

Fix Up The Children

The tired and nervous mother sometimes need relief from her disturbing, uneasy infant.

It may be Worms that are irritating the neck of the bladder, causing bedwetting—they will also make the child nervous, irritable, feverish and cause it to grate the teeth during sleep.

All this is very tiresome to mother—the loss of sleep and the worry soon tell on the nerves.

NYAL'S Worm Syrup

Will Kill The Worms and expel them without discomfort to baby—pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. It may be given with the full confidence that no harmful drugs are being administered.

FATAL ELECTRICITY. Monday's Norfolk Daily News: Norman Palmer, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Palmer of Meadow Grove, died at 11 o'clock Sunday morning from burns received Friday night when he was in contact with live electric power wire at the station of the Iowa and Nebraska Public Service Company at Meadow Grove. The boy was looking down over the roof of the station when his head is supposed to have touched the wire carrying a current of 16,500 volts.

The lad's right eye was burned to a crisp, a two inch burn, believed to be the first-ouch of the deadly wire was found on his head, his left arm was paralyzed and shriveled up. Physicians worked over the lad ever since. Fish-Tar-Compound. No opiates. No salicylates. All efforts were made to save this little life.

Persons troubled with partial paralysis are often very much benefited by W. H. Chapman's Winebago, Neb., massaging the affected parts thoroughly. My two children by when applying Chamberlain's Liniment had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a mastic pain. DEMONSTRATION AND LECTURE AT NORMAL AUDIENCE WELL SATISFIED

Professor Patty Shows Liquid Air, Radium and Wireless Telegraphy - Other Notes.

The members of the Normal lecture course were much pleased with the lecture of Professor William B. Patty on liquid air, radium and wireless telegraphy, given at the chapel last Saturday evening.

Professor Patty has a happy faculty of making his demonstrations and explanations popular, interesting and instructive. Not only did he show the wireless stations in action, but also the possibilities of the wireless way in lightning cities, starting machines, and the like, from distant points. Then with prophetic eye he gave the imagination free range and for a moment held the audience under the inspiration of his unbounded faith in the wonderful prospects of future accomplishments of this great modern discovery.

He exhibited to the audience the glow of radium from a tube of radium bromide of high activity, and also passed several spectrophotographs through the audience that all might see the miniature bombardment of space caused by the emanations from a small speck of radium bromide under a magnifying glass. The illustration of the difference between the active substances and phosphorescent substances like sodium chloride, after exposure to a bright light was very amusing, and the good people of Wayne may expect to see phosphorescent objects on almost any dark night if the lesson was as effective as we believe it was.

The phenomena produced by liquid air were so interesting to the audience that Professor Patty was obliged to extend his lecture. Frozen alcohol that could be pulled like taffy, rubber balls which broke like glass and flowers whose frozen petals crumbled to powder under pressure were among the remarkable accomplishments of the 879 below zero imparted by the liquid air. Professor Patty also shot at the night in the back of the room with a cork projectile from a gun loaded with liquid air. Some say he is a good marksman as well as a lecturer.

Everyone has only words of praise for the evening's entertainment and many expressed the hope that something like it might be given often. State Normal a Note.

Miss Winifred Grant has completed the course of study for a professional life certificate and began work as teacher in the primary department at Sioux City on Monday morning.

The work of the second semester is getting nicely "well" crowded classrooms in every department of the school. Recitations begin at 7:45 in the morning and continue until 4:30 in the evening.

President Conan and Dr. House attended the meeting of the pioneer schoolmasters' club which met at Lincoln on Friday evening of last week. President Conan was one of the principal speakers on the program.

Last Saturday afternoon the executive committee of the alumni association held a meeting and began plans for the annual reunion and banquet which will take place during the coming week. The officers of the association are: C. E. Cross, president; Edith Bechel, secretary; and R. W. Ley, treasurer.

The Omaha university proved easy for the Normal boys last Friday afternoon and the result was a score of 28 to 18 in favor of the home team. Hickman, assisted by the good work of Mears and Kennick, caged basket after basket, and the Normal team made a very creditable showing.

On Wednesday morning Professor Lackey, president of the board of control, presented to the students the new assessment course offered by the school in the second semester. The course will include four basket ball games, three base ball games, one debate and three entertainments, besides the subscription to the Goldenrod. The basket ball schedule is practically arranged, and will be as follows: Mornington Academy, January 30, Normal gymnasium, February 6, high school, February 7, St. Wences, Hancock high team, February 14, Normal gymnasium, Columbus Y. M. C. A., February 21, Normal gymnasium.

...About three weeks ago a call came from Elden, Neb., asking for a teacher for the intermediate grades. Miss Ruth J. Kautson, who had just completed the higher course, was recommended for the position and began her work on January 6. A letter written to Dean Eskin by Superintendent T. H. Frick, among other things, has this to say in regard to Miss Kautson: "While the room could hardly have been in worse condition when she took charge, within two days, she was complete master of the situation and had become so seemingly without any effort: She is making good far beyond my expectations, and I consider that we are fortunate in getting her. She has power of government that few teachers possess, and plans her work carefully."

PIONEER SETTLER DIES AT WAKEFIELD

C. E. Hunter, one of the pioneer settlers of this section of Nebraska, died at his home in Wakefield, Saturday, January 25, 1913. He was a Civil war veteran, prominent Mason, and a well known and highly esteemed citizen. He was a brother of the late Judge E. Hunter of Wayne. The deceased had been ill with pneumonia with complications for several weeks.

C. E. Hunter was born in Tioga county, Pa., December 21, 1835, and was therefore aged at the time of his death 77 years, 1 month and 4 days. In 1855 he moved with his parents to Lee county, Ill., where he was married to Mary Elizabeth Agler February 29, 1860. He enlisted in company 1, Fourth Illinois Volunteer cavalry, October 22, 1861, and was in the battle of Fort Donelson, Fort Donelson and the siege of Corinth. He was discharged on a surgeon's certificate showing physical disability, November 28, 1862.

In 1869 he came to Nebraska and settled on a homestead in what is now Wayne county. In 1870 he helped organize the county and became its first county clerk, serving five years. In 1875 he was elected a member of the state constitutional convention which framed the present constitution. In the same year he established the Wayne County Review, the first newspaper published in the county. He served as county judge of Wayne county from 1878 to 1890, and has a record of thirty-one years as postmaster at LaPorte and Wakefield, Neb.

Mr. Hunter was also active in Masonic work during all these years, assisting in the organization of Carleton Lodge No. 83, A. F. & A. M., at LaPorte. Afterward he moved to Wakefield, and was W. M. of this lodge for twenty-one terms. He also assisted in organizing Hoggan Chapter No. 39 Royal Arch Masons at Wakefield, serving as High Priest of this order for twenty-one years. He was a member of the Jordan Commandery No. 15 at Blair, Neb., and was made a thirty-third degree Mason July 18, 1888. He was also a member of Clayco Post No. 176, G. A. R., and Wakefield Lodge No. 39, A. O. U. W.

Mr. Hunter is survived by his widow and ten children: L. E. J. E. J. L. C. U. B. G. and Ethel Hutter; and Mrs. C. A. H. Merritt and Mrs. F. J. Hoyder, Mrs. A. N. Hunter and Mrs. P. H. Fritchell. A large concourse of people attended funeral services in the Wakefield auditorium Tuesday afternoon. Rev. E. B. Schaefer of the M. E. church in Elm Creek, preached the funeral sermon. Later at the Wakefield cemetery Dr. Evans of Emerson led the impressive Masonic burial services.

Organized Wayne County. C. E. Hunter who died in Wakefield Saturday, was one of the thirteen men who met at the residence of George Scott, now the W. A. Hunter place, on Grand Creek, in 1854, to organize the county. At such organization G. E. Hunter was chosen county clerk. Following were the other officers: George Scott, county treasurer; A. D. Allen, sheriff; A. A. Fletcher, county judge; Dr. R. B. Crawford, county superintendent. It is understood that all of the thirteen, with the exception of Dr. Crawford, have passed from earth to glory.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Pastor.) Mass Sunday at 8:30 a. m. Catechetical instruction at 3:30, and benediction at 7:30 in the evening.

German Evangelical Lutheran. (Rev. B. Moehring, Pastor.) There was a good attendance last Sunday, when Rev. Rabe of Bloomfield installed the new pastor, Rev. Moehring. There will be no services next Sunday as the pastor will preach at Winlock, Sunday school as usual at 10 o'clock.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.) Sunday will be our communion service. Those who have been baptized since last communion will be given the hand of church fellowship. Let all be present as far as possible. The pastor will give a short communion address. The young people's meeting will be led by Mr. Carl Hollenbeck. The subject is a splendid one: "The Ideal Christian—His Zeal."

Mr. Clarence Linton, formerly of Carroll, but now attending the State Normal here, will speak at the evening service. Mr. Linton is preparing himself for the ministry and will have something good to say.

The Ladies' Missionary society meets with Mrs. Henry Fryer (tomorrow) afternoon. Mrs. Richardson will be the leader, while the subject to be considered is "Africa."

This afternoon (Thursday) the ladies will give a chicken pie supper from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The people speak in very appreciative terms of the service of Professor Britell, under Mr. Rogers, last Sunday. Each speaker pleased an audience with a helpful message. We are fortunate to have such splendid men in our churches.

First Methodist Church. (Rev. William G. Pastor.) The program for the afternoon and evening entertainment and picnic on the fourteenth of February will appear in next week's papers. It is to be the most popular, useful and entertaining program from three to nine-thirty p. m. ever given by Wayne Methodists. Don't forget that all of us—program and picnic—are for Methodist people, everybody that attends church or Sunday school there, and everybody that "leaves" that way. You don't need any special invitation further than this: Just get your work in order for the time named, fill your basket, fill of good things to eat and be present. Plenty of tea and coffee will be made for everybody, by a committee of lady society ladies in the church kitchen.

The Love Feast will be attended on Wednesday evening of last week and so greatly enjoyed that nearly every one present expressed a desire that a Love Feast be held in connection with our next quarterly communion service. This will occur on the first Sunday in March.

Special attention of both parents and children to the following notice, viz: The Little Light Bearers and the King's Herald will meet in the League room next Sunday afternoon promptly at four o'clock. A good program has been prepared. All children interested in things Chinese, especially those from 9 to 14 years of age, are urged to come.

The pastor will preach both morning and evening next Sunday.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. J. Levin, Pastor.) All join in heartfelt sorrow for the loss of Mrs. Herman Ludberg in the loss of their little darling baby. Its burial took place last Saturday at 11 a. m. in a short service held at the home. The pastor officiating. The mother's grief in this writing is very low, but with signs of returning health.

Brother Gossard and family, too, have our sympathy. Their infant son is still quite sick. Notwithstanding the many on the sick list, our services on last Sunday were quite well attended, and the benediction was given. The matter was greeted at the close of the services with many words of appreciation for the sermon.

The morning service begins at 10:30, and the evening service at 7:30. If you are one of those who are desirous of worship. Superintendent Glaser has aroused the enthusiasm of the Sunday school by a campaign for regular attendance. The pastor is also by an effort to enlarge the roll of membership. He has offered prizes to the men and boys, and also to the women and girls for the most effective work. A banner has been offered to the class in the Sunday school which shows the best growth during the present quarter.

The social meeting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Hillebrand, last week on Friday evening was much enjoyed by the members of the C. E. and their friends. Automobiles conveyed the young people to their destination, and during the evening they were entertained with various games and also a musical program, after which refreshments were served. The C. E. is planning to have the pastor meet his class on last Saturday afternoon the category class was organized. There were two, a brother and sister, who came seventeen miles to be enrolled in this class. This shows much zeal and earnestness. The class meets regularly at the pastor's study every Saturday at 2 o'clock. This arrangement will continue in the discharge of their duty. Our services for next Sunday will be as follows:

The Trend of our Public Schools Toward the Fostering of Religion.

At the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening the pastor, Rev. Alexander Corkey, spoke of the trend of public sentiment toward the fostering of religion and morality in our public schools. Within the last few weeks the school board of Columbus, O., has opened the public schools for religious services in connection with a religious campaign now going on in the capital city of Ohio, and their action has called attention to the fact that religion and morality are being fostered more and more by public schools all over America.

The man who is most to blame for this trend," said the minister, "is George Washington; who declared in his farewell address that religion and morality were the two strong pillars essential to a free government, and the pastor declared that national morality was impossible unless religion was cultivated." Not only George Washington commended the political necessity of religion and morality in our citizenship, but all the great leaders in American history, without exception, have stood for the Bible and for the preservation of value of religious principle. These things have tended to foster in the American people a belief in the value of religion and in the necessity of Bible reading and prayer in our public schools. "Another reason why the Bible is breaking up our public schools all over the country, and why religion is being given a place in our public school system is that religion and morality are fostered in all other public institutions," continued the speaker. "If it then showed how our government fosters religion in stamping "In God we trust" on our coins; and in providing religious services for the men in our armies and navies. Legislatures and congress are opened with prayer. Religious services are carried on by the state in the penitentiaries. Religion is fostered in all these state institutions because of the belief of the American people that religion and morality are essential to our national welfare. It is the height of inconsistent absurdity to give the inmates of the penitentiary a better influence than we give the children of our homes, and it is fitting but unmet that the wrong done in the rising generation—a exclusion of all religious influence from our public schools should be righted in this day when the American people are rising from their long sleep of moral apathy, and are seeking again the ideals and principles of the fathers of our Nation. "In Omaha today," declared Dr. Corkey, "the inmate of the city jail is given superior advantages over the pupils in the public schools of Omaha as far as religious influences are concerned. The reason for this is that so many thought more of restoring them of forming men."

In conclusion the speaker declared that the exclusion of the Bible from our public schools was un-American, reasonable, inconsistent, and calculated to weaken the chance of every pupil in meeting and overcoming the temptations of life. He predicted that the Bible would soon knock at the doors of the public schools in Wayne, and would be admitted there as in thousands of other typical American communities.

JOYS OF A RUSSIAN HOTEL. Nice Lofly Rooms With Sealed Windows and Smoke Laden Air. Writing of the somewhat primitive arrangements of the modern hotels in Russia, the New York Herald writes: "The legal fate, our drive to the hotel. The porters obligingly arranged the matter and quite cheerfully kept the difference. How like the rest of the world! We felt at home at the Parlo. The large, lofty bedchambers and corridors of the hotels make it just possible to breathe in rooms that have double windows sealed with putty, which are never opened from the beginning of the winter till the spring thaw is fully over. As these are no open fires, the ventilation is from the slightly better air of the corridors. A framed notice on the wall informs the visitor that porters are gratuitously permitted to pay extra for, among them, the joy of being clean at the rate of 10 kopecks for a jug of hot water or 50 kopecks for a bath. The bath is a double sink, all was a shower at 25 kopecks. At times it was discovered that your Russian, having a taste for much hot...

or other warm refreshment, since football games and programs are well-attended if he is not fortunate enough to possess a wife to do it for him. "With the lady managing a very faintly superior and her lord smilingly submitting to her, one can easily imagine not forgetting the hermetically sealed windows, the atmosphere in which some worthy Russians go to bed."

Worm in Snow. Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly instead. At reflection heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it. A Watch Under a Tumbler. Placing a watch under a tumbler near the heat of a sick person will give time relief from the tickle which is frequently very trying to highly sensitive nerves—Woman's Home Companion.

RED TAPE IN ERANCE.

It Entangles One Even in Getting the Gas Turned on in a Flat. France is gas turned on in the Parlo, and the inferno of bureaucracy. For example, I wanted the gas to be turned on in my flat. I wrote a letter to the gas company and they sent me a postcard to the company telling the company to come and turn it on. Not at all. It was told that it would be better to call upon the gas company. "What do you desire, monsieur?" "I am the new tenant of a flat, and I want the gas turned on. My house has a new tenant of a flat, and he wants the gas turned on. He should be able to get it."

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune, January 29, 1885:

J. W. Hook sold his interest in the City Meat Market to his partner, Mr. Hirsch.

Local market: Wheat, 50 cents; corn, 24 cents; oats, 15 cents; hogs, 53.40; cattle, 42.30.

E. L. Harsh, an attorney of Oshkosh, has formed a partnership with H. E. NYC in Wayne.

The county seat election in Cedar county indicates victory for Hartington.

The outcome will probably be determined by the courts.

From the Wayne Herald, February 1, 1894:

Born, February 27, 1894, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. G. Garwood.

A. P. Childs receives notice of his appointment as postmaster at Wayne.

J. E. Barker buys the interest of W. L. Coleman in the barber shop of Barker & Coleman.

The running of U. P. trains over the M. & O. tracks between Norfolk and Sioux City was discontinued.

up to business in no time, when he shook his many locks, and in a roar of rage he upon the country another Northwest was. Hence, our January issue was like the Indian summer of 1881, never realized.

Attorney Hughes of Elk Point, says there are now in Union county, sixty-seven cases of small pox, and that something over thirty deaths have occurred.

One of four or five who had it have entirely recovered from the disease, and of the number taken, it is a fair estimate that not over every other one will get well. This not spreading much this week. The statement that those in the quarantined district are destitute of the necessities of life is unfounded, as Elk Point is furnishing all the goods wanted. There is no amount of suffering, however, Mr. Hughes said, for want of nurses to take care of the sick. In some families nearly every member is down with it, leaving each one to care for himself.

Mrs. A. R. Tabor of Crider, Mo., had been troubled with sick headaches for about five years, when she began taking Chamberlain's Tablets. She has taken two bottles of them and they have cured her. Sick headaches is caused by a disordered stomach for which these tablets are especially indicated. Try them, get well and stay well. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY. Thanks to the persistence of Brother Ferguson, I attended the meeting of the State Historical society and was greatly enjoyed in and have received enthusiasm to arouse our Wayne people in some way along the line of old settlers for historical notes.

The program that was interesting throughout, I think I can say that Smith of Lincoln, Ia. Rate of Otter county, the original poem by Miner. Kiefer of Walthill on the Indians, Mrs. Gist, president of the federation of clubs, and Mrs. Norton, of the D. A. R., were best worth listening to in the day's session.

After I gave up talk, the state historian, Albert Watkins, said, "I agree with what that Wayne is the best county in the state and I named your county best."

Of the evening addresses, that of Then, Catholic bishop of south Nebraska, on history, was one of the greatest I ever listened to. The man is eloquent, and his subject matter was well high sublime. I should like to mention old-time Wayne friends whom I met there, but space forbids.

Attended two sessions of the legislature and inhaled a great amount of knowledge and the odor of the best brands of cigars.—Charlotte M. White.

TO STAMP OUT HO CHOLERA. In the course of an article treating of hog cholera, Wallace's Farmer says this among other things: "We believe that when a farm is infected, the veterinary authorities ought to have sufficient means to appraise and condemn the same—that is, that they may at least have the appraised value. It would not be wise to pay the full appraised value, for reasons which we need not mention. This would cost the state a good deal of money, but a mere fraction of what it is actually costing us now. We do not know, and nobody knows, the extent of the loss to Kansas or Iowa or any other state with a large hog population this year, but in some of the states it will run up into the millions, whereas the expenditure of a tenth or a twentieth of a million under proper management and control would prevent its. No legislature should adjourn without making ample provision for the manufacture of hog cholera serum. The government of the United States should be clothed with authority to supervise the manufacture of this serum, whenever it is put upon the market. For poor serum is worse than none at all."

"When a farmer learns that cholera has broken out in his herd, he had better follow the plan we have recommended, and which we learned by practical experience—that is, sell everything that is fit to go, take his chances on the broad sows, and breed only from those that recover, usually about fifty per cent. For these are usually immune, and are worth as much for breeding purposes as any other stock he has before the attack. Then clean out, disinfect, and go on. It would be better to do that than to buy serum of doubtful quality."

"There is another practice about which we have grave doubts, and that is what is known as the simultaneous treatment which means substituting a certain amount of cholera serum, and at the same time a certain amount of virulent cholera culture, on the theory that this will render the hog immune." Possibly it will, but how are you going to administer this virulent culture without taking grave risks of spreading the disease? In fact, we have reason to suspect—and this is not only theory, but the testimony of those who know—that a good deal of the hog cholera in Iowa this year has been caused by the careless handling of this virulent cholera culture. We say careless, for no matter how carefully it is handled, more or less of it will find its way to the ground and thus spread the disease.

"We believe that by the methods we have outlined, cholera can be, if not stamped out absolutely, kept on an individual farm here and there. One thing, however, must be observed. The farmer who has hog cholera should not permit a neighbor, under any pretense, to visit his hog yards; nor should he allow any vehicle of any kind to enter his premises. The quarantine should be as rigid as for smallpox and diphtheria in the cities. No one outside the family has any business in an infected yard, with the exception of the veterinarian; and the farmer himself has no business there, where other hogs are kept. This applies not only for this reason, but this has a right to make every provision that science can suggest, and to give the veterinarian ample authority to do what seems best with an infected herd."

CITY COUNCIL. The city council of the city of Wayne met at the council room in regular session, there being present: Mayor J. H. Kate, and Councilmen W. M. Kingsbury, John Larison, J. G. W. Lewis, George Lamberson, G. H. Stricker and D. S. McVicker.

A communication in reference to the meeting held on Sunday, was read, and it appearing that the risk had already been assumed, a motion was made. On motion the application of F. A. Nance to amend the ordinance and permit him to operate a picture show on Sunday, was rejected. Representatives of the Western Electric Co. the Fairbanks, Morse company and E. C. Gaynor, civil engineer of Sioux City, appeared before the council and discussed the advisability of changing the power plant to an alternating system. On motion the mayor and council entered into a contract with K. O. Gaynor to draw preliminary plans and estimates for the rebuilding of the electric light and water plant at Wayne, Mo. to receive $100 for the work.

LARGE BENEFITS OF THE KINDERGARTEN

Recent articles contributed to the Herald in the interest of kindergarten work in public schools, have a local educator to request publication of an extract from an article appearing in the latest number of the Kindergarten Review. The article was written by Carol P. Oppenheimer of Savannah, Ga., and the extract follows: "The kindergarten believes that the kindergarten should be in every school because of the acknowledged importance of the foundation in any work. The kindergarten knows that by directing natural activities during the period from two to six years of age, the child's mind, and at the same time the child's joy in living, be increased; and she therefore believes it a ruthless waste to have to form these habits at a later age when the child might be using his conscious energies upon other accomplishments, which would not have been possible at the earlier period. "The kindergarten believes that education should be a continuous process and that the kindergarten in the school can be more completely united with the work of the primary grades than the kindergarten elsewhere maintained. "The kindergarten believes the kindergarten should be prepared in some degree for the work of the primary school to receive part of its curriculum. He has dealt with number in a variety of ways; has expressed ideas through at least a dozen mediums, including several forms of constructive handwork; has learned to love the beautiful in art, music and language and to express himself with some small proficiency in each of these mediums. His name is an appreciative unity with the nature world, and understood definitely a few of its secrets; has enjoyed many experiences concerning the human world about him; and, over and above all, has learned to look upon school as a place of delights, upon growth as a thing to be coveted, upon his teacher as a good comrade, and upon his school as a place where he can count upon aid when he needs it, and whom it is his privilege to assist when he can. "The majority of children leave school early, as is seen by a comparison of high schools and grammar schools in point of numbers, and the kindergarten gives an opportunity for one or perhaps two additional years of schooling, as a home-formation, or, in other words, the time at which a child may, if need be, go forth as wage-earner. "We have the statement from public-school officials in Chelsea, Mass., and St. Louis that the child whose school career begins in the kindergarten less likely falls back in a grade than children without this foundation. The state according to these statements, seldom has to pay double for the education of kindergarten pupils, and the kindergarten becomes an institution of economy. "Because the kindergarten deals with the child's mind, and lowest method is a natural development, because it is a process of living, and not a preparation for future living, its spirit is one of action, freedom, vitality, and these things being infectious, the kindergarten leads new life to the school in which it is placed. "The kindergarten child is helped to see his world in perspective and to appreciate its activities. "He is made to desire a share in the responsibilities of the home. "He has something to contribute to the conversation and life of the home different from the contributions of other members of the family, and his identity as an individual is strengthened. "The kindergarten, inasmuch as it is a process of living, is naturally able to give the child a sense of the value of the work of others in these respects decreases. "The kindergarten that is truly such is as beautiful as the kindergarten can make it, and often becomes an example to the home in simplicity of color, arrangement, decoration. "The kindergarten knows the value of a parent's point of view, and by urging parents' assistance in upfitting the kindergarten she helps them to become consciously active in the course of their child's education. "The kindergarten believes that education is a twenty-four hour, seven-day, twelve-month process, and she, therefore, feels in duty bound to know the homes of the children she teaches, and to co-operate with the parents in strengthening those homes wherever they may stand, and strengthen them.

"Many activities of the kindergarten are an interpretation of the community life about the child, and he is led therefrom to a growing appreciation of the agencies that minister to his needs and that of the fellow beings. "The kindergarten believes the child in her charge to be affected by every activity of the community in which he lives, and, therefore, considers it part of her responsibility to uplift that community wherever it lies within her power. It is thus that a great social settlement has often been the outgrowth of a single kindergarten. "The parents' organizations which are associated with many kindergartens are frequently democracies in the best sense of that word, and strengthen the community life in the way that any truly democratic organization, working actively for a vital cause, is bound to do. "The greatest benefit of the kindergarten to the community, however, is not any single aspect of kindergarten work, but the development of the child's character, the development of his sense of responsibility, and the development of his ability to work with all the obligations of a community. "Public life together, work together, play together, develop their own powers, contribute according to their own special gifts, make and observe regulations for the good of the whole. And this training to live successfully as a community member is given at the period that matters through the ages, never earlier, the most plastic, and that every child who looks back upon his own experience knows in the adult is permanently influential. "Therefore, the kindergarten believes that when every child in the land has a kindergarten education, effective citizenship will increase, and one more step will have been taken toward the practical realization of the Brotherhood of Man."
