Activity in the business district of Wayne was generally suspended in the afternoon, and people left the district on whatever route through the main street unhampered and unobscured.

Bressler, and other relatives in Wayne, left Tuesday afternoon, the former for her home at Marquette, Ill., and the latter for the school which he is attending at Andover, Mass. They were accompanied as far as Chicago by their father.
OBITUARY.
(By Her Pastor.)
Martha Emily Bubier was born near Florence, Ontario, Canada, the second day of February, 1834, and died at Wayne, Neb., the twenty-ninth day of December, 1912, at the age of 78 years, 10 months and 27 days. Miss Bubier grew up in a home where the Canadian home and was married to Orin Dygert in 1852, at the age of 18 years. Not very long after her marriage, she and her husband, along with her parents and other members of their family, moved to Kansas, where they lived several years just preceding the Civil war and where they were much interested in John Brown and his faith in the interests of freedom for slaves.
A short time before the war they returned to Canada and a little later moved to Iowa, there to a homestead near Newcastle, Neb., where Mr. Dygert died, leaving his wife and her only child, Matilda, who at the time of her father's death, was Mrs. Mark Stringer, and lived on a homestead just across the road from her parents.
Some years after the death of Mr. Dygert, his widow became acquainted with Rev. Abol Potter, a presiding elder in the United Brethren church, and they were married in 1873 at Elk Point, S. D. Mr. Potter died about nine months later, and on the twelfth day of December, 1875; Mrs. Potter and Orin D. Bentley were married at Elk Point, where Mr. Bentley was teaching school. After a year they moved to a farm near Canton where they resided until 1885, when they came to Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. Stringer having preceded them.
At the age of 8 years Martha personally accepted the Savior in the home of her father who was a minister in the Methodist church. A little later on she became a member. At the time of her second marriage she transferred her membership to the United Brethren church along with her husband. But on her marriage to Mr. Bentley she joined the Methodist Episcopal church at Canton, S. D., and her membership was transferred to Wayne on the twelfth of March, 1885, becoming a charter member here.
In every walk of life this woman has been faithful to the precept principles of the purest and best agriculture; never selfish, but generous beyond measure, she ever set herself to serve in the name of Christ. The present pastor of this church will never forget how that years ago her house grounds were a veritable flower garden and that for years no Sunday morning service was held without its bouquet or pot of flowers placed along with the pulpit. These had no red and white in death. She used to say: "They are so pretty and they remind one of the goodness of God."
Her daughter and son-in-law both preceded her to the Celestial City and her only relatives remaining are the grand children, Mark, George, Otis and Caroline Stringer and Mrs. Alice Stringer Hensell.
Her husband of noblest faith and service in the kingdom of God—long since an octogenarian, bows in sweet peace to the Divine will and awaits with brightest visions his own translation, whenever it shall please the heavenly Father. For more than four months this naturally strong physique has contended bravely against an insidious and distressing disease. But faith and fortitude have ever risen above all distresses and they have been months of sweet composure on the part of both Mr. and Mrs. Bentley.
Today the whole community is the debtor of both of these saints of God for pure and unselfish lives, for un-failing and generous service and for unwavering friendship. Their memory whether in life or death will ever be a rich inheritance, and especially to the grandchildren.
Funeral services were held at the M. E. church yesterday forenoon, conducted by Rev. William Goran, and interment took place in Greenwood cemetery.
FATHER OF NORMAL STUDENTS KILLED
A dispatch from Madison, Neb., tells of a distressing accident which occurred eleven miles west of that city and which resulted in the death of J. B. Fichter. While returning from town in an auto last Friday Mr. Fichter ran off a bridge and was crushed by his car, which fell a distance of fifteen feet, upside down, upon him, killing him instantly.

The deceased is well and favorably known in Madison county, owning a fine farm six miles south of Meadow Grove, where he resides. As he was alone at the time, the particulars are not known, but Mr. T. E. Mason of Meadow Grove, who was called to the scene of the accident the following morning and bore the body of the dead man to his home, makes the following explanation: "The grade approaching the bridge was quite narrow, and I think the rear of his car pulled sideways when he applied the breaks and got the wheels into the soft dirt. His tracks showed that he had made an effort to steer back into the road, but all but succeeded, when the side of the car caught a heavy post at the corner of the bridge and headed him off the side."
Mr. Fichter leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his sudden and tragic death. Two daughters, Margaret L. and Edith F., have been students of the Wayne State Normal School since last September, and only a few days ago they had returned to Meadow Grove to spend the holiday vacation at home.
KRUSE-LINKE WEDDING.
At St. Paul's Lutheran church, January 1, 1913, Mr. August Kruse and Miss Martha Linke were united in marriage by Rev. J. Kubh. A small company of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony. The groom is a prosperous young farmer living seven and one-half miles northwest of Wayne, and the bride is a popular young lady. They will make their home on the farm of the groom's father. Their many friends wish them happiness and prosperity.
COMPLETES ADVANCED COURSE.
Miss Ruth J. Knutson has completed the advanced course of the State Normal school and will be granted a first grade certificate at the next meeting of the Board of Education. On the same day Miss Knutson received notice of election to three good positions in school work. She was offered the grammar department at Coleridge, the intermediate department at Tilden and a rural school in Burlington county paying $50 a month. Miss Knutson has accepted the position as teacher of the fifth and sixth grades at Tilden and will begin her work on Monday, January 6.

WELDON CROSSLAND WINS SCHOLARSHIP

WILL GO TO OXFORD, ENGLAND

Wayne Boy Unanimous Choice of Committee Deciding Contest for Rhodes Scholarship.

Lincoln Journal: Weldon F. Crossland, senior at Wesleyan university, is to represent Nebraska at Oxford university, England, as a Rhodes scholar. The honor was conferred upon Crossland yesterday afternoon when the scholarship committee in the office of Chancellor Avery at the state university selected him from among the three candidates who had qualified academically for the honor.

The selection of Crossland was unanimous on the part of the five committee men. A straw vote was taken and the members stood after the credentials of the three had been examined, resulting in all votes in Crossland's favor. The official vote to decide upon the candidate was not taken.

Besides Crossland, the other two candidates were L. Ross Nowkirk, who took the scholastic examination two years ago, and Paul F. Good who took the examination at Harvard university during the fall. The committee upon whom the will of the late Cecil Rhodes placed the honor of making the selection consisted of Chancellor Avery of Nebraska university, chairman; Chancellor Fulmer of Wesleyan; Chancellor Oeschler of Colner; President Scheel of York college, and E. U. Graf, superintendent of schools of Omaha.

In the Rhodes will scholarship is not the prime distinction in conferring the honor. Three tenths only counts for academic standing. Two tenths counts for athletic ability; three tenths for truthfulness and straight-forwardness, and two tenths for interest in public questions.

According to one member of the committee, the decision upon the candidate lay primarily between Nowkirk and Crossland. If scholarship standing alone had been the prime factor in the contest the decision for Good would have been certain. This member remarked that the academic credentials presented by the latter, were easily of the highest that had ever been given to the committee.

Prominent at Wesleyan. Crossland, the victor, is a prominent student at Wesleyan. He has had to work his way through four years of college training, but in spite of this fact has found time to enter into student activities. During the first year at college, he played a short time at basketball and made quite a record for himself. Later, however, other activities, his work and studies prevented him from entering into outside sports.

The successful candidate stands slightly below average height, but is well proportioned and carries himself well. His face is clean cut and straight-forward. His bearing is graceful and courteous. Crossland's home is at Wayne, Neb., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Crossland, reside. A brother of the victor while at Wesleyan a few years ago made quite a record for himself and was awarded the prize in a state-wide oratorical contest.

Newkirk received his academic training at Wesleyan university also, but after graduating there in the summer, he registered in the state university law college. Newkirk took the examination two years ago and his paper was selected to determine with the two best back as qualifying. At that time, however, Horace English, a state university student, was given the honor and is now attending the English institution.

The committee went into session yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock. A delay to the train bringing Mr. Graf to this city also delayed the meeting and prevented the naming of the successful candidate until nearly 6 o'clock in the evening. The committee first interviewed the three candidates together and then went into private session. A personal interview with each one of the three separately was then taken and again the committee went into private session. The will of Cecil Rhodes which governs the selection, was gone over carefully by all and was applied to the individual candidates. The straw vote which decided unanimously in favor of Crossland, was then taken. In the meantime the candidates had been dismissed. They were notified of the decision during the evening by Chancellor Avery's private secretary.

Crossland will leave for Europe in October a year after taking the examination there. According to the rules governing the scholarship, he will pay his own expenses to England and upon arrival there will be cared for through funds of the Rhodes estate. A certain amount of time each year the student must give up to traveling on the continents.

OVERWORKED DISTRICT JUDGE

Madison, Neb., Dec. 30.—H. A. James Nichols of this city representative of the district to the state legislature from Madison county, is shaping up his law business to go to Lincoln to be present at the opening of the legislative session. Mr. Nichols has been besieged by the bar of the ninth judicial district to bring to the attention of this legislature the necessity of doing something to relieve the present judge of the onerous duties which now devolve upon him owing to the greatly increased population of the district and the volume of litigation which has correspondingly increased. It is authoritatively stated that the duties of Judge Welch, the present presiding judge in the state and considerable more than those of any other district judge.

LIQNESS TO WED REFUSED

Madison, Neb., Dec. 30.—S. K. Nagatani, a very well dressed, gentlemanly appearing Jap and Miss Alta Miffell, equally as prepossessing, presented themselves to county judge McDuffee Saturday and asked for a license to wed, with the intention, judging from all appearances, to have the judge officiate. They had come from Norfolk with a mobile home. Judge McDuffee, after thoughtful deliberation, refused the license on the grounds that he was strongly opposed on general principles to race intermarriage and for the further reason that the Nebraska statute was not definite on that particular question. Both parties gave Lincoln as their home and in answer to the judge's question why they had not applied for a license in Lincoln, the couple replied that Miss Miffell's mother, who accompanied them to Madison, resided in Norfolk.

Monday's Norfolk Daily News adds the following: Nagatani and the woman came to Norfolk Saturday and registered at the Oxnard hotel as Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Nagatani, Lincoln, Neb. Manager Shiller was given intimations by the Japanese that he was on his way to marry with his American bride. The appearance of the couple on the streets in Norfolk caused much comment and the refusal of a marriage license to a Chinaman and an American girl at Sioux City recently brought up similar comment here. For a time the young couple were mistaken for the Sioux City couple, Nagatani and his companion headed an afternoon southbound Union Pacific train, presumably for Madison. The young couple were given a suite of the best rooms in the Oxnard. The Japanese and the woman arrived at the hotel at noon Friday. They remained Friday night and left on the Union Pacific at noon Saturday.

Uncle Walt

The Poet Philosopher

"Allmen are liars," David said, disgustedly, when he had read a lengthy campaign speech. And what he said of ancient times is true today as of now.

It was then, as all conditions reach, I should dampen, though, our mirth, that liars people all the earth and through the busy ways; for liars make this life worth while, and give the human face a smile, and brighten all our days. When I am sick the liars tell how sad they are that I'm not well, how mournful are their hearts; they hand me sympathically so sweet that warmth comes to my rigid feet, and all my pain departs. And when I write a swift poem the liars seek my humble home to tell me it was fine; they thus encourage me to strive, to keep the jagged muse alive when she's in a decline. The liars take the cheerful view, as this old world they unble through, they are the optimists; they rob this life of half its knots, and color up the faded glow, and straighten out the twists. The liars say the clouds will break and that the good old sun will make this planet once more glad; the truthful man looks up and scowls; "We'll have a month of this," he growls, and makes our toms sad. Some lies are gentle, kindly things; some truths are barbed with painful stings, keen as a serpent's tooth; I have no doubt that in the skies the angels like some kinds of liars far better than the truth.

You are merely storing sorrow for the future, sages say, if you put off till tomorrow things which should be done today. When there PROBASTION is a job unpleasant that it's up to me to do, I attack it in the present, my mind is free from troubles, and I sit before the fire, popping corn or blowing bubbles or a-whanging at my lyre. If I said: "There is no hurry that old job will do next week," there would be a constant worry making my old brain-pan creak. For a man knows no enjoyment resting at the close of day, if he knows that some of his days is neglected in that way. There is nothing more consoling at the setting of the sun, when the evening bells are tolling, than the sense of duty done. And that seltzer cometh never to the man of backbone weak who postpones all sane endeavor till the middle of next week. Let us then be up and doing, with a heart as free as fate, as the poet said, when showing agents from his garden gate. Let us shake our heads and borrow wisdom from the poet's lay; leaving nothing for tomorrow, doing all our chores today!

I've been sitting alone in my shack, reading the new almanac; and before I began I seemed quite a soand man, but now I am hopeless.

SYMPTOMS aahck! As strong as a government mule, I gambled around like a fool, with a spirit, at ease, though I'd every disease that is known at the medical school. In the night time I slept like a log; my appetite was missed a cog; I was feeling so gay that I chortled all day; now my soul is enveloped in fog. For I find I have ague and chills, and glanders and various ills; I must cut out the meat and the things good to eat, and fill my old system with pills. It amounts to be certainly rich, and my soul has a heart-rending piteh; I am sick in and out, with the measles and gout, and the mumps and the seven-year itch. Bronchitis and quinsy are mine; when it comes to lumbago I shine; I have shingles and "croup" and I ough with a wheeze, and my stick of dyspepsia is as fine. My liver is all out of whack, and my stomach keeps jumping the track; and the look says the lung has been lost from my lung, and my kidneys are stuck to my back. How lucky it was that I found that almanac lying around! I might have supposed I was healthy, nor dosed my stomach with drugs by the pound.

The water wagon's at the gate; it's waiting for its yearly freight, so let us take a ride; there's room thereon for one and all, the rich, the poor.

SWING LOW, SWEET CHARIOT the great, the small, the seats are good and wide. O'er stony roads the wagon reels and nimbly lets its pair old wheels, when on its way it starts; its weary passengers it shakes and fills them all with grievous aches, and nearly breaks their hearts. Faint hearted pilgrims leave their seats and journey back to old retreats, the fleshpots they eschew; but passengers of sterner stuff endure the water wagon's buff; its jars and joltings rock it when the first few verses are made, a smoother road's before them laid, a gentle upward slope; and smoother yet the highway grows as on the water wagon goes, the chariot of hope. The charges please, the driver's kind, the outrance soon all left behind, the skies are blue and fair; the birds sing, and all is well, the passengers rest up and yell, so glad they are there. The water wagon's at the gate; so let us get our nerve on straight, and go and take a ride; the wagon goes to Better Fame; Redemption is the driver's name, the steeds are Hope and Pride.

A blessing on those modern schools in which we mortals find a way, by means of simple rules, to keep the MEMORY nor recollect his front side from his rear may get his latitude correct by taking lessons here. His mind becomes a fitting case in which he stores away the helpful facts, each in its place, for use some future day. And men who once were failures rank have learned to mail their souls; they're presidents of trust and bank—according to the ads. Schools do a noble work, indeed, we're deeply in their debt; and now a school we greatly need to teach us to forget. We poison all our pleasures here; we keep old woes in mind, and course stale grudges by the year, which should be left behind. We worry over ancient staves we vainly tried to win; we brood upon our ancient breaks when we should blithely grin. This little life is speeding fast; the wise man gaily humps, and lets the spectres of the past go hang or bump the bumps. O'er vanished things, like dreary toads; we fuss and fume and fret; and so I say we need some schools to teach us to forget.

Jim Jimpsion's quick at figure and writes a lovely hand; he works to beat the chiggers—and yet he gets a

THE SULKY untion and pretty soon MAN

Man's fire. He asks an explanation. "You make the office tired. You're too blamned sour and solemn; you growl around and toil as though your spinal column were an extensive coil. You men always are a-swinging as you perform your curves; you start the others fretting, for you get on their nerves. We want a band of cheerful, contented workers here, but you, so grim and tearful, just spoil the atmosphere. We like to hear clerks' crooning their helpful hymns aloud, and you, with your glooming, disordering the crowd." He looks as though he rested, when sleep ing, in a hearse, so Jimpsion is requested quite often to disperse. And I know eight or twenty just like him in this town; they get the soap plenty, and have to gulp it down; they pack the tattered banner and look for work in vain, because their graceless manner gives other folks a pain. Efficiency's a jewel, and ought to win, I guess, but doesn't. (Life is cruel!)—without a bad address.

A. J. FERGUSON WRITES.
Pomona, Cal., Dec. 25, 1912.
First Epistle of Ferguson to Wayne Herald:

There are times when one may be too full for utterance. That is just my condition tonight, so I will let my tongue wag long and when I do the work, and why all this? Because I have just dined with Mr. and Mrs. Feather and "our Mamie," who is the wife of Mr. Blaine Steen and at whose home the dinner was served, and that, too, in royal style. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steen, Jr., and their two lovely children and a sister of Mr. Steen, making in all fifteen souls, about twice as many as they have at the place. As a good company it was good. Did we all have a feast? I should say yes! All except Mamie's sweet little baby who is only eight months old, and too small and sweet to eat turkey. Yet he added to the company's enjoyment exuberantly.

Mrs. Ferguson watched me closely to see that I did not eat too much of the good things, as you well know that I ate so solids all summer, but I said: "Here goes for a good dinner once more," and cannot discover yet that it did me any harm or affected me in any way, except to make me feel somewhat as did the young man in Wayne once on a time who told me that he had eaten thirty-seven bananas at one meal. I questioned his statement, but he still affirmed, when I said "You foolish boy, you should not do such a rash thing as that; it might have killed you!" I asked him what his sensations were, when he said: "Oh, I just feel pretty full, big like." My feelings exactly!

Well, enough of this. Now just a bit about Pomona. It is surely a beautiful and moral town; no saloons, fine churches and schools. The weather has been down to twenty four above since we arrived the 20th, at 6:30 p. m., when we were met by Mr. Feather and taken in an auto to his home—a very pretty home, homelike style, and comfortable, where they are surely happy, he gardening a little, and Mrs. Feather taking care of her pretty home; also taking care of him and her flowers and chickens, and Wayne people as they chance to come along.

Now I close by saying that of 2 p. m., today I am to see the reinforced concrete ball, where I presume I shall have a chance to "sound my bugle." You may catch the sound if the wind blows as hard as it did the night we crossed the range near and this side of Sidney. It seemed as if it would blow the main from the track, but I heard galore from there to Ogden, yet we did not suffer, and had plenty on the dinner and a warm sleep.

Mrs. Ferguson joins me in very kind regards to all the people of Wayne. Hoping to be remembered by you all, we are Yours truly,
MR. AND MRS. A. J. FERGUSON.

GOVERNMENT SEEDS FOR DISTRIBUTION

Congressman Dan Stephens is evidently impressed with the folly of sending government seeds to people who may not know how to grow anything about horticulture, and is taking precautions to avoid the seed gifts being wasted by falling into such hands. Thus, he asks people to let him know if they want seeds, assuming that those who will ask for them will turn them to good use. He asks the Herald to publish the following invitation:

FREE SEEDS—The department of Agriculture has placed in the hands of Congressman Dan V. Stephens a limited number of vegetable and flower seeds for distribution in this district. He wishes to get these seeds into the hands of persons who will use them; and in order to do this wants those who would like to have a package to send in their names. The seeds will not be distributed until some time in March, but those who wish to receive a package should send in their names at once. Address Dan V. Stephens, M. C., House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

ONLY ONE "BEST,"

Wayne People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Wayne who suffer with weak kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by willing testimony of Wayne people. Here's a case:

Mrs. J. C. Hanson, Wayne, Neb., says: "I have no reason to withdraw anything from the public statement I gave three years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I had a serious attack of kidney complaint and I suffered terribly from headaches, dizzy spells and a tired, languid feeling. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I had a dull heavy ache through my loins. In a few days after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and the improvement continued until all the symptoms of my complaint disappeared."

Weather prognosticators feel reasonably safe in predicting an open winter.

Time sets an example of promptness well worth following. The new year came in on the dot. It didn't fool around getting ready the last minute. It was here exactly on time, and the old year promptly got out of the traces.

The Winside Tribune thinks it would be easy enough to start a paper in Wayne without typesetting machines. The trouble would be to keep going after starting. Perhaps the Tribune would not admit that it would be an easier and surer venture to start a second paper at Winside.

Instead of imagining the parcels post will injure the business of the country merchant, the thing for such merchant to do is to turn the new law to advantage. In his territory, extending for fifty miles, he is guaranteed a cheaper transportation and a plan that made more remote dealers trying to do business in his territory. He may thus use the parcels post to develop business and outstrip foreign competition.

Users of oil burning engines are reported so well satisfied with results that popular opinion is likely to favor change to such motor power for the city if through insidious but fully supported representations. Cost of operation is of the utmost importance, and if, as claimed, it can be materially reduced by use of oil burners, without injuring the quality or permanency of the service, it is plain that the change should be made.

Wayne has made good progress during the year just closed, and has reason to look forward with assurance. The city made substantial growth in 1912, and is in a more healthy condition today than it ever was before. A review of improvements, published in today's paper, reflects confidence in the future of Wayne and Wayne county. Gratified over what has been accomplished, we should turn from contemplation of the past to plans for the new year which opens bright and promising. The coming year will see many more improvements. If the legislature does what it should and doubtless will do, the State Normal will be the scene of new building operations. A new depot may come along this year. Other buildings are in prospect, and as the year develops many improvements will be made. Let us plan to do more for this territory than ever. Let us boost harder, and pull together for more business and greater growth along all lines. Let us go after things we need and get them. Let us look ahead and move ahead.

SERIOUS OBJECTION.

Colonel A. L. Bixby in the Lincoln Journal shows up grounds for the most serious objection to the political ascendancy of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Bixby says:

"What a fool antiquated notion Colonel Roosevelt continues to advocate to the effect that readiness for war is the best guaranty of peace. His attitude of always spouting for a fight is the cause of his late ignominious political defeat. It was not a very bloody conflict, to be sure, but the spirit was the same as that which now impels him to announce that the whole Roosevelt family is ready to shoulder a blunderbuss, at the drop of the hat, and rush to the front in defense of our 'jeopardized national honor.' Piffle. The danger to our national honor is from within rather than from without. The strength of a nation, situated as we are, conflicts from powers having rival and conflicting interests, is in the integrity and loyalty of its citizenship. The nation always boastfully ready to fight in defense of its honor is a nation that has little honor to defend. Spain fought in defense of its honor in 1898 and showed, in the almost bloodless conflict, that it had neither honor nor the capacity to fight. National honor that requires to be defended with gunpowder and shells, is usually a pretense. A nation no longer has to go to war. There is a better way. So this readiness for war, which is always suggestive of suspicion, of hostile sentiment, of the characteristics of the bully and roughneck, keeps alive in the human mind the barbaric propensities that prompted the man in the stone age to carry a granite axe in order to intimidate his neighbor who carried one of the same make with which to intimidate him. 'National honor.' National grand mother. We should thank by the time 'Colonel' Roosevelt would be weary of war and disgusted with everything suggestive of it."

Improving School Building.

The committee on grounds and buildings is making some needed improvements on the Winside school building by giving the interior a fresh coat of paint. George Motson is the artist, being assisted by Clyde Hildcomb.

Formerly Lived at Winside.

Mr. Jacob Hoop of Wayne, died Wednesday morning. Several years ago the Hoop family were residents of Winside and all those who lived here at that time remember her as a good wife and mother, and a good Christian woman.

House Burned.

John Mills who lives five miles southwest of Winside, had the misfortune to lose his house and all its contents by fire last Sunday evening. The fire caught in one of the upper rooms and was under such headway when discovered that nothing could be done. A sewing machine was all that was saved.

Improving Opera House.

We are glad to note the improvements going on at the opera house. The building became such a wreck and it was so dirty and neglected that the insurance companies refused to carry insurance on it. They are now residing it and putting it in good repair. The whole structure will be painted both inside and outside and now if they will light it from Bruen's electric light plant the people will be very thankful.

Rev. Connell went to Wayne Wednesday morning to conduct the services at the funeral and burial of the little Werts boy who died from the injury received from being kicked by a horse.

Last Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock fire broke out in Otto Krenke's barn. It started up in the corner of the hay mow and before help could arrive had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building and contents. Luckily all of the horses were out, but Mr. Krenke lost all of his hay and a large bin of oats. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Died, last Saturday evening, at the home of his parents, Gerald Arthur, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fischer, aged 3 years and 2 days. He was taken sick about two weeks ago, but his illness was not considered serious until the latter part of last week when he began to develop dangerous symptoms. All that loving hands and medical skill could do was done but of no avail. Gerald was a bright little fellow, beloved by his parents, brothers, sisters and playmates, who deeply feel their loss, but are comforted by the thought that God doeth all things well. Funeral services were held at the home Monday afternoon. Rev. George Sloan conducted the services, and the remains were laid to rest in the Randolph cemetery. The heartfelt sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family.

EARTH'S BETTER DAY

IS DRAWING NEAR

Pastor Russell on Fruit of the Gospel in Louisville.

The Passing of the Year Suggests the Closing of the Present and the Drawing of New Year Reminds Us of New Epoch Which God Has Promised—Drawing of New Era is Manifest to All, but Understood by Few.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 22.—Pastor Russell delivered two addresses here today. We report on the first; "The drawing that sat upon the Throne said, Behold, I make all things new."—Revelation, xxi. 5.

Pastor Russell declared that the passing of the year in his drawing the passage of the Ages. Labor with sweat of face had culminated in harvests. Branches, thorns and thistles had been gathered and burned.

The Pastor likened these matters to the closing of one Age and the opening of another. It is the drawing of the Ages, and the Millennium. He believes that modern inventions are foregleams of Messiah's Kingdom.

God is bringing Christendom to a great day of reckoning. The Gospel of the Kingdom was preached for the purpose of gathering an Elect people to be the Bride of Christ and bear His name to the six ages.

The Harvest of the Jewish Age, which was separated from "chaff" in the Harvest of this Age, "wheat" will be separated from "tares." The wheat of the Jewish Age, or "harvest" indeed, were gathered to the garner of justice by the begetting of the Holy Spirit.

The Harvest of the Jewish Age was burned as respecter hopes and prospects. Similarly, all tares, or imitation Christians, will be destroyed in the sense of having their hopes and prospects as the Elect wheat.

The Pastor said that Messiah will make all things new by ushering in the New Dispensation and enforcing righteousness by Divine Power. For a long time Bible students were confused on this subject. They thought that God, not content with seeing suffering and distress in the present life, had prepared an eternity of torture at the hands of fiendish demons for all the non-elect.

Now, the eyes of our understanding are opened to see God's Love. Now, we see that Satan, "the prince of this world," "the god of this world," is blinding all except God's Elect—blinding them in respect to God's real character and purposes. (1) Corinths iv. 4. He has taken advantage of human weakness, and appearing "as an angel of light," has deceived us, sometimes using ministers of Christ and college presidents as his deceptive tools.

Satan has introduced into theology what St. Paul styles "doctrines of demons," (1 Timothy iv. 1.) Many serve him ignorantly, "not knowing the Scriptures nor the Power of God." Jesus declared that He will bind Satan, "that he may devour the people no more until the thousand years" of the Kingdom be "unloosed."

The first thing that Messiah will make new will be the "Heavens" of the Church in glory. The next thing made new will be the "earth"—society re-constructed along the lines of righteousness. Evidently the Lord does not mean that there will be a new Heavens of Divine abode, or a new physical earth.

St. Peter declares that the present "earth" will be consumed by fire. (11 Peter iii. 10.) The heat of angry passions, already engendered between the elements of society, will before long be kindled into a conflagration, the present order of things. This strife will extend to the ecclesiastical structure, so that the present "heavens, being on fire," shall pass away. Then the "Truce of glory" will establish "God the New Heavens and Earth"—the new social order based on Justice and Love.

Let us remember, however, that all professing the name of Christ, now stand before His judgment seat, to give account of our conduct as professed members of the Church of the First-born. Some with joy will beard, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Enter thou into the joys of thy Lord.

Others will hear the Master's voice say, Depart from Me; I cannot receive you. In My name ye repent, but ye have not left behind you the works which ye have done. (Matthew vii. 21-23.) Luke vii. 40. xii. 29-28

WHEN MARY'S BABE WAS BORN

Dear day, how glad we greet thy glorious morn. Whence winged thought speeds back to Nazareth town. To picture how that Syrian sun smiled down on the child in the manger, one in which if there is pleasure it is the pleasure of hish comedy where tears lie very near the joyous surface.

A WONDERFUL MAN-CHILD.

Man is the eternal's finite counterpart. In essence through and through divine. Born in sin but striving in his life Until he finds his home God's great heart.

So welcome me on every Christmas morn. Be high with my thought supreme. Our sonship is our truest birthright. We, too, like Mary's babe, in God are born.

Yes, with firm faith we hail that Christ Child's birth. The advent of the peerless Prince of Peace. Our sin to cure, our sorrow to surmount. The most-miraculous that ever dawned on earth.

WHEN MARY'S BABE WAS BORN. Dear day, how glad we greet thy glorious morn. Whence winged thought speeds back to Nazareth town. To picture how that Syrian sun smiled down on the child in the manger, one in which if there is pleasure it is the pleasure of hish comedy where tears lie very near the joyous surface. The young man or young woman is bored, or pained by the congregation of his relatives, old and chill, about the table seeking for the amusement which escapes, and even if the day is spent about one's own immediate circle there are thoughts as the members of the family gather together for deliberate joy that some one once belonging there will joy no more. So that the possible man finds food for reflection that happiness comes. If at all, not for the seeking nor at any set time, but as an unpropitious function of the thoughtless and unthinking of the ordinary occupations of the gray and commonplace day. THE BOAR'S HEAD IN HAND BEAR L. Capt apt defers. Beddies hoes Domino. After the feast the ornaments which had decked the boar's head are distributed among the invited guests. The music of the "Boar's Head Carol" is always the same, but there are several versions of the words. At the present time the following version is used. The boar's head in hand bear I. Decked with bays and rosemary. And I pray you, my masters, be merry Quot eat in com. REFRAIN. Capt apt defers. Beddies hoes Domino. The boar's head, as I understand, Is the bravest dish in all the land. When thus belched with a gay regard Let us serve our chance. Our steward hath provided this In honor of the king of bills. Who ever it may be served in, In reinclami aude. There are two obviously older versions in manuscript collections. This is from Bodley MSS. No. 324. The boar's head in hand I bringe. With garlands gay and byrds symphonye, I pray you all be merry, and let us singe, Qui dicit in convivio. REFRAIN. Capt apt defers. Beddies hoes Domino. The boar's head, I understand, Is chiefly served in this londe. Who ever it may be founde, In reinclami aude. The boar's head, I dare well say, Is better than any other daine. He takes his life and gothe his way. Goe after the xi twel ft day. The reference to the departure of the boar's head in the last stanza of the last two versions goes plainly to the custom of carrying the Christ-boar's head into the streets. Now whence came the custom which Queen's college has kept alive? Her sons treasure a legend that is almost if not quite old as the foundation which is amusing if indefensible. According to this legend, some time about 1370 a student of Queen's was

Special Meetings at Leslie Precinct. The M. E. church south of Wakefield is enjoying two weeks of special evangelistic services, and the interest is growing each evening. The pastor, Rev. George H. Jones, is assisted by Mr. D. F. C. Olson of Wayne. This church is one of the oldest in Wayne county and has had a long and honorable history as an effective agency for promoting the moral and spiritual welfare of the southwestern part of the county. The C. E. Elects New Officers. At a business meeting of the C. E. society of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening of this week the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Beritice Moler; vice president, Miss Ruth Whitely; secretary, Miss Henrietta Moler; treasurer, Paul Mines; chairman of the Lookout committee, Miss Lucile Corkey; chairman of prayer meeting committee, Miss Edna Neely; chairman of social committee, Miss Irma James; chairman of music committee, Elizabeth Mines. It was decided to have a special rally of all the young people of the church on Sunday evening, January 12, at which time a special program will be given, and talks by prominent young Christians in Wayne will be made. A mid-winter automobile trip to the home of Mrs. John Gray, a former member of the society, was also planned for Friday evening of this week. If your children are subject to attacks of croup, walk, or the first symptoms of whooping cough, give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the child becomes hoarse and the attack may be warder off. For sale by all dealers.—Adv. FROZEN WITH HEAT. A Remarkable Process Known as the Caloric Paradox. Freezing is usually associated with cold. Ice water can be frozen on a red-hot plate. This most extraordinary fact is rightly being called the caloric paradox. If a drop of water is placed on a red-hot or white hot metal plate it does not suddenly flash into steam under the influence of the great heat. It does not even boil. It simply evaporates quietly and slowly as it rolls about the plate. Now suppose that the drop on the plate is a volatile liquid like sulphuric acid. It will evaporate, and this evaporation will produce cold. Let a drop of water fall on the sulphurous acid and it will be frozen in spite of the heat. M. Boutigny thus froze water on a white hot platinum capsule. Faraday carried this remarkable experiment even further. Pouring some ether and solidified carbonic acid gas on a red-hot platinum capsule, he formed a spheroidal mass which evaporated very suddenly. He then brought the capsule into contact with it and this was instantly frozen. Now, mercury requires a temperature of 44 degrees below zero to solidify it, and here it was frozen on red-hot platinum. Persons troubled with partial paralysis are often very much benefited by massaging the affected parts thoroughly with applying Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.—Adv. DR. LUTGEN PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. CALLS UNSWERVED DAY OR NIGHT.

R. H. Moore returns to his home in Youngstown, O., after visiting his sons in Wayne county.

The list of improvements for 1885 aggregates a total value of $61,060, and includes Weber Brother's mill at $14,000.

Married, December 29, 1885, John Greenwood to Hoinrick Assehnheimer, daughter of 1882, W. Hungerford to Laura Canavan.

Talk about going to Florida or California when we are having regular tropical weather right here in Nebraska. Here we are right at the close of December, and below we note a few incidents picked up during the past fortnight by the Gazette chronicler: On the 23rd and 24th of December James Bush was plowing a day; on the 23rd a son of H. B. Miller killed a garter snake in the yard near the house, making the second one seen during the month. A lice bush belonging to C. D. Martin commenced to bud during the past week, while here in Wayne, a honeysuckle in the lawn of one of our leading citizens has also begun to put on its lively of green.

From the Wayne Herald, January 4, 1891:

Born, January 3, 1894, to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cook, a daughter.

Mild weather prevailed on the last day of the old year.

Miss Cyna Reynolds resigns her position as teacher in the city schools and is succeeded by Mrs. H. G. Wolcott of Fremont.

Married: January 3, 1894, Mr. Clyde Oman to Miss Mahel Prescott; December 27, 1893, Mr. Luther Sandahl to Miss Emily Blauke.

From the Wayne Herald, December 31, 1903:

A bill is introduced in congress asking for an appropriation for a government building in Wayne.

Died, December 27, Hans Detlof Wolf, at his home in Leslie precinct.

From the Ponca Journal, January 3, 1878:

The LaPorte Review states that last Thursday a mortgage was recorded in the office of the clerk of Wayne county, on the W. T. & T. R. R. - where the road extends 84,000 miles to aid in its construction. This looks like going ahead.

New Years was a fine day. Not too cold nor to warm for comfort, but just about right. People ate their turkeys and chickens in peace, and pranced in the new year, in good heart and ambition.

Jackson is improving very rapidly indeed. During the year it has, to say the least, doubled in size. At this rate it will soon become a large town, and will doubtless at no distant day become the county seat of Dakota county.

The Wayne County Review, speaking in relation to the murder trial which took place lately at West Point, says: "Through somebody's blunder in wording the verdict of the jury in the fatal murder case, the county of Wayne may have to stand the expense of a new trial. The degree of crime was not stated in the verdict."

We had hoped that our poet laureate, Mr. Rockwell, would grind out another poem for us ere this, but we are afraid he has deserted us. A poem from his prolific pen would be very appropriate to read this merry weather, and it is to be hoped for the benefit of our subscribers that he will soon graciously tackle the muse in our behalf and reel out something, if only an apostrophe to the weather clerk.

On Friday, John Lawrence, Fred Baker, James Bottorff, Norwood, Sanderson and Brown, started to hunt up Mr. Sherwood's stolen horses. They went to Lake and stayed here until Saturday.

From their Lawrence and Bottorff started for Wisner, intending in case of not finding the horses there, to go to Norfolk. The balance of the party returned home on Sunday. On arriving here they learned that the horses had been found near Elk Creek. Hence their travels, so far as the capturing of horse-thieves was concerned, were in vain. Yet they saw a fine country, and must have had an agreeable ride.

From the Ponca Journal, January 6, 1880:

Guy R. Wilbur of the Cedar County Nonpareil was in town this week.

Yesterday the weather increased its snowing and blowing propensities. Weather mentioned by the approach of a cold front or rather slight depression, or the conjunction of the planets, or pure capriciousness on the part of the bosses of the weather, we cannot say.

The village school opens next Monday. Professor Wolff of Lincoln, will be the principal of the school, and Stewart Mann of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Ella E. Knapp of James-town, N. Y., are to be the assistants. All the teachers are new for the school except Miss Knapp, who taught here a year ago, and was well liked.

During the past few days there have been many new cases of sickness. The fact is, cold weather is not healthy. Nor is it conducive to good morals. Such an infamous cold spell as this country has suffered lately, makes people sick and it makes people sneer.

We invite the attention of the law legislature to such rigorous winters, and suggest that a law be passed abolishing them altogether.

BRIDGE NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that bids will be received at the county clerk's office for Wayne county, Nebraska, for the building and repairing of all bridges required to be built or repaired in Wayne county during the year 1913;

D124 County Clerk.

From the Ponca Journal, January 6, 1880:

Guy R. Wilbur of the Cedar County Nonpareil was in town this week.

Yesterday the weather increased its snowing and blowing propensities. Weather mentioned by the approach of a cold front or rather slight depression, or the conjunction of the planets, or pure capriciousness on the part of the bosses of the weather, we cannot say.

The village school opens next Monday. Professor Wolff of Lincoln, will be the principal of the school, and Stewart Mann of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Miss Ella E. Knapp of James-town, N. Y., are to be the assistants. All the teachers are new for the school except Miss Knapp, who taught here a year ago, and was well liked.

During the past few days there have been many new cases of sickness. The fact is, cold weather is not healthy. Nor is it conducive to good morals. Such an infamous cold spell as this country has suffered lately, makes people sick and it makes people sneer.

We invite the attention of the law legislature to such rigorous winters, and suggest that a law be passed abolishing them altogether.

BRIDGE NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that bids will be received at the county clerk's office for Wayne county, Nebraska, for the building and repairing of all bridges required to be built or repaired in Wayne county during the year 1913;

CORRESPONDENCE FROM OUTLYING POINTS

WINSIDE.

Mr. A. H. Carter is the editor of the Winside Department and is authorized to accept all subscriptions and renewals. It will be appreciated if every one having news for this department will let him know.

WINSIDE'S GROWTH AND BUSINESS MEN

Twenty-six years ago next month the writer came to Winside, and the inhabitants at that time consisted of Mr. and Mrs. McDerby, who kept the post-office, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cherry (Jack was selling lumber), Mr. and Mrs. John Morin (Mr. Morin was the section foreman), and Jimmie Hall, the station agent. None of these were there now at that time. To look over the sparsely settled country at that time and land selling at from four to ten dollars per acre was not very encouraging for one to launch a mercantile business. We started and followed it for twenty years, and as for our success, we have no complaint. The past five years all we have done is to fill space in some store or public place and when the proprietors became cranky we would like to go home up the hill where there is always one to bid us welcome.

To show the growth and development of this country, Winside and its business men, we mention the business men separately, the business being transacted generally. Since the first of January, 1912, we give the correct number of loads of grain and stock shipped to market from this station: Cattle, 164 cars; hogs, 182 cars; horses, 3 cars; sheep, 29 cars; grain, wheat, 13 cars; oats, 20 cars, and corn 79 cars. This would indicate the highest prosperity for the farmers near our little village as prices for hogs and cattle have been higher than ever known before in this country. Car loads here are not all. Butter and eggs alone, through the best season, run from five to seven hundred dollars weekly and cream at the three stations amounted to thirty-five thousand dollars. The farmers about Winside are prosperous, most everything their homes, equipped with all modern improvements and they are the best. When we mention those to make Winside what it is today.

Frank Weible.

The pioneer merchant of Winside commenced business with a small stock of general merchandise in 1885, in the building now occupied by Frank Metz. A few years later he moved across the street to a new brick that he had built for his growing business, and now his store is valued at over $12,000 stock. With two able sons to assist him he turned his attention also to grain and stock, owns an elevator, buys grain, hogs and cattle and is one of our largest feeders, and now owns 1,200 acres of land under cultivation. Frank Weible's great success came by his square dealing, making his word good under all circumstances, and attending strictly to business.

I. O. Brown.

The only exclusive grocer started in business twenty-one years ago, with a very small beginning. He later purchased the little wood building he occupied and by strict attention to grocery and confectionery lines, his business grew until he was crowded for room, then he moved to his new structure and built a commodious brick building, well equipped for his business. He now has a good home, 160-acre farm and a good paying business, with money at interest.

Gust Bleich.

Commenced the harness business in Winside-January 15, 1886, and is succeeded by George W. Prope. About ten years ago he took Charles Wolf in as partner, and they carry a complete stock of harness and men's shoes, and have been very successful. Both men have fine homes and Mr. Bleich has a good farm in eastern South Dakota, and owns some good property in Winside.

Two Pool Halls.

Winside has two pool halls, one on the north side, owned by Bert Remington, having bought the place from Frank Frenzer, last week. The boys have kept a good, clean hall and have done a profitable business. The one on the south side is rented and is conducted by Mr. Sharpnack and Clarence Tilson. They have a bowling alley in connection, and also feed the hungry.

A. C. Lantz.

Owns and conducts the one drug store on the north side, owned by Bert Remington, having bought the place from Frank Frenzer, last week. The boys have kept a good, clean hall and have done a profitable business. The one on the south side is rented and is conducted by Mr. Sharpnack and Clarence Tilson. They have a bowling alley in connection, and also feed the hungry.

horse is well patronized by the traveling public.

Floor Brothers.

Norman and William Floor, eight years ago, invested $4,500 in merchandise at Laurel, Neb., and moved the stock to Winside and commenced business in the room and the opera house. They prospered from the start and this year they were so crowded for room that they put up a very nice brick building, with a full basement, 50x100 feet, costing $11,000, and moved into their new quarters December 1. They have one of the finest stores in north-east Nebraska and carry a $15,000 stock and did a $12,000 business in 1912. The boys own good, substantial homes, have families and have the confidence of the entire people to whom they owe their success.

Bruno & Co.

The Bruno Company started business as a company three years ago. They erected a $100,000 store, floor and concrete, and they have a complete line of farm machinery, wagons, buggies, light and heavy hardware and automobiles. The year just past their sales amounted to the sum of $65,000. Last fall they installed an electric light plant and several business houses have made connections and they intend to enlarge their system supply school and Bruno & Co. is a very progressive firm and certainly gets its share of the trade.

Lead Offices.

Lound & Smith do a real estate, insurance and collection business; also look after the property of non-residents, and the past year have done quite an extensive business in the San Luis valley country.

The Henderson is also in the real estate business, makes collections and does insurance. If you want to buy a farm-Elly always has one, if you want city property or rent a house he can accommodate you.

Saloons.

Winside has two saloons, run by George Mannion and John Dimmel which each pay into the city treasury $1,000 a year. One thousand dollars goes to the city and $2,200 pays the town expenses. John Dimmel is the veteran saloon keeper and Mr. Mannion has been in Winside four years. They are both big-hearted, generous men and come as near following the law as one can in that business.

Churches.

The people support three churches—two German Lutheran and one Methodist. The Methodist pulpit is ably filled by Rev. C. E. Conell and draws a large congregation. One German church is in charge of Rev. Press and the other in charge of Rev. W. Moehring of Wayne.

Lodges.

The town is well supplied with lodges—Masonic, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows, Sons of Herman, Modern Woodmen, Rebekahs, Highlanders, Royal Neighbors and Eastern Star.

School.

Winside has a twelve-grade school, ably conducted by Professor Greig, assisted by Miss Anne Goodrich; in fact the patrons are proud of the whole faculty. Everything has moved along nicely so far without a word of discord among teachers, pupils or patrons.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Morrow.

Dr. and Mrs. H. Morrow conduct the military and dry goods store in the old Carter building and are doing a good business. While they are handicapped by the failure of Mr. Morrow's eyesight, the people give them good patronage and they are well pleased. They have made a success by being perfectly reliable with no fake advertising. When they sell you that such article is sold at half price they mean what they say and do not do it to take people to their place of business.

Jerry Jorgenson.

Jerry Jorgenson started in business a year ago by opening a cream station. Then he added butter, eggs and poultry, and later added flour and feed. He prospered from the start, bought the building he occupies, buys flour by the carload, ships poultry daily and has paid for cream alone the past year $16,000.

Meat Market.

Henry Trautwein has the only butcher shop and has the exclusive ice business. No one in a small town can run a city market, but Henry always keeps a good line of meats and is very successfully conducted in a small town, and his business is satisfactory to the public and to himself. His shop sales last year were $14,000, and his ice business amounts to a thousand a year.

Walter Gaebler.

Walter Gaebler is the pioneer hardware dealer. He started in business ten years ago, but has not only a goodly capital in a small town, and his business is satisfactory to the public and to himself. His shop sales last year were $14,000, and his ice business amounts to a thousand a year.

people by square dealing and consequently enjoys a lucrative trade. His sales for the year just past amounted to $24,000. He has held the office of village clerk for over twenty years.

George Gabler.

George Gabler bought the Mundy stock of general merchandise and two years ago and commenced business in the Mundy building. His sales were good, the first year amounting to $20,000, and in 1912 they increased to $26,000. George is making great success as a merchant and Mrs. Gabler is entitled to her share of the honors.

Library.

Winside has a free public library located in a building by itself, in charge of Mrs. Dav Dysart, who keeps it open to the public three days each week. Although this library is not a "Carleige" it is very much appreciated by the people.

L. S. Needham & Brothers.

In 1892 the firm of Mr. Chesky & Needham started business in Winside. They built the building now occupied by F. L. Mettel, sold merchandise and bought live stock. Later they sold their store and started up a lumber business. They then sold this and built an elevator and applied themselves to the grain and live stock business. In 1901 they dissolved partnership, and L. S. Needham took the business and he and his two brothers, Charles and L. C., have taken care of it since that time. There are very few firms in northern Nebraska today that are doing more business than the Needham Brothers. They handle coal and all kinds of grain and they keep on feed the year round an average of three hundred steers and ship to market about eight hundred and a year. They pay out on an average of one thousand dollars a day, or $300,000 yearly. L. S. Needham alone owns 1,800 acres of land.

W. C. Tilos.

Owns the building on the south side. He buys cream for David Cole of Omaha. He has paid out for cream the past year $4,000.

Ed Cullen.

Is the pioneer implement dealer, having been in the business for twenty-two years. He has recently sold his implement house out to the city and business to Thomas Pryor and John Jaskowjak who took possession yesterday. Mr. Cullen has made a success of the business, and retires with plenty to keep the wolf from the door. His sales for 1912 amounted $45,000. He also owns the West End harness shop and keeps a fine assortment of ready-made harness. His friend, Henry Lucas has been in charge of the shop for many years, and he is one of our best men with whom to do business. The people of Winside would regret very much to lose the Cullen family should they decide to locate elsewhere. No family in town would be missed more. They will leave next week to spend the winter in California.

Lumber.

Winside has two as good lumber yards as any other town. Both have done an increased business the past year. L. C. and G. A. Mittelstadt have been in the lumber business for many years and G. A. has charge of the Winside yard. Aspergen & Strand Lumber Co. own the other yard which is in charge of Avery Stockham. They both handle coal and all kinds of material that go with a first-class lumber business.

Physicians.

For many years Winside has had two doctors. Dr. Cherry filled one place for twenty-five years, but recently sold his business to Dr. J. L. Neely. Dr. McMatry has also been practicing for six or seven years and lately there has been added to the list Dr. Lansing, who practiced in Wakefield. With three doctors on the ground this ought to be made a good healthy community.

F. L. Mettel.

F. L. Mettel commenced business in Winside twenty-one years ago. While he has been in Winside as long or longer than anyone of our merchants, although he has knocked about and taken chances as much as some others, nevertheless he has prospered in his own quiet way and today drives a good car and seems to enjoy life.

Restaurants.

Mrs. Mike Keller and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hodson serve meals and seem to be well patronized. Both restaurants keep a good line of fruits and confectionery, tobacco and cigars.

Livery.

Curt Renabod owns the horse livery and does a profitable business. Curt is a hustler for business, keeps hay for sale, and trades horses when he cannot find anything else to do.

Attorney.

H. E. Egan is the only attorney of Winside. He handles the law every year. He is very successful in his business and stands at the head of the bar in Wayne county.

Barbers.

Judge Shaw has been the Winside barber for many years. He has always kept a good clean shop and had the business of the town. It was of no use for any competitor to come and say: "Judge, you can get out," for he never would have to go. There is another shop now on the south side, run by J. L. and Herman Buech of which we have never heard any complaint, but we know very little about it.

Bank.

The Merchants' State bank is one of the solid institutions of this part of Nebraska. The president, Gilbert Francher, tries to cover this whole territory and does it in a satisfactory manner. He and the two boys, Erik Wible and Dan Carter, make the banking force complete.

Grain Elevators.

We have six grain elevators, three company and three private. E. Weible is used for his own convenience. Newell Brothers use the elevator principally for their own feeding, but they buy their wheat, oats or whatever they have left. Thomas Prime buys hogs and he also buys all kinds of grain and sells coal. He has paid out in 1912 forty-two thousand dollars. The McCull Webster Elevator company is managed by Grover Francis and he has paid out for coal and grain the past year fifty-five thousand dollars. Charles McKim of Wayne, was up to spend Christmas with his mother. Al Martin, John Neary and son William went to Sioux City last Saturday. Mae Moore of Grand Island, is the guest of Nell Bright during her school vacation. Mr. and Mrs. George Phifer left Tuesday to spend a few days at Plainville, Neb.

James Gluss spent last week in Norfolk helping the carpenter on his new house. Lude Ehlers and Meta Buerthel went to Long Pine last week to visit relatives. Harry Simon went to Omaha by way of Fremont Friday morning on official business.

Blacksmiths.

The town and country support three shops and all seem to be doing a good business. Bill Berger is the oldest in the business, never doing anything else and is his father's successor. John Johnson, located next to Heer, understands his trade and receives his share of the holds. In the west end, Ed Berger holds down the job and does it nicely. All Ed needs is a home and some good beer and from indications he will be equipped in the near future.

The Winside Tribune is our weekly newspaper which, under the efficient management of Matt Boye, assisted by his bright little wife, has grown to be quite a newsy little paper and it is a welcome visitor each week in all of our homes. Success to the Winside Tribune.

In Conclusion.

In our description of Winside and its business we cannot pass some vital things of which Winside people are proud. First, they believe that the town is thoroughly established on a prosperous foundation, being located in a rich farming territory. As the country develops and grows, so will Winside. They are proud of its class of people, for they usually pull together socially, and in every way to make the town better. They are proud of its schools and churches, and its system of water works, and its gas plant, (when Tom Strong keeps it coming). They are proud of the beautiful little park which everyone who visits us admires, and last but not least, they are proud of its fine lads—the boys who respond to all calls regardless of conditions: when the able fire chief, Charles Unger, with his feminine voice, whippers, all the fire fighters stand up and take notice. All told, the people are glad they live in Winside and that Winside is on the map.
