WAYNE'S NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM FINISHED AND COMPANY ESTABLISHED IN NEW HEADQUARTERS

EVERYTHING IS MODERN

EXCHANGE TRANSFERRED TO NEWLY EQUIPPED BRESSLER BUILDING

SWITCH BOARD IS BEST MADE

Explanation of Working of New System—Connections and Disconnections Facilitated.

CHANGE AT MIDNIGHT

The Nebraska Telephone Co. requests local subscribers to use new system after midnight, to night.

Rules to be Observed. To call Central remote receiver from the hook and immediately place it to the ear. When the operator inquires: "Number?" give the number of the party you desire.

Give each figure of the number separately; for example, No. 2143 should be given two one-two-three and not twenty-one-four-three.

The operator will immediately make the connection and ring the number you ask for. Keep the telephone to your ear unless talking for some one on your own circuit—in which case the operator will instruct you to hang up while she rings.

When through hang the receiver on the hook, large end down. This signals Central to disconnect.

To attract Central's attention when connected, work hook up and down slowly three or four times.

Report promptly to chief operator any errors in the working of your line or instrument. If your complaint is not attended to within a reasonable time, call the manager's office, No. 217.

Call by number only. For names not appearing in the directory call for information.

The new telephone system which supersedes the worn out plant in use for many years, will be put into service this week, following months of preliminary work on the part of the company. The new quarters further change and offices in the second story of the Bressler building are as modern, commodious, convenient, and well equipped as any in the state. Everything is new, and everything is better. The unsatisfactory conditions which will disappear, and what becomes of it patrons don't know and don't care. Experts will train operators here to handle the new system, and there will be no good excuse in the future for poor service.

Wayne may now boast of telephoning facilities which are of the very best and its citizens will undoubtedly relish the improved service which will soon be evident as a result of the acquisition of the new equipment.

The switchboard is made up of five sections, which provide room for five operators and are equipped for four hundred subscribers' lines, and these have been cut into service with the necessary power plant, frames and racks, which are used for the auxiliary apparatus, manager's, chief operator's and wire chief's desks equipped with the apparatus required to enable them to perform their various duties. Provision has also been made so that switchboard sections may be added at any time to take care of business increase.

This equipment is so designed that it makes available for exchange of this size the operating features of the largest and best-equipped telephone offices. The switch board is of the so-called central battery, lamp signal, type, and has been installed by the Western Electric company, the largest manufacturer of telephone apparatus in the world. This company produces all the telephones used throughout the entire Bell system and in many other companies as well.

A short description of the working of the central battery equipment will give an idea of the distinct advantages connected with its use. The automatic features of the new equipment take care of the various steps in connecting and disconnecting subscribers in a manner that leaves very little manual work to be done by the operator, thus practically eliminating the personal attention. At no time is it necessary for the operator to take part in the conversation, so that his voice is heard.

With the coming of central battery telephoning there is no cranking or ringing of bells at the calling station. When the subscriber lifts the receiver from the hook to call, central battery telephoning indicates to one that the connection is in every system. Removing the receiver automatically causes a switch to drop and fall into position before the central office operator, who then inserts a plug tipped with a jack having a number corresponding to that of the line of the party to be called.

The operator then works her listening key and ascertains the number desired. With another plug-tipped cord she connects in the called-for subscriber. This causes another train of automatic operations to take place, and the subscriber's bell rings. Lifting the receiver from the hook further notifies the operator by means of a drop signal that he is at the telephone.

The reverse of all this takes place when the disconnection is made. The subscribers, hanging their receivers on the respective hooks after completing their conversation, set in motion a train of automatic operations whereby the operator, without listening in upon the line or asking the subscribers if they are through talking, may determine at a glance that the conversation is finished.

By the simple operation of withdrawing the plugs and allowing them to fall into their positions, much manual labor is released which automatically returns the lines to their original condition.

The new, and thoroughly modern equipment which has been installed at Wayne is designed for smoothness, accuracy and promptness in answering calls and is one of the latest developments in the art of telephone engineering. Its acquisition may be regarded as a most important improvement in Wayne's public service.

The U. D. club met with Mrs. H. S. Welch Monday afternoon. Mrs. H. B. Craven conducted a book review, and Mrs. J. W. Jones read a paper on the conservation of forests.

The Acme club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. John T. Bressler. The Monday club met at the home of Mrs. Elsie Johnson. A study of current events was followed by the reading of letters from absent members. There was music and a social time. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Cunningham.

The meeting will have a practical outcome as Mr. Corkey expects to visit in the neighborhood and preach occasionally on Sabbath afternoons as well as on weekdays, with a view to developing the social and religious life of this splendid part of Wayne county.

Those who attended the dinner were loud in their praise of Mr. R. R. Smith and his good wife for the pleasant occasion, which enabled them to meet their neighbors in this social way and also for the sumptuous dinner, which spoke highly of Mrs. Smith's ability as a hostess.

The Leap Year party given by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Walters, Friday evening and pleasant. The circle will meet next week with Mrs. Ed Johnson. Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Farrell, former members of the circle, were present.

Twenty young people of the Baptist church located themselves Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. M. J. Johnson, four and one-half miles southeast of Wayne. They were royally welcomed by the abundant household, and spent the evening in games and sociality. Refreshments were served.

The return trip was slower and more eventful than that going out. The snowdrifts which were reserved for the return were larger than those left going out, and the storks were still a few times, making it necessary for the young motorists to present to the snowdrifts. These few interruptions along the homeward journey gave variety to the experiences of the evening and afforded the buses examples of masculine inclination and capacity for work, for reference in case they wish to avoid themselves of the leap year privilege.

SOCIAL MEETING IN COUNTRY

One of the interested guests at the R. R. Smith home, six miles west of town, on the occasion of the dinner given to a number of neighbors, was Rev. Alex. Hunter Corkey who is an enthusiastic admirer of the country life, and believes that the farmers are the backbone of the nation, financially, politically and morally.

After the guests had finished the three-course dinner, which was heartily enjoyed by all, Mr. Corkey was invited to say a few words to the company. In his talk he spoke of the commission on country life which had been created by the government to investigate conditions in the rural districts of the United States. This commission reported that the great lack of American country life was more social ability and the commission recommended the institution of the old-time country church as a needed institution in connection with farm life. He then spoke of the desirability of social life amongst farmers and farmers' wives, saying that it not only made them acquainted with each other and enriched life in that way, but that it also was a need of recreation, and had much to do with the molding of the character. Isolation is not natural to man for God has made him a creature with social instincts, and human natures are warped if people do not enjoy some kind of a social life.

The Tuesday club met with Mrs. Orlando Adams this week. Mrs. Ed Johnson gave a review of Stoddard's lecture on Mexico, and Mrs. Stener presented a biography of Julia Ward Howe. Then followed a general discussion of great interest. Mrs. Adams served a two-course luncheon. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. A. R. Davis.

Mrs. Clarence Corbit entertained former school mates at a big dinner at her home two miles west of town yesterday in honor of Mrs. Claude Hudson. The afternoon was spent in music, taking pictures and having a good time generally. Mrs. Corbit's guests were: Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Rellie Ley, Mrs. Claude Hudson and Mrs. Hedy Craven.

Yesterday's meeting of the Bible circle at the home of Mrs. Graves marked the tenth anniversary of the organization. Mrs. Young was leader, and after the usual study, musical selections were rendered. Then Mrs. Crossland gave a history of the circle. Refreshments were served, and altogether the meeting was very interesting

APPEAL BOND IN THE CASE AGAINST CITY

An appeal bond was filed with the clerk of the district court last Thursday in the case in which an attempt is being made to block the building of a city hall. The action to enjoin the city from buying a site was thrashed out before Judge Graves in the district court here recently, and the result was a refusal to grant a permanent injunction. Now an appeal bond is filed.

There is no good reason why any one should want to obstruct the city in its effort to provide an important public improvement. The hindrance is not a knock on the temple, but on the altar itself. It is a slap in the face of the city, and a slap in the face of the people. It is a slap in the face of the city, and a slap in the face of the people. It is a slap in the face of the city, and a slap in the face of the people.

Following are a few of the many complimentary references to Dr. French who is to lead the evangelistic services at the M. E. church:

Dr. French is entertaining and spiritual. He is not rough and abusive, but captures and holds all classes. He puts in just enough spirit to season well. Do not fail to attend his services. Rev. C. D. Bradley, Bonne Terre, Mo. Evangelist Dr. French, of Neosho, Mo., is strong as a revivalist. He is neither cross nor sensational. He is sound in doctrine and a man of excellent spirit. He reaches and holds the people and is earnest and loyal to our church. J. E. Goins, pastor M. E. church, Sumnerfield, Kas.

Rev. S. A. French of the Saint Louis conference, helped in a meeting at Whitewater last fall and I found him to be a good preacher and Methodist in his teaching. ADMINISTRATION OF SCHOOLS OF UTAH

Editor Herald: Your request for an account of the organization and administration of schools of Utah is at hand.

Just now we are passing through a transition, the like of which I hardly think exists anywhere in the United States, and is very like Germany's present system, calculated to be the best in the world.

After this school year the elementary schools will be wholly separate from the high school. There is a mill levy for the maintenance of high schools separate from the general and bond funds of the state. The affairs of the high school are under a high school commission. They also divide the state into high school districts and designate the cities and towns in which there will be high schools. Utah county with a population of more than thirty thousand will have two high school districts—three high schools in one and two in the other. These high schools, to be able to draw state funds, must be equipped with teachers whose scholastic ability must be investigated and who must have the proper credentials from the state superintendent, or the school forfeits the funds. As I understand it, a pupil must buy all his books and supplies, which are furnished him at the least possible cost. Where it is found impossible for the boy or girl to do this provision is made. Like that idea, for when children are old enough to enter high school they are old enough to earn the money for their own supplies. When this responsibility is placed upon them they will appreciate their advantages more. The high school texts are expensive and mean a lot of money invested for the few.

Every department is supervised; hence the work of the teachers is up to standard. I think that is one mistake Nebraska school boards make, and that is not having proper supervision.

These high schools offer courses in Latin, English, modern languages, science, mathematics, commercial, manual training, music art and domestic science. Normal training is left where it rightly belongs, with the training schools of the university and agricultural colleges and the regular colleges, regardless of denomination. We have separate normal schools. One very excellent training school is at Provo, six miles from here, seat of Brigham Young's university.

The elementary school are fine. Like the high school, they have supervisors. Take Springfield. Our elementary schools are divided into departments—primary and grammar. In the first we have fourteen teachers, besides three supervisors. Grammar has ten teachers besides these three supervisors. Primary grades mean beginners, first, second, third, and fourth. Grammar, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth. Over each of these departments is placed a supervisor, my position being that of supervisor of primary grades. My teachers are all women, while in the grammar grades, all teachers above the seventh are men, the supervisor, a man.

Each department is distinct from the other in the matter of supplies, apparatus, etc. All books, in fact, all things these pupils use, are furnished free. These supervisors meet with the school board once each month. Our salaries are far in advance of those paid in Nebraska.

You never hear that trite excuse of school boards of Nebraska: "Our building and equipment have cost so much that we cannot advance salaries until we are out of debt." Just as though the teachers were expected to teach the schools, and on the side pay for building and equipping the schools. "Utah is a state out of debt and with a surplus of two million dollars in her state treasury. The appointment of school funds just made amounts to thirty-four thousand, seven hundred and twenty-four dollars for our county. We have another appointment in April.

It is needless to add that we have compulsory education. Should a child be absent, the supervisor is informed. She at once notifies the truant officer, whose business it is to investigate and report. Only twice so far has it been necessary for me to call the truant officer. I have, as I have already told you, 500 children under my supervision, ages six to thirteen.

There is much more I would like to write but time forbids.

However, I will add that I like the school spirit here, and am thoroughly enjoying my stay despite the fact of the hard work and responsibility connected with it.

I will try and tell you in my next something of the social features which I consider about ideal.

With kind regards to my many friends, I am as ever,

Yours truly,
MRS. PHILIP
Springville, Utah, January 18, 1912.

COST OF PLANTING DEAD EARS VERY BIG

Do you realize what it means to plant a dead ear of corn? The average ear contains from 800 to 1,000 kernels. Every kernel means a stalk and every stalk an ear. A good ear planted means from 800 to 1,000 ears, or about ten bushels of corn.

Suppose one dead ear is planted. Nothing is returned and a loss of five dollars results.

Twelve good ears of average corn will plant one acre. A loss of one ear means a loss of one twelfth of the corn crop. It can easily be seen what it means to plant corn that will not germinate strongly.

Tests in Nebraska prove that most of the corn will not show germination tests of 50 per cent. That means unless tested corn is planted the yield will be cut down in half. Last year the corn yield amounted to $85,000,000. A loss of one-fourth would practically bankrupt all interests dependent. A loss of one-half will mean a calamity.

Don't fail to test your seed corn. Do it now before it is too late.

COME TO WAYNE TO MARRY.

Monday's Sioux City Journal: The marriage of Earl U. Wood of Sioux City, formerly of Elk Point, and Miss Blanche Morgan of Madison, S. D., was the culmination of a long year romance, following a short courtship. Mr. Wood who is a baggage man on the Milwaukee, arrived in Sioux City late Saturday afternoon and met his fiancée. They had but fifteen minutes in which to catch a train for Wayne, Neb., where they were married by Judge John Britton. The wedding was a well executed surprise on their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wood will make their home in Sioux City.

DOCTOR'S DIRECTIONS

Stanton Register: "I thought that in the fifteen years of my practice of medicine," said a physician, "I had answered almost every possible 'foot question'; but a new one was sprung on me recently. A young man came with an inflamed eye for which I prescribed medicine to be dropped into the eye three times a day. He left the office, but returned in a few minutes, pushed his head in the doorway and asked: 'Shall I drop this in the eye before meals or after?'

CHURCH FEDERATION.

Laurel Advertiser: Bancroft has a collection that should do some good. The churches here have united—Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterians—and had but one preacher. The report does not say which church named the man. That is generally the worst feature of a church union—the people want their own denomination at the head. They might quite as well let a people's preacher.

FOLLEY KIDNEY PILLS.

Always give satisfaction because they always do the work. J. T. Shelcut, Bremen, Ga., says: "I have used Folley Kidney Pills with great satisfaction and found more relief from their use than from any other kidney medicine, and I've tried almost all kinds. I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers for kidney and bladder trouble." Shultheis Pharmacy.

Fire in Bank at Ponca. Ponca Journal: At about 10 o'clock Friday night fire was discovered in the basement of Halstead's bank, having started from the furnace. It penetrated the floor of the building and spread over the first floor. Volunteers hurried to the scene as soon as possible, and when water was available a determined fight was made on the progress of the fire, as with a strong wind from the southeast the fire might have destroyed the main business section of town. The fire was confined to the basement and first floor of the bank. The fixtures were a complete loss.

Orren Knerl, the assistant at the bank, occupied sleeping rooms in the rear, where all his personal effects were destroyed. The rooms of Dr. Lewis, recently so elegantly furnished, were besmoked with smoke, making an overhaul necessary. Attorney W. D. McCarthy's rooms immediately over the bank were also damaged.

The loss to fixtures in the bank alone was about $300.

The building was covered by insurance.

Business was resumed with temporary fixtures at once.

COLD WEATHER HEALTHY.

Omaha, Jan. 25.—Many of the doctor say that there was comparatively little sickness during the extremely cold spell of, but they look for more illness the weather has broken. "A naturally the intensity of such a continuous and of severely cold weather as we have had induces a strain, in the vitality, but with care and prudence will withstand any such strain," the doctor to be the air as common in the university cold climates as in those of frequent changes. If this is correct it must be because people are constantly prepared for the rigors and dress and have the same one day as another.

All of which would suggest the wisdom of extra precaution now that the mercury has begun to upgrade up and down its slender field of habitation.
It will be much easier to expose one's self to the perils of a bad cold or pneumonia by leaving off what one ordinarily wears in winter months, because the weather happens to be mild than it was when the thermometer was registering 10 to 20 degrees below zero. And danger lurks not only in the putting on and taking off of certain apparel, but in a hazel other details of one's daily conduct.

ROSEWATER TALKS OF CUMMINS.

Omaha, Jan. 25.—Concerning the announcement of Senator Cummins of his willingness to make the race for the presidential nomination, Victor Rosewater, republican national committee man for Nebraska, said to the Associated Press today:
"The announcement of Senator Cummins' candidacy is in no way unexpected, as it has been plain for some time that LaFollette was losing ground and that the opponents of Taft could not win on the plan mapped out of centering behind LaFollette and there were many signs foreshadowing a change of base by which a number of favorite sons would be brought out to make the fight one of the field against Taft.

"So far as Nebraska is concerned, if Senator Sumner's name is put on the presidential preference ballot (and it only takes twenty-five signatures to a petition to do this) he will receive a good complimentary vote. In fact, coming from the adjoining state of Iowa, where many Nebraskans formerly lived,
I would not be surprised if he should poll as many votes as LaFollette."

L'OLLETTE COMING WEST.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Senator Robert M.
LaFollette will take his presidential campaign west, possibly as far as the coast, on a trip he will start early in March. Plans for the trip are now being perfected in the LaFollette headquarters here.
"It is more than likely that the senator will touch the Pacific coast," said Robert M. Beck, secretary for LaFollette's committee today. "But even if he should fail to go that far, it is certain he will be heard in the Dakotas, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma."

SHORTHORN SALE IN NEW STOCK PAVILION

The auction sale of Shorthorn cattle belonging to E. M. Hooper and Nels Swanson took place in the new stock pavilion in Wayne last Saturday and was largely attended. E. A. D. H. C. M.
Cuniffman acted as auctioneer, and the bidding was lively from the start.
Mr. Hooper's cattle sold at an average price of $86.25, while Mr. Swanson's cattle sold for an average of $43. There were thirty-eight head altogether.

OUTSIDE POLITICAL VIEWS.

Sioux City Journal: If one could interview Senator LaFollette in his senate-sanction one would probably find that the Wisconsin senator feels toward the Iowa senator a good deal like the editor of Harper's Weekly feels toward the governor of New Jersey.

Omaha Bee: President Taft believes in a fearless and independent judiciary, but he cannot persuade himself that he will have either with the club of popular recall hanging over the head of every judge who conscientiously renders an unpopular decision.

Norfolk Daily News: Senator LaFollette says that the trusts became so strong during the last four years of Roosevelt's term of office that they defied the government. "But really now what does the Wisconsin senator think of the present administration? Does he claim that they are defying the government now? That is what the people after all, are most concerned about.
The indications are all against any such conclusion."

Speaking of the presidential candidacy of Senator Cummins, the Lincoln Journal concludes by saying: "The effect of his candidacy upon the popular vote in Nebraska will apparently be to take away strength from both Taft and LaFollette, but in such proportions as to give the state to Taft, rather than to win it for himself or to give it to his colleague in the senate."

Lincoln Journal: With the clearing away of the mist the Wilson-Harvey incident turns into a tempest in a teapot. We have a most unusual case of strifes here in that there is no dispute as to the facts. Colonel Waterson told Governor Wilson in October that the support of Harvey's paper might injure him. Later, in the presence of Waterston, Harvey asked Wilson if the latter's candidacy was being injured by his support. Wilson, a frank answer being demanded, answered that it was. For telling the truth when pressed to do so Colonel Harvey got a

At the "Center" of the Bell System

In these days of extensive automobile and railroad travel, every telephone should have country wide extensions. It is comforting to know that wherever you go you are likely to find a Bell telephone, and that telephone will be the center of the Bell system.

The telephone may be in a lonely farm house or in a country store but if it is a "Bell", you will be able to communicate with cities and towns all about you.

SPURNS OFFICE HOLDING.

Colonel Bixby in former days... Colonel Bixby of the Wayne Democrat... He had the report that he was a candidate for the state senate, and hastened to extend congratulations. The report is a base canard, or worse. It is a slander without foundation in fact. We have had every kind of it but the itch for office. We feel content to make an honest living in the territory of honest endeavor. From a lifetime of close observation we have reached the conclusion that the pursuit of politics is the sum of all villainies. Once the station of office, but all other activities must go by the board. Abandon hope all ye who enter here. Give us a seat in the state legislature, and our next ambition might be an appointment in the consular service or a place in congress. Where like Dan Stephens, we might spurn the acceptance of a doubtful salary and then vote to continue the miserable mileage grant, one of the very popular methods of getting something for nothing and soaking the people for it. Then look at the fellows one would be obliged to associate with in the state senate. Shall we name them? Spurn us that humiliation.

No, I am not a candidate. An office hunting man. Though every glad to serve the state in any way I can.

I much prefer within my den, Familiar with my job, To sit and soak the wicked men Who come down here to rob.

The hell addicted to their cups Abuse my righteous wealth, I love to smite the venal pup Who dare to cross my path.

But as for any earthly job Search through politics, I answer: "No, sir, no, sir, no, I will not have it."

SCHOOL NOTES.

The sudden extreme change in temperature is causing considerable sickness and as a consequence there are more pupils absent now than during the cold weather. Our high school debating and declaiming preliminaries will be held on Thursday evening, February 8. At this contest a debating team will be selected to represent our high school in the state debating league and also a contestant to represent our high school in the N. N. D. C. at Norfolk on Thursday evening, March 28.

Two good games of basket ball at the high school on Friday evening. Teams from the State Normal, Wayne Athletic club and High School will contest for honors at this popular game. The fifth grade will debate the Woman Suffrage question on Friday evening of this week.

Don't miss the second week of our clearing sale. We have placed on sale many more bargains that will make this week even a greater money saving opportunity than last week.

Supply on the Way. Rufus Gregory is one of the main pillars of the biggest store in his town. The sign of the store is, "We Sell Everything."

When Rufus is asked for anything the store doesn't happen to have on hand he always says, "We are out of that just now, but we have a carload coming." And "Rufus carload" is a local joke. "Rufus" asked a customer one day, "Do you know where I can get a tired girl?" "Well," said Rufus, "we haven't any now, but we have a carload coming."

STATE NORMAL NEWS.

The next meeting of the board of education will be held in March. Miss Bertha Adams has contracted for a winter term of school and began work last Monday. Copy for the February number of the Friend will be in the hands of the printer and the publication will be mailed to subscribers the first of the month.

Students and members of the faculty appreciated the visit of Miss Helen Senter, a student of last year, who attended chapel exercises Wednesday morning and favored the school with a piano solo.

For a time it looked as if the coal famine would strike the Normal, but the timely arrival of two cars of coal the first of the week relieved all anxiety in this regard.

The return of warm weather has permitted the workmen to resume work on the new building, the completion of which has been somewhat delayed by the extreme temperature of the past thirty days.

Two new Monarch typewriters have recently been added to the Commercial department. Professor Wiley now has in use the Smith-Pringle, Remington and Monarch machines.

Mrs. Lewis reports excellent work in her shorthand classes. Two students who began this work in the first of January have just caught a class that began several weeks before and they expect to be in the advanced class before the close of the second semester.

Much interest is being manifested in the preliminary debates from which two debating teams will be selected to meet Perry and Kearney. Several of the young women expect to enter the contest and it is quite probable that the two teams chosen this year will not be composed entirely of young men.

The question for the preliminaries, as well as for the debate with the other normal schools, will be upon the adoption of the Initiative and Referendum as a part of our state constitution.

An old-fashioned spelling contest was held in the chapel last Friday evening. The young men of the school, being matched against the young women. In the written test 100 words were pronounced and the average per cent earned by the young men was 86, and by the young women 90. This was followed by an oral contest in which all who had received 80 per cent or more on the written list were allowed to participate. The decision this time went to the boys, Mac Conklin of Craig, Neb., carrying off the honors.

Right now during what is generally a dull season, it has been necessary to engage extra help to wait on people who are attending the clearing sale at Alcorn's.

An Explanation.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne.

The nickname of "Mad Anthony" attached to the name of General Wayne of Revolutionary fame was due to no trace of insanity, but instead to the man's wild, reckless courage in plunging into battle where the odds against him seemed hopeless. He had other nicknames too. "Dandy Wayne" was one of them, because of his absurd love for wearing fine clothes in the wilderness and in battle. The Indians gave him the nickname of "Black Snake" from the swift and deadliness of his attack. At the outbreak of the Revolutionary war Sir Henry Clinton said of Wayne: "Wherever Mad Anthony Wayne is there's always a fight. That's what he is there for." And Clinton had sufficient experience to know whereof he spoke.

Our Climate an Asset.

On no other continent under no other sun in no other zone, in all the world, can be found the same extent of fertile, available agricultural land as in these United States. And in no other equally large tract, as that stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and between the great lakes and the gulf can be duplicated the same amount of normally good weather as nature has bestowed on this favored land. Our rain and sunshine are so proportioned the one to the other as to produce the best yearly conditions on earth. - Detroit Free Press.

An All Around Sermon.

A sermon had been preached in a cathedral, and some of the clergy who had been present were discussing it at the bishop's luncheon table. One said, "Was not that sermon a little 'high'?" "High" exclaimed another. "It struck me as being decidedly low." "Well, now," put in an orthodox cleric of the old school, "I should have described it as rather broad." "What do you say, bishop?" "I," replied the pariah, "thought it was rather long."

People Are Convinced

ITEN'S FAIRY CRACKERS in family time are one of the most satisfactory FOOD VALUES on the market. Shipments every two days direct from the factory make it possible for this store to supply fresh, crisp crackers, pure and wholesome, and as sweet as a nut. This is another of our quality items which never fail to please.

A word About Coffee

Unroasted coffee improves with age; when roasted the reverse condition exists—it deteriorates. Last fall we purchased 3,000 pounds of green coffee. This was placed in storage and every ten days Folger & Co. forwards from this reserve a shipment freshly roasted and properly blended. Folger's agents never offer a pound of stale coffee. This is the Folger way and has secured this store a wonderful coffee business. People who are hard to please will act wisely to try Folger's. Sold in four grades, never sold in bulk. A suggestion: When you try Folger's extracts and spices use just one-half the usual amount and secure satisfactory results.

Most Furs Wear Long With Care. Most furs are durable, experts say, and will last for a long time if guarded from moths, high temperatures and spring sunshine. A less durable fur is mouton, as it is taken from young animals. Mouton and ermine are also delicate, both in color and texture, and should be carefully treated. Places that make a specialty of storing furs keep them at a uniform winter temperature.—New York Sun.

stating that a daughter of the latter had been granted a life state certificate as teacher. As this is a difficult thing to secure in California, it naturally makes Mr. Smith feel very proud of her achievement. The manager of the Crystal Theatre was successful in obtaining Solig's masterpiece, "Cinderella," which will be shown at the Crystal this evening in three acts.

CHINAMEN ARE TOUGH.

They Can Live Under Conditions That Would Kill a White Man. Peculiar power to resist disease is characteristic of the Chinese, according to Professor E. A. Ross. Fol in a study of ten children born in China about eight, are doomed to die in infancy. The difference is due to the hardships that all the more with among the Chinese and with such racists selection there results a stock displaying a peculiar hardiness. Living in the super-saturated, map stilled land, profoundly ignorant of the principles of hygiene, the masses have developed an immunity to various microbes which excites the wonder and envy of the foreigner.

"They are not affected by a mosquito bite that will raise a large lump on the lately come foreigner," says Professor Ross. "They can use contaminated water from canals without incurring dysentery. There is very little typhoid, and what there is is so attenuated that it is hardly to be credited. All physicians agree that among the Chinese snail-fever is a mild disease. The chief of the army medical staff points out that during the autumn maneuvers the soldiers sleep on damp ground with a little straw under them without any ill effects."

"Capitons, after two hours of burden bearing at a dog trot, will shovel themselves full of hot rice with scarcely any mastication and burry on for another two hours. A white man would writhe with indigestion. The Chinese seem able to sleep in any position. I have seen them sleeping on the ground on a mat or on a pile of straw or a brick for a pillow and with the hot sun shining full into the face. They stand a cramped position longer than we can and can keep on longer at monotonous toil unrelieved by change or break."—Chicago News.

MATHEMATICAL SIGNS.

Process by Which These Familiar Characters Were Evolved. The sign of addition is derived from the initial letter of the word "plus." In making the capital letter it was made more and more carelessly until the top part of the "p" was placed near the center; hence the plus sign was finally reached. The sign of subtraction was derived from the word "minus." The word was first contracted into mu, with a horizontal line above to indicate the contraction, which was a printer's freak that may be found in almost any book bearing a date earlier than the beginning of the eighteenth century. After a lapse of a long period of time the letters were omitted altogether, leaving only the short line so well known to all.

The multiplication sign was obtained by changing the plus sign into a character resembling the letter "x." This was done simply because multiples are not a shorter form of addition. Division was formerly indicated by placing the dividend above a horizontal line and the divisor below. In order to save space in printing the dividend was placed to the left and the divisor to the right, with a simple dot in place of each. The radical sign was derived from the initial letter of the word "radix." The sign of equality is said to have first been used in the year 1557 by a sharp mathematician, who adopted it as a substitute for the words "equal to."

Enlightening a Post. The English poet Mr. Powys told this anecdote, in which he claimed to have been the party of the second part. He said that he was talking to an old country woman on the occasion of the queen's jubilee in 1897. "What do you understand by the word 'jubilee'?" he asked her. "Well," answered the old dame, "if you've been married fifty years and the man's alive it's a golden wedding. If he's dead it's a jubilee."

As he grows older he also observes that he feels the cold more than the thermometer does.

Sparrow Diet For a Store.

An English sparrow flew into the cage in the zoo and began helping itself to the cracked corn thrown upon the ground for the keepers. A Brazilian stork quickly approached and shot out its six inch beak and caught the sparrow. Going to the fountain, the big bird dipped the little one in the water and then swallowed it and looked about for more. "Oh, you cannibal! You ought to get a beating!" exclaimed a woman visitor.

The sparrow ought to know better than to go in there," explained the keeper. "The stork has been eating half a dozen of these birds a week since he came here. The English sparrow has a quick eye and is quick on the wing, and is seldom caught by prowling cats, but doesn't suspect anything with feathers on. The big bird is getting fat on a sparrow diet."—New York Sun.

True to His Promise.

"Dearest, will you let me share your every sorrow after we are married?" she whispered as she caressed her cheek against his.

"Yes, darling," he replied, signing plucking a delicious kiss from her sweet lips.

It was the same lady who two years later wearily cried out:

"Oh, Tom, why can't you ever come into the house without bringing a pile of trouble with you? I'm so sick of hearing about how hard you have to work to keep the bills paid!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Funny Metaphor.

The late King Edward when he was Prince of Wales once made a funny mixture of metaphors. In reply to certain inquiries and admissions he said: "I will do my best to walk in my father's footsteps, which you have been up for my imitation."

Negative Woman.

The Best He Could Do.

"Mr. Addem," said a tightwad merchant to his sad faced bookkeeper, "I wish you would try to look a little more cheerful."

"I think," replied the bookkeeper, swallowing a big lump, "that for 30 shillings a week I'm awfully jolly."—London Mail.

Exciting.

"Anything going on this evening?" "Yes, there's the performance at the Athletic grounds. A fellow will undertake to subdue an automobile that has a record of having killed six men. He's to do it in one hour or forfeit $1,000."—Chicago Tribune.

CRIMINALS IN FRANCE.

Curious Devices Used to Land Them Safely in Jail. Scarcely a day passes without a picture appearing in the French press of a prisoner being led off to the station by a policeman and the description, "the Apache being taken away handcuffed by the agents." As a matter of fact, handcuffs are altogether out of date in France and are never used.

Instead of the bracelets every policeman carries a "cabletie," which is a very rough and massively made article resembling a huge watch chain some ten inches long with a stout wooden crossbar at either end. An expert can slip this over the wrist of an offender in a twinkling and with both the crossbars in his hand this only to give it a twist to bind the most obstinate man and compel instant and limber submission.

Another ingenious method of restraint is to make the prisoner plie both his hands in his side trouser pockets and then pass a string around his wrists and around his waist and tie him march. He can walk at a very smart pace, but any attempt to run out of a snatching trot immediately brings him down, nose to the pavement.

If no string is handy all the brace buttons of the trousers are cut off and the culprit is made again to put his hands in his pockets. As in the former case, he can only walk, since so soon as he frees his hands his nether garments fall about his legs and he is helpless.

Few of these devices are apparent to the casual passerby, who often wonders at the passive docility with which some villainous looking individual under arrest follows his captor to the station. Sometimes on a country road one may meet a couple of gentlemen on foot or on a horseback, leading a prisoner between them.

This is in obedience to a quaint regulation whereby prisoners are never sent by train from place to place, as there are no funds set apart for five-way fares. Consequently four or five times as much is spent in food, drink and lodging for the escort as would be for the ticket, but the regulations are observed. In such cases the police often use the "pooecotes," though strictly speaking this instrument is not legal.

It is a sort of loose thumb screw, which is fixed so as to keep the two thumbs comfortably together so long as the man does not struggle, but a twist of the string held by one of the police is enough to destroy any wish to escape.—London Standard.

She Advised.

He—I'm in love with a charming girl, and I'd like to ask your advice. She—I'm willing to help you all I can. He—Well, would you advise me to propose to her?

He—Pessimism is productive of paralytic and stagnation.

Avoid Rheumatism

Rheumatism with its accompanying pains and tortures, is the result of the decreased action of the kidneys which results in an accumulation of uric acid in the blood.

Treatment should begin with the first hint of trouble.

THESE ALMOST INSIGNIFICANT PAINS IN THE SMALL OF THE BACK MEAN TROUBLE—IT'S A WARNING OF KIDNEY WEAKNESS—INABILITY TO SEPARATE THE POISONS FROM THE BLOOD.

The action of the kidneys is essential—they work constantly and in company with the liver and bladder strive to purify the blood, and keep the system free from poisons. They should have help—if they become weakened or neglected it means rheumatism or Bright's disease. If you would avoid these dangerous diseases use and make sure that the kidneys are restored to their normal strength and activity.

NYAL'S STONE ROOT COMPOUND—START WITH THE FIRST SYMPTOMS

Nyal's Stone Root Compound was devised for the very purpose—to assist the kidneys, bladder and liver in their functions and rid the system of uric acid and other poisons. Does it, too!

The smallpox in Omaha is rapidly spreading and is of the most contagious and fatal kind, greatly resembling the Russian plague. That terrible disease has not made its way up into this part of the state yet, and if people exercise due caution probably it will be confined where it now is.

Mr. Baltzley's steam mill is doing a large business. From July to January the mill cut 180,000 feet of lumber, and since January has been running night and day. Within a few days Mr. Baltzley has built an addition to the mill 22 by 66 feet, and is in other respects making preparations to accommodate the great demand now being made for lumber for building purposes. An ocean of logs are being got in, and last week a purchase of 280 acres of timber land was made so as to keep the business running.

A NORWEGIAN WORD.

Origin of "Budsstikken," Which Means "Spraying the News."

This peculiar word is frequently found in Scandinavian communities as the name of a newspaper, such as St. Olaf Budsstikken. It is a Norwegian word, 1200 years old at the least and has a very interesting history. In those days, when the coasts of Norway were ravaged by pirates, the inhabitants had to resort to all sorts of devices to warn those at a distance of the approach of these piratical craft. When one was seen on the horizon a man would run to the top of a mountain, where he lifted a bonnet. This could be seen for a long distance and was known to be a warning. When the vessel was sighted on another hill (and all over the country there blazed from every hilltop) and the people prepared to defend themselves.

They also had a system of messenger. The man who first sighted the vessel would take an arrow and send it to his neighbors. From town to town this arrow was sent until all were warned. These were rather primitive signs of telegraphing, but were so effective that in the present day telegraph four hours' long Norway kind of the approach of pirates.

This system of spreading the news was called "budsstikken," and when there were no more pirates the news-givers became spreaders of the news "budsstikken" - Exchange.

WESTMINSTER HALL.

Its Bargain Counters, State Trials and Coronation Banquets.

Westminster hall, whose old gray walls have seen coronation banquets and state trials, used to echo with the bargains driven at shops or stalls which at one time fringed its walls like a middle barrier. These were kept by bookbinders, toy dealers, soap-sellers and milliners. The tents and awnings went by right to the warden of the fleet.

An enlivening of the busy scene was made by Mosely and pills taken therefrom by Gravelot before 1773 showing how.

In his old vestments, Sick sempstress vents amidst the courtiers her woe.

In "Tom Brown's Amusements" (1774) we read: "We enter into a great hall where we are surprised to see in the same place men on one side with bayonets and toys and on the other side with a pair of judgment. In this shop are to be sold ribbons and gloves, towers, headresses, etc. On the left hand we hear a nimble tongued painted sempstress with her charming treble invite you to buy some of her knickknacks." - London Mail.

A Fair Offer. It was a political meeting in the east end of London, and the M. P., an exceptionally popular man, was addressing his constituents. The politician in question believed in a luxuriant crop of hair. The audience was sympathetic for the man's part, but there was one man in the front row of the audience, who made numerous interruptions. He was a coal heaver, apparently, and had but recently been leaving coals.

"Get your hair cut," he shouted during a most pathetic passage in the candidate's speech. The well known catch phrase seemed particularly applicable, so a good many of the audience laughed.

But the M. P. was equal to the occasion.

"I will make a bargain with that gentleman," he said. "I will get my hair cut if he will get his face washed."

There were no more interruptions. - London Express.

Har Resignation. "Papa," she said, "I am very angry with Geraldine."

"What's Geraldine done?" asked her father.

"Why, I told her a secret last summer," said the little girl indignantly, "and she has just told me she's going to tell it."

"That's very wrong of Geraldine. Has she any excuse?"

"Why, I told her it was wicked to tell a secret, and what do you think she said?" she said. "Oh, I know, but I've resigned from the secret."

"Papa," she concluded earnestly, "you can't resign from a secret, can you?"
