THE PUBLIC SCHOOL IN ENTERTAINMENT

INTERESTING PROGRAM GIVEN

Efforts of Students Reflect Talent and Training—Appreciative Crowd Attends

(Written for the Herald.)

On Tuesday evening, March 11, the Wayne public school gave an annual program to its patrons and friends, as follows:

Opening Number—High School Orchestra.

Folk Dances by Kindergartens: (a) Hansel and Gretel Dance (German); (b) Schlemmer Dance (Danish); (c) I See You (Spanish Singing Game).

Singing by First and Second Grades: (a) The Disappointed Snowflake; (b) The Sand Man.

Pantomime—Babies of the World—By First and Second Grades.

Sing by Third and Fourth Grades: (a) The Little Boy; (b) Spring Love Song; (c) Bullad of Betsy Ross.

Recitation—Our Hired Girl—By Floyd Carpenter.

Art Dramatization—By Grades Third and Eighth:

1. Baby Sorrow, by Van Dyke-Mahle.
2. The Swart, by Jean Francis Mills-Herbert-Lanase.
3. The Broken Pitcher, by George-Nabel Hansen.
4. Madam LeBaron and her Daughter, by Le Brun—Byronne-Mariette and Madge Winterstein.
5. Souls Awakening, by Sanborn-Fanning.
6. The Cherubs, by Saggia Raphael—Valda Hurst and Essie Hinson.
7. The Angelus, by Miller-Bonnie-Hess and Donald Miller.
8. The Gleaners, by Miller-Bonnie-Hess, Helen Main and Louis Bova.

Musical—The Harvest Moon, by Sylvia High School Orchestra.

Writing Demonstration by Fifth Grade.

Singing by Fifth Grade: (a) Songs of the Icicle; (b) Heigh-ho, Daisies and Buttercups; (c) Slumber Song (Watts).

Indian Chant Drill by High School Girls.

Reading—Judgment Day (Edmond Vance Cook)—Emmet DeWitt.

Solo—Don't Let the Roses Listen (Chatter-Ing-Hughes).

Musical—Mixed High School Chorus: (a) King of the Forest an O.; (b) Old King Cole (English Folk Song), arranged by C. B. Rich.

Oration—Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death (Patrick Henry)—Hays, M. Mark.

Musical—High School Girls' Chorus: (a) Tuscan Love Song (Garcetti); (b) Shepherd's Goodnight (Melody from "The Rose Tree").

A night's school of high school orchestra played the opening number, after which the rest of the program followed without interruption. The work of the high school orchestra was very much enjoyed by everyone.

Perhaps the folk games and songs by the kindergarten attracted more attention than any other number. The naive pleasure of the children in their playing was pleasing and infectious.

The art dramatization, because of the interestingness of the real feature of the program. The children, trained by Miss Bechel, assumed the difficult positions necessary in the representation of the pictures and were able to hold them for several seconds without noticeable motion. The pictures were presented in a large frame built for the purpose and were taken from paintings by master artists. Each picture received much applause.

The Indian chant drill by the high school girls was a fair exhibition of the work which has been done by the girls' gymnasium classes this year. The girls dressed in the regulation blue suits which are required by the school and sang the clubs gracefully and accurately.

The singing by the grades and high school gave evidence of much thorough drill and training. The unusual selection and expression of the younger children were especially noticeable. The individual work in reciting and singing was very well done. The piano orchestra was also thoroughly enjoyed.

The program was a success in many ways. The school, too, was very much pleased with the support given it by the town. During the program the school was thronged by the interested people who were in their respective rooms with games and story telling.

TO REDUCE COST OF IMPROVING PLANT

A plan which seems to be gaining ground, and which Mayor Kate says he favored from the start, is to abandon expensive improvements at the power plant at this time, and vote bonds of $200,000 for the purpose of buying a new boiler and building an engine room for the plant. It is thought that a new boiler will put the plant in shape for good service for ten years. Then it is believed the city will be in a better condition to install oil burning engines or make other changes and improvements to the system. This proposition, if carried out, would mean a heavy investment will be considered with gratification.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD AN ANNUAL MEETING

Thirty-two Wayne Odd Fellows attended the district meeting of the order at Dakota City, Tuesday, the Wayne lodge being the only one to have a full team out on the third degree. Dakota City was in holiday attire for the occasion, and members of the lodge were everywhere in evidence. The Lutheran ladies served a rich banquet at mid-night, and the generous hospitality of the town was thoroughly appreciated by the army of guests. The meeting in 1914 will be held at Randolph. The following Wayne members attended, the first nineteen mentioned constituting the team: George Roberts, Arthur Norstrom, P. C. Crockett, John Dennis, Fred Cozad, N. A. Jensen, Warren Shalices, George Lamphorn, F. L. Hughes, A. S. Wilson, H. L. Griggs, C. E. Chance, W. L. Mahlett, W. O. Hansen, A. H. Hanson, Paulson, L. A. Kiplinger, A. J. Dempsey, Ray Preder, LeRoy Ley, R. A. Clark, James Hamon, L. E. Pansbaker, George Hofstet, R. P. Wick, J. M. W. Gillette, Nels Julius, Ed Ellis, H. B. Graves, Oscar Johnson, Arthur Gustafson, John Gustafson, and Frank Selstrom.

BAZAAR AND EXCHANGE

The Aid society of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar and food exchange in the church parlors on Saturday, March 15, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. All sorts of home made articles will be on sale. Also a line of Japanese linens and hand painted goods—pictures, picture cards, cards, etc.—will be on sale. Refreshments will be served and Japanese wafers and tea, pies, cakes, bread—and everything good for your Sunday dinner can also be had.

GOEMAN AND OTHERS FINED FOR GAMBLING

Simon Goeman, Sam Miller and George Sheehar, who were convicted on charges of gambling at the 312 session of the district court, were fined by Judge Waterfield last Saturday. Goeman was fined $150 and costs, and Miller and Sheehar $100 apiece and costs. Miller and Sheehar are paying the fine by staying in jail.

SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Hensley, Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Martin were recent visitors.

Lena and Lyman Martin entered the fifth grade and Loyde Martin the third grade this week.

The sixth grade has just placed a new $11 dictionary in their room. The money for this dictionary was raised by candy sales.

Professor Lauenstein visited his agricultural class, visited the illustrated lecture on practical dairying, at the Crystal on Tuesday afternoon.

A May musical festival will be given on by the grades, assisted by the high school and kindergarten, some time in May, probably May 9-1918 at the opera house.

Wayne, Main will represent the high school in the declamatory contest at Norfolk on Thursday evening, March 27, 1913. They will enter the oratorical class.

The school entertainment was a success in every way. The total receipts amounted to nearly $100, and the expenses were about $10. This leaves nearly $90 to be expended for the benefit of the schools. A new flag, a set of reference books, a couch, some Indian clubs and dumb bells, and orchestra and piano music will probably be bought with the money.

Hooper kitchen cabinet, refrigerator, electric stove, vacuum machine, bed room suit, combination bookcase, three lockers, all in good condition, and two sets of bargain tables before Saturday.

WHO WILL BE WINNERS ON SATURDAY NIGHT?

ENERGY NOW AT A PREMIUM

Forty-eight Fast, Fleeting Hours are all That Remain of Contest

Most of us have not felt the high temperature of this city for some time, but for all who have ever seen on the "firing line," but in most of us there is a love of contest, whether it be a game of golf, or a game of chess. Nearly all of us have stood by the "standards" of the "game" and were strictly loyal until the "game" was over. It is our desire to see the home team win. Such is the condition now existing in the Wayne Herald's great automobile racing contest in which hundreds of dollars in prizes are to be awarded in just forty-eight hours.

There are several contestants who have been practically neck and neck all the way through the race. Naturally, each contestant would rather win the prize, than any other, though the other two prizes are the best that can be bought for the money. No one can possibly tell which contestants will win these two prizes, but we can tell that the two prizes are desired by all. Every single subscription counts for victory for some one.

The public is interested in the work of the contestants, and every locality has its favorite. Contestants are urged to greater efforts by their friends, and are apparently aware that energy is the key to success.

All contestants will probably work up to the last few minutes, but should be sure to have their reports made out so that they can turn them in correct in every way, a few minutes before 7:30 p. m., Saturday night. On page eleven of this issue, full particulars appear in regard to the manner of voting on the last day.

All contestants should read the rules of the contest carefully and if in doubt about any point, they should consult the Contest Manager.

One or more of the judges will be in the Herald office some time before the closing hour, and the voting will cease promptly at 7:30 p. m. sharp, Saturday night.

March 15, according to the judges.

Advice all contestants should follow: READ THE RULES ON TIME. They should make their reports as large as possible, and get as many of the long term subscriptions as possible. They should have their reports made out correctly, at least twenty minutes before the closing hour, and be sure that envelopes which contain their reports have their names. Contestants may drop as many reports as they like to the ballot box—they see fit on the last day, providing they put them in before 7:30 p. m.

Excitement will reign supreme on the last day, but contestants should at least prepare enough notices to make reports properly, and get the proper amount of money in their hands.

Every contestant needs all the help he or she can get from all his friends, for it is impossible to get too many votes. It is possible that one subscription more than he or she has counted on for the trick for some contest.

All counting of votes Saturday night will be in the hands of the following judges: H. B. Jones and A. R. Davis. Contest manager will merely be an on-looker during this event.

ALL REPORTS SHOULD BE COVERED WITH ACTUAL CURRENCY IF POSSIBLE. CHECKS WILL CONTAIN THE NAMES OF THE WINNERS. I wonder who they will be!

First: Sam Davies; second: Anna Mae Thomas; third: Mrs. McIntyre; fourth: George Worth; fifth: Essie Young; sixth: Mrs. Bruggeman; seventh: Alna Meyer.

Elderly Wayne Lady Hears Sad Tidings of Death of Sister in Advance

On Tuesday, Mrs. Hannah Baum, mother of Mrs. L. S. Baum, who she makes her home, received the sad news of the death of her only sister, at Kokomo, Ind. This news reveals a phenomenon—perhaps psychic—as it is explained that Mrs. Baum received the information several hours in advance of the message from Indiana.

On Tuesday Mrs. Baum was at Sioux City and President Conn was attending to his duties as usual at the State Normal. Mrs. Baum was in an upper room at the family home, and was engaged in sewing. She was alone in the house.

During the afternoon President Conn received the telegram from Indiana notifying the news of the death, and disbelievingly decided not to make it certain to Mrs. Baum until the return of Mrs. Conn on the evening. On her return, President and Mrs. Conn went to the mother's room, and told her they had some sad news to impart. Mrs. Baum, who had already indicated her sorrow, quickly replied: "I know it, Ellen is dead."

Mrs. Baum explained to Mrs. Conn that at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when she was busy sewing and alone in the house, she was attracted by a noise and then a voice which said: "Ellen died yesterday at 10:30 o'clock." The voice was from Indiana and she died at 11:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Baum is the only surviving member of her father's family. Sixty-five years ago, she started for America with her parents, but the latter were taken sick and perished en route. The sister who died in Indiana, came later.

If the news to Mrs. Baum were a telegraphic communication from the mind of the deceased's daughter, who sent the message, she would have said "Mother," instead of "Ellen." Neither President nor Mrs. Conn had the information when it was conveyed to Mrs. Baum. The latter knew her sister was sick, but previous information indicated that she was improving. She spoke of her from apparent reluctance. Was it a telegraphic communication from some one on earth or was it a voice from beyond the grave?

Jones' Bookstore is Now Showing Edison's Latest

NEW DIAMOND POINT REPRODUCER

In its reproducer lies one of the important differences between the Edison phonograph and talking machines made by other manufacturers. They are not only notable for the fidelity with which they reproduce sound, but they are equipped with a reproducing point (called a needle on other types) which does not require changing with each new record. These points are round and highly polished, and they neither wear themselves out nor the records on which they are played. The absence of grinding, hissing sounds on Edison records is due to these unchangeable, smooth reproducers, and the character of the record itself.

The diaphragm is constructed of a special material which produces a fuller tone and brings out the overtones with greater definition and a wealth of detail. The link, in combination with the diaphragm, tends to soften mechanical noises, and also in producing the rich, mellow tones which is characteristic of this latest product of the great inventor.

The reproducing point is a genuine diamond, highly polished and rounded to perfectly fit the grooves in the record. It is permanently set in an arm which has a broad bearing between pivots, allowing perfect movement and preventing lost motion and vibration.

Also, we are showing a full line of Edison Blue Amber records the latest development in four-minute records. Important in its durability and elimination of wear—30-40 percent and purposes the new record is unbreakable.

You are invited to come in and hear the latest in the phonograph world.

ROYAL Baking Powder

"Lye-peeling process" is the modern "flavor-saving" as well as the "flavor-destroying" process. It consists of using a large machine, probably twenty feet long, into which the peaches are "dumped," after being PITTED AND CUT IN HALF. The fruit is then rolled around in a BOILING SOLUTION OF CAUSTIC SODA which is scalding more or less than lye. This softens the "flesh" and "skin" and when you realize that it is strong enough to do that, you can imagine what it does to the delicate flavor of the fruit. It would not be so bad if the peaches were put into the machine whole. But, recollect that after the peaches are in half and pitted all the fruit surface is exposed and comes in contact with the boiling lye, which permeates its fibers.

After the lye dip, the fruit is run through several waters, or sprayed in order to clean it of the lye, if possible, and these constant soakings are not conducive to the retention of the flavor, if any was there after the lye bath.

The great danger in using the lye machine is that the solution is too strong. Rippe fruit cannot be run through it without disintegrating for it would SLUFF apart. It necessitates the use of UNRIPE FRUITS, which is the only kind that will stand this sort of treatment and GREEN FRUIT WAS NEVER MEANT TO GO ON OR BEAT.

The LYE DIP colors or bleaches the fruit until it looks like ripe fruit but this is artificial and deceives the public.

It is well to know that the Federation of Women's Clubs condemns the lye-peeling of fruit. Variety of fruits will be written on in next issue.

BOND PROPOSITION SUFFERS BACKSLIDE

FAILURE TO GIVE DUE NOTICE

Must Now be Submitted at Special Election Later—Re-division of City's Wards.

"The question of voting bonds for improving the city power plant cannot be submitted at the regular spring election (April 1), on account of insufficient time to give due notice by publication. Such notice must be given for twenty days. The notice was not issued in time to comply with the law. So the plan to vote on the proposition at the spring election has suddenly collapsed. Some who were fearful that the important improvements would have been jeopardized by the liquor question, which is again to be decided, do not regret the oversight. Others believing the power plant proposition would benefit by association with other problems at the regular election, are disappointed. But the oversight cannot be remedied, and it is now planned, as the Herald understands, to call a special election later to consider and determine improvements for the power plant.

Plan to Change Ward Boundaries.

A movement has been started to change the boundary lines of the three wards of the city, and accordingly an ordinance making the proposed changes was submitted to the city council at its regular meeting Monday evening, and was given its first reading. It appears that at present the first ward has considerably less than half the number of voters in either of the other two wards. The voting population of each ward is reported as follows: First, 88; Second, 220; Third, 200. It is proposed to extend the first ward west of Main street to block north in Blair & Mulloy's store, and east of Main street two blocks to the Hiscor livery barn. All north and west of Blair and Mulloy's store would be in the Third ward, and all north and east of the Hiscor livery barn would be in the Second ward. It is proposed to add sixty-five voters to the First ward from the Second and Third wards. Such proposed re-division would still leave the First ward short of the number of voters in either of the other two wards.

Submission of License Question.

At the meeting of the council Monday evening, the petition asking for submission of the question of licensing saloons to voters at the regular election on APRIL 1, was presented and granted.

The following judges and clerks of election were selected:

- First ward—Judge, Pat Dixon; clerks, W. O. Hansen and Mac Millon.
 - Second ward—Judge, Henry Kellogg; clerks, W. D. Redmond and C. H. Sprague.
 - Third ward—Judge, David Cunningham; clerks, A. E. Bressler and J. E. Marsteller.
- The following claims were examined and allowed:

The storm represents some of the loss by fire suffered by the Journal at Ponca last week. Its building was burned, and the press and other equipment ruined. The fire happened during intensely cold weather, and frozen hydrants delayed use of city water until the newspaper plant was damaged.

Efforts are being made to prevent smut and blight in service in time, however, to prevent the flames from communicating to neighboring property. It is understood that Editor Raleigh of the Journal will put up a new building and put in new equipment at once. In the meantime he is granted use of the facilities of the Ponca Leader.

The building was built many years ago by the late William and W. N. Hase.

WHY THE FAILURE OF TRAIN CONNECTIONS

Sam Davies has received another communication from Congressman Dan Stephens inclosing one from the general assistant, Paul H. Thomas, and one from the failure of the passenger train from Norfolk to make connections with the train from Omaha at Norfolk Junction every day at noon. The official explains that the department has no power to prescribe train schedules, and further explains, as the result of investigation, that the train in question is the result of misarrangements at Norfolk Junction because of important connections to make at Sioux City and therefore cannot be delayed.

THE FOURTH NUMBER OF RECITAL COURSE

The fourth number of the recital course will be the direction of the Wayne Choral Union was given Friday evening March 7, at the Methodist church. Mrs. Dorothy North, concert soprano, was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience. Mme. North is gifted with a beautiful voice and pleasing presence. Her program called for much variety in style, but she seemed to compass the field as well as the sustained. She probably reached her audience best by her rendition of Reichardt's "In the Time of Roses," which was enthusiastically encored. The "Shadow March," by Del Riego, pleased every one. She was recalled and sang "The Song of the Wooden Shoe," which very greatly delighted the children. The closing number, "Villanelle Dell' Acqua," was given in dramatic style, showing to good advantage the power, compass and flexibility of Mme. North's voice. To this she was encored heartily and responded by singing "Jamie Deas" in a most charming manner.

Mme. North's appreciation of Mrs. Miller as an accompanist is evinced by the fact that she has asked her. Miller to go with her and assist in her South Dakota tour.—Mrs. J. T. House.

The Citizens Party will hold their caucus at the city hall, Friday evening, March 14, 1913, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for mayor, treasurer, clerk, two members of the board of education, and for such other business as may come before the meeting. After this meeting adjourns, the ward caucuses will be held at the respective voting places in the several wards to nominate candidates for councilmen.

Can You Do Millinery Work?

Don't say so until you have tried your hand in it. Nearly every woman has a natural cleverness in trimming up things and you will find no exception. If you hat needs fixing over to make it look different from last year, get a bunch of our artificial flowers and see what you can do with it. You will be surprised how easily it is done. If your girl needs a new straw hat this year, pick out one of our latest models and trim the hat yourself. You will find that you have capabilities that you did not know of before. You save one hundred per cent or more in cost and the satisfaction you get from the consciousness that you were able to do your own work is worth even more than that to you. DEATH OF J. N. HALLADAY.

Mr. Halladay, who, married, from Wayne county two years ago, to Vol. Jacob, S. D., died of dropsy at his home there Sunday morning.

Mr. Halladay came to Wayne county from Iowa in 1907. Being in health, he induced him to move to Vayland, in the hope that the change would prove beneficial.

He had a farm in the north part of the county, and during his residence there won the friendship of many people. Besides his wife, he is survived by three sons and three daughters, as follows: Arthur and John Halladay of Wayne county, Roy Halladay of Vayland, S. D., Mrs. Frank Mellick and Mrs. William Young of Wayne county, and Mrs. Robert Quist of Vayland.

The funeral was held under the auspices of the I. O. O. F., of which the deceased had been a member for twenty-seven years. Among relatives from a distance in attendance were the Rev. Louis and Will Oudery, and Wallace Halladay of Oakland, Ia., and Fred Bleich and Emil Stroble of Avoca, Ia.

VALUE OF FARMERS' CREAM ASSOCIATION

To the Herald: The second annual meeting of the Farmers' Cream Association was held in the city hall, Wayne, last Saturday, and the usual business of such meeting was transacted.

In order that farmers who have moved into Wayne county during the past seven years may know and have an understanding of the part that the Farmers' Cream association has had in developing and sustaining the present prosperous conditions enjoyed by cream producers in this section, it is well to call attention to a few facts.

Life is fading fast away, silver threads are on my brow; will you love me when I'm gray, as you love me now, my friend? Will you love me when I'm old and silver threads my temper's on the blink.

And I sit around and scold till I drive the folks to drink? Will I have the rheumatic and lumbago and regret, and the cusswords fairly size as I trace my swollen feet; when I have to leave to find since my tribulations are so lame that they will not fit my shoes, will you love me just the same? When the gout infests my toes, and all vanished are my charms, will you kiss me on the nose, will you clasp me in your arms? Silver threads are in the gold; life will soon have run its course. I'd be glad if I were told that your love will still increase when my high ambition fails, and my hopes are all unstrung, and I tell my tiresome tale of the days when I was young; when I sit around the shack making love and blimey-moss at the steaks in my back, and my aching collar bone; when the asthma-racks my chest—so I cannot speak a word, will you fold me to your breast, saying I'm your honeybird? When I'm palsied, stiff and sore, when I'm weary of the game, tell me, O Jezebel dear, will you love me just the same?

I'd hate to be a kicker, and fuss around and beat; so many folks are sicker than those who beat in golf, and I'd hate to be a THE KICKER, knock and have crutch I have to lean, since my tribulations are so lame that they will not fit my shoes, will you love me just the same? When the gout infests my toes, and all vanished are my charms, will you kiss me on the nose, will you clasp me in your arms? Silver threads are in the gold; life will soon have run its course. The low-browed fellow who sells the suds will call you "Cap" or "Judge," while you have bullion in your studs to buy his beautiful badge. And all the sniveling hangers on will cheer your wit and sense, while merrily the demijohn goes round at your expense. They'll greet with wide, ecstatic grin the states of your jokes, while you have cash to pay the gin or fix the crowd with snuff. But when your little cell is laid, and you all huddled are there, falling a chill antarctic frost about the shinning bar. And when you fix your thirty gaze upon the bottled shuff, the gent who smirked in other days, grows fiercely. "Chase yourself!" The losers eye you with disdain, who once said you were fit, and grumble that you cause their pain, when you display your wit. The dices when you showed up so strong, no one can now recall, and if you hang around too long, they'll push you through the wall. pack of onions! I'd like to have a widespread fame, like that of Taffy or Peckin, and so it seems a sorry game to load me down with gburkins. I'd like to see my daughters wear swell lids and silken dresses, and here I get, to my despair, some wilted water-cress! Our congressman, who sheds his blood when prairie brood and grumble, has got a headpiece full of mud—he ought to take a tumble.

The merchant-shadders in his store, white knicker, wair around him, and in one venture to his door, unless to kick or wound him. The POOR MEXICO farmer doesn't now propose to do his springtime seeding, but sits and broods in dark despair, where Mexico lies bleeding. Some years ago the land was gay, a stretch of smiling acres; then Mexico became the prey of magazine manufacturers. "Reform!" the four-eyed writers cried. "What this land is wanting!" They sprang a movement, nation wide, and Mexico lies bleeding. Old Diaz ruled with steady hand, and made the country blossom; he kept the people, knew the land, and knew just how to boss 'em. And he was wise and strong and fair, a man of sense and breeding; they tore the "tyrant" from his chair, and Mexico lies bleeding. The land is painted red with gore, man's folly advertising; from almost every cottage-door a widow's wails are rising; we read about the deadly storm, and shudder as we're reading; they've had their spasms of reform, and Mexico lies bleeding.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS

The rule is that the fountain pen which doesn't leak looks empty. So many people are critics who have not had their qualifications passed upon.

You may have observed that the smart linguist is always able to speak seven languages.

Then there is the gent to whom every incline seems to be about at the angle of forty-five degrees.

While the novelists don't seem to grasp it, it sometimes happens that the hero gets severely whipped.

Every village believes that eventually it will become a dramatic center, particularly if it has no education.

As a person grows old, and thin-blooded, the impression increases that the thermometer is too modest in its declarations.

You're all familiar with the friends who tell you stern truths, or extend compliments with strings attached. Try a friend. There's a party who loves you in spite of your faults; the gent who would state some plain facts; there's the one who hands praise and then suddenly fails to point out your dissolute acts. You may draw some bouquets in the course of a day, but strangely it stings your tough hide, when you note that each one, in a different way, has hidden a brickbat inside. There are those who see much that they choose to call good, but magnify all that is bad, till their croaking c'erabuses your neck—the woods, and hangs the kibosh on what's glad. Now the sport who would meet you in battle array, with a club or a bean and a spear, but more ardent your fair features around in the fray, a sad sight for kink-fols to see. But he is a joy, that should cause you to sing, when compared with friends tried and true, who dangle their compliments tied to a string, and string you whatever you do.

ANNUAL ONSLAUGHT ON DIRT ABOUT DUE

A crusade against the winter's accumulation of ashes, rubbish and filth is important at this season. Streets, alleys and yards should be cleared of tin cans and decayed vegetables and other unsightly or unwholesome piles of waste dumped out during past months. Attention to cleaning up in the interest of appearance, health and comfort is of the utmost importance. Some people are still thoughtlessly depositing ashes in the streets of the business district. This practice which causes annoyance when the wind blows, and threatens automobiles with dirt at all times, should be stopped.

People who have no sense of discrimination should put the brakes on when they feel the going. Also one should avoid telling stories for the delectation of other if he finds, on experiment, that his hearers have been perceptibly bored and pained.

President Wilson is preparing a message which contains in special session that means it will be his last attempt to attack the present tariff with statistics, but urge the need of reform. The tariff is a complex problem, and the president knows the task of making changes is most difficult. With the interests of different sections conflicting, it is probable that it is satisfactory to one is certain to be unsatisfactory to another. To avoid any discrimination, the demand of one section can be fully satisfied. Compromise will be necessary to prevent great dissatisfaction, and in that event, no section will have its desires fully met. Thinking is an unpleasant business.

Legislatures in western states have been considering "blue sky" laws and tightening restrictions against the operation of land and town-plot sharks. The far west has been infested and damaged since its first settlement by many smooth talking and conscienceless individuals who have preyed on the credulity of unsuspecting newcomers. The shark infestation of the "blue sky" has the most sinister quality and the proceeds to "fix" him with the utmost skill. There is no feeling of compunction beneath the veneer of warm solicitude. The generality of people who do things on the square, do not relish the nervous tension necessary to be on the alert in the west to escape the meshes of designing sharks. People need the effort required to avoid being shined for other and more agreeable employment. The legislative movement to surround the public with greater protection against skimmers is a favorable sign. Raising the moral standard of speculation in the west and either crushing or driving sharpers will make the Pacific coast a more healthy place. A man of business integrity does not fear the annoyance of guarding against being harvested without getting something of value in return.

ELECTION OF POSTMASTERS

Richard L. Metcalf, editor of Dryden's Connector, opposes Congressman Stephens' primary for the choice of postmasters. He believes the plan is impractical and not based on the tendency of the times to have less rather than more elective officers. He thinks the Stephens plan to allow republicans to vote for postmasters.

Cold weather puts lots of kinks into your muscles, which only mean that Rexall Rubbing Oil has more work to do.

This is not strange. Rexall Rubbing Oil has been recommended by us for years, and each and every sale of the hundreds of sales we have made has been accompanied by a positive guarantee of satisfaction or money back. We never have been asked, in a single instance, to return the money. In the meantime, scores of missionaries, grateful people who have used Rexall Rubbing Oil with the most gratifying results, have been telling their friends about it. That is why the use of Rexall Rubbing Oil is an widespread. It has won entirely on merit.

If you are lame, use Rexall Rubbing Oil, secure in the knowledge that it has relieved others and that if it does not relieve you, it will not cost you anything. Prices, 25 cents and 50 cents. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store.

though not permitting them to enter as candidates, is not popular government. In a communication to the Lincoln Journal, touching the primary idea of Mr. Metcalf concludes with these paragraphs: "Mr. S. where himself proposes while giving me of all parties a vote—that the choice be limited to democrats. This is not popular government. If men of all parties are to be given a vote when they are the only candidates of the candidate's party affiliations. If they are not capable of making such a choice, and the choice must be a party matter, then republicans are no more competent to pass upon the democracy of a candidate than democrats would be qualified to pass upon the republicanism of another candidate when the republican party was in power. "I am not nearly so hide bound a partisan as some of the gentlemen who stand for the so-called popular election of postmasters. I do not, by any means, say that all of these offices should be filled by democrats. I would not hesitate to do so in favor of a republican, if 'bull moose' or a socialist candidate if there was any question as to the qualifications of the democratic candidate. But other things being equal, I would give these public honors to democrats who have year after year, in the face of defeat, shown their utter indifference to the small question of 'party' and worked for the success of whomever, from their point of view, the destiny of popular government in America depends upon. I would give these public honors to democrats who have year after year, in the face of defeat, shown their utter indifference to the small question called 'party' and worked for the success of whomever, from their point of view, the destiny of popular government in America depends upon. "The so-called popular election plan in Nebraska would mean, in nine cases out of ten, that the men who had shown the greatest fidelity for democratic principles would, by very reason of their fidelity, be the most unpopular and public honor. It is one thing, Mr. Editor, to plead for what newspaper paragraphs call the spoils system, and it is quite another to protest against an innovation which would result in gross injustice to thousands of Nebraska democrats who have advanced through faithful service to democracy's cause."

Politeness Paid. A striking example of the nature of politeness is told by a woman who was left to support herself and her child and who had never had any business training. Her husband had had an income of several thousand dollars a year, but it had all been spent on good living. After his death the wife applied for employment to a firm with which she had had an account.

What are you doing? she was asked. Partly in jest she replied she could write a polite note. To her surprise she was taken at her word, for the firm was badly in need of such a person. She was told that it was difficult to find one who could answer complaints in such a way that the friendship of the customer was retained. For several years she supported herself and her child by writing polite notes.—Detroit Free Press.

Smoking in Winter.

A physician writing to the Family Doctor (London) says that smoking has a worse effect on most people in winter than in summer, and he advises all smokers who find their health and mental facilities impaired in winter for a temporary respite to accept tobacco as the explanation and to cut down their smoking during the colder months. Tobacco, he says, is a powerful drug and cannot be consumed in large quantities without producing a certain effect on the heart. It must be remembered that during the winter the heart has a great deal more work to do than in summer, for the blood courses through the blood vessels to become small and pinched. It is thus less able to bear the extra strain put upon it by smoking.

The Kickoff.

With bated breath the mother rushed across the football field to the emergency room to see her boy. "What did you do," she fattered, "of my son?" "They looked upon her with compassion," "Well, you see," explained the captain of the team, "he lost his head when we tried the flying wedge."

Unfortunate.

"They say that Mrs. Waddington's little boy is ambidextrous," said Mrs. Oldcastle. "And what?" exclaimed Mrs. Gotta-joke. "Is that so? Ain't it too bad? They expected he was going to be cut off right after they got his tonsils cut out."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Pertinent Question.

An English juror once asked the judge after the verdict was returned, "Is it possible that the fact that he differs from his eleven brethren justified their knocking him down with a chair?"

New Light on Electricity.

An American observer has called attention to a curious property of an electric current in that when passing around a sharp corner it apparently projects a discharge along its original line of direction. In Germany the same phenomenon has also been observed, and now an other authority advances the notion that it is evidence of the existence of a true electric momentum, resembling that of water flowing in a pipe. Faraday had thought of the possibility of such a thing, but his experiments led him to conclude against its existence. Clerk Maxwell afterward raised the question again and also decided it in the negative. But it has lately been pointed out that the phenomenon is in accord with the most recent theory of the static nature of electricity, which had not been worked out in Maxwell's day. At any rate it is said, there is here a newly acquired fact about electricity, whatever the ultimate explanation of it may be.—Chicago Record-Herald.

In Ultima Thule.

A New York newspaper man went as a correspondent for his paper to the national Democratic convention of 1898 at Des Moines. He traveled in a special which carried the New York city delegation.

On the second morning out Green, on going into the dining room, he found every table occupied by at least one person. He took a chair opposite a stout gentleman who had all the earmarks of an east side district leader. The table was crowded with a fertile and populous section of Illinois. Pretty towns, fine farms and clustering barns filled by them. There were farmers and hired men at work in the fields and women stood at the doorways. The politician gazed out of the window at the picture. Then he turned to Green with the air of one who had made a notable discovery. "No matter how far you go," he said, "there's a human life."—Saturday Evening Post.

An Ancient Blat From Turkey.

The Corriere della Sera reproduces the text of a quaint document preserved in the archives of the Vatican. It is the declaration of war sent by Sultan Mehmet IV. to the Emperor Leopold in 1682. "Be it known to you, the successor of the Caesars, to you, the ruler of the world, that your ally, Mehmet, the glorious and omnipotent emperor of the east and the west... is about to invade your paltry territories..."

A Lesson in Color Effects.

John Downham, the eighteenth century English artist, was a considerable fame as a portrait painter. His method of drawing on very thin paper in black chalk, with stumped shadows, heightening the drawing with stales of color mostly applied on the back of the drawing, was developed quite by accident. Soon after his return from the sea he happened to leave one of his black and white drawings wrong side up on a table with his painting materials. One of his children got hold of a paint brush and daubed color over the back of the drawing where the face was drawn. Downham, finding his drawing spotted, started to throw it away, but was arrested by the effect of the color showing through the thin paper and afterward adopted this treatment.—New York Times.

A Trick With Numbers.

"Choose any four consecutive numbers as 50, 51, 52 and 53. Multiply them together, and the product may be divided by 24. This will be found to hold true for any four consecutive numbers we may choose unless one of the numbers is 24 or a multiple of 24, such as 48, 72, 96, etc. In the same way, if the consecutive numbers multiplied together may be divided by 120 unless one of the numbers is 120 or a multiple of 120.—Exchange.

Good Reason.

"By Jove, Dobbers," said Chimp-teg. "You don't mean to tell me that a nice girl like that, the only daughter of a charming widow worth $7,000,000 doesn't interest you?" "Not in the least," said Bobbers. "I'm interesting myself in her mother."—Harper's.

It is bound in black leather with silver corners, and is attached to a chain and kept in a red leather box. The pages are covered with very minute shorthand. An epigraphic inscription is inscribed "for Ruxes and Quercus" identified as a sermon transcribed by a famous seventeenth century practitioner of the art, Jeremiah Rich, who boasted that he could write so small that his pen could scarcely be seen to move.

These facts were more common in those days than in our own. It appears that the same penman presented Charles II. with another specimen of his skill—a copy of the same sermon, written on the paper, bound in crimson leather with silver clasps and corners, the book and its covers being "less than the nail of his little finger." The exact length is the color of an ordinary mouse, but is as large as that of a cat.

EASTER

The universal desire of men, women and children to "Put on something new" at Easter time provides a reason for the special showing of new Spring merchandise.

Easter comes early this year—March 23—but we are already prepared with complete new Spring lines.

Come in and see the latest styles and novelties. In almost every part of the store, from back, there is displayed something new—particularly designed for Easter selling.

You should come early, too, as the unusually early Easter is a warning that stocks will soon be broken.

Coats and Suits

The woman who buys one of our coats or suits gets a combination of style and value impossible to duplicate, nothing better can be made—tailors don't know how to improve their workmanship. Fabrics are all pure wool, pre-shrunk, styles distinctive and pleasing, wear guaranteed for at least two seasons, and with all this the prices are no more than those asked for the ordinary run of tailor-made garments.

Coats $12.50 to $25.00
Suits $17.50 to $30.00

We ask you to come and look through what we have prepared for your pleasure, whether or not you intend to purchase at present.

Advertising in the Medical Profession.

Normal tonsils are glands about the size of kernel of corn, loosely enclosed in mucous membrane sacs, and located in either side of the throat. As they have great absorbing and secreting properties, they are most susceptible to disease. When swollen and inflamed they not only close the nasal passages and cause mouth breathing, but also partly close the air passage to the lungs. These have the same symptoms as the adenoid tonsils spoken of last week, but in addition have swollen chests, stooping shoulders and reflex cough. The food as well as the air passing over these diseased glands carries infection to all parts of the body. Educators today agree that nine-tenths of the dull, stupid or backward students are those suffering from swollen tonsils and adenoids. During my four years in Wayne I have operated upon 291 cases. That my work is successful is left to their testimony. My books are open to inspection. I do a general practice, fit glasses and give all kinds of office treatment. If you need my help, come.—DR. S. THE GRANDEST OF INAUGURATIONS

Inauguration of Messiah's Kingdom Will Eclipse All Others.

It Will Be a Marriage Feast and an Inaugural Ceremony Combined—Jesus' Victory Through Death Constituted His Divine Election to Be King of Kings and Lord of Lords—Immediately He Bathed a Bride—Centurist of Wedding Garment Preparation

Washington, D. C. MARCH 12.—Pastor Russell arrived here this morning on his return from a tour of the Holy Land, Kingdon, Havana, Key West, Tampa and Pensacola. He took for his text "Jesus' words, 'When the Son of Man shall come in His glory, and all the holy angels with Him, then shall He sit upon the Throne of His glory.' (Matthew 25:31.) He said: 'When at thousand years ago man transgressed the Divine command and came under the sentence, "Dying thou shalt die," he was cast out of Eden, that is, the dispensation of earth he might pay the death penalty. Even then, in the declaration that the Seed of the woman would eventually bruise the serpent's head—God implied man's victory for humanity over Satan, sin and death.

Later, God's Covenant with Abraham told that victory would come through his posterity, but did not explain how. Centuries later, Abraham's favored posterity, Israel, came into Covenant relationship with God through Moses. Their hope was to keep God's Law so thoroughly as to merit everlasting life, and be competent to deliver humanity from sin and death. However, centuries of effort proved that man could not keep the Divine Law satisfactorily.

The next Divine lesson was one of faith. Israel could not keep the Law, and therefore they were to be saved by faith. The lesson of faith was that they should look forward to a coming Messiah, the Prince and Saviour.

Various were their hopes respecting Messiah. The promises were scanned to note something concerning Him. That the prophet Isaiah foretold that Messiah was to be the antitype of both David and Solomon, of Aaron and Melchizedek—very great. He was to reign from sea to sea, and to have dominion from the sea to the sea.

Messiah and the Jubilee at Hand. At last Israel's Star of Hope is rising! At last the prophecies tell that her morning of joy is about to dawn, and the desire of nations shall come. Not merely are Jews claiming that Messiah's Day is nigh; but Christian Bible students see the same. Mohammedans also see. Free Masons claim to see something wonderful.

The multiplied blessings in the inventions of the last half-century have made the New Dispensation of the New Testament so grand, what will be the Inauguration and Reign itself!

Wherein Did the Jews Fail? The Jews did not fail. All God's promises to them are still theirs. He never offered their spiritual favor to anyone but them to Heaven. The strongest promise, even to Abraham, was that all the land which could be seen would be given to him and his seed. Israel's blessings were to come through Messiah.

God foretold through the prophets that Messiah would suffer. The Jews merely fulfilled a part of the Divine Plan. Had Messiah gone to another nation, doubtless there would have been similar results. At the First Advent of Jesus God did more for the Jews than He had promised. He gave them "preference" by becoming members of Spiritual Israel.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald Tribune, March 12, 1885: R. E. Templein opens a hotel at Hopkins. P. Columbian comes up from Platte county to look after his real estate in this county.

J. I. and J. D. Alger of West Liberty, Ia., brothers of Mrs. C. O. Fisher, arrived in Wayne, and brought with them two car loads of stock and farming implements.

From the Wayne Herald, March 15, 1894: To Herald mentions the need of a city hall.

Born, March 11, to Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Bettes, a daughter. A. P. Childs takes up his duties as postmaster April 15.

A populist paper is started in Wayne by Professor Meakin. Report of the Wayne schools shows a total enrollment of 373 students.

Elsie Sease entertained a party of friends in honor of her sixth birthday. E. M. Skene was in Charge to inspect his hotel property there in Robert Gardner.

The 22-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Powell of Red Oak, Ia., died at the home of Griffith Williams near Carroll. Mrs. Powell and child were visiting the Williams family.

From Wayne Herald, March 17, 1894: Dr. H. E. Bell moves here from Auburn to practice medicine.

Born, March 15, a son, to Professor and Mrs. F. M. Gregg. The sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cutler is announced.

Frank Woodall, formerly of Wayne county, died at his home at Lynch. Born, March 11, 1894, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Healdtler, living southeast of town.

From Ponca Journal, March 24, 1881: Our old friend, Mr. Reynolds, emerging from the suspended state of the southeast corner of this county, was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Reynolds is passing the winter pleasantly, looking after his large herd of cattle, which with good care, and plenty of fat, are coming out all right.

The following are the names of the jury for the term of district court which convenes at this place April 6: Grand jury—C. H. Smith, H. Torson, C. T. Harto, John McKinley, John Besley, Alex. Curry, S. James McClintock, John Rodgers, John Maschal, S. P. Bailey, G. M. Helton, T. Hoy, Loren Harp, J. G. H. Wheeler, O. E. Anderson, John Allen, F. C. O'Connell, John Dunphy, W. Andrews, Daniel Curry, J. H. Jones, James H. Richards, Fred Healy, James Jeffrey, J. O. Catlin, Stephen Ganser, S. D. Bailey, Enoch Ellis, John Alexander, Samuel Altam, James Mattie, Charles Kellogg, James Hobbs, W. B. Russell, W. Fools, P. G. Weight, C. E. Merritt, Henry Powers, J. H. Power, Charles Parks and Joseph Turner.

During the past month a great many newspaper men (owing to the snow blockade and paper supplies being cut off) have had to do their publishing on wrapping paper or poster paper, but we never saw a cloth newspaper till yesterday. Instead of speaking a newspaper, it was "properly speaking" a newspaper. It was the Canton News of last week and was printed on bleached, unsmoothed, looked very nice and dignified.

D. T. Lampher who resides about five miles southwest from Martinsburg, informs us that in his neighborhood there are snowdrifts thirty feet deep by actual measurement. Mr. Lampher states that he has kept a record of all the storms which have occurred in this county since October 15. According to which, there have been storms that date an even thirty-five years, either one of which was much worse than any of this section has generally experienced during the winter.

There are those who continually wince about hard times, famine, drought, pestilence, etc. These things are not to be feared, as assumed by the country they live in, by their own bad calculations and mismanagement; and they would no doubt wince if they had one of the most comfortable locations in the Kingdom of Heaven. To such fault-finders we will relate the following as one of the many instances which might be mentioned: Dan McDonald, a prosperous farmer of South Creek, came here eight years ago, without money, and in fact without anything else, excepting good health and a large family. Not only was he in utterly destitute circumstances, but he was heavily in debt. He took a homestead and for two seasons he kept things running by working in St. Louis City. After that he was able to devote his whole time at home. He now has an excellent farm with good improvements, a large herd of cattle, horses and farm machinery, and is in every way prosperous and comfortable, and does not owe a dollar in the world. Does it not appear, from the foregoing example, that it is better to work more and grumble less?

To Farmers Raising Wheat

Whoever heard of a MILLING CONCERN GIVING AWAY ANYTHING? This is exactly what we are going to do. There has been more or less SMUT in the wheat for a year or more. It's not necessary to raise smut if the seed is properly treated before sowing. The seed wheat treated with BLUE VITRIOL (dissolved in water) will kill all of the smut spores and not injure the seed at all.

We are willing to furnish the Blue Vitriol with instructions how to use it, providing you will furnish the water to dissolve it and use it. There is a little extra labor connected with it, but it will pay anyone who sows wheat to perform this extra labor. Come to the Wayne Roller Mills and let us know how many bushels of wheat you intend to sow and we will furnish you with the Blue Vitriol free of charge.

FABULOUS TABLE ANIMALS.

Such as Welsh Rabbit, Scotch Woodcock, English Cuckoo, etc.

When you eggs to think of it, it is surprising how many fabulous animals come regularly to the dinner table of supper table.

Among them, of course, the most familiar is the Welsh rabbit, which in its original form was merely toasted cheese. Some folks declare that the name is a corruption of "marghit," but this has never been proved.

Then there is the golden buck, which is a Welsh rabbit with a poached egg on top. Chinese rabbit is a Welsh rabbit with rice in it, and a Mexican rabbit (otherwise known as a Spanish rabbit) contains tomatoes and onions.

So much for rabbits. But how many people are familiar with the "Ope Cod turkey? Plenty in New England, where codfish goes under that name.

Scotch woodcock is two slices of hot buttered toast, with an anchovy on each slice and a sauce made of half a pint of milk and the yolks of three eggs poured over them.

These familiar "parfaits" is English mousie, which is made by making a cupful of breadcrumbs in a cupful of milk and adding a tablespoonful of melted butter, a beaten egg and half a cupful of grated cheese, the whole with salt and pepper added, being poured over toasted crackers.

The mock turtle is one of the most familiar of fabulous table animals, being served in the form of soup. In "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" will be found a striking picture of this remarkable reptile, represented with the body of a turtle and the head of a calf.

Mock duck is a roll of chopped meat and breadcrumbs baked. Mock crab is made by mixing equal parts of bread and butter, seasoning with salt, pepper and vinegar and adding a few drops of anchovy sauce. The mixture thus prepared is spread on slices of dry toast or sometimes served in bread balls.

Last, but not least, remarkable of these mythical creatures is the "kitchen naturalist," the corn oyster, which is a small fritter of green corn, fried like a real oyster.

When a Person Faints.

If a person faints he should be laid down flat on his back, for this will facilitate the return of blood to his head. Indeed, nature has provided for this for a person who faints will fall down and soon recover if no one interferes.

On the other hand, a person with an epileptic or cataleptic fit, indicated by convulsions and frothing at the mouth, ought to be revived by means of a stimulant. The flow of blood from the head to the lower parts of the body, which may be still further promoted by slapping the palms of the hands. Now, I cannot account for it, but the fact is that all ignorant people, in an emergency, reverse this treatment. A person who simply faints is carefully supported in a chair, and the face is filled with cold water applications, fanned, the result being that the fainting is prolonged.

On the other hand, a man who drops on the street with his eyes open and cataplectic is invariably laid flat on his back, which in some cases is enough to kill him.—Family Doctor.

Turkish Artillery.

Authorities tell us that the Turks owe their reverses in recent years to their weakness in artillery. In 1453 it was by the Turkish artillery that they captured Constantinople. In 1791 a Hungarian named Orban came to Constantinople and offered his services to the Greek emperor as the "best" founder in history. Constantinople offered him unsatisfactory conditions; and he escaped to Mohammed II, who commanded him to cast a gigantic cannon as proof of his talent. Orban took three months over the task, and the cannon was called (probably in an omen) Bala—The Sultan, issued a warrant prohibiting any concern with the thing which it would be used in Adrianople, with good reason, for the explosion was heard for thirteen miles around. The size of the cannon was heroic. Fifty tons of iron were needed to move it, 200 men marched at the side to support it, 200 engineers went in front to level the road and fifty carpenters to make bridges.—Westminster Gazette.

Area Below Sea Level.

All the continents, with the possible exception of South America, contain areas of dry land which are below sea level.

In North America, according to the United States geological survey, the lowest points in Kentucky, California, 276 feet below sea level, but this is a slight depression compared to the basin of the Dead Sea, in Palestine, Asia, where the lowest dry land point is 1,312 feet below sea level. In Africa, the lowest point is in the desert of Sahara, about 150 feet below sea level, but the Sahara as a whole is not below sea level, although until recently the greater part of it was supposed to be. In Europe the lowest point at present known is on the shores of the Caspian Sea, eighty feet below sea level. In Australia the lowest point is at Lake Torrens, twenty-five feet below sea level.

One View of Music.

"There is a great deal of regarding music," says a writer. "You may regard it as an entertainment, in which case you will applaud, or you may regard it as a sacrament, and be silent." The latter was the way of Sir Thomas Browne. "Even that vulgar and barren music," he wrote, "which makes you grin merrily, another man makes you strike in me a deep fit of devotion and a profound contemplation of the First Composer. There is something in it of divinity more than the ear discovers. It is a metaphysical and shadowed lesson of the whole-world and creatures of God; such a melody to the ear, as the whole world well understood, might afford the understanding. In brief, it is a sensible fit of that harmony which ingeniously sounds in the ears of God."—Chicago News.

Awaiting His Decision.

The lady of the house had a worried look on her face as she came down to breakfast.

"What's the matter?" she said to the maid, "Mr. Rodden hasn't been home all night. Is he—"

"Oh, no, miss, I do hope that nothing is wrong."

"Why, bless your heart, the master's all right," reassured the maid. "He's down on the front door mat right now, mum. He says he's been there a long time, but he can't remember whether he's got out or come in. His hat's made up his mind 'I'll let you know.'"

Her Success.

"It is his being a 'clock!' severely said Mrs. Gulgaway. "What kept you from getting home until this untimely hour?"

"I was detained at the office making out statements," replied her husband.

"And that is one of the statements, I presume?"—Judge.

Last Prize Ballots

The last prize ballots will be awarded to the contestants who turn in the most subscriptions for the week ending March 8. The prize ballots have been big helpers, and may make enough difference to be the deciding factor as to who will be the winner.

The Ballot Box Will Be Sealed

The last three days of the contest. The last count of votes to be made by the contest manager will be Wednesday night, March 12. Thursday, March 13, the ballot box will be sealed, the key will be in the hands of one of the judges, and all voting for the last three days will be in absolute secrecy. This closing arrangement assures absolute fairness to all parties concerned.

How To Vote The LAST Day

The standing of contestants as it appears in our issue of March 10, will be the last information as to the standing of contestants, until the final count is made by the judges. Voting will be done in the usual manner till the last day. On the last day contestants may make out their reports on the regular report blanks, place same with the proper amounts of money in sealed envelopes, write their names on the envelopes and their deposit in the sealed ballot-box. Be sure to get the proper amount of money in your sealed reports. ALL VOTING WILL CEASE PROMPTLY AT 7:30 P. M., MARCH 15. Be in on time. Contestants who wish to make their reports to the Contest Manager instead of placing the same in the sealed ballot-box should make their reports at least an hour before the close. At 7:31 p. m. sharp, March 15 the judges will unlock and break the seals on the ballot box, and make the final count of votes. The judges will be three well known business men who have no interest in any contestant. MAIL REPORTS FOR THE LAST DAY MUST BE IN BY 3 P. M., THE 15TH. IF THERE IS ANYTHING YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND, NOW IS THE TIME TO ASK YOUR QUESTIONS.

THE JUDGES WILL BE

The following well known business men: H. S. RINGLAND, Cashier of 1st National Bank; H. B. JONES, Cashier Citizens National Bank and A. R. DAVIS, Att'y.

Final Advice To Contestants

First, BE SURE YOU UNDERSTAND THE CLOSING ARRANGEMENTS. Be confident, but remember that you are not the only one who wants to win. It would be better to win by a hundred thousand votes, than to lose out by a single subscription. MAKE YOUR FINAL REPORT A BIG ONE. Tell your friends you need all the support they will give you. The long term subscriptions help wonderfully. Send in now for plenty of receipt books and report blanks. Bear in mind that the winner will likely win out by a big margin, and govern your work accordingly. HUSTLE WITH ALL YOUR MIGHT EVERY MINUTE OF THE REMAINING TIME.

Work up to the last minute, but be sure to get your report into the sealed ballot box a few seconds before 7:30 p. m., March 15. If you are late we cannot take your report.

OPENING OF RESERVE.

Washington correspondence in Omaha for March 4: Representative Kin-kaid finally succeeded in securing a proclamation to be signed by President Taft this morning for opening to homestead entry the North Platte national reserve in McPherson and Grant counties on or after October 1, next. Except for the insistence of Mr. Kin-kaid for the last six weeks that the proclamation should be made at the earliest practicable date during the Taft administration it might have been deferred until the democratic administration had become well organized for business and then the proposition might have been "up in the air" because of the change of administration officials. The opening is deferred until October 1 to afford settlement-tees time to remove their herds and windmills. Congressman Kin-kaid this morning had a conference with the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of the general land office as to a survey and apportionment at the earliest practicable date of the abandoned Fort Niobrara military reservation lands made subject by this new act to homestead entry. It was agreed that Field Superintendent N. B. Switzer of Neligh would be requested to cause the survey to be done as soon as the season would permit. The object in expediting the work is to render it certain that these lands may be opened to homestead entry late in the summer or early in the fall.

REFUSES TO BE A COLONEL.

Norfolk Press: "Ex-Senator Fred Volpe of Scribner, has declined to serve on the governor's staff. He has written Governor Morehead a letter telling why he does not care to wear a colonel's uniform. He said he left his native country twenty-five years ago to avoid wearing a uniform and he does not care to begin wearing one at this late day. As a private citizen he said he would accompany the governor most anywhere, but he would not go with the governor as a colonel. Mr. Volpe was born in Germany. He left before he was required to serve in the German army. A few years ago he returned to his native town as an American citizen and was made an honorary member of a local association of ex-soldiers.
