J. G. MINES SEES OLD WORLD IN TEN WEEKS

Visits Well Known Cities Countries of Europe Progressively-Holland and Italy Her Extreme in Citizenship J. G. Mines who arrived home Friday from his trip to Europe, was absent ten weeks. He enjoyed a wealth of sight-seeing, and feels amply rewarded by the educational advantages gained by a tour of the old world. He went to Europe on the ship "Martha Washington," and returned on the "Olympic," which latter is in a class with the late fated "Titanic." He visited Italy, Switzerland, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, England, Scotland and Ireland. Mr. Mines says times are prosperous in the countries of Europe. He found crops good in Germany, Holland and France, but short in Italy on account of lack of rain, and light in England and Ireland on account of too much rain. He says if there is any difference in most prices, they are lower in Europe, though the quality is not as good there as here. He was impressed with the high standard of citizenship apparent in the cities of The Hague, Holland. The people were well dressed, but not ostentatious. They were courteous, but not obsequious. They were manly and of high moral rank, not disposed to impose on tourists. Cities generally of the north reflected a higher type of civilization, than those of the south. In Italy he found the other extreme. The tourist had to be constantly on the alert to avoid being fleeced. Dealers in Italy would almost without exception try to short-change the tourist, thinking he could be easily deceived by use of strange pieces of money. Mr. Mines says Italy is the only European country which does not give full value for one's money when he is ready to leave. He did not find automobiles as generally in use as in this country. In Paris machines were most numerous and of best types. He says automobiles travel sixty miles an hour in France. He could not see that government ownership of railroads diminished the quality of the service. One advantage in train service there-trains were always on time. Mr. Mines brought back with him an interesting collection of coins used as money in the countries he visited.

Word was received here that Mrs. Dan Harrington is erecting a fine bungalow on a residence lot which she purchased recently at Long Beach, Cal. Judge James Britton issued marriage licenses Monday to Mr. L. H. Dutcher and Miss Luella M. Pilger, and Mr. Otis Janke and Miss Anna Danberg. Miss Winifred Gantt of Sioux City, was an arrival in Wayne Tuesday evening to attend the State Normal. Miss Gantt is a niece of Mrs. M. S. Davies. Jacob Delaney who lives south of Wayne, bought eighty acres from P. P. Gaughen, near Allen, last week, for $125 per acre. The deal was made by Martin Ringer. Walter Hahn left yesterday for Lincoln to attend the state university. His sister, Miss Magdalene Hahn, left this morning for that place to enter the same institution. Miss Marguerite Chace of this place, and Miss Bess Horton of Stanton, leave next week for Washington, D. C., where both young ladies will enter Fairmount seminary for the year. Last Saturday, Martin Ringer, real estate agent, closed a deal for the sale of Chris Mans' quarter section land five miles south of Hoskins, to John Nelson of near Laurel. Henry Lessman and George Hofeldt went to Omaha Monday to market hogs. Each had a car load. Mr. Lessman received yesterday, while Mr. Hofeldt went to Gretna, Neb., to visit his brother. The home of S. W. Elder and wife in the north part of the city, is the scene of a happy reunion this week. The

AN ADVERTISING TRUTH.

What would you think of the housewife who would prepare a dinner for twenty guests and when the dinner was ready to serve happen to think that she had forgotten to invite the guests? This is a paradox case to the merchant who fails to advertise. He will spend much time and use great care in selecting and putting in order a stock of merchandise, only to sit down and wait for the people to invite themselves in to buy. Let us repeat—this is the day and age of going after business.—Harvard Reporter.

visitors are L. B. Wickersham of Des Moines, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Will Snodgrass of Emerson, Ia., P. J. Kelly of Ottumwa, Ia., and Chace Kelley of Laurel, Neb. Chris Wischoff who lives northeast of Wayne, arrived home Tuesday from his trip to Germany. He was gone three months, and had an interesting and enjoyable time. F. E. Moses loaded a car with household goods yesterday bound for southern California. Mr. Moses and family and father, Judge H. H. Moses, will leave for the coast next Tuesday. The Gayety theatre, Omaha, has made special effort for the entertainment of visitors during the Ak-Sar-Ben, and it will be one of the centers of enjoyment during the big festival week. A new stock of clothing has been received by Blair & Malloy, and improvements at the store will be completed, so that new lines can be shown to advantage in a few days. St. Louis-Globe-Democrat: "Corn this year is expected to come within 5,000,000 bushels of 2,000,000,000 which will beat the best previous record by 65,000,000 bushels. Potatoes, spring wheat, oats and rye will also pass the best former figures. Invitations have been issued announcing the approaching marriage of Frank Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wilson, of Wayne, to Miss Mary Herrie at the latter's home in Lexington, Mo., Wednesday, September 25. Miss Herrie is a sister of Mrs. William Melcher of Wayne. The Strahan heirs having objected to the report of the appraiser in assessing an inheritance tax, a hearing was held Tuesday in the county court, with the result that the objection was overruled and the tax assessed in accordance with the appraiser's report. Clifford Harbert and George Lagesky of Sholes were given a hearing in the county court last Friday, charged with the theft of some beer, and the result was that the defendants were acquitted. Emil Tietgen of Sholes, was the complaining witness. J. H. Kate, C. H. Bright, W. D. Redmond, W. H. McNeal, Sam Davies and Wilson Heister drove to Winside in an automobile Tuesday evening to attend a concert given by the Knights of Pythias in honor of Dr. A. B. Cherry who leaves there soon. In Idaho the women have joined hands to turn the men out of the offices of the state. The women have nominated candidates and propose to write in their support. The men have held the offices so long that the women believe it is their turn. "And if the men are divided into parties, the women will no doubt win. Bloomfield sent a big crowd of Wilson boosters to the Sioux City fair Tuesday when the distinguished candidate was to make his appearance there. The crowd was accompanied by the town's well known band, and the men were charged for the trip was docked with suspicious banners. Ninety tickets were bought at the Wayne station by people bound for

Sioux City Tuesday morning. The inter-state fair was the attraction, with Governor Woodrow Wilson, the democratic nominee for president, the special inducement to go there that day. On Tuesday morning of inter-state fair week a year ago 102 tickets to Sioux City were sold. In view of a presidential nominee being there, the crowd going Tuesday might reasonably have been expected to be larger, and no doubt would have been larger if the weather had not been threatening.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

German Evangelical Lutheran. (Rev. J. H. Karpenstein, Pastor) There will be services at 11 o'clock a. m. and Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Pastor) Mass. at 10:15 Sunday morning. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) Sunday school at the usual hour, 10 o'clock, and services at 11 a. m. C. E. meeting at 7 p. m., followed by services, beginning at 8.

First Methodist Church. (Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.) There will be no preaching next Sunday as the pastor is in attendance at the annual conference held at Madison this week.

Sunday school as usual. Epworth League at 8:45 p. m. The ladies of the Aid society held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. E. S. Blair this afternoon. This will be followed later by a supper in which the husbands of the ladies will join them. Mrs. O. O. Fisher, Mrs. W. H. McNeal and Mrs. O. B. Graves will assist Mrs. Blair in serving.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) Sunday morning at 10:45 the pastor will preach on the theme: "The Divine Challenge." The sermon will deal with the meaning of the word, and will be sent subject to all our members.

The Young People's society will meet at 8 p. m. The Ladies for Sunday will assist Mrs. Ina Hughes and Hazel Norton.

Our meetings are full of inspiration for all young people. After a song service by the chorus, under Professor Davies, the pastor will preach a short sermon at 8 p. m. The reception given by our young people's class to the students of the Normal was a most enjoyable affair. About 200 were present. We are glad to share all our church activities with the student body. Our annual fellowship meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. We desire that the gathering will represent our entire church. We want every member present. Reports of all departments of our church work will be given at this time. Every one who is interested in our church's welfare should be present on Tuesday evening. The ladies will serve ice-cream and cake instead of giving a supper. Members of the congregation are invited to the social meeting. The men's class, taught by Professor Lewis, has decided to take up studies in the social gospel. The coming lessons will deal with the general subject: "Crime and the Criminal." Visit the class once and you will want to become a permanent member. Our state convention committees are busy at work now. Let each of us assist them in any way we can.

SCHOOL NOTES. The high school orchestra will be organized next week. The work of all departments is now moving along very nicely. Ruth White and Nellie Jahnlin of the class of 1911 are teaching in Wayne county. Miss Tot Chapin of the class of 1911, was a high school visitor last Friday. Leslie Epler of the class of 1911, entered the university of Washington this week. A large number of the classes of 1911 and 1912 entered the Wayne State Normal this week. The Northeast Nebraska Teachers' association will meet at Emerson on Saturday, October 12, 1912. The Stanton high school foot ball team will play the Wayne team next Saturday on the Wayne field. Hazel Norton, Myra Bell, Bessie Lauman and Lavern Garwood, all of the class of 1912, are teaching in Wayne county. The enrollment in the high school has reached 108. This is probably the largest enrollment in the history of the high school. The foot ball team was disappointed last Saturday in that their opponents did not get here. The Lyons team was to have played here and when they found they could not get here by train, owing to the wreck at Blair, they started for Wayne in automobiles, but only a part of them got here. No one is to blame for the disappointment, as the Lyons fellows did the best they could to get here and not disappoint the Wayne team. The Nebraska State Teachers' association will meet in Omaha on November 6, 7 and 8, 1912. E. L. Rouse of Peru, is president of the association. Among the prominent speakers who will appear before the association are Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Hon. F. P. Clixton, United States commissioner of education; Dr. Frank M. McMurry of New York, Eugene Davenport of the university of Illinois, Charles H. Judd of the university of Chicago, and J. W. Crabtree, president of the normal school at River Falls, Wis. Mr. Bryan will give the chief address on Thursday evening, November 7. He made a study at first hand of education in most of the leading countries of the world. The executive committee considers this opportunity to hear Mr. Bryan the greatest opportunity that has come to Nebraska teachers.

TWO MEETINGS FOR ROOSEVELT. Lincoln correspondence in yesterday's Omaha Bee: While the national committee has given out that Colonel Roosevelt will make but one speech in the state, Chairman Corrick announces that arrangements will go on for two meetings, one in Lincoln at 8:30 in the evening on September 20, and the other at Lincoln the same afternoon at 4:35. Mr. Corrick also announces that the ball mouse candidate will speak at the following places from the train: Holdrege at 8:32 a. m., Hastings at 10:15, Fairmount at 11:45 and Crete at 12:47.

"Hush, my babe," the cross old Doc Wiley, as he walks the floor at night; surely I esteem you highly, and would further your delight; THE DOG'S FOOT, CARE YOU OF YOUR LULLABY stomach ache, but there is no dope for colic that is fit for you to take. Listen to your daddy chirp, and you'll soon improve. I want I can't give you soothing syrup that is loaded with morphine! Deadly dyes and acids bore, at school by drugs defiled, constitute the paragonic you are yelling for, my child. Cease, O cease your frenzied screaming! Parents in the bygone times doped their children, little dreaming that they thus committed crimes; infants always did kerfummled rattled parents when they roared, and those parents, in their stomachs, divers benefits of opium. We know better now, my darling, open our eyes, I hope, so you'd better quit your snarling, for I will not give you dope. If my baby's tummy's aching, it must ache until it quits; if in spasms he is shaking, he must throw his little fits. Trust to Nature—she will care for you, she that will bring you ease; and all I do, I do to assure you is more fierce than the disease. Therefore, petny, quit your shrieking; I have pains all up my back, and my wayrun knees are creaking, and I just stepped on a tack."

...when we used to hear, has been a blooming stranger for many a golden year. The artist once portrayed him THE HUSBANDMAN as one by sorrow seared; in sorrow rags arrayed him, quit birds' nests in his beard; he was a funny figure, and when he went to town was to borrow money to hold his mortgage down. And now the western farmer is quite a different thing, he is no longer so alarmed there are no flies on him. He comes to town adorning in gorgeous motor car; broiled linen he is wearing, he smokes a real cigar. His wife is amply laden with raiment fair to see; his daughter, blooming maid, just clanks with jewelry. And when he goes to the banker the old man hays in town; before the village banker no more he knuckles down. Gone are the ancient pathways that once adorned his shops when he's in town he always goes to the barber shop; weighed down with golden pieces, he meets the village banker, he wears the coat of a banker and feels at good talks. No more the huzzey's tramping his weary way up or at the poor farm "camping" another landmark gone!

"When I was young and full of vim I labored in my father's field, and I have heard it said by him that none a how could better THE DINNER yield; henceforth my horn thrived, tall grew the turpie and the corn; and when the noon-hour had arrived, my father blew the dinner horn. Talk of the music of the spheres and all the sounds inspiring me! They would have jarred upon my ears, had they come floating to me. I've heard great singers caracole through notes of joy and notes of sorrow, but nothing ever stirred my soul like father's old tin dinner horn. I've heard the noble organ play, and thought it heavenly—and grand—I've heard march, waltz, Virginia reel, performed by Sousa's bully band; I've heard the great Caruso trot out songs sublime as ever were hers, but nothing ever hit the spot like father's old tin dinner horn. A crack on music, I have said, and all o'er the world to hear the best; the masters of all lands have failed to give my yearning spirit rest. When on their instruments they pound or blow, or sing and furnish back reaches back to the sound of father's old tin dinner horn."

Ask me no more—the ice man just presented his season's bill, which jarred me to the soul; and now I'm totting, sad and discontented, to ASK ME fix a bin to hold the NO MORE lecture coal. The grocer says I'll simply have to settle the long, long bill I've run up at his store; the hardware man who sold me junk and metal, demands his pay. O friend, ask me no more! Ask me no more, the milkman, large and burly, is here for cash, and makes disturbing threats; the erstwhile gentle clothing man is snarly, and snarers at folks who fail to pay their debts. The butcher, who is rude in voice and manner, is violent and says he'll waste in gore; the blacksmith says he'll buff me with a spanner if I don't pay at once—ask me no more! Ask me no more—the folks who owe money keep owing it, and doubtless always will; they seem to think it rather smart to bring me when I bring my little bill. Thus wags the world, this vain old world and vicious; we'd like to pay, but can't collect the ore, and finally the bailiffs come and dish us, and levy on our goods—ask me no more!

FOR MORE EFFECTIVE ROAD IMPROVEMENT

A movement for better results in road improvement is being considered and pushed forward in all parts of the state. An association was organized in Wayne last spring, but it has accomplished little thus far, so the Herald learns. A representative of the state association in Wayne recently to secure the cooperation of the local organization. The purpose of the state association is to secure the revision of the road laws of Nebraska. Under present laws roads are not commensurate with the money expended. Much of such money is wasted. An effort is to be made to secure more efficient and more effective system can be established and followed.

In discussing this subject editorially, the Lincoln Trade Review has this to say: "For a number of years there has been talk without limit and resolutions unannounced, passed in this state on the good roads question, but in practical results, we have made no fixed and definite progress. The time has come to talk less and do more on the question of good roads in Nebraska. Marking routes of travel does not make new highways; these things stimulate local improvement in many instances, but on the general proposition of uniform good roads, lasting and permanent, we are getting ahead very slowly. The difficulty is that we have in this state, no right foundation to build upon. Our road laws are crude and totally inadequate. They are the laws of pioneer days, and do not fit present conditions in this state. One of the first things that ought to be done is to amend practically all the road laws in Nebraska. It is a matter of thousands of road overseers, each working individually with no common purpose in any locality and in every road district, a lurking opportunity for petty grafting. "Our bridge laws are little better; there is no uniformity in this line, and while these laws are better than the old highway laws, in so far as they are distinct and separate, there is room for great improvement in the methods of handling bridge construction in different counties. "The legislature ought to put the good roads question first on the calendar this year and then start right. There is a general belief by those who have studied the problem that a state constitution of highways ought to be created; then every county ought to have its engineer of highways so there would be a uniformity over centered supervision for permanent highway construction along right lines in the future. "The cumbersome method of old township organizations with every precinct having its little clerk, has almost died out in this state; one county clerk does the work of the county better than twenty precinct clerks. One engineer of highways would do infinitely better work than forty of fifty road overseers do. The construction of roads is an engineering proposition, and construction of roads requires both engineering and money. To bring together uniformly along lines of good engineering is fundamental in road construction. The amount of money that is wasted under present methods through thousands of road overseers, many incompetent, none working in harmony, can scarcely be appreciated. One dollar under a uniform system, under the supervision of one competent official for each county would go farther in good roads construction than $5 goes under present conditions. If each county is put under one official management in road work, and if this official management has a state engineer to see that the different counties work along the same lines; when an organization of this kind is perfected, then it will be easy to get money for road development. "State aid could be secured if it were known that the aid would not be worse than wasted. With a law providing for a half mill levy for road purposes on the part of the state, each county could be required to do a certain amount of work in order to get a certain amount of state aid, and in that way there would be means almost at once at hand to revolutionize the highways of Nebraska. The time has come for fixed and established principles in road construction and to wipe out the crude and inefficient existing laws that make a farce of road work in this state."

The Voice That Asks "Number?"

Those young women whose voices you hear calling "number" are important personages in telephone affairs. It is the operator who applies intelligence to a machine that never stops—the human element that acts unerringly to control the wires to summon the aid in times of disaster, to call the doctor in case of accident or to give assurance that dispels fear.

The human element of the telephone switch-board gives it the highest possible efficiency for increasing the joy of social life, for facilitating the activity of business affairs and for bringing help in case of need.

BRAGGED A BIT HIMSELF.

It Was About a Wonderful New Machine "showing the Mad Sea." "While I was running a bolt center at the Rock Island shops in Chicago," writes a contributor to Railway and Locomotive Engineering, "I boarded at a house much frequented by locomotive engineers and firemen. These men talked a great deal about their tremendous feats in getting over certain hills without the help of a second locomotive."

"My opposite neighbor at table, a young fellow who ran a lathe in the shop, grew tired of an monotonous bragging; he thought he was entitled to do a little talking himself. One evening he called out to me: "'Well, I went over and saw that new machine today, and it's astonishing the fine work it does.' "How does it work?" I inquired. "'Well,' said James, 'by means of a peculiar attachment called a lever, which converts the vertical reciprocating motion into a circular movement. The principal part of the machine is a huge disk that revolves in a vertical plane. Power is applied through the axis of the disk, and when the speed of the driving arbor is moderate the periphery of the apparatus is traveling at a high velocity. Friction is done at this periphery. Pieces of the hardest steel are by mere impact reduced to any shape the skillful operator desires.' "I was in the same line as this machine, anyway?" demanded Tom Briggs. "'Oh, it's a new grindstone,' replied James, and a sign that he was telling the truth better knife fell upon the crowd."

There are in the Book Monthly some "Memories of Mark Twain," chiefly in London, by his cousin, Katherine Clemens. One of the stories told is of a party with a visit the humorist paid to Mme. Tussaud's. While in the famous show he stood a long while in contemplation of an especially clever piece of artwork. He felt a sudden stab of pain in his side, and turning quickly found himself face to face with a "demonstrated" British matron with her arms outstretched toward him. "Oh, Lord, it's alive!" she exclaimed and beat a hasty retreat.

VISITS WELL KNOWN CITIES

Countries of Europe Prosperous—Holland and Italy Show Extremes in Citizenship.

J. G. Mines who arrived home Friday from his trip to Europe, was absent ten weeks. He enjoyed a wealth of sightseeing, and feels amply rewarded by the educational advantages gained by a tour of the old world.

Mr. Mines says times are prosperous in the countries of Europe. He found crops good in Germany, Holland and France, but short in Italy on account of lack of rain, and light in England and Ireland on account of too much rain.

He was impressed with the high standard of citizenship apparent in the city of The Hague, Holland. The people were well dressed, but not ostentatious. They were courteous, but not obsequious. They were mannerly and of high moral rank, not disposed to impose on tourists.

In Italy he found the other extreme. The tourist had to be constantly on the alert to avoid being fleeced. Dealers in Italy would almost without exception try to short-change the tourist, thinking he could be easily deceived by use of strange pieces of money.

Mr. Mines thought back with him an interesting collection of coins used as money in the countries he visited.

visitors are L. B. Wickersham of Des Moines, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Will Snodgrass of Emerson, Ia., P. J. Kelly of Ottumwa, Ia., and Chas. Kelley of Laurel, Neb.

Chris Wischoff who lives northeast of Wayne, arrived home Tuesday from his trip to Germany. He was gone three months, and had an interesting and enjoyable time.

W. E. Moses loaded a car with household goods yesterday bound for southern California. Mr. Moses and family and father, Judge H. H. Moses, will leave for the coast next Tuesday.

The Gayety theatre, Omaha, has made special effort for the entertainment of visitors during the Ek-Sar-Ben, and it will be one of the centers of enjoyment during the big festival week.

A new stock of clothing has been received by Blair & Mulloy, and improvements at the store will be completed, so that new lines can be shown to advantage in a few days. Call and see the latest and best styles. $1911

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Corn this year is expected to grow within 5,000,000 bushels of 3,000,000,000 which will be the best previous record by 68,000,000 bushels. Potatoes, spring wheat, flax and rye will also pass the best former figures.

Invitations have been issued announcing the approaching marriage of Frank Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilson, of Wayne, to Miss Mary Berrie at the latter's home in Lexington, Mo. Wednesday, September 25. Miss Berrie is a sister of Mrs. William Mellor of Wayne.

The Strahan heirs having objected to the report of the appraiser assessing an inheritance tax, a hearing was held Tuesday in the county court, with the result that the objection was overruled and the tax assessed in accordance with the appraiser's report.

Clifford Hubbert and George Lakosky of Sholes were given a hearing in the county court last Friday, charged with the theft of some beer, and the result was that the defendants were acquitted. Emil Tietgen of Sholes, was the complaining witness.

J. H. Kate, C. H. Bright, W. D. Redmond, W. H. McNeal, Sam Davies and Wilson Heister drove to Winside in an automobile Tuesday evening, and a banquet given by the Knights of Pythias in honor of Dr. A. B. Cherry who leaves there soon.

In Idaho the women have joined hands to turn the men out of the offices of the state. The women have nominated candidates and propose to vote in their support. The men have held the offices so long that the women believe it is their turn. And if the men are divided into parties, the women will no doubt win.

Bloomfield sent a big crowd of Wilson boosters to the Sioux City Fair Tuesday when the distinguished candidate was to make his appearance there. The crowd was accompanied by the owner's well known band, and the passenger coach chartered for the trip was decked with conspicuous banners.

Ninety tickets were bought at the Wayne station by people bound for

Sioux City Tuesday morning. The interstate fair was the attraction, with Governor Woodrow Wilson, the democratic nominee for president, the special inducement to go there that day. On Tuesday morning of inter-state fair went a year ago 102 tickets to Sioux City were sold. In view of a presidential nominee being there, the crowd going Tuesday night reasonably have been expected to be larger, and no doubt would have been larger if the weather had not been threatening.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

German Evangelical Lutheran. (Rev. J. H. Karamend, Pastor) There will be services at 11 o'clock a. m. and Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Pastor.) Mass at 10:15 Sunday morning. Sunday school at 3:30 p. m., and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corley, Pastor.) Sunday school at the usual hour, 10 o'clock, and services at 11 a. m. C. E. meeting at 7 p. m., followed by services, beginning at 8.

First Methodist Church. (Rev. William Corst, Pastor.) There will be no preaching next Sunday as the pastor is in attendance at the annual conference held at Madison.

Sunday school as usual. Epworth League at 8:45 p. m. The ladies of the Aid society held a business meeting at the home of Mrs. E. S. Blair this afternoon. This will be followed later by a supper in which the husbands of the ladies will join them.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) Sunday morning at 10:45 the pastor will preach on the theme: "The Divine Challenge." This sermon will deal with the coming year's work, and will be of interest to all our members.

The Young People's society will meet at 7 p. m. The leaders for Sunday will be Misses Eva Hughes and Hazel Norton.

Our meetings are full of inspiration for all young people. After a song service by the choros, under Professor Davies, the pastor will preach a short sermon at 8 p. m.

The reception given by our young people's class to the students of the Normal was a most enjoyable affair. About 200 were present. We are glad to share all our church activities with the student body.

Our annual fellowship meeting will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. We desire that the gathering will represent our entire church. We want every member present.

Reports of all departments of our church work will be given at this time. Every one who is interested in our church's welfare should be present on Tuesday evening.

The ladies will serve ice-cream and cake instead of giving a supper. Members of the congregation are invited to the social meeting.

The men's class, taught by Professor Lewis, has decided to take up studies in the social gospel. The coming lessons will deal with the general subject: "Crime and the Criminal." Visit the class once and you will want to become a permanent member.

Our state convention committees are busy at work now. Let each of us assist them in any way we can.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The high school orchestra will be organized next week. The work of all departments is now moving along very nicely.

Ruth White and Nellie Juhlin of the class of 1911 are teaching in Wayne county.

Miss Tot Chapin of the class of 1911, was a high school visitor last Friday.

Leslie Eppler of the class of 1911, entered the university of Washington this week.

A large number of the classes of 1911 and 1912 entered the Wayne State Normal this week.

The Northeast Nebraska Teachers' association will meet at Emerson on Saturday, October 19, 1912.

The Stanton high school foot ball team will play the Wayne team next Saturday on the Wayne field.

Hazel Norton, Myra Bell, Bessie Lauman and Laverne Garwood, all of the class of 1912, are teaching in Wayne county.

The enrollment in the high school has reached 108. This is probably the largest enrollment in the history of the high school.

The foot ball team was disappointed last Saturday in that their opponents did not get here. The Lyons team was to have played here and when they found they could not get here by train, owing to the wreck at Blair, they started for Wayne in automobiles, but only a part of them got here. No one is to blame for the disappointment, as the Lyons fellows did the best they could to get here and not disappoint the Wayne team.

The Nebraska State Teachers' association will meet in Omaha on November 7 and 8, 1912. E. L. Rouse of Peru, is president of the association.

Among the prominent speakers who will appear before the association are Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Hon. P. F. Claxton, United States commissioner of education; Dr. Frank M. McMurry of New York, Eugene Davenport of the University of Illinois, Charles H. Judd of the university of Chicago, and J. W. Crabtree, president of the normal school at River Falls, Wis.

Mr. Bryan will give the chief address on Thursday evening, November 7. He has made a study at first hand of education in most of the leading countries of the world.

The executive committee considers this opportunity to hear Mr. Bryan the greatest opportunity that has come to Nebraska teachers.

TWO MEETINGS FOR ROOSEVELT

Lincoln correspondence in yesterday's Omaha Bee: While the national committee has given out that Colonel Roosevelt will make but one speech in the state, Chairman Corrick announces that arrangements will go on for two meetings, one in Omaha at 6:10 in the evening on September 20, and the other at Lincoln the same afternoon at 1:25.

Mr. Corrick also announces that the bull moose candidate will speak at the following places from the train: Holdrege at 8:12 a. m., Hastings at 10:15, Fairmont at 11:45 and Crete at 12:47.

THE PRESIDENT SIGNED MOST WILLINGLY

The industrious orientation of the fishhook that President Taft threatened a veto of the bill was as a chief of plays of his opponents and worked some injury to his popularity, as his adversaries had planned. That there was no truth in this every senator, representative and other public man would have known if he cared to inquire. "Yet it was a good enough Morgan bill after the minutest of the minutest."

Now these same men are with equal industry and untruce circulating the report that President Taft signed the act of May 11 most unwillingly and was only coerced into it at the last moment. Nothing could be more untrue. There had been an overwhelming popular demand for additional pension legislation. The people were most earnest in their wish that the veterans who had served the nation should be properly cared for during the years that remained to them. The national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic had asked for such legislation. The remarkable fact of the endorsement of the Sulloway bill by the legislatures of twenty-seven states was an establishing development of a wide-spread feeling on the subject.

Could any president be expected to disregard such a manifestation? Certainly not William H. Taft, whose great heart has always appreciated the service of the veterans and who has ever been quickly responsive to the popular will. No one doubted at the beginning of congress that he intended to approve a pension bill. This knowledge had to be used with the utmost discretion, however. The presidential campaign was opening. There was a general expectation that the Democrats would make a strong effort to "put the president and the war in the hole" on the pension question. The fear was not allayed until within a few days of the act of May 11, when it required the greatest circumspection on the part of the president and his friends. But as soon as the act of May 11 began to take shape in the senate and months before actually passed there was no real doubt that the president would sign the bill which would be finally formulated.

At the invitation of senators I was a constant visitor to the capitol while the bill was going through its various stages. I was also made a means of communication with the members of the invalid pensions committee of the senate. With me went frequently Past Commander "The Iron Horse" King, less frequently Past Commander Slaybaugh of Potomac, Commander E. S. Godfrey, Arizona; Commander Granville C. Fiske, Massachusetts; Commander N. H. Kingman, South Dakota; Commander N. P. Kingsley, Pennsylvania; and other prominent congressmen. The comrades named felt no doubt of the result at least two months before the bill was signed. As we all know, President Taft put himself to great personal inconvenience in order to sign the bill and let it begin at once its beneficent to the veterans. The bill was not ready for his signature when he left for Princeton, N. J. He returned to the capitol at least two months before the bill was signed. He reached the White House a little before 11 p. m. Saturday, May 11, asked his signature seven minutes before midnight and had to leave Washington again the next day. Of these facts I was personally cognizant, as I was present when the bill was signed.

I fully concur in the foregoing. There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the president was opposed to the bill from the beginning. He was not. He was only asked to sign it when he was in the city and when the senators wanted to see and confer with him. We met Senators Crane, McCumber, Curtis, Smoot, Burnham and others of the president's closest friends and advisers. They were confident in their assurance that the president would sign the bill. The comrades named felt no doubt of the result at least two months before the bill was signed. As we all know, President Taft put himself to great personal inconvenience in order to sign the bill and let it begin at once its beneficent to the veterans. The bill was not ready for his signature when he left for Princeton, N. J. He returned to the capitol at least two months before the bill was signed. He reached the White House a little before 11 p. m. Saturday, May 11, asked his signature seven minutes before midnight and had to leave Washington again the next day. Of these facts I was personally cognizant, as I was present when the bill was signed.

Editor National Tribune. JOHN R. KING.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S SPLENDID RECORD

SOME OF THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION PRESENTED.

GREAT WORK HAS BEEN DONE

More Prosecutions of Trusts and More Social Reforms Secured Than Under Any Previous President.

"He has met every crisis that has arisen during his administration with firmness and resolution. The bluff and bluster of political enemies have not made him flinch an iota from his determination to do that which might be expected of the general welfare of all classes of people in this republic." Representative Kahn of California, in an address reviewing President Taft's Administration.

The record of President Taft's administration is one of splendid achievement.

His administration has broken all records for prosecutions brought against trusts and corporations. Without fear or favor it has brought to the bar of justice corporations and persons engaging in illegal combinations to restrain or reduce the volume of production of each commodity being to create a monopoly and to raise the price of its products. In two years and eleven months of his administration President Taft caused to be instituted twenty-two civil suits and forty criminal suits against illegal trusts. Roosevelt, in the seven years of his presidency, only instituted forty-four suits against illegal combinations.

Under President Taft's administration the great Sherman trust was unseated, resulting in the forced restitution of millions of dollars into the national treasury. These frauds, which were based upon the dishonesty of customs officials to dishonestly value imports of sugar, were in progress during the last administration, but were not detected until Taft became president.

Corporation Tax. President Taft suggested and secured the enactment of a law imposing a tax upon corporations. It adds $50,000,000 annually to the revenues of the government.

He advocated and approved the law establishing national reserve banks. These banks are now the depositories of many millions of dollars and afford to people of small means in remote localities an easy and safe method of accumulating their savings.

Under his direction there has been an investigation of the excessive and unfair charges of the express companies and a complete reorganization of rates ordered.

Railroads have been prevented from putting rate increases into effect without the approval of the interstate commerce commission. While this legislation was pending an effort was made by certain trunk lines to increase the rates on temporary injunction was immediately obtained by the attorney general and by agreement with the railroad presidents they did not put their increase into effect but waited for the enactment of the law. They then applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission, under the new law, to make the increase, but their application was denied by the commission. The railroads desired the president and his attorney general to grant them relief by protecting the rights of the shipper.

Other Reforms Accomplished. The white slave traffic has been vigorously and effectively attacked, and severe penalties have been meted out to those engaged in the nefarious business.

A bureau of mines has been established, so that attention has been given to the safety of the lives of miners. President Taft personally attended a demonstration of the methods employed to rescue miners and has since that time endeavored to give efficiency to this new bureau.

Another great social reform which President Taft advocated and which received his hearty approval was the enactment of a law increasing the regulation of child labor conditions by the government. President Taft selected a woman to manage the bureau which is conducting this work. It is thought there might be a sympathetic and thorough administration of the law.

Under President Taft's administration the Panama canal was completed ahead of time, without a taint of graft. President Taft has made several visits to the isthmus in order to see the work and to see that the work was being prosecuted honestly and vigorously.

An income tax amendment to the federal constitution has been submitted to the states and how jacks only the affirmative action of the legislatures of three or four additional states to become a part of the fundamental law of the land.

Tariff Revised Downward. The tariff has been revised downward. Under the Payne tariff, as approved by President Taft, the list of articles admitted duty free was increased, while the average rates of duty upon all dutiable articles was decreased. No American industry has been crippled and not one American

The Wilson Fall Frost. The free trade Evening Post publishes a lot of figures to show what would happen if all the states voted the same as Vermont in November. The result is a two-and-three-makes-five school-boy could tell the free trade Evening Post that if all the states should vote as Vermont in November, the result would be that Taft would have the whole electoral college.

It came early, but it came with a heavy frost, and it was not long before Parker and were both elected in August and buried under a snowstorm of ballots in November, and Wilson is hurrying to the same snow pile.

There appears to the conservative when the industrialists of the country of 1912 should not have the the reaction of William B. Taft.

WHERE THE CASH IS COMING FROM

Women Work at Night to Finance Roosevelt Campaign.

AWFUL FACTORY CONDITIONS

New York State Investigating Committee Found Pale, Worn Women Working in Twine Manufacturing Concern Owned by the International Harvester Company.

Awful conditions have been found by the state factory investigating committee of New York in the mills of the Osborne Twine company, No. 2, at Auburn, N. Y., owned by the International Harvester company, of which George W. Perkins, chief financial backer of Theodore Roosevelt in his scheme to ruin the Republican party, is a director.

"The appearance of the women workers in this plant," said a member of the committee, "was very disheartening. They were worn and pale and their clothes, faces and hands were covered with oil and hemp cloth. Many of these women, so called, are only children in age and they have to lug huge piles of hemp, weighing 150 pounds each, across the floor of the shed and in some cases being bigger than the women themselves. In the spinning room, where women are employed alone, to the exclusion of men, who would have to receive higher wages, the clatter of machinery is so frightful that a voice below a shriek cannot be heard. The rooms are dark, though for no necessary reason, and an attempt is made to remove the dust, which is kept in constant motion by the line shaftings despite the requirements of the law. This dust is breathed continuously by the women, many of whom complain of chronic coughs and colds. The dust and dirt are so thick upon the clothes of the girls that at the noon hour—which in many cases consists of but a few minutes—and at the close of the day's or night's labor, the girls have to sweep each other clean with brooms."

It is further stated that the custom of working the women all night is permanent, married women being selected for night work, their hours being from sundown until 6:30 o'clock in the morning. Of 400 women employed in the mills, 200 work all night.

When George W. Perkins was asked by a New York Times reporter for an explanation of the conditions in an establishment of which he is one of the directors, he made, in part, the following remarkable reply: "This night work has been rendered necessary largely because of the government's utterly unreasonable attitude toward large corporations, which has made it impossible for managers of large concerns to know whether they were on foot or horseback, whether they could afford their place to keep up with increasing demands or not."

The late Mark Twain in his brilliant moments never uttered anything more grimly humorous than the foregoing explanation by George W. Perkins of why the company of which he is a director is working women all night. The "brightest" of the night work, as disclosed by the New York state factory investigating committee. Meantime it ought to be of interest to millions of Republicans throughout the United States to know where the money comes from to finance Theodore Roosevelt in his campaign of "rule or ruin."

BOUGHT HIS SOCKS IN SCOTLAND.

Governor Wilson is a free trader and is so recognized by the rank and file of his party. The truth is emphasized a little by the fact that he buys his socks in Scotland.

His apparent indifference to the condition of American laborers may be due to his inability to get along without being obliged to eat bread in the sweat of his brow.

He has been extremely fortunate in this respect. His ostentatious has been deeply tinged with aristocracy during his entire career as an educator and diplomat in literature.

He has neither by personal acquaintance or observation acquainted himself with the actual struggles and needs of the ordinary wage earner. During the trying times that this country was under the blight of free trade in 1854, '95 and '96, Woodrow Wilson was enjoying a liberal income that was in no degree affected by the applicable conditions surrounding the laborers in this country.

Mr. Wilson is not to be commended for his good fortune. Once the contract was signed and disposed to congratulate him, but in self interest the less fortunate should protect themselves against the consequences of any tariff theories and policy, a trial of which has been given more than once with deplorable effect upon the industrial life of this country. Trenton, Georgia.

Dumas' Chicken on the String. Amusing reminiscences of the color Dumas' have been supplied by his cook, Mme. Colin. Dumas' most famous recipe was "poulet a la ficelle" (chicken on the string). The plucked bird is suspended by a string from the ceiling and marinated slowly before the fire. The flames, just touching it, brown it slowly. It took time, says the cook, but made a tasty dish.

"Dumas' lived a mighty piggyback life," said Mme. Colin. "He kept open house and always had at least fifteen people to dinner. But he lived from hand to mouth, and at times a wheat served as a substitute. After his reception he sometimes worked all night. Such a muddle displeased me especially. As his guests were hobnobbing, so—left after six months of it."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, October 10, 1884:

J. W. Agler and family arrive in Wakefield from Virginia. P. M. Strickland returns from a trip to the White River country. Frank Brossier's new house in Leslie precinct, is nearing completion. Charles Johnson, E. H. Emerson and H. E. Meyers go to Cedar county to hunt deer.

James Britton was nominated for district attorney by the republican judicial convention. Local market: Wheat 49 cents; corn, 25 cents; rye, 25 cents; oats, 15 cents; hogs, $3.90 to $4.20. The county commissioners changed the name of Blaine precinct to Breana precinct in honor of the only daughter of Judge H. H. Meese.

From the Wayne Herald, October 6, 1892:

Local market: Corn, 20 cents; wheat, 45 cents; oats, 20 cents; hogs, $4.65. J. M. Devine and W. A. Pointer addressed Wayne voters on political issues. Political feeling became so bitter at Hartington that public meetings were bombarded with spoiled eggs. J. Sterling Morton, democratic nominee for governor was the central figure in a democratic rally in Wayne.

From the Wayne Herald, October 2, 1902:

Henry Goll returns from his trip to the state of Washington. The foundation of the new brick building of Herman Milder is finished.

Mrs. A. A. Welch and M. S. Davies were called to Sioux City on account of the death of their brother, R. W. Davies.

The annual Methodist conference, Rev. Thomas Bithell was appointed presiding elder, and Rev. A. N. Davison was appointed pastor at Wayne.

Miss Etta Beckenauer completes her short-hand course in a business college at Sioux City and accepts a position in the law office of Wilbur B. Berry.

From the Ponca Journal, October 3, 1878:

Travel over the narrow gauge now days is pretty slim. There is much talk at Jackson about having the county seat removed to that place. We are informed that the town offers to build the county buildings and then to turn them to the county, as an inducement for such removal. Jackson is growing so rapidly that her being made the county seat is only a question of time.

At the republican state convention, held at Lincoln this week, the following nominations were made: Supreme judge, Amasa Cobb; congressman, long term, E. K. Yoder; short term, T. Majors; governor, Albinus Nance; secretary of state, S. J. Alexander; auditor, Leitidge; lieutenant governor, E. C. Carnes; treasurer, G. M. Barker; superintendent of public instruction, Thompson; attorney general, J. C. Dilworth; land commissioner, F. M. Davis.

The coal company is pushing the work of boring for coal energetically, and we hope soon to hear that coal in abundance has been found in Dixon county. Mr. Leach has the lumber on the ground for the derrick, which will be forty feet in height, the engine is in position, and all will soon be in readiness for lively work.

A runaway occurred on Tuesday. A three-horse team (the head animal was a mule, however, and a vicious one at that) were attached to an old-fashioned two-wheeled cart. On Fourth street the muleship became demoralized, the horses, ditto, and the whole outfit streaked it up the road, the cart hanging and chattering at their heels. No damage done.

From the Ponca Journal, October 7, 1880:

Within a few years Wayne will be one of the richest and most densely settled counties in northern Nebraska. When in Wayne county the other day, we saw a drove of sixteen deer. And it was not a very good day for deer, either.

Neither in Dixon nor Wayne county can an acre of marsh land be found. Every part, hill and valley can be cultivated, and in Wayne especially, the top of grass this year would feed tens of thousands of cattle.

Wayne county is soon to have a saw-town. It will be situated in the south Logan valley near the center of the county, and on the line of the railroad from Govington to Norfolk. The road will probably be completed this fall. The town will be a matter of course.

count the county seat of that county within a year or two, and will make one of the best towns in the state. It will be the best center for as magnificent a country as ever the sun shone on.

VERDI'S COOL CRITIC.

A Chap Who Liked to Eat His Cake and Still Have it.

When Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Aida" was first being presented to Italian audiences—the composer received the following letter, dated May, 1872, from a man residing in Reggio, a town near Parma, and about 100 miles from Milan:

"Much Honored Signor Verdi—The 23 of this month I went to Parma, drawn there by the cessation made by your opera 'Aida.' So great was my curiosity that one-half hour before the commencement of the piece I was already in my place. No. 120, I admitted to my seat. I heard with pleasure the excellent singers, and I did all in my power to let nothing escape me. At the end of the opera I asked myself if I was satisfied, and the answer was 'No'! I started back to Reggio, and listened in the railway carriage to the opinions given upon 'Aida.' Nearly all agreed in considering it a work of the first order.

I was then seized with the idea of hearing it again, and on the 4th I returned to Parma. I made unheard-of efforts to get a reserved seat. As the crowd was enormous I was obliged to throw away five lire in order to witness the performance with any comfort.

I arrived at the conclusion about it, that an opera in which there is absolutely nothing which causes any enthusiasm or excitement, and without the pomp of the spectacle the public would not stand it to the end. When it has filled the house two or three times it will be banished to the dust of the archives.

You can now, dear Signor Verdi, picture to yourself my regret in having spent—on two occasions—32 lire. Added to this the aggravating circumstances that I depend on my family, and that money troubles my soul like a faithful specter! I therefore frankly address myself to you in order that you may send me the amount. The account is as follows:

Lire. Railroad—going ..... 2.50 Return—returning ..... 2.50 Opera tickets ..... 6.00 Detestable supper at the station ..... 1.50

Twice ..... 15.00

" Hoping that you will deliver me from this embarrassment, I salute you from my heart. Bertani.

" P. S.—My address: Prospero Bertani, via San Domenico, No. 5."

Verdi happened to be more amused than offended at the cool impertinence of this amateur critic, and he instructed his publisher to forward Signor Bertani the sum demanded minus a lire. By way of justifying this deduction he wrote: "The sum is not quite so much as the gentleman demands, but I think you might have taken his supper at home."—Exchange.

How It Affected Him.

A young lawyer asked a veteran at the bar if a lawyer ever got used to losing cases.

"I can't say, sir," responded the veteran. "I really can't say; but, as for myself, I am very much in the same fix as the man from Osceola who had been defeated for office. He was telling me about it and in order to acquit himself of the charge of being a bad loser, he was instructing me that he was not complaining. 'It doesn't pay to complain,' I said, agreeing with him."

"No, sir, it doesn't," he exclaimed, and I won't complain, but at the same time I want you to understand, sir, that it makes me durned sick!"—Kansas City Journal.

Eiffel Tower's Changes.

That the Eiffel tower moves daily vertically and horizontally has long been beyond doubt. It may be seen in a gate straying from side to side. M. Guillaume has been investigating these movements and has given the results in a paper read before the Academy of Science. He finds that the great iron structure may vary from two to three centimeters in height every day. The elevation and depression are not equally distributed, as only one of its sides may be affected by the rise or fall of the temperature, and thus the tower may be compared to a person suffering his weight alternately from one foot to another. If a cloud covers the tower and hides the sun the temperature falls a few degrees and the tower diminishes, and when the sun shines again the rapidly rises a centimeter or two. But the bolts holding the frame together are affected only to an infinitesimal degree. Therefore there is no danger of any violent dislocation.—Exchange.

"Barber's Music."

Barbers in the old days might well charge heavily, for theirs must have been a nerve racking existence. Zithers were provided instead of newspapers, and customers used to strain on these while waiting for a vacant chair. Decker, writing early in the nineteenth century, refers to "a barber's cittern for every man to play on." The term "barber's music" was a common one in the days of Poppy, who on June 11, 1856, records, "A barber's cittern, or short called for the lieutenant's money, and with two candlesticks, with money in them for symbols, we was entertained with which my lord was very well pleased."—London Standard.

NEW HORSE DISEASE IN WAYNE COUNTY

SEVEN FATAL CASES REPORTED

Local Veterinarian Says Disease is Caused by Fungus Poisoning—Advises Dry Feeding.

The new horse disease which has spread in severest form in Kansas, which has broken out with deadly results in different parts of Nebraska...

The United States department of agriculture has issued, under date of September 17, the following article about the new disease.

Cause of the Disease.

During the last five months numerous reports have been received by the Bureau of Animal Industry relative to the existence of forage poisoning in various sections of the United States.

Salida, Kas., Sept. 16.—Six million dollars will not cover the loss caused by the horse plague in Kansas during the last month, according to estimates made by Dr. F. S. Schoenlester, head of the veterinary department, and Dr. E. H. Webster, director of the experiment station of the Kansas agricultural college, who have been visiting plague infected districts.

They say that in the western half of Kansas about a hundred horses have died of cerebro-spinal meningitis. This, they say, has made a direct loss of two million dollars in horses.

How Disease May be Recognized. The so-called cerebro-spinal meningitis of horses being an entirely different disease from that which occurs in man the symptoms as well as the cause are distinctly different.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 17.—Forage poisoning and not cerebro-spinal meningitis is the disease that has caused such an enormous loss of horses in Kansas. This is indicated by results obtained by the research laboratory of the Kansas university here.

The university specialists say that the symptoms of the disease are similar, but postmortem examination of the spinal fluids of the horses that have died from the plague fail to show evidence of meningitis.

Upland, Neb., Sept. 17.—The horse disease is still claiming regular victims in this vicinity. The wet weather, which it was hoped would check it, has apparently had no effect.

The traces from Holdrege that Dr. S. Palmer had discovered a cure in treat against a second attack, as horses and mules have been known to have the disease two or three times.

Prevention and Treatment. The first principle in the treatment of this disease consists in a total change of feed and forage.

At present this preventive treatment is the only satisfactory method known for checking the disease, as all medicinal remedies used have been ineffective in the vast majority of cases.

The first step is to empty the bowels and remove the poisonous products, but on account of the difficulty in swallowing, an aloes ball or Glauber's salt is hard to give.

anti-tetanic serum aroused great hopes here. On further investigation, however, it develops that Dr. Palmer did not use anti-tetanic or lockjaw serum, but he used Dr. Maggi's Specific for cholera, one course hypodermically every four hours until four courses were given, accompanying this with an injection of one gallon of water containing a handful of salt.

GOVERNOR WILSON AT INTERSTATE FAIR

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 17.—Governor Woodrow Wilson became a "good Indian" today, with the proviso, however, that he was not as a consequence "a dead Indian."

The democratic candidate was made a member of the Tribe of the Sioux, a national organization, and was presented with a diamond pin and publicly initiated before a crowd that thronged the auditorium here.

While the crowd cheered, the governor took the following pledge set before him by the Tribe of the Sioux:

"On the sacred-tomahawk-and-pipe I solemnly and sincerely promise and vow that henceforth and forever I shall endeavor to be a 'good Indian,' whether successful or unsuccessful in the quest of peace or any other game, and that no matter how exalted my station in life I shall neglect no opportunity to contribute to the welfare of the Tribe of the Sioux."

The governor made a brief response, declaring that he was embarrassed in accepting the pledge only in that he wished to waive the pledge that "he shall endeavor to be a 'good Indian,'" both with reference to himself and his fellow braves of Sioux City.

Objects to Experts. Firm support for Harvey W. Wiley in his controversy over the enforcement of the pure food laws of the country stood out prominently in Governor Wilson's speech.

The democratic candidate drew attention to what he considered to be the ineffectuality of boards of experts such as the board of chemists established under the administration of President Roosevelt. He used it as an illustration of his objection to a commission or board of experts to handle either the tariff or the trust problems of the day.

The governor had an immense audience at the fair grounds.

The nominee voiced for the first time his objection to the tariff board idea as contained in the republican as well as the progressive republican platforms, declaring it would mean "a postponement of tariff legislation."

Yesterday's Sioux City Journal makes the following editorial comment on the appearance of the democratic nominee:

"A glimpse of Governor Wilson in action clears the way for comprehension of the unshakable liking and loyalty of his Princeton following throughout the country. In personal appearance, the cartoonist to the contrary notwithstanding, the governor is prepossessing, and his smile, grossly libeled by his photographers, seems to have real fun back of it. It is not only genial, but infectious. As to dress, one finds the governor just like the rest of the fellows. In meeting the folks he presents a real handslike and seems to take interest.

In general, one gathers an impression of dignity, poise, kindness, sincerity and good fellowship. "On the platform" the governor of New Jersey and democratic candidate for the presidency is delightful, occupying a class pretty much by himself. His voice is clear and he handles it admirably for the utilization of its full carrying power.

Moreover, Governor Wilson is a real story teller, with the engaging quality of a good deal of the dramatic quality of the actor in helping the story in the way of telling. As a campaign orator perhaps his most commendable point in his ability to indicate earnestness without going through the form of getting excited.

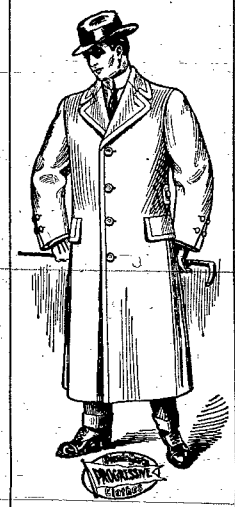

Writers playing the crowd last September, when one reads the affidavit from the

AK-SAR-BEN 1912 FESTIVITIES TO SURPASS ALL PREVIOUS EVENTS

Omaha Prepares Ten Days of Entertainment Activity for Thruog During Fall Festival Sept. 25 to Oct. 5.

FRONTIER DAY SHOW IS SPECIAL ATTRACTION

THAT his thousands of loyal subjects, who inhabit every part of the great commonwealth of Nebraska, may enjoy to the fullest extent the mysteries of the realm of Ak-Sar-Ben, King Samson, ruler of the kingdom, has planned and arranged for a series of fall festivities which will surpass even the most gorgeous of any of the eighteen years of his successful reign. These festivities will be held in those which characterize Ak-Sar-Ben in its every detail. Nebraska Proud of Ak-Sar-Ben.

The people of Nebraska, and that includes the people of Omaha, and justly proud of the achievements of Ak-Sar-Ben—proud because Ak-Sar-Ben has brought nothing new to the state that its people all love so well, is it any wonder that the good people of Nebraska congregate in Omaha for

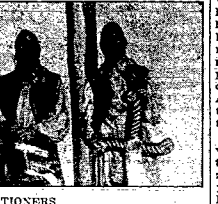

THE SULTAN AND ATTENDANTS.

Omaha, metropolis of the great state and the seat of the kingdom, beginning on Sept. 25 and ending on Oct. 5, providing ten full days of activity, featured by their uniqueness, and which will furnish entertainment for his faithful followers, who will gather from all parts of Nebraska, whence Ak-Sar-Ben gets his now famous name. Nebraska reversed spells Ak-Sar-Ben. Seek as far as you will and that is the only thing you will find backward in connection with this great organization, conceived and carried out by the business men of Omaha for the purpose of putting the great state of Nebraska to the front that it may take its rightful place among the commonwealths of the Union.

In the comparatively short though phenomenal career of Ak-Sar-Ben and his directors, many features, known for their originality, have been offered, but none that will compare with the reign of King Samson, the Eighteenth, whose year has been capped by the largest membership in the history of the organization.

Attendance Has Been General. In the six months of preliminary planning practically every city in the

THE EXCITATIONS.

The festivities will begin on Sept. 25. On that date the carnival gates will be thrown open to the multitudes who will flock to the center of the kingdom and for ten days there will be action every minute. The carnival grounds will be the scene of high class diversified entertainment, pleasure that will appeal to the most exacting. Myriads of highly colored electrical lights will add to the spectacular decorations when Ak-Sar-Ben breaks forth in all his glory on the evening of Sept. 25.

Frontier Day in All Its Glory. As a special attraction, the famous Cheyenne Frontier show, which proved a popular entertainment at the State Fair, has been secured for a series of afternoon entertainments, beginning on the afternoon of Sept. 25 and closing Oct. 5. At great expense, the Omaha baseball club grounds will be re-erected to make the show possible. Champion rough riders of the world, men who know no fear when it comes to handling the wild, unbroken horses of the plains, will appear for the first time this far east, cowboys, those delightful bits of feminine beauty, who have the courage to brave the ter- rors of the plains, will be prominent in entertainment; a band of fifty real Sioux Indians, headed by Chief Jack Red Cloud, lord of 1,600 Redskins, and the master horsemanship of the famous boys from the west for the first time. In the evening the Indians will offer a thorough Indian show at the carnival grounds, while in the morning a spectacular parade will wind its way through Omaha's streets. As special features, three parades have been scheduled, which a departure in Ak-Sar-Ben festivities. An automobile floral parade, in which more than one hundred beautiful decorated auto mobiles will be in line, will traverse the streets of Omaha on Tuesday, Oct. 2. Though Omaha automobiles will probably be in the majority, many machines have been entered from Nebraska cities, which will bestrewn the streets in the parade, as each prize will be given for the best decorated machine.

Electrical Parade a Hummer. The electrical parade, the outdoor feature, to which all endeavor is directed, will be held on Wednesday evening, Oct. 2. Twenty gorgeous floats, headed by the board of governors on horseback, the floats pulled by four beautiful specimens of horseflesh and carrying one hundred men will embody the highest ideas in float construction. The theme of the floats this year is "Gems and Flowers." On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 3, the dedication parade will be held. On this day the new $1,000,000 Woodmen of the World building will be dedicated. Eight thousand members of the organization will parade the streets, headed by the military of Fort Crockett and the High School cadets. The festivities will wind up Friday night with the annual Coronation ball. The music will be provided by a selection from the "Finest of Omaha's beautiful women. After this important function, Nebraska's flower of somnolence and merriment will trip the light fantastic until the wee small hours, in the beautifully decorated ballroom, and to the strains of sweet music which will float out over the mammoth ballroom from a hundred piece orchestra, concealed in a bower of roses. With the last strain, the Ak-Sar-Ben of 1912 will pass into history, only to rise war to a more glorious tactical reign in 1913 if possible.

The selection of the king and queen will demonstrate in no uncertain way the absolute democracy of the organization. Class distinction finds no place in the Ak-Sar-Ben realm. Its leaders are chosen from all stations in life, ability being recognized no matter what it is in this modern land of Quivera. E. V. PARRISH.

One Divided by a Half. If you ask the man in the street the simple question, What is one divided by a half? he will either reply that the operation is an impossible one or that the answer is a half. When you point out that one divided by two is a half he will see that there is something wrong somewhere, but will still be unable to give the right answer. When you tell him that the answer is two he will either accept the assertion without understanding it or will dispute it tooth and nail. If you attempt to convince him of his error you will find it is not at all an easy task. He mistakes a very distinct confounding of two distinct ideas—namely, one divided by two and one divided by two. One divided into two is one divided into two parts, each part containing a half. One divided by two is the ratio of one to two, or the number of times two is contained in one. To any one who has thought the matter out this seems clear enough, but to the man in the street it is sheer nonsense, and he, will tell you so.—Exchange.

ROOSEVELT WRONG AGAIN Makes Another Statement Which Is Absolutely False.

Colonel Roosevelt really has a great many things to his credit, and this makes it all the more strange that he should insist upon claiming credit to which he has no shadow of title. There is the pure food law for example. It is notorious that this was one of the measures in which he had but little interest. It is doubtful if he ever so much as mentioned the subject to any member of congress while the bill was pending, and it is entirely certain that it would have passed, even if he had actively opposed it, so nearly unanimous was the sentiment in congress in favor of it. And yet in a recent letter to a man in Kansas Colonel Roosevelt said that "the pure food and drug bill became a law purely because of the very active part I took in getting it through congress," and adding that other gentlemen such as Mr. Wiley had vainly urged the bill he used men like Mr. Garfield, then secretary of the Interior, and got it through. But the truth is that Mr. Garfield was not appointed secretary of the interior until six months after the bill was passed. If it were somebody else who had set up so wholly unfounded a claim and had made so manifest a mistake, it is not surprising that one should imagine how promptly the Colonel would have nominated him for membership in his famous club?

PLAN FOR POSTAL DELIVERY.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Postmaster General Hitchcock is preparing to establish a limited free delivery service at postoffices of the second and third classes. The experiments will affect deliveries to nearly 300,000 persons now obliged to call at the local post offices for their mail.

An appropriation of $100,000 was made by congress for experimental free delivery in small communities, the amount to be expended at any one office not to exceed $1,800 a year. Delivery by carrier is confined now to cities having a population of 1,000 or more or annual postal receipts of at least $1,000.

EARLY SELECTION OF SEED CORN Professor Pugsley Says It Will Greatly Increase Yield.

SUMS UP SITUATION IN STATE

By C. W. Pugsley, Director of the Farm Extension Department, State University. Nebraska was brought face to face with the necessity of a 'Seed Corn Selection Week' when the governor of Nebraska issued a proclamation setting 'Seed Corn Selection Week' for Oct. 6-8 as 'Seed Corn Selection Week'. A seed corn shortage this spring was due to the hard frosts before the corn was dried out. As a result of available seed was used for the 1912 planting. We have no surplus seed on hand.

Reports from all sections of the state show that the corn crop is when you can get it. It is not as good as it should be. It is not as early as it should be. It is not as hard as it should be. It is not as clean as it should be. It is not as well as it should be. It is not as good as it should be. It is not as early as it should be. It is not as hard as it should be. It is not as clean as it should be. It is not as well as it should be. It is not as good as it should be. It is not as early as it should be. It is not as hard as it should be. It is not as clean as it should be. It is not as well as it should be.

Why It Is Necessary. A seed corn selection week is necessary because the corn is from one to three weeks late because it may get frozen and the germs killed; and because there is no surplus seed in the fields. Every selection point is in favor of an early selection.

The custom in Nebraska has been to select seed corn either from the crib or hastily from the field while "smoking". These practices oftentimes give satisfactory results. However, as the corn is selected from the crib, the seed is not as clean as it should be. The custom in Nebraska has been to select seed corn either from the crib or hastily from the field while "smoking". These practices oftentimes give satisfactory results. However, as the corn is selected from the crib, the seed is not as clean as it should be.

Seed corn selection, as one husk, has one great advantage over crib selection—the corn does not suffer the damage to germinative power, which results from storing in quantities. However, in both methods, the corn is stored on the stalks a month or more longer than they should be. Special early selection avoids all the objections urged against the crib and husking methods and gives a special opportunity to get good stalks, which produce good ears under ordinary field conditions. At this time the position of the ear, the ripening habit and the husk are not attached to the stalk, which get its dry well ripened before the frosts.

Corn Must Dry Early. Early picked corn can most profitably be dried in the crib. It should be dried for at least 10 days for as much as a few hours the growth of mold is liable to start. The ears should be separated as soon as they are dry. Some farmers use the "corn treacher" for drying, while others use the "saw" method. The latter is simple and popular. For ten to twelve ears about twelve feet of linden twine is sufficient. The ends of the string are tied together forming a sort of a hamock. The corn is then inserted on the manipulator winds the string in and around the ears. Either this or the "corn treacher" method, which consists of putting the ears on a string of twine, is a sort of upright, will serve to separate the ears.

The seed corn situation may be summed up thus: Pick your seed corn before heavy frosts. Select seed corn from strong, non-diseased stalks. Dry the seed corn in the crib and as early as possible. Avoid selecting seed corn from spots in which the stand is thin or condition is poor. After husking the corn, hang it once in a dry, airy place, where it will dry quickly without heating or molding. Extension Bulletin has been prepared by the state experiment station on the selection and proper care of seed corn. It contains suggestions for the early selection and the proper curing of the corn after selection. It is shown as Extension Bulletin No. 9, and will be sent free of cost from the Nebraska Experiment Station, directed by the Publicity Bureau of the Commercial club of Omaha.

To get one of these you have to do it to apply to each of the following conditions. DUNNAN & McVICKER, Plaintiffs. Dated this 27th day of August, 1912.

NO REASON FOR IT. Why Wayne Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Wayne citizen says:

Mrs. Ira Hodson, Wayne, Neb., says: "I was once one of those who were afflicted by kidney trouble. I had been afflicted for several weeks by an attack of LaGrigge and on recovering found that my kidneys were badly disordered. I suffered intensely from sharp, darting pains across the small of my back and there was much lameness through my joints. I did not rest well and could not sleep. I was advised to consult a doctor. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills a few days I felt better, and in about three weeks all symptoms of my trouble disappeared. There has never been a return attack."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. agents for the United States. Remember the name—DOAN'S—and take no other. Antoine Delcra, postmaster at Garden, Mich., knows the exact facts when he speaks of the curative value of Dr. Pugsley's Pills. He says: "From my long experience in examining Dr. Pugsley's Pills as a great remedy for kidney trouble, as my father was cured of kidney disease and a good many of my neighbors were cured by Dr. Pugsley's Pills." Harness and Collar Talk

THE ONLY HARNESS THAT WILL GIVE ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION IS ONE SEWN BY HAND : : : the old-fashioned way and made of pure oak-tanned leather tanned by PURE CHESTNUT OAK BARK. Such harness wears longer than any two sets made by a machine. Likewise collars. My collars are manufactured from the best pure oak-tanned leather and sewed with pure oak-tanned thong. As a result the sewing does not give away and it does not become necessary for you to have them repaired after a few months' service. The only place to purchase harness and leather goods of this high merit is
