MEN BADLY BURNED AT CHAPMAN FARM

FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOUSE

Lawrence Olson and Andrew Leif caught upstairs when flames spread from lantern. Two men—Lawrence Olson and Andrew Leif—were seriously injured Saturday night in a fire which destroyed the farm residence of Fred Chapman, eight miles west and three miles north of Winslow. The two men were upstairs, Olson asleep in bed and Leif getting ready to retire. It was about 10:30 o'clock when John Cook, who had been employed about the place, went upstairs to fill a lighted lantern from a five-gallon can of kerosene oil. The oil in the lantern caught fire and Cook hurried down stairs with the blazing lantern, leaving a trail of flaming oil. "Instantly the house was a fire, and escape by way of the stairs was perilous. Suddenly someone jumped from his bed, and without his clothes rushed down the flaming staircase. Seeing that escape through the window was impossible, Leif broke a window and managed to get out after being badly burned. The broken window admitted a current of air that helped the house to soon become a seething mass of fire. Messrs. Olson and Leif started for the home of C. W. Anderson, nearly a mile away, but the former was so weakened by his severe burns that he fell and had to be assisted to a neighbors' house. Dr. Cherry of Winslow, was summoned by phone and made a quick drive to the Anderson farm where he found the two sufferers, particularly Olson, in a very serious condition. Olson's flesh was so badly burned in places that it rolled up and dropped off. His recovery is doubtful. The doctor dressed their burns, and made them as comfortable as possible. Mr. Chapman and family who occupied the ground floor of the house, were not hurt. John Cook who filled the lighted lantern, also escaped injury. Nothing was saved from the house. The latter belonged to Mr. Chapman's father, E. Chapman, and was insured. There was no insurance on the contents.

WAYNE IS PROMISED MUCH NEW BUILDING

The present year is certain to see Wayne make unusual progress in building operations. The contract will soon be let for the new city hall, and a structure that will satisfy the demands of public affairs as well improve the appearance of the city will be erected. In time the ground surrounding the proposed hall will be parked and beautified. The proposed new library building will soon be in course of construction. The increased cash appropriation guarantees a better building than originally expected. The new science hall at the State Normal is nearing completion, and in this connection it may be said that the next legislature will be asked to appropriate money for another building. A new depot will come along in time—perhaps this year. There are many new dwellings in prospect and contractors will be able to give definite information before long. This should be a lively building year in Wayne.

FRIDAY'S PAVILION SALE DRAWS CROWD

Men interested in the horses and other things offered for sale through the stock pavilion last Friday. Auctioneers E. & D. H. Cunningham showed usual skill in conducting the sales. The crowd was in a buying mood, as Wayne county crowds usually are, and the auctioneers experienced no delay in arousing quick response and spirited bidding. The pavilion brings buyer and seller together, and is advantageous to both. The institution is a good thing for the surrounding country as well as for Wayne.

V. A. SENTER WINS.

V. A. Senter of the mercantile firm of Gamble, Senter & Co., won the second prize of $8 for the best plan of increasing the sale of Star brand shoes. Three prizes were offered by the Robert Johnson & Rand Shoe company of St. Louis, and when it is known that there were over 2,000 merchants in competition for the prizes, the credit to Mr. Senter as winner of second place is more fully appreciated.

NECESSARILY OMITTED.

On account of lack of space in the last run made by the Herald today, the usual summary is necessarily omitted. Through oversight in making up page 9, the advertisement of H. H. Taylor, whose sale took place Monday, appears again.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Here the school program February 22. Our basket ball team will play at Pierce Friday evening of this week. Recent visitors were Mr. Milder, Mr. and Mrs. Boeckenhauer, Mr. Henderson, Mrs. Ripon and sister and Mrs. Welch. The basket ball game between our team and the Lyons high school last Friday evening resulted in a victory for Lyons by 19 to 6. The visiting team was strong, but it was a good, clean, close game throughout, and merited a better attendance. A preliminary game between the seventh and eighth grades was very good, the former winning by a small margin. On Friday evening February 23, an entertainment will be given in the high school assembly room by the schools. In this program every grade will be represented. Prizes for school benefits. Our high school orchestra made its first public appearance on such last Thursday evening when the organization rendered first class music in connection with the debating and declaiming contest. This is the nucleus of what no hope will be a great high school orchestra. "Ethel" Young is the leader. Last Friday morning the Junior class gave the following program with Raymond Durig presiding: "Piano solo by Ruth Shearburn, essay, "Facts About Alaska," by Edward Jones, piano solo by Jessie Crockett. Entertainment at high school February 23-Attended. Miss Hardy, one of the high school teachers, is unable to teach and Miss Calloun of Ashland, Neb., has been engaged to teach in her place. The declaiming and debating contest at the high school last Thursday evening was well attended. In the declaiming contest Marjorie Kohl won first and Jessie Wade second. In the debating contest Tracy Kohl, Clement Crossland and Bernard McConnell were chosen as our team with Frank Stoddard its alternate. Mr. Moran, Mr. Orr and Mr. Chace, members of the board of education, and Professor Howe, Professor Britton and Professor Lecky of the State Normal faculty, were the judges of the contest. Willis Flinthoek sang a solo in his usual pleasing manner. Class spirit ran high, each class having its leader for the yeils. The debating and declaiming was all of a high class.

FRIDAY'S PAVILION SALE DRAWS CROWD

Men interested in the horses and other things offered for sale through the stock pavilion last Friday. Auctioneers E. & D. H. Cunningham showed usual skill in conducting the sales. The crowd was in a buying mood, as Wayne county crowds usually are, and the auctioneers experienced no delay in arousing quick response and spirited bidding. The pavilion brings buyer and seller together, and is advantageous to both. The institution is a good thing for the surrounding country as well as for Wayne.

FRIENDS SURPRISE C. C. BASTAIN FAMILY

Forty neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bastain gathered at their home ten miles south of Winslow about noon last Thursday, carrying with them supplies for a big dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Bastain were agreeably surprised, and gave their guests a cordial welcome. Following the dinner, the company spent the afternoon in general sociability. Mr. and Mrs. Bastain have lived on the one farm for thirty six years, and they now propose to move to Wayne and beyond the balance of their lives to the greater ease which they have earned and can well afford. Those present: Alex Scott and wife, Carl Frevert and wife, Carl Frevert and wife, Magnus Westlund and wife, Fred Erickson and wife, Abram Gilderleeve and wife, A. E. Gilderleeve and wife, Frank Lee and wife, Mrs. Dora McManis, William Wickand and sister Sophia, and a number of children. It was a happy crowd, and the occasion was made very pleasant.

UGLY GASH IN FOREHEAD.

William Peterson, stepson of Henry Paik, living eight miles south of Wayne, suffered an ugly gash in his nose and forehead last Friday while cutting down a tree. The young man is not sure how the accident happened. It is likely, however, that when the tree fell it suddenly threw the ax back on his head. He was unconscious for two hours. Dr. J. J. Williams was summoned and dressed the wound. Doubtless one reason why so many people like to work is because they have to.

POND-BRESSLER.

Mr. Almon Pond, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pond, and Miss Inez Bressler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Bressler of Lehigh precinct, were united in marriage at the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. William Gorst, Sunday evening at 6:30. Even relatives of the contracting parties had not been apprised in advance of the coming wedding and they were given a pleasant surprise. After the ceremony, the bride and groom were entertained at a wedding supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brisley in Wayne. The newly wedded couple will leave March 1 for Powell, Wyo., near where Mr. Pond owns some land. They will be accompanied by the good wishes of numerous friends.

TAKING A STAND.

(Richly in Lincoln Journal.)
You want to know the reason why I'm for Taft?
He stands for peace and so do I—
I'm for Taft.
War causes naught on earth but grief; Of all our sins it is the chief. It rots the nations like a thief—
I'm for Taft.
He's made mistakes, I am aware—
I'm for Taft—
No man is perfect anywhere.
I'm for Taft.
Now, while I'm thinking, let me state I have no axe to grind—no fate Could tempt me as a candidate—
I'm for Taft.
No office bee-hives in my lid—
I'm for Taft.
I seek no favors—Lord forbid—
I'm for Taft.
I've studied mighty hard to find What is my duty to mankind;
Result, I have made up my mind—
I'm for Taft.
I may be wrong—I think I'm right—
I'm for Taft.
From Now till April, day and night,
I'm for Taft.
I've no abuse for anyone
Who seeks to be the favored son,
But, after all is said and done,
I'm for Taft.
Though in some ways he makes mesore,
I'm for Taft.
Some might do less, few could do more.
I'm for Taft.
He has I've said, and say again The common weaknesses of men.
Since none have reached perfection, then,
I'm for Taft.
I freely take my pen in hand—
I'm for Taft—
That you may know right where I stand—
I'm for Taft.
This fact I hardly need to tell, I love LaFollette passing well. And Teddy, too, yet spite of everything I'm for Taft.

DEATH OF JOHN F. CONLEY.

After having been an invalid for eight years, John F. Conley died Sunday in Wayne, aged 91 years and 12 days. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Monday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. William Gorst. Nine of the ten sons and daughters surviving him were in attendance at the funeral. The deceased was born in Johnson county, Ia., January 29, 1821. At the age of 18 he went to Benton county, Mo., where in early manhood he was married to Martha Fowler. To them two children were born, both of them having died. A number of years after the death of his wife, he married Mandana King in Black Hawk county, Ia. To this union were born seven daughters and four sons, all but one of whom are living. Mr. Conley and family moved to Wayne county, Neb., twenty eight years ago, and have lived here since then. At the age of 32 Mr. Conley professed conversion and joined the M. E. church. His faith never faltered, and when the hour to depart came he passed gladly and peacefully away. His wife survives him.

ENDORSEMENT AND PRAISE ARE DIVIDED

Lincoln, Neb., February 12.—Former President Roosevelt and Senator LaFollette were given praise and endorsement in equal terms, both were declared fit candidates for the presidency, but neither were specifically endorsed for that office at the meeting here tonight of Nebraska republican progressives. It was a harmony meeting, attended in about equal numbers of supporters of Mr. Roosevelt and Senator LaFollette, who declared their willingness to abide by the decision of the presidential preference vote at the primary election in April. A primary ticket was selected, divided as nearly equal as possible between followers of Roosevelt and LaFollette. The ticket is as follows: National Committeeman—R. B. Howell, Omaha. Delegates at large—J. J. McCarthy, Ponca; E. L. King, Osceola; Nathan Merriam, Omaha, and D. L. Love, Lincoln. Alternates at large—Don Vandusen, Blair; J. A. Davies, Boyd county; O. L. Sherman, Fairbury, and Dan Garber, Red Cloud. Electors at large—J. A. Renshaw, Broken Bow, and W. J. Brounch, Omaha. There was some discussion on how to designate the candidates on the ticket, whether they should bear the label "Roosevelt" or "LaFollette," but it was decided the word "progressive" would serve the purpose. Col. W. L. Houser of Wisconsin, chairman of the LaFollette national organization, addressed the gathering briefly, congratulating Nebraska progressives on their efforts and predicting the success of progressive principles. Governor Aldrich was accepted as the spokesman of the Roosevelt forces, but neither speaker closed in his endorsement of the two men. The resolutions, after praising Roosevelt and LaFollette, endorsed the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the Nebraska constitution; the administration of Governor Aldrich and the acts of Congressman George W. Norris.

BOX SOCIAL AT GRACE CHURCH BIG SUCCESS

The Ladies' Aid society of Grace church, southwest of Wayne, has established a high financial record for a box social. One was given at the church Friday evening, boxes amounted to $100. A large crowd attended. Preceding the auction of baskets, a program of music, speaking and moving pictures was carried out. The well filled baskets merited and received good prices. Perry Beneshoff officiated as auctioneer and prices ranged as high as $4.30 piece. The bidding was lively and created plenty of good-natured rivalry. Everybody had a good time.

NEW SUB-DIVISION TO WAYNE.

We have secured an eighty-acre tract (three blocks from the Wayne post office), which is sub-divided into 10, 20 and forty acre tracts, which would make an ideal home for any family wishing a small farm right near the heart of the city, suitable for poultry, hog raising and truck farming at very reasonable prices and easy terms. This is just outside the corporation. Come and see us at once. We will be glad to show you the property. There is one set of improvements to go with 10, 20 or 40 acres of this land—Fisher, Johnson, Durig Co., over post-office. F1811

The evening was pleasantly spent, being concluded with a delicious oyster supper. A number of neighbors and friends pleasantly surprised Mrs. Van Bradford this afternoon when they gathered at her home and spent a few hours in general sociability. They brought baskets of eatables and late in the afternoon a dainty lunch was spread. The Bible Study circle had a most enjoyable meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed Johnson. The hostess served delicious refreshments in honor of the occasion. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. J. Coleman. Mrs. C. A. Grothe, leader. All the ladies invited to attend. ### Reasons Why the Great Majestic You Should Buy.

- 1st. It has the reputation of being the best range money can buy.
  - 2nd. It not only has the reputation, but IS the best range made, and we will prove this to you if you will let us.
  - 3rd. It is constructed of malleable iron material you can't beat, and of charcoal iron material that resists rust 300 per cent greater than steel; is riveted together air tight. No heat escapes or cold air enters the range, thus uses very little fuel to do perfect work.
  - 4th. The reservoir alone is worth the price of range over any other reservoir made. It boils fifteen gallons of water; is heated like a teakettle, with pocket against left hand lining, and is movable and sets on a frame, hence cannot wear out. When water gets too hot it can be moved away from the fire.
- Majestic ranges use less fuel, heat more water—and heat it hotter; cost practically nothing for repairs; lasts three times as long; bakes better; easier to keep clean and gives better satisfaction than any other range on the market. If you know positively that the above statements are true, wouldn't you buy a Majestic at once?
- Come in demonstration week and we'll prove it to you.

S. R. Theobald & Co. The Racket Wayne, Nebraska

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

Sometimes I get tired of my writing, and think with some heartrending groans of those who make business of fighting, and gather in WEARINESS bushels of honors. Sometimes I grow tired of the battles sent out to my readers as rhymes, and think of the Minutemen and veterans who fallow in diamonds and times. Sometimes I grow tired of the bustle of breaking camp, words from their stumps, and think I would like to see the whippersnappers all dead and with grave. Sometimes I get tired of the million disfigurements, marring my face, and wish I was lovely like Lullian, a vision of beauty and grace. My wishes I simply can't sink 'em, they float like the leaves on the river! I wish I was Liddy E. Pinkham, dispensing my luck-aid pills. I wish I was a Rockefeller, with seventeen kinds of a roll, when I push myself down to the cellar and look at what's left of the end. But, happiness soon re-appearing, I put all my gloom on the shelf, and go around whooping and cheering, and saying: "I'm glad I'm myself!"

Life is short—I've much to do—so I can't sit round with you putting up a file of writings, talking of some fellow's failings, thrashing NO TIME TO WASTE. Life is short and I am busy writing verses and ditty, and the fear may have a bond, not with a large staffed rouser on it, and I haven't time for fussing over the government or causing mischief laws which knock the people higher than the village shepherds. Life is short, it's through its slender, and I'm busting a suspender, fairly tearing up the trackage to accumulate a package, so that when I'm old and hoary I can live in pomp and glory. So that when at last I'm plucked, my fat ghost will not be haunted by the hungry widow's sighing—so I haven't time for crying over the nation's affairs, troubles, or the "magnificent" blasted bubbles. Life is short and men are fooling time away in empty drooping over things that don't concern them, doing things that never will burn them, and doing things that never will do them.

The backbone of winter is often decried by people who huddle around the fire-side; whenever old Boreas kicks up his heels, they send REAL WINTER up, a package of lachrymose spittle and sigh for a country where snow isn't found, where roses and lilacs will bloom the year round. But I love a country with all kinds of snows, where Winter has whiskers clear down to his toes, where blizzards cavort and the icicles cling all over your features till chawed in the spring. For cold is a lion, it that braces you up and makes you as gay as an unlicensed pup; it fills you with ardor to do hefty things, the heat they man like it and makes and sings. A wind whooping down from the white Greenland hills is better than anyone's cottonwood "pills," while languorous zephyrs will fill you with life and make it hard later to bubble and smile. There's energy, health and a solace in cold! The backbone of winter is better than gold.

The new year strains against its traces, as young colts will, when feeling gay; and grave and melancholy faces I see around HOW ABOUT IT? no every day. At Christmas time—you may remember, 'twas but a little while ago, about the last week in December—we said we'd cut out useless woe. We'd try to make the Christmas spirit remain with us the whole year through; we'd care our cares, or pretty near it, and raise a joyous whoop-ye. We'd be so kind to one another, and loving anthems we would chant, and every guy we'd call a brother, and let him come and wed our aunt. And, though this year's extremely youthful, where are those resolutions now? Can you stand up serene and truthful, and say you've kept a Christmas vow? Alas, we're feeble erring mortals who seldom walk as we aspire. And Col. Satau stands and ebullies and heaps more brimstone on the fire.

The orators rage up and down, and often blow into our town to talk on Vital Themes; they give us theories new and old, Napoleonic plans, manifold, and the SPELLBINDERS hand us crazy dreams. I'd like to hear one man of now's talk plain horse sense for half an hour and bid his hearers rise and go to work like honest lads, and learn to save their hard earned seeds—such talk as that is wise. Bill Wax draws fifteen bones a week and says the government's a freak since he does not get more; he thinks it is the nation's crime that he has such a hearty time to keep wolves from his door. And when he gets his weekly pay he blows the most of it away, his salary has wings; he buys the dearest kind of meat, all sorts of flossy things to eat, instead of simpler things. He spends his money like a child, and then he listens to some wild spellbinder band out puff, assuring him he's poor because the country needs some better boys, and all that sort of stuff. Ten thousand tickle-me in this land, and never one of them will stand before an audience and argue that a man should jerk his pocket off and get to work and exercise horse sense.

The boy stood on the burning deck a long, long time ago, and people viewed the fire sweep wreck, and said: "I told you so!"

"THE BURNING DECK" I asked you forty thousand times to have your ship insured, and now you're punished for your crimes you'll be well smoked and cured!" Another watched the fire's red raids, and said: "It serves him right! I tried to sell him hand grenades, he simply wouldn't bite!" A third remarked: "It's proper luck!" I offered him one day a first-class hook and ladder truck—he chivied me away!" The boy stood on the burning deck until he thought he'd bake, then wrapped his whiskers round his neck and jumped into the lake. He couldn't swim—he had a "qualm"—his "chance seemed mighty slim!"—Pwas—then that Mary's little lamb swam out and rescued him.

NEBRASKA FOR PEACE.

Freemont Tribune: A branch of the international Peace society has been organized in Nebraska. William J. Bryan being elected an honorary president. Many other prominent citizens have become members to help in the object of the association.

As its name indicates, the one work of the society is to promote the cause of peace with the hope of ultimately abolishing war. As a long step in that direction, the society at its first meeting adopted resolutions endorsing the arbitration treaties now before the senate. An address was also prepared to be sent to Senators Brown and Hitchcock urging them to vote for the ratification of the measures. Incidentally, it may be remarked, Senator Brown has gone on record favoring ratification. He has taken a stand with the president in support of what many believe to be the greatest achievement of this administration, namely, the successful negotiation of arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France. But, this petition will not be amiss so far as Senator Hitchcock is concerned. He has addressed the senate in opposition to the treaties, finding objection to them in fear that they provide for some surrender of senatorial prerogative, dignity, and privilege, a mere quibble.

War is the great crime of the centuries. It follows that whatever will abolish it will be the greatest blessing and the greatest achievement of the century. These arbitration treaties may not, of themselves, succeed in accomplishing this far-reaching and important result. It is within bounds of reason to believe that they will accomplish much, if not all that is expected of them.

It is encouraging to note that prominent men in Nebraska of all political parties have united in support of President Taft's dreams of universal peace, of ending the horrors of war and lifting military burdens from the backs of the people.

VON SEGGERN-HOLZHAUSEN.

Winer Chronicle: Mr. Emil VonSeggern and Miss Martha Holzhausen, both of Wayne county, were married at the home of the former's brother, Mr. J. G. VonSeggern, on Wednesday of last week. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Nitzsche in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends of the young couple. Mr. Edward Monnich of Hooper, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Henry Fress acted as groomsmen, and Miss Frieda Holzhausen, sister of the bride, and Miss Anna Hunte, daughter of Hooper, were bridesmaids. After the ceremony, an elegant dinner was served and the remainder of the day passed in a joyous celebration of the event. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. VonSeggern of Wayne, and grew up on the farm where he was married; his bride is the daughter of Mrs. August Schulz of Wayne county. After a visit to the groom's folks at Wayne, they will begin housekeeping on a farm adjacent to the old Von Seggern homestead, with the best wishes of a host of friends.

Ashton, Idaho, Enterprise: We see by the Waynes, Neb., Democrat of last week that Don Cunningham is advertising for a cook for his Idaho ranch. Now if Don really wants a cook we believe that he could get one here, without advertising in the newspapers. Couldn't he, girls? It's leap year, too, and a hint would likely be enough if Don would stick around a month or two before he needed her out at the ranch.

Wayne people would likely look with favor on a proposition for municipal ownership of railway stations. This assumption is based on the probability that it will get a new city hall before it gets a new depot.

Mrs. Surritt was hanged in Washington nearly fifty years ago as a party to the conspiracy which led to the assassination of President Lincoln, and now the stenographer who took the testimony at her trial says he is convinced that she was innocent. The fear has long been that an innocent woman was put to death. The minds of people were easily inflamed at the time of Lincoln's murder, and it has been suspected that Mrs. Surritt suffered conviction and death as the result of hasty judgment not sufficiently supported by evidence.

The Herald has received a copy of the platform of William G. Stamm, who is asking for the democratic nomination for state railway commissioner. Mr. Stamm is a wholesale merchant at Lincoln, and thinks he has paid enough freight to know some things about the regulation of freight rates, which he points out as the most important subject for the consideration of the commission. He says express rates are too high, and that he would, if chosen commissioner, labor and persevere in an endeavor to secure revision downward. His platform is very well prepared, indicating that he is a judicious merchant and that he might make as creditable a showing as a member of the commission as present incumbents. If it were possible for him to be elected, which it isn't.

The public service of Lincoln whose birthday was observed Monday, gains appreciation—and praise—with passing years. The central figure in the Civil war period was misrepresented and misunderstood and abused at that time quite as much as President Taft is today. Fortunately, when the votes were counted, it was found he had been sustained by a majority of the people. Not until after Lincoln was dead did the south generally regard him as a friend of the whole country, and regret that he had not lived to lead the work of reconstruction. Whether the great service President Taft is doing for the nation will be appreciated by enough people in time to save him from defeat, remains to be seen. It is, indeed, to be regretted that a man's good work is often not deservedly recognized and appreciated until after he is dead.

Every man who dumps and sends ashes in streets or alleys, doubtless has an aversion to doing so, feeling that it is a practice, which a growing city should not tolerate. But each man in doubtfully figures he is no greater offender than many others who are doing the same thing. As a matter of fact, however, everybody should quit it. Ashes ought to be piled up and hauled away. Streets and alleys strewn with ash are unightly, and when the wind blows, the fine particles fill the air, and are unpleasant and probably unhealthy. After we get through this winter, let us conclude that streets and alleys have enough ash filling and refuse to avoid the practice in the future. If there is no city ordinance to encourage duty, let us have one. If there is one, let it be enforced.

Two of the several wings of the republican party met at Lincoln Monday to name some candidates in opposition to Taft, and demonstrate their feeling for a movement for either Roosevelt or LaFollette for president. The meeting was an attempted consecution of supporters of the two men, the purpose evidently being to be in condition to boost the one prominently in the contest toward the close. The two wings didn't harmonize extra well as shown later by a call from John O. Yeiser, who headed the Roosevelt petition in Nebraska, to hold a Roosevelt convention in Omaha February 22. Though resolutions were adopted at Lincoln dealing out praise to both Roosevelt and LaFollette, Yeiser says the meeting did not treat Roosevelt fairly. Therefore, he wants another meeting. The 100 men in attendance at Lincoln were unanimous in wanting to best Taft.

but were not unanimous in choice of the man who should be pushed to the front. They got no good reason for wanting to crush Taft, and really couldn't. They befogged the situation with generalities, and raised their voices in praise of Roosevelt and LaFollette. They didn't suggest that farm products and live stock would go higher in price, or that land values would increase, or that general business would grow better. They were not thinking about the effect of those things either way they may had their ears to the ground, and have thought they could hear rumblings of discontent, feeling that there is a possible opportunity to scuttle the administration ship and triumphantly mount the wreckage to share in the distribution of the salvage. These suggestions, while likely to be spurned by members of the Lincoln meeting, may be considered in the absence of any good reason for the movement.

PECK'S BAD BOY.

He has a full stock of new and funny things for you, that cannot fail to make you think for the time at least, that life is all sunshine.

The following resolution was introduced and read by the clerk:
Whereas, on November 13, 1911, warrant No. 13, for $142.22, was issued to H. Hinchell, said warrant was registered for payment November 17, 1911, registry number 1 and payment refused for want of funds, and whereas there is now about $100 accumulated in the city treasury for the payment of said warrant,
Now therefore, be it resolved that two warrants be issued in favor of the holder of said warrant, one for the sum of $100 and one for the balance of said warrant, the warrants to be in the consideration of the surrender and cancellation of said warrant number 13.
Roll call on the above resolution was as follows: Ayes, Bright, Sprague, McVicker and Larison. Nays, none.
The clerk was instructed to put a notice in the Wayne Herald and Nebraska Democrat stating that sealed bids for the contractor for the city hall would be received by the council on or before noon, March 20, 1912; said bids to be filed with the city clerk.
Ordinance No. 204 was read for the third time and passed and ordered published.
It was moved and seconded to approve the notice of bids to be accepted. Motion carried.
It was moved and seconded that the mayor appoint a committee to act with himself in the purchase of 500 feet of saw timber. Motion carried.
No further business appearing before the council, motion was carried to adjourn.

PECK'S BAD BOY.
Every youngster in town was tickled as could be when he saw the bills go up announcing the coming of Peck's Bad Boy to the opera house on Feb. 16. The older ones were pleased as well for the familiar farce comedy is a favorite with both old and young. The promise of "everything new" adds not a little to the pleasure of anticipation. Novel specialties, sketches, together with the most popular songs of the season presented by a good company of comedians and singers, are sure to make a record showing the farce comedies of the day. Don't miss it.

folk. After a bounteous dinner prepared by the ladies of the Carroll County association, all present gathered along Main street to view the parade of prize-winning hogs, interesting features of which were the five six-horse draft teams hitched to new wagons. One of the six-horse teams consisted of the first, second and third prize draft teams belonging to Edward Ross, Lawrence Jenkins and John L. After the speeches the Carroll band favored the crowd with several lively selections. Mr. Hull closed the program with a plea for better farm homes as a means of keeping the boys and girls on the farm. Burson furnished the music. Every one present was delighted with the meeting and felt that much good had been accomplished. We only regret that a few good reasons to remain away. Another meeting of this kind may be held in the Spring. The writer cannot too highly commend the papers read and shall attempt to give the gist of each of them in this paper, as space will permit. We present this week a part of the paper on "Some Things a Teacher Appreciates," which was prepared by Miss Burson. Education is living. Life itself is worth while, and the teachers must not work wholly for remote ends. The school is a place where the children are prepared for future usefulness. The school should also be a place where the children get some present satisfaction. The teacher's duty is to see that both of these ends are realized. The child must be inspired and interested. The inspiration should not depend on the teacher alone; parents have an equal share in this responsibility. A conscientious teacher will get her best but if she is not helped by home influences in the right direction her work is extremely difficult. Teachers appreciate talks with you concerning the treatment of your children personally, and in their school work. If the teacher is approached in a kindly manner and is sensible the conference will be of benefit to all concerned. Get acquainted with the teacher and try to understand him. Each should criticize himself before an attempt is made to criticize others. Come to us instead of each other with your seeming cause for dissatisfaction as soon as it originates and give us a fighting chance. Teachers will thank you for it. They are only human, the same as yourself and are liable to make mistakes like yourself. All stories have two sides; hear both before judgment is passed; it is up to you to investigate immediately. The work of the school is open to inspecation by any one at all times, and a little encouragement from you will go a long way in promoting the welfare of pupils and teachers. By visiting in this way you will not depend on sales out of school alone, but will have the opportunity to observe and understand the teaching methods used and determine whether or not your child is capable of being pushed ahead faster than is already being done. A competent teacher knows the capabilities of your child and will assist him in his progress, whether it be fast or slow. We appreciate your efforts in assisting the children when given supplementary work. Efforts in this direction are never criticized by us. We also appreciate your presence in attendance with the pupils here prepared about every Monday to attend the checker tournament. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Olson went to Crofton Saturday to visit friends over Sunday. Mrs. Dr. Johnson and daughter of Norfolk, visited at the P. L. Donaldson home over Sunday. Mrs. C. O. # Telephone Talking

The wonderfully rapid growth of the telephone has made its use universal and its misuse a matter of keen public concern.

When you talk over the telephone, speak in a slow, distinct and even tone, with your lips about an inch from the mouthpiece, talking directly into the transmitter.

Telephone diagrams are constructed for ordinary modulations of the voice and to talk otherwise is not conducive to the best transmission.

When your telephone rings, do not reply "hello!" Answer by giving your name, as "Brown speaking" or "John & Company, Brown talking." That method saves useless words and is both courteous and direct.

In making a call, the figures of a telephone number should be separated and one number given at a time.

For example, in calling "Black 140," when Central asks for the number, say "Black one-four oh."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Logan Valley Herald, February 15, 1884:

I. M. Balknap and G. W. Graham form a partnership in the real estate business.

W. H. Hamilton sells his real estate business, with the intention of moving to Keith county.

The Wilkins house caught fire, but the flames were put out before much damage was done.

M. Prulin, a Wakefield real estate man, was seriously injured in a runaway accident near Emerson.

The editor of the Emerson, Ia., Chronicle having asserted that immigrants from that locality to Wayne county would be going back within a year, he published a column of sarcasm from a Wayne farmer signing himself "G. A. C."

From the Wayne Herald, March 3, 1892:

Jacob Dornberger and John Cleaver, contractors, form a partnership.

The teachers of eight northeast Nebraska counties held a convention in Wayne.

Local market: Wheat, 61 cents; corn, 23 cents; oats, 21 cents; rye, 60 cents; flax, 70 cents.

Married, March 4, 1892, Fred Van Norman and Souse Danne, Rev. M. L. Melick officiating.

Born, February 25, a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leutz of Hoskins, and February 25, a girl to Mr. and Mrs. August Ziemer of Hoskins.

From the Wayne Herald, February 27, 1903:

Joe Shannon and family move to Wayne from Hoskins.

Married, February 26, Mr. Fay Arnold and Miss Bertha Brown, by Rev. R. Weldon.

George Rohwer sells his farm north west of town to Kasper Kern and Charles Spahr.

The little adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Richards, died from hemorrhage, due to spasms.

J. G. Grimley purchased a farm in Maynard county, Ill., with the intention of moving there March 1.

Local market: Corn, 43 cents; wheat, 57 1/2 cents; oats, 35 cents; hogs, $5.40; butter, 18 cents; eggs, 15 cents.

Married, February 26, 1903, at high noon, Mr. H. B. Jones to Miss Mayde Tucker, Rev. C. R. Weldon officiating.

Died, February 22, 1902, of apoplexy Mr. A. H. Ellis, who was engaged in the lumber and coal business.

From the Ponca Journal, March 27, 1879:

A. E. Barnes, Bag, the brother of Judge Barnes was admitted to practice law at the term of district court held at Nebraska last week. His card, as attorney, will be seen in this paper.

Dixon county against the world, for hen fruit, P. F. Roban of Newcastle, brought three eggs to this office to be sold, two of which measured in circumference eight by six and one-half inches and another six by seven and one-half.

L. T. Hill, esq., of Ionia, was in town this week and made us a brief call. He states that the parties from Dakota who are mining in the neighborhood of the Ionia volcano for coal, seem to be well satisfied with the indications and prospects. The coal they have thus far found is similar to that which has been dug out near Ponca.

From the Ponca Journal, March 23, 1882:

A petition 2,400 feet long (over a third of a mile) and containing 120,000 names, was sent this week from Chicago to the president, asking for the pardon of Alston, the man who shot at Garfield.

Professor Ferris has found some government land about a mile from this town, and has taken it as a homestead. There are 160 acres of it; a part of it is timber valley land, and the balance is good for raising prairie grass.

Regular daily train from Covington to Norfolk will not commence running until about the 15th of next month. The days for running the train to Wakefield and Wayne have been changed to Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Sheriff Jones made a trip to Wakefield and Wayne last week. He was greatly pleased with both of those fine towns, which he states are growing with rapid speed. Mr. Boyd who accompanied him bought a business lot in Wayne and is expecting to remove to that place.

FORMER WAYNE MAN SUED FOR DIVORCE

Chicago, Ill., February 8.—Mrs. Oscar Harmon has filed suit for divorce, charging that she and her husband are first cousins, marriage of whom is unlawful in this state. Oscar Harmon, she says, is a son of James Harmon of Wayne, Neb. They were first born in 1898. Harmon recently sued J. W. Rhoads for $25,000 for alienating his wife's affections.

OBITUARY

Columbus Tribune-Journal: The remains of the late Dr. Herman K. Schenck, of Hoskins, Neb., who committed suicide at that place last Tuesday by drinking cyanide acid, were brought to this city last Thursday afternoon and interment was made in Columbus cemetery. Rev. R. Nommakor, pastor of the German Reformed church of this city, conducted a short service at the grave. The deceased became despondent over ill health and the loss of medical practice, and it is thought for those reasons he evidently chose death as a relief.

Dr. Schenck was born in Herford, Westphalia, Germany, in 1855, being at the time of his death almost 57 years of age. The deceased was brilliantly educated and a man of gentlemanly bearing. He attended the university of Koll and Hilsberg of Germany, and graduated from this institution with the highest honors. He came to America the first time in 1876 to attend the centennial exposition held at Philadelphia. He returned to Germany in 1886 and he did not again visit America and in this year settled in Fremont where he practiced his profession. In 1888, he was united in marriage to Miss Emma Hoelzer of Columbus, eldest daughter of the late Dr. Hoelzer, formerly one of the pioneer physicians of this city. Dr. Schenck and family are well known, not only in this city but throughout the state as they resided in many towns and cities of the state.

THE CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

The latest horrible discovery is that the circulating library is dangerous because it is the means of diffusing deadly micro-organisms all over the neighborhood. And think what a ghastly number of these enemies-of-life are carried about in our everyday wearing apparel. Universal and perpetual contamination and disinfection seem to be imperatively demanded, and when that comes to pass, an army of doctors will be the newest accession to the multiplying ranks of the unemployed. Bacilli that have long annoyed Are doomed to destruction; These merry microbes once destroyed Will bring us full salvation.

Long have these "organisms" wrought To raise an insidious faction; To time has come the hour, To find their final doom, Of their complete destruction.

Let anticipations be secured For people fat and wheezy; For all the ills we have endured The remedy is easy!

To find the way we've waited long— And worked like all creation; Now let us lift our hearts in song— Behold the "demonstration!"

We smite the microbes hip and thigh And then, if we are clever, Ours be the joy to see them die While we live on forever.

How doth the little busy bee get through a hard winter without work? Too many people start down on the theory that have a round trip ticket.

100 Wayne County Farmers That Are Using The Improved DeLaval Cream Separator.

Below is a list of some of the DeLaval users in Wayne territory, your own neighbors, that have had experience with other makes of cream separators, that have discarded them and have replaced them with the improved DeLaval. Ask any one of them, get their evidence in separator trials, and then be guided by their experience. Profit by the experience of these people, and when you buy a cream separator, don't let anyone tell you they sell a machine as good as the improved DeLaval. Let us bring one out; try it and let results prove to you that the improved DeLaval is ten years ahead of all others.

WEDDING BELLS

The wedding of Mr. Roy W. Kloppe and Miss Vivian McNeal took place at the home of the bride on Wednesday at high noon. The house was tastefully decorated, the young couple standing under an arbor during the ceremony. The marriage service was spoken by Rev. Alexander Corkey, who used the impressive rite ceremony of the Presbyterian church. The bride wore a gown of tan messaline silk, and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses. After the marriage ceremony, the wedding party were entertained by Mrs. W. H. McNeal at a three-course dinner which was much enjoyed. The wedded pair were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. The young people are deservedly popular in the community, the bride being the daughter of Postmaster W. H. ## TRIUMPH OF THE ARCADIAN RANGE

MALLEABLE

IT COOKS AND BAKES BETTER

The Arcadian accomplishes magnificently what has been the long cherished wish of all housekeepers—A Range That Will Bake Perfectly Always.

In the marvelous operation of the Arcadian Range, with the imperishableness of its joints, the absolute and quick control of the fire, and the air, gas and dust-tightness of its oven, the full strength and exquisite natural flavor of the foods are preserved unimpaired. The results are ever the lightest, sweetest and most nutritious foods, and the same are decidedly more palatable.

The Arcadian Malleable Charcoal Iron Range is built like a locomotive boiler—perfectly light. No false drafts, which are so destructive to good baking and cooking, can enter its body as in the case of other ranges—the cast iron ranges or the so-called cast ranges which are of part steel and part cast iron construction.

The Arcadian Range obeys the slightest command of the operator in responding promptly to the manipulation of the dampers or registers controlling the draft and will heat quickly and cool off rapidly, as desired.

By the positive control of the heat, the uniform heating of the oven, you are enabled with the Arcadian Range to cook and bake any article of food with absolute certainty of getting, at all times, excellent results.

Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis was called to Fort Dodge, Ia., Wednesday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her mother.

Students and members of the faculty sympathize with Mr. Birch who is mourning the loss of a brother.

At the teachers' and students' meeting to be held at the high school in Wayne on February 24, Miss McBeth will give a reading and Professor Bright is to give an address on "Cooperation."

On next Saturday evening in the Normal gymnasium, there will be a game of basket ball between the Normal school team and the Blair-high school. Our boys have made a good record so far this year and it is expected that the Saturday game will be a contest well worth seeing. Admission 25 cents.

Arthur Hughes attended the Student Volunteer convention which was held in Lincoln February 24. Mr. Hughes was a delegate from the Normal V. M. C. A. and he gave an excellent report of the convention at a meeting of the young men of the school on Wednesday evening.

During the past week letters have been received from boards of education of some of our best high schools, who are in search for strong teachers for the ensuing year and desire an application from members of our present graduating class. In the class of 1912 there are a number of exceptionally strong teachers who will have no difficulty in finding positions in graded schools at a good salary.

The Crescent literary society will give a program in the chapel on Friday evening, February 16, to which the public is most cordially invited. The program will consist of a selection by a male quartet, readings by Mr. Dugan and Miss Cathart, talks by Miss Angel and Mr. Smith, piano solo by Miss Whalen, vocal solo by Miss Larison and a drill in parliamentary law conducted by Professor Lewis.

On last Friday evening the members of the faculty gave a reception to the student body. More than 300 students passed down the receiving line and were seated in the auditorium to listen to a literary and musical program. The program consisted of instrumental music by Professor Alexander, a selection by the male quartet, reading by Miss McBeth, vocal solo Professor Lackey, address, President Conn, piano duet McDermott and Coleman and a vocal solo by Professor Coleman. Light refreshments were served.

In the preliminary debates held in the chapel last Thursday evening the following debating teams were selected: To debate with Pugh, G. E. Greis, J. E. Britton, J. H. Wichman and Glen Gundersen alternate, to debate with Kearney, Fannie Britton, R. W. Sterling, E. W. Hesse, and Eugenia Madison, alternate. The question for both debates will be concerning the adoption of the initiative and referendum as a part of our state constitution. This debate will be held sometime during the month of April.

All Vogel's hardware asks is an opportunity to prove the superior merits of the Arcadian Malleable steel range. It can easily be shown to be the best.

KANSAS CITY STAR'S POLL.

Kansas City Weekly Star: At noon Tuesday the vote in the Weekly Star presidential poll had reached 111,358. When the Weekly Star went to press last week the vote was 21,107. In both counts the names appear in exactly the same order. When last week's count was made the votes were coming largely from Kansas. This week the ballots are from practically the entire field in which the Weekly Star circulates, embracing principally the middle west and southwest, but including all sections of the country.

With 27,071 ballots to his credit, Roosevelt has nearly three thousand votes more than all the others together. His vote exceeds that of Taft by more than fifty thousand. He leads the second highest by more than forty-five thousand. With the vote coming from all sections of the country, the Roosevelt average continues day after day.

Champ Clark, speaker of the house of representatives, has been consistently holding second place, with W. J. Bryan occupying a seemingly secure niche in third place. The contest from the first between Taft and LaFollette has been very close.

The combined vote of Roosevelt and LaFollette, the two avowed republican progressives, showed a total of 58,040 over Taft—a lead of 10 to 1. The vote is regarded with interest because of the reports that LaFollette will withdraw from the presidential race. The last few thousand ballots coming in showed a sharp gain of Bryan on Clark.

A ROYAL FLUTE PLAYER.

Frederick the Great Used to Move His Auditors to Tears.

Abdul Magid used to amuse himself while he was enjoying life at Yildiz kiosk by strumming "Il Trovatore" on the piano. George III. was fond of singing the marches and choruses of choruses for the delectation of his court, but the world has seen no real royal musician since Frederick the Great played his last tune on his flute.

It seems that the king excelled in adagio movements, into which he infused a wistful and tenderness of feeling that would hardly have been expected from the conqueror of Rossbach and the friend of Voltaire. "It is difficult to listen to his performance without weeping," says one musician.

One reason why he preferred adagio was that he was somewhat short of breath, which made it necessary to check the accompaniments for the more delicate assistance of the clarinet, which he was practicing.

Toward the end of the "Seven Years" war he sat down to play in a quartet and at the finish cried pathetically, "It is as sweet as sugar."

His companions were not so sure, for Frederick had lost a tooth, and his fingers had stiffened with gout. Finally in 1778 he had to give up his flute playing, and "I have lost my best friend" was the wail of the disconsolate monarch. Paris Journal des Debats.

LET IN THE LIGHT.

Darkened Rooms Are Too Suggestive of Darkened Lives.

Fresh air, enthusiasm, are familiar enough to most of us, but we hear less of enthusiasm for light. Darkened parlors, darkened bedrooms, darkened sick rooms are too common, says the Christian Herald. Sir B. W. Richardson, the London scientist and physician, declared that when the professors of healing enter a sickroom (heir first words in most cases ought to be Goethe's dying exclamation: "More Light!—More Light!")

The light of the sun is God's own medicine. Let the light in. Disinfectant, prophylactic, sickness banisher. There is no phrebian, no chemical antidote, no compounded prescription to be compared with sunlight. Without it nature could not perform her functions. Man, beast, bird, insect would fall victims to the deadly gases that would prevail. The horrible and deadly gases are dispersed and decomposed by the action of light. Let it in everywhere! Let the light in more and more abundantly. Faded carpets are not as pitiful as faded cheeks. Spoiled cushions are not as revolting as spotted and yellowed health. Darkened rooms are too suggestive of darkened lives.

An Up to Date Fable.

A lion once invited a fox to visit him in his cave.

"I should be glad to call," said the fox, "but I cannot do so because my tracks are pointed toward your door, and there are none leading away."

"Pooh!" said the lion. "That phenomenon may be attributed to the great esteem in which I am held by my guests. I treat them so well that when they leave they walk backward for a long distance to show their respect for me. You will meet a most delightful and distinguished company when you call."

"If you will give me the names and addresses of a few of the survivors," answered the fox, "I will call and see if their reports are satisfactory. If so I will accept your invitation."

Forests of Africa.

One of the great natural treasures of Africa is the immense extra-tropical forest that extends almost unbroken from the extreme southern end along the eastern highlands to the equator. There are gaps in it, and the trees change in kind somewhat with change of latitude, but upon the whole it has the local character of a tropical forest. The altitude above the sea changes regularly with decrease of latitude. Near the cape the forest grows at sea level; in Natal and the Transvaal its altitude increases to 3,000, 4,000 and 5,000 feet, and on approaching the equator it rises to 7,000 feet and finally to 10,000 feet. In the equatorial highlands the growth is very vigorous, and the forest is enriched with the pencil cedar of Abyssinia—Yout's Companion.

Taking Care of the Heart.

A physician writes: "Life would be prolonged by a little more attention to the heart, by paying a little respect to the most faithful servant we ever have. Much good might be done also if parents would teach their children the danger of overtaxing the heart. They should teach them to stop and rest a few moments during play days when they begin to feel the violent throbbing of their hearts against the chest wall."

Serious Complication.

"I know how to sympathize with you, Mrs. Polhemus," said Mrs. Lapling. "My left eye was affected once just as yours is, and I had an awful time with it. The doctor said the trouble was that the subjunctive was granulated."—Chicago Tribune.

Excess of wealth is cause of covetousness and gloom.

A Nervous Woman Finds Relief After Many Years

Women who suffer from extreme nervousness, often endure much suffering before finding any relief. Mrs. Daniel Kintner, of DeWane, O., has such an experience, regarding which she says:

Nervous, and I must say it helped me wonderfully. I have had no severe nervousness for several years.

MRS. DANIEL KINTNER, 1002 Pleasant St., DeWane, O.

Many remedies are recommended for diseases of the nervous system, but that fail to produce results because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. Dr. Miles' Nervine has proven its value in such cases so many times that it is unnecessary to make claims for it. You can prove its merits for yourself by getting a bottle of your druggist, who will return the price if you receive no benefit.

POWER OF SILENCE.

John Randolph Used It to Confuse a Powerful Opponent.

In painting the sacrifice of Iphigenia the artist, it is said, exhausted the emotions of grief and horror in the faces of the bystanders, but in the face of the heroine, nothing unusual. How can he depict her father's sorrow? was the anxious query of those friends who were watching the development of the picture. The artist threw a mantle over Agamemnon's face. The blank silence was more effective than any picture ever seen.

One of the most extraordinary effects produced by an absolute silence is recorded in the reports of a convention in which the foremost men of Virginia took part. John Randolph had a measure to carry in which he looked for the opposition of Alexander Campbell, a man then noted for his scholarly and power in debate.

Randolph had never seen the Scotch logician, but he had heard enough of him to make him and his "partisan" uneasy. When therefore, the quaint stranger first rose to speak in the convention, Randolph looked at him with such an air of alarm as to attract the whole attention of the convention and as he glanced around seemed to be asking for sympathy in his coming defeat. He then composed himself to listen in rapt attention.

Campbell, aware of this byplay, hesitated and lost the thread of his argument. Randolph's face by turns as he listened expressed weariness, indifference and finally contempt. He leaned back and yawned. Campbell sat down hastily. He had lost the whole force of his speech. Not a word had been spoken, but he was defeated.—St. Louis Republic.
