

TEMPORARY ORDER OF INJUNCTION ISSUED BY DISTRICT COURT AGAINST MAYOR AND COUNCIL

BOTTLES UP CITY HALL

COURT HOLDS MONEY FROM BONDS VOTED COULD NOT BE USED FOR SITE.

An Appeal to Voters Seems Advisable to Select and Buy Site and Settle Differences.

In the district court here Monday night, Judge Graves of the Eighth judicial district, who was called to preside at the request of Judge Welch, issued a temporary order of injunction against the mayor and city council to prevent them from buying the Fisher lots for the city hall site. The order virtually makes it impossible for the city to use the money voted at the special election for any site. The court ruled that the bonds were voted and issued for the purpose of building a city hall, with no provision for a site and therefore that no part of the money could be used for a site. While the court's ruling was based on that ground, there is no doubt, on investigation of the law, that the mayor has no right to cast the deciding vote on a proposition to buy a site. There is also no doubt that the mayor and council acted in good faith and thought they were proceeding legally.

But evidently they were proceeding illegally, and the course for them to pursue now is the one most feasible for the consummation of the popular wish. The city hall proposition, as it now stands, is effectively tied up, and the practical thing to do is to remove the causes that led to an injunction. This may be done by calling another special election and voting the necessary bonds for a site. At the same time the people should be given an opportunity to express their preference for location of the proposed hall. Such special election would not be expensive, would remove ground for litigation and would reach decision to which all would have to become obedient. Differences over a site, followed by the discovery of defects in the proceedings would be settled by the voice of the majority.

The city needs a city hall, and bonds of $9,000 have been voted for the purpose of building one. The bonds have been sold and are drawing interest. With the proposition bottled up, the city has the money, but no hall, and that is a condition likely to continue indefinitely unless more bonds are voted with provision for a site. While the city should have proceeded according to law, and should be more careful to do so in the future, it is unfortunate, indeed, that citizens cannot see a little public improvement made without manifesting so much rivalry over a site. One would suppose the city hall was the last improvement Wayne would ever get. According to the fuss and fury aroused, one would think a half million dollars were to be invested.

The fact is, a city hall costing $9,000 is not such a wonderful acquisition that anyone will be warranted in shaking hands with himself in a congratulatory fashion long after it has been built. It is important because it is needed, but it is not so great that it should be fought over indefinitely while other things of equal or greater value are needing attention. People who are in business in Wayne and who are vitally interested in the future of the city have no patience with neighborhood piques nor long protracted sparring matches over town hall sites. They want the hall, and want it built and out of the way as soon as possible so they can give attention to other essential improvements.

Therefore, to cut out the force of differences obstructing progress in the matter of a city hall, a special election for the purpose of selecting a site and making provision for its purchase would seem to be the proper course. If there is any other way to do to hasten results in harmony with the wishes of the people, it ought to be advanced.

Bixby in the Lincoln Journal: Editor Charles S. Hughes of the Pender Republic is a temperance man in principle and practice, but in giving a write-up of the business houses of Pender a short time since, he included the two saloons. Taken to task for it he submitted to a candid world that in the estimation of a great many resident taxpayers the saloons were the most important business houses in the place. The trade at these two places is steady even if the customers are not.

E. A. WILLIAMS HAS SATISFACTORY SALE

E. A. Williams' sale of forty-five head of registered Shorthorn cattle in Wayne last Saturday was very successful. The proceeds of the sale amounted to a total of $2,000. The top price was $162 for a cow and calf, bought by George Buskirk. Mr. Buskirk was the heaviest buyer. He purchased sixteen valuable animals. Mr. Walters of Wakefield, bought eight head. R. M. Atkins of Red Oak, Ia., was the auctioneer. Altogether the sale was very satisfactory to Mr. Williams.

THE COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS HERE

APPROPRIATE PAPERS READ

New Members Accepted and Officers Elected—Society Decides to Meet Semi-Annually.

The Wayne County Medical Society met in Wayne yesterday at Dr. Blair's office with the following members of the profession present: Dr. A. B. Cherry of Winslow, Dr. H. K. Schmel of Hoskins, and Dr. W. C. Wightman, Dr. J. J. Williams, Dr. E. C. Zoll and Dr. E. S. Blair of Wayne. Three doctors were voted on and received as members as follows: Dr. Zoll of Wayne, and Dr. Textley and Dr. Heeren, of Carroll.

It was decided to meet semi-annually instead of annually hereafter, and the next meeting will be held in Wayne in May, 1912.

The following officers were elected: Dr. Blair, president; Dr. Williams, vice president; Dr. Cherry, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Cherry and Dr. Williams read carefully prepared papers touching different subjects of interest to the profession, and inspired lively and instructive discussions. The meeting proved very interesting and profitable.

THE GRAND OPERA IL TROVATORE IN WAYNE

Il Trovatore was presented in Wayne to a fair-sized audience Monday night, and the acting was faultless and the singing high class, according to the evidence of those whose ears are attuned to the classic. To fully appreciate the opera one should have an understanding of the story in advance. Many took that precaution, and were rewarded by a fairly clear knowledge of what was happening. They knew when to feel sorry and bad, or when to nod and smile approval. They knew when the hero was getting into trouble and could sympathize with him. The one who didn't understand the story, knew something terrible was in progress, but didn't know who was getting the worst of it or who ought to get it.

The few words that could be understood from time to time confirmed the previous announcement that the opera would be turned out in English. It is only just to the company to say that each member performed his or her part in an admirable manner. Those who like grand opera or whose musical education is of a high order, could not fail to enjoy Il Trovatore as presented here Monday evening.

HEARING OF DEPOT CASE

Attorney E. A. Berry, secretary of the Commercial club, has received word that the hearing of the Wayne depot case in the federal court over removal of the action to that court will be held October 28. Attorney Fred S. Berry of Wayne, will appear with the attorney general in resisting removal of the case to the federal court.

PUBLIC SALE NEAR CARROLL.

Attention is called to the half-page announcement of the public sale of John and James Shannon, to be held on their farm adjoining Carroll, Thursday, November 2. They have a big lot of live stock, machinery and hay to sell, and the attendance ought to be large. Read over what they propose to offer.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The Tuesday club goes to Carroll on Saturday of this week to spend a day with Mrs. Alice Philleo.

The Westminster Guild will have its next meeting with Miss Elsie F. Piper at the College, October 25.

The Minerva club meets next Tuesday with Mrs. Bert Brown, and will study the commerce of the ancients.

The Bridge Whist club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Helen McNeal. Light refreshments were served.

The Monday club did not meet this week on account of the unfavorable weather, but will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. Cunningham.

Mrs. J. J. Williams entertained a dinner party yesterday, complimentary to Mrs. Nathan Chace of Stanton and the Misses Wachob of Pittsburg, Pa.

The Acme club met with Mrs. Britell Tuesday afternoon, and studied the usual lesson, followed by parliamentary drill. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Crawford.

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen will entertain the Bible Study circle Wednesday afternoon. Miss McBeth will give two readings and other good things are planned. Two-thirty is the hour and all are invited.

Mrs. A. A. Welch entertained Mrs. Mark Miller of Sioux Falls, S. D., Mrs. Nathan Chace of Stanton, the Misses Wachob of Pittsburg, Pa., and the C. A. Chace family of Wayne, at dinner today.

Mrs. H. B. Jones and Mrs. H. J. Felber entertain forty lady friends to morrow afternoon at the home of the former, in honor of their mother, Mrs. A. L. Tucker, formerly of Wayne, now of Boise, Idaho.

The Shakespeare club met at the home of Mrs. M. A. Phillips Tuesday evening. Instead of Shakespeare, the members read the "Idylls of a King." The club meets every Tuesday night, and will meet next week with Miss Stocking.

Mrs. Walter Weber entertained twenty guests at a whist party Friday evening. John Harrington won the gentleman's prize, and Mrs. Way the ladies' prize. At the conclusion of the game a delicious two-course luncheon was served.

Miss Eva Laudanger invited about twenty boys and girls to her home Tuesday afternoon after school hours, in honor of her birthday. The afternoon was spent in games, after which supper was served. All had a most enjoyable time.

The U. D. club met with Mrs. Morris Monday afternoon. Mrs. Ringland gave an interesting review of the book, "How to Live on Twenty-four Hours a Day," by Arnold Bennett. Then followed a drill on mispronounced words. The club meets next week with Mrs. Hufford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fanske entertained at a dinner party last Thursday in honor of their first wedding anniversary. Mrs. Fanske served a delicious three-course dinner to the following invited guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Craven, C. W. Salsbury and Walter Norris, and Misses Eva Beauchemin and Clara Heckert.

Baracas are Hosts. (Contributed.)

On Sunday, October 8, the contest between the Philathea, the young ladies' class, and the Baraca, the young men's class of the Baptist church, ended. The contest between the two classes had been going on for two months. The object of it was to increase attendance and interest in the classes, and it proved to be a success in both ways.

The Philathea class won in the contest, so they were entitled to ask anything they wished of the Baraca class. They asked that they might give them a hayrack party in the country and that the boys might prepare the supper themselves before their guests.

On Friday night the affair took place. By 7:30 all had gathered at the church and from there were conveyed in hayracks through the most deserted parts of town and finally out to the country home of Mrs. Conover. Here the scene was made cheery by great blazing bonfires over which were built

BIDS FOR LIBRARY BUILDING TOO HIGH

EXCEED AVAILABLE FUNDS

Mr. Carnegie Invited to Increase Donation—Falling in That, Plans Must be Modified.

Monday night the library board met and opened the bids for the construction of the proposed new library building. There were three bids and the cost figured by each one is about $1,000 more than the amount of funds available. Therefore, it is impossible to let the contract.

It is believed the plans call for a structure that cannot be built for the money promised by Mr. Carnegie, and that one of two things will have to be done: Get more money from Carnegie or modify the plans. The building planned is of such attractive proportions and finish that the committee does not like to reduce its expectations, and therefore a letter has been dispatched to the philanthropist asking him to increase his donation to $9,000 on the ground that an ample levy for maintenance has been made by the city to justify it. If Mr. Carnegie does not respond with the additional amount needed, it will be necessary to change the plans and ask for new bids.

But there is no reason for discouragement. The little delay will be profitable if a more costly building than originally expected can be realized.

SERMONS AT TIME OF PRISON CONGRESS

The national prison congress in session at Omaha this week has brought together many brilliant minds, students of sociology and criminology, to try to figure out causes of crime and ways to prevent it. On Sunday Omaha pulpits were filled by ministers in attendance at the congress, and their sermons were made appropriate to the occasion, touching subjects of live interest. Brief excerpts from such sermons will give thoughts for consideration:

Rev. Frank L. Loveland: "In recent years we have heard much about the perils of race suicide, but let it be known that this land of ours is in no danger from race suicide, but is in danger from race degeneracy. History has no record of any nation having gone down for lack of numbers, but the banks of the stream of time are strewn with the wreck of nations that have gone down because of the lack of physical and moral worth. Not race suicide, but race degeneracy is the curse of the day. This furnishes the constant stream of defective humanity that is pouring into our prisons, reformatories and eleemosynary institutions. While I am quite in accord with the movement to restrict and control the great divorce evil that is upon us as a people, I am also deeply interested in the adoption of more stringent marriage laws which shall deal with this question at its fountain head."

Rev. A. J. Stillman: "The great majorities of the prisoners in our penitentiaries," he said, "are not those whose early years have been spent in the slums, but the children from good families, families such as are here this morning. The judge's son, the preacher's son, the professor's son, will turn out just as badly as anybody else if you only give them plenty of good, wholesome neglect. Give them plenty of neglect and all fine principles which have come down to them from you and from generations will count for nothing. I spent four years as chaplain of the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill. I found that most of the criminals are chance criminals. No boy or girl starts out in life to commit crime, but they slip into it from the neglect at home."

Bishop George A. Beecher: "Take the pathetic conditions, which exist, when a mother finds that her son has gone wrong. She tries every possible way to bring him back to the path of righteousness, but at last she realizes that it is beyond her power to do it. Then it is that he is turned over to state to be taken care of. Why did not that mother watch the child when he was young and bring him up in the right way? Her time was occupied by social functions and the child was neglected. A little less society and more care for the child would make conditions in this country far better and the work of the county and state institutions would be lessened 70 per cent."

Mrs. M. A. Messalin, superintendent of Hope Hall, Chicago: "Of the prisoners who come to us ninety-seven out of one hundred have fallen either directly or indirectly through drink."

Bishop Samuel Fallows: "The rejection of the theory of social vengeance; the substitution of a theory of personal and social salvation; the adoption of a curative instead of a merely punitive method; the application of the penalty to the offender rather than to the offense; the adoption of the suspended sentence or 'probation'; the recognition of the fact that the great forces of nature are necessary for moral as well as physical results; the divinity of labor; the application of the moral and spiritual forces; the patience of love as a redemptive agent; the necessity of moral surgery for moral cure; the importance of child-saying; the visitation of the prisoner; the establishment of personal relations and the bringing to bear of personal forces, and finally, restitution as one evidence of the reformation of the prisoner. The pivotal point in the penology of Jesus is that which makes the regeneration of the individual the key to the regeneration of society. Sympathy, forgiveness, mercy, justice, love and the never despairing hope were thus among the glorious attributes of Christ's character, and the foundation truths of his teachings."

WAYNE DEPOT CASE.

Sunday's Lincoln Journal. A motion to remand to the state supreme court the Wayne, Neb., depot case was filed in the office of the clerk of the federal circuit court yesterday afternoon. After a hearing the state railway commission forbade the Chicago-St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway from repairing its depot at Wayne and ordered it to build a new one. The railway company took an appeal to the state supreme court, and then had the case transferred to the federal court. Attorney General Martin moves to have the case remanded on the ground that the railroad company has waived its right of removal by the appeal taken to the supreme court. Another ground given is that the case is one which involves the police power of the state in providing for the health, welfare and protection of its citizens.

THE CARNIVAL SEASON ENDS.

Walter Savidge gave his final carnival exhibition of the year at Ponca last week, and he reports the season the most successful in his experience. Ponca people were enthusiastic in their appreciation of the carnival, and gave Mr. Savidge a most gratifying finale in the way of patronage. Mr. Savidge will now turn attention to the organization of a dramatic company, beginning rehearsals in Wayne October 25. The opening engagement will be at Winside, November 2, followed by an appearance at Wayne November 8, 9 and 10.

A POINT TO REMEMBER.

SCARCITY OF HOUSES.

The Herald is informed that at least fifty families who wanted to locate in Wayne the past summer, were unable to do so on account of no houses to rent. It looks as though it would pay local capitalists to build a number of modern houses as an investment. Men who wanted to locate here this year are traveling men and others who are desirable people and capable of paying adequate rent. A man who comes here usually wants to rent before buying. He may later be persuaded to buy.

She only has one thought, one dream; for her there's but one vital theme, one subject that will hit the spot—and that's her suffrage tommyrot. She may be great and good and wise, but when it comes to making pies or mixing up a Charlotte Russe, my good Aunt Sarah is a goose. Aunt Jenny stays at home and makes the finest pies, the smoothest cakes! She says she never understood the ranting, shrieking sisterhood. She has a pleasant, gentle face; she makes her home a lovely place. And when she looks into our eyes, and sees the love that in their eyes, she doesn't hanker for those rights for which the dames sit up at nights. "While all the folks at home love me, I've all the rights I want," says she.

Great men have lived and done their stunts, and there they died just like the nuts, and still the world waggled on; the sun went on; the stars went on; the lyhooting by, the same old way, across the sky, and night gave place to dawn; I sometimes think, when all swelled up, until I'm like a poisoned pup, that when I come to croak, the stars will surely jump, the track, the universe go out of whack, perhaps go up in smoke. I find it hard to realize that all the planets in the skies will travel just the same, that rains will fall and winds will blow, that there'll be dew and rime and snow, when I have jumped the game. It's hard for me to understand that I am but a grain of sand upon an endless shore; and when I'm blown into the sea the other grains will sigh for me—one sigh and nothing more. Ah, many men were called "the great"—their deeds the histories relate, but when they cashed their string, when each had shot his little bolt, the old world never felt a jolt, but just kept up its fling. There doesn't live so great a soul that when he dies he'll leave a hole in this old mundane place; our old friend Death cannot be beat at taking big chunks of conceit from out the human race.

The summer's gone, where summers stray—the summer gay and bright and rosy!—And now the autumn's on its way to that dim bourne where autumn's mosey. The flies are dead—those playful elves, whose antics made us sore and surly; and now we'll have to hump ourselves and do our Christmas shopping early. There are some duties that I hate in this dark world of woe and weeping, some jobs which make my molars grate when I'm awake and when I'm sleeping. Some tasks we have to do are horrid, in life's unpleasant hurly-burly; we hate to chase around the stores and do our Christmas shopping early. The slogan's dinned into our ears by tiresome journalistic preachers until it fills our eyes with tears, for we are poor, weak human creatures. Such preaching gives us all the blues, and makes our tempers short and curly; so let us one and all refuse to do our Christmas shopping early.

THE TIME- Full soon the campaign presidential will fill the land with grief and tears; the same old statesmen influential will push hot air into our ears. The same old roobucks soon will frolic from here to yonder as of yore; and orators with mental colic will stand on their hind legs and roar. The same expensive galivanting of candidates in private cars; the same old shrieking, pawing, ranting, the same old fierce Black Hand cigars. The same old era of stagnation, when business men must hold the sack while Windy Jims, with animation, their hobbies ride to Troy and back. I'd like to change the constitution so we will have this feast of tears, this jim-jams wave of elocution but once in ten or twenty years. Beneath the present day conditions our country gets a frequent shock; we hand it to the politicians, who use it for a chopping block.

The candidate goes forth to tell how well he did his duty; he held his office passing well—his record is a beauty. He stands before a panting crowd and wanders through wordy mazes, and in a raucous voice and loud he sings forth his own praises. No other man in all the earth would dare to stand before you and prate of his own sterling worth, and with his virtues bore you. If I should stand around and boast about my bughouse verses, you'd hand me what I need, a roast, and sprinkle me with curses. You'd say: "The man who wants to charm should be a trifle modest, and this skate is a false alarm, a prophet stuffed with saw-just." The preacher doesn't tell the town how well he fills the pulpit; that sort of stuff we couldn't down—he knows we wouldn't gulp it. The doctor doesn't make the claim that he's the one physician who knows the way to carve your frame when you're in bad condition. The statesman is the only jay who has the nerve to face us and boast himself for half a day and sing his charms and graces.

Say, do you plow or peddle glue, or do you buy or trade, or sell? Whatever may be the work you do, be sure you try to do it well. If there's a man entirely great, a shining mortal, grand and good, be sure he reached his high estate by doing things the best he could. When I was young I herded hens, and guarded them from hawks and coons, at night I drove them to their pens and fed them tracks and shredded prunes. And people stopped upon their way to greet my flock with joyous howls, and often they'd rear up and say: "Who ever saw such gorgeous fowls?" In after years I sold seed oats, and sawed the horns from muley cows, and shaved the beards from lilly goats, and did a stunt with cross-cut plows. And always I would buckle down, and say: "I'll do this job as well that any critter in the town can view it with derisive yell." That's been my platform all my days, and now I live on easy street, while round me inefficient jays have not, alas, enough to eat.

Beneath the figtree's boughs he sat and dreamed of some fair place, where never heartless plutocrat can grind the poor man's face; his vision placed before his eyes
THE DREAMER a region fair and good, and while his spirit roamed the skies, his wife was splitting wood. The dreamer gets some fine bouquets from poets and their kind, who picture him as one who lays up treasures in his mind. But when it comes to old brass tacks, I like that pilgrim best who sheds his coat and takes the axe and gives his wife a rest. I like the man who's wide awake until he goes to bed, who hustles in the mart to make the price of prunes and bread. That man is hardly worth his cheese who loaf's the hours away, and basks on downy beds of ease, while others bawl their bay; and if he lets the hausfrau sweat in soap and suds and steam, while he proceeds to prouette in cloud-land, on a dream, he is so punk that someone near should give the knockout punch; for men like that are mighty dear at one kopeck a bunch.

One day I called on Mr. Ayers, to sell some axle grease. He kicked me down three flights of stairs and sent for the police. And as I sat there in sad plight, with broken legs and spine,
THE SALESMAN "He served you just exactly right," remarked a friend of mine. "The man who tries to peddle junk that no one ever needs, should always come down stairs kerplunk, until his bosom bleeds. Few, few indeed, want axle grease on life's sad gloomy shore, and when they do they'll go in peace to buy it at the store. It maddens men to have some reek come on some busy day, and stand around and talk a week, and fail to go away. I'm glad, so glad that Mr. Ayers has balked at this abuse, and pushed you down three flights of stairs and kicked your backbone loose. He well deserves a laurel wreath! I'm glad you broke your neck! I'm glad you've swallowed all your teeth! I'm glad you've bled a leak!" His words seemed bitter at the time, but they with sense were filled. The punishment should fit the crime, and peddlers should be killed.

Partition Sale of Real Estate. In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. Mary Evans and Margaret Jones, Plaintiff, vs. Humphrey Evans, et al., Defendants. Under and by virtue of an order made and entered by the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 22d day of September, 1911, in an action pending in said District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, for the partition of the real estate hereinafter described in which Mary Evans and Margaret Jones were Plaintiffs and Humphrey Evans, Margaret Ellen Evans, Hugh J. OBITUARY

Malvern (Iowa), Leader.

The many friends of the Berkheimers were greatly shocked Friday to hear of the death of Oscar Berkheimer at his home in Tulia, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Berkheimer had both been critically ill of typhoid fever, but were both improving, and were so much better that relatives from here who had been with them returned home, arriving but a short time ahead of the sad news of his death.

Oscar H. Berkheimer was born near Malvern, Ia., August 16, 1869, and died at Tulia, Tex., October 6, 1911. His early boyhood was spent on his father's farm north of Malvern, and when he approached manhood he attended Tabor college. While yet in school at Tabor, he was converted and joined the Baptist church at that place.

Eighteen years ago this fall he was united in marriage to Miss Gertrude McMullan of Tabor, Ia. They moved to Wayne, Neb., where they founded a home, and united with the Baptist church of that place. They resided on their farm south of Wayne until January of this year, when thinking that a change of climate would be beneficial to his health, they said goodbye to their many friends and moved to Tulia, Tex. Here they bought land and bulldozed them a new home, which he occupied only during his sickness.

He with his devoted wife have lived consistent Christian lives, taking great interest in church work, assisting in the erection and maintenance of a beautiful Baptist church at Wayne, Neb., and at Tulia, Tex.

About four weeks ago, that dread disease, typhoid fever, fastened its hold upon him. All that loving friends and neighbors and medical science could do was done for him. At times he seemed to improve and hopes were given for his recovery. His brother Andrew and wife of Malvern, went to his bedside, remaining a week. They left there but a few days ago, believing him to be on the road to recovery. This makes the shock doubly hard to his aged parents, who are left to mourn his loss, together with his four brothers and three sisters and bereaved and devoted wife who at this time is lying low with the same disease at their home in the southland, unable to accompany the body to its last resting place.

Oscar was of a kind and genial disposition, and his friends are numbered by his acquaintance, who mourn his untimely death.

The remains were brought to Malvern Monday on No. 4 and funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. E. Wilkins of Emerson Baptist church, at 2:30 p. m. from the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Berkheimer.

A large number of friends from quite a distance over the country were present to pay their respects to the deceased.

It has been suggested that the question of selecting a site for the city hall ought to be submitted to the people for decision. That would be the most satisfactory way to settle differences.

Hoskins gave liberal support to Mr. Bolander of Winside, who was candidate for clerk two years ago, and now Winside may be expected to reciprocate by giving the Hoskins man, Mr. Benser, a big vote.

The Central City Republican intimates that the endorsement of Taft at the late republican congressional convention was introduced by Ross Hammond in order to hurt Elliott's chances and help the former's friend, Dan Stephens the democratic nominee. If the insurgents agree with the Central City paper, they should punish Hammond by supporting Elliott.

Belittling the fact that Frank S. Benser, candidate for clerk, has only one leg constitutes the force of the Winside Tribune's opposition to him. The Tribune's attitude is amazing. One would expect it to show its loyalty to the western part of the county by supporting its one candidate rather than by manifesting opposition in the shape of ridicule and reproach at his physical misfortune.

Mr. Bryan is an adroit politician. In his speeches over the state, he is making an effort to draw insurgents away from their party and persuade them to support the democratic ticket. He secured the co-operation of the populists in the past, and thinks he can as easily handle republicans who are dissatisfied. Wherever he can find discontent in republican ranks, he is pleased at the prospect and does some clever work in the hope of benefiting his party.

The conference of insurgent republicans in Chicago Monday resulted in the endorsement of Senator LaFollette for the republican nomination for president. Former Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield had a conference with ex-President Roosevelt before going to Chicago to participate in the meeting, and his views were deemed expressive of the attitude of the former president. However that may be, Mr. Roosevelt was formerly out of accord with Senator LaFollette and it is inconceivable that he would now turn against the man whom he successfully urged the country to name for president and support a man whom he formerly opposed as too radical. Has Roosevelt changed from Taft to LaFollette? If so, and if his judgment were at fault in demanding the choice of Taft four years ago, can his judgment be depended on now?

Sunday's Chicago Record-Herald told of a girl who entered the employ of a big New York store as saleslady at the ribbon counter at $8 per week. She took so much interest in making the ribbon counter attractive and in building up trade for her lines that she soon attracted the attention of the head of the institution. Her good taste and application to business won promotion that surprised the many other girls who had been working along indifferently for several years longer than she had been employed. She was advanced to the station of buyer of different lines of goods for the store, with responsibilities

We Invite You To Our Range Demonstration

We will have Cole's Hot Blast Range in operation and want you to see the many handy, convenient features which are embodied only in this new improved family cooking apparatus.

Come and bring your friends. We want you to see—

The wonderful Hot Blast Combustion which saves fuel.

—See how the gases in the fuel are saved which are wasted in other ranges.

—See the clean, bright fire resulting from Cole's Hot Blast Combustion when using common soft coal making it equal to hard coal for cleanliness.

—See how evenly the top of range is heated by flame from the burning gases, making it possible to cook on the two back lids.

—See how uniformly the oven is heated—how easily regulated—making it unequalled for baking and roasting—

And Remember—Cole's Hot Blast Combustion is the fuel saving feature which has caused the Cole's Original Hot Blast Heating Stove to be sold at the rate of 60,000 stoves per year. This is one of the many special new features we want to show you in this wonderful range.

Come and see the Cole's Odorless and Smokeless Broiler Attachment built into the range not equaled by Charcoal Broilers which sell for $20.00 or more.

A child can broil any kind of meat or game equal to the work done by high priced hotel chefs.

Date of Demonstration Oct. 30 to Nov. 4, 1911

There are 14 special features embodied in this range which will interest you.

Come in and allow us to show them to you.

increased from time to time. She is now sent to Europe twice a year to make selections for the store's stock, and her salary has grown accordingly. She did not need help, but given an opportunity, she demonstrated her worth and simply made good.

Speaking of the present county clerk, the Winside Tribune says: "Vote for him because he is greatly the peer of his opponent in every respect." As peer means equal, we cheerfully admit that Reynolds is the "peer" but not the superior of Benser in qualifications for the clerk's office. Whether he is "greatly the peer" of Benser in legs, which subject seems to interest the Tribune most, we don't know. Reynolds has more of them, as we remember. Whether Reynolds' two legs are "greatly the peer" of Benser's one leg, no one can clearly determine. But seriously, both are unfortunate in that respect, as the Tribune should concede. As to Reynolds' official tenure, there is no doubt he is "greatly the peer" of Benser and everybody else, and then some. The present clerk has been in the court house nearly twelve years and is

WELCH'S RECORD AS JUDGE SUPERIOR TO ALLEN'S.

Wayne county people should not be over confident of the election of Judge A. A. Welch, and neglect him through the feeling of assurance that he will be elected anyway. His opponent and opposing newspapers are working hard to win, and to overcome their activity Judge Welch may need every vote that Wayne county can give him. Here is a misleading statement appearing in the course of a boost for Judge Allen in the Verdigris Citizen and republished by a number of papers: "Judge Allen has served the district as judge with great distinction, and not a single one of his decisions while on the bench was reversed." Not only is that representation incorrect, but the record of the supreme court shows a smaller per cent of reversals for Judge Welch than for Judge Allen. Judge Allen served two years on the bench and of the thirty-five cases appealed during that time, thirteen were reversed. Altogether he had thirty-seven and one-seventh per cent of reversals.

On the other hand, of fifty-two cases of action appealed during Judge Welch's service of four and one-half years on the bench, only eighteen were reversed. Of the last nineteen causes of action appealed, only two were reversed. The record thus shows thirty-four and eight-thirteenths per cent of reversals for Judge Welch. So it may be readily seen that Judge Welch's record on the bench is considerably more favorable than that of Judge Allen in the matter of reversals. It is surprising, indeed, that the Verdigris paper should have been so indifferent to the facts in trying to strengthen the candidacy of Judge Allen. The truth is, Judge Welch has made an excellent record as district judge. He has been eminently fair in his treatment of lawyers and litigants, and his judgment has usually been sound, as the supreme court record testifies. As both judge and citizen, he stands deservedly high, and Wayne county should rally to his support without regard to party.

ODDS AND ENDS.

One should not act the part of a hypocrite unless the need of doing so is very urgent. From the clouds that have gathered about certain structural improvements in Wayne, we confidently expect to see realization of a better depot, better city hall and better library building than originally intended. California did something really progressive in granting right to vote to women. In expressing themselves on candidates and measures, women can make as few mistakes as men without half trying. It would be a serious commercial blunder for Wayne to try to gobble all the offices in the county. And there is no reason to do it in view of the capable representation of outside territory candidates who are worthy and well qualified to help manage the county's affairs. If one can avoid showing spite toward his neighbor, he may in time forget what ails him, and become noble in thought. It is an unwarranted and uncomfortable self-inflicted punishment to harbor ill-will toward a fellow creature. The hater is hurt worse and more to be pitied than the hated. It is a condition of evil that cannot be expurgated by merely attending prayer meeting. One must get the poison out of his system, and then he will become radiant with good nature and good feeling. People who have plenty of money and are enjoying the comforts of a well earned rest, should not accordingly harbor the notion that progress is to be suspended. Young people are coming along, and they are forced to make a living and look out for the future. They want something to depend on when they get ready to retire. Therefore it is up to them to keep the machinery of commerce moving ahead, and take up and carry on material improvements. They often feel like shifting but they can't do it. A Smokeless and Odorless Broiler for Home Use

One of the greatest improvements made in years in the family range is the device furnished with Cole's Hot Blast Range for broiling meats, game, fish and ham slices. This device consists of a broiling box which is set before an upright grill in the front of the range which forms the front of the fire box. The odor and smoke from broiling is carried through the range and up the chimney. With this modern method of broiling the juices in the meat are saved so that none of the flavor is lost. No grease can drop on the coals and the smoke and gases from the fire cannot come in contact with the meat and taint it.

This is a patented device which can be used only on Cole's Hot Blast Range. All up-to-date housekeepers will be interested in seeing it. Range in operation each day at our store from OCT. 30 TO NOV. 4. Call and bring your friends. 250

The enterprising Sioux City Journal sent out a big illustrated, descriptive supplement with its regular edition yesterday, giving a history of the development of that city since it was founded sixty-two years ago. It is a comprehensive newspaper production, and is well worth studying and preserving.

REPUBLICAN STATE NOMINEES Judge Charles B. Letton.

Judge Charles B. Letton has lived in Nebraska forty-two years, a longer resident in the state than that of any of his colleagues. His parents were homesteaders in Jefferson county, reaching that locality by ox team.

In 1886 he was elected the first county attorney of Jefferson county, serving four years. He was elected Judge of the First Judicial district in 1885 and was re-elected in 1889, serving until November, 1903, when he resigned to accept a position on the Supreme Court Commission. In 1905 he was nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court and was elected by a majority of over 20,000.

Judge Letton is an active member of the Nebraska State Bar association, was its president in 1906, and has delivered a number of papers and addresses before that body and other professional societies. He has been assiduous and constant in pointing out defects in legal procedure and is earnest in the work of reform, the last address he made before the association being upon "Law Reform in Nebraska."

Judge William B. Rose. Judge William B. Rose was born at Grove City, Penn., January 25, 1862, and he was educated in the public schools and college of his native place.

He was admitted to the bar at Mercer, in the same state, in 1888, and shortly afterward moved to Lincoln, Neb., where he has since resided. For ten years he edited the opinions of the supreme court for the official reports and during that time became exceptionally familiar with the laws of Nebraska.

GIFTS FROM LOCAL PASTOR. The following correspondence from Tabor, Ia., appeared in the Council Bluffs Nonpareil October 13: "Rev. Alexander Corkey, D. one of the judges of the district court from December 12, 1882, until January 6, 1892. He was first appointed by Governor Dawes to fill a vacancy, and was thereafter twice elected, each time by an increased majority. In the total vote of 15,500 he received a majority of 4,196, in a campaign when he was pitted against one of the ablest democratic lawyers west of the Mississippi. Judge Hamer has a splendid record as a trial lawyer and district judge. He has always been an earnest student of the law for the pleasure it gave him. He was born in Ohio and attended school in that state, in Indiana, and in Illinois. He was admitted to the bar at Indianapolis with the law-class of which he was a member, in February, 1864. He came to Nebraska forty-one years ago last December, and has devoted his entire time to a study of the law and its practice. He first settled in Lincoln, where he resided two and one-half years, at the end of which time he moved to Kearney, his present residence. He was the first lawyer to locate in Kearney. He is the only republican candidate from the west. He has the confidence of the business men, farmers, common people and lawyers in all parts of the state. He has tried many cases at the county seats beginning at Gering, Harrison and Kimball, in the extreme west, and ending at Omaha. He has presented many cases in the supreme court of this state, and a few in the supreme courts of other states and in the United States supreme court. He has always taken a deep interest in the success of the younger members of the bar.

Thomas L. Hall. Thomas L. Hall is a native born Nebraskan. He was born on a Richardson county farm in 1866 and his home has been in Nebraska ever since. His parents were homesteaders, locating near the present town of Yerdon and their son was accustomed to the privations and hardships of pioneer days. Mr. Hall's father died when he was fifteen years old and from that time until he entered the university of Nebraska the management of the home farm devolved upon him. He graduated from the State University in 1890, having completed the literary course. Soon after he entered the employ of the First National Bank of Lincoln, and afterward the Lancaster County Bank of the same city. Later he accepted the position of assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Auburn, and upon leaving that institution became the President of the Yerdon State Bank, serving in that capacity five years. Meanwhile he was engaged in the study of law and graduated from the law department of the state university in 1896. He began practice in Falls City and was so engaged for seven years, when the disposition of his father's estate made it necessary for him to buy the home farm. During the succeeding five years he gave his active attention to the management of the place and established a reputation as one of the most successful farmers and stock raisers in southeastern Nebraska. A favorable opportunity presenting itself, he sold the farm and re-engaged in the practice of law, locating in Lincoln his present residence.

Owing to his extended banking experience, Mr. Hall is a proficient accountant. This ability, coupled with his legal attainments, thoroughly fits him for the office of Railway Commissioner. He is in sympathy with the farmers, having been one of them. He is a close student of the law and appreciates the trust imposed by public office. His candidacy is deserving of the favorable consideration of every voter.

STATE NORMAL NEWS

President Conn made a business trip to Norfolk Friday.

Mr. Fred Williams, representing Silver Burdette & Goyette, was a visitor on Friday of last week.

The violin solo by Professor Johnson at the convocation period last Thursday was greatly appreciated by faculty and students.

The Real Estate and Financial News published at Madison gave two pages in its October issue advertising the Wayne Normal.

The friends of Frank S. Perdue, formerly deputy state superintendent, were glad to greet him on his visit to Wayne last Friday.

Mr. Earl Lewis, superintendent of buildings and grounds, is enjoying a week's vacation and spending the time at his old home in Tohamah.

The Normal Catholic club met Wednesday evening and elected the following officers: President, Anna B. Wintoringer; vice president, Gertrude M. Deuling; secretary, Myrtle Brennan; treasurer, Mary Hirschman.

The Philo literary society made an excellent beginning last Saturday evening, and the work of these energetic young people will add much to the life of the school during the year.

Professor Hantemer announces the following schedule of football games: Gates Academy, Saturday, October 21, to be played at Neligh; Bancroft high school on October 28, to be played on the Normal grounds; Madison high school Saturday, November 3, Normal grounds.

Work on the new building is progressing nicely. Foreman Sterner has recently added three new brick layers to his force and the second story will be completed and ready for the putting in of the third floor by the close of the week. When completed this will be one of the most substantial school buildings in the state.

Mr. Carl O. Johnson is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his marriage to Miss Alta Norman, which occurred at Sheikley on Wednesday, October 4. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside two blocks west of the Normal grounds. The students did not allow such an event to pass unnoticed and treated Mr. and Mrs. Johnson with an old-fashioned charivari upon their return to Wayne.

The editorial staff of the new school paper has been busy the past few days and copy for the first issue will be sent to the printer Thursday. It will be a twenty-four page magazine edited and managed by the student body and devoted to the interests of the Normal School. The management of the paper greatly appreciates the encouragement and support given the publication by the business men of Wayne.

From a poster put out by the Y. M. C. A. we learn that this organization has planned something rather unique in the way of a county fair. Many of the features usually found at fairs will have a place on the program. Admission is free but those who attend are urged to bring a number of pennies in order that they may not be denied the privilege of seeing special attractions. The date is Friday evening, October 20.

WATCH FOR THE BAND CONCERT

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES

German Evangelical Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor.) Next Sunday services at 11 a. m. and Sunday school at 10 a. m. Everyone cordially invited.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. C. J. Ringer, Pastor.) Services at 11 a. m. and Sunday school at 10 a. m. No preaching in the evening.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Priest.) Mass at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Sunday school at 3:30 p. m. and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) In spite of threatening weather last Sunday our services were well attended. The increasing attendance and interest in the adult department of our Sunday school is full of encouragement. The Barabas and Philathias are doing splendid work.

In the near future we are going to establish a department of missions in our Sunday school with a wide-awake superintendent at its head.

The young people's meetings are being largely attended and are very enthusiastic. The class in sacred literature will meet on Monday evenings, every other week. The first meeting will be at 7:30 next Monday evening.

Next Sunday morning at 10:45 the pastor will give a report of the state convention. All our members should hear this. In the evening at 7:30 he will preach.

We are still anxious to have more of our members enjoy the Wednesday evening prayer and fellowship meeting.

We are glad to welcome strangers. We cordially invite all.

Presbyterian Church.

(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) "To Every Man His Work" will be the subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath. The sermon will be a practical application of the text by assigning whatever work in the church is most suitable to each member.

In the evening the pastor will preach on "Unsuspected Possibilities in our Church Life."

The Sunday school will meet promptly next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock the preaching service will begin, the closing exercises of the Sunday school being the opening exercises of the morning worship. During the opening part of the preaching service the pastor will give an illustrated object sermon on "The Salt of the Earth" to the boys and girls, after which those of the Sunday school not desiring to remain for the preaching service will be dismissed.

The contest between the Reds and the Blues in the C. E. society has aroused much interest, and each side is striving for success. Mr. R. D. Sterling is the leader of one group and Paul Mines of the other. The contest will last for two months.

Methodist Church.

(Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.) Large congregations attended church last Sunday notwithstanding the rain, and the Brotherhood class in Sunday school began its work with twenty-eight men present. Upwards of seventy-five attended the Epworth League services at 6:30 and the meeting proved to be one of spiritual power and great helpfulness.

Quite a large number attended the mid-week service last Wednesday and the studies in the Epistle to the Romans became of great interest to all present.

The spirit of personal interest and a desire to help on the Master's cause is evident in the whole congregation—a part of this evidence appears in the promptness with which all deficits on the budget of last year have been met so that the church enters the new conference year with a clean sheet.

Get your supper in the basement parlors on this Friday evening, beginning at 5 o'clock with the Ladies' Aid society. Price 25 cents. Everybody cordially invited. And why not get some good home cooking at the E. L. exchange at Beaman's grocery on Saturday afternoon?

Mrs. J. E. Marsteller was elected president of the Aid society at their meeting last week.

The finance committee is preparing the schedule of apportionments to meet the budget expenses for the current year and our people may look out for the same in a few days.

It was supposed to be definitely arranged a few days ago that Theobald, the world's greatest violinist, accompanied by Dorothea North, soprano, of Chicago, and Helen Keller, of Europe, piano accompanist, would give a recital at the church October 31. The matter is now pending.

The usual services next Sunday. Topics, in the morning, "Shepherds in Israel—Visions and Purpose." Evening,

"Some Waters of the Bible." A cordial welcome to all.

Sunday School Lesson.

Sunday school lesson for Sunday, October 22: "The foundation of the Second Temple Laid." Ezra; Third chapter, 1-11.

And when the seventh month was come and the children of Israel were in the cities, the people gathered themselves together as one man to Jerusalem.

2 Then stood up Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel to offer burnt offerings thereon as it is written in the law of Moses the man of God.

3 And they set the altar upon his bases; for fear was upon them because of the people of those countries; and they offered burnt offerings thereon unto the Lord even burnt offerings morning and evening.

4 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is written and offered the daily burnt offerings by number, according to the custom, as the duty of every day required.

5 And afterward offered the continual burnt offering, both of the new moons, and of all the set feasts of the Lord that were consecrated, and of every one that willingly offered a free-will offering unto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh month began they to offer burnt offerings unto the Lord. But the foundation of the temple of the Lord was not yet laid.

7 They gave money also unto the masons and to the carpenters; and meat and drink, and oil, unto them of Zidon, and to them of Tyre to bring cedar trees from Lebanon to the sea of Joppa, according to the grant that they had of Cyrus King of Persia.

8 Now in the 2nd year of their coming unto the house of God at Jerusalem, in the second month, began Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the priests and the Levites and all they that were come out of the captivity unto Jerusalem; and appointed the Levites from twenty years old and upward to set forward the work of the house of the Lord.

9 Then stood Jeshua with his sons and his brethren, Kadmiel and his sons, the sons of Judah, together, to set forward the workmen in the house of God: the sons of Henadab, with their sons and their brethren the Levites.

10 And when the builders laid the foundation of the temple of the Lord, they set, the priests in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites and the sons of Asaph with cymbals to praise the Lord after the ordinance of David King of Israel.

11 And they sang together by course in praising and giving thanks unto the Lord; because he is good, for his mercy endureth forever, toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid.

Something About Canned Goods.

I was able to fulfill my promise in getting your canned goods to you in the first half of October. And about Quality, I had confidence in the brand as it had been proven to me before making a change. And from reports from customers who have started in using the goods, they are more than pleased as the goods are of much higher quality than they have heretofore been able to buy in Wayne.

The question of what is best to buy in the canned goods line is an important one to the consumer as well as the grocer. Quality and variety are easily detected in fresh fruits and vegetables, but not so with the canned goods until opened for the table.

I have watched very closely the products of the canneries located in different parts of the country, learning from what locality and from which cannery the best quality of each fruit and vegetable can be secured. I investigated thoroughly before buying the brands of goods I have placed on the shelves. My main object in soliciting orders for canned goods was to get out a variety from the two brands of goods with which I have filled the shelves.

Every can of Grand Canon fruit served on the table will sell two more. Every can of Yellowstone will convince the user that they are getting an equal, in a Standard, to many of the brands used as firsts.

Customers are invited to make use of the extra room we have made for them along our display shelves by moving the counters to the center of the room; and you are all welcome to inspect the entire line of goods at your convenience. The price is marked on each article.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Splendid attendance. Harry Miner enrolled in the eighth grade this week. Harold Lightfoot is back in school after two weeks' absence. Recent visitors were: Mesdames Rippon, Ringland and Hiscox. The ninth grade will give a program on Friday morning of this week. The high school is indebted to Mrs. Wright for some gymnasium apparatus. Every parent ought to examine his child's report carefully when it is sent to him this week, and if the report can in any way be improved, cooperate with the teacher to that end. The football game last Friday between our team and the Wakefield team resulted in another victory for our boys. The score was 11 to 0. A touchdown by Gildersleeve and two place kicks by Marsteller gave us 11 points. Strahan also made a touchdown but the Wakefield official ruled it out on a foul. Our team goes to Wakefield this week on Saturday to give the Wakefield boys a return game.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 7th day of November 1911, next, at the usual voting places in each precinct, of Wayne county, an election will be held for the purpose of electing incumbents to the following named offices: Three Judges of the Supreme Court, Two regents of the State University, One State Railway Commissioner, One Congressman from the Third congressional district to fill vacancy, One judge of the district court of the Ninth judicial district, One County Clerk, One Clerk of the District Court, One County Treasurer, One county Judge, One County Sheriff, One County Superintendent of Schools,

One County Surveyor, One County Coroner, One County Commissioner of the First Commissioner District, One Police Judge for Cities and Incorporated Villages, Two Justices of the Peace for Each precinct, Two Constables for each precinct, One Overseer of Highways for each road district in the county.

Which Election will be open at eight o'clock in the morning and continue open until six o'clock in the evening of the same day.

Witness my hand and seal this 16th day of October, 1911.

OVER THE STATE

The forty-fourth annual Baptist state convention has been in session at York this week. Omaha's second annual land show opened in that city Monday, and the attendance and interest are reported very encouraging.

Seven people were killed and twenty-two injured in a railroad wreck at Fort Crook Sunday morning when Missouri Pacific passenger and freight trains collided.

Clarke E. Perkins, secretary of the state railway commission since the organization of that body in 1907, has resigned, and will take up the work of publisher of the Aurora Republican which he bought. It is suspected that Mr. Perkins is planning to enter the race for commissioner at the expiration of H. J. Winnett's term.

Lincoln special in Omaha Bee.—Pleading guilty in the county court to having violated the pure food law of the state with respect to the sale of lard, Armour & Co. were today fined $50 and costs by Judge Cosgrove. Complaint was made some time ago by E. C. Kemble, one of the food inspectors, that the defendant company had sold a shipment of the product to a College View firm and that they were not branded as to their net weight and contents. The plea followed a week's continuance which was taken by the defendant company.

Omaha special in Sioux City Journal.—Work will begin at once, it is announced, on the first unit of the Omaha-Sioux City electric road, which will be a double track line between Omaha and Fremont. G. W. Baker, general manager of the Nebraska Transportation company, says that the contract for the entire line, with branches, consisting of 284 miles, has been let to the Baker Construction company, which is now ready to buy material and proceed with construction work.

Chinese-Business Methods. Most of the Chinese business houses are now owned by partnerships, and most partnerships are of a large number of persons. The Chinese who has saved $100 local currency will at once invest it in a mercantile business and become a partner.

FAIRFAX MARSHAL SHOOTS MAN DEAD

Fairfax, S. D., Oct. 16.—John Shook, town marshal of Herrick, shot and killed J. Henry Ousley Saturday while the latter was resisting arrest.

It is said there had been a bad feeling between the two for several years. Shook was brought to jail here.

Herrick S. D., Oct. 16.—Henry Ousley of this city was shot and killed here Saturday evening by City Marshal John Shook while resisting arrest. The trouble leading up to the shooting began Friday when the marshal attempted to arrest Ousley for creating a disturbance on the street. Ousley refused to accompany the marshal and rather than cause any serious trouble, Shook left him and Saturday secured a warrant from the justice of the peace and attempted to serve it. At the time Ousley is said to have made threats that he would kill Shook if he attempted to arrest him again.

After listening to the reading of the warrant Ousley is said to have thrown off his coat and rushed toward Shook who pulled his revolver and shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. Immediately after the shooting Shook drove to Fairfax and gave himself into the custody of the sheriff. The dead man is survived by a wife and four children.

Cotton Supplants Popples. In some parts of China cotton is supplanting popples as a crop, because of the rigid laws against the use of opium.

Short Life of Goldfish. The life of a goldfish is rarely more than five years in captivity under the most favorable circumstances.

Daily Thought. For the best and sweetest is not a matter of circumstances; it is not even success and love. It is being in tune.—Anna Fuller.

Land of Thunderstorms. Gibraltar is said to be the region of the globe where it thunders most, having thunderstorms on 97 days of the year.

Special Privilege. "Isn't it against the law to be loud and boisterous in the street?" "It is," replied Mr. Chuggins, "unless you do so with a mechanical screecher attached to a motor car."

Not Always Lasting. To marry one's ideal would be fine, if we could only be assured of not waking up.

Sugars and Syrups

MUCH of the taste and pleasure in eating good food depends on the sugar and syrups used.

Think of the finished delight given to your morning meal when the syrup used with your cakes is pleasing to your taste--note that deliciousness when you drink well-made coffee with the right kind of sugar in it. Small matters--yes--but it is just those small matters that make life a complete success or a round of annoyance. We have studied the question--we pride ourselves on our attention to details of the kind. Come in and ask us.

We have just received a large shipment of PURE Vermont Maple Syrup. Not a mixture of sugar and maple, but the pure Maple Syrup.

We also carry a full line of Caro Syrups.

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

Is the Test of Time—Many Wayne People Have Made This Test.

Years ago this Wayne citizen told in a public statement, the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Wayne reader demand more convincing proof? It's Wayne testimony—it may be investigated.

Mrs. J. C. Hanson of Wayne, Neb., says: "I have no reason to withdraw anything from the public statement I gave three years ago, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I had a serious attack of kidney complaint and I suffered terribly from headaches, dizzy spells and a tired, languid feeling. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I had a dull heavy ache through my loins. In a few days after I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt better and improvement continued until all the symptoms of my complaint disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Foley Kidney Remedy vs. a Hopeless

Hon. Ark. J. E. Freeman says: "I never been bothered since. I always

Charles E. Jones has sold the Ponca newspaper man from Estherville, Ia.

The Coleridge Commercial club met recently and held its bull club wipe out its balance of $190. The Blade states that the club paid out altogether for the season's expenses about $1,800.
Randolph Times. Thomas Schutt of near Sholes, marketed potatoes in Randolph this week. He had two acres of Rural New Yorker potatoes that will yield eight loads or 400 bushels of fine, large spuds. His crop on this piece of ground is worth about $250. This is not so worse.

Randolph Enterprise. Word from Norris Brown for Randolph parties brings the news that he has recommended to the postal department at Washington that they appoint H. L. Peck as postmaster commencing December 11.
This came as a surprise, as the majority of local sentiment seemed to be favorable to Miss Dolen, and Mr. Peck is certainly to be congratulated for his pull with the powers that be. The local patrons will receive good services at his hands.

Allon News. Professor Barrett W.
Wright was in town Tuesday seeing the voters. Mr. Wright is the people's choice for county superintendent of Dixon county. The people circulated a petition, and in the course of a few days secured over 400 signers. The petitions were sent in Friday and his name will go on the ballot by petition. Mr.
Wright had absolutely nothing to do with the petition and in fact refused the nomination at first but seeing the sentiment of the people, he decided to run. He is out with the determination to win. Mr. Wright is well qualified for the office. A man of education, ability and ambition. He is deserving of your support and if elected will give you all a square deal.

Speaking of J. C. Elliott, republican candidate for congress, the Grand Tribune Independent says: "Mr. Elliott is well known to many Nebraskans outside of his own district. As a member of the Nebraska Press association, and of the legal fraternity, and as a pioneer and recent president of the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's association, he has thousands of friends throughout the state who will retain a keen interest in his race—even though they have no voice in the matter—and will sincerely hope to see him elected. With a candidate of the ability and strength of Elliott, there'll be something wrong with the Third district if it does not commission him as its representative in the lower house of congress.

Premont Tribune: The Beatrice Democrat is one organ of the opposition that is not urging LaFollette upon the republicans and thus it stands out conspicuously among the newspapers of its faith. It says the LaFollette boomers are squandering their ammunition so early in the game they will lose out at the end. Doubtless the Democrat has observed evidences of lack of interest in that proposed Chicago conference this month, at which the fires should be started that would sweep the country. The number of regrets being sent for the party denotes decadence of interest. Senator Cummins will not be there. Senator Bristow will be elsewhere. Governor Aldrich has notified the editor of the Tribune he will not go. Congressman George Norris has arranged his itinerary so as to be absent at the more-or-less psychological moment. And so, as the conference date draws near, it begins to look as though there might be no hamlet in the play.
It must be admitted that there is one very depressing feature in the LaFollette candidacy. The hopelessness of his nomination makes all effort in that direction appear useless. When men go into battle foredoomed to defeat it takes the heart out of them.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST.

Treasurer's Office, Wayne, Wayne
County, Neb., October 2, 1911.
Notice is hereby given, that in compliance with the revenue laws of the State of Nebraska, I, Chas. S. Beebe, the county treasurer of Wayne County, will on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1911, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at the office of the county treasurer, in the county court house in Wayne, in said county, offer at public sale, and sell the following described real estate, or so much of each tract of land or town lot, as shall be necessary, for the amount due thereon for the taxes of 1910, as herein stated, together with all expenses for advertising, costs and fees that by law have, or may have accrued, at the time of payment. I will adjourn the sale from day to day until all the said real estate has been offered for sale.

CASES IN SUPREME COURT.
Wakefield Republican: The village of Wakefield and the village of Winside were represented by attorneys in supreme court this morning to defend verdicts they secured against parties in the lower courts. The Winside case was one where the village had enjoined
C. E. Benschhof from erecting and maintaining fences across certain streets in a town addition. Benschhof claimed that the addition was never a part of the village, that it was some distance from the original town site and that it had no houses. He says that anyway he leased the streets, and that the defendant's attorneys were inconsistent in that they recognized, in one part of the case the control of the streets by the village and in another deny that the addition was ever legally made a part of it.
In the Wakefield case the point at issue was whether or not the village could legally annex an addition that didn't want to be annexed. The people living in the addition, sought to be gathered in, object on the ground that it would increase their taxes and thereby depreciate the value of their property. The attorneys for the village insist that there is but an imaginary line separating it from the addition and that as the latter has the benefit of the gas and water mains extended therein and all of the other comforts and luxuries of life in the village, there is no reason why the inhabitants thereof might not be gathered in and enrolled as taxpayers. It is asserted that whatever values the property in the addition have is largely due to the proximity of the village, and that it is only right and proper that enjoying the benefits the owners should bear the burdens.

A Turtle Story.
While excavating for a cellar a few days ago at Bloomfield, N. J., the workmen came upon the skeleton of a horse and two live turtles eight feet underground. The place was formerly a mill pond, and was filled in with dirt in 1850. It is supposed the horse was in the pond at the time of the filling and that the turtles consumed the flesh of the animal.
