EX-SHERIFF MEARS CAUGHT SHORTLY GRAY

Ex-Sheriff Grant S. Meirs had a brief experience a year and a half ago with Constable Charles Taylor, better known as "Shorty" Gray, who was one of the three desperadoes who secured liberty at the state penitentiary last week by murdering the warden, and two others. "Shorty" was connected with the robbing of the Missouri Grange bank and immediately after the crime Mr. Meirs was on the alert for the burglars. Two suspicious characters were seen traveling about southeast of Winslow, and the sheriff pursued them. He had what he supposed was a revolver, but the desperado wanted. He overtook the travelers, and held them at the point of a gun while he inspected them. The men were unarmed, and had nothing in their possession to indicate that they were criminals. Mr. Meirs questioned them sharply, but they were apparently calm and indifferent, and did not in the least reveal the fact that they were the wanted. Neither one answered the description given the sheriff, and therefore they were released. Meirs, however, had the descriptions, and the descriptions were wrong, and that the notorious "Shorty" Gray was one of the men he had captured.

NORFOLK DEFOATS WAYNE

Saturday's Norfolk Daily News: Entirely untraced all around, the Wayne basketball team took a defeat at the hands of Norfolk in the skating rink Friday night by a 45 to 8 score. Wayne took the place of the Madison team, the latter being scheduled for the game, but being unable to come, Wayne defeated Norfolk in the game recently. But Norfolk held the baskets at will for the first fifteen minutes of play. The crowds were unusually large on regular evenings, and on Sunday evenings were turned away. It was a genuine revival. Between thirty and forty decided for Christ. Among this number were many Normal students, and some from the high school. One notable feature of the work was the hearty co-operation of the other pastors and their people. All worked together in one united effort to bring men to Christ. The closing service was an exceedingly impressive one. Before the time for opening came the hymns were packed. After a long service, all those present who had come, out during the meetings were asked to come to the front. Many were not present, but to see a line of young people standing who had dedicated their lives to the highest and best in the world was full of inspiration to all. All joined hands and then sang a farewell hymn. The appreciation of Mr. Pugsley was shown by the ladies here offering giving their lives to the highest and best in the world was full of inspiration to all. SPECIAL MEETINGS CLOSE Evangelist Pugsley, the "Canadian Cyclone" of Toronto, Canada, finished his series of meetings in Wayne Sunday night last Sunday night. The series of meetings conducted by him were pronounced by many as the best ever held in Wayne, except the tabernacle meetings last spring. The church, going to the meeting, was the largest since services that had been held this winter.

Orr & Morris Co. The Store That Sells Wooltex Styles. When a style is really style. Do you remember the risks you took in buying so called "sterling silver" in the days before the law made that mark mean something? You never could tell whether your article was all silver, half silver or almost no silver. It's the same way now about style. How can you tell whether the coat or suit you buy is really in-line with the approved fashion? There is one sure way to know. There is a label which means "authoritative style" as surely as "Sterling" now means silver 925-1000 pure. This is the hall-mark of fashion: [Image of Wooltex label: THE H. BLACK COMPANY DESIGNERS & MAKERS PARIS, NEW YORK, CLEVELAND] Wooltex style is never a guess. The Wooltex makers spend thousands of dollars a year in their Paris and American fashion bureaus, in order to be SURE. There are many Wooltex models in coats and suits. You'll like some better than others, but they are ALL correct, fundamentally. There are many different types, so that you will be able to find something just suited to your individuality, but you can't get OUT OF STYLE if you buy at a Wooltex store. This is The Store That Sells Wooltex for this vicinity. Our spring models of Wooltex coats and suits are here. Come and see them. Whether you wish to buy or not, let us show you what is "the correct thing" for this season. But you'll probably buy a Wooltex garment, because the Wooltex label means something MORE than merely good style. It means materials that are all pure wool or all pure silk - not one thread of cotton. It means the best tailoring that American tailors can do and that means the best the world knows. It means reasonable prices. For Wooltex garments, with all their beauty and goodness, sell for no more than many products of careless shops and uncertain style knowledge. Coats $12.50 to $25; Suits $18 to $30; Skirts $5 to $12.50. Come and see our spring display. Orr & Morris Co. The Store That Sells Wooltex Styles. found in Mr. Pugsley an attraction that told them from the very first. The crowds were unusually large on regular evenings, and on Sunday evenings were turned away. It was a genuine revival. Between thirty and forty decided for Christ. "GOING FEEBLY." New York Evening Post: It would be premature to say that the Roosevelt movement is falling, but the fact is plain to all that it is not going along with the rock and rear predicted. And in the colonel's case, the psychology of the crowd is a vital element. If he does not appear to be winning, there is danger of his losing. When it cannot be said that his boom is going strong, then it must be admitted that it is going feebly. For the whole campaign for him was based on the theory of "purse fires and earthquakes." The country was instantly to blaze and quiver, when he announced his candidacy. But it did not; and it does not. Even the early blaze is dying away, and the delegates continue to be instructed for Taft, with monotonous regularity. His score now is about 100 to Roosevelt's 6 or 8. And in the states of large population, such as Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, there is no sign of anything more than scattering and ineffective support of the colod. Even in far western states, which were expected to give one shot for him and then all would be over, strong opposition to him is being manifested. Senator LaFollette has just left Washington for North Dakota where he will openly attack Roosevelt on the latter's native heath. In Indiana, the Statehouse of newspapers has dropped the colod. If this sort of news keeps coming day after day, his boom will begin to look sickly. Backache Almost Unbearable. Is an almost certain sign of kidney trouble. Dr. Ramsey, 303 E. Olive St., Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pain in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial, and they did wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." For sale by Standard Pharmacy. Probably most people will agree that the basket ball season is long enough. Winter is the basket ball season.

Young Men

We do not average the ages of our customers and try to make selections of styles, fabrics and fashions to satisfy old men, young men and middle-aged men alike. The young man who wants his way has it here. He finds clothes that are distinctively young men's clothes and clothes that are made in a young man's way with enough different fashions to give you a good chance to be exclusive.

KUPPENHEIMER makes these clothes and puts his Label in the pocket. This Label is a guarantee and it lasts to the end of the wear. This is the nicest, the cleverest and the smartest apparel ever planned for the young man. By this we do not mean freak garments, but simply snappy, new, stylish effects in garments for the well-informed, well-bred, particular young man. Don't wait until Easter to get your spring suit. We can both have so much more time if you will come now, and what's more, you'll get several week's more wear out of them. Don't put it off until everybody else comes rushing in and it's a case of jumping here and jumping there, with each clerk waiting on at least three men and each man fretting to get away. Come now and we'll talk the matter over quietly—take your time to it, try on lots of coats, and we'll be more sure to satisfy you. Then just think how much larger the stock is now: how much more of a selection you will have.

TO PREVENT FIRES IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

C. A. Randall, chief deputy of the state fire commission, calls attention in a circular letter to the law calculated to prevent fires in public schools. He says:

The law passed by the last legislature provides for a fire drill in the schools, also that we shall prepare a text book for the teaching of fire protection in the public, private and parochial schools of the state, and that the state superintendent shall distribute these books to every teacher in the public, private and parochial schools, and that every teacher shall devote not less than one-half hour each month in teaching fire prevention from lessons that are prepared by the fire commissioner. For some reason or other a large number of the county superintendents and a greater number of the teachers are not complying with this law. I just returned from a speaking tour in the schools and to the public, and was in eight different towns and six different schools. Not one of the schools in any of these eight towns were complying with this law, not knowing they are jeopardizing their right to state appropriation. If this is a fair index of the way in which this law is being complied with the efforts that we have put forth in providing these books are practically lost.

I desire that you call the attention of the board and patrons of the schools in your vicinity, through the columns of your paper, to the fact that whoever is neglecting this duty is violating the law governing it. They are neglecting a duty that ought to be performed and that every teacher shall devote not less than one-half hour each month in teaching fire prevention from lessons that are prepared by the fire commissioner. For some reason or other a large number of the county superintenants and a greater number of the teachers are not complying with this law. I just returned from a speaking tour in the schools and to the public, and was in eight different towns and six different schools. Not one of the schools in any of these eight towns were complying with this law, not knowing they are jeopardizing their right to state appropriation. If this is a fair index of the way in which this law is being complied with the efforts that we have put forth in providing these books are practically lost.

provides that at least one-half hour each month shall be employed in teaching the children the dangers that lurk around all these various agencies that are the cause of so many fires, and attended with so much injury and loss of life. Those lessons, if taught to them, will be carried into the thousands of homes in this state and imparted to their parents. There is no way that the public can become so well informed, in my judgment, as by this method, and it seems strange that the county superintendents and the teachers in the public, private and parochial schools, after having been furnished with these text books, do not catch the spirit and expend the little time that the law provides shall be spent in teaching this very important subject. There is a duty devolving upon school boards and boards of education in every district in the state. The law provides that they shall have a copy of this act printed in their manual, or hand book, and that they shall see to it that the teachers teach this subject.

TWO OF THE ESCAPED CONVICTS ARE SHOT

INNOCENT FARMER IS KILLED

One of the Three Bandits Escaping from Penitentiary, Drops Gun—and Surrenders.

Omaha, Neb., March 18.—Two of the convicts, Alvin Karpis and John Dillinger, alias "Shorty," Gray, who escaped last Thursday from the state penitentiary, at Lincoln, and Roy Hunt, an innocent victim of their murderous attempt to secure liberty, are dead as the result of an exciting battle between the bandits and officers of the law this afternoon.

Charles Morley, the third member of the trio which escaped from the state prison after killing three officials of that institution, saved his life by surrendering to the officers with whom he fought a manly battle over two and one-half miles of country with horses of the gallop.

The three escaped convicts were within striking distance of their goal when they hoped might secure their safety when the final desperate struggle for liberty occurred. They had covered the stretch from Lincoln to within ten miles of the Omaha city limits, where they had expected to receive the protection of some friends.

Sell Their Lives Dear. From the moment of their escape the three men had employed the same desperate methods to protect themselves from recapture which featured their escape from prison and they did not hesitate, at the crucial moment, to attempt to sell their lives as dearly as possible.

Secure Arms at Murdoch. Chief Briggs, of Omaha, and his deputy, John C. Trouton, were leaders in the party which finally overtook and vanquished the three convicts and shot an innocent victim at their desperate chase for liberty. They left the city on an early morning train with several Omaha police officers. They left the train at Springfield, about fifteen miles south of here, and there learned of the movements of the convicts. The men and horses were tracked to Murdoch, between this city and Lincoln, and stolen guns, ammunition and clothing, and of this fact the officers were apprised.

It was learned that the men were on their way north, with Albright, an Omaha suburb, as their destination, and the chase then began. Chief Briggs, in a fast team at Springfield, Sheriff Chase also had a good team and Sheriff Hyers of Lincoln joined the party. Three miles out of Springfield the posse learned that the convicts had forced James Blunt and his wife, parents of the murdered man, to give them a horse and wagon and had taken the man and woman, with which they hoped to escape to Albright. The chase began at once. Every man in the party was heavily armed with rifle or revolver. The rural telephone played its part in the chase and the pursuers were able to learn from farmers' homes along the route of the progress of the desperate men.

The desperate men, John Dowd, was the next to fall. It was at first reported that he had taken his own life with a shot to the temple, but Chief Briggs believes he was the victim of one of the bullets from the posse. Convict Morley still asserts, however, that Dowd fired a bullet into his own brain, which ended his life. Taylor was the next to fall and then Charles Morley, the third convict, threw up his hands in token of surrender.

Morley Drops His Gun. Chief Briggs, who was leading the party, shouted to Morley: "Drop that gun or I'll blow your head off." Morley, who had shot a big double-action revolver, dropped it, and Briggs ordered him to come forward with his hands up. This Morley did, and Briggs took a second revolver from his pocket when he approached. Not knowing just what had happened, Briggs demanded of Morley the surrender of the other men in the wagon.

"They are all dead," declared Morley. Briggs then went to the wagon, taking Morley with him, and found the lifeless bodies of the victims of the escape. The bodies of the dead convicts were turned over to Sheriff Hyers of Lincoln, and that of young Blunt to his family. Hyers also took Morley back to Lincoln on the afternoon train.

Blunt was 22 years old and had been a member of the mercantile firm. His young widow was distraught when his body was returned to the family home by his brother. Following the final battle, several hundred farmers arrived on the scene and the procession which followed the fugitives back to Gretna was nearly two miles long.

At Gretna the different posse dispersed to their own homes. Chief of Police Briggs and John Trouton, his deputy, who did most of the shooting which resulted in the death of the three men and Blunt, say about the killing of young Blunt. Briggs declared he could not tell who fired the shot that killed Blunt, but Trouton intimates his belief that Blunt died from a bullet fired by one of the convicts.

STATE NORMAL NEWS.

Rev. E. J. Connelly of Randolph, was a visitor Monday morning. The game of basket ball with Bancroft last Friday evening was an exciting victory for the Normal. The next meeting of the board of education will be held at Lincoln on April 10.

On account of the storm on Wednesday, work in the Mabel School was dismissed for the day. The debating teams are hard at work preparing for the contest with Peru and Kearney on the evening of March 21. A. H. Vello, member of the executive committee of the board of education, expects to visit Wayne soon to inspect the improvements now in progress at the Normal.

Mr. E. L. Coleman, principal of the Valley Springs, S. D., schools, writes that he has been selected for another year at an increased salary. Mr. Coleman will return for the summer session. Students and members of the faculty who heard Miss Cora Ebel Patten lecture will be pleased to know that she will fill another engagement in Wayne in the near future. An interesting union service of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. was held in the chapel last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. M. J. Healy gave an address on the subject "How to Bring Intellectual and Moral Poise," and Miss McBeth gave a vocal solo. The North Nebraska Teachers' association will be held at Norfolk on March 29 and 30. In order that students and members of the faculty may attend this meeting all appointments of the school will be dismissed on Friday of next week. The schedule of classes for the summer session has been made out. It contains twelve classes in all subjects required for a first, second and third grade county certificate, professional certificate, also for the professional work required to meet the provisions of the new law for a fully state certified teacher. The normal teaching force will remain in the summer school, and a few new members will be added to the faculty.

TALKS ABOUT IRELAND. Tuesday's Sioux City Journal: "Half of the lies told about Ireland are untrue and the other half are not supposed to be true." With this pointed epigram, Rev. Alexander Corkey of Wayne, professed his lecture on "The Abominable Ireland," at the St. Patrick's celebration of the second Presbyterian church last night. The speaker entertained his audience for two hours with a description of Old Erin, its wonderful scenery, the customs and pursuits of her people, her great men and her present economic and political conditions. Not neglecting "Pat" and "Mike" in the capacity in which they are best known to the average American, Rev. Mr. Corkey gave a version of numerous stories fresh from the lips of thatched cottages where Irish wit flourishes in its native element. Rev. Mr. Corkey sees in the changed conditions of Ireland the hope for a true democracy, where the large majority of the people will be neither very rich nor very poor; a land of small property where Irish wit flourishes in its native element.

MAN SHOT AT DANCE. Pierce, Neb., March 18.—Charles Christiana aged 30, living a mile and a half northeast of McLean, Neb., has a bullet in his hip as a result of a row at a dance in McLean Saturday night. Frank Emmick of Randolph, is in jail at Pierce for the shooting.

Four young men drove from Randolph to McLean for the dance. They were Ray Jones, Clifford Bayden, Francis Snyder and Frank Emmick. A quarrel arose and these four, with a squad of McLean young men, withdrew from the ball where a fight started. Frank Emmick opened fire on the McLean crowd, shooting three bullets at them.

The Randolph crowd then ran to their team and drove home. Sheriff Goff arrested Emmick at Randolph yesterday morning. Emmick did not know Goff arrested that he had shot anybody. He had in his overcoat pocket a 22-caliber revolver with a barrel about a foot long.

Some one has suggested that our official opinions that the government needs reform should be trusted to a surgeon rather than a butcher.

The officers who, pursuant to the accepted custom Monday, are apparently anxious to claim credit for killing the desperado, but shy around the idea of having killed the farmer.

When anything is said in a "Rosebud" way, it is the one saying it doesn't mean it, or if he does happen to mean it at the time, he is likely to change his mind.

The Virginia mountaineers who killed the judge, prosecutor and sheriff of Carroll county because two of their number had been convicted of a crime and was being sentenced to the penitentiary, seem to have had a "recall" of their own.

The most notable reform legislature the state ever had was the one that served in the winter of 1907. The primary was one of the laws adopted. That legislature was chosen under the convention system. The law succeeding legislature, proponents of the primary, may excuse themselves for having accomplished no reforms on the ground that all the reforming had been done. Anyway, the biggest accomplishment in the reform business up to date, look place under the convention system.

In a speech at Boston Monday President Taft said he was in favor of the primary when it was properly safeguarded and members of one party are not permitted to nominate the candidates of another party. He declared: "Whenever full and fair notice of the election can be given, wherever adequate election safeguards can be thrown around to protect a preferential primary for the presidency, wherever the constitution of the state permits its being made applicable to the present election, I favor it and welcome it."

When Roosevelt announced his candidacy for president some weeks ago he announced that he would accept if it came to him unsought or without an effort on his part. He placed himself in a passive and receptive attitude. Later, when the nomination did not seem to pursue him, he evidently anticipated, if it would, be decided to pursue it by traveling over the country and making some speeches. Still later, word comes from Roosevelt headquarters that the right of southern Taft delegates will be contested in the national convention. As Taft strength grows, Roosevelt headquarters are likely to develop into a burlesque of activity.

Senator Cummings, whose presidential nomination looks like a last year's bird's nest struck by a cyclone, has intruded in the scene in a nation-wide presidential primary. He would have a national primary July 8. Why didn't he break it that earlier? His own state, Iowa, has been electing delegates for weeks preliminary to the republican national convention. It should have closed his state, all that remains if he had any idea he could secure the passage of a nation-wide primary. It is likely the bill was inspired by the fact that the state has been going overwhelmingly against him. The politician's instinct of which he has an abundance, fires him to try a new loaf for popularity.

The most deplorable thing in connection with the penitentiary tragedy was the killing of the young farmer, Roy Blunt, who was forced into service by the three bandits. He was convicted on a penalty of being killed, to take the outlaw in his sleigh and drive toward Omaha. Blunt's young wife hurried to her father's home in the neighborhood, and thus officers and posse were able to locate the escaped murderer. Following such duty to society, the body of her husband is returned to her, pierced and lifeless. The report states that Blunt's brother and father-in-law pleaded with the officers not to shoot, as death to the young farmer would be inevitable. But their pleadings were useless, for when the convicts began shooting, the officers returned a deadly fire with rifles. A little delay, a little cool-headed generosity would seem to have saved the life of the farmer who was forced into park and whose wife had pointed out the way of the murderers. No officer is certain that he killed Blunt. As reflection deepens, no one will want to believe he killed the farmer. When a man becomes a penitentiary warden, or sheriff, or police officer, or joins an armed posse, he assumes risk and is prepared to defend himself. This defenseless farmer was forced into a position of such danger that the officers should have been careful to rescue him alive, as they were to capture the bandits, dead or alive. The killing of the farmer seems to have been utterly unnecessary and inexcusable. It looks as though his death was due to lack of generosity and to excited ambition for credit for killing the escaped convicts.

TO ALLING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Wayne.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen and worse troubles quickly follow. This is often the true cause of bearing down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pains.

When suffering so, try Don's Kidney Pills; a remedy that has cured thousands of such cases. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Wayne woman tell you about Don's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. D. S. McVicker of Wayne, Neb., says: "I used Don's Kidney Pills a few years ago when I was suffering from dull pains across the small of my back and bearing down feeling in my loins. This remedy cured me and at that time I publicly told of my experience. I am now willing to confirm my former statement."

NEWSPAPER COMMENTS ON THE TAFT-ROOSEVELT CAMPAIGN

SOME INSIDE INFORMATION. Washington Correspondence of the Springfield, Mass., Republican. Media campaign which shows Col. Roosevelt like a book, is destined to come at the claims that he never exists grateful from those whom he has assisted to office. The impression of the specialist that is just what the column does expect. "Woe to him who began to be suspected of being an ingrate. There was the case of Governor Hughes. He was his selection for governor, and Washington can still hear the colonel's terrible wail when Governor Hughes insisted that he was not indebted to the colonel and would govern without dictation from Washington. In the case of President Taft it is an open secret that the first differences between him and Col. Roosevelt arose through the impression the colonel had on the president, was not reciprocating as he felt that had been done for him. He placed Senator Root in the senate, but Senator Root is not now calling upon him nor Mr. Roosevelt nor Mr. Loeb, who have been his beneficiaries. It is believed the colonel must be very angry, even so, he appears to be because Messrs. Mever and Stinson have not created a sensation by leaving the Taft cabinet in gratitude that the colonel made them cabinet members. It is a noteworthy fact, however, that one for whom Col. Roosevelt acquired a stain in Justice Holmes of the supreme court, a Roosevelt appointee. The justice has persisted in being a member of the court without strings on him leading to his resignation. It is a noteworthy fact, also, that no appointment made by President Roosevelt has been so much regretted by him as this one.

STREAM ROLLERS. New York Herald: Here is the Roosevelt committee again resorting to old-fashioned methods. This time it is the case of the colonel himself calling out in the wilderness for direct primaries, even though there should be a late spring, and summoning heaven to witness that the Taft machine is using patronage against him in the south. It is a noteworthy fact, however, that the Roosevelt committee has been disbanded. Somehow it seems to have the sad ring of the cry of the last loser. It makes all the difference about a "stream roller" whether you are driving it in or front of it. It is a noteworthy fact, also, that the Roosevelt committee has been disbanded. Somehow it seems to have the sad ring of the cry of the last loser. It makes all the difference about a "stream roller" whether you are driving it in or front of it.

EMPIRE TO BLEACHERS. Chicago Record Herald: In his letter to Senator Dixon on the subject of presidential primaries, Col. Roosevelt says up to the whole present controversy, however, his own and that of President Taft in those words: "We hold that the object of this contest is not to obtain rewards for individuals, but to obtain the more effective government of the people by the people and for the people. Our opponents, on the contrary, Mr. McKinley's view that we are engaged in a game in which the interests of the people, it is true, are at stake, but in which the people themselves are not to have their choice. Mr. McKinley's position was stated with frank cynicism by Congressman Charles Campbell, the Republican member of the half party, when, in a recent speech in New Hampshire, he is quoted as 'rousing the greatest enthusiasm by declaring that the republican party does not believe in an appeal from the unjust rule of the bleachers.' Mr. Campbell has simply stated more frankly the view held (as is evident by Mr. McKinley's statement) generally among our opponents. Their feeling is that politics is a game, that the people are simply puppets in the hands of operators, and that no appeal to the people from the men who, for their own profit, are playing the game."

FRIENDS AND POLITICS. Boston Herald: It is an impression of President Taft to say that Roosevelt friends are more aggressive than Taftian friends, and it is also no disparagement of Col. Roosevelt to say that voters can see in Mr. Taft's solicitude and a selfishness which they cannot see in Col. Roosevelt's. That impression, which Col. Roosevelt may be desired so dearly eight years ago, President Taft desires just as dearly today. If Col. Roosevelt's record entitled him to a re-nomination and re-election, President Taft's entitles him to the same in no degree less. IOWA STRONG FOR TAFT. (Sioux City Journal.) Do the people of this part of the state which is making in Iowa news headlines politics? A few months ago the state was agitated as if by an earthquake, and its solid block of twenty-six delegates to the national convention was split into two camps. A few weeks later it was believed that the delegates could not carry the republican state convention in competition with President Taft, and that it was doubtful whether the delegates from a single congressional district would be won for Roosevelt.

The Wisconsin candidate. To save the state from going to Taft the Cincinnati Republican. Media campaign which shows Col. Roosevelt like a book, is destined to come at the claims that he never exists grateful from those whom he has assisted to office. The impression of the specialist that is just what the column does expect. "Woe to him who began to be suspected of being an ingrate. There was the case of Governor Hughes. What is the situation today? These Iowa congressional districts have held conventions and elected six delegates to the national convention. Four of these delegates are for Taft; Cummins has managed to pick two from his home district, the Seventh; the two delegates from the First district are converted to Taft, and even Cummins' headquarters are expecting the Second, Third and Fifth districts will go the same way. In several counties of the sixth, eighth and ninth districts the insurgent leaders found it impossible to make any headway with Cummins and threw their support to Roosevelt without any better result in the way of stopping the Taft tide. Whether the effort in the other counties will be to juggle with the names of both Cummins and Roosevelt, or whether whether "amnesty" will be generally dropped remains to be seen. At any rate the record as it stands discloses that the actual Taft victory in Iowa is so strong that effort in behalf of LaFollette, Cummins or Roosevelt has been unavailing. It has been common of late to speak of Iowa as an insurgent state. The fact is that Iowa always has been regular in presidential years and never sent an insurgent delegation to a national republican convention. There is every indication that this year will be no exception to the rule.

PROGRESSIVISM'S LAST PHASE. Springfield, Mass., Republican. Mr. Taft's early misadventure in his Chicago speech that was progressive. He is not a progressive plank or test, and never will become one.
