W. F. WRIGHT'S HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

LITTLE BOY STARTS THE BLAZE

Difficulty in Using City Water on Account of Frozen Condition of Hose—Some Inconvenience

The residence of W. F. Wright, mail carrier on a rural route out of Wayne, was almost totally destroyed by fire Tuesday afternoon. The dwelling is situated in the western part of town. Mr. Wright's little 3-year-old son got some matches unobserved by older heads and set a bed on fire. When Mrs. Wright discovered the blaze, she hurried the children out of the house and tried to put out the fire by using buckets of water. She soon discovered that the flames were beyond her control, and turned in the call for help. The city hose was taken to the burning building as promptly as possible, but the apparatus was frozen and some time was required to thaw it out and put it in shape to use. The house was so badly burned that it is considered a total loss. Little of the contents were saved. Aside from a small amount of bedding and clothing from a room upstairs, everything was virtually destroyed. The house was valued at about $1,000, with insurance in the Milwaukee Mercantile for $600. I. W. Alter was the local agent. The contents were insured for $150 in a company represented by A. J. Ferguson and J. M. Cherry. The fire has left the family with little clothing, and friends have already rendered valuable assistance in that line. With the children to be provided for, aid in the matter of clothing is certainly timely and no doubt acceptable.

MEARS AND BEEBE RETIRE FROM OFFICE

Grant S. Mears retired from the sheriff's office today after serving the public satisfactorily for ten years. It is likely the people would have elected him again if he had permitted himself to be a candidate. He has made an efficient officer, and retired with an excellent record of public service to his credit. His successor, George T. Porter, is now in possession of the office, and will undoubtedly "make good."

Charles S. Beebe turned over the county treasurer's office in his successor, Lambert W. Roe, today. Mr. Beebe will assist the new treasurer for a time and later locate at Wakefield where he will be employed as cashier of a new bank. Mr. Roe will unquestionably keep the treasurer's office up to its present high standard of efficiency.

NEBRASKA IS IN THE GRIP OF A COLD WAVE

For a week Nebraska has been in the grip of a cold wave. Wayne thermometers have registered from ten to twenty degrees below zero. Some buildings were caught with water pipes insufficiently protected, and the result has been annoyance. Coal dealers have had a booming business, and stoking furnaces and stoves has been an important occupation. Uncomfortable as the cold is, it is wonderfully healthy, as the doctoring brethren will testify. The cold kills disease germs, purifies the air, stimulates arterial circulation and generally promotes the bloom of health. This happy condition contrasts sharply with the prevalence of mild elements and much sickness in southern California whither Wayne people have been journeying lately.

FORMER WAYNE GIRL MARRIED

The following from the Minneapolis Journal gives an account of the marriage of Miss Luella K. Brenner, formerly of Wayne:

"The marriage of Miss Luella K. Brenner, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Brenner, and Edward F. Bauman of Omaha, Neb., was solemnized in the presence of about forty relatives yesterday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brenner, 395 East Twenty-fifth street. Rev. Irving P. Johnson of Gethsemane church, officiated at the ceremony, speaking the service at eight o'clock.

"Miss Brenner wore a gown of white satin, made with a court train, and beautiful ornaments of pearl and orange blossoms held the garnitures of duchess lace. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley, orchids and bride's roses. There were no attendants. The decorations in the rooms were Christmas, flowers, evergreens and tall cathedral candles.

"On their return from a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Bauman will be at home in Omaha, after February 1. Mr. Bauman is well known in Omaha society, where he belongs to the Lewelling club. Miss Brenner is a graduate of Stanley Hall and she has traveled extensively in the east and in the south since finishing school."

APPLICATIONS FOR DIVORCE ARE HEARD

Two suits for divorce were tried before Judge Welch in the district court at this place last week. The one of Mrs. J. Myers vs. Charles S. Myers was heard on Friday, and the judge, after hearing the evidence, took the case under advisement. The defendant was ordered to pay into the court $25 per week to aid the support of the plaintiff and children.

On Saturday appeared the suit of William Grosse vs. Myrtle Grosse. The defendant also asked for legal separation. At this conclusion of the evidence, the judge denied each one the divorce asked for.

COURT DECIDES SUIT IN FAVOR OF CITY

INJUNCTION IS DISSOLVED

Judge Graves Finds Evidence Insufficient to Sustain Ground Offered by Plaintiff

The proceeding in the district court to make the temporary injunction against the city council, involving the building of the city hall, permanent was tried before Judge Graves at this place Tuesday, and the result was a finding for the defendant. The court held that the evidence was insufficient to sustain the allegations of the plaintiff.

The city treasurer, clerk and mayor were examined in the witness stand to ascertain the condition of the city funds. Marshal Miner and Councilman Sprague also testified. Judge Graves of Dakota City, and Attorney Fred S. Berry prosecuted the action, and Attorneys C. H. Hendrickson and A. R. Davis appeared for the city.

It is understood that the case will be appealed by the plaintiff to the supreme court. It is also understood that the council will be able to proceed with the construction of a new city hall and building the proposed hall. It is hoped so people can watch litigation with more patience if it does not interfere with acquisition of the much needed public improvement.

It is reported that the council will take decisive steps in the furtherance of the enterprise at its next meeting.

SOCIAL EVENTS

The P. D. club will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Folber.

On New Year's day Dr. and Mrs. Lulligan entertained Rev. and Mrs. William Grant.

The Shakespeare club meets next Tuesday night at the home of Miss Mary Mason.

The Monday club resumes regular meetings at the home of Mrs. A. A. Welch next week.

Twelve young folks enjoyed a sleighing party sponsored by Miss Lucille Snow last Friday evening.

Miss Jessie Wade entertained a party of fifteen friends Saturday evening. Games made the evening pass pleasantly, and light refreshments were served.

Miss Edith Clark entertained a party of fourteen young people at her home Monday evening. Dancing furnished amusement, and light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Graven entertained a party of friends at a 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday. The dinner was given in honor of Mrs. Craven's sister, Miss Ruthie of St. Peter, Minn.

Miss Mary Mott served an informal breakfast for members of the Bridge Whist club yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. After breakfast, which occupied attention and all had a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. McVicker served an excellent four-course dinner at 2 o'clock on New Year's day to the following guests: Grant S. Mears, Oliver Gamble and Herman Heaney, and families. When the dining room doors were thrown open a splendid and inviting scene greeted the guests. The room had been darkened and lighted with candles. Place cards were attached to tiny canopies with baby-sitting. The centerpiece was a small Christmas tree decorated with pink and white candles. Miss Edna McVicker and Miss Edsie Milder assisted in serving the dinner. The afternoon was spent in general sociability.

A New Year's reception was given by the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Neely Monday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. Misses Katharine Gamble and Mary Mott received the guests. A program of vocal and instrumental music enlivened the occasion. The visitors were regaled with tea, wafers and mints, and the serving was done by Misses Lucille Corley, Ruth Bressler, Reba Nangle, Irma James and Ercila Ellis. A Christmas cactus in bloom was the central decorative figure in the dining room. It was a very pleasant afternoon for all who participated.

The Minerva club met at the home of Mrs. J. T. Howe Tuesday afternoon, and considered the subject, "Transportation Facilities of the Present." Mrs. Kertner was the leader and gave a

RECEPTION AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The proposed reception in honor of Rev. J. Paul Reeves and his bride to have been held Saturday night, was postponed upon receipt of a telegram from Omaha stating that they had missed their train. It is probable to be held for the best far in addition to the ceremony.

The train was three hours late which would have made the reception impossible on Saturday evening. However, the bride and groom arrived Monday forenoon and were escorted to the church where a short program was carried out. A wedding march was played as the party entered the church and after prayer and the singing of "Home Sweet Home" an address of welcome was given by Robert Gemmel. Rev. Reeves responded with a few well chosen words of thanks, after which all present were formally introduced to the bride and groom. After another song by the choir all present partook of a beautiful dinner prepared and served by the lady members of the church.

ANNUAL MEETING OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Those present at the First Baptist Church on New Year's day will long remember the feeling of good cheer and close fellowship which existed all through the different exercises of the day. Immediately following the reception given in honor of Rev. Reeves and bride, dinner was served in the church to all present. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. After the ceremony all present partook of an appetizing dinner. The bride and groom visited a short while at the home of the groom's parents at Hadlam, Kas., and arrived in Carroll Monday.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

Rev. Shucklock of the M. E. church preached two very appropriate New Year's sermons. His subject for the morning service was, "The Need of a New View with the New Year." The subject for evening service was, "Neglected Opportunities," which he illustrated by the life of Saul, the king.

Rev. Reeves of the Baptist church, had the misfortune to miss his train in Omaha on Saturday and as a consequence there were no services excepting Sunday school and young people's meeting at the Baptist church.

LARGE ENROLLMENT AT THE STATE NORMAL

The State Normal resumed Tuesday with a total attendance of 330. Sixty-five new students enrolled the opening day. All the rooms in the dormitories are occupied and a dozen or fifteen students have found board and lodging with private families in the vicinity.

Superintendent E. J. Bodwell of Beatrice, and Superintendent A. E. Fisher of Aurora, who are members of the state board of examiners for life certificates, have been in Wayne today inspecting the work of the State Normal.

HAVNER-CARL

On Tuesday morning, January 2, Mr. Jay Havner and Miss Elma Carl were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. William Grant. For years the contracting parties have been residents of Wayne county near Winslow and will continue to reside there. Mr. Havner is among Wayne county's successful farmers and his bride a very excellent young woman. Misses Lena and Lilla Lush, friends of the bride and groom, were present at the wedding.

THE MATRIMONIAL RECORD

During last year Judge Britton issued 102 marriage licenses, and of the number he married thirty-four. The number before he issued eight licenses, and married thirty-eight couples. This while the number getting licenses increased somewhat, the judge's matrimonial court has apparently dropped off 200 percent. This disturbing condition will be judged to make his commission in this respect a busy man these days getting

Charles Durham, Livingston, Ill., has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed-wetting. "My little boy wet the bed every night, clear through on the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two thirds of a bottle he was cured. That was about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since." Felber's Pharmacy.
An excerpt from the San Diego Sun of the twentieth, ult., states that Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Leisenring have arrived at the southern California city. The doctor writes that the weather there is more like June than December, and therefore very agreeable. He also states that tourists are numerous, and business lively. Other articles indicate that a good deal of sickness prevails at this time in southern California—a condition likely to exist, where comparatively mild elements encourage carelessness in habits of dress. The Sun says: Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Leisenring of Wayne, Neb., arrived Wednesday with the expectation of locating in this city. For the present they will be the guests of his father, Dr. P. S. Leisenring, and family, at their home on Twenty-second street. Mrs. H. G. Leisenring was formerly Miss Willis Wood, and she is a sister of Miss Waldo S. Waterman of this city.

Forest L. Hughes, clerk of district court fees... 11.00
Myrtle Butler, stenographic work... 2.00
Nebraska Telephone Co., phone rent and toll... 7.25
Frank Powers, drayage... 1.50
The following resolutions were introduced by the clerk:
Whereas, in the annual appropriation bill, there was provided $3,000 for improvements and incidentals, and whereas the time for making improvements for the fiscal year 1911 has almost expired and whereas, no great amount of the improvements which would be covered by the general fund of the City of Wayne, Nebraska, have been made, therefore be it resolved by the mayor and the council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, that the $3,000 appropriated for improvements and incidentals or so much thereof as would appear to be necessary for a city hall site, and that the improvements referred to in said appropriation be construed to include and is hereby made to include the purchase of a city hall site.
Whereas, for the year 1910, the gross receipts together with the tax levy for the light fund for the city of Wayne, Nebraska, was $9,453.78, and whereas the gross receipts, together with the tax levy for the year 1911, will surely equal that amount, and whereas, out of that sum there has only been appropriated for the year 1911, the sum of $4,850, leaving a balance in the light fund unappropriated, the sum of $4,603.78, and whereas, for the year 1911, there was levied a mill and a half to pay interest on the city hall bonds and whereas, the interest on said city hall bonds will not become due or payable until the first day of September, 1912, and whereas, all money appropriated and with the fiscal year for which they are made, and, whereas, the money arising from the sale of the water bonds could not be used at once, and it having been placed out at interest.
Now therefore be it resolved by the mayor and city council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, that this unappropriated balance, to-wit: $4,603.78, remaining in the light fund be transferred to the general fund for general revenue purposes.
And therefore, be it further resolved, that the money arising from the tax levy to pay interest on city hall bonds and the interest from same be transferred to the general fund for general revenue purposes.
Whereas, for the fiscal year of 1911, in the city of Wayne, Nebraska, there was appropriated out of the general fund the sum of $1,000 for street crossings and whereas, the sum of $500 will be ample and sufficient for street crossings for said year, and whereas, there was appropriated out of the general fund the sum of $500 for street labor aid, whereas, all street labor as performed by the street commissioner, now therefore be it resolved by the mayor and council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, that the $500 appropriated out of the general fund for street crossings and the $500 appropriated out of the general fund for street labor remain in the general fund as if unappropriated.
Be it also on the above resolutions resulted as follows: Yeas—Bright, Meister, Larison and Kingsbury. Nays—McVicker and Sprague.
No further business appearing before the meeting, motion was carried to adjourn.

The Madison Post urges the organization of a "5,000 club" at that place. Wouldn't a "5,000 club" be a good thing for Wayne? This city should have 5,000 people in a short time with housing and development.

Democratic congressmen feel a powerful itching to make a spectacular show of economy. If the administration's economy in the postoffice department where a deficit of millions was turned into a big credit, is not enough to make congress feel reasonably comfortable, the members should cut down their franking privileges and if necessary trim their own salaries. If democratic congressmen really feel that they want to be more economical, let them do some retrenching in the house.

It has been suggested that an automobile club should be organized in this county for the purpose of securing better roads. Considerable money is spent by the county every year for road improvement and still the roads are far from what they should be. The lay of Wayne county makes road building comparatively easy, and there is no good reason why the condition for travel should not be made a great deal better. It is believed an active automobile club would be the means of accomplishing much in the right direction.

Army medical officers have examined Charles W. Morse, New York banker serving time in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., and have reported to the president that the prisoner is not in a lying condition. The physicians found him suffering from arterio sclerosis, valvular trouble of the heart, Bright's disease, and the effects of a recent acute attack of congestion of the kidneys. Otherwise he was found in excellent health. He has neither bubonic plague nor scarlet fever, and hasn't been struck by lightning nor hit by a tornado. And there are a few other things which the banker is not suffering, and there fore he should return to the States. The trivial complaints enumerated by the army medical sages lead them to recommend to the president that there is no need of rushing executive clemency in order to avoid the death of the banker in prison. However, if the president would pardon Morse, and allow him to suffer his in-voice of incurable diseases out of jail during the brief time he will have to live, society would not be injured.

The Herald begins the new year in far better condition than it was a year ago. A Mercantile linotype machine, folding machine and other permanent improvements have been added to the equipment of the plant during 1911. All home print has taken the place of part in-sets, and a bigger paper is issued with greater facility. Several hundred new names have been added to the subscription list, and some who failed to pay have been cut off. The list is about double what it was when the present management took charge a few months ago, and subscribers are paying for the paper in advance in accordance with the rules of the postoffice department. The aim of the board is to make the paper second to none of the weekly class in the state with the expectation that readers will pay promptly. The expectation here is that your year's growth in business will warrant additional improvements, so that it can serve the public still better. This seems assured in view of the present condition of Wayne county.

A successor to the late Judge John M. Hardan on the supreme bench of the United States is yet to be appointed. If Nebraska would make a strong support of a competent man for the place, it would seem there would be good promise of securing it. We know a Nebraska lawyer who fears Nebraska could hold without fear of violating good judgment. He is a lawyer of the highest rank. No lawyer is more thoroughly respected in the courts of the state. No lawyer has a clearer conception of justice, and none is more conscientious nor more faithful to duty. He was a delegate to the national convention that nominated President Taft, and in politics he believes in progress without heedless ruin. He is a practical scholar. He is unobtrusive, which fact, though to his credit as a lawyer and politician, will prevent him from ever filling a high office, of which he is deserving and for which he is eminently qualified, unless his friends, appreciating his ability and worth, give him active support. We refer to Hon. Samuel Bismark of Beatrice. He is of ample caliber to occupy a judgeship in the supreme court of the United States, and Nebraska could make no mistake in urging him forward.

EXAMINES COUNTY TREASURER'S BOOKS

George Fairchild, state examiner of county treasurers, was in Wayne this week checking up the books of Charles S. Beebe, retiring county treasurer of Wayne county. Mr. Fairchild says the books at the office have been kept in such excellent shape that much time was saved in the work of examination. He adds that the books balanced to the cent, and that everything will be turned over to the treasurer-elect in first class condition. Mr. Beebe has made a thoroughly competent treasurer, and retires from the office with credit.

ANOTHER STEREOTYPE LECTURE

The intense interest created by Dr. Smiley's lecture last Monday evening on which he showed modern life in New York City and the religious atmosphere being made to redound on those of fallen humanity there, has decided him to give another lecture on the same subject, showing other phases of the life of this wonderful city, and of illustrating most powerfully the wonderful effect of preaching of the gospel to men of every condition. The subject of his illustrated lecture next Monday evening will be: "In New York Prison." The sociological value of these lectures cannot be over estimated and they also acquaint the people with life in our metropolitan city.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS DURING THE OLD YEAR

NOT SO NUMEROUS AS USUAL

Many Loads of Material Bought at Local Lumber Yards, but not Appearing in List.

From the Wayne lumber yards the Herald has gathered all the improvements available to show the improvements made in Wayne and vicinity during the past year. Altogether many loads of material went into the county for improvements of which there is no record further than that purchases had been made. The general improvements for 1911 will not equal those of the preceding year, but with good crops and good prices, the new year might be developed more actively in that respect. In Wayne the biggest improvements have been those of the State Normal and the Nebraska Telephone company. This year it is hoped the city hall, Carnegie library building and the new car garage will be realized.

In the following list the cost is estimated, and may be too high or too low, merely giving an idea of what has been done:

- A. M. Hill, new house in Wayne, $4,000.
- Mrs. A. N. Mathews, improvements on her farm southwest of Wayne, $500.

DR. HESS TO RESUME PRACTICE IN WAYNE

Dr. G. J. Hess who moved from this city to Battle Creek about two years ago, has sold his practice here and is moving back to Wayne. The doctor will occupy rooms in the Wayne National Bank building recently vacated by Dr. Williams. Mrs. Hess and daughter Bonnie will arrive tomorrow, and the family will live on the Clark cottage north of the Baptist church. The friends of Dr. Hess will be glad to welcome him back.

IN HONOR OF DR. F. E. SMILEY.

On New Year's day Dr. Smiley who is assisting in the special meetings at the Presbyterian church, was pleasantly entertained at two social functions which were much enjoyed. In the afternoon a reception was given to him at the home of Mr. F. L. Neely. Refreshments were served, a musical program was given, and a social time enjoyed. In the evening he was entertained at a dinner at the home of Mr. F. H. Jones. The members of the session of the church and of the board of trustees were also invited, and after the three-course dinner which was heartily enjoyed by all, a little conference was held and Dr. Smiley spoke of modern methods for building up the church of Christ, and plans were outlined for aggressive work by the men of the Presbyterian church.

FRANCIS EDWARD SMILEY.

Dr. F. E. Smiley who is at present preaching and lecturing at the First Presbyterian church of Wayne, is a most interesting personality. He is highly educated, widely read, and has traveled in all parts of the country. He is an ardent sociological student, and has mingled with men of all classes and conditions in city and country, in the mines of Colorado, the hills of Pennsylvania, and the fashionable and wealthy in the more prosperous ranks of life. For a number of years he was the successful pastor of the large and influential Twenty-Third Avenue Presbyterian church at Denver, Colo., but a few years ago decided to give time to a larger ministry in which he could bring his ripe scholarship and varied experience to bear on the question of religious life of the American people. Every summer he spends his vacation in New York City ministering to both high and low, rich and poor, employers and employees. He has preached in the most magnificent city churches, and has addressed street meetings in the lowest sections of New York and other cities, and he is able to adapt himself to all, and bring a message from the Bible that will help men, no matter who they are, to live a better life. His visit to Wayne gives him an opportunity to learn more of the cities of this type in the middle west and also enables him to speak some stirring messages on the needs of the hour, and on the relation of man to God. He has been greatly impressed with the prosperity of Wayne from a material standpoint, and believes that the community has reached the stage in its development where it can foster a deeper and more vital religious life.

"The old fogies and the ignorant," he says, "are afraid of a religious life, but it is the mark of progress intellectually, morally and spiritually when a community has a revival of religion." His sermons, addresses and lectures have already made a deep impression, and the Presbyterian church is to be congratulated on its enterprise in bringing such an influence into the community.

If you sign another man's note he is apt to take you seriously. Probably there are exceptions, but brewers and Shetland ponies usually are.

To Head-Off a Headache

Nothing is Better than Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills They Give Relief Without Bad After-Effects.

"It gives me great pleasure to offer a word of recommendation for Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, as there are thousands suffering unnecessarily from headache. I was afflicted intermittently for years with headache and after other remedies failed, I tried Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. For the past ten years I have carried them constantly with me, getting instant relief by using one or two on the approach of headache. They are also effective for neuralgia, giving immediate relief." TOBACCO LAW TO BE ENFORCED.

Bandolph Times: The laws of Nebraska forbid the sale of tobacco to any boy under eighteen years of age, and also prohibit boys under eighteen from smoking cigarettes, pipe or cigars, or using tobacco, and if caught so doing they may be arrested and fined, and the dealer who sold them the tobacco may also be fined quite heavily. In Bandolph there has been far too much smoking among the boys and from now on the law will be enforced. The boys will have to cut out the cigarettes and the pipe and if they won't do it of their own accord, the law will try its hand at effecting a cure. On Wednesday night three boys got into a quarrel over cigarettes, a fight followed and the boys were arrested. Before the police judge a fine of $5 and costs was assessed against two of them and $10 against the other. Professor Knoll has shown the effects of the use of tobacco on school boys, parents have pleaded with their sons and still the habit goes on until now the strong arm of the law is evoked.

ACTION, NOT WORDS. West Point Republican: A single word from some men is worth more than an ocean of talk from others. Taft is not a mere talker about things, but a quiet, orderly doer of things. At the special session of congress when the democrats tried to put him into a hole on bills covering a few isolated tariff schedules, he said that, according to their own agreement, he would base his action on tariff matters on the report of the tariff board, which had just been appointed. He kept his word and when that board did report, acted with such celerity as to confound his opponents.

POLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND "CURES IN EVERY CASE." Mr. James McCaffery, manager of the Schlitz Hotel, Omaha, Neb., recommends Poley's Honey and Tar Compound because it cures in every case. FARMERS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 2 1912: When the farmers of Nebraska meet in annual convention in Omaha on January 30 to 15, they will be privileged to hear executive discourses on various questions which are vital in their interest. The program, which has been arranged by the secretaries of the three organizations, the Farmers' Congress, the Rural Life Commission, and the Farmers' Co-operative shipping association, includes the study of the economic conditions. "How the Atchafalaya Country Plan Will Affect the Farmer," will be discussed from every angle by Henry W. Yates of Omaha. Mr. Yates will deliver his address on the evening of January 11.

Dr. George O. Virtue of the university of Nebraska, will deliver an address on the "Substitute for the Personal Tax." This address, which is scheduled for the same evening, will deal with the possible elimination of the personal tax element, and will suggest ways and means to get revenue from other sources, which will mean a more equitable division.

Secretary Odell of the Rural Life Commission is conducting an investigation and is asking a series of questions which have for their object the ascertaining of facts, and suggestions which will increase the desirability of farm life and check the drift from the farm to the city.

Indications are that nearly 1,000 farmers will attend the joint congress of the three associations.

All farmers are urged to attend the congress, whether they are regularly appointed delegates or not. Every one will have a voice in the convention and will be entitled to vote on any question that is raised. The officers of the three associations have joined in an invitation to every farmer in the state. All are urged to be present and be prepared to discuss the various questions which will be raised during the three days session.

THE COLONEL'S CANDIDACY.

Freemont Tribune: The filing of a Roosevelt petition in Nebraska injects a new feature into the situation. Conditions were badly enough mixed as they were, between the Taft forces and the LaPollette-boomers. With the "Colonel's" name thrown into the pot it makes a real 'whiff' brew. There are very many evidences confirming the claims of the Taft supporters. The absence of noisy demonstration on their part is misleading. The relative strength of the two sides cannot be accurately measured by sound. The president's supporters are the quiet, determined, sane forces, who believe in him because they appreciate the effective way in which he is working out the great problems that have fallen to him to deal with; and they are undemonstrative because his methods are quiet and devoid of the spectacular. Whenever test is made this element is found to greatly preponderate. And time is adding to the president's strength. Gradually his policies are being worked out and their merits understood. When the time comes to record sentiment in Nebraska the result is morally certain to favor Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy stands on too uncertain a foundation to gain much support. In the first place there is a wide antagonism to the third term policy. There may be technical denial that it would be such, but it would give him eleven years in the executive chair and tend toward what Col. Henry Waterson calls "absolution." In the second place Colonel Roosevelt has too emphatically abjured another term to make it possible for him to accept with honor. To think of his doing so would be to discount his moral integrity. There can be no denial of his great popularity in Nebraska. He obtained the largest majority ever given any candidate in this state. But the impossibility of his candidacy will be understood before primary day. Whatever happens it is not likely that President Taft will suffer through the appearance of the name of Colonel Roosevelt on the ticket.

The Year at Home

By JAMES A. EDRINGTON.

SOME one has said, "Happy is the land that has no history." Voltaire put it, "History is but a pile of crimes and misfortunes." Measured by this standard, America has enjoyed a fairly happy year. Not that we have made history, but that it has not been of a volcanic character as that of some of our neighbors. Nations are like individuals. The most virtuous men and women frequently lead uneventful lives, while the greatest rakes may have the largest number of adventures.

With most nations 1911 has been a happy-making year, but with us it has been fairly comfortable and well behaved. We have had no wars and leaving out Mexico and Richmond Pearson Hobson, no rumors of wars. We have passed through no elections of great importance, no serious talk measures adopted obstructive tactics, finally forcing the dissolution of parliament and an appeal to the people. In the ensuing campaign the cry was raised that reciprocity was an entering wedge for the annexation of Canada by the United States, and the 1911-12 campaign, that had a national character, was decisively defeated.

The special session of the American congress did not stop with reciprocity, but proceeded to revise several schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. The measures passed were one revising the cotton schedule and a third known as the farmers' free list bill, which sought to make up for some of the inequalities obtained to exist in the reciprocity measure. All three of these bills were voted by President Taft.

The direct election of senators was an issue in both congresses, the Henry L. Stimson, the resignation of the secretary of the treasury, the signing of the arbitration treaties, and the flight from New York to Los Angeles of C. P. Rodgers. Orange Wright contrived a wife that remained aloof without power ten minutes. Harry N. Atwood flew from Boston to Washington and afterward from St. Louis to New York. Eugene B. Kly escaped from the California coast to the creek of a battleship and back again. J. A. D. McCurdy went over the water from Key West to within ten miles of Havana. Cromwell Dixon flew over the Rocky mountains.

In the world of sports the American league baseball pennant was won by the Philadelphia Athletics and the National league pennant by the New York Giants. The subsequent struggle between these two teams was attended by the greatest crowds ever attracted by the game in America. Philadelphia won. Princeton defeated

The KITCHEN GUPBOARD

WHEN COOKING CAULIFLOWER.
CAULIFLOWER lovers find their favorite vegetables, like cabbage, most abundant. In selecting a cauliflower see that the leaves are firm and crowded and the head perfectly white. When preparing the vegetable for cooking clean it by soaking in salt water for an hour, every part being covered. Some persons when boiling cauliflower put it in a bag.

Cauliflower Soup.
Cauliflower soup is a dish unknown in most households, yet there is no reason why it should not be popular. Boil the cauliflower in water or in milk to which has been added an onion stick with four whole cloves, a small red pepper, a sprig of parsley and a tablespoonful of peppercorns. Skim all the time the cauliflower is boiling. When cooked, remove the cauliflower from the pot. Set aside a cupful of the flowers, which should be carefully broken off the cauliflower, and mix the remainder, forcing it through a coarse sieve. Strain the liquid in which the cauliflower was boiled.

Melt a tablespoonful of butter, stir into it a tablespoonful of flour, then combine this with the soup. Add a quart of hot milk, a little cracked corn, salt and pepper to taste, an egg well beaten and the mashed cauliflower. Stir well and set on the fire to heat. Add the unbroken flowers and serve very hot.

Cauliflower and Cream.
Boiled cauliflower can be served with cream or hollandaise sauce. It may be covered with grated cheese and cracker crumbs, with a dash of melted butter, and baked. When cold the cauliflower may be separated into small pieces and served with mayonnaise dressing.

A dairy luncheon dish may be prepared as follows: Take a boiled cauliflower. Break off the flowers and place them in a cup.

Add to the boiled cauliflower three tablespoonfuls of butter and allow to simmer in a saucepan over the fire for fifteen minutes. Add a half cupful of oyster liquor, half a cupful of cracker crumbs, salt and pepper to taste, half a cupful of cream and a pint of oysters. Add the oysters after the liquid has boiled and remove from the fire as soon as the edges curl. Serve on toast or in crescent-of-puff-paste.

The KITCHEN GUPBOARD

WHEN MUTTON IS GOOD.
MUTTON is at its best in the fall, so it should have a prominent place on the bill of fare for fall and early winter. Many persons object to mutton because of its strong flavor, but if the fat is carefully cut off it will be deprived of this.

When you happen to be roasting mutton, if you place it upon a rack in the pan instead of allowing it to cook in the fat it will not be so strong. The outer skin should also be removed.

A leg of mutton is roasted or boiled; chops are broiled; the neck may be steamed, braised or boiled. The loin applies cutlets or roast and the saddle is roasted. The neck may be used for stewing or making broth.

Roiled Loins.
Roiled loin of mutton is a doubly useful dish, as it may be served cold for the luncheon table. The butcher should be asked to take the bones out of the meat. Then shape the mutton into a neat roll. It may be stuffed if you choose with a plain bread stuffing.

Secure the roll with wooden skewers, and sew up the ends with salt and flour. Place in the pan and roast, basting with bacon or salt pork drippings and water.

Mutton chops cooked in a casserole are delicious. The chops must be first sautéed in butter until they are a little brown. Then the casserole is arranged with a layer of onion, carrot and turnip, then in small slices and sautéed until light brown.

The mutton chop is now placed on this with water or stock to almost cover the vegetables. The chop is laid on top of the vegetables, the dish covered tightly and allowed to cook until well done.

Mutton Scallops.
Mutton scallops may be added to the bill of fare. Take half a pound of cold mutton, one ounce of butter, half an ounce of flour, half a pint of gravy, sauce or stock, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, a teaspoonful of chopped onion, salt, pepper and nutmeg to taste.

Butter some scallop shells or ramblers, chop the meat fine, melt half the butter in a small pan, stir in the flour, then add the stock or gravy. Stir this over the fire until it boils; season it carefully and add enough of it to the meat to moisten it well. Now stir in the chopped parsley and onion. Buttered mutton scallops are served on shells, shake a good layer of browned crumbs over the top of each. Put the shells on a baking tin in the oven till the mixture is hot through, then serve.

THREE IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME IN 1911.

failures, no overwhelming disasters. True, we have had two sessions of congress, but who can expect to escape all misfortunes?

The chief events of the year at home have been the passage of the reciprocity treaty and the resultant law-water thrown over us by Canada, the passage of the tariff revision bills and their veto by the president, the mobilization of a part of our army in Texas during the Mexican revolution, the supreme court decision describing the Standard Oil and tobacco trusts, the bringing of suit against the steel trust and criminal prosecution of the heads of the beef trust, the admission to statehood of New Mexico and Arizona, the signing of the arbitration treaties with France and Great Britain, the recent breaking tour of President Taft, the adoption of the initiative, referendum, recall and woman suffrage by California, the assembling of the largest war fleet ever gathered in American waters, the flight of an aeroplane across the continent, the McNamara trial, the creation of three new American cardinals, the raising of the Maine and the finding that it was blown up from the outside, and the bicentennial of the first Bull Run and the opening of the civil war.

The Defeat of Reciprocity.
The Canadian reciprocity agreement was completed and presented to congress early in the year. It removed the duties on many articles between the two countries and reduced them to the bulk of the free list, for which reason the agreement was opposed by a large section of American farmers. Despite the opposition from this and other sources the measure promptly passed the house of representatives, but was held up in the senate without action till the adjournment of the Sixty-first congress. President Taft at most immediately called a special session of the Sixty-second congress, and after months of debate the reciprocity agreement passed both bodies and became law so far as the United States could make it so.

In Canada the opponents of the stitutional amendment being defeated by four votes in the senate during the Sixty-first congress, but passing both houses of the Sixty-second congress.

An amendment providing for federal control of elections was inserted in the senate, however, and this was not agreed to by the house.

The first statehood bill was vetoed by President Taft because of the provision for recall of judges in the Arizona constitution. The measure was then amended by omitting this section, after which it became a law.

Among the interesting features of the extra session was the fact that the speaker did not select the standing committees, as in the past, but that this was left to the ways and means committee. For the first time in sixteen years the Democrats had control of the house and with the progressive Republicans mustered a majority in the senate. Champ Clark of Missouri was elected speaker and Oscar W. Underwood majority floor leader.

Anti-trust Decision.
The regular session met on Dec. 4, but little was done before the holidays. The president adopted the novel method of sending in his annual message in sections, the first relating to the trusts and the second to foreign relations.

Trust investigations and court decisions were one of the features of the year. The supreme court ordered the Standard Oil company and the American Tobacco company to dissolve, interpreting the law by the famous "rule of reason." Congress investigated the sugar trust and the steel trust, and the government began suit against the Republics. The criminal case against the Chicago packers started in the federal court. Other political events were the ratification of the new treaty with Japan, the decision to fortify the Panama canal, the Lorimer and Stephenson investigations in the senate, the resignation of Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger and the appointment of Walter L. Fisher in his stead, the resignation of Secretary of War J. M. Dickerson and the appointment of all the big university eleven in football. The American team defeated that from England in polo.

The famous McNamara trial was brought to a sudden close by the two brothers pleading guilty and being sentenced to prison, one for life and the other for fifteen years. Other arrests were threatened.

There were only the usual number of disasters, among which may be mentioned the eruption of Mount Taal and a resultant tidal wave that destroyed several villages and many lives in the Philippines; the burning of the state capitol at Jefferson City, Mo.; two great mine disasters at Throop, Pa., and in the Banner mines, in Alabama; the destruction by fire of Decatur, Conn.; Indiana; and the wiping out of Austin, Pa., by the breaking of a dam.

The Year's Dead.
Among the year's noted dead were Admirals Winfield Scott Schley, Charles S. Sperry and John C. Fremont, son of the "Pathfinder"; Senators William P. Frye and Stephen S. Elkins; Joseph Pulitzer, the famous editor; Tom L. Johnson, single taxer and reformer; Justice John M. Harlan; Deanna Thompson and Gertrude Bellew, actors; Edwin A. Abbey, Fred P. Vinton and Howard Pyle, artists; Paul Morlon, David Graham Phillips, who was assassinated; Dr. Edward G. Janeway; Generals A. S. Webb, H. S. Hawkins, B. L. Dinkeshofer, R. L. Grimes, George W. Gordon and Charles F. Manderson and Colonel J. J. McCook of civil war fame; Sam Walter Fensholt, George Cary Eggleston, Thomas Westworth Higginson, W. S. Gilbert, Eugene F. Ware, Elizabeth Akers Allen, Charles Battell Loomis and Be K. Mankinck, authors; Cromwell Dixon and Eugene B. Ely, aviators; Colonel C. P. Lincoln, cousin of Abraham Lincoln; Caspar Purdon Clarke, art director; Otto Ringling of circus fame, Mrs. Winfield Scott Hancock, W. B. Baker, father of rural free delivery; Carrie Nation, J. Proctor Knott, Edward M. Shepard, John W. Gates, General Bedford and Ida Lewis, the Newport heroine.

The Year Abroad

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

TWO great world movements were observable in 1911, and they are so closely related as to be practically one. The first was the trend toward liberty and democracy, the other toward the rule of the cross over the crescent. As evidences of the first the Chinese and Mexican revolutions are conspicuous; of the second the absorption of Morocco and Tripoli by Christian powers and the foreshadowed capitulation of Persia to Russia and England.

From these aspects it was a notable year. The Chinese rebellion alone would make it historic. This the oldest kingdom on earth, older than Greece and Rome, contemporary of ancient Egypt and Babylon, is now moved mightily by modern forces and means about to establish a republic after the model of the United States. That most ungodly Father Time rub his eyes.

It was not till October that the revolution broke out at Wuhan. Then, leaping across the river to Hankow, it swiftly spread to all southern and central China. Before the end of the year the great cities of Shanghai, Canton and Nanking, the ancient capital, had successively fallen. Primarily the revolt was against the Manchus, a comparative handful of whom had ruled China for nearly 800 years, but through it all moved a militant and determined republicanism.

Shortly after the outbreak of the insurrection the new national assembly of China met and demanded sweeping reforms. These the throne granted, assenting to an immediate constitution and parliament. Yuan Shih Kai, who had been in practical banishment, was revealed and made premier.

The Fall of Diaz.

The Mexican revolution had its actual inception in 1910, but did not attract general attention till January of 1911, when it made great headway in the state of Chihuahua. It spread rapidly, the revolutionary armies of both the south and the north winning important victories. The climax came on May 10 when the rebels captured Juarez. Eleven days later the peace agreement was signed and on May 25 President Diaz resigned, secretly leaving the country the next day. Francisco Coahuila, former ambassador at Washington, was elected provisional president, and on June 7, Francisco I. Madero, leader of the revolutionists, entered the City of Mexico in triumph.

A free election was held on Oct. 1, and Mr. Madero was unanimously chosen president. Fighting continued and General Bernardo Reyes, who was charged with fomenting the trouble, was arrested in Texas.

To most of the world, the war between Italy and Turkey came as a surprise. The first known of it generally was the ultimatum of the Italian government, followed speedily by the declaration of war on Sept. 8. One of the landmarks of a few Turkish ports about the northern shore of the Mediterranean, the fighting has been confined to Tripoli. An Italian fleet conveying troops bombarded the city of Tripoli, which capitulated after a feeble resistance. Other ports fell in the same fashion.

Aeroplane have played a considerable part in the Italian campaign, reconnoitering the positions of the enemy, directing the movements of the land troops and in one instance dropping bombs into the Turkish camps.

A Yankee in the Orient.

An American citizen played the star part in the affair between Russia and Persia. His name is William Morgan Shuster, and he is acting Persian treasurer general. The secret of the trouble is that Russia wants north, English and England wants south Persia. Since the expulsion of the former shah the Persians have been stirred by a movement toward nationalism and applied to this country for a man to look after their finances. Mr. Shuster was sent and has succeeded not only in the task undertaken, but has become in some sense a leader of the Persians in their effort to build a nation on the new constitutional lines. Russia took the former shah in an attempt to recover his throne and when this failed came out into the open and sent troops into Persia, demanding that Mr. Shuster be expelled.

The United States and other nations were appealed to by the Persians, but our own government declined to interfere further than to protect Mr. Shuster's life and property. In the meantime an agitation arose in America to abrogate the treaty with Russia because of her refusal to honor the passports of American Jews, Catholic priests and Protestant missionaries.

During the summer the character of the struggle shifted to a wholly new level of excitement by the news that a German warship had suddenly appeared at Agadir, Morocco. Happening as it did in the midst of the negotiations between Germany and France over Morocco, this was universally regarded as a warlike move. England was drawn into the affair as an ally of France and as the chief power in Africa, and a warning speech was delivered by Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, which rendered the situation rather more tense than before. In the end France and Germany set aside their differences, France gaining control of Morocco, but giving Germany a slice out of the French Congo. The aftermath of the war was almost as exciting as the war itself, speeches of those on the inside making it appear that the edge of a world conflict had been narrowly grazed.

A revolution broke out in Haiti during the year—not an unusual occurrence, by the way—resulting in the flight of President Simon and the election to the presidency of General Lecomte, the revolutionary leader.

In England the long struggle over the restriction of the veto power of the house of lords resulted in a complete victory for the commons and for the Liberal party, the lords receding in the face of the threatened creation of 500 new peers. This was universally regarded as paving the way for Irish home rule.

The railway strike in Great Britain threatened for a time to become the fiercest struggle between labor and capital ever witnessed in the United Kingdom. It was finally settled by the intervention of the government, Chancellor Lloyd George presenting the plea of compromise.

Two Royal Pageants.

The coronation of King George V. was the most spectacular event of the sort ever held in London. Not set off with one moment, the king and queen attended the Indian durbars in the first time the reigning monarch ever appeared at a durbars since the empire was proclaimed in British India.

Canada advanced her position in the empire, the Duke of Connaught, uncle of the king, becoming governor general and Andrew Bonar Law, a native of the Dominion, succeeding A. J. Balfour as Unionist leader in England.

Aviation successes in Europe during 1911 were almost as brilliant as in America. Among the chief events were the flight of Lieutenant Bagge 125 miles over the Mediterranean, the carrying of eleven passengers in an aeroplane by Louis Berquet, the flight of Lieutenant Eiler with a passenger from Berlin to Hamburg, 140 miles in three and a half hours; the journey of Pierre Prier from London to Paris without a stop, 200 miles in 236 minutes; the covering of 746 miles in one flight of fifteen hours by Helles and the establishment of the first British aerial postal service. The chief tragedy abroad was—the killing of the French war minister and the injury of the premier by a falling aeroplane.

In sports the great event was the swimming of the English channel for the first time. The feat was performed by William Burgess. Oxford won the annual boat race from Cambridge. Miss Dorothy Campbell, an American, gained the women's golf championship of Great Britain, but H. H. Hilton, the English golf champion, turned the tables by winning the American golf championship.

Probably the supply of compliments will never equal the demand.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne County Review, published at Wayne, February 18, 1882: Married, February 9, 1882, Mr. David Herzer to Miss Mary E. Parks. Frank Fuller, an attorney from Burlington, Ia., is visiting Wayne with view to locating. Died, at her home, two and one-half miles southeast of Wayne, February 13, 1882, Mrs. I. O. Richardson. Died, of consumption, February 11, 1882, Mrs. L. C. Dearborn, aged 23 years, 2 months and 10 days. The Review and Ponce papers engage in arguments over the proposition to annex certain Dixon county townships to Wayne county. The last station on the railroad between this city and Norfolk will be on lands purchased of Commissioner Bohmer, and will be called Donop.

From the Wayne Herald, January 21, 1892: Thermometers registered thirty-six degrees below zero. Local market: Wheat, 60 cents; corn, 22 cents; oats, 21 cents; rye, 60 cents, and flax 72 cents. Norfolk votes February 13 on a proposition to issue bonds for the proposed Yankton, Norfolk & Southwestern Railway company. J. P. Gaertner, M. T. Healey, Frank Hagler and Dr. Leisenring went to Ponca as witnesses in the case of Oscarson vs. Berguson. Oscarson sued Berguson for $5,000 for injuries sustained by the accidental discharge of a gun. William Hinrichs, Henry Hinrichs, William Lijto, John Gager, Henry Walter and Henry Meyer went to Ponca to take part in the trial of the case of William Walter vs. William Hinrichs.

From the Wayne Herald, January 10, 1902: Married, James Parker to Garnett E. Moats. Star West buys a livery barn at Waukena and moves there. Miss Leona Hunter leaves New York February 15 for the Philippines. James Seath sold his farm in Dixon county and moved back to Wayne. Miss Lizzie Barrett takes Miss Leona Hunter's place as teacher in the city schools. Married, Rudolph Rottger of Wayne county, to Miss Emma A. Anderson of Dakota county. Mrs. Anna Nuorenberger, living southeast of Wayne, died January 10, after a short illness. Local market: Corn, 51 cents; wheat, 68 1/2 cents; oats, 37 cents; hogs, $5.75; butter, 13 cents; eggs, 15 cents. Died, of typhoid fever, at his home in Wayne, January 18-1902, Smith McManigal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McManigal, aged 32 years.

From Ponce Journal, February 6, 1882: During the year 1881 Judge Smith issued thirty-eight marriage licenses. On Wednesday, January 25, 1882, the jury in the trial of Guiteau, murderer of President Garfield, returned a verdict of guilty. The trial lasted ten weeks. Mr. Halstead, the banker, has recently bought the bank building and the dwelling house back of it, together with the lot, 50 by 150 feet, paying therefor cash $750. The cemetery under the administration of the new cemetery association, is to have about four acres added to it, fences will be built, the grounds and walks fixed up, and order brought out of the chaos which has prevailed in that locality for several years past.

From the Ponce Journal, February 6, 1879: The concert by Professor Davies which was to have been held Tuesday evening has been postponed on account of the illness of some of his class, until some evening next week. The father of J. B. and Alf Barnes and Mrs. F. N. Johnson, of this place, A. S. J. Barnes, Esp. of Ashtabula county, O., accompanied by his daughter, arrived here Friday evening. Mr. Barnes is much pleased with this country, and will probably permanently remain here. C. W. Sherman of Daily Branch, in company with his brother, H. N. Sherman, last week took a trip into Wayne, Madison and Pierce counties. They saw much fine land, but everything considered, none which was superior, and much which was inferior, to the lands of Dixon county. Yesterday was as warm and pleasant as summer. The backbone of winter is evidently broken, and we hope it will remain so until another year. If this weather continues the ice in the river will soon break up. People in the east, where the snow is now two feet deep, will find it hard to believe that in this favored country there is at this time no snow at all, and in place of their cloudy, damp and disagreeable weather, we have a clear sky and warm sunshine.

THE YEAR IN NEBRASKA. Lincoln Journal: Nebraska had a chance to prove its resisting power. The year was peculiarly unfavorable to the state's fundamental industry. A dry winter and spring led-on to a summer practically without rain until after corn tussling time. The result was a yield of only about 165,000,000 bushels of corn as compared with 200,000,000 the year before. But the dry spring that hurt the corn was ideal for wheat, and outside some portions of the state large wheat crop of exceptional quality was harvested. While one cutting of alfalfa was affected by drought, a late fall permitted the harvesting of fourth and in some cases fifth cuttings which made up to some extent for the loss. There was a fair apple crop. Thus by virtue of its varied agriculture, Nebraska came through a year of national drought with an aggregate agricultural production slightly above the average of the preceding five years. With the exception of hogs, prices, ruled high, and bank reports showed no general loss of property from the unfavorable crop season. Such business inactivity as was manifest could be charged to national conditions. The outcome justifies increased and almost absolute confidence in the agricultural stability of the state under the worst conditions likely ever to occur. Some apprehension and much discussion followed the issue of census figures showing a stationary or declining agricultural population in the older counties. Accompanying figures show a greatly increased land value, as foreseen, if not explained, for the fact. The automobile trade expanded rapidly with farmers heavy buyers—sign of continued agricultural confidence. Some progress was made on political lines. A legislature greatly impeded in its progress by alignments on the liquor issue succeeding in submitting a direct legislative amendment and some others of merit. A presidential primary was provided for. A substantial increase in state taxes resulted from the legislature's generosity with appropriations. The year closes with both political parties divided on the question of presidential nominee, which is to be settled, for Nebraska, by direct vote in April.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS. Always give satisfaction because they always do the work. J. T. Shelton, Bremen, Ga., says: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills with great satisfaction and found more relief from their use than from any other kidney medicine, and I've tried almost all kinds. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers for kidney and bladder troubles." Foley's Pharmacy.

Mistakes of Men

A MAN CAME into our store this week, examined goods and prices, volunteered the statement he had made a mistake. Said he had been trading at general merchandise stores where little attention was placed on grocery department. This man much preferred securing his supplies from a stock selected with due care and receiving the undivided attention of the proprietors.

Another man sent away for a bill of Groceries and came here to make comparisons. He said he would never send away again.

Another Man from near Carroll said he was dissatisfied where he had been trading. His neighbor told him to see our goods and get prices. Acting on this suggestion this man returned home with a big sled full of supplies.

We are always glad and ready to show anyone what we have and quote prices, no matter whether they buy of us or not. Come in—let's talk it over. YOU may be making a mistake, too.
