We believe that a great big majority of shoppers are good judges of merchandise.

We believe that nine-tenths of the shoppers think of the merchandise first and the price afterward.

There is a distinction between price and value, as most of the shoppers know, and so they refuse to be governed by price alone.

We believe that our business has grown because we take it for granted that our customers are good judges of merchandise.

Every Favorite Base Burner is fitted air-tight. The doors, registers and frames are milled and planed by machinery just like wood is planed, until each part fits into its proper place as closely and tightly as the meat in an egg.

There is no guess work about this fitting. It has to be right. Every Favorite is carefully inspected before it leaves the factory, and a Base Burner that isn't air-tight does not go out.

The FAVORITE BASE BURNER has three flues which are built separate from the back of the stove and from each other, giving double the radiating surface of any other Base Burner.

That means the same amount of coal in a favorite will give twice the heat that another Base Burner will.

You want a FAVORITE. We have a complete line.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Mrs. Hees, Mrs. Karpentstein, Mrs. Corzine and Miss Wilson were recent visitors.

The ninth grade will give a brief rhetorical program tomorrow morning.

Last Friday morning the high school students and teachers enjoyed a visit to the State Normal and took charge of the chapel exercises. The following program was given by the high school students: Duet by Hays Main with the cornet and Ralph Bohmert with the clarinet; "The High School," by Everett Raymond; solo by Margery Kell; song by Ida Houghter, music by the ninth grade girls' quartet, Edith White; Frances Oman, Rachel Gorst and Lizzie Parry; song by the high school.

Frank Stoddon, member of the senior class and captain of the football team, is seriously ill at a Sioux City hospital.

The entire high school is gripped over Frank's serious illness, and all hope for him is speedily recovery. Frank is a gentlemanly fellow who always makes good. He is highly esteemed by his teachers and fellow students and his absence is keenly felt by all.

Venus Ruhlau entered high school on Wednesday morning.

The Wayne-Bancroft Game.

The foot ball game between the Wayne and Bancroft high school teams last Saturday resulted in another decisive victory for the Wayne team by a 42-to-0 score. The Wayne team anticipated a hard game, but it was evident from the start that the Bancroft team lacked training and generalship. Captain Stoddon's absence was keenly felt by Wayne, but the high school team was victorious. The game was played by the students, but Mrs. Olson, George S. Karpentstein, and other made good at guard and the line proved a strong wall against Bancroft. In less than five minutes after the game was called the Wayne boys made their first touchdown, and this was followed by other touchdowns almost at will throughout the game until 42 scores were piled up. Of the six touchdowns, Leahy made three and Marsteller three. Each touchdown was followed with a goal by Marsteller. The Bancroft boys did not make their down more than two or three times during the entire game. The Wayne boys failed to make their down only once or twice during the entire game. The Wayne team was outplayed by the opponents. Of a great many attempts Wayne completed three forward passes. Bancroft completed none. The following was Wayne's lineup: center, Misses guards, Lovar and Moran; tackles, Ash and Munsinger; ends, Duerig and Gossard; quarter, Noske; full-back, Leahy; half-back, Marsteller and Jones; bush, Hoguewood and Sears. Officials: Professor Huntermer, referee, later umpire; Crees, line-man; Welch, Robinson, time-keepers.

CONCERNING SHAKESPEARE.

Shakespeare who delighted Abraham Lincoln and inspired Edwin Booth—Shakespeare about whose Hamlet more books have been written than about any historical figure that ever lived—Shakespeare, the greatest literary heritage of the English-speaking world—Shakespeare, who occupies a throne apart in the ideal and immortal kingdom of supreme creative art, public opinion, and dramatic truth—Shakespeare you must have. Fashions of the stage change; plays come and go; Shakespeare abides; and Hamlet is the Gibraltar which stands the ebb and flow of the change of time. If you KNOW Hamlet you are a third degree Shakespearean; you have traversed the inner chamber; the grip of the master is yours. You have a knowledge of the world; to see Hamlet acted is to broaden that knowledge. Hamlet will be acted at Wayne opera house on Saturday evening, October 26.

STATE NORMAL NEWS.

Coch Martin went to Sioux City Saturday to witness the football game between the Kearney Normal and Morningstar. Coach Martin has contracted to teach a rural school near Elgin, and began work last Monday morning.

The Philo literary society will give its next public program in the chapel on Friday evening, November 1.

Miss Carrie O. Wiley, a member of the Junior class, has accepted a position as teacher in a rural school, but expects to return later for the completion of her work.

Mr. Carl E. Hollenbeck has enrolled for review work in the commercial department. Mr. Hollenbeck is a graduate of the Omaha commercial college.

Dr. J. H. Brakemeyer, Professor Britell addressed a meeting of the Farmers' club at Sholes on last Friday evening.

The young ladies of the school are to be congratulated upon the interest shown in the work of the Y. W. C. A. this year. In the convention held at Vermillion the Wayne Normal ranked fourth in the number of delegates in attendance.

Mr. W. H. James, secretary of the board of education at Carroll, speaks in the "highest terms of the work of Miss Alvina H. Meyer who is principal of the high school at that place. Miss Meyer will be mentioned as a student in the Normal summer term of 1911 and 1912 and we are pleased to learn of her success.

The Normal first team will play the return game of foot ball with Gates Academy at Neligh next Saturday afternoon. The Normal second team will meet the Wakefield high school on our own grounds on the afternoon of October 26.

Faculty and students greatly regret the injury received by Miss Cella Gilderleeve last Saturday evening. Miss Gilderleeve is a member of the senior class, exceedingly popular with teachers and classmates, who unite in wishing her a speedy recovery and assure her the most cordial welcome when she returns to school.

The members of the local association who attended the Y. W. C. A. convention at Vermillion, S. D., returned to Wayne Monday morning and report a very interesting and helpful meeting.

The Normal was represented by Hazel P. Rand, Gertrude Butzer, Edna Chambers, Kate Adams, Mary Trevoet and Lillian Brachman, students, and Miss Olive McBeth, and Miss Lillian Jewell, members of the faculty.

Last Sunday afternoon a union meeting of the church associations was held in the chapel. Mrs. Mattie A. Phillips gave a most excellent talk to the young people, choosing as her subject, "The Spirit of Restlessness." Special music was furnished by the Baptist male quartet and a solo was sung by E. R. Rogers, president of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Bertha B. Preston, president of the Y. W. C. A., presided at the meeting.

The following dispatch to the Sioux City Journal tells the story of last Friday's game with Wisner: "Battered down by the continuous line plunges of the Wisner team, the State Normal received its second defeat of the season, 13 to 0. Outwiggered in every position by men experienced in the game and handicapped by heavy work the Normal fought desperately every inch of ground. Three times during the game they held the Wisner team within four yards of the goal line. With the victory of Gates Academy last Saturday 22 to 0, the Normal does not feel outclassed by any school team, and on the 28th will play at Kearney against the Normal team."

No event in the school year was more appreciated by students and members of the faculty than was the visit of the high school last Friday morning. Promptly at 8:30 the entire membership of the high school department, led by Superintendent Kemp and his corps of teachers, marched into the chapel. Representatives from the different classes took their places on the platform and an excellent literary and musical program was given.

Superintendent Kemp presided and Mrs. Mattie A. Phillips conducted the devotional exercises. In his opening remarks Mr. Kemp called attention to the friendly relations existing between the Normal and the high school, and expressed his pleasure in the number now found at the Normal who were students of the public schools last year. The special numbers on the program consisted of a vocal solo by Margery Kohl, essay by Everett Ray, recited by Helen B. Hays and won a Main and Ralph Bohnet, reading by Ina Hughes, and a selection by the high school quartet, Edith White, Frances Oman, Rachel Gorst and Elizabeth Farry. The Normal is greatly indebted to the high school for this visit. Habareus with Superintendent Kemp E. (St. William Keane, Pastor.) Mass in Wayne at 8:30 Sunday morning and at Carroll at 11:30. Sunday school at 8:30 and benediction 7:30 in the evening.

First Methodist Church.

(Rev. William Gorst, Pastor.) Evangelist Frank E. Lingenfer of Chicago, will begin his union evangelistic campaign in Wayne on Sunday, November 17, and it is expected that the meetings will continue up to Sunday, December 8.

The monthly official board meeting on Monday evening was well attended and was a very enjoyable service. Several new members among others were received. This being the first meeting of the current conference year, reports were made showing that all the local current expenses for last year had been paid or fully provided for in cash and that the year closes with a small balance in the treasury. Our apportionment plan of finance is gaining in efficiency and popularity, and was adopted for another year. Dr. Blair was elected secretary of the board and J. E. Marsteller treasurer. Committees on improvement of property, purchase of coal, and finance were appointed.

Next Sunday is "Tuberculosis day" throughout the United States and the pastor will speak in that interest in the morning and in the evening. "The City Which hath Foundations." This young people meet in Epworth League at 8:30. Mr. Jacobsen is the leader.

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) The communion service will be observed next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock. The ordinance of infant baptism will also be administered. The subject of the communion address will be, "The Cup of Blessing." In the evening the subject of the sermon by the pastor will be "The Presbyterian Church and the Negro."

The Sunday school begins at 10 a. m. and the preaching service at 11. The Junior meet at 3 o'clock and the G. E. meeting at 6:30. The evening service of worship begins at 7:30.

On Wednesday evening of next week the pastor will give a review of the meeting of Synod which has just been held at Hastings. Matters of much importance were discussed, and the general state of the church in Nebraska was investigated. A number of prominent men in religious work addressed the meetings, including Dr. Fox of New York, Dr. Richard of Iowa, who has recently completed a voyage around the world, and M. B. McNutt, the specialist on country life and the church.

Rev. H. G. McCuskey of Laurel, addressed the congregation on Wednesday evening on the subject, "Come and See—Go and Tell." This service was preparatory to the communion service of the Sabbath.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. B. Richardson, Pastor.) We were delighted to feel the inspiration of the convention in our meetings on Sunday. The influence of the splendid sessions still abides upon the church.

We desire to thank most heartily those who helped to entertain our guests. Never before the delegates had so few, were they more royally entertained and they had highest words of praise for the reception given them by the people of Wayne. Altogether we feel like it was a great convention, both in the spirit of fellowship and earnestness manifested and in the character of the program given.

Our church life seems quickened in every way and department as a result of the convention, and we are planning to put some of the many suggestions into practical work soon.

We appreciate very highly the splendid reports given through our local papers, of the meetings. They served us in a noble way and won a high place in the minds of many of our visitors.

The pastor will preach Sunday morning at 10:45 on the subject, "The Balanced Believer."

Tomorrow (Friday) at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, is the anniversary of the death of Mrs. John Bohmet and the pastor will read the eulogy.

The pastor will preach Sunday evening at 7:30 on the subject, "The subject to be studied is "Japan." At 7:30 p. m. the pastor will preach. We extend a cordial welcome to strangers in the city.

Big Ben

the busy farmer's friend

Big Ben is for the farmer who wants the advice of old Ben Franklin "Plow deep walk slugsards sleep."

He's for the farms whose owners want big yields.

He's for the hard-to-get-up farm hands. It's up to him to get them in the fields on time.

He keeps watch time. He's reliable and handsome. He's sturdy, well set and long lived.

Be first in the fields every morning. Get the farm hands out first and easy. Depend on Big Ben.

He'll live more than earn his wages the first month you employ him.

Wayne County Teacher

Reproduced from the Wayne County Teacher

"How poor are they that have not patience!"—Shakespeare.

Experience may send a teacher either up or down in her profession.

Difficulties are opportunities in disguise.

Common sense is doing things as they ought to be done.

The excuses we make for our mistakes are often as flimsy as that made by the Sueded whom Chatter in her tale told about. This Sueded was riding in a street car hanging on to a strap, when suddenly the strap broke and the Sueded found himself squarely in the lap of a lady, across the aisle. Grabbing himself together as best he could he said "Excuse me, madam, but my ancestors were all Lamlanders."

Unscrupulous Agents in Neighboring Counties

The state superintendent in a recent letter says "Several county superintendents have recently called our attention to certain unscrupulous book agents now abroad in the state, who enter the school houses and take the time which properly belongs to the children, soliciting the purchase of books.

This office is opposed to giving agents any time during school hours and recommends that the county superintendents use their influence in checking any such system of solicitation. I also caution you to keep on the guard so that your teachers may be notified, in case the salesmen of your county.

A general letter at once from you to the teachers of your county, in regard to this matter will place your teachers on their guard."

C. A. Randall, Chief Deputy Fire Commissioner, in his letter dated October 1st, says:

"I desire that you require all the teachers under your supervision to practice the fire drill at least TWICE a month. I wish you would call the attention of the school boards to the necessity of a careful examination of the stoves, stoves-pipes and fire apparatus and chimneys in their schools.

I desire to call your attention to, and that is the practice in some districts of storing old books, examination papers and other rubbish of an inflammable nature in the cement, concrete and cinder blocks. This is a dangerous practice as spontaneous combustion is liable to cause a fire and destroy the school building and everything in it, and should it break out during the time, school is in session it might cause the loss of life."

Getting School Grounds Cleaned

A unique plan for ridding the school ground of rubbish was carried out in the Hoskins district recently.

The pupils were to gather boards, sticks, paper and rocks, counting three for boards, two for sticks and paper and one for rocks and place them in a certain place keeping count of their own score. The contest lasted fifteen minutes and at the end of that time the four having the highest score were to receive a prize, the prize being the privilege of leaving school at half past three to gather autumn leaves for the school room.

The school ground shows a marked improvement and all enjoyed the diversion.

have had no work in phonics, they should be given that work at the first opportunity. One cannot use the dictionary without a knowledge of phonics.

Eight grade pupils who have grades in any subject above 80 per cent from a former county examination need not take such subjects at the examination in the spring.

Which is better, to have a lesson only half as long and all prepared or to have a long lesson and only half of it mastered? Some teachers are satisfied if the pupils are doing but sixty per cent of the work if they seem to be covering pages in the book rapidly.

The longer you remain in your profession the more you will notice what a difference getting acquainted with parents and pupil makes in your work.

Salt and Flour Maps for Modeling in Geography

The preparation for making these maps is one third of flour and two thirds of salt mixed with water to a working consistency. The maps should be mounted on a board as the stiffest kind of paste board will erode when the damp mixture is placed upon it.

Of General Interest

Last spring the pupils of the eighth grade were asked to name the state superintendent with the result that almost every body from Roosevelt down to your humble servant was named as holding that office.

Why not have Mr. Dezell's picture in every school room so that the children will learn to know their state superintendent?

The school board in number 3 deserve credit for the splendid condition in which they place their school room each fall. Whether the fact that the teacher finds everything beautifully clean when she begins work in the fall has any effect upon her keeping it so or not, it is a fact that we have never visited this school but what we have found things neat and orderly. Charles Barnhart is director. Miss Dorothy Green, Miss Rogers' father and mother at the same school forty years ago, is the teacher.

A new cement porch adds much to the appearance of the school house in district No. 77.

Thirty-five pupils are enrolled in district No. 62. This is the largest enrollment for the county. Miss Ethel Woods is teaching her second year in the district.

Play apparatus including volley ball, turning bars, swings, etc., have been placed in the gymnasium at Sholes. Mr. Brake-meier, the principle, has organized a farmers' club that meets every two weeks to discuss matters of interest to the members.

A teacher who tries to do several things at the same time, for instance, hear a class recite, pronounce words for their seats and help the primary folks with their busy work, seldom saves time. We saw a teacher trying to economize time in this way with the result that almost every pupil in one class was asked to repeat by recitation or some portion of it because the teacher had lost the drift of it. In another class where the pupil was not asked to repeat there were several mistakes made that were unnoticed by the teacher and so were not corrected. Through all the recitations there was a spirit of listlessness and a lack of interest.

One thing at a time BONE WELL is the best way to economize time.

Sixty-five teachers from Wayne County attended the Emerson teachers' meeting. A larger number than usual have said that they will attend the state meeting if they can get the time.

J. M. Matsen, superintendent of Dodge County, makes these very good suggestions to his teachers concerning opening exercises: "Most teachers open school by singing which is very good indeed. Some, however, do not use any effort to make the opening pleasant and attractive. These exercises are important, and should be carefully planned, and thus made the most interesting work of the day. The following is given as suggestive for a week:

Monday morning—Song, followed by quotations from selected authors.

Tuesday morning—Song, followed by select reading or lesson in music.

Thursday morning—Song, followed by quotations from selected authors.

Friday morning—Song, followed by a lesson on Moral, the Matsens.

Suggestions To Teachers

Pupils in the seventh and eighth grade should keep note books in pen and ink for some of their subjects. These should be carefully arranged in a permanent note book and should be properly paraphrased

Teaching Penmanship
From Wayne County Teacher, April 1912

Teachers will never succeed in making good penmen of their pupils who follow the plan of "lay away the books and take your pens and paper" three periods of ten minutes each a week and during the remaining twenty-nine hours and thirty minutes allow the pupils to scribble and scratch to their heart's content. Why should a pupil who can recite glibly "every sentence should begin with a capital letter" fail to use ONE on a whole sheet of written work? He must be like the boy who prided himself on his knowledge of conjugations and declensions in grammar, and who said with evident astonishment when his attention was called to the relation between grammar and his speech: "Grammar don't have nothing to do with me talking; I talk just as I'm a mind to."

Jeffries Shoe Company

My bosom will no more be read- ed by goose egg and the like. END OF THE SEASON I'll clean the stove of soot and clinker and keep my mind on what I'm at, not be guessing what Joe Tucker will do when he comes up to bat. I'll sweat my harp to beat Alf Austin and put up soups till you can't rest, nor waste time wondering whether Boston will knock the giants galley west. Now I can carry down old Dobbin and fill him with nutritious hay nor care if umpires be a robbing' the home team in the good old way. I've fooled around for months together, neglecting all my household chores, and all I cared about was whether this team or that had higher scores. I've stood around and talked of pitchers who seem like jugglers on the mound, while plowmen, gardeners and ditchers were doing things that really count. I've talked of catfish and punch litters, of sacrifices, slides and bunts, while other thirsty human critters were doing sane and useful stunts. And now dislodged are the forces of base ball, laid aside the bats; and I can no longer herd my horses, and shear my cows and herd my cats.

The doe has been poking my ribs till they're barked: "You'll have to quit smoking," he sternly remarked. "Your heart is a thumping like PIERCE surf in a storm; and it REMEDIES will quit pumping if you don't reform. You must, on my honor, cut out the cheroot, or you'll be a goner, you dippy galoot." The learned doctor's orders I couldn't obey, and over the borders of madness I stray. I'm filled with a yearning for spinach on fire; to keep a pipe burning is all I desire. My nerves in a jangle I can't write, a rhyme; I just fume and wrangle and cuss all the time. I shy at my labor, my mind's gone in a fog; I scarp with my neighbor and call him a hog. For I fear great Havana I sigh and I pant; I bust the piano and broach my aut. So bring me my briar that gives me delight! The doe can go higher than Gilderoy's kite! So long as I'm smoking his threats are a joke; I'd rather be croaking en- cased in smoke than be an old fogey of two hundred years, deprived of the stogie that comforts and cheers! That life is a treasure no one will deny; but sometimes the pleasure of living's too high.

The scarecrow, all swelled up with pride, was boasting of its worth. "I do more—good each day," it sighed, "than any man on earth. I guard the SCARECROW granter's corn and wheat from hungry birds of prey; they come the whole blamed crop to eat, see me, and fly away. I stood out here in rain and sun, all soaked in honest sweat, and though my work is never done, small credit do I get. I wildly wave my wooden arms, and kick my jointless shanks—to chase the buzzards from the farms, and no one gives me thanks. If I should loaf around in town and thus neglect my trust, the flouring mills would all close down, the bakeries would fail; you'd soon hear famine's tread; you'd hear the hungry housewife's wail, while children cried for bread. Prosperity is holding sway, and peace beyond all words, because I stay here day by day, and scare the doggone birds. But people don't appreciate the good I do, old chap; they really ought to nominate me for some public post." Just then the farmer came and threw the scarecrow on its nose. "This effigy," he said, "will do for kindling, I suppose." No scarecrow so important here that when deprived of power the world will be thrown out of gear for more than half an hour.

FOR STATE AUDITOR.
The Western Star has the following to say about Mr. Howard: "Mr. How- ard has been a very progressive citizen of the state since 1884. During all these years he has been very closely identi- fied with the men who have helped to make Nebraska great. In addition to the business lines with which Mr. How- ard has been identified, he has also engaged quite extensively in farming, and is very enthusiastic about our agri- cultural achievements and the future prospects of the farming interests of Nebraska. Mr. Howard has been a very successful man, therefore the people will make no mistake in electing him for state auditor of public accounts, because a man who is successful for himself is certainly a good man to ad- minister the affairs of all the people." Mr. Howard is a thorough business- man, giving the state auditor's office a practical business administration, and that is just what the people of the state need. In private affairs, when we seek advice we usually go to the men that we know have made a success; we do not go to people who have done badly. The Western Star believes that business policy in all state departments, which surely will result to the benefit of every taxpayer."

YOUTH'S COMPANION FOR 1913.

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at the girls' colleges. But the Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common life. The bank and factories would fail; you'd soon hear famine's tread; you'd hear the hungry housewife's wail, while children cried for bread. Prosperity is holding sway, and peace beyond all words, because I stay here day by day, and scare the doggone birds. But people don't appreciate the good I do, old chap; they really ought to nominate me for some public post." Just then the farmer came and threw the scarecrow on its nose. "This effigy," he said, "will do for kindling, I suppose." No scarecrow so important here that when deprived of power the world will be thrown out of gear for more than half an hour.

PRONOUNCED NOT GUILTY.
Nolich, Neb., Oct. 22.—Joe McKay, once found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment on the charge of murder, was today acquitted in his second trial for the murder.

The jury after having been out all night, returned a verdict at 9:25 o'clock this morning, finding McKay not guilty. The prisoner was at once given his freedom.

It is reported that the jury, which res- tired yesterday afternoon to consider the evidence, stood 9 to 3 for acquittal from the start.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

Ten thousand gifted folks who bind us with a spell, are working jam and bellows, emitting roar and yell—these gifted language-LO- SPEL- lers, do naught the long WINDERS year through, but lecture to the voters and tell them what to do. They keep no wheels turning, they toll not, they don't spin; they keep no forces burning; they merely tag the chin. They plow no useful furrow, they fill no butter kegs; you'll never see them burrow beneath the barn for eggs. They do not weld or solder, or work in potter's clay; they bring no corn or fodder to town or market day. The fatten up no porkers, no cattle to be fatted—oh, they have no such workers, these specialist in wind. And we, the Jakes and Georges, the Harrys, Toms and Dicks who toil at looms, ad forges, and manufacture bricks, are champs enough to swallow the doctrines that they plead; are champs enough to follow where'er the windmill's head! The non-producers glibly and tell us we are free; the non-producers ride us like Old Men of the Sea. O'er all the land they're spinning in gorgeous palace cars, in purple and fine linen, equipped with rich cigars, and who toil and struggle and sweat in catwalks, should listen while they juggle with figures, words, and facts!

en; and Willie darling tot—can't lump around and sweat until he busts his breechin'! The winter-fireside game grows tedious and tame, the crochets and checkers; and ev'rybody grows who's feeding-potatoes by 'Tosy's Dickens' double-deckers. The ancient Blind Man's Buff is rather cloying stuff, and dominoes are silly; what wonder if a sigh, a sad and doleful cry, should come from little Willie? His marriar soul is sick to seize his swatting stick and chase the flies and hawks from the meat of kings, and little boys, by jings! For winter it's denied 'em. Alas, alas, that flies to Augusts and July are always relegated! If they could hux their tunes in winters as in Junes, they'd be appreciated!

This life we lead is far from nice, and going broke's our only goal. So long we've blown ourselves for ice. And now we blow ourselves MELAN- for coal. We dig, we delve, we search, we spin, to have a package when we're old; and now we have to blow it in for drags to cure a doggone cold. The northern wind comes down and moans and plays its same old spiteful games, and we must blow our hoarded bones for rags to wrap around our frames. The Christ- mas spirit is abroad, the day will soon come down the tracks, and we must blow our little wad for evergreens and jumbling jacks. We blow ourselves for hits and that, and t'other till we have the blues; some kroners for the house- wife's hat, some guilders for the children's shoes. We dig, we delve, we search, we spin, to put the hungry wad to route; alas! there's little coming in, and money always going out! A shilling for a can of whey, a shekel for some rough, old rats, a doubloon for a bale of hay to feed our starving thomas- rats! And thus the winters always bring an ending to our saving schemes; and if we smile and dance and sing we only do it when we dream. . . . . I'm glad the base ball season's end- ed until next Spring comes down the

The winter's at the door, and soon we'll hear the roar of tempests loud and raucous; before the fire, or' long we'll sit, a cheerfull-throat, WINTER and hold the evening can- IS NEAR. Oh, winter has his joys for healthy girls and boys—to nail 'em they'll endeavor; but there's one long-felt want, one sorrow that will haunt the little ones forever. For when the winter comes, the fly no longer hums around the cheerful-kitch-

"They passed to St. Louis, who, on the bridge of Taillebourg, was battling like the Archangel Michael himself."

"No," said M. de Nolbac. "He was carrying bread to the besieged Parisians."

"Napoleon I?"

"No; that's Henry IV."

The boy was visibly disappointed. They skipped Louis XIV. and XV. and passed quickly to the wars of the empire.

FARMER'S FRIEND IS PROTECTION

RECORD OF MORE THAN A CENTURY PROVES THIS BEYOND ALL POSSIBLE DOUBT.

A HOME MARKET ASSURED

Fallacies of Professor Wilson's Argument and of Democratic Free Trade Exposed by Facts—American Farmers' Always Benefited by a Protective Tariff.

The Democratic tariff bill, courageously vetoed by President Taft, PLACED CEREALS ON THE FREE LIST.

A vote for President Taft and the Republican ticket is the safeguard of the farmer against the entry into the United States, duty free, of the products of the great fields of Canada and other grain-growing countries.

Professor Wilson is telling the farmers over and over again that they have never been protected—that they do not need protection. Then in this connection the professor adds: "But everything you use on the farm, everything that you wear, and a great deal of what you eat, but do not produce yourself, including meats, bears a heavy duty, which brings about the interesting result that you are paying for the wealth of the United States and getting nothing, or equivalent to nothing, so far as the tariff is concerned. Now that isn't just a guess to be true—it has always been true. It is not true. The protective tariff does benefit the farmers. American farmers know this fact, and by their votes have helped to make the policy of protection. Without their votes the party of protection could not have won a single presidential election in the last forty years. Have the farmers been mistaken through all these years? They have not. Has protection been of no value to them? It certainly has.

All history and all fact dispute the academic free trade contention that the farmer has no share in the benefits of protection. In every period of industrial depression, resulting from the destruction of the tariff duties below the protective point, the farmers of this country have been heavy losers, because diminished demand and lower prices for their products.

In the most recent period of Democratic free trade legislation—1894-97—the farmers of the United States lost fully five billion dollars in reduced prices of farm products, and diminished values of farm property. In every period of restored protection the farmers have reaped the benefits of a greater demand and increased prices. There has been no exception in the price of prosperity for American farmers, when American labor is fully employed.

Here are some proofs of that fact. In a recent statement by Senator Sargent before the United States Congressional Record of August 26, 1912, it is shown that in December, 1896, after two years of free trade tariff revision under the tariff law of 1894, the price of corn was twenty-three cents a bushel, while in December, 1911, after fourteen years of restored protection, the price of corn was sixty-nine cents a bushel; or an advance over 1896 of 200 per cent.

Using 1896 as the basis of comparison with December, 1911, it is found that under a protective tariff: Corn advanced 200 per cent. Wheat advanced 67 per cent. Cotton advanced 28 per cent. Sugar advanced 165 per cent. Rye advanced 137 per cent. Barley advanced 308 per cent. Hay advanced 388 per cent. Hops advanced 245 per cent. Potatoes advanced 282 per cent. Flaxseed advanced 149 per cent. Fat cattle advanced 62 per cent. Fat hogs advanced 95 per cent. Dairy butter advanced 92 per cent. Eggs advanced 90 per cent.

While the price of farm products has increased, the price of articles which the farmer purchases has not increased in proportion. He can buy more today with the products of his farm than he could in 1896. For example:

Ten bushels of corn in 1911 paid for 125 pounds of sugar, and only 56 pounds in 1896.

Ten bushels of corn paid for 31 yards of bleached sheeting in 1911, and only 13 yards in 1896.

Ten bushels of corn in 1911 paid for two pairs of shoes, and only one pair in 1896.

Professor Wilson and other Democratic speakers and writers assert what is absolutely untrue when they say that the protective tariff robs and in no way benefits the American farmer. As a matter of fact, there is probably no class of American producers who share in the benefits of protection in the past fifteen years, has been so great as the share of the American farmer.

If the farmers rightly understand their interests, they will vote against the party of free trade. They will cast their votes for President Taft and Vice President Sherman and a continuation of the Republican policy of protection.

The voters will take care that the good schoolmaster by trying to make his a second-class product.
