Increase Your Credit

It is a well established fact that the man who deposits his income in a hope bank and pays all bills by check increases his credit with the business men of the town.

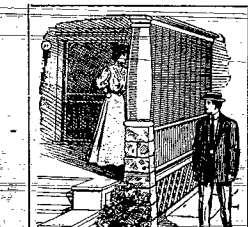

There is a very good reason for this. The merchant knows that the man who pays his bills by check is handling his financial affairs in a systematic and business like way, that he is going to get ahead in the world.

Why not open an account at this bank, give your money bank protection and get the benefit of this increased credit?

Harness and Collar Talk

THE ONLY HARNESS THAT WILL GIVE ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION IS ONE SEWED BY HAND

the old-fashioned way and made of pure oak-tanned leather tanned by PURE CHESTNUT OAK BARK. Such harness wear longer than any two sets made by a machine.

Likewise collars. My collars are manufactured from the best pure oak tanned collar leather and sewed with pure oak-tanned thongs. As a result the sewing does not give away and it does not become necessary for you to have them repaired after a few months' service.

The only place to purchase harness and leather goods of this high merit is

HERALD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FARMERS AND WRITES OF THEIR IMPROVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS BY H. G. LEAVENS

H. G. LEAVENS

F. M. GRIFFITH.

F. M. Griffith who owns and manages the Griffith home ranch of about 1,000 acres, five and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, has about 290 acres in corn, although he has rented out the larger part of the farm. Mr. Griffith does an extensive stock business and at present has 100 head of cattle and 100 head of hogs. After an observation of the farm and buildings and a conversation with Mr. Griffith, one cannot help but realize that thirty-one years of experience on this Wayne county farm has brought results.

ANDREW STAMM.

Andrew Stamm who bought 320 acres about four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, two years ago, has been a resident of Wayne county for the past twenty-eight years, having come from Sweden with his parents when he was ten years of age. This year Mr. Stamm has about 110 acres of corn and thirty acres of small grain, having rented out 160 acres, and recently sold 130 head of cattle. This farm presents a prosperous appearance, and Mr. Stamm expresses himself as well pleased with his new location. A new auto shed is one of his latest additions to a fine set of farm buildings.

C. F. SHURTLEIFF.

Although C. F. Shurtleiff who rents 160 acres four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, has been handicapped by sickness this spring, he expects at least an eighty per cent crop. Mr. Shurtleiff has been on this farm for two years and this year reports one hundred acres of corn and thirty acres of oats. He has also about fifty hogs and 250 chickens, and reports the prospects as bright for a good year.

DEAN HANSON.

Dean Hanson is completing his fourth year on the half section owned by his father, about five and one-half miles northwest of Wayne. He reports about 200 acres of corn, 160 acres of small grain and forty acres of alfalfa, having rented an extra 130 acres this year. Mr. Hanson has done an extensive stock business during the past year, having shipped about sixteen loads of sheep and four loads of cattle, and expects to do considerable feeding this fall. A new supply tank which holds about 210 barrels and will supply the house and barns with running water, is one of Mr. Hanson's recent improvements.

FERDINAND THUN.

Ferdinand Thun, living about six and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, reports fifty acres of corn and seventy acres of small grain, and the rest of his 160 acres in pasture. He has about fourteen head of cattle on the farm and says this year promises to equal any of the twenty-one that he has spent on the farm. A new barn is one of Mr. Thun's recent improvements.

FRED VICTOR.

Fred Victor is spending his first year on his father's farm, seven miles north of Wayne. He has about eighty acres of corn, sixty-five acres of small grain and eight acres of alfalfa, and expects to do considerable stock business the coming year. Taking into consideration the buildings on this farm, the writer was impressed with the opportunity there is of making this one of the most attractive farms in Wayne county. Mr. Victor expresses himself as pleased with the prospects of his first year on the farm.

W. H. EBHTENKAMP.

W. H. Echtenkamp, who owns 480 acres six and one-half miles north of Wayne, has rented out about eighty acres of his farm. He has 160 acres, corn, and 160 acres of small grain, having a good stand of both. During the spring he sold two car loads of stock. Mr. Echtenkamp has been on this farm for eighteen years and while the season is a little late, he states that this year will be at least up to the average.

W. G. EBHTENKAMP.

W. G. Echtenkamp who rents 160 acres of land about six miles north of Wayne, is spending his first year in Wayne county, coming from Washington county this spring. He has about fifty-five acres of corn, fifty-five acres of small grain and the rest of the farm in meadow and pasture. He is putting most of his time on crops and is well pleased with the prospects of his first year.

CHARLES BUETOW.

For the past twenty-seven years Charles Buetow has occupied eighty acres six miles north of Wayne. He reports crops as looking fine, having thirty acres of fine oats and thirty acres of corn that he says can't be beat. He has about sixty-five hogs on the farm, having shipped a car load in the spring. Mr. Buetow contemplates building a new double corn-crib soon and thinks that the prospects are fine for a good year.

H. J. MINER.

H. J. Miner who owns the half section one mile south of town, has made many improvements during the past five years, and now has a well-kept, prosperous-looking place in which he may well take pride. He reports 130 acres of good corn, sixty acres of oats, eighty acres of alfalfa and the rest in pasture and hay land. He has about twenty-two head of stock cattle and 175 pigs on the farm at present, having shipped four cars of hogs and two of cattle during the past year. Mr. Miner has met with success during the past year and says that this year promises as well as any he has spent on this farm.

WILLARD AUKER.

Willard Auker is spending his first year on the 160 acres one and one-half miles southeast of Wayne. He has some stock on the farm, but is putting most of his time on crops, having 110 acres of corn and thirty-five acres of small grain. Mr. Auker has done the larger part of his work alone this spring, but expresses himself as more than satisfied with the prospects of his first year.

C. J. JOHNSON.

"I would rather have two acres of this land than ten in Wisconsin," is the way C. J. Johnson expresses satisfaction over his move from Wisconsin to Nebraska, about one year ago. Mr. Johnson is farming the 160 acres about one and one-half miles southwest of Wayne, and has about eighty-seven acres of corn and twenty-four acres of small grain, the rest of the farm being in pasture and hay land. He expresses himself as pleased with the prospects and satisfied with the change he has made.

C. A. BAKER.

In addition to the eighty acres which he owns about two miles southwest of Wayne, C. A. Baker rents an additional eighty acres. He reports eighty acres of good corn, fifty acres of small grain and seven acres of alfalfa. Mr. Baker has about seventy-five pigs and fifteen head of cattle on the farm and recently shipped two loads of cattle and one of hogs. There is an orchard of about 400 apple trees on this farm, but there is promise of only a small yield this year.

THE WALLACE FARM.

The farm owned and operated by W. E. S. C. and C. H. Wallace, almost two and one-half miles southwest of Wayne, consists of a half section, eight acres of which are rented out this year. They have in crops eighteen acres of corn, twenty-two acres of oats and about forty acres of meadow. The Wallace brothers generally do an extensive feeding business, but did not winter-feed to any great extent the past year. They have lately installed a new underground reservoir which supplies the house and the complete building a new barn this season.

J. B. HAINES.

J. B. Haines has been on the farm of William Mellor, about two miles west of Wayne, for only a short time. Through the efforts of the owner and the tenant this farm is producing gratifying results. Much attention is paid to stock raising and feeding, and during the past year they have shipped about six car loads of hogs and cattle, and there are now about 230 head of hogs on the farm besides thirty yearling steers and thirty-five head of horses.

He reports 715 acres of good corn, and thirty acres of fine alfalfa, from which they have just taken the first cutting. Mr. Mellor gives most of his time and attention to this farm and much of the success is due to his efforts.

HENRY FOLTZ.

This is the first year that Henry Foltz has occupied the 160 acres about two miles northwest of Wayne, having moved to the farm March 15. He has about twelve acres of oats and 140 acres of corn. He was obliged to replant part of the corn, but now has a fine stand and prospects of a good yield.

E. M. LAUGHLIN.

E. M. Laughlin who lives on the farm two and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, reports seventy-five acres of fine corn, although fifteen acres were planted the second time. The rest of the farm is in meadow and pasture. Mr. Laughlin is spending his second year on this farm and reports prospects as even better than the first year.

WILLIAM WATSON.

William Watson who owns 240 acres about three and one-half miles north of Wayne, has reared out most of his farm this year. However, he has about forty acres of corn and eighteen acres of alfalfa which he is caring for himself. During the past year he has shipped about four cars of cattle and one car of hogs. Mr. Watson has lived on this farm for the past ten years and two years ago built a new farm house which gives his farm a decidedly prosperous appearance.

ED GRIER.

Having rented considerable acreage in addition to his own eighty acres, Ed Grier, who lives about four miles north of Wayne, has about 140 acres of corn, and 100 acres of small grain. At present he has about 115 Duroc Jersey hogs. Mr. Grier has been on the farm for the past eighteen years and says that this year bids fair to equal any of the eighteen. A new row barn is one of the improvements that he is now figuring on.

JULIUS CHAON.

Julius Chaon who rents Clyde Oman's farm three miles southwest of Wayne, reports 130 acres of corn, and 100 acres of small grain, and claims that he has winter wheat that ought to produce forty bushels to the acre. He has about forty hogs and about twenty head of cattle on the farm. Mr. Chaon has recently bought a farm near Carroll, and expects to move there in the fall. With the right kind of weather, he claims that this will be a banner year.

J. B. HEFTI.

J. B. Hefti who owns 190 acres eight miles northwest of Wayne, has occupied the farm for the past eleven years, having spent the last thirty years in Wayne county. This year he reports ninety acres of corn and sixty acres of small grain, both of which are good considering the unfavorable weather. He also has about twenty head of cattle and sixty head of hogs on the farm at present. Mr. Hefti needs a new cow barn and contemplates building one this fall.

HENRY LINKE.

Coming from Iowa about five years ago, Henry Linke bought 160 acres two miles northeast of Wayne. This year he has about thirty acres of corn, having the rest of the farm in pasture. There are now about one hundred head of hogs on the farm, two loads having been shipped and recently also about two loads of cattle which he will ship next month. Mr. Linke does an extensive poultry business, and has now about 600 White Plymouth Rocks and Rhode Island Reds.

L. LARSEN.

L. Larsen came to Wayne county about thirty-four years ago from northern Michigan and now owns 160 acres five and one-half miles southeast of Wayne. He has this year, about sixty-one acres of corn, and forty acres of small grain, the rest of the farm being in pasture and hay land. Mr. Larsen has about thirty head of cattle, eleven head of horses and nineteen head of hogs on the farm at present, and contemplates building a new barn this fall. He reports prospects favorable for a good year.

4th of July Celebration

ON JULY 4, 1912, the members of the Commercial Club of Wayne most cordially invite all residents of the town and vicinity to join them in a sane observance of our Independence Day.

Nothing exciting or spectacular is promised but it is hoped that the plan will appeal to all who, with their families, prefer to spend a quiet day among friends in Wayne, rather than seek pleasure among strangers in a strange town.

The Program which will be entirely informal, is substantially as follows:

At 12 o'clock the people will assemble on the Court House Lawn and enjoy together a picnic dinner. At 1:30 a short patriotic program will be given. Beginning at 2:30 o'clock an hour of amusement for the young people will be provided. In the evening a fine display of fireworks will close the day's entertainment.

Farmers living in the vicinity of Wayne and their families, residents of the town, everybody who enjoys a quiet observance of this National Holiday, are urged to meet on the Court House lawn on the morning of July 4. Bring a well filled lunch basket and join in the big picnic dinner; remain during the afternoon and listen to the program; do not miss the fireworks in the evening.

darkened homes the waxes would weep for joy!

"When I think it best to enjoy a rest I don't go to 'York or Rome' to the mountains fly, or inland the sea-I just lie around at home."

VACATION DAYS With my trusty pipe which is good and ripe-I seek for the Golden Plover in a cutting look, in a cozy nook, my feet on the mountainside. I do not sigh for Italian sky or yearn for an Alpine guide! I do not crave for the ocean waves-I am perfectly satisfied. In books I find frolic the most serene relief that is better far than to blow my wad for a tour abroad in airship or motor car. I climb no hills and I pay no bills for breathing in mountain air; I am not mobbed, but am not robbed at home in my easy chair, but find on the things I like, and I do not wake at the morning's break with tourists somewhere to "bake."

I am not flabbed by the cops or snubbed by tourists, nor often against my grain don't crack in attempts to speak a language I never learned. And when I am done with vacation fun no unreasonable tales I pour from a tireless jar of the things I saw-so no one takes me a bit.

"Now the flies begin their buzzing by the gross and by the dozen and make our lives a burden with their gnats and their drills."

THE FLIES. They are riding on the breeze, and they scatter more diseases than the doctor can ever master with his sugar coated pills. Day by day the husky bustles for our ears while the cunning assassin sneaks into our systems with his hypodermic gun; hustling in all human regions, sending to the honeydew legions who would otherwise keep living in this world of work and fun. Flies are vile and vulgar creatures; they have no redeeming features; they drive all the weight to anger as they wield their deadly tools and they keep us mad and fretting till we often are forgetting all the splendid moral lessons that we learned in Sunday schools. When the flies have all been driven from this land the joy of living will (the scientists assure us) be increased a hundred fold; let us therefore rise and sweat 'em out."

SUCCESSFUL PICNIC AT ALTONA FRIDAY

The picnic under the auspices of the German Lutheran church at Altona last Friday was a success from every viewpoint. The weather was perfect, the ground was large and level and on having a good time. The Rock Creek band furnished the music. The address by Rev. Challer was very interesting, and was given close attention. Singing by the young people elicited much deserved praise. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by everybody in attendance.

WILL NOT JOIN NEW PARTY MOVEMENT

Jefferson City, Mo., June 23.—Governor Hadley on his return today from the Chicago convention, declared his determination not to join Roosevelt's third party movement.

"I believe I can render more useful public service as a member of the republican party that by joining in the formation of a third party," he said.

"While I have in no way changed my mind as to the correctness of that for which I have contended, I understand to say that no political party ever did or ever will succeed in the United States unless it is supported by the people. I will not use authority unfairly and to accomplish selfish and improper ends."

"In my opinion the best way to successfully fight such men and methods and also the best way in which to fight for correct principles of government is within the party rather than by leaving it."

"There were some planks which were omitted from the platform which I should have had adopted, but there will be found, I believe, in the platform nothing that is objectionable to any republican, and on the whole it is the most progressive platform we have ever presented to the American people."

Dinson Hill a Republican.

Chicago, June 23.—"I am still a republican," said Governor Dineen of Illinois, tonight. "The republican national convention nominated Mr. Taft. I am the republican party's candidate for governor. That should be sufficient to state my position. The Illinois constitution does not allow any 'bolt' that might be proposed. We remained in our seats and followed the wishes of the people of Illinois as expressed at the primaries by voting for Mr. Roosevelt. I will have a complete statement of my position ready later."

Platform Suits Lodge.

Xalant, Miss., June 23.—In a state fight given out in his bid in Xalant, United States Senator Lodge declared himself in full accord with the platform adopted at Chicago by the republican national convention. Senator Lodge took no part in the contest for nomination.

LaFollette to Stay.

Chicago, June 23.—Walter L. Houser, campaign manager for Senator LaFollette, tonight said:

"Senator LaFollette, expects to continue active work in the ranks of the republican party. He believes that through this party will be carried out the progressive ideas."

THE OTHER DOG.

Champ has a dog, an old soon houn.

That all the boys have been taken down.

Teddy has one, a hull at that.

Who jumped in the ring when he shied his hat.

Then two ferreted dogs have been made for things but he has been kicked.

The pedigree bull and the old band hum.

There's another dog, a lean old stray. Liable to appear most any day.

He's been skinned 'round for six teen years.

Is stiff in his joints, but he has no fear.

When he starts a rumpus he starts it right.

And the other dogs know they have a fight.

This old grey houn' has been kicked 'round.

But he's always ready for another round.

His eyes are bright, his teeth are firm; And he's apt to make the other dogs squirm.

He's been tried, is true and does not lack.

The necessary grit, so he may come back.

And if he does, I tell you, by gum, The other top dogs will have to go down.

I've forgot his name, but I'll see Ma and ask her—

But I think the critter comes from Nebraska.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER PRIZES IN NEBRASKA AND OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., June 25.—Practically 1,000 Sunday school workers of Nebraska attended the annual convention, which was held in Omaha on June 18, 19 and 20.

Burr county sent the prize delegation when more than 230 reported. That county was awarded the prize ring for the greatest number. The Burr county winners came down in special cars Wednesday morning, marching to the church in two's.

The program was interesting throughout. On Thursday afternoon the publicity bureau of the Commercial club gave a complimentary ride through the city. After the evening session at Chicago, an international Sunday school worker, said:

"Nebraska is one of the best states that I have ever visited and Omaha is one of the most beautiful cities in the Union. Nebraskans can well say that they have the best city of its size in the United States and that they have the finest agricultural state in the Union."

"THE TESTING FIRE" TO BE READ IN WAYNE.

Alexander Corkey's last book, "The Testing Fire," which aroused so much comment in all parts of the country, will be read in Wayne by Miss Olive McBeth of the State Normal school, Miss McBeth, whose work as a reader is so well known, will give the reading at the Presbyterian church on the evening of July 12, under the auspices of the C. E. society. The book deals with the negro problem in the south, and is founded in large part, on the actual experience of a teacher with the negro in Alabama. Although the work of a northern man, "The Testing Fire" has been commended in the highest terms by the friends of the negro in the south, including Booker T. Washington and Dr. Shepard. Of course, southerners of the Tillman type have objected very strongly to the teachings of the story, and it has been designated an "awful bog" by them. Many in Wayne who have already read the story will be interested in hearing Miss McBeth's interpretation of the different characters introduced; and an enjoyable evening's entertainment is assured.

WHAT DO WE WANT?

After the national convention had dragged along nearly a week, President William Howard Taft and Vice President Charles Fairbanks were nominated to succeed themselves. Progress of the convention was marked by a succession of conflicts between the two warring factions.

The biggest political lions of the party were on hand battling for one side or the other. Colonel Roosevelt was among them and frequently advised with his followers.

It was in the interest of harmony, to unite with the candidate in the choice of a compromise candidate, but he was not so easily convinced. He refused to have the nomination or lead a new party.

Accordingly over 300 Roosevelt delegates assembled in the hall of the hotel to elect a president. The delegates were divided into two camps. One camp was for Roosevelt and the other for Taft.

And we, the plain people, wonder what the fuss is all about. What is the matter with us? What do we want? An examination of President Taft's record shows that it is fair, progressive and statesmanlike.

It is fair, progressive and statesmanlike. It is fair in its treatment of the people, in its maintenance of its credit, in its standing in the seven years and some months covering the Roosevelt regime.

The fact that Roosevelt aroused the popular conscience to the need of certain reforms gave distinct value to his administration. He made his last name a household name in the affairs of the nation.

His administration has been the best by opposition within his own party. Every step he has taken has been fraught with attempt to discomfit his opponents.

His successor was accepted by the American people. From the start President Taft has been best by opposition within his own party.

Every step he has taken has been fraught with attempt to discomfit his opponents. His successor was accepted by the American people.

His successor was accepted by the American people. From the start President Taft has been best by opposition within his own party.

Comfortable over prices for cattle, hogs, corn, wheat and oats. Note the steadily advancing value of our lands, and see if we have cause to get excited over the basis of our material wealth.

Take a calm and unbiassed view of the economic affairs and one of them is the change of a free-wheeler leadership, that might negate our markets and demoralize the fabric of prosperity.

Woven by years of confidence and development. Eliminating the personality of other candidates, what cause have we to get excited and demand a change? Really, what do we want?

Wayne county threaded with electric lines, all converging in Wayne, and facilitating travel to the county seat; is a dream that may some time be realized.

Mr. Ross, Nebraska presidential candidate who was defeated in the primary, was reported to attendance at the 1912 Chicago convention, expecting, no doubt, that the presidential nomination, held up by a deadlock, would search him out as a "dark horse."

In the dead of night, following a day of heated conflict at Chicago, and of his faithful little band gathered about him for a last word before retiring to his halcyon cot, Colonel Roosevelt raised his voice and said:

We stand at the foot of the mountain, and we look down upon the valley. The particular time mentioned here is the time when the meaning of Armageddon is apparent. It appears that St. John had a vision on the island of Patmos, and wrote about it at length.

In the course of telling what was going to happen, he mentioned in the sixth chapter of Revelation, the words which were done with each. The prophet was made very distinctly, Armageddon is mentioned in the chapter as the battle ground.

Many leading Roosevelt supporters refused to follow his third party plan, believing more progress could be made within republican ranks than by encouraging one man who defeated in the convention, to be elected president for his own and his new due.

The look of Revolution is largely a mystery. Roosevelt is ditto. In Tuesday's newspaper reports, Colonel Roosevelt is quoted as saying that he could have had the nomination at Chicago if he had been willing to make a certain deal that was proposed by a bunch of southern Taft delegates Saturday morning.

This year's experience with political campaigns ought to force to the front, with assurance of realization, the proposed change limiting a presidential term to six or eight years, and making a provision of the White House ineligible for re-election.

With all the opposition to the president and his manifest lack of popularity with the people generally, he has quietly executed the laws and in his policies—has taken advanced ground. He has stated the ship of state with a main hand, and radiantly from the one side and the other, water of ultra-conservatism on the other.

But what do we want? Are we drunk with prosperity and heedless of the future? Consult the daily market report and see if we have not reason to feel

The Problem of Force. Whether the sum total of energy in existence is increasing or decreasing is unknown. Many may cause surprise to notice from one source or another, but there is no authentication or decrease. Energy may be created or destroyed by the Creator and the fact proved in it is not released in any form, which has not, by any means, been fully explored.

The entire problem of force, or energy, is being studied in laboratories with renewed activity and with the aid of instruments of ever increasing accuracy. Space may hold wonders yet unexplored. This energy in form not at present known may be these:

A number of recent experiments have revealed a force that is inexplicable by any laws known to science. These researches were made in light. The results of studies now being made are awaited with great interest. A new electronic theory of light may be formulated, that is, "light" may be formed out of extremely minute bodies, at least 1,000 times less than the hydrogen atom.—New York American.

Two Versions. Miss Jane Barlow's first contribution to literature was some verses that she sent to the Cornhill Magazine while still in her teens. She awaited the reply with a certain eagerness. When it came it was a shock: "I have no use for your little verses."

She was, naturally, mortified and bitter. A plain rejection, it would seem, so forcefully was sheer, unnecessary cruelty. She endured her misery in solitude for awhile—her family knew nothing of her grief. Next day she felt compelled to write her father. She confessed and demanded sympathy.

But when she showed the letter the prevailing attitude, she was told with the whole family to interpret, look on as a supersitiously different significance. It had written:

Trousers. A recently published work on the social condition of the last century reminds us that trousers were invented by the Duke of Wellington, who was called upon to pay a heavy price for his tenacity. Men, who have lashed themselves into a dry at a garment that reduced all legs to a common level. The graduates of the universities were refused admission to dining hall and club by their dress.

Curved Arms of Flywheels. A great army of people imagine that the arms of flywheels and pulleys are curved for the sake of beauty and graceful appearance. But this is not so. They are curved because they are fast in sand from motion poured in. As the arms are of less thickness and body than the heavy fly and the hub, they begin to coil in the sand from the motion. As they are fast in sand from motion poured in. As the arms are of less thickness and body than the heavy fly and the hub, they begin to coil in the sand from the motion.

The Hardy Bore voortrekkers had a fine sense of poetry in naming places in South Africa. In the future, there is a place which will be named of Waachtbenedictus-fourteen. "It is a name," says a Cape Town exchange, "which is not a very attractive invitation to the thirsty traveler to rest a little by the brook beneath the cool shade of the trees calls up at once the thought of a green oasis in a dry and barren landscape."

The Unopened Letter. "What does George say in his letter?" "Oh, the usual lot of nonsense—undying love, eternally despair and all the rest of it."

A Bad Outlook. First Trump—"There's a sign to be seen in the sky over our heads in the future, I'm afraid. Second Trump—"Ow, that's just Trump. It's this here civilization. These cookin' schools is teachin' 'em to use up 'em old articles—Exchange."

Death. Death opens the gates of fame and glory to the one who has died. It is the loss of the chain of the captive and puts the bondman's task into another man's hand.—Steele.

Hard One Too. Little Willie—What's the name of the letter what calls on yer sister? Little Johnny—"Don't know. You call it 'D' for different every time. Exchange."

Close and Near. "Frogs are the only kind of animals who have noses." Inventors have one, but he is too close to give up any Boston Transcript.

A Case Where the Little God Cupid Takes a Hand

By CLARISSA MCKIE

The piazza of the summer hotel was decked with white and colored gowns relieved here and there by the more somber hues of mourning-rouses. All about them was a proportion of some male guest to every seventeen of the opposite sex.

Polly Skinner had figured it out on the back of a picture postcard she had just received from Dick Westford who should have been there if he had not loved the Maine woods better.

"Tut-tut of his impudence!" complained Polly to a group of her friends in a corner of the piazza. "I wrote to him that it was lower down on Mizzen Island and he merely sends the kitchen steward himself—stupid as usual—a camp fire with half a dozen people's stinking looking mud all wearing flannel shirts and looking contented and as satisfied in a stupid sort of way."

"I suppose everything is very messy there," remarked Dick Westford after a moment's reflection on the picture postcard. "I heard Mrs. Pinckney say last night that there was safety in numbers," remarked another guest. "You are right," spoke of Billy's sudden popularity boom.

"So I'm to be the burnt offering?" demanded Polly indignantly. "Why, I'll be as good as burnt if you do—"

"You're a sun burnt offering, and I like like a deer. Run along, honey; there's your Billy waiting for you. All right, my dear, you've got to become a pink dinner" laughed Ella, giving Polly a push toward the waiting cavalier.

"The next day Billy Pinckney's checked his motor by announcing that he wanted to marry Polly Skinner and if he couldn't be would just as soon be as not."

"Have you asked her, dear?" faltered Miss Pinckney. "Not yet, mother, but I'm going to do it," he declared, "thankful that she had not objected more strenuously."

"I have a right to be impudently left the bride," she demanded indignantly. "Because I ask it of you."

"All right, I promise, but I shouldn't change my mind," he threatened as she left the room. "Billy smiled, because she had lived with Billy for many years and knew him to be impudently. Almost any other of the girls would have done as well."

"I have a right to be impudently left the bride," she demanded indignantly. "Because I ask it of you." "All right, I promise, but I shouldn't change my mind," he threatened as she left the room.

THE ROMAN ROADS.

Wallace's Farmer: In these days, when so much is said about good roads, reference is frequently made to the roads of ancient Rome, which, after two thousand years of wear, are still good roads where recently taken care of. The usual method of making these roads was to begin by digging out a ditch, one on either side, from eleven to fifteen feet apart, thus marking the width of the road. These old Romans then carted away all the soil down to hard clay, or, better still, rock. If there was a swampy place, they drove piles and built the road on the piles. First they put on a layer of large stones, then a second layer nine inches thick of smaller stones covered with lime; on top of this a stratum of smaller stones, pieces of broken brick and pottery, smoothed them down, flattened them on top, and then cemented them together. The top layer was made of flat blocks of the hardest stone procurable, irregular in shape but fitted with extreme nicety to one another, so as to make a perfectly smooth surface.

Our readers may be curious to know how much a road of this kind cost. Undoubtedly it would vary in different sections; but a mile of road was built in the Emperor Hadrian's time (117 to 138 A. D.) between two towns in Italy, which cost 100,000 sesterces. A sesterce is about four cents. So the cost of this road, which is regarded by historians as a fair average, is about $4,000 a mile. Cheap, is it not? But let us see what the wages were in those times. They varied, as they do now, with the influx of gold from the provinces. In Christ's parable of the vineyard the wages mentioned are a penny a day, that is, a denarius, four sesterces; therefore about sixteen cents a day. In the year 23 a laborer in Heliopolis, Egypt, received from three to five obols a day; in 150 about eight obols in Upper Egypt. The obol was equal to about 2.5 cents. A road costing 100,000 sesterces would mean the work of about 25,000 men one day. If we remember that more than had about three times the purchasing power that it has now, we will see that the cost of these roads would not differ very greatly from the cost of a mile of first class railroad, without equipment.

It was possible for a well-to-do traveler who could pay the price, to make a hundred miles a day on these Roman roads. Is it not a curious thing that the Romans, who were almost as wise as we are in a good many things, did not establish a postal system? Letters had to be sent by messengers. Pliny the younger in writing to a friend, complaining that he had no letter from him, and urging him to write, says: "And do so, even if you have to send a special messenger. I will pay his traveling expenses and give him a present, if only he brings me the news I wish to hear."

There was a private enterprise that carried mail. We doubt if they had a parcels post. The most these carriages or stages could make was about forty or fifty miles a day. Therefore the Roman roads were about like our main trunk lines of railroad, built by the government and maintained partly by the government and partly by the provinces through which they ran. They were supervised by a public officer having charge of the roads like the division superintendent of a railroad today.

THE ELECTRIC LINE.

Hartington News: The surveyors of the Sioux City-Niobrara electric railway and power company arrived in this city yesterday. They are now working on the preliminary surveys about eight or ten miles west of this city. They have been about a month coming from Niobrara to this point, so it may be imagined that they were expected to remain in this city for a couple of weeks. There are about a dozen men in the party. They use a team and a camping outfit and an automobile. The auto takes them to and from their work, saving a lot of time. The large force and the length of time occupied on the job indicates that the work is being done very thoroughly indeed. Chief engineer King was not with the party yesterday when they arrived in this city, but arrived last night from Omaha, where he has been on business. Mr. King states that it now appears that the line will run about a mile and a half from Bloomfield, and about the same distance from this city.

RYAN LOVES THOUBLE.

Lincoln Journal: Mr. Bryan dearly loves trouble. Here everything was being fixed up for a love feast at Baltimore. Arrangements had been made for the progressive lion and the reactionary lamb to lie down together. Parker was to preside temporarily and send the various resolutions to the convention. Some progressive was to provide permanently, sounding a red hot radical keynote. In Champ Clark the party had a candidate who is both radical and reactionary and neither progressive nor conservative, a very gift from heaven to patriots who see the danger at the end of Peace Avenue. It is expected that the "Bryan" will be hot, cold, short, long, narrow, wide thick and thin. Oil and water were to mix by potent process. Cones Bryan claiming a party would better not be at all not so something; declares star on Parker; embarrasses the candidate by asking them to be either flesh or fowl on the PARKER question. Spoils the bash; casts a glow over the whole general. Makes Baltimore had as Chicago.

LINCOLN PARTISANS FROWN ON NEW PARTY

Lincoln correspondence, in Omaha Herald: The political pilgrims who have returned from the Chicago convention beginning to take up their usual line of work in the state house. Some of them do not care to talk about the convention very much, while others seem pretty well satisfied with nominations made. Some have come back greatly disappointed that "Teddy" did not develop greater strength in the convention and deplore the fact that it is one of entering a bolt and the formation of a new party. Most of the disappointed ones say most emphatically that they will not talk for publication, but some of them feel that a new party is not the right solution of the problem. One man who has been one of the strongest supporters of Mr. Roosevelt has had in the state house says that it would be foolish to loose the republican party and form a third party. He thinks that it is only a question of time when the progressives in the party will win, but cannot do it by going outside.

ROOSEVELT INTERVIEWED

Chicago, June 24.—The Tribune today says that Roosevelt was interviewed by Victor Rosewater said today that he did not see how the Roosevelt forces could command the republican organization in Nebraska in spite of the plurality given Colonel Roosevelt in the primaries. But he was anxious to admit that he might be mistaken and that he would not assume the role of prophet.

The republican electors have been named in Nebraska Mr. Rosewater said: "Under the circumstances the electors will have to vote for President Taft. Some of them may not do it, but I shall be astonished if they don't. Roosevelt electors may be named and may be voted for in the election but they will have to go under some other name than 'progressive'—Somebody. The door is open for a new party in Nebraska and one can be formed by complying with a few simple conditions. I don't know just what success a new party will have in Nebraska, and I do not care to prophesy."

Mr. Rosewater seemed to think that candidates of this kind are similar as the electors were concerned and that a new party designation would be necessary in order to permit the Roosevelt electors to appear on the ballot. Governor Aldrich of Nebraska, at one time indicated that he expected to support the man nominated by the republican national convention. He was one of the governors who issued the call for Colonel Roosevelt's candidacy, but he has not announced his intention since the convention adjourned.

NEW CHURCH AT RANDOLPH.

Randolph, Neb., June 24.—The Methodists have let the contract for the erection of their new church in this city. The structure will be of light colored brick and when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $13,000. Several beautiful, colored windows have been donated and a bath room for the young men's Sunday school class will be placed in the basement.

FULLMAN AUTOMOBILE.

Any one familiar with high grade autos knows that the Pullman is classed among the best and if you will read the specifications of the Pullman 6-60 and the Packard, the only great difference will be the price. Think of it, 6-60 with 125-hp wheel base, self-cranking motor, complete electric lighting equipment, electric vulcanizer, 36 by 4 1/2 inch wheels, and made in the Pullman factory, tells the story. The 4-30, 4-40 and 4-50 are equally well built ranging in prices from $1,675 to $2,750, while other cars NOT ANY BETTER sell for twice the price. The Logan Valley, La. Co. of Oakland, Neb., are distributors of Pullman cars for this part of the state and will be glad to furnish catalogues and information, as well as giving demonstrations to all who are interested. Live agents wanted. 120-2

A reporter today asked an Atchison girl if she intended to get married. "Oh, we've only got a wasting time case, she said." In real life the hero sometimes gets whipped although it doesn't happen that way in a novel. Generally speaking, the man who has more than his share is the one who has more than you have. "An airship may never hit an iceberg, but there are numerous other solid commodities to run into." Not knocking newspaper men, but it does seem they should do better considering the liberal allowance of advice they get without paying for it.

Ride In This Excellent

Cartercar (Completely Equipped) $1600

Cartercar

We want to convince you that good service—every day in the year—you should have this car. When you ride in a Cartercar you will understand why it is so popular with thousands of owners throughout the entire country.

Friction Transmission

The patented Friction Transmission gives an abundance of power for all road conditions. You do not have to kick roads when you are driving a Cartercar.

There are no gears to strip or haul—and no clutch to slip. The Cartercar transmission is composed of a friction disc which runs against a fiber faced wheel. The unlimited number of points where the fiber faced wheel may come into contact with the disc, means a correspondingly indefinite number of speeds.

Chain-in-Oil Drive

Power is transferred from the transmission to the rear axle in the most economical manner. The chain-in-oil drive practically prevents all lost power. The chain runs in a constant bath of heavy oil which reduces wear to the minimum. No attention at all is required except a new supply of oil about once a year.

Self Starter

All other parts of the Cartercar are just as efficient and as durable. We have five other excellent models on display here. Come in and see us at job shops and we will bring the car up to your home for demonstration.

"CAN HE TALK OR TALK?" "Yes, he will talk and the funny things he taught his parrots to say. One day a man came in who stumbled very badly and said to Burke: "I want to buy a parrot."

Yes—twice as much the Ford would cost you if it were built upon a less stupendous scale. The true economy worked by large cash buying and gigantic production, makes it possible for us to sell seventy-five thousand new Fords this year. The man who knows will tell you that there is no other car like the FORD MODEL T.

It's lightest, rightest, most economical. The two-passenger car costs but $590 f. o. b. Detroit, complete with all equipment, the five-passenger but $890. Today get catalogue 101—from Von Seggern Automobile Company piece was removed, and after carefully examining each fragment to see if our friend continued to put them together again—that is, he took up a box wheel and wondered where the Belen Blazes it belonged. The more he wondered the more confused he became. It seemed to him that there was enough machinery for seven hundred clocks on the table. He finally kicked the whole business into a corner and rushed down town and bought a pinball machine of Herrick & Wall's Best Lubricator. Having fortified himself, he again attacked the enemy, and after four hours of hard labor and diligent lubrication, he conquered, but he had wheels and cog wheels pinions, enough left to build four more clocks. He gives it as his unbiased opinion that all clocks are originally put together by the devil.

From the Ponca Journal, July 5, 1880:
Land in the Logan valley has advanced $2 per acre since the first of March.

The Logan Valley Bank is a new venture at LaPorte, Wayne county, and John T. Bressler, Richard B. Mart and D. C. Patterson are its founders.

Last week J. Leahy was over in Wayne county, and reports everything lovely, with the exception that LaPorte feels pretty sore at being nearly surrounded by railroads and now coming to the town. "So near and yet so far."

Monday evening a stalwart who had all day been celebrating his country's freedom, and at the same time trying to promote the temperance cause by destroying all the hot stuffs that his man would hold, was promouncing the streets with a terrific ring trailing over his shoulder and "hoorahing" for "General Gattler and Anthon B. Susany, or (his) any other man."

The village school closes this week, after a successful term of three months. The teachers, Mr. Wallbeck, Misses McKinley and Gaughen have conducted their respective departments in a manner satisfactory to both parents and pupils. A vacation of nine weeks will be given, when the school clock will again be wound up and education let pursue the even tenor of its way.

The work of widening the track commenced at this place Tuesday, and last evening there was completed about a mile. The wide gauge track had been from Corning as far as the junction, below Jackson, and as soon as the track from this end reaches that place we may expect regular trains again. Till then our train will see no more cars, and every night they will be farther away than they were the day before. Last night the train camped in the field near Mr. Holdrege's place, and tonight it will remain near Mrs. Dunbar's.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.

We, the undersigned, hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under the laws of the State of Nebraska, and do adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

Article 1. The name by which this corporation shall be known is—Wayne County Bank.

Article 2. The principal place of business of this corporation shall be at Sholes, County of Wayne, State of Nebraska.

Article 3. The object for which this corporation is formed is to carry on a Commercial Banking business under the laws of the State of Nebraska.

Article 4. The authorized capital stock of this corporation shall be Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars, of which at least Ten Thousand Dollars shall have been paid in at time of commencement of business, which shall be issued in shares of the par-value of One Hundred (100) Dollars each. No transfer of the stock of this corporation shall be made until entered on the books of the corporation.

Article 5. The highest indebtedness of this corporation shall at no time exceed two-thirds of its paid-in capital, except for deposits.

Article 6. This corporation shall begin business on the 15th day of March, 1912, or as soon thereafter as authorized by the State Banking Board of the State of Nebraska, and shall terminate on the 15th day of March, 1942.

Article 7. The affairs of this corporation shall be under the control and management of a board of directors, consisting of not less than three nor more than five shareholders, whose term of office shall be for a period of one year, or until their successors are elected and qualified, not less than a majority of whom shall be residents of the county in which the bank is located or counties immediately adjacent thereto. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to elect from their number a president, vice president and cashier, and they may also elect an assistant cashier and such other clerks and assistants as the business of the corporation may require. The term of office of the officers of this corporation shall be one year, or until their successors are elected and qualified. The board of directors may adopt such by-laws for the regulation and management of the affairs and business of the corporation as it may deem proper.

Article 8. The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation shall be held on the 6th of January each year, at which meeting the board of directors shall be provided for shall be elected. A majority of the shares of the stock of the corporation at any regular or special meeting, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Article 9. Until the regular annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation, the following named persons shall constitute the board of directors: Wm. H. Root, A. E. McDowell, Wm. Gramkau, B. Stevenson, Henry Tietgen.

Article 10. Each stockholder shall at any regular or special meeting be entitled to one vote, either in person or by proxy, for each share of stock held.

Article 11. These articles of incorporation may be amended at any regular or special meeting called for that purpose, by a two-thirds vote of all the stock.

Witness our hand this 13th day of March, 1912.

B. STEVENSON,
W. GRAMKAU,
HENRY C. TIETGEN,
W. H. ROOT,
A. E. McDOWELL,

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Wayne women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of dreyap or Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. They attack kidney diseases by striking at the cause.

Can Wayne sufferers desire stronger proof than this woman's story?

"I was Mr. Blackwood of Wayne, Neb., says:—When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was in such great pain that I could hardly get about. There was a dull, heavy ache across the small of my back and I was lame and stiff. I had a feeling of tiredness and languor and it was out of the question for me to rest well at night. I felt the beneficial effect of Doan's Kidney Pills immediately after beginning their use and I continued taking them until I was restored to good health. Whenever I hear any one complaining of disordered kidneys, I advise a trial of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Farmer's Best Friend

The condition of the small mill in Germany has been getting progressively worse. The competition of the big mills located at points advantageous for receiving foreign wheat, has been too much for them. Recently over a score of mills in Saxony have closed down permanently. For other influences have been working disaster to the small miller besides competition in the open market. The agricultural guilds (something like the American Society of Equity) take the neighborhood grain and market it at the centers, while the consumers' leagues buy their flour of the big mills and distribute it to their members. So the neighborhood miller is "whipsawed."

At last, however, the small miller in Germany has found a friend in the German Farmers' Union, which has issued a circular strongly urging upon its members that they support the local miller by every means in their power. The circular points out that the local miller is the regular customer for grain, and therefore the best customer; that it is the local market that supports grain prices, since the big port mills prefer foreign grain; that in fact the farmer and local miller are necessary to each other.

The local mill is the farmers' best friend, whether in Germany or the United States. The German Farmers' Union shows unusual frankness and unusual wisdom. We wish they had an organization in the United States.
