BRYAN MAKES SPEECH AND INVITES REPUBLICANS TO SUPPORT DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES THIS FALL

HE THINKS THEY SHOULD

THEY WOULD BE HELPING DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES WHO WANT OFFICES.

AND AID WILL BE APPRECIATED

What the Democratic Party Will Do in Return for Help He Didn't Say—Big Crowd Hears Him.

W. J. Bryan, Nebraska's leading citizen and most polished orator, appeared at the opera house in Wayne Friday afternoon and made a political speech designed to capture votes for democratic candidates. Long ago Mr. Bryan established a reputation as a fluent speaker and accordingly his appearance always attracts a crowd.

The opera house was filled at the appointed hour, and as Mr. Bryan was delayed in arriving on account of making brief speeches to the students at the Normal and city schools, Dan Stevens, democratic candidate for congress, occupied the time by talking. Mr. Stevens extended a very general and cordial invitation to republicans to vote for him for congress. He manifested a good deal of fraternal interest in LaFollette and acted as though he might support him for president next year if he were nominated and would join the democratic party. While Mr. Stevens was lauding LaFollette and praising progressive republicans, he was abruptly interrupted by applause, which was elicited by the appearance of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Stevens sat down.

After Mr. Bryan had taken his place on the platform, considerable effort was put forth in persuading people who were standing to find seats. In due time everything was in readiness, and Mr. Bryan was introduced by Mr. F. A. Bery who presided.

The meeting started off a good deal like the introduction of attractions at the beginning of a vaudeville show. Bryan praised each democratic candidate on the platform, and asked each one in turn to stand up for inspection. The few candidates who were not among the attractions in attendance were not forgotten in the distribution of eulogiums by Mr. Bryan. He dealt generously with all present or not, and each one on the platform responded to the call of his name by lifting himself to his feet with alacrity and bowing acknowledgment with admirable grace.

After disposing of the exhibits, Mr. Bryan took up the great problem of the campaign, from a democratic standpoint—the amalgamation of democratic, populist and republican forces. The speaker felt so good toward republicans who were unfriendly to President Taft that he thought they ought to support democratic nominees without a single exception. He felt the national administration ought to be rebuked, and the only way to do it would be to vote the democratic ticket. Even though every republican nominee were a so-called progressive, republicans must, according to Mr. Bryan, fortify the democratic party in order to show proper displeasure over some of the things Taft has done or failed to do.

Mr. Bryan praised LaFollette and the band of insurgents in congress. He said he hoped the republicans would nominate LaFollette for president but didn't say he would support him if he were nominated. His tender solicitude for insurgent congressmen were deftly designed to encompass the defeat of the republican ticket in the present campaign but he didn't say that he would support Congressman Norris in his candidacy for the United States Senate next year.

While Mr. Bryan has all the graces of an orator and is an attractive speaker, his attempt to disrupt the republican party merely to gain advantage for democratic candidates was so plain that the average listener would stamp him as more of a "standpatter"—if "standpatter" means stickler for party—than those republicans whom he charges with being "standpatters." Members of his audience remembered that during his long political career he had bolted only one democratic candidate—Dahlgren last year. Though he opposed Parker before the democratic national convention a number of years ago, he afterwards supported him against Roosevelt for the presidency.

There was little enthusiasm in his Wayne audience, due no doubt to his manifestly strong partisan bias and evident lack of consistency. But people were pleased to hear him because he is an entertainer of rare merit. After his speech he was entertained at the residence of Rev. Alexander Corkey, and left on the evening train for Norfolk where another political meeting was held.

MR. BRYAN CENTRAL FIGURE AT BANQUET

Rev. Alexander Corkey of the Presbyterian church and Superintendent J. H. Kemp of the city schools entertained Mr. W. J. Bryan and a number of others at a three-course dinner at the parsonage Friday evening. It was planned to have the repast at 5:30, but owing to unexpected delay on the part of Mr. Bryan in getting away from the political meeting, it was 6 o'clock before the guests surrounded the festal board. Miss Lucile Corkey met the guests and ushered them into the parlor. Besides Mr. Bryan and the two hosts, the party comprised Judge Dean of Broken Bow, Dr. Turner of Hastings College, President Conn of the Wayne State Normal, Rev. William Gorst, Rev. B. P. Richardson, Rev. C. J. Ringer, Mr. P. H. Kohl, Mr. E. O. Gardner and Mr. E. W. Huse.

The table was decorated with carnations. Mrs. Corkey and Mrs. Kemp served the dinner which was very pleasing and which was disposed of with relish. To catch the evening train Mr. Bryan had to make haste and leave before the last course had been served.

The event was entirely non-partisan and non-political. Rev. Corkey had long been acquainted with Mr. Bryan. The latter was entertained by Mr. Corkey's brother at Belfast, Ireland, a number of years ago. Messrs. Corkey and Kemp with the apt assistance of their wives, carried out the function with eminent success and their hospitality was fully appreciated.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The Bridge Whist club met with Miss Leba Nangle last evening. Following a good time at whist, refreshments were served.

The U. D. club met for a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. J. W. Jones Monday night. The members enjoyed a social time and late in the evening served refreshments.

Miss Arnold and Miss Frieda Ellis entertained a party of young people in the sewing parlors Monday night. The decorations were made appropriate to Halloween. Dancing was followed by chafing dish refreshments.

The Shakespeare club met with Miss Effie Buffington Tuesday evening and studied Tennyson's "Idylls of the King." The next meeting will be with Miss Rachel Fairchild at the Dr. Leckert home.

The new officers of the Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will entertain members of that denomination in the church parlors Thursday evening, November 9. After a social time and refreshments, a business session will be held.

The Rebels entertained last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. F. A. Bery in honor of one of their members, Mrs. Rose Vincent, who leaves soon for Long Beach, Cal. She was presented with a set of solid silver spoons. Music and charades made the evening one of much enjoyment. Light refreshments were served.

The Acme club enjoyed a Kensington and two-course five o'clock tea at the home of Mrs. Davies Tuesday afternoon. Each member invited a friend who belonged to no club, and altogether twenty-six ladies were present. For the success of the occasion credit is given the committee who are the following: Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Blair. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Crawford.

Miss Alma Craven entertained sixteen young people at a Halloween party at her home Monday evening. The rooms were decorated with autumn leaves, grapes and jack-o'-lanterns. Fortune telling and other appropriate amusements occupied attention. The lunch served at the proper juncture in the evening's festivities was made appropriate, and the table decorations of black witches, black cats, yellow candles and black candlesticks kept memory of the occasion fresh while the eatables were being devoured.

The R. Lauman home three miles east of town, was the scene of a happy Halloween party Tuesday night. A crowd of fifteen Wayne young people gathered there on invitation of Misses Bessie Lauman and Josie Ellis. The guests were met by a "ghost" and ushered into the Lauman house with due ceremony. The rooms had been properly decorated for the occasion. Dancing followed appropriate games, and a sumptuous oyster supper came last on the program. The young people had a delightful time.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. Fenske this week and had the regular literary program. The members planned to entertain the lady clerks and other lady employes of the business district at the home of Mrs. O. A. King next Tuesday night. A program will be arranged and refreshments served.

The Sunday school class known as the Workers of the M. E. church postponed its Halloween party until tomorrow night when the members will assemble in the church parlors for a good time. There will be Halloween games and Halloween refreshments.

The Philatheas of the Baptist church gave a Halloween party Monday night in the parlors of the church, and the Baracas were their guests. The rooms were appropriately decorated with Halloween symbols. The costumes were unique and very interesting. Characters from the "witch" with her from "puss" in the book, were in evidence. Ghostly figures looked here and there in dark hallways. About fifty were present and games of all kinds made the time pass merrily. A table laden with suitable edibles was open to view at a seasonable hour and aided materially in the enjoyment of the occasion. Then the "spirits" gradually disappeared.

Mrs. F. H. Jones, assisted by the Misses Hardy, Teich, Schwerin and Wallace, entertained Ole Theobaldi, Madam North, Helen Keller and Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Corkey at a two-course buffet luncheon after the concert Tuesday evening. The spacious dining room and parlors were decorated with ferns. Mr. Theobaldi and Madam North entertained the company in a delightful manner by their witty and vivid descriptions of experiences at royal courts and other places of interest—abroad, contrasting the simple customs of the American with those of foreign lands. Mr. Theobaldi had the honor of playing before fifteen of the crowned heads of Europe. Madam North, who has studied in Berlin the past two years, is a former acquaintance of Mrs. F. H. Jones.

On Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrington, the Monday club gave a Halloween dinner in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Leisenring who are soon to leave for California. After the dinner of three courses the company adjourned to the living room where a number of toasts were given and responded to in a most happy manner. Mrs. Cunningham acting as toastmistress. The first was the passing of the "Pioneer Physician of Northeast Nebraska," by Dr. Wightman. Pathos and humor were constantly intermingled in his remarks, the whole being a splendid tribute to Dr. Leisenring. Judge Welch welcomed the new members of the club, Mr. and Mrs. Moran, in his pleasant, judicial manner, responded to Mr. Moran in a very happy vein. Dr. Leisenring was then called upon to speak on the theme, "Say au revoir, but not good bye," which he did most pleasantly and wittily, expressing the regret of himself and wife at leaving their many friends here to take up their residence away, stating that it was "not that they loved Wayne less, but San Diego more." The rest of the evening was pleasantly spent in visiting and games, the whole making a most delightful occasion.

The following report of campaign extravagance has appeared in the Norfolk News and Omaha Bee this week: Norfolk, Neb., Oct. 30:—An investigation of the estate of P. E. McKillip, bankrupt, discloses that in his campaign for congress in the Third congressional district in 1904, against J. J. McCarthy, he gave checks for campaign purposes amounting to $26,057.29, and spent in addition to the amount represented by checks, the sum of $12,000, making a total expenditure in that campaign of $38,057.29. This enormous use of funds undoubtedly contributed largely to McKillip's financial downfall.

Dan V. Stephens, the present democratic candidate for congress, was his chairman and political manager.

LIGHT ON COST OF M'KILLIP CAMPAIGN

DAN STEVENS WAS CHAIRMAN An Astonishing Expenditure of Money—Doesn't Look Well in Face of Democratic Pretense.

The following report of campaign extravagance has appeared in the Norfolk News and Omaha Bee this week:

Norfolk, Neb., Oct. 30:—An investigation of the estate of P. E. McKillip, bankrupt, discloses that in his campaign for congress in the Third congressional district in 1904, against J. J. McCarthy, he gave checks for campaign purposes amounting to $26,057.29, and spent in addition to the amount represented by checks, the sum of $12,000, making a total expenditure in that campaign of $38,057.29. This enormous use of funds undoubtedly contributed largely to McKillip's financial downfall.

Dan V. Stephens, the present democratic candidate for congress, was his chairman and political manager.

Mr. Bryan has urged publicity of campaign funds, and in his speech in Wayne last Friday he mentioned with great satisfaction the progress made in that respect. The purpose of publicity is of course to restrict the use of funds in elections. It was morally as reprehensible to spend big sums of money when McKillip was running for congress as it would be today when his campaign manager is in the race. Mr. Bryan was lavish in his praise of Stevens. He told what a great and good man he would be in congress. He would assume responsibility for every thing Stevens would do or say. Any mistake he would make could be charged to him, Bryan. As manager of the McKillip campaign, didn't Stevens know a large sum of money was being expended? If he didn't know, is he smart enough to represent this big district in congress? If he did know, why didn't he insist on moderation or withdraw as manager?

The entertainment given by Ole Theobaldi and Madam North at the M. E. church Tuesday night was a rare musical treat, enjoyed by a large audience.

Maybe you just think you know.

INTERESTING TALK BY PROFESSOR HOUSE

CROWDED CHURCH HEARS HIM Discourses on Causes and Prevention of Crime—Holds Close Attention of Audience.

The Presbyterian church was thronged Sunday night in response to the announcement that Professor J. T. House of the State Normal would address a union meeting on the causes and prevention of crime. Services at other churches were cancelled for the occasion and all joined in hearing the learned student of sociological questions. Mr. House had attended as a delegate the recent prison congress at Omaha, and his experience at that session was the inspiration for the special union meeting Sunday evening. Mr. House has specialized in sociology, and when he speaks along that line, he is amply supported by facts and reason. People have learned to appreciate his high mental attainments, and when it was announced that he would talk on criminology and prison reform, a crowded house gathered to hear him. All seats in the building, including those in the gallery and Sunday school room, were occupied.

Registrar W. D. Redmond of the Normal presided. Special music was furnished and the songs by trained voices were enjoyed. With a few introductory remarks, Mr. House launched into the subject, and immediately captured close attention which he held until the last word was spoken nearly an hour later.

The first portion of the address was devoted to a plea for the indeterminate sentence with its accompaniment of parole. This was urged on the ground of safety to society and reform of the individual. The necessity of reform of legal procedure for the sake of reducing cost, eliminating delays and bringing justice within the reach of all, was also presented.

Methods of preventing crime by greater care of defectives, improvement of physical surroundings, by improvement in education, were discussed.

The speaker then urged the need of civil service in the conduct of penal and reformatory institutions, outdoor life and useful work for prisoners, careful study of all conditions that make for crime. The latter part of the discussion was devoted to the influence of such work as is done by the Volunteers of America and others in caring for discharged prisoners and providing for the families of those in prison. Mr. House said that the declaration of independence was individualistic in its sentiment, and that America needs a new declaration that should include such doctrine as that every one has an inalienable right to be born with a sound body, reared in healthful environment, educated in a practical way and permitted to serve society in the manner for which he is best suited.

The address was on a subject not often heard discussed, and everybody gave evidence of a lively interest. Mr. House carried his audience along rapidly, and occupied advanced ground in the field of preventing and caring for criminals. The address gave a train of thought for study and consideration.

More discourses of that sort would be beneficial to society.

PREMIUM LIST FOR ANNUAL CORN SHOW

The premium list for the annual corn show appears in this issue of the Herald, and merits the attention of the people of the county. The boys and girls should take an active interest, and cooperate in making the exhibition the success that it deserves.

VISITORS JOIN IN SHOOTING CONTEST

A shooting contest took place in Wayne Tuesday when marksmen from Sioux City, Pilger, Wiener, Winnebago and Wausa joined those of the local gun club. Harry Fisher was the high Wayne man, shooting 166 out of 200. Other Wayne marksmen participating: Messrs. Wiley, Mildner, Walter Weber, Morgan, F. A. Bery, Nickabaugh, Miner, Lowry and Ed. Ellis. It was an interesting contest and was witnessed by a large number.

SPEAKER OF HOUSE VISITS DISTRICT

Speaker Champ Clark is making a swing through this congressional district on a special train in behalf of the democratic party. He is scheduled to appear in Wayne at 3 o'clock this afternoon and remain thirty minutes.

LIVE STOCK SHIPMENTS

Following are the live stock shipments of the past week:

- C. K. Corbit, car cattle to Sioux City October 30.
- C. K. Corbit, car sheep to Omaha October 25.
- H. J. Miner, car hogs to Sioux City October 26.
- Strahan & Kingsbury, car hogs to Sioux City October 28.

WAYNE'S DUTY.

The interests of Wayne and Wayne county should be knit together for mutual advantage. Wayne and the rest of the county are interdependent, and should be sympathetic. They should be fair in politics as well as in business. The outside, to which Wayne looks for support, and which looks to Wayne as a market and supply center, deserves a share of the offices of the county, and it will be only justice for this city to co-operate in the election of the men who represent surrounding territory. From a standpoint of business and mutual friendship, Wayne should refuse to endorse any plan which gives it all the offices. By the election of Frank Benser for clerk, George Porter for sheriff and Eph Anderson for commissioner, voters will make a fair geographical distribution of the offices.

JUDGE WELCH.

The good record of Judge Welch on the bench, together with home pride, should bring to his support next Tuesday an immense majority in Wayne county. He has lived in this county a long time, and people generally appreciate his high standing as a lawyer, judge and citizen. In the judgeship, party lines should be forgotten in consideration for a home man who is eminently deserving.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne County Review, LaPorte, November 24, 1881: The Review urges the organization of wolf-hunting societies. E. G. Doornbom has been engaged to teach the LaPorte school, beginning December 1. At the expiration of his term as county treasurer, John T. Brassler will remove to Wayne. Jens Nielsen retires from the service of carrying the mail between LaPorte and Ponca, and W. P. Agler, the contractor, will employ another man. Wayne Notes in Review. J. L. Merriman has opened his store with a full line of merchandise. Lots in Lake's addition will be sold at from $25 to $35 apiece. Rev. J. E. Heilner is erecting a dwelling house and store combined on north Main street. Rev. Heilner has secured about $300 for the building of a Baptist church and work will commence at once. For money, chalk or marbles, Wayne is the fastest growing town of its age in the state. From sunrise to sunset one hears little else than the constant rat-a-tat-tat of the carpenters' hammers as they labor on buildings just started, others half completed, and still others just receiving the finishing touches. From the Wayne Herald, November 12, 1891: Lute Miller has sold his farm north-west of Wayne to R. Philleo. Local market: Wheat, 70c; corn, 25c; oats, 18c; rye, 60c; flax, 72c. P. C. Crockett and family left for Oulford, Maine, where they will reside. K. Rieckabaugh has bought a half interest in the cigar store of C. D. Herrick. Married at Wayne, November 9, 1891, Mr. Charles Daniels to Mrs. Emma Schwarz, both of Wayne county; Judge Martin officiating. Born, at Hoskins, a boy to Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Townsend, November 2, 1891, and a girl to Mr. and Mrs. William Wetzlich, November 3, 1891. From Wayne Herald, November 14, 1901: The county commissioners settled the dispute over the location of the new station between Carroll and Randolph. They decided to locate it on the Beaton farm. S. E. Auker went to Rushville, Neb., to buy some potatoes and cabbage for the Norfolk and Wayne markets. Robert Jones, county surveyor, is building a new house on his farm in Garfield precinct. Miss Etta Beckenhauer is teaching in the Auker district, in the place of John Shipley, who is sick.

A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Charles Welch on the completion of their new house on their farm south-west of Wayne. Wayne and Winside whist players had a series of games, resulting in a victory for the former. Wayne players: R. J. Armstrong, J. G. Miller, Charles Reynolds, Thomas Holtz. Winside players: Mike Waters, Jerry Hayes, H. E. Siman, Frank Tracy. From the Ponca Journal, November 17, 1881: In the matter of the State against W. H. Anshlino on the charge of murder in the second degree, for the killing of L. S. Bishop, the case was brought before Justice Hewitt on Friday last, Judge Griffey appearing as attorney for the State and Counselors Gant & Norris as attorneys for the defendant. Examination was waived by the defendant and by stipulation of the attorneys on both sides the amount of bail was fixed at $7,000, and the defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff until such bail was obtained. While Mrs. John Lawrence is away, John is running a little bachelor's hall on his own hook. He succeeded swimmingly in the good work until Monday evening, when he came near realizing that fire is apt to gobble a man's possessions in this world as well as in the next. He kindled a fire in his stove and then went down town, returning in about an hour. When he opened the door of his mansion a sight met his gaze altogether different from what he had expected. He had anticipated finding a cozy room with a warm fire, and naught to make unpleasant. But he didn't find things just that way. When he opened the door volumes of smoke poured out upon him, and through the murky atmosphere he could see the flames twisting and whirling around his stove, appearing not unlike the forked flames to which no reference is made in the New Version. John is one of those men who move quick at times, and this was one of his times. And in about five minutes he had flooded the apartment with water, quenched the flames, and was master of the situation. An examination showed that no great damage had been done, the carpet suffering most, in which the fire originated, probably, by a spark from the stove. John congratulates himself that he went home just in the nick of time. From the Ponca Journal, November 24, 1878: Guy R. Wilbur, who has been studying law in Mr. Barnes' office, was examined in his studies by a committee of lawyers appointed by Judge Valentine on Monday, and such examination proving highly creditable to Mr. Wilbur, he was duly admitted to practice as attorney and counselor at law in all the courts of this state. We wish him good luck, a plenty of clients and any quantity of the phattest of phages. In the seventies Colonel C. D. Martin or Father Martin as he was familiarly known, a man of odd figure and serious turn of mind, ran a newspaper, the Argus, at Dakota City. He started a continued story called "The Conflict: Love or Money." He was the author of it, writing it from week to week. He drew it out, for several years, and in fact, never wrote a concluding chapter. The characters in the "Conflict" were intemperate, and the colonel portrayed their madman careers in the most serious and deprecatory fashion. The Ponca Journal whose sense of humor contrasted strongly with the gravity of the Argus, gave zest to "The Conflict" by frequently offering suggestions. Occasionally the Journal, to the amazement and chagrin of Father Martin, would wind up his story. The characters being addicted to strong drink, the Journal decided on one occasion to use their drunkenness as a means of disposing of them, and did so in a ludicrous manner in its issue of November 24, 1878. The Herald has changed the names. Here is the Journal's conclusion: "It is rumored that Father Martin is at work on the last chapter of "The Conflict: Love or Money." In it Jane dies in the most horrible agonies of jim-jams, screaming with her last breath for one more snort of Pfau's schnapps. Hannah in going down cellar with a lighted candle, after some liquor for Jane, incautiously approached the flame too close to her mouth, and in an instant the alcoholic fumes ignited and spontaneous combustion took place, and she was blown higher than the price of butter, rending the rooflike cannon-shot and falling in a field of sod corn, some seven miles away. Her passage through the air was marked by a track of flame which remains to this day. John followed on her track, guided by the strong smell, and coming suddenly upon her charred remains, he was so overcome that he drew a quart bottle from his breeches-pocket and deliberately shot himself twice, in the neck and stomach, and fell dead beside her. John's uncle and aunt both died in a fit of drunkenness caused by this unhappy circumstance, while Jane's aunt, being a little hozy one night, made a misstep and fell into the family swill barrel, where she was drowned, being found the next morning with her heels sticking out, a smile on her face, and stone dead.

Travel on the railroad through Wayne has been increasing the last few years according to the increased accommodations in the way of coaches. About a year ago the third coach was added permanently to passenger trains. Most of the time since then four coaches have been in use. Passenger traffic has evidently been growing, and Wayne has contributed its full share.

An advertisement elsewhere in this paper announces the coming of Carter's Virginia Warblers under local management. They will appear here next Tuesday evening, and as singers, whistlers and imitators they have few equals on the American stage. The public will enjoy the entertainment thoroughly, and they should be greeted by a crowded house.

L. A. Kiplinger is the name of a young lawyer who came to Wayne some weeks ago from Lincoln with his parents, and who expects to open an office for the practice of his profession in the near future. On account of the illness of his father who has required all of his attention, he has up to this time been unable to devote himself to business. Mr. Kiplinger is well schooled in law and makes a most favorable appearance. The family looked over the state thoroughly for a location before coming to Wayne, and decided that this was the most attractive and promising place on the map.

WAYNE DEPOT CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

LEAVE QUESTION INVOLVED To Determine the Jurisdiction of Federal Court, Attorneys Asked to File Briefs.

Attorney Fred S. Berry arrived home the first of the week from Lincoln where he appeared with Assistant Attorney General Edgerton to resist the attempt of the railway company to have the Wayne depot case tried in the federal court. After listening to arguments Saturday afternoon, Judge T. C. Munger concluded that the question was so perplexing and of such importance that it was advisable to call in another judge to sit with him in hearing the motion. He requested the attorneys on both sides to file written briefs and then re-argue orally before the two judges.

Decision in this case will determine the future course of procedure in all cases of a similar nature appearing before the railway commission. The point now involved seems never to have been determined by the courts.

Sunday's World-Herald gives this account of the action under a Lincoln date line: Assistant Attorney General Edgerton Friday appeared before Judge T. C. Munger of the federal district court to argue for the remanding of the Wayne station case to the supreme court. The railway commission ordered the Omaha road to submit adequate plans for a new station at Wayne. The railroad appealed to the state supreme court and then removed the case to the federal court. Herman Aye has had charge of the railroad's side of the litigation.

The case is one of major importance. The last legislature passed an act making appeals from commission orders go direct to the supreme court. If these cases can be removed to federal court as soon as filed in supreme court, the state has gained nothing in its attempt to avoid delay in litigation of this nature.

On the motion to remand it was contended that the subject matter of the controversy, being an order of the railway commission directing the submission of plans for a new passenger station at Wayne, was not a suit of a civil nature involving the sum or value of more than $2,000. It was also contended that the controversy was one of which the federal court did not have original jurisdiction, and that by appealing to the supreme court from the state the railway company had waived its right of removal.

The order of the commission, which was appealed to the supreme court and removed to the federal court, provided for the erection of a station at Wayne, and, incidentally, the submission of plans. Upon the approval of these plans the commission was to make a further order as to the construction of the station. This involved no money judgment, but simply an administrative order involving the police power of the state. It was an order that provided for the welfare and convenience of the people at Wayne and could not be given a money value.

Similar Case.

In a similar case, that of the construction of a station at University Place, the supreme court of Nebraska held that it had only power to decide whether or not the order of the railway commission was unreasonable. The federal removal act authorizes the removal of suits of a civil nature, involving the value of $2,000 or more where the parties are residents of different states. It has been held that a proceeding before a board of railway commissioners was not such a suit of civil nature as would permit of removal to the federal court. In several cases where railway commissions have brought actions to compel obedience to their orders the federal courts have refused to assume jurisdiction, declaring that the subject matter was a question of state regulation.

The Nebraska statutes provide that the commission may go into the district court and secure a writ of mandamus compelling obedience to its orders. This can be done even though an appeal is taken to the supreme court, and can likewise be done even though the federal court retains jurisdiction of this case. That being true, then it is possible for the state district court to compel, by mandatory writ, obedience to the order of the commission while the question of its being reasonable or unreasonable is being tried out in the federal court.

Federal Removal Act.

The federal removal act provides that the removing party must file his petition for removal before the defendant is required by the laws of the state or rules of the state court in which the suit is brought, to answer or plead. It was contended, on motion to remand, that this petition for removal could only be filed with the supreme court of the state during the three months granted the railroad company to appeal from the order of the railway commission. This was not done. The commission's order is dated April 25; the appeal was filed in the supreme court of the state July 22, and the petition for removal was not filed until September 15. It was, therefore, argued that the railway company, in delaying its petition for removal so long, had waived its right of removal to the federal court.

The legislature of Nebraska has to all purposes and intents, made the railway commission a court of record. In trying such cases as this it has provided for a hearing at which both parties shall be represented, and that the evidence taken therein shall upon appeal be the bill of exceptions in the supreme court. It might be said that in cases of this sort the legislature had given the commission the same jurisdiction as that of the district court. It was argued, therefore, that the trial having taken place in regular form before the commission and the judgment having been rendered by that body it was too late to remove the case after its appeal to the supreme court of the state.

The Nebraska statute provides that the evidence taken before the commission shall be the record filed in the supreme court, upon which final decision shall be had. If seems necessary, therefore, that the entire record should have been certified to the federal court. This has not been done, only the transcript of the pleadings having been sent to the federal court. It was argued, therefore, that the federal court was not in position to decide the case, even though it should retain jurisdiction, as it would have none of the evidence before it on which to decide whether or not the order of the commission was reasonable.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

St. Mary's Catholic Church.
(Rev. William Kearns, Priest.)
There will be mass at Carroll at 9 a. m., and in Wayne at 11 a. m. Sunday school at 3:30 and benediction at 7:30 p. m.
German Evangelical Lutheran Church.
(Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor.)

There will be no services next Sunday morning on account of the pastor conducting services at Winside. Sunday school will take place at the usual hour.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church.
(Rev. C. J. Ringer, Pastor.)
Next Sunday morning regular services will be held at 11 o'clock when the Holy communion will be administered, and also an offering will be taken for missions. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Catechetical instruction on Saturday at 2 p. m.

First Baptist Church.
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.)
Next Sunday morning preaching and worship at 10:45. This will be a communion service and the subject of the sermon will be: "I am the Good Shepherd." This service is especially helpful to our members.

Miss Charlotte Larison is the leader of the young people's meeting Sunday evening. At 7:30 p. m. the pastor will preach. The subject of the evening sermon will be: "Coming to One's Self." On last Sunday evening at the young people's meeting, Mrs. Eli Laughlin presented a striking missionary program, using the following characters. Those representing foreign nations were dressed in native costumes: A Dreamer, Miss Etta Conover; Conscience, Miss Laura Conover; Burma, Miss Iva Sala; Karan, Maude Harmon; Africa, Miss Nellie Souters; Chinese, Josie Wade; India, Myrtle Kopp; Hindu Widow, Mildred Page; Child Widow, Zora Laughlin; Japan, Miss Ruby Hughes.

The Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Mr. O. A. King, did their first public act of chivalry last Saturday night by giving a delightful party in behalf of Mrs. Coleman's class of girls. About fifty sat down to a table such as only Boy Scouts could prepare. We expect great things from these boys.

Presbyterian Church.

(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.)
The subject of the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning will be "Banishing Anxiety." In the evening a special memorial service in honor of the great German reformer, Martin Luther, will be held, and the pastor will give a sermon-lecture on "Martin Luther, His Life and Times." As November 10 is the anniversary of the birth of Germany's greatest hero, the service will be part of a world-wide interest in him at this time. If possible, the pastors of the German Lutheran and English Lutheran churches will be present for this Luther service.

On Wednesday evening, November 8, the interests of the Sunday school will be considered at the mid-week meeting at the Presbyterian church, including a discussion as to the best hour for the Sunday school during the winter months.

Mr. David Moler, the genial custodian of the Presbyterian church, who is always looking out for the comfort of the attendants at the services, was instrumental in procuring a handsome curtain for the staircase to the gallery.

Methodist Church.

(Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.)
Two hundred and fifty-two attended Sunday school last Sunday of whom thirty-one were men in the Brotherhood class.
The W. H. M. S. meets with Mrs. Rennick at 2:30 p. m. Friday.
The concert on Tuesday evening was attended by no less than 325 people. Ole Theobald and Madam North with Helen Keller as piano accompanist gave a great feast in instrumental and vocal music.

The pastor will preach morning and evening next Sunday using the topics "Soul Rest on Earth" and "Mortify and Live."

If one's name is on the church records after a profession of faith and if he expects finally through Christ, to reach the abode of his followers, is not weekly attendance at the services of the Lord's house the very least one could be expected to do? Allowing of course that age, health and other circumstances will permit? As a church member and a Christian what is my measure by this standard? Can I improve it any?

A Household Medicine.

That stops coughs quickly and cures colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. Anna Felzer, 2526 Jefferson street, South Omaha, Neb., says: "I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a sure cure for coughs and colds. It cured my daughter of a bad cold and my neighbor, Mrs. Benson cured herself and her whole family with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Everyone in our neighborhood speaks highly of it." Felber's Pharmacy.

PRAISES JUDGE WELCH.

The Bloomfield Monitor makes the following complimentary reference to Judge A. A. Welch at the conclusion of an editorial treating the judgeship in this district:

"Never in the history of the judiciary of the Ninth judicial district has there been on the bench a more just, fair and impartial judge than is Judge Welch. His rulings and decisions are all marked with candor and deliberate judgment. During all the many years of his life as a lawyer and judge, Judge Welch has been a digger after legal knowledge and has thereby become familiar with the law and conversant with its many technicalities; and with all this he possesses a judicial mind which peculiarly fits him for the office of judge and elevates him to a plane above the petty bickerings of party bias, political influence or personal favoritism in all his decisions.

Coughing at Night.

Means loss of sleep which is bad for everyone. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound stops the cough at once, relieves the tickling and dryness in the throat and heals the inflamed membranes; prevents a cold developing into bronchitis or pneumonia. Keep always in the house. Refuse substitutes. Felber's Pharmacy.

When Sleeping.

It is well to sleep from infancy with the head uncovered, as the hair thus retains its beauty longer. On retiring the hair should be raised high above the ears, without pulling, plaited loosely in a single braid and tied with a silk or cotton ribbon. Avoid wearing starched nightcaps, as the starch is injurious to the hair. When old approaches it may be well to wear nightcaps.

Brush the hair well, using a soft brush, on going to bed and in the morning. The best brushes are made with short bristles. If the hair is combed from the roots downward without being divided in several parts, much harm may be done to it. The hairs would certainly be broken or become uneven and could never be made to look cared for. It is an excellent thing to smooth the hair with the hands.

Group is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold by all dealers.

There are funerals which seem rather cheerful compared with a poor old man who has lost his job.

County Ticket That Deserves Your Support.

People are justly proud of the county ticket named by the republican party this year. Each is peculiarly well fitted for the office sought, and each is deserving of hearty and united support at the polls November 7. The ticket recognizes other parts of the county than Wayne, whereas the opposition ticket is made up entirely of Wayne men. Geographical distribution is important because it is fair, and this ticket is fortunate in that respect. The democratic ticket ignores territory outside of Wayne, and is indifferent to such territory, though making an effort to get its votes.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER.

Lambert W. Eoe, candidate for county treasurer, was born in Huntington county, Pa., October 13, 1864, and came to Wayne county in 1886. During most of his business career in Wayne he was identified with the successful meat business of Roe & Fortner. His marked success has been due to hard work and strict business methods. He has been a taxpayer of this county for twenty-five years, and has been a liberal supporter of public enterprises. He served eight years as city treasurer, and later four years as councilman. He has never before sought a county office, and his friends feel he is now fully warranted in asking for one. If elected, he will do his duty as treasurer, as he has done it as a private citizen, and will make a first-class official in all respects.

FOR SHERIFF.

George T. Porter, candidate for sheriff of Wayne county, was born in New York September 29, 1856, and moved to Wayne county in March, 1884. He has been farming for thirty-six years. He served as precinct assessor for three years, but has never held a county office. Those who know him best fully appreciate his superior fitness for the position of sheriff. He will certainly make an excellent officer, and his neighbors who hold him in high esteem, have reason to look to the rest of the county for help in electing him.

FOR SUPERINTENDENT.

Mrs. Elsie Littell, candidate for a second term for county superintendent of schools, is a graduate of the Wayne high school in its class of 1901, and a graduate of the Scientific course of the Wayne Normal in 1903. She served two years as teacher in the rural schools of Wayne county, two years in the grades at Winside and Wayne, one year assistant principal of the Winside high school, one year principal of the Wayne high school, and two years county superintendent of Wayne county. Her thorough training and acquaintance with all branches of school work in Wayne county, fit her eminently for the office which she holds. The condition of the schools of the county is a strong testimonial of duty well performed.

FOR COUNTY CLERK.

Frank S. Benser, candidate for county clerk, was born at Allegheny, Pa., in 1869. In March, 1886, the family moved to Wayne county, where Mr. Benser, then in his teens, worked on a farm and attended school. From 1889 until 1901 he was engaged in business at Winside. In 1901 he moved to Hoskins and started a general store which he sold last spring. Seven years ago he suffered the loss of one leg which has caused him serious inconvenience in doing work requiring him to stand or walk all day. He is thoroughly fitted for the clerkship, and deserves the support of the people of Wayne county. When he was defeated for clerk six years ago, his opponent had served but one term and was naturally re-elected. Now that such opponent is asking for a fifth term, Mr. Benser has good reason to believe voters will reverse their judgment of six years ago, and give him the office.

FOR COMMISSIONER.

Eph Anderson, candidate for re-election as commissioner of Wayne county, was born in Sweden, April 2, 1858. He came to America in May, 1866, and removed to Wayne county in April, 1883. Since then he has lived on a farm in this county. He is serving his first term as county commissioner, and his good record as such official certainly entitles him to re-election. He has been faithful to the interests of the county in performing his duties, and those familiar with his attentive and conscientious efforts in looking after public affairs are his strongest supporters. His record should be endorsed by a big majority on November 7.

CLERK OF COURT.

Forrest L. Hughes who is running on the republican ticket for clerk of the district court without opposition, was born near Red Oak, Ia., March 1, 1889, and came with his parents to Wayne county in 1896, the family locating on a farm. In 1907, he spent eight months in the employ of a store at Home City, Kansas. When Charles S. Beebe took his office as county treasurer in January, 1908, Mr. Hughes was appointed deputy, assisting in that office during the two terms. The county board appointed him clerk of the district court on the resignation of B. F. Feather, and he promises to make a capable official.

JUDGE WELCH IS ENDORSED

Creighton News: The following very complimentary article on Judge Welch appeared in the Nebraska Liberal, a democratic paper, in its issue of June 7, 1907. Read it:

"All over the United States is a moving spirit asking that the judicial department of our national government, be divorced as far as possible from politics. There is no more healthy sign of progress visible.

"Taking this for a theme, why would it not be a good stroke of enterprise if nothing else, to give the present appointment of Governor Sheldon for this judicial district, Judge A. A. Welch, a non-partisan or better and more within the requirements of the primary law, a nomination by both parties?

"Judge Welch has made an impression on visitors to his court irrespective of the way suits have terminated which is complimentary indeed.

"Of a democratic temperament which is easy of approach yet there is a certain reserve that is very becoming to a man holding the scales of justice.

"The fact that this is a strong republican district and that Judge Welch could be elected anyway may detract in a measure from the force of a non-partisan tender of this kind, but it should be considered that the salary of twenty-five hundred dollars is a very serious obstacle in getting first-class attorneys to aspire to the bench.

"If a candidate has to make a canvass over those five counties it eats quite a hole in one's salary.

"In making a suggestion of this nature we are not speaking for any one but this paper but we would like to see an agitation started for a judiciary independent of politics and it has appealed to us that there was a good place for a start. The equity courts of this state and nation are going to have a great deal more work in the next twenty years than ever before. The commercial movement must be headed off by a strong hand of the law or if tactics are permitted such as have been the rule for the last ten years this generation will live to see themselves headed for conditions very much alike unto the French commune.

"Only of a slight acquaintance and without any direct experience, yet somehow Judge Welch has impressed us as a man whom spontaneous and irresponsible public opinion; the glitter of the eloquent counsel; or the sympathies of parties cannot move from a clear and cold analysis of the question of right and wrong."

Another democratic paper, the Madison Star-Mail, in its issue of April 12, 1907, in "Heard and Seen in District Court," makes the following notes on Judge Welch:

"He is going to make a great judge," is the way the members of the Madison Court Bar talk of Judge Welch.

"No man can accuse Judge Welch of playing to the galleries. There is no grandstand in his makeup.

"It can be said to the credit of Judge Welch that he passes on his case while on the bench, and not at the hotels, depots, waiting rooms and in the clerk's office.

The following from the Wayne Democrat was reproduced by the Madison Star-Mail (democratic) in its issue of July 5, 1907:

"The Democrat needs only to add that Anson A. Welch will get a solid democratic vote in Wayne county. The Judge is 'democratic' in his judicial characteristics and decisions on the bench and will be elected next fall by an overwhelming majority."

In its same issue the Star-Mail also says:

"The Star-Mail heartily endorses the suggestion of the Tilden Citizen as do a number of Madison citizens irrespective of party, but we would like to see the manipulators of politics go a step farther and make Judge Welch the nominee of all parties for Judge of the Ninth judicial district. Judge Welch, Judge Bates and Professor Perdue are good enough for the Star-Mail."

The Star-Mail does not seem to have changed its mind as to Judge Welch. In its issue of May 26, 1911, it says:

"As a rule, when a newspaper man gets into a crowd of lawyers he can about this time of year find it very easy to obtain a little political dope, but such was not the case Monday at the court house. We tried our best but the lights were as silent as an abyss when the subject was mentioned with the possible exception of district judge and clerk of the court. Judge Welch was the prime favorite for re-election and Henry Fields was run off by himself so far as the lawyers were concerned and they made up practically the entire audience."

Perhaps winters were not far more severe than now, but the weather was very bad.

LECTURE COURSE

Wayne Again Has A Lecture Course

As Wayne had no lecture course during the winter of 1910 a few of the business men of Wayne have personally guaranteed the expense of a course for the coming winter without asking any other assistance than a liberal subscription for tickets.

The committee has secured a highly entertaining, instructive and popular course and each number will prove a genuine treat.

Opera House, Tuesday, Nov.

7, 1911, 8 p. m.

Nolan T. Washington is at the head of the famous troupe of Jubilee Warblers. As a whistler and bird imitator he is unexcelled by any one in either theatrical or vaudeville circles.

Referring to Carter's Virginia Warblers, the Omaha Bee, Omaha, Neb., says: "The entire company gave complete satisfaction and each and every member received much merited applause."

Elkton, S.D.: The Virginia Warblers have come and gone, but they left with their highly entertained audience in Elkton a lasting impression that one of the best bunches of singers and genuine plantation pleasers in sweet melodies that linger long were in Elkton that night. The good old time selections were made new and the very hearty encores were generously responded to by the company. The pianist and five singers were exceptional experts.

Election reports will be received at the opera house the evening of November 7 during intermissions of the Virginia Warblers, and also after the entertainment.

The course opens the evening of November 7, 1911 at the opera house with CARTER'S VIRGINIA WARBLERS.

This number will be followed by

We can't be entirely free from material annoyances until after we are dead, and then what?

As evidenced by his speech, Mr. Bryan has gotten entirely away from his frog silver propaganda of fifteen years ago.

President Taft has issued the usual proclamation, designating Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving day. All in this land of peace and plenty have much to be thankful for.

The attempt of Fremont boosters, among whom was Dan Stevens, to persuade the state to refuse to locate a Normal in Wayne ought to inspire Wayne and Wayne county people to vote for the other fellow—James Elliott of West Point.

One of the cardinal principles of the populist party advocated rotation in office. After a man has been clerk of court and then county clerk for four terms, isn't it time to rotate?

If voters hear of any attempts to trade in the closing days of the campaign they may safely figure that the rotund orator is trying to "hit some one" and that there is no ground for it.

Dan Stevens has been so sure of election that he didn't feel the need of campaigning at all, but just thought he would go around and let his constituents see him in advance.

There is just as good reason to give an office to a man for life as to give it to him for five terms. And if a man is to hold an office indefinitely, why suffer the expense of holding elections?

Governor Aldrich has been making some effective speeches in opposition to the plan joyfully proposed by Mr. Bryan for democracy to swallow a considerable portion of the republican party.

A local populist says his party contended for high prices in its flourishing days when it felt sufficiently in accord with Mr. Bryan to co-operate with him. Now that we have had high prices for several years and have realized what was wanted, he can't see that there is anything seriously wrong.

A widow who owns a quarter section of Wayne county land, said she had no desire to hear Mr. Bryan in his effort to spread discontent. She heard him fifteen years ago, and he turned out such a mighty poor prophet then, that she has had no desire to hear him again. When Bryan was warning the people not to elect McKinley, she sold corn at low as seven cents per bushel, and now she gets $600 a year cash rent.

The new man at the head of the Ponca Journal shows a good deal of ability and snap. He has evidently found a few well preserved factions and neighborhood rows, and sees the need of unity and industrial growth, and advises accordingly. In his editorial treatment he administers a sedative for one purpose and digitalis for another, and it is hoped the combination will be effective in making phenomenal headway.

For the first time since 1883 the post-office department shows a surplus instead of a deficit. This must be due to careful business management. It is one of the evidences of successful economy on the part of the administration. Is the Taft administration to be given some credit for changing a deficit of $17,470,770 a year ago to a surplus of $219,118 this year, or has economy in office become a trifling and unimportant consideration?

Unhindered by brass bands, without ostentation or needless fuss, the Nebraska Telephone company is spending over $20,000 for the improvement of its system in Wayne. In contrast, the city contemplates building a city hall which will cost $9,000, and the project has caused tremendous and prolonged agitation. Next Tuesday people will express a choice of proposed sites, and it is hoped soon thereafter progress will be made looking to realization of the popular wish.

Woodrow Wilson who is being talked of by the democrats for president, said in a speech in Wisconsin recently that the democrats were seeking to restore the government to the people. Would it be restored if LaFollette were elected president or would it be necessary to elect a democrat? Mr. Bryan expressed himself as well satisfied with LaFollette, and perhaps if he is nominated, Bryan and Wilson would join forces and oppose putting up a democrat against him. But they wouldn't.

Mr. Bryan urged as a reason for the election of Clarence Hanson democratic commissioner, the fact that he lives at Holdrege, giving deserved representation to territory outside of Omaha and Lincoln. He said if the republican candidate were elected, two of the commissioners would live at Lincoln and one at Omaha. It is to be regretted that Mr. Bryan did not know that an analogous condition exists in Wayne county, and where advanced voters to support the few candidates living outside of Wayne. Geographical discrimination of which Mr. Bryan complains, has been unbearably aggravated here. While all the state candidates of neither party live in Omaha and Lincoln, all the county candidates of the democratic party do actually live in Wayne. This is so much more unfair than the one state office mentioned by Mr. Bryan, that if he had known about it we are sure he would have raised a storm of protest and advised democrats to bolt their ticket and give representation to outside territory.

In a Japanese Temple.
"Asakuse Temple is dedicated to the goddess Kwannon, a tiny image of gold, about two and a half inches high," writes a traveler in Japan. "At the entrance to the temple grounds on either side of the immense gate stand two large and fearful looking figures, guarding the sacred precincts. Hanging outside the wire grating are a number of sandals for their use if they wish to take a walk, and rice is sprinkled about. Each worshiper, before entering the temple, calls at a small building, and after contributing a small amount, washes his hands and rinses his mouth.

"In front of the main shrine is a large aperture in the floor, covered with lattice work, into which the worshiper casts his gift. After clapping his hands to awaken or attract the attention of the god he kneels, but his prayer is only brief. While there is one chief shrine, there are many others under the same roof.

"One shrine especially attracted my attention; it was made of wood, and quite disfigured and worn through the constant rubbing of hands on the spot corresponding to the afflicted portions of the sufferers' bodies."

On those rare occasions when a man does two men's work, he is likely to fuss about it.

TIM SULLIVAN'S LAND TAX

Big Politician Has Scheme to Reduce Congestion in New York Tenement Districts.

Big Tim Sullivan has been looking about a bit in his Bowery kingdom, and as a consequence the brainiest man in Tammany has hammered out a land tax system, which he believes will reduce the congestion in the tenement districts, a New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star writes. "People in my district sleep three and four to the room," said he, "and many of the rooms have never had a ray of sunlight in them. They have to live that way because the rent is so high. The tenement owner who is willing to tear down his old building and put up a new one, with sunlight in every window and a bath in every flat, is afraid to do so, because he knows that his taxes would go skallyhooting up. The poor devils who rent his flats would in the end pay for that higher rate of taxation. Every eighth child born in New York dies because its mother has to go to work or starve. At the same time there are 40,000 acres of good land lying idle within the city limits.

Therefore Sullivan has a plan to cut the taxes on improved real estate, and increase the taxes on vacant property. He figures that owners would have either to build on their land—which would relieve the downtown congestion—or go to farming it, which would indirectly have the same effect. "A watch dog on a farm lives better than many of my constituents," he declares, "and yet, after an experience of a lifetime down there, I have yet to find the equal of the families on the streets, near the Bowery for industry and economy and courage. Maybe my land tax plan is Bowery political economy, as has been charged. I like it all the better for that fact. The Bowery has had to put up with Fifth avenue political economy for a good while."

Not a Cheap Building.
It has been estimated that to rebuild the pyramid of Cheops under modern conditions an expenditure of $100,000,000 would be necessary and the labor of 40,000 men for two years required.

It has been calculated that the work really required—the services of 100,000 men for thirty years.

The pyramid occupies a space of twelve and three-quarters acres, is 746 feet high and contains about 143,315,000 cubic yards of stone and granite.

The material alone represents an item of $36,000,000, while the labor would increase this amount to $72,000,000. To this must be added $3,000,000 for tools, transportation, and similar items.

The pyramid is built on a solid rock 150 feet deep, and to build a foundation of this character would add to the cost to the extent of making the total of $100,000,000.—Scientific American.

Violin Was a "Find."
Gaylord Vost, violinist, has a valuable violin which he acquired under interesting circumstances. His story of the "find" as told by himself follows:

"One day in Berlin, as I came out of one of the music stores I was stopped by a couple of gypsies. They had at least a half dozen violins caught up loosely by the necks. Some were stringless, cracked and dirty. They asked me if I wanted to buy a violin cheap and I replied that I was always looking for good violins. Meanwhile I had scanned the violins and I observed one with very artistic lines and workmanship, good varnish, but in bad repair. I asked him how much they wanted for that one and they replied 120 marks. Of course I could not try the violin in the street so I gave them my card and told them to call in the afternoon. As soon as I placed the bow on the strings I realized what it was. I finally got the violin for 79 marks. I guess it was cheap. Would I sell it? Well, hardly."

Real Enemy of Aeroplane.

One still often reads comments on the effects of musketry on aeroplanes, usually written by those who have probably never seen the effect of bullets fired from a distance. It has been truly said that to hit a "rocketing" aeroplane with a rifle shot is an extremely difficult matter, but to conclude that the aviator is therefore immune when at 1,000 feet up is absurd, says Sir Baden-Powell. It is not the danger from one marksman that has to be taken into account, but volleys from a whole battalion. If 3,000 or 4,000 shots be fired at a machine while it traverses one hundred yards, there is a good chance of its sustaining some danger so long as it is well within range. It is, however, the Maxim gun that seems likely to be the most formidable enemy of the aeroplane. All such guns must in future be mounted in such a way as to enable them to be fired nearly vertically.

Sunny Monday Laundry Soap

Sunny Monday Laundry Soap contains a marvelous dirt-starting ingredient which drives out the dirt in all but magical way—saves most of the rubbing, saves your time, saves your clothes.

Sunny Monday is a white soap made from high-grade materials—choice fats and vegetable oils. It costs more to make than ordinary yellow laundry soap, but does better work, spares your clothes, and is, therefore, the most economical in the end.

Try Sunny Monday next wash day.
Because of its purity and whiteness and because it starts the dirt so quickly, one bar of Sunny Monday Soap will go as far and do as much work as two bars of ordinary yellow laundry soap.

IS DEAN OF ALL INDIANS

Sitting Elk, Mighty Warrior Who Never Killed White Man, is Oldest Redman.

Oldest of all Indians in the United States, Sitting Elk, former chief of the Ogallala Sioux, is visiting in Denver, the guest of the white man, against whom he always refused to make war.

For almost a century he has been a leader among his people, but wiser than other chiefs, he early realized that the red man was doomed and at every opportunity he counseled peace with the palefaces.

He could well afford to do so, for his people knew he was no coward. "I have never killed a white man," he proudly boasts, "but I have fought many battles, and I have done many brave deeds in my long life of ninety-six years. I was but seventeen when I waylaid and killed my first enemy. That was a very brave deed. Since then I have killed many, many enemies."

Sitting Elk is a total abstainer. He smokes cigarettes, but insists he has none of the other bad habits of the white man. He is childless, the last of his line, but he expects to live for many years more—to be hale and hearty long after he has passed the century mark.

Sitting Elk moves tall and stately among his kinsmen, and puffs his pipe with a complacency untroubled by thoughts of any immediate journey to the happy hunting grounds.

Bright of eye, keen of mind, the old warrior dons paint and feathers for his appearance with the younger members of his tribe in the headlong dashes across the amphitheater at the stock yards, and rides with an abandon which defies the spectator to single him from the reckless redskins who have but one-fourth his years to their credit.

How to Use a Life Preserver.

"The worst trouble about a life preserver," said an old sailor, "is that few people know what to do with one when it's thrown to them. Many a man would drown in trying to get a life preserver over his head."

"The average person struggling about in the water would try to lift up the big life ring and put it over his head. That only causes the man to sink deeper and take more water into his lungs."

"The proper way to approach a life preserver in the water is to take hold of the side nearest you and press upon it with all your weight. That causes the other side to fly up in the air and down over your head, 'ringing' you as neatly as a man ringing a cane at a county fair. After that the drowning man can be rescued."—From the American Boy.

Durability of Steel.

It has been shown that nearly all the failures of steel occur very early in its history. If a plate or bar of mild steel lasts for a year in service, it may be trusted to last for many years. The most injurious thing is continued bending backward and forward, as in what is called the "panting" of a boiler end. As one authority puts it, steel has a somewhat "tumultuous youth," but "in middle age it is trustworthy, and in old age beyond reproach." In regard to corrosion there is a difference of opinion, some holding that steel corrodes more readily than iron.—Harper's Weekly.

JUDGE A. A. WELCH Republican Candidate for District Judge

POLITICAL ADVERTISING. Vote for C. A. Berry for sheriff, a man that is capable of conducting the office in a satisfactory manner. For 22 years C. A. Berry has been a Wayne county booster. "George Sand." It was from Leonard Jules Sandeau, the celebrated French novelist and dramatist, born at Aubusson a century ago, that another and far greater writer derived her nom de guerre. When a young student in Paris Sandeau made the acquaintance of Mme. Dudevant, and during a short-lived friendship they collaborated in a novel, "Rose et Blanche," which was published in 1831. Then they parted, but Mme. Dudevant, while relinquishing Sandeau's friendship, took to herself a portion of his name and elected to be known henceforth as George Sand. Gathering Fruit. When gathering fruit, peaches or pears, a clever woman invented a simple device that insured the plucking of fruit without danger of bruising it. The top was taken off a tin tomato can and the can attached to the end of a broomhandle, so that it formed a cuplike arrangement. The can is put up underneath the fruit and a slight shake given to detach it from the tree, letting it fall into the can, which is lowered and emptied quickly. Put a can on the end of a clothes prop if the fruit hangs high.

Ford Model T for 1912

Is the same high-priced quality car as it was in 1911; the same scientifically accurate and simple design; the same heat-treated Vanadium steel construction. There have been no mistakes to correct--no experiments to try out--but conveniences have been added and a marked reduction in price made possible through larger production and larger factory facilities.

Rev. Alexander Corkey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, is scheduled for a lecture at Wausa tonight on "The Truth About Ireland."

Randolph Times: L. M. Taylor this fall built a silo, using the method employed by some of the farmers about Carroll. Two-by-fours set upright are used and are fastened together by the use of spikes countersunk in the wood, the whole then further bound and made solid by the use of steel bands and bolts. This new silo is filled and located conveniently to the barn, and if we mistake not, will prove of considerable value in furnishing feed the coming winter.

Wisner Chronicle: H. R. Gner has sold his farm of 120 acres northeast of town to his neighbor, Peter Hansen, for $150 per acre. Mr. Gner received as part of the consideration Mr. Hansen's city property, the former N. C. Sears residence.

Randolph Times: Corn picking is on now and the farmers are busy as they can be in the fields. The yield in many cases is some better than it was at first thought. Several farmers were told us that their fields are yielding around forty bushels to the acre, some will go a little better and others not reach this figure. New corn is now quoted on the market at some eighteen cents or more below the price of old corn.

Pierce Leader: E. B. Fanske who has charge of the jewelry department at the Pharmacy, spent Sunday with his brother, L. A., in Wayne. In talking with some of Wayne's business men, Ed. was told that the Wayne baseball club came out $700 in the hole this year. This has not discouraged them, however, and thirty of the business men will form a stock company and run the ball team. There is a live bunch at Wayne and they believe that a good ball team is one of the best ways of advertising the town.

The Index reports that the Ladies' Aid society of Carroll has decided to raise money by husking corn for farmers in the neighborhood. The ladies husked 110 bushels for Charles Nairn at their meeting recently and were paid four and one-half cents per bushel.

Dakota City Eagle: The Dixon State bank of Dixon, was purchased the past week by M. O. Ayers of this place, which adds another to the string of banking houses Mr. Ayers has purchased the past year. W. L. Ross, owner of the Dakota City pharmacy, and also county clerk of this county, will go in as manager of Mr. Ayers' latest acquisition upon the expiration of his term of office January next. The town of Dixon can congratulate itself over securing both Mr. Ayers as the head of its banking institution and also in Mr. Ross as manager, as the latter is one of our best citizens and successful business men.

The South Sioux City Record mentions Frank Kruger, formerly of Wayne, in connection with a new brewery enterprise as follows: "Frank Kruger, president of the Kruger wholesale liquor house of this city, on Monday purchased the old Lamb manufacturing plant, commonly known as the foundry from Emmet Gribble of Salem, and Mrs. C. B. Miller of this place, and others and was put through by C. D. Smiley. The consideration was $3,000 and eleven lots comprise the real estate. The building has been occupied for several years past by the Frank French sauerkraut plant. The statement is given out that a brewery will be built on the site, the cost of which is estimated at about $60,000. The present building will be used for the bottling works if possible. Mr. Kruger is an experienced man in the brewery business, having been connected with the Interstate brewery in Sioux City and, also interested in one at Huron. The Poet Philosopher

Why was Mona Lisa smiling in a manner so beguiling? Folks have wondered what amused her for four hundred years or so. What was going on so funny that she sprung a smile so sunny? What occurred so laugh provoking in those days of long ago? Were the merchants advertising bargain carnivals, surprising, was she dreaming of a bouquet that would break the neighbors' hearts? Was she planning brave excursions in the stores, and such diversions, plundering the remnant counters in the city's busy marts? Oh, that smile! We can't discover what it was that made it hover on the face of the lamented in the voiceless vanished years; anyhow, that smile is famous and the sages cannot blame us that we're all in love with Mona, who preferred a smile to tears. Is there in the realm of painting any picture of a fainting, mournful, melancholy maiden who's been loved as much as she? This a smile goes down the ages, lightening life's dreary stages, bringing gladness to our voyage, like a sunbeam on the sea.

My luck's been pretty dizzy for sundry weeks this fall, but when I get real busy I soon forget it all. My cabin roof is leaking and

THE BEST REMEDY rotten are the eaves; my windmill's always squeaking, my horse has got the heaves. My aunt, with fourteen babies, has come to stay a year; my dog has got the rabies, the cat is acting queer. Some tears I might be jerking, I might rear up and bawl, but I get busy working and soon forget it all. Upon my toes an axil fell down and drew the blood, and folks from here to Danville might hear the sickening thud; I fell into the cellar while walking in the dark, and from my sacred smeller knocked nearly all the bark; a darned needle pricked me when I sat down to read; my cow she up and kicked me and made my features bleed. I've had enough of anguish to fill three hemispheres, but do I moan and languish and sprinkle things with tears? Ah, no, inquiring neighbor! Such conduct soon would pall! I buckle down to labor and soon forget it all.

When I'm inclined to weep and wail because my luck seems kind of stale, I always think of William Wax, who lives down by the rail-

HARD LUCK way tracks. He lost both legs some years ago by being frozen in the snow, but no one ever heard him whine or curse his fortune or repine. With cheery smiles he went his way, upon his crutches, day by day. And later, when he lost both arms, his brave heart scorned all coward alarms; we bore him from the sawmill door, all stained and splattered with his gore, and still he cried: "Ling-a-ling! I cannot dance, but I can sing!" He kept on singing in his shack, and then one day he broke his back. We put him in a plaster cast, and thought he'd surely wilt at last, but still he cried, in tones of joy: "I am your little sunshine boy!" And later on this human wreck fell from his house and broke his neck; and then a gun blew off his head, and still he wore a smile and said: "Such trifles do not worry me, and I am always full of glee!" So when grim woe, my bosom racks, I always think of William Wax, to whom no ill could sorrow bring, and then I dance and whoop and sing.

"I have a kick coming," the chronic grouch said; then brick bats were humming around his sore head. The pushers and boosters

IN BOOSTERVILLE were tired of his game, and all those blithe roosters jumped onto his frame. They rolled him and chucked him until full of ache; and then at last burned him alive at the stake. "Perhaps they were hasty—some critics may say their course wasn't tasty or quite refreshary. But what makes men sicker, when starting a boom, than seeing some kicker come reeking with gloom, to file his objections and utter his roar, and spring recollections of booms gone before? And what can be rougher on temper and soul, than hearing some duffer who worships his roll, object to all measures, to croakings give vent, and balk at all pleasures that cost him a cent? To you who are spurning the Boosterville sports, because of their burning a grouch, one retorts: Some method of slaughter is needed for jings who're throwing cold water on things all their days.

The idle rich are trifling folk whose only end and aim is just to make this life a joke, and play it as they go; they bore themselves the long year through with idle rich pleasures stale and coarse, and when there's nothing else to do they seek for a divorce. I can't admire those sporty guys who laugh at love and law, and try to show that marriage ties are fetters made of straw. To swap their wives they go to court and keep their lawyers hoarding; there's something wrong with jays whose rich is justiling for divorce. The idle rich who never earned a dollar of their pile aren't worth the gasoline they've burned in scorching half a mile. Some fresh sensation still they seek, at ring or racing course, and go to court three times a week to ask for a divorce. One honest working man who comes with shovel in his hand, outvalues all the gilded bums in this wealth-rotten land. The man who has his work to do remains a moral force, and ought to shame the idle crew whose pastime is divorce.

When the bill collector calls on you in your marble halls, tell her that you're glad to see her, that you like to pay your bills; hand her

THE BILL out the shining seals COLLECTOR like the prince of genial lads and you'll fill her gentle bosom with the sweetest kind of thrills. You may be a man of weight, you may be of high estate, you may have a thousand virtues of the most engaging sort, but you'll win an ugly fame, if you play the grouch's game, if you greet the bill collector with an angry roar and snort. Wickedness my bosom fills, but I always pay my bills, and the girl collectors boast me till I have a fair renown; I am mean as all get out, but the blessed damsel's shout forth my praises with such vigor that they echo through the town. If you want to pile up fame, if you want to win a name as the most un-gellic creature known outside the jasper walks, just dig up a dazzling smile and disburse your little pile with a brave and buoyant manner when the bill collector calls.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT.
Wayne, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands. Here is Wayne evidence to prove it:

W. H. Hoguewood of Wayne, Neb., says: "About a year ago my back was so painful and lame that I could scarcely get up after sitting. Other symptoms of kidney trouble left no doubt as to what sort of treatment was needed. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in our home for a similar complaint and had given such great benefit that I finally decided to try them. I was not disappointed with the results. I found relief almost immediately and in a short time was cured. I have since been free from kidney complaint and in return for this permanent cure, I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I have the opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child for they are mild and gentle in their effect and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by all dealers.

Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duehren, mail carrier at Atchison, Kas., says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. Whenever I carried a heavy load of mail my kidney trouble increased. Some time ago I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." Felber's Pharmacy.

Worked Two Ways.
He had sung several times during the evening, and his friends had murmured words of praise, then escaped as quickly as possible. But as he was going homeward he managed to catch one of these self-same friends, and he insisted on a truthful opinion. "You see," he explained, "I don't quite know how to take Miss Outson's comment on my performances tonight."
"No, really? Why—what did she say?" asked the friend helpfully.
"Well, she said she'd heard Caruso several times and thought his voice was excellent, but she was quite certain that mine was better still."—New York Mail.

TWO MULES WITH HISTORY
The Only Hybrids in the Geographical Service Are Sent to Kauai.

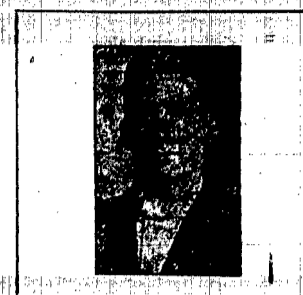

Two mules with a history were shipped down to W. B. Hardy on the island of Kauai recently. He is carrying on the work of the geographical and water research branch of the department there, and it was found that animal transportation was the only way to meet the difficulties.

There were only two mules in that branch of the service and they were over in California. Likewise Hardy was the man who worked them over there when he was on the mainland. Now he and his friends will be reunited on Kauai.

The work of the department on that island is arduous owing to the fact that where the water runs are not always roads. Accordingly, some means have to be found by which the investigator could get about. He has a saddle and pack and can ride the mules as far as he can get them over the tracks, and then do the rest of the work on foot. The work necessitates constant traveling of a rough sort.—Honolulu Bulletin.

STATE NORMAL NEWS

The next meeting of the Board of Education will be held in Omaha on November 9.

The game of football last Saturday afternoon between the Normal and the high school resulted in a score of 0 to 8 in favor of the high school.

Mary J. Fenske, a graduate of the professional course of the Nebraska Normal college is a candidate for county superintendent of Sioux County.

Miss Viola Marshall, travelling secretary of the Y. W. C. A., spent Wednesday and Thursday at the Normal School. Miss Marshall addressed the students at convocation Thursday morning.

The return game of football with the Madison high school will be played at the fair grounds in Wayne at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. This promises to be the best game of the season, at which time Madison will try to reverse the result of three weeks ago. Admission 25 cents. Do not miss it.

The brief address given by William Jennings Bryan at the chapel last Friday afternoon was listened to with great interest by students and members of the faculty. Mr. Bryan's message consisted of a few suggestions that he considers important for those who wish to become proficient in public speaking.

The monthly report of Miss Storking shows fourteen pupils enrolled in the primary department of the school. There were ten absentees and only one case of tardiness during the month. Those neither absent nor tardy were Lawrence Duerg, Ralph Hickman, Mabel Britell, Ethel Fox, Grace Elder, Lynette Rennie, Raymond Hutchings and Henrietta Hursted.

A new set of tools added to the manual training department the past week makes the school at Wayne one of the best equipped institutions in the state for work in manual training. Professor Hunter will announce soon an opening day at the shop, when the work of the department will be exhibited and friends of the school will be invited to call and see what is being done.

The management of the Normal school takes considerable pride in the fact that the young men in attendance are of the dependable kind. This has been shown on various occasions, but especially in the good judgment displayed on Halloween. One year ago there was no damage whatever to school property, and October 31 of this year has passed without any evidence of that disregard for property rights too often shown at this time.

Several clippings from New York City papers sent by Dean Hahn who is at present a student in Columbia university, give some interesting facts concerning the opening of that great educational institution. The school has just started on its 158th year; there was a lively skirmish on the opening day between Freshmen and Sophomores; the registration list shows 7,468 students in attendance, placing it at the head of all other universities in the world in point of attendance, taking the place of Berlin which stood at the head last year; forty-five Chinese students are enrolled for the year 1911-1912; more than 13,000 invitations to the Alumni Association had been sent out for a dinner in honor of the tenth anniversary of Nicholas Murray Butler's election as president.

(Following State Normal notes were crowded out last week on account of lack of space.)

Professor House talked to the students of the high school Wednesday morning.

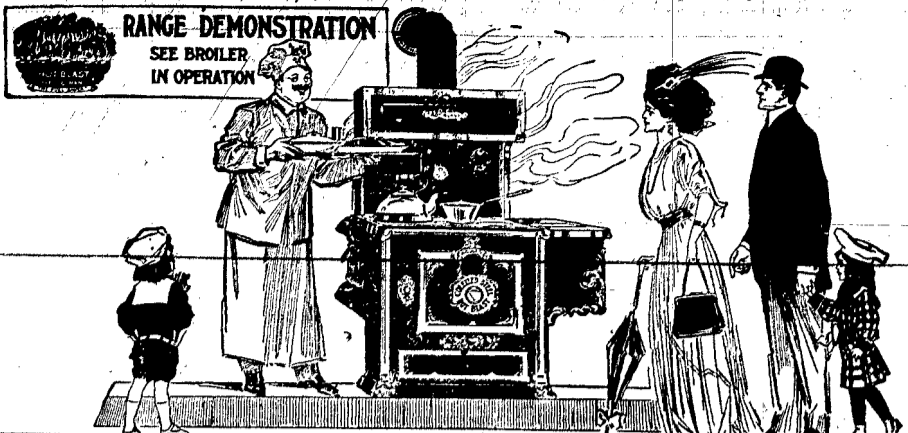

During the past week the new rapid acting vises have been placed on the benches in the manual training department.

Professor Bright will go to Neligh Saturday afternoon where he will address the Antelope county teachers' association.

In a printed program sent out by Superintendent Ammon of Rock county, we note that Professor Britell will give an address at Bassett on the afternoon and evening of October 28. In the afternoon his subject will be, "The Modern Idea of Education," and in the evening "The Value of Initiative."

At a meeting of the faculty held on Monday evening of this week it was decided that there will be no vacation in the Normal at the time of the State Teachers' association in Omaha. A number of the members of the faculty will attend, but the work of the school will be continued. The preliminary program of the association gives the names of Miss Kingsbury, Professor Hickman and Professor Hahn among those who will speak at this meeting.

By a score of 10 to 0 the Normal lost to Gates Academy last Saturday afternoon. At the first our team had the best of the game, but on defense they weakened and quick plays, smoothly worked by experienced players, netted Neligh's score. The return game will be played at Wayne on November 17 and at that time the boys expect to reverse the score. The Normal boys express their appreciation of the courtesy Volumes 1, No. 1 of the "Flame" will be mailed to subscribers about November 1. The first number is a 22-page magazine, devoted to the interests of the Wayne Normal School and managed and edited by the student body. The paper will be issued regularly the first of every month during the school year. It will contain items of interest pertaining to the various student organizations, to the alumni and to the school in general. Application will be made to have this publication admitted to the mails at second class rate. The subscription price is seventy-five cents per year, and those desiring the paper should send in their subscriptions at once. For the success of the first issue much credit is due to Ralph W. Sterling, the business manager, to Editor-in-chief Cress and his staff, to Professor House, who has given the composition of the paper his most careful attention and to the business men of Wayne whose financial assistance has made the enterprise possible.

Professor Lewis' class in civics has been studying the legislative department of our state government and at the close of the week the work of a legislative body was exemplified by organizing the members into two divisions representing both branches of the Nebraska legislature. Caucuses were held but the political wires were all laid behind closed doors through which even reporters were not permitted to enter; hence there is a great lack of authentic information as to what may take place when the session convenes tomorrow morning. It is rumored that the house is republican and the senate democratic, but even this is a matter of speculation as both sides are claiming two of the lady members. There will be several contested seats and the committee on credentials is likely to have some hard problems to solve. It has even been hinted that representatives from some of the districts will find it somewhat embarrassing to subscribe to that part of the legislative oath which says: "I have not improperly influenced in any way the vote of an elector." Every member on the ground up to the present time claims to be a "progressive," but some of them have had remarkably strong "machine" leaning in the past and their vote on important measures will be watched with much interest. Quite a large number already have in their possession copies of bills which will be introduced at the first opportunity, one of them being an act to raise the salaries of members from $5 to $10 a day. This bill will be very heartily supported by members without regard to party affiliation.

At a meeting of the boys of the Normal School last Thursday morning President Conn called attention to a law passed by the last session of the Nebraska legislature relating to the use of tobacco by boys under the age of eighteen years. This law became operative on July 10, 1911, and reads as follows: "Section 1. That hereafter it shall be unlawful in the state of Nebraska for any minor under the age of eighteen years to smoke cigarettes, cigars or use tobacco in any form whatsoever. "Section 2. Any minor under the age of eighteen years violating any of the provisions of the foregoing section, shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not exceeding $10 and stand committed until the fine and cost of prosecution are paid.

"Section 3. Provided that any minor so charged with the violation of this act may be free from prosecution when he shall have furnished evidence for the conviction of the person or persons selling or giving him the cigarettes, cigars or tobacco."

On Sunday evening, October 29, there will be a union service held in the Presbyterian church. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Brotherhoods and other men's organizations of the town and will be a layman's service. The meeting will be addressed by Professor J. T. House who will speak on the American Prison association. Professor House has made a special study of social problems and is intensely interested in prison reform. He was appointed by Governor Aldrich as a delegate to the American Prison association which met in Omaha October 14-19. He will have a great message for the people of Wayne in his address on next Sunday evening. Four phases of the work of the association will be discussed: 1. Improvement of laws in relation to public offenses and offenders. 2. The study of the causes and the prevention of crime. 3. The improvement of penal and reformatory institutions. 4. Care of discharged prisoners. Special music will be furnished by a quartette from the Baptist church and by the Normal male quartette. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this service.

Cats Drive Off Snakes. For many years I have been running a cattle station in Queensland, where snakes are tolerably numerous. At the head station we have always kept up a standing army of from 15 to 20 cats and have been practically free from the presence of snakes about the building and yards.

That this was owing to the presence of our cats I have no doubt whatever. They were always on the lookout and I have often seen members of our feline body guard growling over dead or dying snakes and have more than once witnessed savage encounters between them and their victims. On the other hand, martyrs to their duty were from time to time found dead in the morning with all the evidence of a fight and their defeat in the shape of a snakebite on their bodies.—Spectator.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET 1911 FOR JUDGES OF THE SUPREME COURT

JUDGE CHARLES B. LETTON

JUDGE WILLIAM B. ROSE

JUDGE FRANCIS G. HAMER

VOTE WITH THE PARTY OF PRINCIPLE AND PROGRESS

FOR RAILWAY COMMISSIONER

CANDIDATES CHOSEN BY DIRECT PRIMARY

FOR REGENT STATE UNIVERSITY

VICTOR G. LYFORD

THOMAS L. HALL

FRANK L. HALLER

A TICKET ENTITLED TO YOUR SUPPORT

JUDGE CHARLES B. LETTON, Supreme Judge and Republican Candidate for Re-Election.

Judge Letton is worthy of your vote. His service in the Supreme Court since 1905 has given him an experience that makes him a splendid judge. Previous to that time he was Supreme Court Commissioner. He is a hard worker and writes clearly and forcibly and is a thorough student of legal and constitutional history. His talks before the State Bar Association of which he has been president, are masterpieces, and are listened to with close attention by the members of that body. Judge Letton has lived in Nebraska forty-two years. His parents were homesteaders in Jefferson County and the future Judge, in common with other pioneer boys and men, endured all the hardships and privations of pioneer life; worked his way through school, through the State University, and after graduation from the Law School was admitted to the Bar. He has held important offices of trust and has been faithful to every promise. In 1886 he was elected the first county attorney of Jefferson County. Later he served as Judge in the First Judicial District, going from there to a position as Supreme Court Commissioner. In 1905 he was elected by a majority of over 20,000, as Judge of the Supreme Court. He has made a splendid record, one that entitles him to the support of every loyal Nebraska citizen.

JUDGE WILLIAM B. ROSE,

Member of Nebraska Supreme Court and Republican Candidate for Re-Election.

Endorse the splendid service of Judge Rose in the Supreme Court by your vote. He has merited it. Judge Rose was born and secured his early education in Pennsylvania, being admitted to practice law at Mercer, Pa. He moved to Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1888. For ten years he edited the opinions of the Supreme Court for the official reports and during that time became exceptionally familiar with the laws of Nebraska. Later he was Assistant Attorney General eight years and in that capacity took an active part in the suits which resulted in the collection of the taxes levied against railroad property under the new revenue law. He was also an attorney in the suits begun by the state to enforce the laws passed in 1907 to regulate express and railroad rates. After the constitutional amendment enlarging the Supreme Court to seven members was adopted, in 1908, Governor Sheldon selected him as one of the additional Judges. Every voter has a direct interest in preserving the high character of the Supreme Court and to those who are thoughtful and discriminating the candidacy of Judge Rose will appeal with force. Be sure to vote for him.

JUDGE FRANCIS G. HAMER,

Republican Candidate for Election to the Supreme Court.

Judge Francis G. Hamer of Kearney, was one of the Judges of the District Court from December 12, 1883, until January 6, 1892. He was first appointed by Governor Dawes and was thereafter twice elected, each time by an increased majority. Judge Hamer has a splendid record as a trial lawyer and District Judge. He has always been an earnest student of the law for the pleasure it gave him. He was born in Ohio and attended school in that state, in Indiana, and in Illinois. He was admitted to the bar at Indianapolis with the law class of which he was a member, in February 1864. He came to Nebraska forty-one years ago last December, and has devoted his entire time to a study of the law and its practice. He first settled at Lincoln, where he resided two and one-half years, at the end of which time he moved to Kearney, being the first lawyer to locate there. Those who know Judge Hamer intimately feel that he possesses every qualification for supreme Judge. He is fair-minded, impartial, and wants a square deal for all concerned. He has always taken a deep interest in his profession and has practiced in the highest courts in the United States. He is entitled to your support.

Republican Candidate for Railway Commissioner.

Thomas L. Hall is a native Nebraskan and a man worthy of the support of every true citizen of the state. He was born on a Richardson county farm in 1866. His parents were homesteaders and their son was accustomed to the privations and hardships of pioneer days. Mr. Hall's father died when he was fifteen years old, and from that time until he entered the University of Nebraska the management of the home farm devolved upon him. Following his graduation he took up the banking business, holding various positions of honor and trust. Leaving the presidency of the Verdon State bank, he studied law, graduating from the law school of the State University in 1896. He practiced at Falls City, till he bought the Hall homestead in Richardson county and engaged in farming and stock-raising. In this he was a success. Later he sold the farm and re-engaged in the law business in Lincoln. He deserves your vote, for in the office of railway commissioner he will know the needs of the farmer and banker and with his legal experience he will give the state splendid services.

VICTOR G. LYFORD

Regent of State University and Republican Candidate for Re-Election.

Victor G. Lyford is a merchant at Falls City, who has served on the Board of Regents for six years, during which time many of the most important events in the history of the university have been shaped. Those who know of the good work he has given the state are anxious to see him re-elected. He was born August 16, 1859, at Neponset, Ill., and passed most of his youth working on a farm. He graduated at the age of twenty from Hedding College, Abingdon, Ill., taking the degree of Ph. B. In turn he attended the Chicago College of Law and the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. In the spring of 1883 he settled in Lincoln, Nebraska, and engaged in the law business. He has engaged in mercantile business since 1884. Mr. Lyford has filled a number of positions of public honor and trust in the communities in which he has lived. His splendid work in building up the educational interests of the state should entitle him to your vote.

FRANK L. HALLER

Regent of State University and Republican Candidate for Re-Election.

Mr. Haller is just completing a two-year term as regent. So well has he shown himself equipped for the position that it is the unanimous desire of his colleagues and fellow citizens that he continue his services to the state. Mr. Haller is a native of the state of Iowa. He graduated from the State University of Iowa in 1883. He came to Omaha in 1884 and entered the employ of a wholesale agricultural implement house. Since that time he has risen from shipping clerk to the presidency of the Linsinger Implement company. For sixteen years he has been a member of the Public Library board of Omaha, and has kept in touch with educational affairs. He is also president of the Nebraska Public Library Commission, filling the position since 1906. Mr. Haller is of German descent and speaks the language. In addition to his university and business training, he has broadened his education by extensive travel at home and abroad. The splendid service he has given the state of Nebraska entitles him to your best support.

FRANK M. NORTHPROP WRITES FROM OREGON

Attorney Frank M. Northrop who lived for many years in Wayne, and who removed a few years ago to Eugene, Ore., writes the Herald a letter which will no doubt be interesting to his friends hereabouts. The Herald reproduces it in full as follows:
Eugene, Ore., Oct. 17, 1911.

E. W. Huse, Wayne, Neb.
Dear Sir:—Enclosed find draft for two years' subscription to Herald. As it has been more than thirty years since I began reading the Herald I am reminded of that it seems much like an old friend when it comes.

Although I shall never cease to remember Wayne with satisfaction, I am much pleased with my new home, and can say the same for all the family. I had not thought that I could go anywhere and that there would be no homesick days, but apparently that has happened here.

We like Eugene as a place of residence very much, and as going to school is the principal industry in my family, that want is very well supplied, and we think the educational facilities very good.

Is also a good business town with growing very rapidly, has now fully 11,000 population and will be soon, we think, the second city in Oregon in population, as we now think it is in point of business importance. When the railroads now assured are completed, it will be the most important railroad center outside of Portland. There will soon be two electric lines to Portland, in addition to the two steam lines we now have, another line to Klamath Falls, and one or possibly two lines to the ocean, at Coos Bay and intermediate points, and in the not far distant future there will be a line directly across the state to Ontario, that will open all of central Oregon.

As you know, it rains more here in the winter than some people like, although the old Oregonians say they like to have it rain in the winter "because it is warm." Still there is some fault to be found with the weather at some time in the year nearly everywhere, but I can say that from the standpoint of a Nebraska man, I have never seen a hot, cold or windy day in Eugene.

This is not probably what would be called in the middle west, a "good farming" region, but in its specialties, when divided into small farms and under intensive culture, it is very productive and is in a superlative sense a good fruit country. This is especially the home of the rose and cherry, and while it might well be said that it would be pretty difficult to live ON roses and cherries, yet there are many people here who are managing to live WITH the roses and cherries. There is a limited area in southern California that has a better all-the-year climate than this, but taking the whole Pacific coast together there is very little that can equal this in my judgment.

Wa of the coast region are looking for great things when the Panama canal is completed, and as it is promised that vessels will be passing through the canal in July, 1913, the "boom" may be said to be near by. Without doubt the canal will be a great factor in the development of this coast country, and produce such changes as perhaps the most far seeing can hardly now imagine.

Your old town of Klamath Falls is getting to be quite a metropolitan city and now has three daily papers (probably two too many), but still it is unquestionably a growing city.

I notice from the last Herald that Wayne is having trouble over the location of the proposed city hall. I suppose that means the west side vs. the east side of Main street, that has happened before in Wayne.

I hope to make Wayne a visit some of these days, but so far as I can now see, Eugene is likely to be our home for an indefinite period.

Very truly yours,
FRANK M. NORTHPROP.

PRESIDENT TURNER'S LECTURE

A large audience gathered at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening to hear President Turner of Hastings college give his popular lecture on Rome. The lecture was illustrated by beautiful views of the Eternal City, and the descriptions and historical allusions by the lecturer were much enjoyed by everyone. The famous forum, the ancient ruins, as well as the modern grandeur of the city which formerly ruled the world, were all thrown upon the screen, every picture being fully described by Dr. Turner. The lecture was a success financially, as well as artistically. The C. E. society realized a neat sum from the sale of tickets, and only the students of the Normal and high school, who were present in numbers, but the entire audience well repaid by the treat of the Chris Gosh who lives two and one-half miles south of town, fell from the haymow of his barn on last Thursday evening and injured himself severely. The accident has caused Mr. Gosh to suffer much, having sustained a most painful injury, but at this time he is recovering as well as it is possible for him to do.

On Friday afternoon four valuable horses belonging to Len Glaser who lives five miles south of Winside, broke out of the pasture and when last seen, Friday evening, they were going east of Winside. Mr. Glaser has kept up a steady search since that time, but could find no trace of them until Wednesday, when they were located seven miles northwest of Carroll.

The annual meeting of the Wayne County Sunday School association will be held at Winside in the M. E. church next Thursday and Friday, November 9 and 10. A splendid program which is published in full in another part of this issue of the Herald, has been arranged for this meeting. Two of the state workers will be here, besides other able speakers. Be sure and attend and by so doing encourage the good work that is being done.

The company of hunters who went out to Wood Lake last week returned Monday morning. We would not like to be held responsible for the amount of game they claim to have captured, but as they acknowledge that the game warden accompanied them part way home and took an invoice of the fruits of their labor, it would be safe to say that they had something less than 350 ducks, as there were only seven members in the party.

Death of Peter Ulrich.

Peter Ulrich, sr., one of the early pioneer settlers of Wayne county, and a highly respected citizen, died at his home four miles west and one mile south of Winside on Sunday morning, October 29, 1911, aged 81 years. His death was caused from internal injuries received while chopping down a tree. He had been enjoying the best of health and being of an ambitious disposition, he went out Friday afternoon, unknown to other members of the family, and chopped down a large tree which in falling lodged in the top of another. He could not tell exactly how he received the injury, but knew the tree in falling had struck him in some way. He was a great sufferer from the time the accident occurred until his death, and he lived only about thirty-six hours after he received the injury. The deceased was born June 5, 1830, at Bubach, Prussia, Germany. He came to America June 19, 1857, locating in Wisconsin where at Mosel, Sheboygan county, he was united in marriage to Mary E. Meyer, June 19, 1861. In the spring of 1886, he with his family came to Wayne county, Neb., where he has since that time lived continuously. Father Ulrich was converted in early manhood, joining the German Reformed church at Mosel, Wis., of which he was a most faithful and devoted member, later founding the little church south of his home. His wife, two sons and one daughter preceded him to the grave. Eight sons and one daughter survive him, and also one brother who lives in Germany. His children were all present at the funeral except one son and the daughter who live in Oregon. Mr. Ulrich was most highly esteemed personally by reason of his modest and unassuming demeanor, and too much cannot be said in favor of the life he lived, as an example for his fellow man. In the presence of a large gathering of friends, the last rites over the body were performed last Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the German Reformed church. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Emil Franz, assisted by Rev. Iffert of Yutan, Neb., formerly pastor of his church and a very close friend. He was buried beside his good wife, who preceded him to the grave only a few months, and they now rest side by side in the little churchyard south of their former home.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

IN DIXON COUNTY.

Judge F. D. Fales, republican candidate for county judge in Dixon county, was appointed to the place about a year ago to succeed Judge Brown who resigned. Judge Fales held the office for three years at a former time and his experience and legal training fit him to a high degree for the place. The important details in connection with settlement of estates have been given careful and faithful attention by him. His satisfactory conduct of the office generally will appeal to voters of Dixon county as good reason why he should be re-elected.

GRIM TRAGEDIES OF OCEAN

Many Vessels Abandoned at Sea That Are Constant Menace to Navigation.

There is a grimness about the brief news dispatch which states that the derelict destroyer Seneca, of the United States' revenue cutter service, weighed anchor and steamed out of New York harbor to search for derelicts of the seven-day storm which ended recently. Vessels that have been abandoned at sea, unless deliberately destroyed, continue to be a menace to shipping for a long period following their abandonment. For many years it was customary for sea captains on coming into port, to report such derelicts as they had observed during a voyage, and the government published charts in which the position of the reported derelicts was shown, in order that sailing masters might be on their guard against collision with them. There was at one time some talk of international co-operation in the task of clearing the sea of these floating ships, but nothing came of it, and the United States government finally took the matter up on its own account, being for a long time the only government which did so, and presumably it occupies that position to this day. The vessels designated as derelict destroyers are specially fitted out with dynamite and other means of destroying and sinking the floating menaces to navigation, and the significance of the departure of the Seneca lies in the fact that the storm of last week is supposed to have caused many wrecks off Hatteras and along the coast of the Carolinas.

Home-Baked Bread.

The typical sanitary bakery is the home kitchen. Nothing will be said here as to "rots and spots" and second-grade flour and alum-bleach or the enforced companionship of journeyman bakers and cellar rats at the corner shop.

Consider only the great brown household loaf, as Rabelais called it. Its crust has the rich hue of a country maiden's cheek. Its crumb is as creamy as her neck. Its aroma as it comes crackling from the oven, if not the veritable soul of the wheat, is at least its aura. There is a savor in home-made bread, and the meat on which our modern Caesars may grow great.

All that our race is it owes to the old kitchen. Unless the pure food law is all wrong, the red flag flies from other roofs.—New York World.

Lightning's Freak.

A somewhat remarkable thing occurred in Recr. King's county, Ireland, during a recent thunderstorm. While Miss Julia Browne was sitting near the door of her house preparing to give up some crochet work at which she had been engaged, a flash of lightning sent the needle flying across the kitchen out of her hand, while the girl herself was unharmed.
