VOL. 37, NO. 22

COUNTY TEACHERS TO MEET IN AUGUST PROGRAM TO BE ISSUED SOON

List of Educators Secured—Professor F. M. Gregg, Formerly of Wayne, Will be One.

Mrs. Elsie Littell, county superintendent, has arranged for opening of the Wayne county teachers' institute in the high school building August 19, the sessions to continue one week. While the program has not been printed, educators who will have charge of the work of the institute, have been secured.

Dr. Henry Curtis will have two periods daily and will lecture on opening of the institute, giving demonstrations.

Professor F. M. Gregg from Peru, will speak along the line of applied psychology.

Miss Bertha Kroll of Wisconsin, will have charge of the primary work.

Mr. Solomon of Norfolk, will oversee the music.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Pastor).

Next Sunday mass at 8:30 in Wayne and 10:30 in Carroll. Sunday school in Wayne at 3:30 p. m., and benediction at 7:30 p. m.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. Floyd Blessing, Pastor).

Services next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Subject of sermon, "A Stranger at Life's Door."

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Choir rehearsal next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. John Gustafson on Thursday, July 23.

German Evangelical Lutheran. (Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor).

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Services at 11 o'clock.

Saturday, July 20, in the afternoon, the German Ladies' Aid society will hold a bazaar in the store building recently vacated by Mr. Chickenshaw, on the south of Shulteis' drug store. They will also sell ice cream, cones, coffee and sandwiches. Every body come.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor).

We have not yet felt to any great extent the effect of the hot weather upon the church attendance. During the summer months we shall always be comfortable of the people's comfort and make all our services a trifle shorter.

Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock, the pastor will preach on the subject: "Individual Faithfulness."

In the evening we shall join in the union service at the court house. It is a brotherly fellowship we have together up there.

Our Wednesday evening prayer meetings are well attended and full of helpfulness.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor).

The communion will be observed at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. The subject of the address by the pastor will be "Our Passover." In connection with the service Mr. Wilf Fleetwood will sing Mrs. Alexander's hymn, "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

The Session of the church has arranged for services during July and August as follows: July 21, communion service conducted by the pastor.

July 28, a combined service of the Sunday school and church in the interest of the Sunday school. This service will begin at 10 a. m.

On August 4 and 11 the pulpit will be supplied by a visiting minister. The pastor will resume his pulpit duties on Sunday, August 12.

First Methodist Church. (Rev. William Corst, Pastor).

Howard P. Young, a member of the Nebraska synod, pastor of Methodist Episcopal church at Table Rock, and brother of our own E. B. Young, Sunday day school missionaries will preach at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 10:30. Mr. Young is one of the two ministers recently threatened with death through the use of anonymous letters because of his aggressiveness against saloons and their methods and conversion at Table Rock. As yet he has not taken any action, and the matter has been one to fear when he is attacked.

MRS. EDITH SMITH DAVIS. National and World's Instructor in Scientific Temperance Under the Woman's Temperance Union.

In the evening at 6:30 the congregation will join in the union services, when Mrs. Edith Smith Davis will speak. She is a great woman thoroughly equipped for her work and the people may expect a great treat. Don't fail to hear Mrs. Davis.

Beginning as a lecturer on literary subjects, Mrs. Davis now finds it impossible to respond to the calls for temperance lectures alone. Her platform ability is happily described in the following tribute: "Mrs. Davis is eloquent, logical and convincing. These strong qualities combined with personal magnetism, intensity, charming womanliness, and a spirit of self-sacrificing devotion, make her a great speaker. Her power in the educational world is marvelous. The large teachers' conventions she addresses as well as the smaller groups of teachers in the rural communities, give immediate, active response to the words, intelligent sympathy with which she greets them. She has won the lasting, cordial co-operation of hundreds of educators who have been enlightened by her scientific utterances. Public school teachers, school boards, principals or normal schools, and college presidents have all declared her addresses to be most sane, scientific and inspiring."

MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met last Thursday with Mrs. Henry Schroter. The usual program, including the study of "The Light of the World," was given, and afterwards the hostess served dainty refreshments appropriate for a warm afternoon.

SOCIAL MEETING IN THE COUNTRY.

On last Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a social time at the country home of Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, two miles southeast of town. The ladies were taken out in automobiles, and a social time was enjoyed during the afternoon, after which a picnic supper was served.

OPEN AIR SERVICE IN THE COUNTRY.

On last Sunday afternoon an open air service was held on the porch of the home of Mr. R. B. Smith, six miles west of town. There was a good attendance of those who reside in the neighborhood, and a number were present from town. Miss Bernice Miles and Mr. Arthur Parry rendered solos during the meeting and Rev. Alexander Corkey preached a sermon from the text, "I was not Disobedient to the Heavenly Vision."

PONCA PIONEER BURIED.

Ponca, Neb., July 16.—The funeral of Elijah Devore, an old veteran and long time resident of Ponca, was held from the Baptist church this afternoon. Mr. Devore was 79 years of age; served four years in the civil war, and participated in many battles. He received many wounds in service and was an invalid for many years.

DIXON COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

Ponca, Neb., July 16.—The republican county convention has been called for Emerson, July 22. It will consist of 120 delegates and an interesting session is expected.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS.

All republican electors in Logan township, Dixon county, are notified that a caucus will be held at the Wichita school house July 20 at 8 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing a delegate to attend the republican county convention to be held at Emerson July 23, and also to elect township officers. Henry Looman, Committee man.

WHISTLE RESUMES PUNCTUATING TIME

After a recent runaway caused by the blowing of the city's whistle, the important organ was suppressed pending instructions from Mayor J. H. Kate who was away. On his return and resumption of the reins of municipal government, he ordered the custom restored instanter. Truth is, people can get along without many other comforts of life better than they can exist without having the daily grind punctuated with blasts from the town whistle. That whistle is a reminder. When it lifts its voice, people are notified to either quit work or go to work. It marks off the different periods of the diurnal round, and makes a man feel that he is getting somewhere occasionally. Woman, ditto. When the mayor ordered the whistle's lungs released, and the cheerful blast again penetrated the circumambient air, a sigh of relief was breathed by the community.

GETTSMAN-FRIDEN NUPTIALS.

Alex's o'clock, Friday, July 12, took place the wedding of Miss Mary Gettisman of Wayne, to Mr. Henry Friden of Douglas, Wash., in the German Lutheran church of this city. Only the immediate relatives and a few friends were present. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Karpenstein. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Alvinia Voight and Mr. George Tupper. The bride was beautifully gowned in cream colored silk and carried a shower bouquet of roses.

After the ceremony and congratulations the bridal party and guests assembled at the bride's home, where a dainty three-course luncheon was served.

The bride is a young lady of refinement and pleasing accomplishments, and will be missed by a host of friends. The groom is known to be a worthy young man of excellent habits.

After a short trip to visit relatives in Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Friden will take up their residence in Douglas, Wash. They have the best wishes of many friends here, and in their future home, where both are known.

ERNEST SAMUELSON SUFFERS BROKEN LEG

Ernest Samuelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Samuelson, living four miles northeast of Wayne, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg at his home Friday night. As he reached the Samuelson farm from a drive to Wayne, one of the harness straps coming "tightening" his team when the animals started to run he jumped from the buggy, catching his right leg in the wheel. As a result the limb was badly broken and crushed. The serious nature of the fracture prompted the physician, Dr. A. Naffziger, who was called, to advise that the young man be removed to a hospital at Sioux City for attention. Accompanying him were his father and cordingly he was taken to that place Saturday morning. It was found necessary to remove small pieces from the shattered bone. A surgeon is given that the leg will heal satisfactorily. Mr. Samuelson attended the State Normal in Wayne, taught school in this county and has many friends who regret his misfortune.

THE PRESBYTERIAN MANSE BURGLARIZED

The Presbyterian parsonage bears the distinction of having been burglarized. Under the cloak of night, when the good pastor and family were engaged in the arena of peaceful sleep, some stealthy creature appeared at an open window, tore a hole through the screen and unhooked and removed the only barrier between himself and the inside. This happened Friday night. But the intruder evidently did not possess sufficient bravery to go beyond the kitchen. In that apartment he helped himself to some eatables, and then retreated. He may have heard the pastor snore and mistook the same for a military mobilization preliminary to an attack. Thus, no doubt overcome by fear, he decided to replenish his subsistence department and get out.

Mrs. T. J. Wally of Colfax, Wash., arrived in Wayne Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. M. S. Davison. Mrs. Wally lived for many years at Ponca.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES HAVE CONFERENCES

A special train came down the Bloomfield line Sunday morning bearing railway employes en route to Omaha where they were called for a conference with the higher officials of the company. The employes of all lines in this part of the state joined the trip to the metropolis.

Saturday a conference of Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota employes was held in Sioux City, and Agent C. W. Moran of Wayne, attended. Mr. Moran reports that representatives of the different branches of the system were very optimistic in talking about crops and commercial conditions.

The policy of having conferences among all employes is something of an innovation, and it has proven of great value in placing all departments of the business in close touch with one another, and causing a more thorough understanding of conditions than could otherwise be secured.

Mayor J. H. Kate and wife arrived home Saturday from their visit in Iowa. They visited Audobon, Ft. Dodge, Cedar Falls and other points, and had a pleasant time. Mayor Kate devoted a good deal of attention to municipal affairs in the towns visited, and came home with many new ideas for connection with the performance of his official duties. He says towns the size of Wayne are paving business streets, and thinks this place ought to make a start in that direction.

Saturday's Norfolk Daily News. L. S. Neesham of Winslow, has purchased from W. H. Butterfield a fine white horse known as the 'W. H. Neesham's residence' on Koenigsstein avenue. This is one of the most valuable residence properties in town, and is being purchased by Mr. Neesham for his own use, who will occupy it before winter, after he has had it remodeled and overhauled.

Neesham's family consists of himself and wife and two daughters, and they will be valuable acquisitions to Norfolk.

Mr. Neesham is at present engaged in the grain and live stock business at Winslow.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merriam and daughter Miss Elsie arrived home Saturday from Willcox, Springs, Mo., where they visited Arthur Merriam and family, who moved there from Wayne county something over a year ago.

Henry Merriam says land is cheaper in the Willow Springs country than here, but that the soil is rocky and not easy to cultivate. He finds fault with the roads of that country. He says no effort seems to have been made to improve the roads and facilitate travel.

Travelers prefer to run the risk of knocking the stuffing out of the wheels of their vehicles rather than spend a little extra money to time in removing rocks from a road. He reports that Arthur Merriam likes his new home but that Mrs. Merriam is not so well satisfied.

HEARD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FARMERS AND WRITES OF THEIR IMPROVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS BY H. G. LEAVENS

IRVE REED.
"Last year was O. K., and I can't complain as to the prospects for this year," says Irve Reed who rents 145 acres seven and one-half miles northwest of Wayne. He has sixty-three acres of corn and ninety-five acres of small grain. He also has about twenty head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the farm at present. A fine new barn and a hog house have been recent improvements. The place is owned by Charles Schroeder.

ALEX SUHR.
Having come from Iowa sixteen years ago, Alex Suhr owns eighty acres six miles southwest of Wayne. He has forty acres of fair corn and fourteen acres of small grain and also considerable small fruit and garden truck. Mr. Suhr does not do much stock business, but pays some attention to poultry. He now has about sixty-five ducks and over 600 chickens, which ought to bring good returns.

E. M. SYDOW.
E. M. Sydow rents a quarter section four and one-half miles southwest of Wayne, and has spent six years on the farm. He has about ninety acres of corn and forty acres of small grain. In speaking of his crops, he says: "I have a good stand on ninety acres of corn, but it is a trifle behind for this season of the year." He has at present six head of cattle and 135 head of hogs on the farm.

MRS. E. W. STEELE.
Mrs. E. W. Steele has 340 acres about four miles southwest of Wayne, which is managed by her son, Eddie Steele. He has 153 acres of corn, which for the most part has a good stand, and about ninety acres of small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. They generally sell at the local markets, and have twenty-three head of cattle and sixty-three head of hogs on the place at present. A new granary was recently built.

TRUE PRESCOTT.
True Prescott owns about 560 acres three and one-half miles southwest of Wayne, and has been on the farm for sixteen years. This year he farms only 240 acres and has the rest of it in hay and pasture. He has about sixty-five acres of corn and forty-five acres of small grain, as good as the average 1912 crop. Quite a lot of winter feeding is done and there are now forty head of cattle and fifty-five head of hogs on the farm. A new poultry house is contemplated as an addition to the many improvements Mr. Prescott has made on this farm since he has resided there.

CARL C. THOMSEN.
Coming from Iowa about twenty-six years ago, Carl Thomsen bought 160 acres two miles southwest of town four miles northwest of Wayne, and has about eighty acres and has about thirty-five acres of corn and twenty-seven acres of small grain. There are about thirty head of cattle and 105 head of hogs on the farm at present. Mr. Thomsen has made many improvements on the farm in the past four years and is well satisfied with results and prospects.

E. B. MINER AND C. P. LAPHAM.
Mr. Miner and Mr. Lapham carry on 320 acres about eight and one-half miles northwest of Wayne. They have this year 120 acres of corn and eighty acres of small grain, which they consider good. They have forty head of cattle and 160 hogs of their own raising and will probably ship this fall. At the time the writer called they were using two new two-row corn plows and were enthusiastic in their praise of these machines.

WILLIAM BONTA.
William Bonta manages 320 acres about eight and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, having been on the farm for seven years. This year he has 120 acres of corn and 110 acres of small grain. He reports the corn as fine and prospects good. He has about 115 head of hogs and twenty head of cattle, having sold about 150 head during the past year.

FRED VAN NORMAN.
"I am well pleased with Wayne country and its farm conditions," says Fred Van Norman who owns 150 acres, six and one-half miles southwest of Wayne. This year he has sixty acres of corn, forty acres of small grain, ten of alfalfa and some hay and pasture. He generally sells his stock at the local market, and has now twenty-two head of cattle and 160 head of hogs. A new horse barn and improvements on the house are recent betterments and he expects to put up a new corn crib and hog house this fall. Mr. Van Norman came from Iowa thirteen years ago and has a place which speaks well of his enterprise.

J. L. KELLY.
J. L. Kelly rents a quarter section four miles northwest of Wayne, and has been on the farm for twelve years, having lived in Nebraska for the past twenty years. He has sixty acres of corn, thirty acres of small grain, a little alfalfa and the rest in hay and pasture. There are fifteen head of cattle and thirty-five head of hogs on the farm at present. No recent improvements have been made as there is a good lot of buildings on the farm. Mr. Kelly says: "My twelve years on this farm have been good and prospects are encouraging for this year."

B. GRONE.
B. Grone—who has about 160 acres four miles southwest of Wayne, reports sixty-five acres of corn and fifty acres of small grain. He has seven milk cows and ninety hogs and generally sells his stock on the local market. A fine new barn, which would be hard to beat anywhere, was recently put up, and altogether the place has a nice appearance. Mr. Grone has been on the farm eight years.

S. B. MILLER.
For the past eight years S. B. Miller has farmed a half section about eight miles northwest of Wayne. He reports a good stand of 160 acres of corn and has about seventy-five acres of small grain. He has about fourteen head of cattle and thirty head of hogs on the farm at present. A new barn is one of the recent improvements. While corn sells most for the time of year, Mr. Miller looks for a fair crop.

JOHN LINEMAN.
John Lineman came to Wayne county about eight years ago from Oakland and now has 320 acres about seven miles southwest of Wayne. This year he has rented an extra sixty acres and reports seventy-five acres of corn and eighty acres of small grain. He has sold most of his stock, but now has twenty head of cattle and sixty head of hogs. Speaking of crop conditions, Mr. Lineman says: "With right weather we should have a good crop."

HENRY WESTERHOUSE.
Henry Westerhouse owns 500 acres about seven miles southwest of Wayne and rents out 440 acres of it this year. Two sons help handle the farm and its appearance shows right management. This year they have about 115 acres of corn and 115 acres of small grain. They generally sell locally, and have some stock on the farm at present. The buildings on the place have a neat, well kept appearance. Mr. West-house came from Germany in 1888 and bought his farm four years later.

H. C. EHLERS.
H. C. Ehlers rents 100 acres three miles south of Wayne and is spending his second year on the farm. He reports forty-two acres of corn, twenty-five acres of small grain and fifteen acres of alfalfa. He has some stock on the farm, but puts most of his time on crops. While last year disappointed Mr. Ehlers in a measure, he hopes with right weather conditions to make amends for it this year.

HERMAN FREVERT.
Herman Frevert came from Germany twenty-seven years ago and for the past twenty-one years he has been on the 400-acre farm which he now owns six and one-half miles southwest of Wayne. He rents out 180 acres, but has about eighty acres of corn, fifty acres of small grain and twelve acres of alfalfa, the rest being in hay and pasture. He has about sixty-five head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the farm, one of his recent improvements being a new cattle shed. Mr. Frevert considers that prospects are good for the year.

WILLIAM ERSTENBERG.
William Erstenberg owns a quarter section eight miles southeast of Wayne, having bought it about five years ago. He has fifty-four acres of corn and fifty-four acres of small grain which he claims is well up to the standard. He has about eighty head of hogs and twelve head of cattle on the place at present. Mr. Erstenberg has made practically all the improvements since he moved on to the farm and now has a place that he may well be proud of.

PHIL DAMME.
Phil Damme manages the 400 acres owned by his father about seven miles south of Wayne. He reports 110 acres of fair corn, eighty acres of small grain and twenty-two acres of alfalfa which is fine. He has about seventy-five head of cattle and 120 head of hogs on the farm now. A new cattle shed and hog house are among recent improvements.

OTTO FIEER.
Otto Fieer is spending his second year on 320 acres three miles southwest of Wayne. He has 180 acres of corn and 90 acres of small grain, and the rest in hay and pasture. Speaking of his corn he says: "Part of it is good and part fair." He has about twenty head of cattle and eighty head of hogs on the farm. A new corn crib was put up lately and a new granary is contemplated.

A. E. GILDEBSLEUVE.
This is A. E. Gildebsleuve's third year on 240 acres six and one-half miles southwest of Wayne. He has 115 acres of corn which he considers good and about 100 acres of small grain. He has about 120 pigs and eight milch cows on the place at present. A complete new waterworks system was put in last fall and was a much needed improvement.

AUGUST KRUSE.
August Kruse is spending his second year on a quarter section about seven miles northwest of Wayne. He reports sixty-five acres of corn on which he got a fair stand, and sixty-five acres of small grain. There are about thirty head of cattle and sixty head of hogs on the farm at present. A new coat of paint on the buildings, and some other improvements are contemplated. Mr. Kruse says last year was fair and that he considers the prospects good for this year.

LETTER FROM ORSIS WISCHOFF.
Holtsgren, Ger., July 1, 1912.
Mr. E. W. Hise, Wayne, Neb.
My dear sir—I will write you a few lines regarding my trip. Mr. Henry Hollman and I spent four days in Chicago, three days at Buffalo, at the Grand Niagara Falls, and a week in New York.

Of course we took in all the sight-seeing we could. I think New York is the most wonderful city in the world. In so far as transportation is concerned, you can go by boat or street car under the Hudson river to the other cities, Hoboken, Brooklyn or Jersey City and also all around the island, besides seeing almost all the city.

We took the ship "America" for Hamburg—June 13, had a very pleasant trip and good weather. We traveled at a rate of from 400 to 422 miles per day. We landed at Plymouth, England, June 21, and there unloaded fifty-two passengers and about two cartloads of mail sacks. The weather was so clear we could see the coast of England and France all the time. It is very nicely settled and wonderful.

We stopped also at Sherbrooke, France, to unload passengers, arrived at Caschoven, June 23, at night and had to catch the boat until the next morning to go through the custom house. From there we went by special train to Hamburg, as only the steerage passengers went with the ship with the north sea to Hamburg. Hamburg is a strikingly clean city of 1,000,000 people. One meets Americans all over the city, as there is a continuous stream of travel across the sea.

We spent four and one-half days here, then the other Wayne fellows left us and we went to Berlin June 27. I arrived at my old birthplace, but did not know it any more. Germany has gone through the same good times as America, and very seldom one sees an old building. People travel and read more than of old—are more "up-to-date," as we would call it. I am, with my brother, here, on a farm. The crops look fine, but the implements are far behind ours. Labor is about three times as high as when I left here forty years ago. Brother has a barn 50 by 100 feet. My cousin is now building one 70 by 200 feet to hold all his grain, straw and all. Find herewith a supper card, from which you will see we did not go hungry to bed. These large ships are first class hotels. It is no wonder Americans take the trip so often to Europe. There were on our ship twenty-three from Nebraska alone. Will close for this time as it is time for the mail to go out, and I want to go and see my other brother about six miles from here. It is 11 A. M. here, 3 A. M. in Wayne, and you are all asleep. I hope you are well, and will be with you again in August or September. Respectfully yours, ORSIS WISCHOFF

ADVERTISING.
Omaha Trade Exhibit: Stop advertising in hot weather! Certainly not. You have dozens, scores, possibly hundreds of things in your store that people need and ought to buy in hot weather. And they will buy—provided your advertising tells them the reasons why, and does this persuasively, pointedly and persistently.

JOHN KUEHL RETURNS.
Hansloph Times: Hon. John Kuehl returned to Randolph Monday evening from a European trip upon which he embarked last April, and we hasten to say that his reported marriage is a mistake, just as his close friends declared at the time the report was printed in an alleged interview at New York. Mr. Kuehl returned on the Huer-Angusta steamer and the trip consumed eight days, arriving at New York two weeks ago. His look occasioned to attend the Baltimore convention and was well taken care of with a press ticket. In speaking of the rescue of the Titanic survivors which were picked up by the Carpathia on which Mr. Kuehl was a passenger, he says that the work of rescue began about 4:30 a. m. and continued for four hours. His stateroom was so located that the noise of the first boat awakened him and he arose and was a witness of it. The scenes were heart-rending. During his absence, Mr. Kuehl visited the points of greatest interest in Italy, including Rome, Austria, Germany and England, spending some time at Naples and Venice. He was heartily greeted by his Randolph friends and was subject to no little good natured joking because of the false marriage report.

"I am going to enjoy the election next fall," said Lusk Preston this morning, "as there will be so many candidates to vote against."

REFUSE FURNACE.

Hartington News: The business men in the block between the Hartington National bank and the Grand Hotel have combined and erected in the alley behind Huffmuth's meat market a brick furnace with an iron cover, for burning refuse. Every day huge quantities of paper, excelsior and other waste are burned in it. It has a fire going continually and destroys every vestige of refuse without danger to the town. Besides it keeps the alley as clean as a street. Other furnaces are to be erected for the other blocks. The city pays for hauling away the ashes. This furnace and the others in prospect are the result of the untiring efforts of Mayor Walt under the direction of the state fire warden, who furnished the plans for the furnace. This business men of the block would not now part with the furnace for several times its cost.

There may be nothing new under the sun, but some day the coroner's jury will upset this theory by finding out something.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

Old Billed and I are neighbors, and oft when the day is through, and done with our day-labor, we ergo an hour or two. And then, in a COMMON pleasant thim, we WREAKNESS themes; I jump on the pomes of Milton, he says that those pomes are screams. I spend quite a while contending the Giants will make things in; he labors away defending the Pirates, and says they'll win. We spend many hours discussing the nebular thingamobob, with never a bit of fussing, and never a sore heart thro'. We spend the long ere debating, and then, when the orgy ends, to hunc and to bed go skating, the best kind of ebuns and frinds. But gene is our friendly manner when politics is the theme, when, under some statesman's banner, we grid up our lungs and scream! Discussing some party platier that makes not a bit of odds, we set to on boughs and on big heads with bricks and cloas. My fly white nose is broken, my collar bone is a sling, for Billed, some words I'd spoken, resented like everything; and Billed is blue with bruises since we had our last debate; I argued with fists and shoores, but couldn't convince the skate.

As I go drilling through the town I see old horses, broken, down, poor, friendless and abandoned-plugs, still straining feebly in their harness, and I feel my big head beyond their strength, and hoping death will come at length. Ah, what's more pitiful than those, the worn out nags with broken knees and broken hearts, as well, no doubt—their ribs, all fleshless, sticking out; with shoulders sore and tortured eyes, where gather fifty million flies? When they were young and fat and strong they labored blithely all day long on the pile, like Mand S. riced—they did their best, where ever placed. Then there were hands to stroke the necks of these poor, man-forgotten wrecks, and they were groomed and manured, and lives of comfort seemed assured—But when the vim of youth was o'er, and they could car-cole no more, like outcasts they were chased away up the at least six deaths a day. No kinder, nor ends life's storm; no friendly deed of chloroform; they'll bring a few dishonored yen, so send them to the dirty meat where'er I see a poor old steed, sad-eyed, despairing, broken-kneed, I think: "The man who wore him down should haul his burden through the town."

"Oh, gentle hermit of the glen," I asked, "why have you flown afar from the abodes of men, to dwell here all alone?" Hast THE HERMIT sourced on human all that culture means so much that you must seek the woods, and fill yourself with greens?" The sad-eyed hermit deftly threw his whiskers o'er his arm, and heaved a sigh and took a chew, and viewed with some alarm. "I follow well considered plans by living in this wood; for here there are no also rans, no stateless-pret and good, I list all day to staning birds, and hear the bob-bob-coach-bow-see-see-see-see-see-see with words no wild spellbinders use. There are no plans to confound. No Pledges to reticent; a man just sits around and chews, and life's a pleasant dream. There are up tiresome, windy dubs, to talk of 'peepul's rights'; there are no Ananias Chins, no crazed convention fights. No selfish statesmen use the air, for 'emancipies,' they yap—for principles, and all they care is just to reach the top. Your politics is such a fake, so threadbare, stale and punk? So I'll remain, in fen and brake, with 'possum, owl and skunk." Thus spake the hermit, and he lit a stogie, molly-blue. "You're wise," I said: "if you'll permit, I'll just stay here with you."

When the large hot sun is scizzling, I see consolation find, when the col-ley rain is drizzling I retain my peace of mind. When the THE WEATHER blizzard comes CA-AGAIN varying from the polar realms up there, I don't go around a-sporing in a spasm of despair. Long ago I used to wear the rain, when the weather changed; if it wilted down my collar I would roar as though derainged; if my poorly nose got frosted, I would rant, with full intent, till my cusswords were exhausted and my diaphragm was bent. Then I set me down to reason, reaching this decision wise; Cussing will not change the season or relieve the man who froes. Kicking will not stop un-early tantrums of the rain or wind; and the weather, speaking truly, merely is a state of mind. So, methinks I will hereafter take the climate as the comes, greeting all her freaks with laughter, handing points to the hums. Since I reached that sane conclusion, weather troubles me no more, all its pecker and confusion cannot make you unclean. With philosophy so handy all the weather hits the spot; every day is just a dandy whether it is cold or hot.

The other day a weary man jumped in a rippin' pond; and now, I hope, his pinions fan along the great beyond. They fished THE MISFIT fish from the LIPF drink and took it to his wife; and not a man of them could think why he should end his life. He had abundance of long green—he carried it in lumps; life should have been a thing serene—why did he bump the lumps? His wife sat viewing with alarm beside that lifeless clay, and mused: "I drove him from the farm, where he desired to stay! That wish of his made me wroth! I longed to come to town, and try and do a mighty swath, and wear a sikeen zow. At bath and routs and thimings I had a wish to shine, and he desired to feed his pigs and train his pumpkin vine. So there we came and here I tried the social swim, and with my fins and finny pride I've gone and nursed him. Away from all the scenes he loved, his horses and his key for busting neighbors pushed and shoved, he moped and pined away, until at least he jumped into a small fresh water sea, and here I raise my howdy-do! Alas, and woe is me!" I know a hundred men who jerk their way through wretched lives because they quit their proper work to please their latty wives.

Selecting language finer than language needs to be, we roast the linotyper from Cleveland to K. C. We dai THE LINOTYPER him our badly written bits, with curly-cues that bore him and throw him into fits, with white exanures, splashes, and sprawling chicken-tracks, until the poor man thrashes his intellect to shreds, in efforts to determine what fogue it's written in, and whether it's a sermon, a poem or bulletin. And we, who do the scrawling, with fountain pen or spade, indulge in easter-waiving about the errors made. "That heartless, lop-eared viper, that sacrilegious set, the swaybacked linotyper, has spoiled my Day of Thought! Oh, bring me hither, prieth, a cauldron full of oil, and by the village smithy I'll cook that son of toll! Or bring me rusty fetters—I'll make his bosom bleed who never learned his letters and yet pretends to read!" The patient linotyper is tolling by me now, his old baudian wiper festooned about his brows; he isn't loud or yawpy, he jess't tear his hair, although his bunch of cope would cause a saint to swear; and those who knock his or-ers and say he should be whipped, should see the greswome terrors in lughouse manuscript! If you who write a story intended for the press made copy hunkydory, you'd sidestep much distress.

NATIONAL CITIZENS' LEAGUE
Wayne, Neb., July 15, 1912.
To the Editors:
You are no doubt aware the fact that the National Citizens' League for the promotion of a sound banking system urges that the National Bank act be revised so as to create a reserve agency for holding in one large vault the reserve money of all the banks.
(Under this proposed system the power of a bank to lend money would not depend upon the condition of its cash reserves, but upon the quality of the paper it had on hand. Instead of garnering cash and stopping discounts, it would pay out cash and make loans in the certainty that, with good paper on hand it could get it. Instead of increasing and intensifying a stringency by efforts to protect itself, it would contribute to the end of stringency and restore confidence. No local merchant would ever be driven to failure by lack of banking accommodation, and no bank would be forced into liquidation because of inability to convert sound assets into cash. Such a reserve agency is more in the interest of the local merchant than of his bank.)
The above declarations are taken from the textbook of the League, "Banking Reform," which explains in minute detail the many ways in which the proposed reserve agency system would be of advantage and profit to every bank patron having prime commercial paper to be discounted for the purposes of promoting his business affairs. This book and other literature of the League makes it very clear that the proposed legislation would, without the possibility of a doubt, promote the prosperity of every business man in Nebraska.
Therefore I respectfully request you to publish this letter and to urge the business men of this community to send for the "Banking Reform of the League" and to read it.
JOHN T. DRESSLER.
Going in a covered wagon expresses an undue desire to get there.

THE SPECTACULAR "ME."

Premont Tribune: Colonel Roosevelt quickly takes the idea of compromise by the voluntary withdrawal of both himself and Mr. Taft. It should have been known in advance that he would. No plan that did not make Roosevelt the big leader of it—the champion horse-back rider of the big wild west show, the strenuous colored in command of the army, the president's man in a presidential of the country—will ever meet with his approval. He never attended a circus in his life that he did not rush out and mount the elephant or straddle the bucking broncho. Colonel Roosevelt compromise! Not he. He would be pulverized first. And that explains why steam roller methods were necessary and could not be avoided at Chicago.

BRAZEN INCONSISTENCY.
Premont Tribune: The new progressive party chooses "Thou Shalt Not Steal" as its motto and launches its career with a plan for pilfering the republican electoral vote in states where it plainly hasn't any show of its own. It probably has found some other name for it, but "if dat ain't stealin', den we don't know."

Probably, however, the Scotch Whisky wouldn't be any worse if it were made in Scotland.

THE COST OF LIVING.

(Bixby in Lincoln Journal.)
In this all parties are agreed. So far as I can learn, A lower price is all we need To piece out what we earn.
For what we buy too much is paid, And that is pretty tough; For what we sell I am afraid, We do not get enough.

All parties promise to adjust The wage to fit the lynch; How good jobs that we can trust The whole infernal bunch.

SHORTHORN BULLS.

OVERTAXED.
Hundreds of Wayne Readers Know What It Means.
The kidneys are overtaxed. Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains. Backache, weariness, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, Bright's disease follow.

A Wayne citizen tells here a reliable remedy for kidney ills.
—Anton Bigler of Wayne, Neb., says: "About two years ago my back was very stiff and I could hardly get up after sitting for a while. At night, after a hard day's work, I was in such great pain that I could not get my proper rest. The kidney secretions caused me much annoyance by their frequency of passage. (Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box and their use helped me so greatly that I continued taking them until I was well. I have never had a serious recurrence of the kidney trouble."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Logan Valley Herald, August 1, 1884:

Mr. Meats wires from the east that fixtures for a mill in Wayne are ready to be put in the next few days.

S. D. Relyea's house in Lake's addition was struck by lightning, doing some damage.

Wayne county democrats to the number of forty-seven organized a Cleveland and Hendricks club.

Mr. Bogart, living three miles south-west of town, reports that his growing corn was laid flat by a hail storm.

Arrangement is made for the annual camp meeting in the grove three miles southwest of Wakefield, August 11-24.

A lunge ball association was organized with these officers: T. W. Moran, president; N. Leibfried, secretary; T. J. Steele, treasurer.

The house on what is known as the Jurgensen farm, two miles south of Wakefield, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $4,000.

Rev. G. M. Lodge, Daniel Andrews of Stanton county, to Miss Fannie May Lewis of Missouri Valley.

From the Wayne Herald, August 4, 1892:

J. M. Cherry is called to Iowa (Ct) on account of the death of his father.

Local markets: Wheat 54 cents; corn 29 cents; oats 21 cents; flax 84 cents; hogs $5.15.

Miss Nannie Hill died at her home eight miles northwest of Wayne. Funeral services were conducted at Carroll by Rev. W. W. Theobald.

From the Wayne Herald, July 31, 1902:

The old court house building is sold to Bruce Roosa.

A lunge ball team organizes with James Miller manager.

Local market: Wheat 57 cents; corn 41 cents; oats 26 cents; eggs 12 cents; butter 14 cents.

Died, in Omaha, July 28, 1902, Mrs. Mary Metten, formerly of Wayne. Funeral and interment took place in Wayne.

Phil Kohl, M. P. Ahern, Fred Volpp, Dan Harrington and E. J. Raymond are appointed a committee to arrange for a carnival in Wayne.

From Ponca Journal, July 25, 1878: Wheat was worth 85 cents in this place on Tuesday with an upward tendency.

Not a tooth is toothed by the tooters of the Ponca band nowadays. Why this toothless interval.

Granger's mill, eight miles southeast of this place, was burned to the ground last night. The fire was accidental, caused by sparks from the furnace. No insurance.

While in Sioux City last week we had the pleasure of meeting the genial and jovial Will S. Jay, who was perambulating the town, picking up local tidings for the Daily Journal. He is now acting as assistant editor of that valuable paper.

It is a wonder that the narrow gauge does not give up in disgust. Were it not for the cheerfulness and capability of Bob Scott, the conductor, and Mike Langdon, the brakeman, and the various other officials on the train, the concern would hate itself to death.

The rain on Monday caused the streets to be so muddy that a weary disciple of Bacchus laid down several times on Second street. After wallowing there some time, he picked himself up and wobbled off in a style that would denote that he had taken a contract to build a rail fence and was making a preliminary survey of the route.

From Ponca Journal, July 22, 1880: The Central House, lately sold to Mr. Thum of Dickinson, will be turned over to the new proprietor September first. It will be conducted by Mr. Thum and Frank Pletsch of this place.

O. D. Brown, superintendent of the Sioux City and Nebraska railroad, has notified S. A. Bennett, who now carries the mail between this place and Sioux City, that he may make calculations to continue the mail business till the first of September at least. From this it would seem that regular trains will not be running before the time indicated, or perhaps not then.

The census of 1870 gave this county a population of 1,300, and the one just taken shows our inhabitants to number something over 4,100, an increase of about 400 per cent. In 1828 our population in 1880 will be 30,000, but the probabilities are that the increase in the next ten years will be much in excess of that of the past ten, as the greater the population the greater the percentage of increase. In ten years' time we may safely count on 36,000 to 18,000 and in 1870 Dakota county had 1,300 and Cedar an even 1,000, while Wayne, our baby sister on the south, maintained 500 souls.

Last Saturday the ferry boat at Logan was loosened from its fastenings by the bank of the river coming in and taking with it the tree to which the boat was tied. The boat thus set adrift was soon overtaken by men in a skiff who boarded and attempted to land it and who observed several times in getting it near the shore, but were unable to fasten it; and at last after they had worked with it while it floated ten or twelve miles, and became partially filled with water, they decided that further labor was useless, and abandoned it. The ferry was owned by L. T. Hill, and was the second boat that had been lost in the past two years. The river seems to have an especial grudge against Mr. Hill, having destroyed property for him till it is doubtful if he can tell anywhere near the amount that he has contributed to the support of the merciful stream.

LAUREL ADVOCATE
EXPLAINS TACTICS

Laurel Advocate.—The editor of the Advocate returned at noon the fourth from attending the meeting of the national press association at Chicago, followed by a tour through South Dakota. He arrived in Chicago the Monday following the republican national convention and heard a great deal about the "stump roller"—both pro and con; you could hear it on all sides, in the hotel lobbies, on the streets and in the clubs. Joseph Medill McCormick, Roosevelt's commanding officer in Chicago, tendered a luncheon at the university club one day to a number of delegates to the Press meeting, and the editor of the Advocate was one of the number to accept the invitation. During the luncheon Mr. McCormick made it known that he was in favor of a third party; but they were not willing to be tied down that Roosevelt and none other should be the candidate for president. This did not meet with the acceptance which Mr. McCormick had expected. Many of the newspaper men favored a change in the policy of holding meetings, possibly taking the form of a third party; but they were not willing to be tied down that Roosevelt and none other should be the candidate for president. Had Roosevelt's name not been mentioned there would undoubtedly have been a number of those present willing to stand by the third party movement. But when it came to signing a petition and designating who should be "who," only three or four of the fifty at the luncheon would sanction the movement. The Tribune, McCormick's own paper, stated the next day that the National Press association went on record as favoring the third party movement, and that when half of the association had not even heard what was to be brought up at the luncheon. The publication of that story in the Tribune did more harm to the progressive republican movement than anything that has happened in the past year. There were newspaper men present who until that time were in favor of a third party, but were switched back by the tactics then shown. The progress of both parties were losers, while the "standpaters" of both parties were the gainers.

CROP CONDITIONS. Lincoln Trade Review: The government crop report issued for July first, made an excellent showing for the country as a whole, and so far as present indications go, it was a conservative forecast for as Nebraska was included in particular.

The winter wheat crop is given by the government as practically an average one. This is true of the winter wheat crop in Nebraska. Of course it cannot yet be determined just how good the crop is, but it is practically all harvested now and the general conclusion of opinion is that it is as good as the wheat crop of a year ago. Oats and small grain the country over are in a normal condition. This is true in Nebraska. Oats, perhaps, are generally better in this state than a year ago. The indications for the corn crop are practically normal over the United States; the indication for the corn crop in Nebraska is better than at July 1 one year ago.

It will be remembered that in June last year, we had ten days of the most terrific, expensating heat, with the mercury registering over one hundred; so far this year, we have only had two days in which the one hundred mark has been reached.

Drought conditions are not so threatening this year as they were during the year ago, so the corn crop bids fair to be up nearly to the average. The hay crop in Nebraska this year will be far ahead of a year ago. The pastures so far have been much better and the great dairy interests that have grown up in the state have had a better season this year than they had one year ago.

The general crops of the nation, is that while the acreage is somewhat reduced, the condition of the crop at the present time is fully equal to average years, and a little better than last year. This would indicate that the cotton crop is going to be a good one and that certain growers will have a reasonably profitable year.

These are the leading great agricultural lines of production in this country. With part of the crops already secured and the other part in such excellent condition the first of July, there is nothing at all to cause any fear or disturbance in business lines, and there is little more to be said. The record in production will be an excellent one in all lines.

If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day and crawling into bed tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight if you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. Anyhow, the bee is a lot like the rest of us industrious ones; it has to be busy to make a living.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the county judge's office in Wayne county, Nebraska, for the construction of concrete bridges and arches as follows:

One 32-foot reinforced concrete arch, to be located near the southeast corner of section 16, township 26, range 5 east, Wayne county, Nebraska; or four miles southwest of Wakefield, the nearest point.

One 18-foot reinforced concrete arch, to be located near or just east of the N. E. ¼ of section 20-26-2. Winside the nearest point.

One 16-foot reinforced concrete arch, to be located south of S. W. ¼ of section 17-26-2, Winside the nearest point.

Two sets of plans are on file for the 32-foot arch, one a plan of the Lufon arch upon which there is a royalty.

Bids to furnish all material there for and construct such bridge in conformity with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska, said bids to be deposited with the county judge of said Wayne county, Nebraska, on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 20th day of July, 1912, and said bids to be opened by the county judge in the presence of the county commissioners and county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska, at one o'clock p. m. of the 20th day of July, 1912, and thereupon filed in the office of the county clerk of Wayne county, Nebraska.

No bid will be considered unless accompanied by cash or a certified check to the amount of ten per cent of the bid, made payable to Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk of said county, to be forfeited to said county in case the bidder refuses to enter into contract with said county, if same is awarded him. The contractor to tear down or remove old bridge, and remove or pile all old lumber in such bridge and to deposit the same safely near the site thereof, such old lumber of which the old bridge is constructed to remain the property of the county. The successful bidder will be required to give bond to the county with good and sufficient sureties in the amount of $500, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract awarded him.

It being further understood that the party to whom the contract is let is to construct a temporary bridge, so that the construction of the arch will in no manner retard or impede travel.

In order to obtain these plans and specifications it will be necessary for the applicant to deposit the sum of $10 for the return of the plans, either by cash, certified check or draft.

Bids will also be received at the same time and place under the same conditions for the removal of dirt and the making of a fill at the following places:

800 yards of dirt at the 16-foot arch.
1200 yards of dirt at the 18-foot arch.
400 yards of dirt at the 32-foot arch.

The board of county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 25th day of June, 1912.

J. F. STANTON,
GEO. S. FARRAN,
EPH ANDERSON,
(Seal) County Commissioners.

Attest: Chas. W. Reynolds, Clerk.

Why You Got
the Wrong Number
Did you ever get the wrong party when you called a telephone number? Probably you blamed the Telephone Company—Most people do—but the chances are you misplaced the responsibility.
Most misdirected calls are due to subscribers speaking indistinctly, or to their calling the wrong number. Don't try to remember a number. Memory plays strange tricks. Always connect the directory.
When you have called the wrong number you owe the disturbed subscriber an apology. Practically you have been caught on the wrong side of a street crowded with traffic.
