WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MAR. 20, 1913

VOL. 33, NO. 5

C. A. CHASE IS NAMED FOR MAYOR OF WAYNE

NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION
J. M. Cherry for Clerk and E. S. Ringland for Treasurer—Results of Ward Caucuses.

The year-bizzazz Friday night did not prevent a large attendance at the mass convention in the city hall to nominate municipal officers. Many were kept away by the stormy elements, but the hall was nearly filled when the meeting was called to order. Dr. T. B. Hecker was chosen chairman and Harry Fisher secretary.

Before the nominations, Mayor J. B. Fox made a speech. He declined to be a candidate for another term. He called attention to the improvements that had been made, and to the high moral standard of the city, and urged continued progress along right lines. He expressed appreciation for the co-operation of the council, city marshal and general public in the advancement of the city.

Nominations followed. C. A. Chase was nominated mayor without opposition. J. M. Cherry and E. S. Ringland were named to succeed themselves for clerk and treasurer respectively without opposition. T. W. Moran and Ed. Hecker were nominated for members of the school board.

At the close of the mass convention, voters proceeded to their different wards and participated in the nomination of candidates for councilmen. In the First ward J. P. Gaertner and W. O. Hansen were named; the latter to fill a vacancy. In the Second ward Herman Lindberg was nominated, and in the Third ward Professor J. G. W. Lewis was chosen to succeed himself.

SCHOOL NOTES

Newly enrolled pupils this week are Lay Louden in the second grade, Gene Payden in the fourth grade, and Donald Walton in the fifth grade.

Recent visitors were Mrs. Lay, Mrs. Peckham, Mrs. Brown and Miss Gaertner.

The high school orchestra gave an excellent half-hour's entertainment this morning.

There was abundance of evidence among the pupils that Monday was St. Patrick's day. One little girl, in the first grade, on being asked by her teacher why she wore a green ribbon, replied, "Why this is St. Patrick's birthday."

Haye Main is faithfully preparing to win honors at the oratorical contest in the declamatory contest at Norfolk on Thursday evening, March 27.

The Senior class play is being selected now and will probably be given about May 22. Commencement will occur on Friday, May 23.

May musical festival on May 9. "What's the Use of Latin?"

A great many people say Latin is a dead language, but they do not observe things, the common things of everyday life. When they make that statement they do not know that they are speaking Latin under different names. The word "language" itself is a Latin word.

VI.—Latin is of supreme value to the literary mastery of English.

VII.—Latin is the foundation of the Romance languages.

VIII.—Latin affords superior mental training.

IX.—Latin is essential to an intimate acquaintance with art and decorative design in general.

X.—Latin explains much of our modern architecture.

XI.—Latin helps to form the terminology of science.

XII.—Latin contributes more or less directly to success in the professions.

XIII.—Latin adds vitality to the textbooks of Roman history and gives a deeper insight into the great civilization that flourished upon its own ruins.

XIV.—Latin makes many things in the world about us more interesting.

ACTION CHARGING DESERTION OF WIFE

The state vs. Walter Blazor is the title of a case that was tried in the county court yesterday afternoon. The defendant is charged with deserting his wife and child. County Attorney L. A. Ripplinger appeared for the state and Attorney Fred S. Berry for the defendant. After the reading of seven witnesses, the case was continued to give time to take the evidence of a witness living in South Dakota.

REV. WILLIAM GORST TO TAKE VACATION

The many friends of Rev. William Gorst, pastor of the M. E. church, will regret that failing health has prompted him to ask for a vacation which was granted by the local board at a meeting last evening when Rev. E. E. Hosman, district superintendent, was present.

The vacation begins April 15 and continues until the end of the conference year. Rev. Gorst will spend the summer in an irrigated ranch which he and his son own in the Big Horn valley, Wyo. Rev. Gorst's health has been failing for some time, and he has been advised by the best of physicians to suspend preaching and take up outdoor employment.

He filled the pastorate of the Wayne church twenty years ago, and since his return is now serving his third year. He is popular as a minister and as a citizen, and Wayne people of all religious denominations will part with him and his family for the summer with sincere regret. They will hope that the change of climate and employment will speedily restore his health.

Both Rev. Gorst and Rev. Hosman are in correspondence with theological schools to secure a minister to supply the vacancy, and the Herald is informed that some one is likely to be in a hand to take the place by the first of May.

Miss Hattie Bluthies entertained a bridge party Friday evening. Three tables were arranged for the occasion. A dainty two-course luncheon was served.

The Minerva club was entertained Tuesday by Mrs. F. S. Berry. The subject of the lesson was "Crimes," and was ably led by Mrs. House. Mrs. C. H. Bright presented an interesting paper on that subject.

Mrs. E. Cunningham was hostess to the Monday club this week. The subject of the lesson was "Australia," and Mrs. H. H. Hahn and Mrs. C. A. Chase read interesting papers. The club will meet next week with Mrs. R. E. R. Mel-

Miss Mary Mellor entertained a party of ladies and gentlemen at her home Saturday evening. After the serving of an elaborate three-course dinner, which had been brought by the gentlemen, the remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge.

The girls of the eighth grade pleasantly surprised Miss Phyllis Barrett Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. The honors were delightfully spent with a variety of games and at 10 o'clock delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Barrett.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Mrs. Alexander Corkey yesterday afternoon for a business meeting, at which election of officers took place, as follows: Mrs. J. E. Keller, president; Mrs. J. R. Williams, secretary; and Mrs. J. W. Jones, treasurer.

The Junior Bible Study Circle met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. B. Young. A number of visitors from the normal were present and took part in the lesson. At the close of the meeting, members of the circle delivered out flowers to sick people in the city. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Hattie Crockett, Friday evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Paul's Lutheran church had a meeting at the home of Mrs. O. H. Hurst on last Thursday, with a large attendance, in spite of the rain. A few hours were spent in doing fancy work, after which a two-course luncheon was served by Mrs. Hurst, assisted by her sister, Miss Freda Grimm. Miss Peterson and Miss Zigler presided at the table.

The ladies of the U. D. club enjoyed a four-course luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. B. Jones Monday noon. In observance of St. Patrick's day, the color scheme of green and white prevailed. The table was artistically arranged with white and green centerpieces, green baskets, in each of which were "Irishman." Following the luncheon, the afternoon hours were devoted to fancy needle work.

The Bible Study Circle had a well attended and inspiring Easter meeting at Mrs. Orlig's home yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. M. Christensen will entertain the Circle Thursday of next week and all the ladies are cordially invited.

The ladies of the Tuesday club entertained their husbands at a three-course o'clock dinner Tuesday evening. Suggestive of St. Patrick's day, the color scheme of green and white was carried out in the table appointments and in the menu. A profusion of maidenhair fern and shamrock was used in making the rooms attractive. The dinner hours were spent in telling Irish stories and listening to appropriate music.

On Monday, March 17, occurred a most unique and delightful meeting of the Aeneas club. Roll call was responded to with an Irish story. Mrs. Minnes read an interesting paper as also did Mrs. Jacobs. The ladies had come dressed in Irish dress, which caused much amusement. After the program the dining room doors were opened and all were invited to find their places. The table decorations were very appropriate to good old Ireland. The center piece was a basket filled with green and holding Irish potatoes and Irish flag-bob pipes also added their part. The favors were small candlesticks, holding lighted green candles. All dollars were decorated in shamrock, and the table linen was truly Irish, too. Mrs. Minnes brought in from the "old country"—Medames Minnes, Jacobs and Duerg were hostesses to this delightful surprise dinner consisting of four courses. Minnes Elizabeth and Margaret were the guests of honor. Mrs. Minnes' dainty and graceful way. After dinner, Miss Elizabeth and Margaret entertained the club with music as did also Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Raymond.

YOGELT'S HARDWARE CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Yesterday W. A. Hixson who early in the year sold his livery business at this place, closed a deal for the purchase of the Yogel hardware store, taking possession at once. The deal was made through the agency of Johnson and Duerg. Mr. Hixson expects to improve the stock, and push the business forward. People will be glad to welcome him back to local business circles.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss: At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 17th day of March, 1913.

Present, James Britton, county judge.

In the matter of the estate of John N. Halliday deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ed. H. Hays for appointment of administrator filed on the 13th day of March, 1913, and purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said John N. Halliday, deceased; and that the execution of said instrument may be sanctioned and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Emma Halliday as executrix.

Ordered, that April 8, A. D. 1913, at 10 o'clock a. m., in session for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear as a county court to be held in and for said county of Wayne, and there to pray of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three consecutive weeks prior to said day of hearing. (A. C. 100-101.)

(Seal.) JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

FOLOWED WITH BANQUET

After results of the contest had been made known, the Herald gave a banquet for the contestants, the judges' correspondents and its office force, at the Wayne bakery. Following a two-course menu, a number of speeches were made and a invitation of the toast master A. R. Davis, who presided with usual ease and tact.

E. O. Gardner of the Democrat, talked on "Newspaper Competition," W. B. Burgess on "Contests," F. S. Berry on "Newspaper Lists," with addresses on "Business" and "Herald." "What Should be Published," the close of the series of speeches which touched different phases of newspaper work, interestingly, the editor of the Herald expressed, in a few words, his appreciation.

Mr. John T. Bressler left Friday to visit his daughter at Marengo, Ill., and was joined by Mr. Bressler the first of the week when they went to Washington City, where they were to meet their son John who is a student in the school at Andover, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Bressler expect to be absent about two weeks.

The last pavilion sale of the season in Wayne, took place last Saturday, and though the weather was disagreeable, the crowd in attendance was sufficient and of the right turn of mind to make lively bidding at satisfactory prices.

E. Cunningham, whose skill as a farmer and an auctioneer, contributed largely to the success of the pavilion, expects to leave about the first of May for his summer's sojourn at his ranch in Idaho.

His son, D. H. Cunningham, also master hand at the auction business, left for the western ranch last week.

Mrs. Elsie Littell, county superintendent, conducted an examination of eighth grade students last Friday and Saturday. Her work was successful and she will have another examination of eighth graders in May. The eighth grade graduation for those who pass will be held in June. Mrs. Littell will hold a teachers' examination on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Savegrade Brothers will open their carnival season in Wayne May 7. This week they closed a contract with five aerial artists of the highest class, being three ladies and two men. Their aggregation this year will be far superior to that of any other carnival company on the road.

Egyptian authors of the day have achieved the solid success that has been accorded Lem B. Parker, author of the charming play, "A Girl of the Mountains," which Wm. L. Lambart's company will present at the Wayne opera house Thursday, March 27. The production is said to be replete with new scenery, new costumes, new electrical effects. All the striking and thrilling features of the original production have been retained, and new ones added.

"A Girl of the Mountains" is an interesting and absorbing play of social life in strongly contrasted environments. The author has chosen a daring theme and handled it masterfully. We are taken into the life of people and shown the hours of men and women. The characters are cleverly drawn and skillfully presented by a strong cast, headed by Miss Elizabeth Ogden, a strikingly beautiful and accomplished young actress as the mountain girl, Nellie Boone.

"A Girl of the Mountains" makes a powerful appeal to the great public, who go to the theatre for entertainment and relaxation from business and domestic cares and worries, and succeeds admirably.

The assembling of a balanced line of canned goods is a greater task than most people realize and it would be impossible for the retailer to have a well balanced line were it not for the wholesale grocer. The retail grocer must know enough about canned goods to know good goods when he cuts them. He must know that the line he has offered you for consumption is the best balanced line in Nebraska.

That is a day of specialists in all lines and you will find that they are just as necessary in the grocery as with doctors, lawyers, stock raisers, etc., and to offer proof I will mention a number of fruits and the state which produces the finest quality; the soil and climate have much to do with the flavor.

Cuthbert Red Raspberries (a Burbank special creation), eastern Canada and New England states; Lawton Blackberries, New Jersey; Pitted Red Cherries, New York; Strawberries, New York; Blueberries, New York; Bartlett Pears, New York; Pineapples, Hawaii; Peaches, Kentucky; Plums and Grapes, California etc. all states in the Union. White and Black Cherries, Road River Valley, Oregon.

The specialist who is able to assemble, under one label, a complete line of fruits and vegetables of the highest grade from the locality producing the best variety and flavor, and canned in the most sanitary preserving way and a sanitary method, must not only be able to know the packer giving the best effort to the quality of each article in regard to fruit, degree of syrup, to bring out the best there is in the fruit, selection of canners, honest pack in quantity. The specialist often makes his own demand from canners and must see that his cans are filled properly. This at times forces him to go to the canner and see that his purchases are properly filled.

The goods that Beaman has sold you in the past two years have proven that the specialist from whom he has bought has been one of the best in his line. He may not know good coffee when he sees it as that is a line for another specialist.

Next week's edition will contain interesting items on the tables.

MORGAN SUIT BUILDER

Fanske's Old Stand--State Bank Building

"A Girl of the Mountains," the four-act comedy-drama by Tom B. Parker, is something new, something worth seeing, something worth while. It develops a strong plot with strong dramatic situations, but with such deft and picturesque style that one must at once place it far above the ordinary drama. An especially strong scene, one that will grip the hearers, is brought about when Nellie, the "Mountaineer Girl," discovers that she has been tricked by Richard Thurston, a wealthy New Yorker. This scene is one of the most graphic situations with which the play

ORIGINAL BUILDING IS DANGEROUS SHELL

SO SAYS SENATE COMMITTEE

Report Urges New Buildings Commission With Needs of Wayne State Normal School.

Some time ago a special committee was appointed by the state senate to visit the normal schools, and to report back to the legislature their condition, and needs for the next biennium. On February 1, Senators Ollis Cordell and Kieckheaf spent the entire day at the Normal, inspecting the buildings and familiarizing themselves with the general conditions of the school. The following is only a partial report of the findings recently filed with the senate by this special committee: Lincoln, Neb., March 10, 1913. "Your committee, selected to inspect the normal schools at Wayne, Chadron, and Kearney, beg leave to report as follows:

"WAYNE. "We found the original brick building to be wholly unfit for the purposes of the normal school, although the crowded condition of the school necessitates its occupancy. The building was planned on the lines of a grade school house with class rooms on the first and second floors and living rooms in the basement. It was poorly constructed in the first instance, and is now in a bad state of repair, if, indeed, it is not dangerous. Cracks have developed above and below nearly every door and window and the insertion of wooden braces has been deemed necessary to prevent the structure from collapsing. The building consists of a mere shell of brick of a very poor quality. It has no interior partition walls of any other material than wood and plaster. The music department of the normal is in the basement. The model school occupies rooms on the first and second floors, while a large room on the second floor is used for classes in penmanship and book-keeping. The stairways are of wood, and narrow; the floors are badly worn, and the building is in such condition that the plastering is constantly falling from the walls and ceilings. The rooms cannot be kept warm in severe winter weather. The building is wholly unfit for the purpose for which it is used and should be demolished.

"The new building is a fine, modern, fireproof structure of brick. It is known as the library and science building and 65x112 feet in ground dimensions and is virtually three stories in height. The library which is on the ground floor or basement, is equipped with book racks for about 2,000 books, with all the school apparatus. On the first and second floors, including the biological, chemical and physical laboratories and the departments of domestic science and agriculture. The equipment is meagre throughout the school, consisting principally of the cheapest kind of wooden chairs, and homemade pin tables. The work of the school is hampered by lack of adequate facilities in the way of suitable furniture, such as cabinets to hold apparatus, tables for use in biological and chemical laboratories, teachers' desks and students' chairs.

"The school is demanding erection of a new structure, which is planned to make the central building of the plant. If this should be the legislature makes a sufficient appropriation for such a building, the original brick building will be demolished and the model school and the department of education will be removed to the old brick building, and the class rooms which now occupy that structure, as well as the administrative offices, will be housed in the new edifice, which will also contain the music department. The appropriation is sufficient to use the materials in the old brick building to build an extension to the power house, which will make that building 56x83 feet, and to extend the walls of that building upward twelve feet and equip this room as a gymnasium.

"The phenomenal growth of the state's normal school evidences the fact of the necessity for their existence. That they have been a potent factor in the development of our primary educational structure is apparent to every one who has followed the course of events in Nebraska. The state should in the past have pursued a policy more liberal toward its institutions of learning. The only preparation that can be made at this day, in the way of the legislature to provide for the present needs of established schools. It is earnestly recommended that the appropriation at this session be sufficient for the construction of the buildings required by our state normal schools. It is not economy on the contrary it is the greatest extravagance to so hamper them for lack of facilities that they are unable to take full advantage of the investment that has heretofore been made.

J. A. OLLIS,
WALTER KIECKHEAF,
JOHN F. CORDELL.

WORST BLIZZARD OF YEAR LAST WEEK

Last Thursday's rain turned to snow at night, and the next morning the country was in the grip of the severest snow storm of the year. Snow fell all day Friday, and was driven by a high wind. People moved with difficulty in the outer elements, and remained indoors as much as possible. The rain which preceded the snow and which froze, added to the annoyances of the storm, and especially increased the task of travelers. Trains were late, and were unable to resume usual schedules until late Saturday.

The storm is reported to have been more intense in the northwestern part of the state. It is said to have been the worst blizzard there in twenty years. Valentine, Neb., March 18.—For three days this city has been shut from the outside world as a result of the blizzard—the worst that this section has experienced since the big storm of January 32, 1888. All telegraph and train service was completely paralyzed. Local telephone service was not much affected, but lines to the country were out of commission. Train No. 2, going west, left here at 1:50 a. m. arrived here about 7 o'clock Friday morning and remained here until yesterday when it returned to Norfolk, as the track west of here is piled high with drifts. The first train to reach here from Long Pine arrived Sunday afternoon.

A snow plow sent west to clear the track, was dethawed near Kilgore by the big drifts and the one sent out from Chadron was also put out of commission. There is a drift near Kilgore which is estimated to be twelve hundred feet high and eighteen feet high. Another train came in yesterday with the first mail this city has had since Thursday. A big dray load piled high was unloaded at the postoffice. The train went west to buck the snow. There have been no fatalities reported as yet as the result of the storm. Unfortunate reports of some cattle losses have come in, but nothing definite will be known until telephones and telegraph lines are restored to working order. No lines to Norfolk or Omaha are established yet.

OBITUARY.

(By the Pastor.)

Laura D. Sherman was born in the state of New York on the 10th day of August, 1823, and died in Wayne, Neb., on the 19th day of March, 1913, being 89 years, 7 months and 3 days old. She grew to womanhood in the state of New York and was married to Mr. A. Sherman in 1843. To Mr. and Mrs. Sherman were born ten children, four of whom were still living, viz: Mrs. Eva Bowman of Omaha, E. B. Sherman of Haguerstown, Idaho, F. L. Sherman of Louisville, Neb., and E. B. Sherman of Wayne. Some time after their marriage the Sherman moved to Illinois where Mr. Sherman died in 1863, and Mrs. Sherman was married to John Brooks in 1871, he dying in 1886, at Covington, Neb., where they had but only a short time before. Since the death of Mr. Brooks his widow has resided in Nebraska and most of the time has been a member of the household of her son, E. B. Sherman, at whose home she died.

Early in life she became a member of the First Day Adventist church to which she faith she adhered to her life long. With the exception of some slight symptoms of the grippe from which she recovered herself as quite fully recovered. Mrs. Brooks had been in her usual health up to Monday, March 10, when she suffered what seemed to be a slight stroke of paralysis. By Tuesday evening she had become unconscious and died at 6:30 Thursday morning, March 13.

The funeral services were held at the family residence at 2 p. m., the 16th, and the remains laid to rest in the La Porte cemetery.

Musical Tones in Architecture.

It has long been believed that each of the mammoth buildings of the world, with its faith as bold as its life long, architectural music tone. Architects realize they have found the tones for such famous structures as the cathedral at Cologne, Notre Dame, Paris and St. Paul's in London. Certainly it is true that in each of these buildings returns to the ear of the listener that one tone in sweetest. The compulsory statement that this keynote if sounded long enough and with sufficient force would bring disaster has never been proved—Christian Horn.

The French President's

The French president enjoys some petty benefits apart from the $240,000 a year salary and allowances. Supplies of vegetables for his table come from the kitchen gardens at Versailles, fruit from the orchards of Fontainebleau, game from the state forests and hay for his horses from the meadows at Rambouillet. Moreover, the state pays the wages of his stable hands and his coachmen, but not his chauffeur's—New York Sun.

An Invitation

You are invited to the Opening of our Advo Store Saturday, Mar. 22

You are all invited to see the many new things and a store that is worthy of your consideration. The people of Wayne are all welcome to inspect the entire line of Advo goods at your convenience. The price is marked on each article, making it a better store for you.

Something about Advo Pure Foods. The question, "what are the best brands to buy in the grocery line," is an important one to the consumer as well as the grocer. In the last two years I have been investigating thoroughly the different brands of goods and I find that the Extra Fancy Advo and Fancy Advona brands are the Highest Quality in the market. I have watched very closely the products of canneries located in different parts of the country, learning that the Advo and Advona Canned Goods are packed in the most hygienic food factories it is possible to maintain, and are Sanitarily Packed. Every can of Advo Fruit served on the table will sell two more. Every can of Advona Fruit used by the consumer will taste like more.

Cleanliness predominates in Advo and Advona Canned Goods. You buy them and you will have no others.

Our line of Fresh Bakery Goods will be up to the minute in Quality. The Celebrated "Tip-Top" and "Special" Health Bread contains the essentials of nutrition in proper proportions and is one of the greatest health building and health maintaining foods that you can secure.

The "Special" Health Bread is made of the finest unbleached flour with malt and milk, coming from the Bakery to your table absolutely clean, fresh and wholesome, wrapped in sanitary waxed paper wrappers, making it dust-proof and air-proof. Try some of the Fresh Bakery Goods; we know they will please you.

When you come in our store examine our line of Fresh Fruits; our south window will always be full of the finest in the market. Oranges which are the sweetest you ever ate. Most complete line of extra fancy Box and Barrel apples that can be bought. Everybody eats Grape-Fruit which we sell as cheap as oranges; bananas, you know I always have the best in the city; those extra fancy large, fat yellow Jumbo kind that do not cost you any more than the small bananas that you are buying. TWO PRIZE ESSAYS IN RECENT CONTEST

The following essay, written by Alfred Henry Lewis of Wayne, on the subject, "Why Do Men Buy Life Insurance?" won first prize among State Normal students participating in the recent contest proposed and financed by C. M. Christensen:

The essential idea of modern institution of life insurance is co-operation in the bearing of the financial incident to death. It is within the past sixty years that this vast business has been developed. Up to that time life insurance had been conducted as an experiment and only by a few companies. Now there exist a large number of these corporations, carrying on a world-wide business on the basis of co-operation. Upon investigation it appears that three most important causes of this development are the following: The fundamental reason for a man's insuring his life is that of protection. In this day of modern appliances and conveniences, there is an ever-increasing risk of loss of life. Perhaps just at a period when a man is beginning to enjoy success and these around him to share in that success, his life may be suddenly cut short, enailing disaster to all dependent upon or closely associated with him. In order to prevent such calamity to these nearest and dear ones, he takes out a life insurance policy, the surest of all means for deferring the consequences of the dread enemy, death. With such assurance of safety to mother, wife or child, he can cheerfully perform the duties of his life.

A second reason for the purchase of life insurance is that of investment. If a man has a surplus of money which he wishes to place in a reliable undertaking with the assurance that he may realize on this money at a certain future time, he buys an endowment policy containing these provisions. Endowment insurance usually provides for the payment of an insurance indemnity, if the insured dies before the end of the endowment period. In this manner the insured is furnished a still safer and more satisfactory plan for the investment of his surplus. For this reason, endowment insurance is a wise investment, because it provides for the future of the one who holds it.

Today a vast amount of insurance is being given as surety and its security. A man wishes to enter into a contract for the purchase of real estate. He goes to a bank or to some individual and borrows the money, giving as security a policy made or transferred to the lender. In the event of his death before the payment of the obligation the insurance will cover the debt. The same plan is often pursued by one without real means in the purchase of a farm or other property. Again, a manufacturing concern sometimes takes out a policy, payable to itself, on the life of its manager. This is done to reimburse the company for the loss that would be entailed upon it by the decrease of one whose services by reason of his business ability are of commercial value.

Thus, life insurance becomes a means for assisting the economic process in this day of vast enterprises. These three general reasons, protection, investment and security, cover all the varieties of transactions dealing with the uncertainty of human life. Does not the contemplation of them clearly demonstrate the value of life insurance? Does it not seem strange that men of sound mind and humane impulses should pass by the opportunities afforded by this beneficent institution?

The following essay by Raymond Fox won first prize among high school students taking part in the contest. This question is one of the most important that is agitating the minds of people today. And well it should, for it ought to make every man who has a family, or any one dependent upon him, not only in the United States, but also in every nation that the globe considers it itself. Any man who is not convinced that life insurance is a proper and necessary investment, should study these three main reasons why men buy life insurance:

First, because life insurance is in reality nothing more than a savings bank. When a man makes a deposit in most of them organized before 1860, he can withdraw the trouble of these times, do you think they would fail in these peaceful prosperous times? Even some banks are not as reliable as these, for you do not often read of banks closing their doors! How many old, reliable insurance companies have you read about that failed? Do you can plainly see that life insurance is a very good saving bank. In the second place, life insurance is always regarded as a business asset. If you have real estate, or money in the bank, or any other thing that is a security, you are not satisfied with it unless you have life insurance. For instance, life insurance is the same as money in the savings bank, it affords your credit. Any person loaning money will not hesitate to loan it to a person who gives a policy as a mortgage. Also certain policies after running a specified time, yield certain dividends to the holders. Is this not an asset?

The last reason for which most men buy life insurance is for the protection of their families or those who are dependent upon them for support. This is the main reason for the purchase of insurance companies were formed. Thus the common laborer, by the expenditure of a few dollars annually, is guaranteed that his family will be kept from poverty and the poor-house. Why should men, who have loved ones dependent upon them, hesitate to invest a few dollars for their future benefit and happiness, when life is so uncertain? Many men make the excuse that they will buy insurance at some future time, but many families and homes are left destitute through that very reason.

Many men buy insurance early in life, for the rates are cheaper, and, too, they are protecting their homes.

Many insurance policies can now be so written that they are really a will telling how their property should be distributed. A person, in one of these policies, can make a provision for his wife and each of his children, dividing the money as he thinks proper. If there is a mortgage on the property, he can take out a policy by which the mortgage is canceled by the company at his death, and thus the property is left clear to his widow. Thus many homes are protected annually by the foresight of the husband in buying life insurance.

These reasons, for which men buy life insurance, are proved by the large amount of insurance sold every year. Also, many widows and children are made happy annually by the wisdom of their husbands or fathers in investing in life insurance.

IN DEFENSE OF OIL BURNING ENGINES

Kansas City, Mo., March 8, 1913. Editor Wayne Herald: I have noted with interest the discussion printed in your paper from time to time concerning the proposed improvement to your city power plant and the recommendations of the city's engineer, Mr. Gaynor, regarding the same. It was my understanding that, approximately $20,000 in bonds could be voted and this would be small enough at that for the city to consider. The citizens who have the question of fuel economy at heart should see that no mistake is made in this time.

The telegrams printed some time ago from private parties and cities using the oil engine and who have already had experience with steam, all tend to show that the fuel cost in the case of steam plants is at least five times that of the oil engine plant. The steam power plant devotes claim that your present cost of operating can be reduced to one-half with an up-to-date steam equipment. We have no comment to make in this regard other than to state that if this method is concurred in as a result of the new plan, then why not go a step further and cut it in half again? The engineer made the statement that the present cost of fuel was about 5 cents per kilowatt hour and as my company would be willing to guarantee a fuel economy of three and one-half times, it means that the engine should operate at less than one-sixth of the present cost.

If Ogea City, Kas., could not afford to operate a steam plant, located as it is, in the coal mining section, and with mines almost within the city limits, what could you expect in the case of Wayne, Nebraska, situated hundreds of miles from the source of fuel supply? Some will say that the freight on coal will be offset by the rate of oil, which is not the case where one set of oil will produce as much power as six or eight cars of coal. It is not the cost of coal at the mines that hurts; but the freight rate to the point of consumption and the railroad cost of the profit. This also applies of the business resulting from strikes on the railroad systems and at the mines, which will often tie up cost shipments for weeks at a time.

The city of Osceola, Ark., was in darkness for several weeks last spring as a result of the Mississippi river flood cutting off all railroad connections. When the river came up again a few weeks ago, Mr. Teaford, superintendent of the power plant there wrote us that he was not worrying this time because they had six months' supply of oil in their storage tanks. We are submitting a copy of this last report, showing the kind of operation of the Osceola municipal power plant for the month of February which includes all fuel, incidental and labor costs for the twenty-eight days. This run was made with a very low power factor, and with considerable reserve, but it shows that the cost of operating is very low, and that the cost of the fuel is the only item that is a variable. The power developed was measured with a recording watt meter and the fuel oil used was measured with an oil meter which had been previously tested for accuracy. The city water works will be operated soon after the new power plant by a motor and the fuel factor will be much better. This will result in a decrease in the cost of operation of the power plant and will add over a hundred dollars a month to their profits resulting from the saving in the present cost of operation of the pumps. We hope that your citizens will take a lively enough interest in this enterprise to urge upon the city council the importance of making a thorough investigation of this proposition. Very truly yours, R. F. WILCOX, City Engineer, City of Osceola, Ark., Rep. De La Vergne Machine Co.

ATCHISON-GLOBE SIGHTS

Some very little minds are probably here to change to-day. When you put on a "snub," don't select a superior workman. An engagement ring attracts the most attention when it disappears. It is a good idea to quit before you need the able assistance of old Doc Keeley. No other belief is so common as that the opposition is unfair in its methods. There is nothing as funny as folks, in an old-fashioned saying coming to life again. As a rule a man who keeps a diary should keep it where others won't get hold of it. It is only in fiction that the private letter is so much water than the post office.

There isn't going to be anything in our ordinary about making dangerous accents of the Alps. Unsettled weather seems to be the safest bet for the weather bureau, most of it being like that. A boy can't honor his father a great deal when the old gent calls him before daylight in the morning. Few men have the observation that the gent who is always praising people has a lot of friends, although honesty is supposed to be the best policy. I have learned a few things, but have some men manage to keep a sharp knife continues to puzzle me a good deal. It hurts a man's heart a little when he reads how brave people are after seeing how they behave in a train holding. When a horse falls on an icy pavement, people refer to it as a shame, but when a man falls on an icy pavement, people laugh and say: "Every little movement has a meaning of its own." Some men are so clumsy. "He's intoxicated, probably," and "Slide, Kelly, slide!" There is no denying that the man pecked man receives a little sympathy, regardless of the fact that his unhappy condition is more often considered a joke by bachelors enjoying the large company of the single bachelors, and had a great mixed up a good deal. All propositions hold good with the bespeckled husband as well as the more important and assertive mortals. An Atchison man who is afraid of his wife admits there isn't a "doubt" on earth that it's a good thing he is. In those days of single bachelors, he was a shy fellow, who didn't give a dang for expense or much of anything else, but after marrying a woman who took him to task for shortcomings, he found it was easier to try to meet her expectations than her reproach when he didn't and his efforts since have been more earnest and he has fewer occasions for showing his face, and his work has met with the approval of press and pulpit. He says he really hasn't changed much from the old days when he was disposed to let the tail go with the hide, and tomorrow take care of itself, as well as most of today, except that he tries a little harder to keep his nose clean.

Some fool measures have been proposed by members of the legislature, but it is believed there are enough wise heads in the body to keep them from becoming laws.

Willis R. Read, of Madison, denies the report that he has been seeking appointment to represent this government in the Argentine Republic or elsewhere, but indicates that he wouldn't be mad if such a position were tendered him.

To improve the quality of citizenship, public schools should be careful to teach with emphasis the difference between business smartness and business dishonesty. There are those who don't know where one stops and the other begins.

An extra session of congress will soon convene. It is the intention of the president to have a short session and relieve the country as soon as possible of unscrupulous speculation, and it is hoped senators will take due heed and cut their performance short.

It is an strangely settled western plains where houses are far apart and poorly built, and where shelter for live stock is insufficient, that greatest suffering and often fatalities are caused by a storm like the one which prevailed last week. In this country which is more thickly settled and where groves, well built houses, barns and sheds are the rule, suffering from a blizzard is greatly reduced. Early settlers of Wayne county remember the serious discomforts suffered when a blizzard descended and swept the unbroken prairie and penetrated the illly protected fireplaces.

Opposition to all governments is the creed given by the degenerate who killed the king of Greece on Tuesday. The king did not deserve to be killed, as he had done nothing to enrage the masses. But he was at the head of an organized country, and he was shot as a "liberate blow at the government." His error is a confessed anarchist who would, if he could have his way, destroy every society and cause chaos and riot and ruin. If he could have his way, there would be no security for persons or property, and the world would revert to its primitive savagery. But there are so few diseased brains of the anarchist type that there is no danger that orderly governments will ever be destroyed. The thing to be deplored is that the anarchist is not discovered and restricted before he has had an opportunity to carry out his mad schemes.

Wayne citizens are, almost without exception, live and sincere boosters for Wayne, but by reason of lack of sufficient organization they are not accomplishing as much for the city as they should. The Commercial club should make more active and effective. This could be done by employing a secretary at a salary sufficient to warrant him

Smile of Colonel Goethals, Builder of the Panama Canal.

COLONEL GEORGE WASHINGTON GOETHALS took charge of the Panama canal as chief engineer and chairman of the Isthmian canal commission six years ago. He has been responsible for the excavation of more earth than any one man in the world. The colonel was born in Brooklyn on June 20, 1858. He was appointed chief engineer of the Panama canal Feb. 26, 1907, assuming charge the following April.

A Panama Emergency Dam

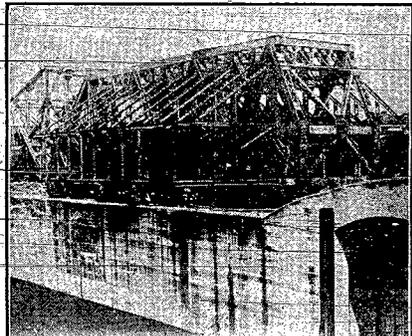

Photo by American Press Association. THIS huge piece of steel work cost a whole lot more than the average man or woman can hope to measure in a lifetime. It was built for use as the Panama dam. Yet even though it does represent a great fortune in the time for its actual use may never come. It is an emergency dam and is located on the Panama canal at Gatun. A permanent dam is located at this place, where are also the three twin locks. Under ordinary circumstances if anything should go wrong with the mechanism of the locks the people in the lowlands would be at the mercy of the terrible force of water held back by the permanent dam and the locks. But with this emergency dam no one need worry, for the experts declare that it can be swung into the channel of the canal and block the flow of water within thirty seconds.

Gatun Dam and Spillway

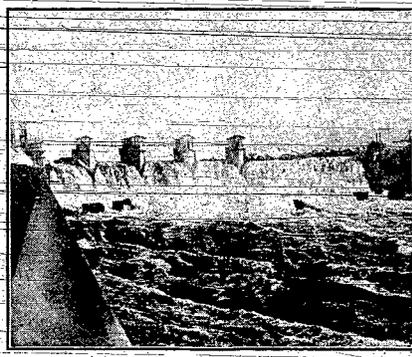

Photo by American Press Association. THE dam at the Gatun spillway on the Panama canal is said to be one of the most magnificent feats of the present day. The tremendous strength of it has been fully appreciated when it is known that it holds back the water of the artificial Gatun lake, which is eighty-seven feet above sea level. The amount of cement used in the Gatun dam is said to be even greater than that used in the construction of the mammoth irrigation dam on the great river in the United States. This dam is of concrete masonry. It is surrounded by thirteen large piers and two big abutments. There are fourteen openings, which may be opened or closed independently of each other by valve gates.

Why They Are Infrequent and the Way They Are Handled.

Perhaps the low percentage of fires in the army is largely due to the fact that guard duty is never suspended.

In daylight and dark, during peace or in time of war, armed sentries walk their posts, scattered everywhere over the garrisons. Falling asleep while on guard is a serious offense. Therefore the guards are always alert. Never is a sentry mounted on a post without a caution to look out for fire. One of the first charges in a guard's general orders is one to which he is cautioned to keep a sharp watch for fire. His first duty in case a building is occupied by humanity is to warn the occupants. Next he turns to a general alarm. And when the fire call is blown by the trumpeter at the main guardhouse every male member of the garrison, except the guard, is commanded to hurry to the scene of the fire. No matter where he is and no matter how he is dressed.

It is not necessary that a man should be in regulation uniform. He responds to a fire call. Military dress do not wait for antagonists in full dress parade costume, any more than city fire prearrange while the members of the department make careful toilers. Once a week, sometimes oftener, in every military garrison, large or small, throughout the country—and there are several hundred at home and in our possession—the fire drill is held. Not a soul save the commanding officer is advised of what hour of the day or night or on what day of the week a fire drill will be held. As fire does not give warning of their coming, it is not only advantageous that a fire drill should be unannounced.

When the fire call goes, either for drill or for a fight for life and property, the soldiers rush out of their quarters, leave their posts in the company kitchen and pick up fire buckets and the axes as they go in the racks for the fire station. Some may be hatless, some coatless and others shirtless. But it is an honor to be among the first to take hold of the fire equipment.

All the officers dash for the fire house, too, and the highest ranking officer present assumes the duties of fire chief. A run is made with chain fire engines and hand driven hose carts and book and ladder trucks for a building designated as the scene of a fire drill. When the equipment is out for a fire drill the men take advantage of the occasion and play water on the windows of buildings, giving them a good cleaning.

The amount of fire fighting apparatus furnished the posts by the government for their protection is regulated, of course, entirely by the size and needs of each post—Monroe Kelly in Insurance engineering.

The Wrecked Sublime Ports.

Ernst Anderson walks Constantinople first among European capitals in point of beauty, then Stockholm, Edinburgh and Lisbon. The Turkish capital has suffered less from fire than most cities which turned the same by which the sultan's government is generally known to a pliancy. Among the buildings attacked was the Serai palace, where councils are held and ambassadors received. The chief clerk of the palace, the Pasha-Hussein, on January 20, 1917, from which the government derives its title, was burned down and has never been rebuilt.

THE Gatun locks proved to be quite a determining factor in the building of the Panama canal. When the work was started there was a saying that "the length of time it takes to build the canal depends on the time it takes to build the Gatun locks." But later the words "Gatun locks" were substituted for "Culebra cut."

There is a system of three twin locks at Gatun. Two million five hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete were used in their construction. In conjunction with the Gatun locks they serve to raise the water level of the Panama canal to the level of the Atlantic. In order to save water and hasten locking of boats each lock chamber is divided into sub-chambers—one 350 feet long and the other 300 feet long.

Gatun Lock With Water In It

THIS is but one of the twins of the three twin locks at Gatun on the Panama canal. Alongside of it is another identically the same, while similar locks are encountered approaching these locks and again leaving them. Between the three twin they lift the monster ships of the ocean on the eighty-five foot elevation to the great artificial Gatun lake that flows them onward to the Pacific. Ships coming in the opposite direction are lowered to the level of the Atlantic. In order to save water and hasten locking of boats each lock chamber is divided into sub-chambers—one 350 feet long and the other 300 feet long.

Women as Jewelers.

Women as alternants and jewelers are increasing in number, and many are showing beautiful work. Miss Brooke Clark of London has done wonderful work in the treatment of turquoise and in mounting new designs after old Florentine designs. Miss Vres and Miss Remington showed in London recently remarkable designs in rocklike pendants and old silver.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES

St. Mary's Catholic Church.
(Rev. William Kearns, Pastor).
Lenten devotion Friday evening at 7:30.
Mass at 8:30 a. m., Sunday and high Mass at 10:30. Sunday school at 3:30 in the afternoon and Benediction in the evening at 7:30.

German Evangelical Lutheran.
(Rev. B. Moehring, Pastor).
A good congregation was present at the services Sunday and will witness the confirmation exercises of four students as follows: Hans Albert Biechel, Carl Henry Biechel, Henry Albert Kieper and Miss Margaret Florence Hefeld.

Good Friday will be observed and the pastor will preach a sermon at 3 o'clock. A good attendance is desired.
Sunday services will commence at 10:30 at the close of which Holy Communion will be administered. A carnival invitation is extended to all.

First Baptist Church.
(Rev. R. P. Richardson, Pastor).
Our Lenten prayer meetings this week have been deeply spiritual. The attendance has grown each evening. Tomorrow (Friday) evening the subject will be "The Secret of Sacrifice." Throwing the thought will be "Divine Friendship." These services last from 7:30 to 8:30 each evening.

The interest shown at our anniversary rally service last Sunday was very pleasing. The budget closes the last of this month. All those who have made pledges should see that their payments are made before the last of the month.

Next Sunday the services will be in sympathy with the Easter season. The subject of the morning sermon will be "Immortality."
The young people's Easter service will be led by Miss Hester and Alexander.

The evening preaching service will be at 7:30.
We are always glad to welcome strangers to all of our meetings.

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.
(Dr. Kuhn, Pastor).
The storm of last week put the roads in bad condition. This hindered a good many from getting to our services on last Sunday. Still, there was a good attendance, and the services were quite interesting. The pastor preached an appropriate sermon to Palm Sunday; text, Matt. 21:5; "Behold thy King Cometh unto Thee." This prophecy was literally fulfilled. Don't always believe the common story. In their fulfillment, people are often taken by surprise. This is because of a neglect in the study of God's word and in the keeping of His commandments. Jesus is our King, and he will visit us. This should give us great joy and gladness of heart. What kind of a reception will we give Him? It should be a glad one. He does not wait the time of His coming. We should therefore strive to be in readiness for his coming. Then only will our hearts be glad, and we be enabled to sing "Glory to God in the highest."
We will observe Good Friday with special services at 10:30. After the sermon, the penitentiary services will be held. We trust our people will be well represented at this time.

The resurrection services on Sunday day at 2 p. m.

Easter will be a great day at St. Paul's church. The services will begin with the Sunday school at 10 a. m. The preaching services will be at 11 a. m. At this time the class in catechism will be confirmed. This will be followed by an appropriate sermon and the Holy Communion. A special thank offering for general benevolences will also be taken at this time. In the evening the Sunday school will give a concert service at 7:30 o'clock, subject, "Songs of Victory." This promises to be a very interesting entertainment.

The offering will be for church extension. Come and help us make this the best day in the history of our church. You are welcome and will be well entertained.

Miss Ada Stundhagen will entertain the Ladies' Aid society on Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Johnson.

First Methodist Church.
(Rev. William Gorst, Pastor).
We are expecting a great day next Sunday. The pastor will preach on "The Resurrection of Jesus" in the morning, and in the evening the Sunday school will assemble for a choral service under the direction of George E. Lackey. In connection with this choral service four ladies will make five-minute talks on Easter topics.

The evening program follows, viz: Choral Service by the Sunday School.
Professor E. E. Lackey, Director.
Songs by the School.
Reading—Reading—Story of the Resurrection—Matt. 28—Paulist Center.
Invocation—Mrs. A. P. Gossard.
Solo—The Palms (Stagned)—Willis Fleetwood.

Address—Fixing the Time of the Pastor's Festival—Mrs. S. A. Lutgen.
Song by the School.
Address—Easter in Other Lands—Miss Rachel Zenzlin.
Girls' Quartet.
Address—Passion Week in Art—Miss Edith Boeschel.

Easter Reading—Miss Olive McBeth.
Songs by the School.
"The Religious Significance of Easter"—Mrs. I. H. Brittel.
The public is most cordially invited to all of these services.
An invitation will be extended at the morning service to unite in church fellowship.
The district conference and the district laymen's association will open their annual session at 1 p. m., Tuesday, March 25, in this church and will continue until Wednesday evening, March 26, inclusive. We expect to entertain about one hundred guests to lodging and breakfast Tuesday night and Wednesday morning and Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Our guests will take their dinners and suppers at the hotels and restaurants. An excellent program has been prepared and the community will have the privilege of hearing such speakers as: W. M. C. A. Secretary Dominion of Omaha, Dr. Jenkins of Drake Wesleyan College, at Mitchell, President Gray of Morning-Adel College, who is also a representative of the Methodist Brotherhood, and probably Chancellor Palmer of Nebraska University.

Presbyterian Church.

(Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor).
"Risen with Christ" will be the subject of the Easter sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. The service will be a combined service of the church and Sunday school and there will be exercises by the members of the primary department, and some other special numbers by members of the Sunday school. The services will begin at 11 o'clock.

There will be no Sunday school next Sabbath as the Sunday school will take part in the Easter services beginning at 11 o'clock.
The C. E. meeting begins at 6:30, and the topic will be "The Lesson of Easter."

There will be a festival of song at the Presbyterian church on Easter Day instead of the regular service. The choir will render the program. During an interlude the pastor will give a short talk on incidents in connection with the Resurrection.
The prayer meeting this week was dismissed in order that there might be an opportunity for all to attend the missionary meeting at the Baptist church and hear the Rev. Dr. Gross, back of China.

Last week Rev. E. P. Hammond, the pastor of the church at Norfolk, addressed the midweek service at the Presbyterian church. There was a large attendance. The subject of the address was "Personal Work" and the speaker showed how practical and effective various forms of personal work were in connection with the upbuilding of the church and Sunday school.

The remarkable conversion and fruitful life of C. G. Kinney was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Alexander Corkey last Sunday evening. He related in detail the religious awakening of Mr. Finney, who was a skeptical young lawyer, but was converted by a way almost remarkable as that of Paul, the apostle. He set our work his place as one of the leading workers in the church in America and held this for most place for fifty years. In some places the direct influence of his apostolic life is still felt.

STATE NORMAL NEWS.

Special announcement of the summer session of 1913 will be made in the April bulletin. The term begins on June 2 and closes July 25.

A teachers' examination will be held at the Normal on Friday and Saturday of this week for the accommodation of such students as are working for a county certificate.

Miss Viola Marshall, territorial secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was a visitor Wednesday and addressed the students at convocation.

Mr. George Lehr represented the local Y. M. C. A. at the meeting of the State association of the Young Men's Christian association held at Lincoln March 13-16.

Some of the younger men in the class of college physics have constructed a detector for wireless waves with which they have been able to "pick up" messages at a distance of a quarter of a mile.

Remember the date of the Ballroom "Mena Crescent" history contest—Monday evening, March 24. Students representing each of the societies will contest for cash prizes amounting to $40 and the program will consist of music, essays, readings, orations, and debates.

The class in advanced chemistry have made such progress in the work that they will finish the required text in time to devote two or three weeks to a short course in household chemistry, or chemistry of daily life.

Miss Mary O'Spencer, formerly Miss Saad, formerly Miss Jennie Mettlen, was graduated from the Nebraska Normal college in 1894, and she was a student of that institution during its first year.

Since the beginning of the year the Y. M. C. A. has taken up in the regular mid-week meetings a systematic study of social problems. The text followed in "The Gospel of the Kingdom" by Christy Strong and the work is being done under the direction of Professor J. G. W. Lewis.

On the afternoon of March 14, the first preliminary debating contest was held in the chapel. Two teams will be selected this year, one to defend against the Peru state normal at Wayne, and the other to meet the Kearney normal at Kearney. The decision of the judges in regard to contestants will not be announced until March 24.

Miss Rose Bastosh, training class of '11, employed in the intermediate grades of the Omaha public schools, has been re-elected for the ensuing year at a salary of $60 per month. Miss Bastosh had not accepted the position and may decide to return to the Normal next year and complete the life certificate course with the class of 1914.

House Roll No. 637, levying a tax of three-fourths of a mill upon the assessed valuation of the state for the maintenance of the state normal, has passed the lower branch of the legislature last week without a single dissenting vote.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the Crescent Literary society on Tuesday evening when, under the direction of Miss Olive McBeth, it presented the drama "Highly of War." The characters had been wisely

THE HIGHEST INLAND SEA.

The highest navigable body of water in the world is Lake Titicaca, which lies in South America about midway between the Horn and the equator. With a size nearly as great as Lake Erie, it is two miles above the level of the sea and is continually broadened in the clouds and winds of the Andes. Rugged, rocky islands dot its surface, and it possesses dozens of great, unexplored bays. Its average depth is 1,000 feet—nearly twice that of Lake Superior—but in many places bottom has never been found. The lake never freezes, although because of its height, it is situated in a land of almost perpetual winter. Along the shores are ruins of great cities, probably of the Incas, but so ancient are they that even the Indians have no idea of their origin or history. Several steamers ply over the lake and carry on a valuable trade in gold and other products of the mountains.—New York Mail.

The Too Good Ailthi.

There is no defense so familiar to original courts as the alibi, proof that the accused was not near the scene of a crime when that crime was committed. There is no defense more satisfactory, except when it is too good to doubt. The foreman of the jury cannot prove where he was at the same time with that which occurred. Probably the judges cannot assure the accused that it happens to have that proof which others lack? Are his witnesses (jury) or was the crime committed earlier than the state thinks, and is the alibi "man"? Honest man, do not doubt. It is a matter of minutes, not hours, minutes by minute. The fellow who knows the need of an alibi has one ready "The Too Good Ailthi."

The Dyspeptic Outlook.

Long ago the phenomenal power of the stomach of the earth was immortalized in the fable of all the world's great languages. To have the "stomach of an ostrich" is the synonym for incomparable digestive power. The whole thing from beginning to end is a matter of taking pure and simple. As a matter of fact, the dyspeptic, who is a confirmed dyspeptic, has a most delicate digestion. The largest single entry in the world mortality records is acute indigestion. The successful feeding of ostriches in captivity requires constant care.—Argonaut.

Early England's Animals.

Henry IV. Essex, England, is famous for the number of zoological researches discovered there giving an idea of the dangerous state of the Thames valley at an early date in the history. The elephant, the rhinoceros and the bear have been particularly common.

Didn't Halt True.

Father: Boy's life. Harold: I heard you had been at bed as had you been today. What have you got to say for yourself? Small Harold: Please don't believe all you hear—papa. I don't believe in a whole lot worse.—Chicago News.

What a Woman Says.

Singleton: I want to ask you a question, old man. I wonder—Come on with it, question—Does a woman always mean what she says? Wedderly: During courtship she doesn't, but after marriage you bet she does.—Chicago News.

Possibly.

Henry: Do you think she would accept me if I should propose? Edith: Why? Of course, because she would be the worse-looking chump than you.—Chicago News.

Next Step.

Klicker: Children are now raising their parents. Bocker: No, the generation will cease in parent study.—New York Sun.

A Guaranteed Liver Remedy.

If every one realized the importance of the liver and the necessity of keeping it in perfect condition in order to insure perfect general health, no one would neglect seeking a remedy the instant any symptom of liver weakness appeared; and if everybody realized the value of Rexall Liver Salt, in the treatment of all forms of liver trouble and the various ailments arising therefrom, its use would be even more general than now. Rexall Liver Salt is a remedy specially designed for toning up, and strengthening the liver, helping it to remove poisonous waste matters from the body, and tending to correct that number of liver ailments which usually accompany liver disorders.

Greatly stimulating in its effect, Rexall Liver Salt, at the same time, contains ingredients that help to strengthen and tone up the liver and restore it to its normal health and activity. Every sale is accompanied by a positive guarantee to refund the money in any case in which it does not give satisfaction. Prices 25 and 50 cents. THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald-Tribune March 19, 1885: Born, March 15, 1885, to Mr. and Mrs. David Rowe, a son.

F. M. Skeen returns from Iowa City where he had been attending the law department of the state university. Local market: Wheat, 45 cents; corn, 30 cents; oats, 25 cents; hogs, $8.40; cattle, $23.50.

The hand has been named the Wayne Light Guards, with the following officers: J. E. Besant, leader and instructor; Robert Wilkins, secretary and treasurer, and W. H. McNeal, business manager.

A German boy named Carl Schneider who has been working for W. J. White at the Stoughton ranch in Bertha precinct, was kicked by a horse Sunday and his face terribly cut up. His nose was broken, the frontal bone fractured, one eyelid torn off, and a quantity of hardened cartilage driven into the flesh and eye.

From the Wayne Herald, March 22, 1894: Local market: Wheat 40 cents; oats, 21 cents; corn, 23 cents; hogs, $8.40; cattle, $23.25.

The local board of the Building & Loan association organizes by electing the following officers: Charles A. Nye, president; S. B. Russell, secretary; S. H. Alexander, treasurer.

From Ponca Journal, March 24, 1884: Born, March 29, 1894, to Mr. and Mrs. John Lineman, a son.

Charles Wagner, aged seven, was found dead at a warehouse at Atkins, and it was believed he fell down a flight of stairs, resulting fatal injuries.

From Ponca Journal, March 21, 1881: Mr. D. H. Talbot of Sioux City, writes us that he knows of the little advertisement...

From Ponca Journal, March 31, 1881: Lee on the river broke up and commenced running Sunday afternoon. A gentleman who witnessed the breakup, says that without any noise or disturbance about it the ice suddenly commenced moving down stream all in a body.

The United States mail is an institution we greatly respect and we like to see it well patronized, and hence feel much pride in telling of the immense amount of business which is done here by mail.

convey it. This shows what a ponderous, strapping and frothy-killing amount of mail-matter is sent out of this town. We'll bet there is not a mail bag that goes out of Sioux City that could be boosted onto an engine. But here, we have a special car for our literature or it cannot get. NOTICE OF ELECTION. Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, April 1, 1913, the General annual City election will be held in the City of Wayne, Nebraska, and in the several wards thereof, as follows:

First Ward Election will be held in the city hall. Second ward election will be held in the marble shop on lot 4, block 19, of North Addition to Wayne, Nebraska.

One Councilman from the First Ward to fill vacancy. One Councilman from the Second Ward. One Councilman from the Third Ward. Two members of the school board.

England's 'Basket Justice'. Centuries ago justice in England was not administered nearly so impartially as it is now. There were the 'basket justices' who received their nickname from the presents openly banded up to them to court by suitors.

What's wrong with that? 'What were you talking to just now?' 'He has been disappointed in love.' 'Too bad! Did some other fellow get her?' 'No, he got the girl, but she won't support him.' - Birmingham Age-Herald.

Disappointed in Love. 'What's wrong with that? 'What were you talking to just now?' 'He has been disappointed in love.' 'Too bad! Did some other fellow get her?' 'No, he got the girl, but she won't support him.' - Birmingham Age-Herald.

His Masterpiece. The greatest comic artist in the world drew a caricature of a woman's hat. The picture was so funny that he almost burst out laughing at it. When he showed it to his wife she never cracked a smile. 'Don't you like it?' inquired the artist. 'Like it?' she replied. 'Of course I like it. It's the dearest, sweetest, loveliest hat I ever saw in my life. Why do you waste your time on these horrid comic pictures when you are capable of designing beautiful things like this?' 'I'm going right down and have my milliner make me one just like that.' - And she did.

THE PRESIDENT'S SECRETARY.

He Must Be a Diplomat, and His Position is Not an Easy One. The duties of the secretary to the president of the United States are not considered at all secondary in importance to those of a cabinet officer. He is the man who first meets the thousands of visitors who flock to the White House. Just when the president desires to see or should see without bothering the president. These visitors come from all parts of the United States on all sorts of missions, some important and mostly of a very trivial character, and they come bringing all sorts of letters and instructions from their constituents.

Again, the secretary must have relations with the hundreds of correspondents who represent the great newspapers of the country. Public opinion is molded by these correspondents, and they are greatly attracted to their characteristics. In their ambition to secure their newspapers, they always know exactly why they visit the White House. Frequently matters are not exactly as they are in the eyes of the president's secretary to parry the inquiries and probing questions of these great correspondents. This must be done smilingly and in good form.

WHY A BASEBALL CURVES.

For the Same Reason That an Open Door Slams in a Draft. All the wind of a room-tips or other way a door opened nearly to the limit will close when there is a draft or wind going through the opening.

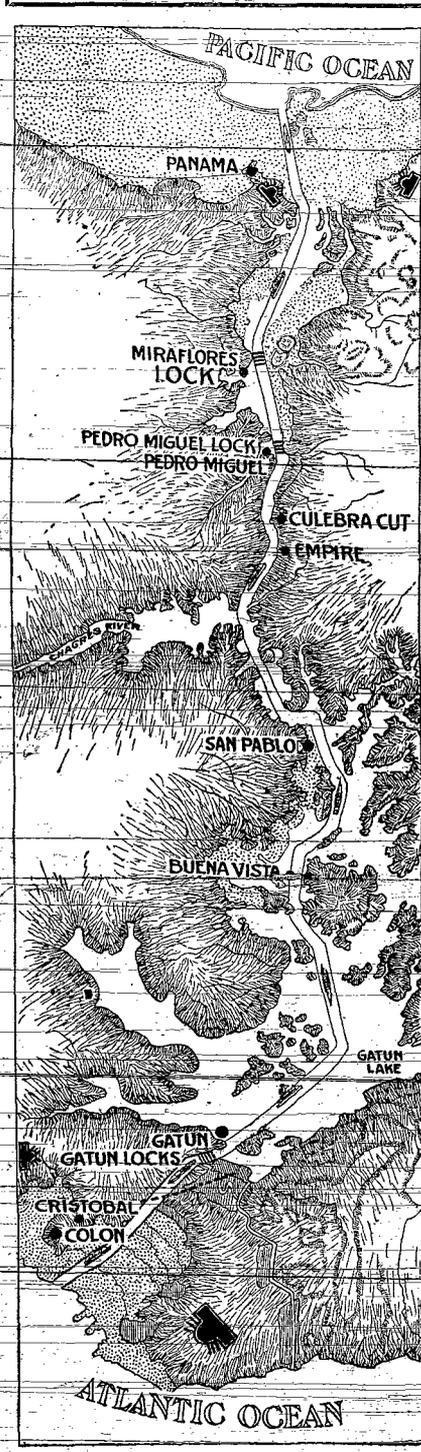

Now, if a wind blows against that ball it is easy to see that the little rotating current will be with the wind on one side and against it on the other. So that on one side the velocity of the air will be increased and on the other diminished.

When a ball is rotated in the air it carries around with it a good deal of air sticking to the sides. This, then, is the same thing as saying that a current of air is being carried around the ball in the direction of rotation.

Grammatical Oversight. A correspondent has complained that in a story the other day we used 'actors' in the singular number. If we did so it was an oversight. But this error goes to show the carelessness of the fool-business of our beloved tongue.

Very Successful. 'Even water must say "Thank you, even when the tip is small." 'That rule does not prevent them from being the ocean, my friend. Some of your writers can say it with seven different inflections.' - Pittsburgh Post.

The Panama Canal Birdseye View Showing Route of the Great Waterway Now Nearing Completion

ACCORDING to present plans, water will be let into the new Panama canal on July 1. The first boat will enter in September. Going from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean a boat enters the canal on the north side of the isthmus of Panama at a small suburb called Cristobal. Seven miles inland it comes to the Gatun locks. These lift the boat to a level of eighty-five feet above the sea. This level is maintained across the famous Gatun artificial lakes and through the Culebra cut to the Pedro Miguel (called Pedro Miguel by American workmen) locks thirty-nine miles from the Atlantic ocean and eleven miles from the Pacific ocean. The Pedro Miguel and Miraflores locks lower the boat to the Pacific sea level. Thence it goes to the other terminus, called La Boca, the Spanish words for 'mouth, a suburb of the City of Panama.
