

Children Like Figsen

A mild laxative should always be kept in the house—especially where there are children—more than pays.

Even a slight attack of indigestion may become chronic if not attended to promptly—the slightest stomach derangement if neglected will result in many a restless night—for you as well as the younger ones.

NYAL'S FIGSEN

is pleasant to take, mildly laxative, will not gripe, and readily taken by the children.

Mr. Hansen says fifteen others wanted the farm, but that Mr. Erickson had proven an excellent farmer and an eminently satisfactory in all respects, and that he was glad to have him again on the place. Mr. Hansen certainly speaks in the highest terms of Mr. Erickson's management and ability as a farmer.
The board of education is planning to add music to the course in the city schools—the coming year. Wakefield, Emerson and Winside also want to have musical instruction in their schools, and the plan is to hire one teacher to look after that branch in the schools of the four towns. One of our week the teachers could devote two days to the Wayne schools and one day to each of the other towns. While the plan has not been definitely decided, it is thought it will be before the opening of school.
Sunday night's rain reminds one that the weather department has been inserting showers at proper periods to freshen and beautify growing crops. The memory of man, faith to recall a year when nature withheld rain to the serious detriment of Wayne county crops. There have been a few years when people become uneasy, fearing moisture would not come in time, but experience invariably proved the alarm unwarranted. Nature has been generous with this section, and droughts always will be rare.
R. W. Thomas, foreman of the Bloomfield Monitor, was in Wayne Monday to meet his wife who was on her way from Chicago to Bloomfield.

SIGNET RINGS

IT is only fitting and appropriate that what might be designed in men's jewelry especially in the way of rings would be even more beautiful when made to fit the dainty feminine finger. In proof of this we ask you to come in and look at our beautiful signet and seal rings, and in order to offer an inducement during this week we will engrave the name free.

Nebraska Military Academy---Lincoln

THE SAME OLD PROBLEM will soon have to be solved again. The school problem, we mean, where to send your boy next year, what school will best train his mind and body, help him overcome his bad habits and strengthen his good ones—in short give him the best he needs toward manly development.

THE NEBRASKA MILITARY ACADEMY will solve this problem for you. Let us send you a catalog that will tell you all about it, or better still come and investigate the school for yourself.

Enrollment has begun; only 100 boys will be accepted.

City Office, 1307 N Street A-14 Lincoln, Nebraska

TEACHERS TO MEET IN WAYNE NEXT WEEK

The county teachers' institute will be held in Wayne under the supervision of Mrs. Elsie Little, county superintendent. She says she expects an attendance of over 100. She has planned a reception for the teachers in the gymnasium of the city schools on Monday evening. Taylor J. H. Kate has been invited to give an address of welcome. The program will be made interesting and pleasing, and all teachers are urged to be present.

The institute program has been arranged with care, and the instructors employed are educators of well known ability. The week promises to be one of profit and pleasure to Wayne county's noble teaching force.

NOTICE

Please notify the county superintendent a few days in advance if you desire to be on or board teachers during institute, August 19-21.

THE REAL GAIN

It is not so much the actual amount of money you deposit in a bank which counts... The real gain comes from the fact that you get the habit of saving a part of your income and of building for the future.

As your deposit grows you will have a practical illustration of how rapidly money accumulates and how easy it is to get enough for a small investment.

Start with a small deposit if you have to but keep the account growing.

HERALD REPRESENTATIVE VISITS FARMERS AND WRITES OF THEIR IMPROVEMENTS AND PROSPECTS BY H. G. LEAVENS

AUGUST SAMUELSON.

August Samuelson owns 180 acres about five miles northeast of Wayne, having bought the farm seventeen years ago. He reports seventy acres of corn, forty acres of small grain and five acres of alfalfa. For the last few years he has sold his stock on the local market, and has now about eighteen head of cattle and fifty head of hogs. Improvements were made to the house last year, one of them being a complete system of lighting. Several other improvements are contemplated, and Mr. Samuelson has something to show for his seventeen years on the place.

CARL SURBER.

Carl Surber carries on 160 acres owned by his father, about six miles northwest of Wayne. He has ninety acres of corn, forty acres of oats and twenty acres of alfalfa, and is enthusiastic on the last named crop. There are about seventy-five head of hogs on the place at present. The buildings on this farm are all new, having been put up within the last three years. Mr. Surber says: "With right weather conditions crops will be good."

FRED STONE.

This is the seventh year that Fred Stone has been on the 160 acres which he rents six miles northwest of Wayne. This year he has eighty acres of good corn, forty acres of small grain and five acres of potatoes. He has about eighteen head of cattle and thirty head of hogs on the place at present. A new granary is in prospect for this fall. Mr. Stone says: "The outlook for crops is good, and I am well satisfied."

A. A. SMITH.

Twenty years ago A. A. Smith moved to Wayne county from Kansas and now owns 160 acres ten miles northeast of Wayne. He rents an extra ninety acres and reports 120 acres of good corn, sixty acres of small grain and twelve acres of alfalfa, which he styles as "the" crop. He has thirty head of cattle and 200 head of hogs, half of which are ready to ship. The farm has a good set of buildings, the house being recently remodeled, and the appearance speaks well for Mr. Smith's management.

H. HARMER.

H. Harmer rents 160 acres ten miles northwest of Wayne. He has eighty acres of good corn, the rest being in hay and pasture. There are about twenty head of cattle and ninety head of hogs on the place. Repairs are being made on the house, and Mr. Harmer expresses himself as well satisfied with the prospects for his first year on the place.

V. L. DAYTON.

Last fall V. L. Dayton bought 120 acres four and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, coming here from Iowa. He has fifty acres of good corn and thirty acres of small grain, and twelve acres of alfalfa. Mr. Dayton generally deals in thoroughbred stock, but has not started the business here as yet. He has now about 100 head of hogs and expects to build a new hog house and new fences this fall. He considers the prospects for the year as fair.

C. L. LINDER.

C. L. Linder rents 160 acres five miles east of Wayne, this being his first year on the place. He reports 110 acres of good corn and forty-five acres of small grain. He has about seventy head of hogs on the place, and thinks his crop prospects are fair, if we have favorable weather.

LOUIS BECKMAN.

"Wouldn't sell for any money," says Louis Beckman in referring to his 320 acres, about nine miles northeast of Wayne. He has given his sons a chance to show what they can do on the farm this year and they have the following crops: 100 acres of oats, twenty-five acres of wheat and 140 acres of corn. At present there are 100 head of hogs and sixteen head of horses on the farm. A new barn was recently built and taken all around the place shows good management.

CLAUS OTTE.

Claus Otte owns 160 acres about eight miles northwest of town, having been on the place for the past twenty-two years. He reports ninety acres of corn, ten acres of wheat and thirty-five acres of oats, having rented an extra eighty this year. He has about ten milk cows and 100 head of hogs on the place at present. Mr. Otte contemplates leaving the farm and taking a well earned rest.

E. A. SURBER.

Coming to Wayne county twenty-eight years ago, E. A. Surber now owns 240 acres about four miles northwest of Wayne. This year he has 150 acres of fair corn, twenty acres of small grain and ten acres of alfalfa. Mr. Surber does an extensive stock business, having shipped several cars of stock the past year. He has over 200 head of sheep and 250 head of hogs—head of the place. Mr. Surber says the year on the farm has averaged well, but that this does not look for a full crop this year.

JOHN OLSON.

John Olson owns eighty acres five and one-half miles east of Wayne, having been on the place for the past twenty-eight years. He reports thirty-five acres of corn, ten acres of oats and the rest in hay and pasture, with a little seed to alfalfa. He has about eight head of cattle and forty-five head of hogs on the farm at present. An addition to the house was recently made and now the buildings are sufficient for a farm of this size. Mr. Olson says: "I have not had a failure in twenty-eight years and prospects are encouraging for a good crop this year."

JOHN MCCORKINDALE.

John McCorkindale carries on 160 acres eleven miles southeast of Wayne, having been on the place for the past five years. He rents an extra forty acres this year and reports eighty acres of corn and sixty acres of small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. McCorkindale puts most of his time on these crops, but has some stock on the place. A new hog house was one of the recent improvements, and we were well impressed with the appearance of the place generally.

J. P. ROEBER.

J. P. Roeber has been twenty-eight years on his 240 acres seven miles northwest of Wayne. He has eighty acres each of corn and small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. He has thirty-five head of cattle and 120 hogs on the place at present. Mr. Roeber built a fine new house three years ago, and now has a set of buildings in which he may well take pride.

GEORGE E. AISTROPE.

George E. Aistrope owns three quarter sections about nine miles southeast of Wayne, having bought the farm nineteen years ago when he came from Iowa. He rents out 180 acres this year and has 140 acres of corn, thirty-three acres of small grain, twenty-two acres of alfalfa, besides some hay and pasture. He Aistrope shipped a car of stock recently and had another ready to ship when the writer called. He is putting up a fine modern house and when that is finished will have a set of buildings that he may justly feel proud of.

MRS. GARRIE BARD.

Mrs. Carrie Bard bought 190 acres about nine miles southeast of Wayne, two years ago and her two sons, Clarence and Luther, work the farm. They have fifty-five acres of corn and thirty acres of small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. They are putting most of their time on these crops, but have some stock on the place. A fine new house was one of Mrs. Bard's first improvements on the place, and they consider the prospects favorable for a good crop this year.

FRANK UTECH.

Frank Utech owns 200 acres eight miles southeast of Wayne, having bought 160 acres twenty-two years ago and forty acres recently. He has ninety acres of fair corn, sixty acres of small grain and twenty acres of alfalfa. Mr. Utech generally ships his stock, but recently has sold on local markets, and has now thirty head of cattle and 100 head of hogs. A new barn was put up about two years ago, and several other improvements have been made recently.

L. S. JOHNSON.

Coming to Wayne from Illinois six years ago, L. S. Johnson now owns 180 acres about five and three-fourths miles northeast of Wayne. He has eighty acres of corn, fifty acres of small grain and five acres of alfalfa which crop he styles as the "best you can get." At present he has about fourteen head of cattle and 100 head of hogs on the place. Mr. Johnson has a neat looking place and recently added to the appearance by a coat of paint on the barn. He considers crop prospects good if weather conditions are right.

J. S. MUNSON.

J. S. Munson owns 400 acres seven and one-half miles northeast of Wayne, having been on the place twenty-six years. He reports 150 acres of corn, 140 acres of small grain and five acres of alfalfa. Mr. Munson says that his hay and small grain do not promise well, but that corn gives fair prospects. He has on the place at present fifty-five head of cattle and sixty-five head of hogs. A new corn crib, and a fine modern house are recent improvements.

H. W. ROBISON.

H. W. Robison farms 400 acres six miles northeast of Wayne, having been on the place for three years. He reports 270 acres of good corn, thirty acres of barley, thirty-five acres of oats, ten acres of wheat, and twenty-five acres of alfalfa, which he calls the "paying" crop. Mr. Robison has shipped several cars of stock during the past year and now has about 275 head of hogs on the place. The farm has a neat and prosperous appearance, the buildings being practically new, and well kept.

C. L. CLEYBERG.

"More on this eighty than on seven sections in Dakota," says C. L. Cleyberg who came to Wayne from Dakota last year and now rents eighty acres three miles east of town. He has thirty acres in corn and five in small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. He has about fifty-four head of cattle and sixty pigs, and is satisfied with his prospects for the year.

W. L. WELBAUM.

For twenty years Wayne W. L. Welbaum has been on his 120 acres five miles northeast of Wayne. He reports twenty acres of corn and seventy acres of small grain, and now has four head of cattle and forty-two head of hogs on the place. A new hog house was recently added to the buildings on the place and a new barn is contemplated. Mr. Welbaum says his prospects are encouraging for a good crop this year.

CARL FRANSEN.

Carl Fransen rents 160 acres six miles east of Wayne and has been on the place three years. He reports eighty-five acres of fair corn and thirty-two acres of small grain, the rest being in hay and pasture. He shipped one car of cattle in the spring and now has thirteen head of cattle and seventy-five head of hogs. A new cement water tank is one of the recent improvements, and Mr. Fransen says that crop prospects are good this year.

ED. SUNDALL.

Twenty-eight years ago Ed. Sundall came to Wayne county from Illinois and now owns 640 acres five miles east of town. He rents out 160 acres of this and has in crops 230 acres of corn, 150 acres of small grain and about twenty-three acres seeded to alfalfa. He does considerable stock business and last year fed two cars each of hogs and cattle. He has about twenty-five head of cattle and 140 head of hogs on the farm at present. Several recent improvements have been made on this farm and the appearance of the buildings has lately been bettered by the painting of the entire set.

ALFRED ANDERSON.

Alfred Anderson rents 120 acres three miles east of Wayne, this being his first year on the place. He has eighty acres of corn and thirty acres of small grain, and is putting most of his time on these crops, although he has some stock on the place. He says: "Prospects are not quite up to par just now, but crops ought to give a fairly good yield."

J. M. BRESSLER.

J. M. Bressler has 320 acres about three miles east of Wayne, but three years his son is carrying on eighty acres of the farm. He reports sixty acres of field corn, fifteen acres of pop corn, and about seventy acres of small grain. He always sells his stock at the local market, and has now forty-three head of cattle and sixty head of hogs. He considers crop prospects good, if weather conditions are right.

If a man isn't talked about he doesn't amount to anything. He is simply an inconsequential figure in the world.

There is considerable newspaper criticism of late directed at the striking circumstance and diminishing altitude of women's dresses.

Woman's suffrage which is advocated by the Roosevelt platform has not been voted for the favor of the colored man.

Raymond Robbins pledged Roosevelt a majority of 100,000 in Illinois, and Clifford Pinchot promised to roll up a majority of 300,000 in Pennsylvania.

Grant S. Meary who returned Saturday from a trip through the south says he found a great deal of Roosevelt sentiment among the southern whites.

A society of bible students, meeting in the city of Washington, passed a resolution to the effect that the bible does not contain anything to justify the so-called 'horror' 'brimstone' or 'hell' 'place of fire and brimstone' for the reception and entertainment of the wicked after death.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

There is a man in our town who thinks he's wondrous wise; though his line of junk to sell, he does not advertise. He of THE WISE MAN ten says: "The people must know I'm in the game; and if they want my doodads they'll come and buy the same."

These same to keep a rather sad and lonesome looking pup, a Spitz. Some fellow yelled: "That dog is mad!" And then we SNAP JUDGMENT all this sun-dry fire. "We never rounded up the skate to ask him where he got his furs; we paused not to investigate, but slugged the pup with a stick and a tile, and kept the post on the jump; we chased him twenty-seven miles and killed him on the village dump. And then his owner came along and proved, to us his dog was sane; we'd done a great and cruel wrong and on the village placed a stain. For dimes, they remove his bones one by one, that such things should be done and yet I doubt if we have learned a lesson from this jambores. Tomorrow some one may explain that Jenks or Jimson is a crook, and then we'll all jump on his frame, and try his little goods to cook."

When the old man comes to his humdrum plot, from town where he toiled all day, when his feet are tired and his soul dispirited, he thought, and his mind of THE OLD MAN thought, full of years, when he years for rest with a mighty yearn, for Rest with a great big R. don't ask him then if he'll work the churn or toil with a capstan bar.

That he ought to take a turn in the paragon harness, and strap up with the best and rake and later to beat Old Scratch. Don't intimate that he ought to jump out doors, and a jumping keep, and herd the chickens and paint the pump, and rock the old cow to sleep. Don't jar his soul with a list of chores but let him sit on the porch, while the tomato stings and the fall frog snores, and the old man thinks of a million wives in the woolly west still cling to the theory, vain that man should never sit down to rest, but always should sweat and strain. The old man comes to his lowly shack, and this is his greeting grim: "Go out and doctor the wagon rack, and saw off that poplar limb; and weed the garden and wash the pig and saw up a cord of oak and put new burrs on the thimbleing which our batty neighbors broke." Some day, some day, the old man will buy a breech-loading gun, and then he'll string himself up to a tree so high he'll never come down again.

If you go around the world with contentance nicely curled up in the pleasant smile, the people you meet will say, as you waddle along SMILES your way, that you are a man worth while. I don't mean a silly grin; that sort of a thing will win no praise, as it long the hoops for there are a dozen styles (the same as in hats) of smiles, and some are worth three shoppes. The kind of a smile I mean is the kind that is daily seen on the face of the cheerful gent who regulates things so well that honor and comfort dwell for aye in his movement. He will not mind as long the hoops, miserably, year after year, as gay as your marriage bells, and when it is time to play he utters a loud "hooray!" and kicks up his heels and yells. Collection day never frets this man, for he has no debts, he pays as he goes along, and down to the banker's vaults some children each week he takes and a life is a grand sweet soap. He mixes in no foul strife, but easily he lives his life, contented and calm and cool.

The enthusiasm in their faces was unfeignedly genuine, good as gold. At the railroad junction in Dakota residing from car to car, and you'll county, midway between Jackson and never wear that grin unless you at once Dakota City, a new town is to be started, begin a useful and sane career.

We all desire the world's applause for it to strive and strain; it's labor town to take the place of Dakota City in a worthy cause, but often done and in Jackson. The Sioux City Journal states that it is present price of wheat at Chicago holds good, seventy-five cents or eighty cents per bushel can be paid for your bills. One fellow cultivated; good wheat when it has gone through his voice and sings like golden lyre, and that from the samples already sold set the same on fire. "He'd fill 'em full of No. 1 wheat has been raised hearts with thrills, and be a credit to this season in this country. L. H. Whitman of Hawkeye has brought us a specimen of his thirty-acre corn field. There are six stalks comprising two hills. On the stalks well; but mankind bears this guy or, and says in fact that chills "He'd be the glory of his state, if he would pay his bills." No matter to what heights you go, or how you conquer fame, the story of the seeds you sow will cling around your name. And so it's better far to climb the low and humble hills, and leave the shining heights sublime until you've paid your bills.

HOW TO BE UP with greens and HEALTHY milk and bran and toasted Graham bread, and you will be a healthy man, providing your're not dead. Health is the thing without a price. It surely is the goods, so read the safe and sane advice of men like Hutchynson, and bathe yourself ten times a day in shroddered gasoline, and eat three kinds of clover hay and eat them when they're green. Be sure and wear a "stiffest suit" when you are on the street, and have a screen door in each booth to ventilate your feet. Remember, water should be fried before it's fit to drink; if germs and microbes get inside they'll put you on the blink. Pledge a specialist your will to manage your teeth, and fumigate, with special skill, the hang-around underneath. Deodorize your contaminated wealth, wear medicated socks, and soon you'll have good health they'll put you in a box.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Herald-Tribune, August 29, 1884: Born, August 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Taylor, a daughter. W. S. Brown of Avesa, Ia, purchased the south half of J-25-3 and will build on same this fall. A letter from D. C. Patterson who is touring Europe with his wife, gives an interesting description of their travels. John Gaehler was kicked twice by a horse Saturday and had his leg broken in two places. Dr. Crawford treated the injured man. Frank Spahr was kicked by the horse and had his head badly cut, the skull being slightly fractured. The wound was painful, but not very serious.

From the Wayne Herald, September 1, 1892: I. W. Alter is building a dwelling in east town. Born, August 25 to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Butler, a son. Born, August 21, to Mr. and Mrs. William Kugler, a daughter. Local markets: Corn, 23c; wheat, 60c; oats, 24c; flax, 84c; hogs, $5.15. Plans are made for the Wayne county fair for September, 14, 15 and 16. The first fall term of the Nebraska Normal College opened in the new college building, Tuesday morning with a large attendance. A forty-foot addition was added to the depot. It is estimated that improvements of the town for the year exceed a value of $125,000.

From the Wayne Herald, August 28, 1902: Charles Shulthess sold his farm of 360 acres to Mr. Porter at $60 per acre. Herman Midner has commenced the erection of his new brick building, which is to be eighty feet long and twenty-five feet wide. A heavy hail storm in the southeast part of the county, a great deal of damage to the corn crop. This was followed a few days later by a heavy rainstorm which greatly damaged the grain in shock. From the Ponca Journal, August 26, 1912: The village of West will celebrate the second Monday of next month, the 13th. The present employed as teachers

The Junior Chautauqua

The boys' and girls' part in this Chautauqua, you haven't heard much about. It is the Junior Chautauqua. It is to be in charge of Helen Bradford Paulsen, of West Virginia, the world's greatest exponent of the Chautauqua playground.

Mrs. Paulsen has seventeen young women assistants of special training. One of these will be here the entire Chautauqua week to look after the boys' and girls' interests. The work will be organized the opening day—the play, that is.

The boys and girls who hold Chautauqua season tickets will be admitted to this Junior Chautauqua. There is no age limit. The little folks under six whose parents (both, or either one of them) hold season tickets will be taken into the kindernook company. Something special is planned for them.

"Why take them into a big tent that is filled with grown folks to hear a grown-ups' Chautauqua program?" As absurd as to dress them in grown-ups' clothes," Mrs. Paulsen says. She puts them in a shady place and lets them have their own amusement—their own music and their own Chautauqua.

She would have the boys and girls attend only such numbers of the big program as she knows would interest and profit them. She puts them, instead, out on a wide-open playground where they can romp and play. She gives them games; tells them stories; teaches them a play that will amuse and benefit them.

That is SYSTEM and it is SENSE in boys' and girls' directed play. And that is the whole Chautauqua idea—the right kind of living—the right kind of association—the instilling of the right kind of ideals.

L'FOLLETTE GIVES CROWN HARD HIT

Senator Robert M. LaFollette in the current number of his weekly magazine has an editorial rap at Roosevelt declaring that he is not a back-biter and grateful to his friends and that his whole standard of ethics is his own personal standard. Senator LaFollette in his editorial article, says in part:

"The last thing to be tolerated of a new political party, professing to stand for progress, is to back-bite his friends and machine rule through threats and coercion of candida' office. And yet Roosevelt threatens to beat senators, congressmen, governors, sheriffs and coroners unless they declare for him."

"Loyalty, to progressive principles has nothing to do with the matter. In Ohio Judge E. H. Dillon was nominated on the republican ticket for governor. Dillon was enough of a progressive to be acceptable to progressives. But Roosevelt thereafter demanded that Dillon declare for him (Roosevelt) or face the opposition of a second candidate. Dillon very properly refused and with drew as a candidate."

"Governor Dineen of Illinois was not asked by Roosevelt's agents how he would stand as to Lorrimer's successor or whether he would support a progressive state program. The Illinois congressmen were not catechized as to their position on national legislation. But they are plainly well understood that if they declare for Roosevelt they will be aided, or at least will not be opposed by Roosevelt. That is the meaning of the telegram which each one received from Roosevelt's managers in Illinois."

"How do you stand on me?" is Roosevelt's sole test of qualification for a progressive.

"What would become of the progressive movement under such leadership? And yet, it is exactly the plan Roosevelt pursued when president. It is Roosevelt's plan. He supported Lodge for United States senator two years ago, and Percepe for United States senator four years ago. He has always played this kind of a political game.

"It is characteristic of Roosevelt that while he sneers upon issues that make good propagandists and gives them publicity, he has not the patience nor stability nor depth of conviction to prevent his sacrificing essential principles and permanent results to personal considerations and temporary advantage. It was this that made his administration as president, although a time of reform agitation, barren of constructive legislation and neutral for growth of reforms that might have been avoided under wiser leadership."

ABOUT THE DEAD BEAT.
(Shawnee Bulletin.)

First: What is a dead beat? He is an animal, biped, genus homo, resembling man in outward appearance, but when dissected proves to be a leech.

Second: What are his habits? He lives similar to man, only he lives off of man instead of with him.

Third: Where does he live? Possibly next door to you, and maybe he works for you.

Fourth: Should he exist? No, for there are no reasons for his existing, and he is simply a drain upon society.

Fifth: Can we get rid of him? Yes. How? Get a rating on every person who applies for credit, and if in the least risky, turn it down.

Do not find it convenient to credit anyone who owes another merchant on account.

Do not employ any one who is in the habit of beating his bills.

FEARED PLIGHT OF A MAN TRAPPED IN THE BIG SNAKE'S DEN.

EXCITING BATTLE FOR LIFE.

Plucky and Successful Struggle to Escape the Embrace of the Writing Monster, Which Would Have Crushed its Victim Like an Eggshell.

Five men after having been roughly squashed by a python in the East Indies, are now suffering from the embrace of the big snake. An Englishman employed in the London zoological gardens was, however, one of the fortunate few.

The Britisher while in Antwerp visited the Jardin Zoologique, where he observed that a big python—a female specimen—had been suffering from suffering from chills of the jaw, with a condition often fatal to snakes in confinement.

He was directed this out to the dentist, the Englishman obtained permission to make trial of an ointment that he had found efficacious in many early stages of the disease among his own snakes.

Now, as ill luck would have it, the regular keeper was absent on this particular occasion, and the Englishman was for the time by another from some other department of the institution. This man spoke nothing but Flemish, a tongue of which the Briton was ignorant.

The Englishman went into the python's den with this attendant, taking it for granted, of course, that the man was accustomed to snakes, and handing him the box of ointment to hold until the Briton should be ready to use it.

When the Englishman had brought the python fairly close to the floor he gripped the head band by the end of action had the effect, as he intended it to have and which it always has with snakes, of making her open her mouth. The Englishman, however, was hurried away from him at the same time to prevent her catching hold of any portion of his clothing in her efforts to overcome him.

In a fright and rage she drew her body up across the Britisher's neck and twisted her tail round and round his other arm. All that the Englishman could do was to keep the head of the snake from touching or pinching her here and there or by unwinning the tail when necessary, to cause her to shift her coils constantly and prevent her resting long enough on one spot to apply undue pressure.

The Englishman turned to make a sign to the Fleming to be ready to hand him the ointment. To his surprise and dismay the Fleming's face, with a sort of full, impartial interest, looked at him through the glass in front, the door of the enclosure. He had become so frightened by the python and had quietly departed.

At the same instant that the Britisher turned the serpent lightened on him so rapidly and violently that he momentarily lost consciousness. Then he fought himself staggering about the den fighting for life. He expected his ribs to give way every minute, yet his chief fear at the time was of falling through the glass.

He pushed the reptile's head away from him with his strength but would cross his breast at the last moment catching sight of himself, a multicolored figure, in the mirror. All the time that he fought he knew that he was fighting over the python, who, furious at the disturbance, was now darting about the den, above and all around him in every direction.

The Britisher exerted every energy to keep his feet, far he had retained sufficient presence of mind to realize that there he to go down all would be over with him. The head of the snake, he felt that he could endure it no longer. The case upon mady round before his eyes, and he let go the snake's head. HENRY BELL'S COMET.
The First Steamer That Piled For Him.
In Great Britain.

Among the curiosities of advertising may surely be placed the first advertisement for the first steamer that piled for him in Great Britain—namely, Henry Bell's Comet. This ran the advertisement in the Glasgow Courier of 1810.

"Steam passage boat, the Comet, he tween Glasgow, Greenock and Helensburgh. For passengers only. The subscription for such expense fitted up a handsome vessel to ply upon the river Clyde between Glasgow and Greenock—to sail by the power of wind, fire and steam. It is intended to start on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays about midday or at such time thereafter as may answer from the state of the tide and to leave Greenock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays in the morning to suit the tide. The elegance, comfort, safety and speed of this vessel have been approved to meet the approbation of the public, and the proprietor is determined to do everything in his power to merit public encouragement. The terms for the first passage are 5 shillings for the best cabin and 3 shillings for the second, but beyond these rates nothing is to be allowed to servants or any other person employed about the vessel."

What would poor neglected Henry Bell have said could he have seen his countrymen and speed he was so proud, alongside a modern ocean racer or one of the latest palatial river steamers of the Clyde or Thames, all so well advertised?—Chambers' Journal.

THE GOLDFINCH.

Changes in Plumage That Are Puzzling to the Novice.

Most every one in America is acquainted with the goldfinch, but many people do not know that it is a yellow bird on account of its bright yellow color. Goldfinch is a very appropriate name, as the bright yellow of the male when he is in breeding plumage is his distinguishing color. The female goldfinch, is more modestly dressed than her mate. The changes in plumage of the male are very interesting and to the novice somewhat puzzling.

Until the student becomes acquainted with the bird he may wonder why he sees so many during the winter. The truth is at this season the flock is composed of female goldfinches—really of both sexes, the male bird having assumed in the previous fall, usually in the end of October, a plumage closely resembling that of the female and young bird of the year. The male retains this inconspicuous dress until late in February, when he undergoes a gradual change taking place in some of the birds.

This renewal of feathers is actively commenced in March and April, and is completed by the end of May and with us again. The song period with the male goldfinch continues as long as he wears his gold and black livery. For it continues as early as the middle of March and ends late in August.

A Successful Interview.

The late Arthur McEwan when he was writing on a San Francisco newspaper was attracted by the activities of a politician who was vulgar, illiterate and hideously ungrammatical in his mode of expression. The editor looked up this man and had a talk with him. They went back to the office and wrote the interview in the newspaper. Next day McEwan said to the editor of the paper, "I wonder what you think of that interview?" "I think it's a grand short-hand report," the Saturday Evening Post.

STORY REFRESHINGLY NEW.

A notable feature of Charles Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse," which the United Play company brings to Wayne arena—brought in the wholesome and distinct drawing of the various characters in that story.

There cannot be found in the play a villain, a frivolous matron, a wayward girl nor an adventures. Nowadays it is a rare occurrence to visit the theatre without having to hear the doings and misdoings of one or more such characters on the stage. Mr. Klein has displayed a keen knowledge of what is most desired by the public today. The clearness of "The Lion and the Mouse" has been a huge factor in the remarkable success enjoyed by this interesting and well told story of certain phases of America's money world.

The Aches and Pains Will Disappear If the Advice of This Waynes Citizen is Followed.

A woman's back has many aches and pains. Don't times "Is the kidneys' fault." Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Wayne women know this. Read what one has to say about it. Mrs. Joseph Schmalsteig of Wayne, Neb., says: "It gives me pleasure to confirm the public statement I gave in 1907 endorsing Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled by a heavy, dull ache through my kidneys and back and I also had bad dry spells and headaches. The kidney secretions were excessive and plainly showed that my kidneys needed attention. Doan's Kidney Pills cured away the pain in my back and toned up my system. Since then whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have relieved me."

NEBRASKA PEOPLE ENJOICE AT THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE RETURN OF THE ASSOCIATED SPECIALISTS.

WILL BE IN WAYNE, AT BOYD HOTEL, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, ONE DAY ONLY.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE ON THIS TRIP.

The great good work of these doctors in their afflicting with the past three years has gained for them standing that places them in the high rank of specialists and merits for them the most implicit confidence in every vicinity they have visited in the state.

The doctors that constitute this organization of specialists were selected from different parts of the country and are medical specialists of ability and success. The sole object in view, when organized, that each one might be benefited and enlightened by the experience of the others which naturally, of course is true, and has led them to success, which is shown by their many cures of diseases of the stomach, intestines, blood, spleen, liver, granulated livers, nerves, heart, spleen, kidneys or bladder, rheumatism, dropsy, ulcers, weak lungs, and all other ailments of the chest, that have baffled the skill of the family physician, should not fail to call.

According to their system no more operations for appendicitis, gall stones, tumors, polyps or certain forms of cancer. They are among the first in America to earn the name of the "Bloodless Surgeon" by doing away with the knife, with blood and all pain in the successful treatment of these dangerous diseases.

If you have kidney or bladder trouble, bring a two-ounce bottle of your urine for examination.

Their hypodermic injection treatment for cancer, tumor, tubercular glands, piles, old sores, is the best curative treatment in the world.

Married ladies must come with their husbands and minors with their parents.

Cuts Gash in Neck and Head.

Last Tuesday, while engaged in a friendly scuffle in Mittelsatt's jewelry office, Julius Schmoed was severely injured by being thrown against a glass display case. He is recovering, but cutting a gash in his head and neck which necessitated taking several stitches by a physician. The gash was very close to the jugular vein, and Julius may be thankful that it is no worse.

Two Runaways.

Two runaways the last few days caused a little excitement. The first was last Sunday evening when William Burthian was driving through town with his three children; his trunk piled at an angle, the pole broke and the carriage ran onto the horses and they did some hard kicking and running until in front of Dr. McIntyre's office, where they ran on the sidewalk and tipped the carriage. He is showing the occupants to the ground. None but the daughter, a girl of about 15, was injured, and she will be all right in a few days. The next was the Brugger's dray team that took a spin on different streets and alloys about town, and finally went to their barn, with only two wheels of the wagon attached. The great excitement was caused by
