12, of Wayne, Neb., was salutatorian of the class of 1908 at the Wayne high school. He was alternate on the junior team that won the class championship in 1910-1911. He is captain of company C of the cadet battalion and he won first honors in the individual competitive drill in 1909-1910. He belongs to Delta Upsilon.

Jerome Forbes, '13, of Wayne, represented the Wayne high school in debate one year and was a member of the freshman team in the class championship debates in 1910. He has been president of the Students' Debating club.

ELLIOTT DEFINES HIS PARTY POSITION

(West Point Republican.)

The republican nominee for congress in the Third district acknowledges with pride, pleasure and satisfaction the honor that was conferred upon him with so gratifying degree of unanimity. Pride, because of being thought worthy of the honor; pleasure at the prospect of representing a liberal, intelligent constituency in the national law-making body, there to attempt to engraft upon fundamental law some of the ideas gained in close association with men upon western prairies; and satisfaction, because of having been made the standard bearer of a party whose half century of wise and militant accomplishment has insured to the great and lasting benefit of the people and is worthy of continuation. He rejoices that by common consent this is to be an "adjectiveless" campaign, in spite of the opposition attempt to make it otherwise, and that without frills all elements of the party will unite to meet the issues. It will not be necessary to "smoke him out" as to his stand on public questions, nor to hunt in cellars or other dark places for them. His ideas thereon, if not sound, are clear and positive and he is ready to express them to all who may care to hear. On the principle of protection, where protection is absolutely needed, he is a standpatter of the most royal brand, yielding to no one in admiration for a system that in forty years of commercial and industrial life has enabled this country to reach a development not attained elsewhere in four hundred years. As to millionaire making "infant industries", he has often insisted through these columns, that the time had long since arrived to remove their "breach, clout and pin" and send their wet nurse back to the jungles. On this question he is ready to unite, if elected, with any party, preferably his own, to wipe out an existing iniquity; and on this question, should it be necessary, he would be an insurgent, signed, sealed and delivered.

The republican nominee would not, if elected, feel called upon to insurge against men who have made an honest dollar. On that proposition he is a pronounced standpatter. But as to men who have wrong favorable legislation from the people's law-making body and are using such advantage to stifle legitimate competition, thwart the people's will and withhold their dues his insurgency would be as sure as it is that day succeeds the night.

He would oppose a highly subsidized merchant marine, believing that American capital and enterprises are all sufficient in themselves to develop that commercial arm, without resorting to a raid on the public treasury for that purpose.

And most emphatically would he oppose the cold storage of immense quantities of food products for years for no other purpose than to raise and govern the price to the consumer, thereby unjustly and unlawfully filching from the pockets of the people and adding greatly to their burden and cost of living and he believes, that this matter should be made the subject for speedy and stringent regulation.

Other matters could with propriety be touched upon here and now, but the republican nominee has written in vain unless he has made it clear and plain that, without prefix or suffix to his republicanism, he will stand, if elected, for the "square deal" for everybody as he may have the capacity and strength to interpret and enforce it in its fullest sense.

THE FATAL FIST BLOW.

Wisner, Neb., Oct. 6:—Don McKenzie who yesterday killed Earl Hahlbeck at Camp Mickey with a blow from his fist, was arrested and taken to Papillion, county seat of Sarpy county, on a charge of manslaughter. Hahlbeck's body was taken there for an autopsy. According to a telephone report, Hahlbeck had been sleeping on the ground in the same tent with McKenzie, McKenzie being on a cot. Hahlbeck could not find some of his clothes and tipped over McKenzie and his cot. McKenzie is then said to have struck Hahlbeck in the face and Hahlbeck returned the blow. Then McKenzie struck Hahlbeck one blow in the chest and Hahlbeck became unconscious, dying shortly afterward.

A coroner's inquest was called, to investigate this afternoon. Hahlbeck was a son of George H. Hahlbeck of Wisner. Both men belong to the Stanton militia company.

WOMEN IN NEWSPAPER WORK

Edna Ferber, Who Has Tried It Herself, Tells About Their Life as Reporters.

The unusual life of the newspaperman has been diversely set forth by numerous writers, but the experiences of the newspaperwoman, the writer of "sob stories" and "human interest views," has seldom been told so well as by Miss Edna Ferber, herself a reporter of wide experience, who has made it the background for her new novel, "Dawn O'Hara." Miss Ferber makes Dawn, her journalistic heroine, say regarding her own craft: "If a woman reporter were to burst into tears every time she saw something to weep over she'd be going about with a red nose and puffy eyelids half the time. Scarcely a day passes that does not bring her face to face with human suffering in some form. Not only must she see these things, but she must write of them so that those who read can also see them. And just because she does not wall and tear her hair and faint she popularly is supposed to be a flinty, cigarette-smoking creature who rambles up and down the land, seeking whom she may rend with her pen and gazing dry-eyed upon scenes of horrid bloodshed."

Meat and Cancer.

In view of the fact that meat, and especially fresh meat is comparatively very cheap in Australia, and in consequence its use probably very much more general than in any other country, it may be interesting on account of meat being frequently associated with cancer to note the incidence of this disease.

In 1908 the total number of deaths reported in the Commonwealth was 46,438. Of this number 3,921, or 8.5 per cent, were due to cancer. If the population is estimated at 4,800,000 the incidence would be one death per annum in every 1,240 of the population. This rate is very much lower than that of the United States, Great Britain or Germany.—Medical Record.

VERITABLE SLAVE TO DUTY

Mr. Billtops Wishes He Could Get Mrs. Billtops to Take a Nap Occasionally.

"After dinner on Sunday, and in fact after dinner on various other days, I like," said Mr. Billtops, "to take a little nap, and I take those naps very easily. I just let my head drop back on the chair and the first thing you know I'm in the land of nod, nodding away very comfortably all I can after dinner last night for instance."

"But last night when I had wakened up and had smiled across the table at Mrs. Billtops sitting on the other side, and had said to her, as I always have said a thousand times, 'Dear, I think I must have dropped asleep.' 'Eh?' she said to me, 'I never could take a nap like that. Sometimes I fall asleep over my work, and sometimes I go to sleep over the newspaper, but to sit down and deliberately let myself go to sleep like that is something I could never do. I should think it was a sin.'"

"And that's the trouble with Mrs. Billtops, that's the trouble, she's not too sensitive a conscience. She thinks she must be doing something all the time."

"There are so many things to be done and she thinks if her duty is to keep always at work, never to waste a minute's time. She's a slave to duty and idleness in any form she looks on as a sin. She's very kind and all the rest of us, very kind and all the rest, but to herself she denies all duty."

"I wish that I could persuade Mrs. Billtops to take a little nap occasionally."

Men's Inhumanity to Man. Some men, when they are driven on a serious charge, are sent to the gallows. Others, like one in New York, are much worse. The magistrate asks the wife to take him home and tell what she thought of him.—Wayne Democrat and Chronicle.

The Mozart concert company, the first number of the lecture course, was presented at the opera house Tuesday night. A part of the entertainment was very fine and appreciated by all, but owing to substitutes being sent as a part of the company, all was not as good as expected. The management will see that this does not occur in the remaining numbers.

Mrs. Baxter, mother of Nina B. Bekery, who has lived here in Winside for the past five or six years, died very suddenly Sunday at Deaver, Colo., where she went a few weeks ago with her son. The body will be brought to Winside and the friends will accompany the remains to Concord for interment. This came as a great shock to the people here where she has gained many friends. She was sick only two days.

Last week E. W. Cullen had a fire in his implement building, and although the fire department was not called, yet for a few minutes it promised to be a lively blaze. Ed. was looking for some machinery in the attic of the warehouse when the light in some manner caught the celluloid in some storm curtains, and in an instant the flames leaped to the roof. Mr. Cullen carried the inflammable material and threw it down stairs, saving the warehouse, but burning his hands. In spite of the burns, he thinks he is lucky.

The opening meeting for this year of the Woman's club was held Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. E. W. Cullen. Several guests also enjoyed the afternoon hours, which were spent in a most pleasant manner with visiting and music. Mrs. I. O. Brown and Mrs. L. S. Needham each rendering a vocal number. The guests were invited to the dining room at 4:30, when an elaborate luncheon was served. They found places at two large, attractively decorated tables, where the colors, yellow and white, predominated. The ladies will study the Bay View reading course on Norway and Holland. Mrs. Lute Miller was appointed to take charge of the lesson at the next regular meeting which will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. I. O. Brown.

Sweet-Voiced Frogs.

In Japan there is a kind of frog very celebrated for his sweet voice. He is called kajiki, and people pay as much as $10 for a pair of these marsh musicians. A poet in Japan keeps scores of singing frogs at his home, and he sometimes gives a party to his friends, when after listening to the music every guest is asked to write a poem in honor of the frogs.

The Fashion for Housekeeping.

It is no longer fashionable not to know on which side the bread is buttered or how to cook a potato. The intelligent society woman nowadays is scientifically domesticated. She can mean her own cook without flinching and can moreover give that autocrat "points" on culinary matters.

Advantage of Concrete Buildings.

It has been shown in practice that concrete buildings require less artificial light than those of slow burning mill construction. This is owing to the reflection of light from the white walls and ceilings and columns and also to the fact that it is possible to supply buildings of this character with greater window area.

Shark Hatched in Captivity.

For some time a shark's egg in the Glasgow (Scotland) Aquarium has been watched from day to day. It hatched a few days ago, an event unique in many respects. The tiny shark seems quite at home, and is not a bit shy of the numerous visitors who have crowded to see it.

For the Teeth.

The chemical action of peroxide of hydrogen upon gold teeth, which makes an unpleasant taste in the mouth, can be destroyed by using salt with the liquid. Its whitening virtues are excellent.

Mirrors in Decorations.

In the sixteenth century no lady was considered in full dress unless she had a mirror at her breast. It was oval in shape about 4 by 6 inches in size.

Uncle Eben.

"Usin' profanity to a mule," said Uncle Eben, "don' ginerly accomplish much, 'cep' to give de mule a chance to show off his superior dignity."

Flows on Forever.

"Figgs—'As a talker, Brown's wife is certainly a wonder.' Fogg—"Right you are! Wonders never cease."—Boston Transcript.

Diet of the Alligator.

Alligators are said to eat nothing in winter. Their diet is almost all meat, preferably liver. In cool weather they eat about once a week and in warm weather oftener.

Authentic, Indubitable Truth.

No mere man ever recognized a woman by the style of her dress. How a woman dresses a man does not remember five minutes; but how she looks he does.—Ohio State Journal.

Dignified Rebuke.

Phillip of Macedonia, after the battle of Chaeronea, where he defeated the Greeks, sent a boasting and insolent letter to the King of Sparta, Archidamus, the king sent this caustic rejoinder: "If thou wilt measure thy shadow, thou wilt find that it hath not increased in size since thy victory."

Municipal Reform in Georgia.

For several years there has been a law forbidding the running of bulls loose on the streets. This law has not been enforced for several years, but it does seem that it should now be enforced, as there are several such animals now at large.—Blackshear Times.

Wood Made Lasting.

There are now employed a number of processes whereby wood can be so altered in character that it becomes almost fireproof, and is no longer liable to dry rot or any of the disintegrations that come under the head of decay.

Youth's Commercial Instinct.

A boy of nine, who had never previously witnessed a collection in church, was deeply interested, and when the bags were finally borne off by clergy and choir in procession, proclaimed in a loud whisper of sympathetic excitement, "Now they're going to share it out!"

Would Change Sleeping Position.

A French doctor, M. V. Fischer, advocates a complete reversal of the present method of making up beds. You must have your head on a level with or lower than your feet. If pillows are to be used they must be under the feet instead of the head. The result, he claims, will be amazing, being a sure cure for insomnia as well as a preventive of nightmare.

Not So Bad as That.

This little boy was making his first struggle with natural history. Observing for the first time a very fluffy, silky spaniel, he remarked: "Some dogs have feathers, and other dogs just skin."

Pretty Sure.

If a man who has a product of his own to sell can continue to think well of it after he has interviewed two or three people who are trying to keep him from finding out that they really want to buy it, he is pretty sure to possess the elements of success.

Avoid Haste in Criticism.

Except in cases of necessity, which are rare, leave your friend to learn unpleasant truths from his enemies; they are ready enough to tell them.—O. W. Holmes.

Importance Recognized.

"Do you think that man fully appreciates the importance of the office to which we have elected him?" said one constituent.

"I guess he does," replied the other. "The first thing he did was to say it ought to command a large salary."

Switches From Goat Hair.

Angora goat hair, from a selected Texas flock, will be used by makers of hair goods to produce beautiful switches. It is twenty-eight inches long, fine and silky, and has a beautiful natural wave.

Evidently He Was Jealous.

A strange plea for divorce was unsuccessfully put forward in the French courts recently by a man who complained that his wife had allowed her photographs to be used on picture postcards against his will.

The Frankness of Women.

Though the male was never taken at his own valuation by women, for the first time in modern history woman are beginning to say so.—Morley Roberts in "Thorpe's Way."

Too Busy to Run.

Anne was not very well, and found walking with her vigorous mother hard work. Mamma, however, was pressed for time, and presently hurrying about, called to the struggling, panting little girl to run. From a little distance behind her came the breathless protest: "I can't run, mother. You'll just have to wait for me. I'm so busy walking that I can't run."

Explained.

Small Robert did not know the meaning of death, so when he was told that a man across the street was dead he asked his five-year-old sister what it meant to be dead. After a moment's hesitation she answered: "Why, to be dead means that— that—you are all in."

Daily Thought.

Fill thy heart with it, and thou name it as thou wilt.—Goethe.
