FOR EXTENSION OF SIDE TRACKS HERE

Mayor J. H. Kate is leading a movement to persuade the railroad company to build side tracks at this place to the city power house, incubator factory and Sherman brick yard. Such track extension would be very cheap and facilitate operation. The two main favoring restrictions mentioned would be able to ship products with less cost, and the consequent development of their business would be beneficial to the transportation company.

CORNER STONE FOR NEW CITY HALL LAID

MAYOR KATE LEADS PROGRAM Ministers of City Deliver Short Speeches—Frasno Mayor and Spoke of City's Progress. Mayor J. H. Kate decided to have the city hall dignified by a public cornerstone-laying performance last Saturday and got up a program in short order. He issued advertising posters, and accordingly in the afternoon a crowd gathered near the building site. After music by the boys' band, Mayor Kate addressed the crowd and talked about some of the things that had been done and would still be accomplished for the city. He introduced Rev. Alexander Curley, Rev. William Gorst and Rev. B. F. Richardson in the order named, and each local business on the mayor's services—in behalf of applauding and improving Wayne. Rev. Richardson pointed with satisfaction to many things that had been done, but urged that a new hotel building, new opera house and new depot should be actively sought until secured. After the singing of "America," Rev. William Gorst pronounced the dedication, and the laying of the corner stone duly followed.

PLAN TO PAVE STREET FOR THREE BLOCKS

A plan is being considered to pave Main street from the depot for the Baptist church, and the size and commercial importance of Wayne would seem to absolutely warrant the movement. The paving of Main street would be a long step forward.

DEATH OF MRS. W. O. MINER

Mrs. W. O. Miner died at her home in Wayne after a long illness with pernicious anemia, and funeral services took place at 10 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. William Gorst of the Methodist church. At the services the following appropriate obituary was read by Rev. Gorst: Mary Jane Hardness was born at Crown Point, N. Y., on the eighth day of March, 1848, and died in Wayne, Neb., on the sixteenth day of June, 1912, being 64 years, 3 months and 15 days old. She was the tenth and youngest child of her parents, a family consisting of seven daughters and three sons. Gas daughter and one son died in infancy, the other retaining the estate of me and woman, but are now all dead except her sister, the first child of the family, now 88 years old. Her childhood came west with her parents who settled in Kendall county, Ill., where she grew to womanhood. After the death of her father she went to live with a sister in Kaneville, Kane county, where she met Mr. W. O. Miner, to whom she was married on the first day of October, 1870. Mr. and Mrs. Miner were born six children—three sons and three daughters. Two of the girls died in infancy and the other four children remain to this present time and are here today, viz: Mrs. L. M. Owen, H. J. and E. R. Miner, our own people and neighbors, and Dr. E. A. Miner of Independence, Kan.

Five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Miner and their son H. J., and his family, came to Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Owen, having settled here seven years before, and E. R. and family came three years later. Since coming, Mr. and Mrs. Miner have been residents of this city, where they have made many friends.

In early life Mrs. Miner was converted and united with the Methodist Episcopal church, of which she has ever since been a faithful, consistent and useful member. For many years she stood in the forefront of woman's work in the church where she lived. Her home was a place of rest, comfort, and refreshment to scores of ministers and others employed in the "King's business," and as long as her health would permit, nothing was too hard or too much for her to do to help on the cause of Christ. But with all of this, her home was the place where she reigned supreme by the noblest and purest services of love and interest in her family. So that truly "her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

For many months she has made a brave and hard fight against an insidious disease, over which, after a long siege of sickness, she seemed to triumph. But this apparent recovery was of brief duration and the attack of a few weeks ago completed its deadly work on last Sunday evening at 8:40 o'clock when a charming and beautiful life was sent from the "house of clay" to be at home forever with God. The purity, nobility, sweetness and charm of such a life is a rich legacy to her loved ones left behind.

We don't care much what brand of chewing gum a big league player uses, although "Horseless" seemed to be the favorite of these we have observed in action.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT BE IN WAYNE IN JULY

At a meeting of the Wayne Tennis Association held last Thursday evening, it was decided to hold the northeast Nebraska tennis tournament in Wayne on July 8, 9 and 10. Last year the meeting was held at Winfield and the tournament was awarded that place again this year, but on account of the unfavorable location of the town and the fact that leaders in tennis there would not have time to devote to it, they decided to give it individual Wayne would accept it. The business men of this city has been very liberal with contributions of cash and prizes for the meeting and a very successful tournament is assured. The officers and members of the local association are making strong efforts to get a large list of entries and are sending out a number of letters to players in this section of the state. The date of the tournament is just a week before the state tournament at Norfolk and it will afford a splendid opportunity for some practice before the state meeting.

WINDSIDE WALLEOPS WAYNE IN BASE BALL

(By Official Reporter.) Out-batted, out-pitched, out-errored, out-everything except out-batted, Windside beat us Tuesday 8 to 7 in a game of desperate rallies that kept the fans cheering from start to finish. The boys on both teams showed the stuff they were made of by fighting from behind until the score stood 7 to 7, in the first half of the ninth inning. In the next three innings it was a shut-out for both sides until the twelfth when Miller reached second on a hit and a stolen base, and came home on a grounder which eluded Hunter and got lost in the log wall back of third base. On an even ground Shellington could have fielded this ball home yards ahead of Miller who scored from second on the grounder and we might have been playing yet. We started out bravely by scoring a run in the first inning on a hit, a sacrifice and a hit, three in the second inning on four clear hits after two were out and another in the third after two were out by a base on balls and two hits. We did not score in the next three innings.

Windside got one in the first, one in the second and one in the fourth and none in the fifth, leaving the score five to three in our favor at beginning of the sixth inning, and then things happened: Before we could get down the details, three Windside men were on base on errors; then Kelly hit and two came home; then Burke rolled one to Pratt who made a wild heave home and two more came in.

It was not long headed playing at all. It was just mechanical errors in handling the ball and it is to be expected of any ball players who have been out of all playing and practice by such weather as we have had for the past ten days.

This put Windside two ahead and our boys showed their gameness by going right back and tying the score in the seventh and eighth innings. They held Windside scoreless then for five innings, only fifteen men coming to bat in that time. They in the twelfth inning with two men out, a little fellow called "Luck" took a hard and safe ball, Hunter on a roller that he wouldn't let bounce and he hid the ball in a log wall back of third base where Shellington couldn't find it in time to throw the man out who was leaving from second, and it was all over.

We made fifteen hits to Windside's eleven; struck out ten of their men to their sum of four, and yet we lost. But that is base ball and it is that element of chance and the unexpected that makes it fascinating to all of us. The umpiring was good and fair. Needham's work pleased everybody and we regretted his action in giving up the job when he did on account of a remark made by one of the spectators. The management and players of the Wayne team never criticised his work nor questioned his decisions. It is a big undertaking, though, for a resident of Wayne or Windside to umpire these games and please the crowd. The players have so far made no complaints. Experience teaches them that any umpire will miss it occasionally. All they ask for is one who shows the game. They will take their share of the mistakes without any kicking. In the interest of fairness we have always gone to the expense of hiring a competent, neutral umpire for these games and we find it most satisfactory.

Well, here's hoping to meet you again soon, Windside. The best team will lose occasionally, but not the next time.

HERALD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FARMERS AND WRITES OF THEIR IMPROVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS BY H. G. LEAVENS

HENRY COZAD.

Henry Cozad who carries on the farm owned by Ted Perry, two and one-half miles north of Wayne, is completing his fifth year on the place and reports things favorable for a good year. He has about 135 acres of corn, with existing weather conditions, is fortunate in having ninety acres on which he got a fine stand. He has about 700 chickens, and is having his first experiment at sheep raising, having a flock of almost thirty Shropshires, which is considered one of the best mutton breeds. Mr. Cozad's work shows that he has the interests of his employer in mind.

C. FLOER.

C. Floer who lives about two miles and a half southwest of Wayne, is exhibiting a fine litter of mule-footed pigs. It is claimed by some that these pigs are far superior to the Poland Chins and other breeds. One point in their favor is their immunity from cholera. While Mr. Floer was formerly a Wayne county farmer, he has spent the past few years in Missouri and Kansas. He considers the climate in the southern states to be ahead of Nebraska, but for farming purposes Wayne county ranks with the best.

M. T. MUNSINGER.

The College Hill Stock farm, owned and carried on by M. T. Munsinger, one-half mile north of Wayne, presents a good illustration of correct farm management. Mr. Munsinger is making his 160 acres pay him well and has made many improvements during his first three years in Wayne county. During the past year he has shipped about eight cars of stock of his own raising and has now about two cars of cattle ready to ship. Mr. Munsinger is perfecting a system of crop rotation that will give him the largest possible yield of corn and alfalfa. He has about fifty acres of alfalfa, on which he has a fine stand and expects to add twenty-five acres this fall. Many improvements have been made in the last year, among them a water system which gives a running supply to house and barns. A new barn is completed and will probably be erected this fall. Mr. Munsinger has reason to be proud of his farm which compares favorably with any in Wayne county.

LEROY OWEN.

Leroy Owen, son of L. M. Owen, is doing quite an extensive poultry business. He has in all about 800 chickens, about fifty ducks and a number of turkeys. Most of his chickens are Brahms, one of the best meat breeds. He cares for these himself, and is meeting with good success in this venture.

MILK KREMKE.

The farm of Milk Kremke, four miles northwest of Wayne, presents a creditable appearance, and is a compliment to the owner. He has about sixty acres of corn and fifty acres of small grain, both of which show promise of good crops. Mr. Kremke has been dealing extensively in sheep, having lately shipped about 600 head. He generally has about 400 sheep feeding; the majority of the flock being Shropshires.

F. W. VAHLKAMP.

F. W. Vahlkamp who owns 160 acres four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, is putting most of his time on crops. He has about sixty acres of corn, and the rest of the farm in small grain, except about twenty acres of pasture. Mr. Vahlkamp has been on this farm for the past seventeen years and the general appearance of the place and buildings is one in which any man might take just pride.

O. H. BROOKS.

O. H. Brooks who has carried on the John Larson farm, two miles west of Wayne, for the past four years, reports 155 acres of corn and forty acres of oats, and prospect for a fine crop. Oats promise even better than last year and should yield near fifty bushels per acre. During the spring Mr. Brooks shipped about three car loads of stock, and is well pleased with the move that he made from Iowa to Nebraska about four years ago.

C. W. ULRICH.

C. W. Ulrich who is completing his third year on J. Conger's farm, four and one-half miles southwest of Wayne, reports a fine stand of corn at which he has a fine stand; also 110 acres of small grain. Although he is bothered considerably by cut-worms, the prospects are that this will be the two best years he has already devoted to the farm. Mr. Ulrich moved here from Herman, Mo., and will be preparing the southern climate he agrees that Wayne county has the advantage when it comes to productive soil.

D. A. JONES.

One of the best orchards in this vicinity is found on the farm of D. A. Jones, carried on by his son, M. F. Jones, almost four miles southwest of Wayne. In all, there are about 400 apple trees, mostly Pippins and Maiden Blush, and the prospects are good for a fine yield this year. Mr. Jones has about 100 acres of corn which is as good as he has ever raised, and the rest of the half section is in clover and timothy. The buildings have a neat, well-kept appearance and show much improvement during the past few years.

A. LIKES.

The farm owned by Mrs. Morrison, about three miles west of Wayne, has been carried on for the past six years by A. Likes. During those six years he has had two extra big corn crops, and the prospects are for a large one this year. Although Mr. Likes planted about fifteen acres the second time, he has now seventy acres of fine corn and in addition about thirty acres of oats. He has about fifty-five hogs on the farm and with right weather conditions looks for a year to beat any of the six he has spent on the farm.

VICTOR CARLSON.

Victor Carlson who owns eighty acres two miles northwest of Wayne, reports a fine stand of corn and thirty acres of small grain, all looking fine and prospects of a good crop. He has about sixty Duro-Jersey hogs and has recently shipped a carload of hogs of his own raising. Mr. Carlson gives us the impression of being a progressive and business-like farmer.

HANS OTTE.

What Hans Otte thinks of Wayne county can be best shown by the fact that he intends to renew his ten-year lease which expires this year. He is farming a quarter section, almost six miles west of Wayne, owned by parties in Pennsylvania. He reports fifty acres each of good corn and small grain and prospects as bright for a good year. He is keeping some stock, but has been unfortunatly enough to lose several head this spring. He states that the average crop for the ten years has been good.

A. R. MCINTOSH.

Almost eight years ago A. R. McIntosh moved to Wayne county from Iowa and has since been farming a quarter section about the half one-half mile northwest of the city. This year he has almost seventy acres of corn and seventy acres of small grain. He reports the small grain the best that he has ever seen at this time of the year. Although he has some stock, he is putting most of his time on the production of crops.

ART ZIEGLER.

Art Ziegler who manages the farm owned by F. M. McDonald, about five miles northwest of Wayne, reports about ninety acres of fine corn, twenty-five acres of wheat and twenty-five acres of oats. Mr. Ziegler has been on this farm for the past three years and this year is paying quite a little attention to poultry raising, having about 500 Broyley-Leghorn chickens. He also has a fine flock of Indian-Bander ducks and will pay special attention to the raising of this breed.

M. W. SIMPSON.

M. W. Simpson who owns the quarter section four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, came here from Iowa about two years ago. He reports sixty-five acres of corn and thirty acres of small grain and prospects for a good crop, especially from the small grain. A new cave and windmill are among Mr. Simpson's latest improvements. He expresses himself as perfectly satisfied with the change from Iowa to Nebraska.

WILLIAM BENNING.

William Benning, living northeast of Wayne, is cultivating the eighty acres owned by his father. He reports forty acres of corn and nineteen acres of oats, both of which are looking fine. Although Mr. Benning has been on the lookout for extra land to rent, he finds that is hard to get. He has been on the farm since last fall, coming from Hyatt county, S. D.

FRED HEFTL.

Fred Heftl who farms the 160 acres about four miles northwest of Wayne, is thinking of making a change and going farther west. He has been on the farm for the past five years and this year reports about 110 acres of corn, one hundred acres of which is fine. He has about forty-five acres divided equally in spring and winter wheat, with winter wheat showing to the better advantage. Prospects for Wayne county farmers are certainly bright and we hope Mr. Heftl will think the matter over carefully before he makes the contemplated change.

Axel VENNBERG.

Axel Vennberg who lives four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, reports sixty acres of good corn, although he had to replant about twenty-five acres. In addition, he has about forty acres of oats and fifteen acres of wheat. Mr. Vennberg is considering a move to Minnesota, but we hope that a crop will induce him to remain in Wayne county.

L. G. KOCH.

L. G. Koch who owns the 160 acres three miles southwest of Wayne, has rented an extra twenty acres for the year and is putting all of his time on crops. He reports about seventy-five acres of good corn and a considerable acreage of small grain. After eleven years' experience as a Wayne county farmer, Mr. Koch has nothing but praise for the soil and the crops raised.

JULIUS KNUTZEN.

Coming to Wayne county from Wisconsin, Julius Knutzen has carried on the farm, two miles west of Wayne, for the past year on the farm. He reports raising much corn, but putting all of his time on crops. He has about seventy-five acres of good corn and twenty acres of alfalfa. Mr. Knutzen says he is very much pleased with his move from Wisconsin to Wayne county. (To be Continued.)

INITIAL BRICK FOR LIBRARY BUILDING

The first brick for the new Carnegie library building was laid last Thursday afternoon with appropriate preliminary exercises. The crowd sang the national anthem, and then Rev. William Gorst offered prayer. Rev. Alexander Corkey followed with a short address treating of the value of books and libraries. He read a statement covering the history of the library movement for two years. The statement, copy of which was placed under the first brick, read as follows:

The Wayne Public Library. "A little over two years ago through the generosity of the ladies of Wayne the Wayne library was made a public institution under the care of the city council. On behalf of the citizens of Wayne the council accepted the responsibility of the library, and the following board was appointed to serve for one year: Rev. Parker Smith, Mrs. Elsie Littell, Mrs. C. A. Chase; to serve for two years: Mrs. Henry Ley, James Ahern, Charles Culler; to serve for three years: Mrs. Clara Brown, Mrs. Hattie Wilson, Dr. Green. This board faithfully carried on the work of supervising the library during its first year. During this year of activity, Mrs. Elsie Littell was the efficient secretary. During last year the board consisted of the following: Mrs. Henry Ley, James Ahern, Charles Culler, Mrs. Clara Brown, Mrs. Hattie Wilson, Dr. Green, Dr. Heckert, Herman Henry, Mrs. C. A. Chase; the board being organized as follows: President, Dr. Green; vice president, Mrs. C. A. Chase; secretary, Dr. Heckert; finance committee, Messrs. Honney and Ahern, and Mrs. Wilson; rooms, furniture and supplies, Dr. Heckert, Mrs. Ley, Mrs. Chase; books and periodicals, Charles Culler, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Brown. Wayne will have a safe and sound Fourth, and a mighty enjoyable one for all who like picnicking and sociability.

Here is a good one, told in the course of a speech recently: At St. Paul Adam Bede was met carrying a large roll of manuscript and asked what he had. He replied that late political troubles had led him to prepare a petition to congress to give the country back to the Indians, and that he was then engaged in securing signatures.

Papers in Thurston, Dakota, and Dixon committees take a friendly interest in the Herald's proposed conversion of four northeast Nebraska counties into three, and the important change can be made if due effort is put forth. As the leading town in the four counties, Wayne should take the initiative. Its Commercial club can figure out a feasible plan of action, and should do it.

Nebraska editors are to be entertained by the Omaha Commercial club and order of the Ak-Sar-Ben in that city on July 8. Members of the Nebraska press will be conducted through the mysteries of the Ak-Sar-Ben and given an opportunity to get better acquainted with Omaha and its improvements. The worthy ambition of the Omaha Commercial club is to develop closer and firmer ties of friendship between the metropolis and the rest of the state. There would be advantage alike to that city and the outlying territory.

The mirthful Nebraska Funeral Directors' association which met at Omaha last week, passed a resolution deploring against burial at sea and favoring a law compelling ocean steamers to carry licensed embalmers. The objection funeral directors find in the practice of burial at sea is not explained in the report. Where or how one is buried after he is adequately dead does not seem important to anyone unless to the undertakers. Certainly a man who has vacated his discharging material (vestment doesn't care whether it is buried under six feet of earth or soaked under two miles of salt water.

Politics seems to encourage rough-neck language and bar-room methods. It appears to tolerate misrepresentation and vilification that would be scorned in any other field. Many otherwise high-minded men yield, in politics, to a recklessness of denunciation and recklessness of practices that, if followed in other spheres, of life, would cause them to be hunted out of any town in the country. Honor, fair-dealing and veracity are needed reforms in politics.

Editor Huse of the Wayne Herald and Bee F. Robinson were in town Friday. We are sorry we cannot publicly acknowledge a brotherly call. Carroll Index - The Herald editor and Mr. Robinson called at the Index office, but couldn't get in, finding the door locked. Thus, our intentions were not only good, but we tried to carry them out. The absence of the Index editor from his office prevented a friendly visit with him. It nettles a sensitive fellow to think he has been ignored. Years ago when we had more time to look for and resent fancied slights, we roared over a good many experiences like the one referred to by the Index, and our complaints were usually about as justifiable as the one made by our Carroll neighbor.

The big republican national convention opened in Chicago Tuesday, and has been making slow progress toward accomplishing the nomination of a president. The factional struggle for advantage has never been equaled. Astute politicians and daring party warriors on each side are watching every move and contesting every step. The feeling is tense. About all that was accomplished Tuesday was the election of a temporary chairman. Yesterday the convention devoted the time to a battle over a motion to assent certain contested delegates accepted by the national committee. Last night adjournment was taken until noon today. The work of securing permanent organization and the adoption of a platform will follow. It is likely balloting for presidential candidates will take place tomorrow. The outcome is still un-doubt, though anti-Roosevelt forces are evidently in control of the convention. This is indicated by the election of Roosevelt temporary chairman, the passage of a resolution to follow the rules of the 1908 convention and the refusal to undo the work of the national committee. It looks as though Roosevelt would fall short of enough strength to secure his nomination. While manifestly Taft holds advantage over Roosevelt in the convention, the president is not certain of nomination. A deadlock is possible - we might say probable - and in that event we may look for the appearance of a "dark horse." At this writing it looks like Taft or a new man.

For the Tea Table
Small sugar cutters which are really scissor shaped tongs, are a great help to the hostess at afternoon tea, for it is a difficult matter to select a lump of sugar which is the proper size. The little cutters may be used in place of the ordinary sugar tongs as well as for cutting the lumps into halves or quarters.

DON'T BE MISLED.
Wayne Citizens Should Read and Heed This Advice.

Kidney trouble is dangerous and often fatal. Don't experiment with something new and untried. Use a tested and proven kidney remedy. Begin with Doan's Kidney Pills. Used in kidney troubles seventy-five years. Doan's have cured thousands. Are recommended here and everywhere. A Wayne citizen's statement forms convincing proof. It's local testimony - it can be investigated. Marcus Kroger of Wayne, Neb., says: "I used three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills about a year ago, procuring them at J. T. Leahy's drug store, and I am pleased to say that they cured me of a dull ache across my kidneys, together with other symptoms of kidney complaint. I hold a high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills and always recommend them whenever I know of anyone in need of a kidney medicine."

STATE NORMAL NEWS.
Superintendent W. H. Steinbach of Bancroft, was a visitor Monday.
Rev. B. P. Richardson and Mr. S. R. Theobald were chapel visitors Wednesday morning. Mr. Richardson conducted the devotional services and gave an excellent talk to the students.
One of the strong students enrolled in the department of expression is Miss Oneta M. Chilcoat, who won first place in the Kansas state oratorical contest. Miss Chilcoat formerly lived at Hill City, Kas, but expects to teach in Nebraska next year.
On Thursday evening, June 20, in the chapel of the State Normal school will occur the second number of the summer school lecture course. Dr. I. E. Roach, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church of Lincoln, and recognized as one of the best pulpit orators in Nebraska, will give his great popular lecture, "Sunshine." Admission 25 cents.
On July 5 the work of the new 11 years and sixteen half will be finished and the building ready for acceptance by the board of education. The rooms on the second and third floors are now being used by the departments of science and the library will be moved to the new quarters provided for it at the close of the summer term. Governor C. H. Aldrich has accepted an invitation to be present at the time the new building is dedicated and to give the principal address on this occasion.
Tuesday was Cedar county day at the Normal. The twenty-five students enrolled from this county have enrolled with a full set of officers and are proving a strong factor in the social life of the school. Instead of the regular chapel services on Tuesday the school listened to a special program given by Cedar county students. Superintendent W. E. Miller of Hardington was the honored guest and made a short address. Knox county with an enrollment of thirty-four will be next to place the observance of a special day.
Although a large per cent of the summer school students are enrolled for work in county and state certificate subjects, a visit to the various department shows interest along many different lines. Professor Huestener has a class of sixteen young ladies who are devoting a part of their time to work in manual training. Every morning at 8 o'clock they find them at the work bench, armed with planes, saws, squares, chisels, rulers, and knives, and gloves. They have made many of the most useful articles are among the finished products that are being turned out.
After Miss Kingsburg was granted a leave of absence for the summer it was found quite a difficult matter to secure a teacher well qualified to take her place in the German department. President Conn was fortunate in the selection of Rev. Mr. Karpenstein of Wayne. A man of broad scholarship, a teacher of successful experience, a master of the German language, and, with all, a kindly disposition and an unlimited amount of patience. Mr. Karpenstein has already won the confidence of the students and he is making the courses offered in German strong departments of the summer session.
The work in pedagogy under Superintendent Dixon is proving a popular course with summer school students. There are now seventy-five enrolled in the class studying theory and art of teaching, and instruction given is of that practical kind which can be applied to actual conditions in the school.
Superintendent Dixon is exceptionally well qualified for work in a normal school. He received his training in the schools of Ohio, earning his Bachelor of Arts degree from Marietta College and Master of Pedagogy from the University of Ohio. He taught with marked success in the schools of Ohio, coming to Nebraska three years ago to accept the superintendency of the Tompkins schools. At the close of this year the board of education at Tekamah entered into a three-year contract with Professor Dixon, at $1,800 per year.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

There are times when a busy man gets lazy and envies the loafers.
If members of a man's family love him, they will bring on him a good deal. A "good hearted" man never accumulates enough money to become a public benefactor.
Love may be blind, but you are safe in betting that jealousy isn't, and the love often regard in pairs.
More people travel contributions to the campaign fund as an investment than as a donation.
No doubt the man who carries his own quill toothpicks, instead of using the jumbo yard variety, feels rather superior about it.
"I once knew a man so smart he made money out of his regular business and three or four side lines, but he finally died of overwork, and I enjoyed my shiftlessness more than ever before." -Rufe Hoskins.

While the collar button is frequently evasive, a lot is the easiest thing to lose.
This is the season of the year when artists are busy putting logs on bathing saulis.
Maak takes don't seem to be digging quite so deep as they did a few years back.
The only time Link Preston shows any speed is when he does something as a matter of duty.
Sometimes a spob doesn't seem so much that way after one manages to get acquainted with him.
If a man works a good deal on his lawn, he can be a good citizen without working at the polls.
It is a little difficult to fathom the affections of a woman because he loves her so.
A man doesn't really feel his importance until he begins to call his stenographer his private secretary.
Generally speaking, those who pay the rebates aren't figuring on losing anything by their liberality.
You hear a great deal about the fight for principles, but the jobs continue to be the main issue.
Sometimes a woman selects a sweet, sometimes a man, for her child and doesn't take very good care of it.
Sometimes as a man grows older he becomes more economical until he considers the parade the best part of the circus.
Even funeral expenses are becoming higher, and there are many who do not feel that a funeral is worth the money.
There are heroic policemen; doubtless there are even hard-working policemen, although that kind isn't advertised extensively.
Those who sit up nights to admire the noble red man possibly have never been told how scarce are battalions on the reservation.
It depends somewhat on how a man wastes his money whether he will be regarded as liberal or extravagant, also, somewhat on who is talking about it.
You needn't tell the women about it, but no man is particularly proud of the distinction of being an ideal husband, which is one explanation of the scarcity in that line.
"I used to know an old soldier in the regular army who said he always re-entitled because it was such an over-whelming joy when time arrived to be discharged again." -Rufe Hoskins.

Delicious Short Crust.
Rub a quarter pound of butter into half a pound of flour previously mixed with half a teaspoonful of baking powder, one ounce of sugar and a little salt. Make a well in the center, break into it an egg, work together, moisten if necessary with a little water and roll out.
This paste is best for an open tart, for which purpose the paste is laid on a plate, and a roll or wall is placed around the edges. Bits of butter are laid on it if rolled baked, the bread removed and the paste filled with stewed fruit or jam.
French Pastries.
Fruit tarts are excellent pastry selections for this season of the year. Lemon, orange, apple and chocolate eclairs are always favorites.

EASIER TO DRIVE.—The Cartercar has any number of speeds—all controlled with one lever. This simple control is supplemented by three independent systems of brakes, giving the driver absolute command of his machine at all times.
RIDES EARLIER.—There are no jerks or jars in starting or in changing speeds. Extra heavy upholstery, long wheel base and large wheels add the utmost comfort.
LOW REPAIR EXPENSE.—The Cartercar rolls along easily and noiselessly, without any vibration to injure the mechanism. This smooth running also lengthens the life of the tires very greatly.
WONDERFUL DURABILITY.—Every part is so simple and so strongly made that all the usual motor car troubles are practically eliminated. No matter what the weather conditions, or how long the trip, you will always find your Cartercar ready.

Of course you want to know more about a car like this. Just phone us for demonstration.

Why Cartercar Is Better

The Farmer's Best Friend

The condition of the small mill in Germany has been getting progressively worse. The competition of the big mills located at points advantageous for receiving foreign wheat, has been too much for them. Recently over a score of mills in Saxony have closed down permanently. For other influences have been working disaster to the small miller besides competition in the open market. The agricultural guilds (something like the American Society of Equity) take the neighborhood grain and market it at the centers, while the consumers' leagues buy their flour of the big mills and distribute it to their members. So the neighborhood miller is "whipsawed."

At last, however, the small miller in Germany has found a friend in the German Farmers' Union, which has issued a circular strongly urging upon its members that they support the local miller by every means in their power. The circular points out that the local miller is a regular customer for grain, and therefore the best customer; that it is the local market that supports grain prices, since the big port mills prefer foreign grain; that in fact the farmer and local miller are necessary to each other.

The local mill is the farmers' best friend, whether in Germany or the United States. The German Farmers' Union shows unusual frankness and unusual wisdom. We wish they had an organization in the United States.
