Consolation Doubles: Sten and pitcher for winners of consolation doubles-Harry Fisher and Paul Mines, Wayne.

Smoking set and toilet case for runners up consolation doubles-Rev. Pearson and Dr. Johnson, Schuyler.

The nineteenth annual tournament of the Northeast Nebraska Tennis association, sponsored previous years in both attendance and quality of playing.

The matches were hard-fought, and every man who won laurels, fully earned them.

In the third round, semi-finals and finals of both singles and doubles, there was seldom a match in which the losers had not won a set from their opponents.

Attention is specially called to the fact that of Rev. F. M. Druliner of Madison, who won the championship singles, played the last day of the tournament during 184 games.

Wayne, Madison and Wakefield carried off most of the prizes. Fred File and Frank Morgan defeated their championship in doubles by defeating Wenke and Grosvenor.

New Y. M. Druliner of Madison won the championship title in singles by defeating Sam Eskrine of Norfolk, 6-4, 0-7, and 6-4.

Victor Henry of Wakefield, won the junior championship, defeating Harry Hobbs of Madison, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1 and 6-1.

There were twenty-five visiting players, and every effort was put forth by Wayne people to make them feel at home and pass the time pleasantly.

Wenke, Pender, J. Johnson, Schuyler, 6-0, 6-4.

Dr. Eby, Hartington, C. Schmidt, Madison, 6-0, 6-1.

Pasewalk, Norfolk, D. L. Ellis, Bloomfield, 6-0, 6-0.

Patzell, Stanton, C. Person, Stanton, 6-0, 6-0.

Pile, Wayne, D. Grosvenor, Walthill, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

Kemp, Wayne, D. Hobbs, Madison, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Henry C. Rarely by default.

Druliner J. Garlock, Rosalie, 6-0, 6-1.

C. Ellis, Bloomfield, D. Kiplinger, Wayne, 7-5, 6-1.

F. S. Mathewson, Norfolk, G. Henoch, Bloomfield, by default.

Reeber, Wayne, D. Mines, Wayne, 6-3, 6-3.

Carlson, Wakefield, J. Kohl, Wayne, by default.

Bosse, Meadow Grove, D. Fredericks, Bloomfield, by default.

Carlson, Wayne, D. Sattell, Bloomfield, by default.

Second Round: Erskine, D. McClanahan 6-2, 6-3.

Wenke, D. Ely 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

Pile and D. Balluff 6-0, 4-6, 6-1.

Kemp 6-2, 6-2.

Druliner, D. Henry 6-1, 4-6, 6-0.

S. Mathewson, D. C. Ellis, 6-2, 6-2.

Carlson, D. Bode 6-4, 6-2.

Hobbs d. Main, 6-1, 6-0.

Finals: Henry d. Hobbs 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1. Resolution.

The following resolution was adopted: We, the visiting players of the Northeast Nebraska Tennis association, wish to express our appreciation and gratitude to the merchants and to other citizens of Wayne for their hospitality and royal entertainment which have made this nineteenth annual tournament a pronounced success.

Therefore we extend a vote of thanks to the Wayne Tennis association, to the merchants and all others who assisted in our entertainment.

List of Visiting Players: Rev. E. F. Pearson, Schuyler; Dr. Johnson, Schuyler; Dr. Balzell, Stanton; Roy Person, Stanton; Elmer Robinson, Hartington; Dr. Eby, Hartington; Mr. Carlson, Wakefield; Victor Henry, Wakefield; F. S. Mathewson, Norfolk; L. P. Pasewalk, Norfolk; N. A. Huse, Norfolk; J. S. Mathewson, Norfolk; F. M. Druliner, Madison; Harry Hobbs, Jr., Madison; Rev. H. McClanahan, Madison; Arthur Schmitt, Madison; C. M. Mathewson, Walthill; Roy Grosvenor, Walthill; Mr. Summers, Walthill; W. E. Wenke, Pender; Mr. Rarely, Pender; Dr. E. S. Morgan, Rosalie; H. Garlock, Rosalie; Leslie Ellis, Bloomfield; C. Ellis, Bloomfield.

Tennis Notes: Rev. Pearson of Schuyler, president of the association, who has probably attended more northeast Nebraska tournaments than any other man, proved that he is not "going back" by winning one of the runner-up prizes in singles.

C. M. Mathewson of Walthill, who is always a big factor in the championship singles, was here throughout the tournament, even though he was unable to play in the championship round on account of a dislocated shoulder.

He defeated one opponent in the consolation singles, playing left-handed.

Summers of Walthill was the best roofer on the ground.

One of the biggest surprises of the tournament was the defeat of Erskine and Pasewalk of Norfolk, by their fellow-townsmen, Huse and Mathewson.

Fisher and Mines are the "dark horses" in the consolation doubles in which they will win the first prizes.

The Bible study club will meet in the city next week during the summer months. Miss Monte Theobald will be hostess at the meeting of the club next Tuesday evening.

Miss Morrill's model school had a picnic in a grove in the north part of the city yesterday afternoon, and it is needless to say that the little folks had a most enjoyable time.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Aid society went in autos to the home of Mrs. William Gildersleeve, two miles southeast of town, yesterday to spend the afternoon, and in the evening enjoyed a picnic supper. A delightful afternoon was spent.

Mrs. J. E. Hufford was pleasantly surprised Sunday evening when a number of the neighbors gave a picnic supper in honor of her birthday anniversary. The supper was served on the lawn of Y. A. Senter and all did justice to the dainty viands spread before the guests.

The present women Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hufford, Mr. and Mrs. V. Senter, Dr. and Mrs. T. B. Heckert and the Misses Allet and Frances Katz.

The bible study circle held a very interesting and largely attended service at the pleasant home of Mrs. John Schofield Wednesday afternoon. The program on the four kinds of soil brought forth much discussion and showed some thorough preparation on the part of the class members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Barker who is soon to leave with her two sons for their old home at Long Pine. All are invited.

George Kruger, Paul Kruger, Ernest Rehnkamp, Herman Eckstein, Carl Kraus, Kruger, Martha Kruger, Ella Kruger and Anna Eckstein are invited to spend the day celebrating the Fourth. They spent the day auto riding and spent the evening at the German hall.

THREATENING FIRE DURING HIGH WIND

HUNTER - RESIDENCE DAMAGED

Occupied by E. N. Tharp. Mrs. Tharp Burned - Prompt Action Prevents Big Conflagration.

Monday afternoon when the terrific hot wind was at its height, the fire alarm was sounded, and the hose carts were hurried to R. N. Tharp's residence which had caught fire from an oil stove and which flamed by the raging elements, threatened to develop into a costly conflagration.

By the prompt and heroic efforts of the firemen, the flames were restricted to the kitchen. The men rendered excellent service, and acted so quickly and effectively that fears of widespread loss were soon calmed.

After lighting the oil stove, Tharp went to another part of the house. Returning to the kitchen a few moments later, she found the room ablaze. The wind had evidently blown the fire and caused it to communicate to some inflammable material. She cried for help and fortunately closed the door leading into the dining room.

Her eyes were closed and help responded almost instantly. In trying to get out the fire, Mrs. Tharp had her face and arms badly burned. Overcome by the heat and excitement, she fell in a faint, and was carried to the residence of J. C. Nuss, and a physician was called. She soon recovered consciousness, and while her burns have been painful, they were not serious.

Fearful of the impossibility of checking the flames with a high wind driving them, all the contents of the house were removed. Also, the threatening fire prompted removal of everything from Eric Anderson's house, near by.

But quick action in throwing water put out the fire before it reached the kitchen, and the loss was confined to that apartment, aside from damage to furniture in removing it.

The house is owned by Mrs. E. Hunter who recently removed to Los Angeles, Cal., and a part of the contents also belongs to her. She carried insurance on both house and contents. Mr. Tharp regrets his loss to the extent of $1500.

His loss is covered by insurance. Mr. J. Thompson, recently in business here, had furniture in the house, and suffered some damage in the quick moving.

While the strong wind made an outbreak of fire especially ominous, the presence of mind of Mrs. Tharp in closing doors and shutting off drafts, did the trick in saving the house from the flames and reduced the loss unexpectedly.

INTENSELY HOT WAVE HITS WAYNE COUNTY

Monday's weather suggested that the hours of Waterloo had been thrown back again. The wind was intensely hot, and swept along with much force. The mercury soared above 100. It reminded one of the old and original Kansas hot winds that used to occasionally whip into Nebraska and take the courage out of growing vegetation.

A few days of the kind of weather dashed out Monday would prove a serious menace to the crop. But the elements were quiet Tuesday and Wednesday, unaccompanied by blistering winds, and rain fell over parts of this corner of the state.

The northern part of Wayne county was especially fortunate in the matter of rainfall. No damage is believed to have been done by Monday's dry heat, but it is hoped it nature has any more of this same variety in its laboratory it will hold it along for circulation next winter.

ANOTHER GRAND OLD FOURTH PASSES ON

AS OBSERVED IN WAYNE COUNTY

Program on Court House Lawn - Fast Ball Game, Maypole, Hoops, etc. - to-Hookins and Randolph.

While people just as fully endorse the act of the continental congress which asserted independence from British rule, as they ever did, they usually don't feel like making as much noise over the achievement as they formerly did. One thing they do seem to be doing, however, is to have progressed so rapidly in the business of free and independent government that they can't exactly renew the spirit of the infernal struggle that followed the notable declaration 135 years ago. Besides, there have been so many funerals as a result of people's efforts of July demonstrations that people have been taught caution in handling their patriotism.

Further, it is so much easier to turn to quiet picnicking on a hot day than to cavort around watching amateur parades, parboiling potatoes and helpless labor in the sun in order to properly celebrate, and exciting abnormal activities, that there are many who would prefer, and are passing and signing of the declaration of independence is still cordially approved, people don't believe it necessary to threaten their health or lives in order to make suitable manifestation of appreciation and joy.

This year has become less strenuous and dangerous, and more sane and safe, with the mortality list materially reduced.

As Observed in Wayne

The Fourth in Wayne did not cause any great excitement, but people seemed well satisfied. The picnic dinner on the court house lawn failed to attract as many people as expected, but they were pleased. In the afternoon the crowd on the court house lawn largely increased, and listened to a program of music and speeches.

Judge A. A. Welch and Professor I. H. Britell gave patriotic addresses, and the State Normal quartet and a chorus under the leadership of Professor E. L. Lowry furnished a series of inspiring songs.

At the ball park one of the fastest and most enjoyable games ever seen on the local diamond took place, the Wayne and Madison teams contending for honors. A big crowd attended, the gate receipts amounting to nearly $200.

Spurred on by cheering spectators, both sides played their best and scored closely matched. At the close the score stood 3 to 4 in favor of Wayne. Order was excellent, and the occasion was not marred by any ill feeling.

In the evening people gathered at points of vantage to see the display of fireworks. The exhibition lasted two hours, and came up to highest expectations.

At the time of the tournament many of the tennis cracks who were with us this week - Mr. Summers of Walthill. In our estimation this gentleman is a very capable umpire, having perfect control of the players and his briar pipe at the same time. His influence over the spectators was not quite so strong, however, to be going several feet from the grandstand, and endeavoring to incite an audience to go out and escort Mr. Summers from the field on a stretcher.

These rosters were visiting tennis players, and Mr. Summers informs us that they were not taking exceptions to his umpiring, but were revenging themselves for the defeats they had suffered at his hands in the tennis matches.

Mr. Summers returned with great dignity, from exhibiting any displeasure at their reprehensible conduct. The incident lends us baseball fans to regard tennis as a very rowdy pastime.

YAYNE WINS ELEVEN OUT OF TWELVE GAMES

GOOD WEEK'S RECORD FOR TEAM

Yesterday's Meeting With Pierce Team Demonstrated the Acme of East Ball Skill.

(By Official Reporter.) And the winning streak keeps up. Eleven out of the last twelve games are to our credit. We lost to Carroll Tuesday but the team was badly crippled that day, Carey being under the doctor's care and Shelington having to retire from the game in the third inning on account of a bad wrench sustained by his ankle. The hardest game we have had this year, against the strongest all round ball team we have met was the one played at Pierce yesterday. For eleven innings the score in a 1-0 tie with both teams giving the limit to avoid any slip which might cost a single score.

In the eleventh Knight got a clean two-bagger; Depey scored him with a well placed hit; Hunter advanced Depey to third and Hunter brought him home with a sacrifice fly. Pierce made a desperate attempt to straggle this end of two scores, and did get one, but with men on third and first the last batter hit a grounder to Cross who slipped it over to first for the third out and we won, 3 to 2. Pierce will be here next Thursday and you'll see two real ball teams and a real ball game. Don't miss it.

The game with Winslow July 4 was exciting enough to please everyone. Both teams played good ball, and it was anybody's game until Cross and Carey hit safely in our last half.

Randolph comes down Friday and we hope to dispel the old hoodoo which has kept us from winning the majority of games from this club during the last three years. They seem to play better ball against us than any club they meet, but we don't believe their best will be half good enough this year.

Don't miss the Indian game Saturday and again next Tuesday. The Walthill management is trying to get Walker and Johnson as a battery for us that day. Walker is a catcher most of us have seen and he is a pretty good one. Johnson has been getting so many favorable press notices for his pitching this season. They are both Indians and will be supported by an able team of Indian ball players. They play tomorrow, Saturday, and return next Tuesday for another game so that the business men will have a chance to see them.

Remember only two games at home next week - Tuesday against Walthill and Thursday against Pierce - both crackjack games. There will only be twelve or fifteen more games on the home grounds. If you enjoy this great sport better get out to all of these games now while the team is going at its best.

The game with Carroll Tuesday was played under the supervision of one of the tennis cracks who were with us this week - Mr. Summers of Walthill. In our estimation this gentleman is a very capable umpire, having perfect control of the players and his briar pipe at the same time. His influence over the spectators was not quite so strong, however, to be going several feet from the grandstand, and endeavoring to incite an audience to go out and escort Mr. Summers from the field on a stretcher.

Dr. Hoidal is requested to emphasize the council's notice, published elsewhere in this paper, calling attention to the proposed strict enforcement of rules regulating the use of city water. Complaint is made that rules have been violated to such an extent that with the pumping running to their fullest capacity not enough water can be kept in the stand pipe to insure adequate supply in case fire should break out. Rules governing use of water each day are liberal enough without exceeding the prescribed limit, and the authorities insist that they must be strictly obeyed.

WAYNE COUNTY LADY DROWNED AT NORFOLK

MRS. GUY G. STOCKTON PERISHES

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. West, Formerly of Wayne County—Leaves Husband and Child.

Mrs. Guy G. Stockton who was drowned in the Northfork river at Norfolk on the Fourth, lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. West, in Wayne county for many years, and is a grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan McManical who reside on a farm twelve miles southeast of here. The West family lived in the neighborhood of the McManical farm, and Wayne county friends will deeply sympathize with the sorrowing relatives. The funeral took place at Valhalla, Neb., Sunday afternoon.

Friday, Norfolk Daily News gives this account of the drowning:

A drowning tragedy marred Norfolk's Fourth of July. Mrs. Guy G. Stockton, wife of a local photographer, had gone to the mouth of the Northfork river at a point where it empties into the Elkhoru, early in the day with her family for a holiday picnic. While wading with others in the river she stepped off into a hole fifteen feet deep and lost her life. Her husband, and Mr. Weaver, leader of the Norfolk band, were both near at hand and both leaped into the whirlpool in an effort to rescue the drowning woman. Mrs. Stockton tore Weaver's shirt almost off his body and clutched her husband's ankles in the hole. The water was so shallow, but to no avail. Both men nearly lost their lives in the attempt to save her.

The two families, the Stocktons and the Weavers, had gone out to the river bank early in the morning to spend the day. After lunch at about 2:30 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Stockton and Mr. and Mrs. Weaver went into the hole to wade. The water seemed shallow. It was just at the point where the Northfork enters the Elkhoru. In fact they got out into the Elkhoru a little distance.

Gets into Deep Whirlpool.

In entering the Elkhoru, the Northfork river's current creates a whirlpool. This whirlpool has dug a hole fifteen feet deep. Two feet away from the hole the water is only three feet deep. Mrs. Weaver's little two-year-old daughter and the Weavers' little son sat on the bank and watched their parents wading in the cool waters. Then they saw Mrs. Stockton drop into the whirlpool. She had stepped off the shallow bed of the river into the treacherous eddy.

Stockton and Weaver screamed and leaped into the deep water. Neither man is an expert swimmer, though they can swim a little. During that tragic moment neither one knows just what happened. They were both striving frantically, furiously to save a life.

And the diving woman was making a last terrible struggle in life.

But the battle was lost. Mrs. Stockton sank into the swirling current and did not reappear above the surface of the water. When the body was found thirty or forty minutes later it was entangled in a snag at the bottom of the treacherous eddy.

Stockton and Weaver screamed and leaped into the deep water. Neither man is an expert swimmer, though they can swim a little. During that tragic moment neither one knows just what happened. They were both striving frantically, furiously to save a life.

Men on the shore who had heard the screams for help ran to the scene in time to rescue Stockton and Weaver. A boat was secured and a search for the body immediately made. The little children on the bank of the river had witnessed the whole terrible tragedy. The bereft husband is beside himself with grief as a result of the shock.

Mrs. Stockton was 25 years of age. She was formerly Mrs. Emma West, a nurse in an Omaha hospital. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. West, live twenty-five miles northwest of Herick, S. D. She has two brothers and two sisters there, and one brother works on a farm near Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Stockton were married about three years ago. They came to Norfolk from Blair a year ago last May. One child, a little girl two years, survives.

This was the twenty-first drowning in Norfolk within twenty-five years. Of this number, eighteen have been in the Northfork river, always a treacherous stream, and three in the Elkhoru. The last drowning in Norfolk prior to this was July 7, 1910, when little Gay Reed lost his life in the Northfork.

There will be a band concert and ice cream social at the lawn of the Presbyterian church next Friday evening. Ice cream and cake tea given. Free seats provided. Everybody welcome.

HERALD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FARMERS AND WRITES OF THEIR IMPROVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS BY H. G. LEAVENS

E. L. JONES.
Coming from Iowa two years ago, E. L. Jones is spending his second year on 276 acres about two and one-half miles northwest of Wayne. He has 230 acres of corn which is all good, except about thirty acres and the rest in pasture. Mr. Jones was pleased with his first year on the farm, and likes the prospects for this year. He rates Nebraska as considerably ahead of Iowa.

FRANK MELLICK.
Frank Mellick handles 100 acres of the home estate about four miles north-west of town and has lived on the farm for the past twenty-three years. He has eighty acres of corn and fifty acres of small grain, the rest of the farm being in pasture. He has some stock, but is putting in most of his time on crops and thinks prospects are right for a good year. A new hog house and corn crib are among the recent improvements.

LOUIS KNOEL.
Louis Knoll who owns one-half section of land seven miles northwest of town, reports 150 acres of corn and ninety acres of small grain. He has on the farm about sixteen head of cattle, fourteen head of horses and fifty head of hogs. "Corn is good, and with a little rain we ought to have a fine crop" is the way he expresses himself concerning crop prospects.

GUSTAV WENDT.
Gustav Wendt who owns a quarter section six and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, reports 110 acres of corn on which he got a fair stand, and nearly all the rest of his farm is in small grain and alfalfa. He has about forty head of cattle on the farm, but only a few hogs. He generally sells his stock at the local markets. The house was rebuilt last fall, and a new water system is being installed which will give running water to the house and barn. This farm gives one a good impression, and speaks well for Mr. Wendt's methods of farming.

R. E. SMITH.
R. E. Smith who owns 200 acres about six miles west of Wayne, has been on this farm for four years, although he has spent thirty years in Nebraska. He reports 100 acres of corn, thirty acres of oats and fifteen acres of alfalfa. On this farm there is a full creamery outfit, and Mr. Smith has thirty head of dairy cattle. He also has about 200 head of hogs on the farm, one head of which is ready to ship. A fine new barn was completed last year and the set of buildings on this farm can be favorably compared with any in Wayne county.

E. A. M'BAUGHEN.
"Prospects for small grain were never better," says E. A. M'baughen who owns about 900 acres five miles west of Wayne. He has about 140 acres of corn, and 240 acres of small grain, but ing rented out about 160 acres of the farm. During the past year he has shipped about seventeen carloads of stock and now has about 200 head of hogs and thirty head of horses on the farm. Mr. M'baughen came to this farm from Cuming county about ten years ago and has made many improvements during that time, a new 21000-corn-crib, built last year, being among them. One cannot help but see that Mr. M'baughen understands his business thoroughly.

E. HARRISFIELD.
E. Harrisfield who owns a half section about four and one-half miles west of Wayne, came to the farm from Empson about five years ago. This year he reports 120 acres of corn and sixty-five acres of small grain. He has only a small amount of stock on the farm and during the past year fed only about two loads, while he generally feeds four or five. A new corn crib is one of his recent improvements.

D. A. JONES.
From the D. A. Jones farm about four and one-half miles west of Wayne, is reported 120 acres of fair corn and 50 acres of small grain, the rest of the place being in pasture and meadow. There are now about twenty head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the place, but about sixteen cars of feeders have been shipped during the past year. Several new buildings have recently been erected and the farm presents a good appearance.

J. D. LUEBERS.
Although hindered this year by a long siege of hot suns, J. D. Luebers who owns 320 acres three miles southeast of Wayne, considers prospects on his place first-class this year. He has several new buildings, has small grain and twenty-five acres of alfalfa. He has about 300 hogs on the farm at present, having shipped two carloads of cattle in the spring. Mr. Luebers came to this farm from Tekamah two years ago and has since added many improvements, among them a new cattle shed and a new hog barn.

FRED WROBEL.
Fred Wrobel who is spending his third year on the eighty acres four miles southeast of Wayne, reports prospects as fair for a good crop. He has about fifty-five acres of corn and twelve acres of small grain; also seventy-five hogs and several head of cattle on the farm at present. New light tile on the farm has recently been placed on the house and a new corn crib is contemplated for this fall.

WILLIAM KUGLER.
"Prospects as good as they have been in other years at this time," says William Kugler who has 160 acres five miles southeast of Wayne. Although bothered some by the squirrels, he has fifty-five acres of good corn and thirty acres of small grain. There are now about sixty head of cattle and seventy-five hogs on the farm, one carload having been shipped recently. During the past five years, Mr. Kugler has put about $2,000 worth of improvements on the farm.

NELS NELSON.
Coming from Michigan about thirty-four years ago, Nels Nelson, now owns 200 acres about five miles southeast of Wayne. He reports seventy-five acres of fair corn, fifty-two acres of small grain and twenty acres of alfalfa. He shipped one car of hogs in March and now has sixty head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the farm. Mr. Nelson has practically rebuilt all the buildings on the farm, a new house five years ago and a new barn two years ago being among his recent improvements. Mr. Nelson has a farm in which he may well take pride.

W. L. CHICHESTER.
W. L. Chichester who carries on the 240 acres owned by his father, about six miles northwest of Wayne, reports eighty acres of corn, forty acres of small grain and fifteen acres of alfalfa, the rest of the farm being in pasture. He has about fifty head of cattle and 120 head of hogs on the farm at present, having shipped one load of hogs in April. Mr. Chichester has managed this farm for the past six years and has a new hog house, near the plan of the Wayne stock pavilion, is one of his latest improvements.

W. M. PETERS.
W. M. Peters who rents 160 acres five and one-half miles southeast of Wayne, reports fifty acres of fair corn, and fifty acres of good small grain, the rest of the farm being in hay and pasture. Mr. Peters is undecided about remaining on the farm another year, but if the crop turns out the way it promises, he will consider the matter carefully before making a change.

RICHARD BITZE.
Richard Bitze who owns 320 acres about five miles south of Wayne, reports seventy-five acres of corn and sixty acres of small grain, having a 2000 stand in both. He has fifty head of cattle and fifty head of hogs on the farm at present, having shipped two carloads in the spring. Mr. Bitze has been on this farm for about four years and has made many improvements during that time.

HENRY HINNEBICH.
Coming from Germany about forty-three years ago, Henry Hinnebich now owns about 400 acres, northeast of Wayne, in Dixon county, and has lived on this farm for the past thirty years, being assisted by his son in the management of the place. This year he reports 125 acres of corn, sixty acres of oats and thirty-five acres of spring wheat, considerable of the corn being in pasture. Mr. Hinnebich does much stock business and shipped three carloads of cattle and three carloads of hogs during the past year. He now has about eighty head of cattle and twenty-five head of hogs on the farm. This place has a good set of buildings and presents a prosperous appearance.

JOHN LIVERINGHOUSE.
John Liveringhouse who owns about eighty acres one and one-half miles south of Wayne, is spending his third year on this farm, but has been a resident of Wayne county for the past twenty-three years. He has no stock on the farm this year, and is putting most of his time on crops, reporting twenty acres of corn, thirty acres of oats and twelve acres of alfalfa. Mr. Liveringhouse expects to seed about thirty acres in alfalfa this fall.

HENRY KLOPPING.
Although he puts most of his time on stock raising, Henry Klopping who has two and one-half miles west of Wayne, reports one hundred acres of corn and sixty acres of small grain, with the prospect of a good crop. Since the first of January he has shipped about twelve cars of stock. Mr. Klopping rented an extra eighty this year and will continue buying stock for feeding.

FRED WENDT.
Fred Wendt is spending his first year on the 160 acres which he rents about six and one-half miles northeast of Wayne. He has seventy-five acres of corn and sixty-five acres of small grain, but very little stock on the farm as he just started this spring. Mr. Wendt thinks the prospects are fair and is not discouraged with the crop conditions this year.

GEORGE GETMANN.
"Give me Nebraska every time," says George Getmann, who rents 160 acres about seven miles northwest of Wayne. Mr. Getmann was speaking of his coming to Nebraska from Washington about two years ago. He has seventy-five acres of corn and twenty acres of small grain, besides having thirteen head of cattle and twenty-four head of hogs on the farm at present. Mr. Getmann expresses himself as pleased with crop prospects for the year.

GEORGE BEERES.
George E. Beeres owns 320 acres of land seven and one-half miles southeast of Wayne, and has lived there for the past twelve years. He has 100 acres of corn which, excepting eight acres, reports seventy acres of corn and forty-five acres of small grain, the rest of the farm being in hay land and pasture. He has about thirty head of hogs and six head of cattle on the farm. Several improvements were made on the farm last year and repairs on the house will probably be made this fall.

E. C. PHILLIPS.
E. C. Phillips rents 100 acres nine miles southwest of Wayne and is spending his second year on the farm. He has fifty-five acres of corn and twelve acres of small grain, reporting a fair stand in both. He is pasturing about fifty head of cattle and fifty-six head of hogs. A new corn crib is contemplated and Mr. Phillips looks to have this year equal last and expresses himself as satisfied with his first year on the farm.

FRED GOSS.
"On this farm corn has been good for the past five years," says Fred Goss, who rents 260 acres about eight miles northwest of Wayne. He is spending his sixth year on the farm and has this year 100 acres of corn and ninety-five acres of small grain. About two weeks ago Mr. Goss sold forty-five head of cattle and now has twenty head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the farm. Many improvements have been made since Mr. Goss came on the place, and he thinks crop prospects are good this year.

AUGUST THUN.
August Thun who owns eighty acres nine miles southwest of Wayne, has rented an extra thirty-five acres for the year. He has forty-five acres of corn, thirty acres of wheat and twenty acres of oats. He does not have very much stock on the farm at present as he is putting all his time on crops. He expresses the belief that there will be a fair crop this year.

JOHN VENNBERG.
John Vennberg owns eighty acres three miles northeast of Wayne and rents another eighty. He has sixty acres of good corn and fifty-four acres of small grain, the rest being in pasture and hay. Mr. Vennberg does some stock business, but generally sells on the local market. He has now about 25 head of hogs and twenty head of cattle. That much care is taken concerning the looks of the place is easily told from its neat appearance.

GEORGE THOMPSON.
George Thompson who rents 100 acres seven miles southwest of town, reports seventy acres of corn and forty-five acres of small grain, the rest of the farm being in hay land and pasture. He has lately sold some stock and now has about thirty head of hogs and six head of cattle on the farm. Several improvements were made on the farm last year and repairs on the house will probably be made this fall.

GEORGE KRUGER.
"Crop prospects are good," says George Kruger who owns eighty acres seven miles northeast of Wayne. He has leased an extra 100 acres this year and reports 110 acres of corn, 120 acres of small grain and five acres of alfalfa, which he believes is one of the best crops grown. He has at present about seventy head of hogs and forty head of cattle, having recently shipped one car load of hogs and twelve head of cattle. Many improvements have been made on this farm since Mr. Kruger came from Minnesota eighteen years ago.

CEDAR COUNTY MAN DROWNS IN CREEK
Hartington, Neb., July 7.—John Neu, a Cedar county farmer, was drowned in the Hawk creek last night at 10 o'clock. Mr. Neu and his brother-in-law, H. J. Piñh and Adolph Matzson were fishing in the creek on the Frank Leisy farm when the accident occurred. The companions of Mr. Neu were unable to tell how it happened. According to their story they were sitting on the bank fishing a short distance away from Neu and when they called him and got no response they went to look for him and when unable to find him they then gave the alarm and a party of men went out to the barrow from Hartington and joined in the search. The body was found about twelve o'clock in five or six feet of water near the shore where the men had been sitting.
On theory is that he was bathing at the time he met his death, but the body was drowned when found. The coroner does not consider an inquest necessary.

IN REGARD TO A NAME.
Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—Maintaining that the prohibition party is the original progressive party, a determined effort will be made by its leaders to change the party name at the national convention which opens here Wednesday. Through the party is to be formed next month in Chicago is being referred to as the "progressive party," the prohibitionists point to the fact that the organization as yet unborn has not been christened and that they are entitled to the new name if they choose to take it. The New York, Pennsylvania and Nebraska delegations are reported to be practically solid in favor of a change of name.
Our notion of nothing in particular to brag about is that one is personally acquainted with a great man.

The Wayne Herald

The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wayne, Neb., as Second Class Mail Matter.

HERALD PUBLISHING CO.
E. W. HULSE, Editor and Manager.

Published Every Thursday.
Subscription $1.50 a Year.
Telephone No. 116.

"The home" paper gives a popular view datter even though it didn't win in the convention.

Both Taft and Wilson are temperately unfitted to burn red fire and excite the masses with flashes of personal magnetism. They will do well to stick to their respective homes during the campaign.

Residence of selfish ambition frequently blench otherwise noble figures in American politics. Love of power leads one to do things that cast a shadow of doubt over his boasted sincerity for the popular welfare.

Like the two late political conventions, the pugilistic combat on the Fourth showed up and emphasized the being traces of savagery. We would hardly favor a reform movement that would suppress all forms of brutality.

The Herald will be pleased to publish signed communications touching candidates or issues of any party or any phase of the political situation. Those who have ideas to circulate will be gladly granted use of the Herald's columns.

Governor Wilson, democratic nominee for president, proposes a movement to reduce the cost of living, and will tackle the subject in his campaign speeches. It is hoped he has a way to make living expenses less without reducing prices for farm products.

Frank A. Harrison, Lincoln editor, politician and orator, is reported to have returned from the east and spoken. He makes a proposition just in time to save the country. He proposes that republicans join in a demand for the retirement of both Taft and Roosevelt and the selection of a new leader.

The successful plan for union services of the court house laws during the heating weather of mid-summer makes the observance of religious duty a pleasure. To make attendance at such meetings still more comfortable men should be made to feel welcome without wearing coats, and women ought to be asked to remove their hats, which they can do at this season with out fear of catching cold.

Two phases of a difficult task often presented to the average boy. One turns attention to figuring out how he can perform it, while another tries to figure out how he can avoid doing it. One grapples the task with resolution, the other shrinks from it and searches for reasons why it cannot be done. One is up and doing the construction of a line-damn and hopes for success. One gets there, the other doesn't.

After serving seven years as president of the United States and after virtually naming his successor, Colonel Roosevelt has discovered, following his defeat at Chicago, that the party which thus honored him is not worthy of confidence and support. He would now scuttle the ship which he can no longer boss. Little more than a year before he flung his hat in the ring as a candidate against Taft he praised the national administration. Did the party get so bad in so short a time?

The reluctance and backwardness of Colonel Roosevelt in going after the presidency have been amazing. He fought against it with soldier bravery, and only yielded to the position of a passive candidate when importuned by admiring friends. The receptive attitude didn't pan out extra well, and so he suddenly changed—or was forced by his insistent admirers—from a state of quiescence into one of volcanic action. He showed his painful indifference by attending the Chicago convention, and showed his anxiety for defeat by the way with which he conducted himself in the final struggle. His third party movement is further evidence of his distaste for personal achievement.

Now comes a Massachusetts preacher with a prediction that the end of the world is near at hand. The way people are acting in politics one would think the final windup were due and really ought to happen, but we have no confidence in the forecast. Would prophets who have solemnly announced the end of the world, be appointed us too often to excite serious attention. They are fairly good at forecasting the weather, but when they attempt to name the day or the year when there will be a universal change of base and occupation, we know they don't know what they are talking about. It is no use fine work for any seer in the world.

One newspaper publication which has its ear close to the ground and waits to note popular feeling before expressing an idea, suggests that Nebraska papers may be too hasty in leaping on a third party movement because of its possible success. This conviction of course is based on a mistaken because of the fear that it might find itself in the minority. The utterances of a paper that has no opinions of its own, but which wiggles around like an impaled worm to vent prevailing major sentiment, are not worth serious thought and should yield no influence. A publication whose editorial opinions well from the depths of conscience, though at the time unpopular, commands infinitely more respect than the newspaper chameleon which refuses to think for itself and which is a mere echo of transient passions.

One distinguished savant paws the air and exhales fires of abhorrence when the idea of confidence is suggested as a stimulus to business and values. Just as one gets tired of pomp in the districts of Oregon, so the individual lines of the much used word "confidence." But as the prairie districts depend largely on their farms for prosperity, so the world depends largely on "confidence" for business activity and expansion and ascending values. Without confidence the business fabric would go to tatters. Confidence in the human race, in industry, holds railroads, causes improvements in town and country, gives employment and accordingly increases consumption of the products of the land. Thus, market prices are strengthened and real estate values tend upward. Confidence is not everything, but it cuts an infinitely bigger figure than the savant who has spoken, apparently imagines.

A man seems to be rated as a progressive or the reverse according to the leader he supports rather than according to the principles he favors. As a matter of fact, most men are progressive. Some believe in progress slowly but surely. They figure that the country is too big, with too many important industries involved, to risk "crash" dashes and the uncertainty of making progress. The Titanic did that. Its getting hands were progressive. They wanted to make a record, but their ambition was not tempered and made practical by wise caution. They forgot the precious lives aboard in the mad determination to beat former records of progress. They paid the price, and the passengers who had trusted them, suffered the consequences, too. So, in plotting along the affairs of a great country, progress should be made, but it should go forward without precipitate haste, that would hurt rather than help the general welfare.

The Lincoln Trade Review is encouraged by prevailing business conditions, assuming that political disturbances do not offset and retard prosperity as in former years. An enthusiastic editor concludes with this happy paragraph: "In every line of business and trade, from the greatest to the smallest, it would be hard to find in this country an exception in which business is not better this year than it was one year ago."

Confidence stability, growth and expansion mark the business year of 1912, and all the political storms that can rise and beat against the wharves of commerce cannot shake the business stability of today or create liquidity within business ranks. Let political war go on. Let the campaign be as vigorous and vindictive as it may be. This year has marked the passing of the time when business is to be influenced by such conditions. It is a consummation of such tremendous worth that it cannot be too much approved and applauded.

SEE THE WALTHILL INDIANS PLAY BALL AT WAYNE SATURDAY, JULY 13, AND TUESDAY, JULY 15.

SPOILED A SPANISH PLOT.

Reward of Dutch Boys For Saving Amsterdam's Stock Exchange.

Of the many quaint and curious customs, traditions and privileges prevailing in Holland, none is more extraordinary than a certain privilege that has been enjoyed by the boys of Amsterdam for nearly 500 years.

At a fixed time each summer these boys gather by the hundreds in the great square called the Dam, situated in the center of the city. Each boy has a drum slung over his shoulder.

Face this square is the Stock Exchange, and on the occasion in question, just as soon as the day's business is over, as many of the boys as can crowd into the building. They proceed to the floor of the exchange, where, pursuant to this odd custom, they are permitted to march about, singing and beating upon their drums.

The origin of this custom, it is said, is as follows: One afternoon in the year 1622 a crowd of boys playing in the Dam lost a ball in the canal that in those days skirted one side of the square. One of the lads, while churling in among the piles on which the building stood, found instead of his ball a boat moored in a dark corner and loaded with boxes and packages. This showed clearly enough, what was afterward ascertained with certainty, the intention of the Spanish conspirators to blow up the Stock Exchange while it was crowded, as it was every day, with the leading citizens of the city.

The boy who stumbled upon the gunpowder at once hurried to the town authorities with his news. The boatload of gunpowder was quickly removed, and so long as there was a stock exchange in Amsterdam the boys of the town would like to be permitted to make the floor of the exchange their playground during a certain part of the year. The request was granted, and so the custom survives.—New York Sun.

Nightcaps. For external application the nightcap is rarely seen. It is first mentioned during the time of the Tudors. In the inventory of Henry VIII's wardrobe we come across the following item: "A nightcap of black velvet embroidered." No wonder that with such gear, as Shakespeare suggests, "uncle" rests the head that wears a crown.

The Sailor's Toothbrush. A bluff and coarse old time sea captain caught a sailor one morning cleaning his teeth with a toothbrush. The old man seized the brush, snapped it in two and tossed the pieces overboard. Then, his eyes flashing fire, he said:

"What are ye tryin' to do—corrupt the ship with this here effeminate? Cleanse yer teeth with a toothbrush! Why, ye swab, don't ye know that when an honest sailor wants to scrape, the tuckster of his grinders he does it, like a man, with a marlinpike or a link of chain cable dipped in cinchona, outen the cook's galley?"—New York Tribune.

A Satirical Reward. There was perhaps no more satire than gratitude in the reward bestowed on a French lady on a surgeon for bleeding her—an operation in which the lancet was so clumsily used that an artery was severed and the poor woman bled to death. When she recuperated that she was lying she made a will in which she left the operator a life annuity of 800 francs on condition "that he never again bleeds anybody as long as he lives."

The Hunters. "I'm going off on a hunting trip with Bink, Dawson and Eldred," said Hick-enlooper. "Fine!" said Wigley. "Big game or small?" "Oh, we never go beyond the ten cent limit," said Hick-enlooper. —Harper's Weekly.

Fast Color Too. Mrs. Menck says: "Why do you apply for the position when I stated especially in my advertisement that I desired a colored chauffeur? White applicant—because, madam, I am quite sure that I could do the position. I am very green."—Judge.

BUILT UPON QUICKSAND.

It Makes a Firm Foundation For Many

Quickness to the popular mind a lurking monster that swallows up the jury, while often treacherous, has been safely built upon, and several of the second class skyscrapers in New York rest directly upon it. It is necessary at the outset to correct the popular idea about quicksand. The engineer's definition of quicksand is any loose, friable material saturated with water. There are different kinds of quicksand, just as there are different kinds of wood, varying from nearly as treacherous as the popular idea of it to a material that may be safely built upon.

The ground in the lower end of Manhattan Island is a quicksand—extending from the surface to a maximum depth of eighty feet below Broadway. It will bear three tons per square foot, and the foundations of many tall buildings rest upon it. Filled in ground is one of the poorest materials on which to build, as for years after it has been deposited it will continue to settle, and obviously any structure it carries must settle with it.

Ordinary ground will bear safely from two to four tons per square foot, dry clay from four to six tons per square foot, good gravel from six to ten tons per square foot. Sand if confined will stand very large pressures, and similarly water, the most unusable of all, if it could be restrained, would be capable of resisting an enormous pressure. Certainly no force man has produced is sufficient to injure its structure.—Strand Magazine.

THE TOP OF THE WORLD.

How an Explorer Would Know When He Was at the Pole.

The question arises in the mind of every one who is not an expert in using measuring instruments, "How do the explorers know when they are standing on the rotating top of the world?"

Perhaps there is a queer sensation when one is standing on the exacted either pole with such exactness. One can, however, discover one's nearness to this interesting point by several means.

First one can measure the height of the sun above the horizon. When one is standing on the pole the sun circles round the observer during the winter months, and does not rise perceptibly rise or fall during the day. It just goes right round at a certain height, which varies according to the season.

Also one can measure your shadow or the shadow of a pole during the whole twenty-four hours. If the length of this shadow varies by even an inch or so you are not at the pole. It must describe a perfect circle about the center.

The most exact measurements are obtained by theodolites. Sextants are not so accurate.—London Sphere.

Named All Their Women Maria. Socotra, an island in the Indian ocean, was for many centuries a place frequented by the mariner. In the tenth century it was notorious as a pirate haunt, and one devout authority described its inhabitants as "Nestorian Christians and pirates." In addition to its native raiders, it was a regular station for the Indian corsairs who preyed on the trade with the far east. At an earlier date Socotra had been noted as the chief issuing producing land and as such was known to the ancient Egyptians. Among the curious customs of the Socotrans of the seventeenth century was that of naming all their young men Maria.

Johnson's Definitions.

Dr. Johnson perpetrated many jokes in his dictionary, but among his most famous blunders was his definition of "gnarled" as "the knee of a horse." Dr. Johnson defined oats as "a grain which in England is generally given to horses, but in Scotland supports the people." He defined "pensioner" as "a stave of state, hired by a stipend to obey his master," which definition was made much of by the doctor's enemies, who felt he himself was awarded a pension.

A Strong Hand.

"You was a big loser when de game broke up, wasn't you?" "Yes, Dat's what it broke up." "Was it a good hand dar won de last time?"

"A shors was. When it landed it felt like it nun' o' weighed a ton."—Washington Star.

Qualified.

"What! You marry my daughter," thundered old Rortley—"you, a mere clerk." "No, sir," replied young Hunter, "not a clerk, but a gentleman now. I've reached my job the moment your daughter accepted me."—Philadelphia Press.

A Reminder.

Clerk—Mr. Secretary, in the letter that he is not hearing anything further about his suit. Lawyer—Send him a bill.—Pileague Blatter.

"Don't you think there is something to inspire enthusiasm for kings?" "No, when the other fellow holds the ace."—Baltimore American.

Ball Games At Home

SLIDE

Walthill Plays Here Saturday, July 13

This game was arranged especially for the entertainment of the people from out of town who are unable to see the week day games. We are at considerable expense in getting this team here and hope to have a big crowd at the game.

Walthill Indians Play Here Tuesday, July 16

The Indians play ball Tuesday for the entertainment of the town people who cannot attend the Saturday game. Everybody turn out and see a cracker-jack game.

Pierce Plays Here Thurs. July 18

Pierce has the best all around ball team we have met this season. Burke, the catcher and DeLare, pitcher, are extra-steady leaguers. The balance of the team are mighty good. You'll see a grand good game Thursday.

Quite a number from this vicinity spent the Fourth at the Concord picnic. A pleasant time is reported, by all.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases are Too Dangerous for Wayne People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy and Bright's disease follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with the reliable and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Wayne.

Mrs. Ira Hosban, of Wayne, Neb., says: "About a year ago I was confined to my bed for several weeks by an attack of LaGrappe and on recovering found my kidneys were badly disordered. I suffered intensely from sharp, darting pains across the small of my back and there was much lameness through my loins. I did not rest well and the kidney secretions passed too frequently. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few days I felt better and in about three weeks all symptoms of my trouble disappeared. There has never been a return attack.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-McMurrin Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.

ROOSEVELT PARTY WILL BE ORGANIZED

New York, July 7, 1912. A call to the people of the United States who are in sympathy with the national progressive movement... will be held in Chicago August 5...

The call was signed by members of the committee chosen at a meeting held in Chicago, and also bore the signatures of Roosevelt in forty states... As for the missing eight states, the most of them probably will send delegates...

No Rules for Choice. The call lays no rules as to the method of choosing delegates... The representation will be cut down to just one-half of the previous conventions... The call lays no rules as to the method of choosing delegates...

Text of the Call. The text of the call is: "To the people of the United States without regard to past differences, who, through repeated betrayals realize that today the power of the crooked political bosses and of the privileged classes behind them is so strong in the two old party organizations that no helpful movement can be expected from our country...

Opposes Government by Few. "Who believe that government by the few tends to become and has in fact become government by the solid influence that control the few... To Avert Revolution. "Who believe that only this type of Wisconsin industrial revolution will avert industrial revolution...

To Avert Revolution. "Who believe that only this type of Wisconsin industrial revolution will avert industrial revolution... To Avert Revolution. "Who believe that only this type of Wisconsin industrial revolution will avert industrial revolution...

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES

St. Mary's Catholic Church.
(Rev. William Kearns, Pastor.)
Mass at 10:30 Sunday morning and Sunday school at 2:30 p. m. Benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

German Evangelical Lutheran.
(Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor.)
Sunday school at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Services at 11. Immediately after the services, the quarterly congregational meeting will be held.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church.
(Rev. Floyd Blessing, Pastor.)
Services next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Subject of sermon: "The Revelation of the Father in the Son." Sunday school at 10 o'clock.

interested in the work for the children. Previous to her election to her present position she was superintendent of the department for her own state, and for several years had written the scientific lessons for the Young Crusader.

STATE NORMAL NEWS.

School will be in session next Saturday to make up the loss of July 5. A special teachers' examination will be held at the Normal at the close of the summer term.

Mr. Henry Schultz of Stanton, was a chapel visitor Tuesday morning and addressed the school with two well selected papers. Only two more weeks of this term.

President Coon is attending the National Educational association at Chicago.

Miss McBeth has been at Osceola, Neb., since Wednesday of last week, called there by the serious illness of a sister-in-law.

On Wednesday morning Mr. C. M. Chaven grouped the summer school students on the campus and took a picture with his new panoramic camera.

Mrs. G. A. Berg of Wausa enrolled Monday and will take review and methodical work for the remainder of the term.

Mr. Berg will teach at Magnet next year.

Miss Grace Hall of Pender is the guest of Miss Beechell. Miss Hall was formerly a student of the Nebraska Normal college and was graduated from the state normal school at Peru in 1911.

The last number of the summer school lecture course will be given in the chapel on Monday evening, July 15. This will be an entertainment by the Normal male quartet assisted by Miss Olive M. McBeth.

The Philomathean literary society will close the work of the year by giving a program in the chapel on the evening of Friday, July 19. Under the direction of Miss McBeth, they will present the drama, "The Silent Detective."

Charles L. Culler has received notice of his election as director of manual and physical training in the schools of Glasgow, Mont. Mr. Culler is a graduate of the Nebraska Normal college and of the Wayne State Normal school. He has had a number of years of successful experience in public school work, and during the past year made special preparation for the teaching of manual training. We doubt if the board of education of Glasgow could have made a better selection for this place.

Students and members of the faculty regret the departure of J. N. Short and family. Mr. Short has taught at different colleges and colleges in connection with the school for years. An orderly placed with him always received prompt and careful attention. Courteous, obliging, dependable, students coming to Wayne in the future will miss the spirit of helpfulness always shown to them by J. N. Short.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal, had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. "I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once." His example is worth following.

FOR SALE

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. Floyd Blessing, Pastor.) Services next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Subject of sermon: "The Revelation of the Father in the Son." Sunday school at 10 o'clock.

If there are any of the beneficence envelopes which were not returned last Sunday please return them as soon as possible as the pastor desires to make up the appropriation as soon as possible.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet this week at the home of Mrs. Victor Carlsson.

Choir practice on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Presbyterian Church.
(Rev. Alexander Cooley, Pastor.)
The Sunday school begins at 9:30 a. m. Preaching service at 11. In the evening the congregation unites with the union open air meeting on the court house lawn.

"Our Best Friendship" will be the subject of the morning session at the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

The Missionary society will meet with Mr. Henry Schroer this week on Thursday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid enjoyed a social meeting at the country home of Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

There will be a band concert on the church lawn on next Friday evening, July 12. Ice cream and cake will be served for ten cents. Everybody is invited.

First Baptist Church.
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.)
Preceding the communion service last Sunday the hand of fellowship was given to three young men. We are always gratified to see young men come into the church for two reasons: First, because of what the church can do for them and also what they can do for the church.

Despite the intense heat of last Sunday, we had an excellent attendance. Through the kindness of one of our business firms, we are well supplied with fans, which we highly appreciate.

Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "The Living Line."

We appreciate the faithfulness of our Sunday school workers these weeks. Our sessions are full of interest.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the prayer meeting convenes. Every prayer service we hope to make of peculiar interest to each one present.

Sunday evening at 6:30 we meet on the court house lawn. A very appreciative crowd gathered last Sunday. Next Sunday evening, Rev. Hosman of Norfolk will preach for us. You will enjoy the service.

First Methodist Church.
(Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.)
A goodly number of people have responded to the call for our annual benevolence sent out in June. A very true responding has given us numbers the pastor shall about as many as he has given and if all will make their subscriptions at once we shall soon be ready to report to conference in September.

The Woman's Missionary societies will meet with Mrs. Grassland at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Next Sunday morning District Superintendent Hanson will preach at the church and in the evening he will preach at the union services on the court house lawn. While in the city Mr. Hosman will be the guest of Mrs. Phillips at the E. Cunningham home.

Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, superintendent of scientific temperance and of scientific temperance instruction, visited the court house lawn at 6:30 a. m. Sunday evening, July 21. She is one of America's great women. Don't fail to hear her. From childhood, a writer of stories. Mrs. Davis has had a number of books and sketches published. Among them are the temperance stories "Two," and "A Battle for a Soul," "Christmas Longings," "Class Meeting Sketches," etc.

Mrs. Davis has been connected with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union since her girlhood and was the chosen assistant to Miss Frances E. Willard in the White Cross and White Shield Departments of Purify work. She was the president of the Milwaukee W. C. T. U. when many of that city were all in one, and always has been deeply interested in the work for the children. Previous to her election to her present position she was superintendent of the department for her own state, and for several years had written the scientific lessons for the Young Crusader.

It is recommended that no proxies be allowed, and that the delegates present cast the entire vote of their precinct.

You will notice BUICK stands at the head of the list of high grade cars.

There is a reason why we are getting the business—BECAUSE

BUICK value for price,
BUICK design,
BUICK finish,
BUICK equipment,
BUICK hill climbing power, endurance and service.

—are vastly SUPERIOR.

Every Buick is a Buick through and through because every part is made at the great Buick plant, the largest automobile factory in the world, excepting the carburetors, magneto and tires. The Buick organization is a unit which represents the highest degree of efficiency in motor car production, and the public proves this statement by buying more Buick cars than any other make of high grade cars.

WAYNE, NEBRASKA

A LACK OF LOGIC.

Fremont Tribune: We hear a cooed out of logical talk about Mr. Roosevelt having had the republican nomination stolen from him and about his being the one legal nominee of the convention.

It is easily understood that if Mr. Roosevelt was the only candidate legal nominee of the convention, it would be stolen from him. He could not possibly have been nominated and failed to be nominated both at the same time.

Then another illogical thing: Mr. Roosevelt declares he is going to organize a third party. Obviously if he was the only legal nominee at Chicago there is no need for him to organize a third party. He is already the nominee of the republican party, a party fifty-six years old, with the most superb record any party has ever had in America and by means of which Mr. Roosevelt himself swept on to glory and undying fame.

ORDINANCE NO. 210.
An ordinance to create an improved district in the city of Wayne, Nebraska.

Be it ordained by the Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, Nebraska:

Section 1. That an improved district is hereby created which shall comprise blocks 25, 26, 27, 12, 13, 9 and 10 in the Original Town of Wayne, Nebraska.

This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication, according to law.

Passed and approved this 9th day of July, 1912.

(Seal) J. H. KATE, Mayor.

OFFICIAL CALL PROHIBITION STATE CONVENTION.
The prohibition state committee of Nebraska is hereby called to meet in the representative chamber of the state house, Lincoln, Neb., at 10 o'clock a. m., July 30, 1912, for the purpose of electing a state chairman, state committee, and drafting a platform, together with other business proper to come before a state convention. Each county is entitled to one delegate and one additional delegate for every fifty votes and fraction thereof, cast for the presidential elector receiving the highest number of votes at the election of four years ago. The county of Wayne is entitled to two votes.

The great importance of this convention makes it unusually desirable that every county shall have its full quota of delegates. If the reader is afflicted with his party, let him see to it that the matter of properly electing delegates is not neglected.

In the interests of the real progressive party,

D. B. GILBERT,
State Chairman.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Logan Valley Herald, July 28, 1884:

J. H. Quinn tells his farm southeast of town to R. Kennedy.

Died, northeast of Wayne, July 17, 1884, Cora, wife of William Gurnsey; July 19, 1884, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hammond.

Born, July 18, near Wayne, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lapey, a son; July 19, near Wayne, to Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holtz, a daughter; July 13, to Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Malen, a daughter.

The first Wayne county teachers' association was organized July 23, 1883, with the following officers: W. J. McCoy, president; W. E. Howard, vice president; Anna M. Chace, secretary; Cella R. Coyle, assistant secretary; Anna B. Davies, treasurer.

The Gamble building was moved for the fifth time this week and now stands on the lot north of the Citizens bank. Originally built for an office at LaPorte by Dr. C. Brown, it has been used by L. C. Deaton and several others as a residence, as a harness shop, and is now used by Simmons Brothers as an implement office.

From the Wayne Herald, July 28, 1892:

Thermometers register 80 above on the flats, and spirits are worn for comfort.

Local market: Wheat 54 cents; corn 29 cents; oats 21 cents; fat 54 cents; hogs $5.15.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Mr. James O. Mines of Wayne to Miss Jean Rogers of Wheatland, Ia., August 3, 1892.

The Weekly Watchman reports the organization of the Merchants' State bank at that place with the following incorporators: W. H. McCluskey, A. T. Chapin, A. H. Carter, L. S. Needham, A. B. Clark, Frank Weible, Walt Gaele, John Dressler, Tom Loud, C. M. Swan, and D. T. Gilman.

From the Wayne Herald, July 24, 1902:

Born, July 20, 1902, to Mr. and Mrs. George Perwilliger, a son.

William Piensofok completes plans for a new business building on Main street.

Hartington basket ball team defeated Wayne in a game on local grounds with score of 24 to 8.

Honory Glassmeyer and Fred Vahlkamp report thirty-five bushels of winter wheat to the scales.

Local market: wheat 60 cents; corn 30 cents; oats 26 cents; hogs $6.85; butter 15 cents; eggs 13 cents.

A meeting of business men selected C. M. Craven, S. R. Theobald and O. D. Franks a committee to prepare for a harvest home picnic, barbecue street fair and race meet.

From the Ponca Journal, July 18, 1885:

A log was up to town on Saturday trying to dispossess of a sample of yellow badgers. He offered to take a quarter for the two, but even at this discount price, no one appeared to want to invest in a badger speculation.

Mr. Hazard of the Ia. Ponca mine who spent two hours every day, trying to get the badger out of his hole, a pack of shoes, patience and perseverance will sometimes work wonders, but in this instance they failed entirely.

Since the river has washed out and devastated Ionia, much curiosity has been expressed as to what would be the effect on the volcano. On close examination, some scientists seem to believe that the exceedingly watery interference with the volcano's stability has caused the changing of the main tool-head through which the fire spouts, to a spot a little west of the center of the river. If such should be the case, we might in course of time, have an island on which there would be a volcano in full blast.

As will be seen by the proceedings of the directors of the Ponca Coal and Mining company, work is being done to increase the output of the mine. It is estimated that coal can be obtained from the pits and those experienced in the coal business, the prospects appear exceedingly flattering that a large layer of excellent coal will be struck at a depth of less than 500, or at the outside, 600 feet. However, time will soon show.

The company is now advertising for bids to do the drilling, and on the 10th or next month the contract will be awarded.

From Ponca Journal, July 22, 1890:

The river continues its ravages on the town of Ionia, and it is probable that in time, and not very far distant either, the whole of the former townsite at that place will have been swallowed up in the relentless jaws of the Big Muddy. It is a pity that it is so, as the location was very pleasant for a town, nestling under the wing of the bluff on one side, and the mighty Missouri flowing at its feet on the other, and a few years ago when the streets and yards were kept free from weeds, the fenced garden houses painted and in good repair, with the out-spreading shade trees, of which there were many, trimmed and well kept, the place was one of the neatest and prettiest in all northern Nebraska. But during the past four years the river, step by step, has encroached upon the town and caused the tearing down of some buildings, and the removal of all but the few that were already back on the bluffs and the total annihilation of the beautiful streets and yards, so that where once existed a powerful village now rolls and surges the current of the most malignant stream on the face of the globe.

Professor Davies has decided to accept the invitation to take charge of the choir of the Baptist church of Sioux City, tendered him some time ago, and will enter upon his duties a week from Sunday. He will also have a class in instrumental music at that place, so that his time will be almost wholly occupied there. His many friends here will be sorry to lose him, but if by going he can improve his circumstances, they will congratulate him with his better he should go.

AN ESTIMATE OF MR. TAFT.
Sidney Brooks in Harper's Weekly: A point which seems to be insufficiently realized is that Mr. Taft, by his quiet, good-humored, conciliatory persistence has really done more to elicit the Roosevelt policies than Mr. Roosevelt himself. Take, for example, the tax of one per cent on the net earnings of corporations which he embodied in the Payne tariff act. I doubt whether Mr. Roosevelt, with his pistoning ways, could have gotten it through. Recommended by him, it would have some been born in the spirit of an attack on capital, and all the vested interests in the land would have joined in defeating it. Recommended by Mr. Taft simply as a means of providing the necessary revenue for the government, it was adopted by congress, not indeed, without some opposition, and not without discussion but with infinitely less of talk than he might have expected. And even the spirit of an attack on capital, and all the vested interests in the land, would have joined in defeating it. Recommended by Mr. Taft simply as a means of providing the necessary revenue for the government, it was adopted by congress, not indeed, without some opposition, and not without discussion but with infinitely less of talk than he might have expected. And even the spirit of an attack on capital, and all the vested interests in the land, would have joined in defeating it.

adroit presidents America has ever had His record of positive achievement—free trade with the Philippines, the imposition of the federal corporation tax, the adoption of a maximum and minimum tariff, the creation of a tariff board, the strengthening of the interstate commerce commission, the enforcement of the Sherman act with remarkable vigor, discrimination and success, the great additions made in the last two years to the national reserves of forests and watersheds, the establishment of the commerce court and the court of customs appeals, the passage of the employers' liability act, the introduction of a rigid and businesslike system of economy into the conduct of government, the striking improvement in the national finances of the United States, the tying down of the Japanese-American fleet, the firmness and forbearance shown in dealing with Mexico, with Nicaragua and with Honduras—all this constitutes a record of indisputable efficiency and distinction in his political career has been almost all Mr. Taft has reaped little or no credit for his successes; he has been extravagantly blamed for his failures and his indiscretions—indiscretions that were for the most part the fruit of an excessive candor and honesty.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

I fear we don't appreciate the divers blessings, truly great, that we enjoy each day. We take such blessings as they come.

THE ELECTRIC FAN contented that they help us some, and feeble as our way. When I was young the summer heat would lift a man clear off his feet and fry him to a crisp; there was no antidote in sight, and he would lie awake all night and maledictions issue.

When Bryant wrote his deathless verse I but he used to freely cure the red-hot summer-days, for when the heat, we drives you blind it's mighty hard to sit and grind a grist of heart-felt rays. Long-fellow, Emerson and Poe, and all the basis of long ago; just sizzled in the heat; they wrote their verse, inspired or wise, and mopped their brows and fanned the flies and longed for winter's-siest. And I who live in better times, am sitting here producing rhymes in comfort and in peace, while greater poets tear their fur and cursed the blamed-thermometer—from Giquilaud to Greece. The sun is at the same old game, but he may strain and bust a hame, he can't disturb my ease, I pull a string or press a knob and then pursue my jangling job fanned by machine made breeze. I wish I knew who was the man who gave us the electric fan, that makes the summer cool, that brings relief to the poor man's door the woods, the mountains and the shore, and eke the swimming pool.

If the men who save the nation in the old accustomed way, piling up, without vacation, heaps of language, dry by day's.

A SUGGESTION would forsake the verbal byways, dump their oration wares, and do stunts upon the highways, we'd have splendid thoroughfares! Better roads in all directions—that is what this country needs; but we do not make connections with the sane and useful deeds; half the energy expended in conferences and the like would see splendid highways ended if exhausted on the pikes.

Hosts of Windy Jims have thrived on Chicago's pleasant shore; hosts of Windy Jims have blundered through their stunts at Baltimore. That's the way men save the nation in these foolish, futile years, holding a big convocation where they bowl like bridled steers. All their platforms are delusion, all their pledges are hoar; all they give us is confusion and a chance to brand and swear. Ah, it is a thousand pities that we thus so long have sinned! One good road connecting cities beats a thousand years of wind! Politics is mostly pillage when it isn't foolishness; a good highway to our village would be better for the boys than recall or referendum or a change in Schedule K. Catch the Windy Jims and send 'em out to drag the broad highway.

So many are bound to write, who haven't the gift of pen. They labor by day and night, in mansions or attic dens producing

THE UNFITTED their trifling poems or lamp-or lurid prose, or weaving their hopeful dreams in songs that nobody knows. Ah, for that lure unkind, the lure of the printed page, that stirs in the yeoman's mind a counterfeit poet's rage! Alas for that inky hove, which bids for a poet's wreath, the doctor forsake his dope, the dentist abandon teeth; the farmer desert his plow, the blacksmith neglect his fire, the milkmaid abjure the cow, and reach for the nearest lyre. Oh, sisters, may ye ne'er know the trouble, the grief, the pain, the tarring, controlling woe of poets who write in vain! Oh, niceses and aunts and sires, don't throw all your tools away, to kindle poetic fires, a-hoping to make it pay! Where one of the tribe succeeds ten thousand are chewing rags o'er sheaves of rejected screeds sent back by the monthly wags.

And even the ones who win have troubles and grief to spare, and early in the begin to shed both their health and hair. Oh, husbands, your peace of mind is better than all the dimes you'd earn in the heastly grind of turning out deathless rhymes.

I found in the years that are past that switching around is no use; for the cobbler should stick to his list, and the tailor should stick to his list. I found in my goods, in wind-YOUR TRADE ring a clock I excelled; no others could wind as I wound—at least so my partisans held—and still I kept fooling around at tasks of a different kind, for which I had no sort of knack; why, med-I was stupid and blind! Oh, wally! And when I was worked for a while in a store, I tolled for a time in a mill; I dug out some valuable ore from the side of a verified hill; I wrought with a track-laying crew; I wielded a spade on the street, and poore and poorer I grew, until I had not ing to suit. When I'd blown in the last of my ricks, I said: "I'll go back to my trade; when it comes to the winding of checks all rivals are put in the shade." Since then I have prospered, you see, and I've my own wisdom to thank; I haven't a care or a debt, and I have a full lot in the bank. And my sands are fooling about, and putting themselves in a plight; they to doing the task that is wrong, they pass up the one that is right. Don't tackle the job you do worst, if you'd enjoy comfort and peace; for the cobbler should stick to his first, and the tailor should stick to his piece.

I said: "I'll write some rhymes to cleverer than they will bring me fame." And so I jeered at man's endeavor and all this mortal game.

THE SMARY I took the ground that life was rotten, its only goal a stake; that virtue is a thing forgotten, and every man's a failure. For years my labors were devoted to proving life a snare; by all the eyes I was quoted, by Alecks everywhere. I strove to see the dark side only of things, and growing old, I found myself so doggone lonely my heart grew bleak and cold. My neighbors used to jeer and flout me; a former friend would say: "He'll write some-sensational things about me; I'll get in his way." 'Tis the people of the village feared me; they feared my caustic jest; and no man jollied me or cheered me or clasped me to his breast. So, I raved of hate and muttered curses, I raved of hate from my trance, and urged the world, through dippy verses, to smile and sing and dance. The people like a javelin charged. They read my lucid lays, and ramed and horrified my tobaccoer me in the good old days! No longer did my neighbors shun me, or send for the police! They came around and said they'd run me for justice of the peace! If you go round the world as snarling, you'll walk a lonely way; but you may be the village darling, if you are blithe and gay.

When I was as poor as job, and monkey around the globe in infolent vagrant style, my life was a joyous thing, devoid of a THE DIFFERENCE smart or sting, and everything seemed to smile. I hadn't a bundle packed, I hadn't a homeless man, and I rode the highway dust, and care was a thing unknown, as scarce as the silver bone, in days of the wanderlust. But now I am settled down, a prop to this growing town, respectable till it burrs; and I have a bundle fat, and I have a stovepipe hat, and all kinds of scrambled shirts. I puff at a rich cigar and ride in a motor car, and I have a magnificent horse and a manservant upon my shiner; my credit is simply fine, the newspapers call me Hon. But worry is always near, a whispering in my ear—"I'm tired of her morbid talks." "Suppose that the bank should bust in which you have placed your dust, how would you then feel, Old Sox? Suppose that the eyelessness of the farm you have lately bought and how then cheer 'Tis the man? Suppose that your mill should fail, and you were locked up in jail, then how would you feel, old chap? Damn worry! It always there; she's whittened my scanty hair, she's cankered my weary breast; she never goes far away; she tortures me all the day and ruins me night and morn. And offers all night I sigh for a couch beneath the open sky, and the long while you're again; for the march through the wintering dust; and the lure of the wanderlust, and the camp of the homeless men.

SHORTHORN BULLS

The kind every farmer should have Scotch top on heavy milkers, the kind that produce both beef and milk. Of my own breeding, at right prices—satisfaction guaranteed.—JOHN S. LEWIS, JR., Wayne, Neb., oldest Shorthorn breeder in Wayne county.

I have a large lot of Wayne residence property for sale, some of the best in the city all day and drawing into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. For sale by all dealers.

For soreness of the muscles, whether induced by violent exercise or injury, there is nothing better than Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

A man has very little use for a fan that doesn't run by electricity or the tabulated score of the big league.
