Edison's Masterpiece

AT JONES' BOOKSTORE

Edison's Masterpiece Phonograph

The EDISON DISC PHONOGRAPH, shows for the first time, a successful culmination of thirty-five years spent by Mr. Edison in his endeavor to perfectly reproduce sound.

In 1878, Mr. Edison invented and patented the first disc phonograph, but not until 1913 has the great master permitted a disc phonograph to be offered to the public in his name.

Mr. Edison has discovered the secret of recording and reproducing tone and tone-color, a new and superior method of recording only known to the Edison Recording Laboratory.

Until now the delicate beauties of music have baffled reproduction as they were either lost recording or so weakly reproduced as to be entirely lost in the noisier common to disc records.

This wonderful musical instrument can be heard at Evidence that can be verified. Fact is what we want. Opinion is not enough. Opinions differ. Here's a Wayne fact. You can test it.

Mrs. D. S. McVicker, Wayne, Neb., says: "I used Dean's Kidney Pills a few years ago when I was suffering from full pains across the small of my back and a bearing-down feeling in my joints. This remedy cured me and at that time I publicly told of my experience. I am now willing to confirm my former statement."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you—don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Dean's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. McVicker had—the remedy backed by home testimony—50 cents at all stores. Foster-McMillan Co., proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Clincher" Paint

We know a paint which holds to the wood like a driven nail. Seasoned lumber is porous. The pores are the empty capillaries. White lead paint, which dries on the wood in the form of a solid, elastic film, fastens into these pores, and the whole coat of paint is actually riveted like armor-plate to the surface it decorates and protects.

Red Seal White Lead
(Dutch Boy Painter Trade Mark)

and Dutch Boy Linseed Oil

make the paint that spreads into a solid body. It becomes a part of the wood itself—an outer layer that preserves the life of the lumber.

We sell it as well as other painting requisites. Come in and have a talk with us about painting.

THE NEW HEALTH BEARD FOR WAYNE

...Special Health Bread...

Made from the whole wheat flour that is milled under Mr. Mear's personal supervision. It comes to you wrapped in sanitary waxed paper.

What a prominent Omaha physician says about this bread: Dr. D. A. Merriam of Omaha, who for many years has given a great deal of attention to the subject of Foods and Feeding in its relation to the acquisition and maintenance of perfect health, and a pure blood stream, says—

"Mear's SPECIAL HEALTH BREAD" contains the essentials of nutrition in proper proportions and is one of the greatest health-building and health maintaining foods that you can secure." This is a large, two-pound, ten-cent loaf and we have it arriving fresh daily from the ovens to your table. Try some in your next order.

"TIP-TOP" BREAD is made of the finest unbleached flour, with malt and milk. Its wholesome, delicious flavor is an evanescent memory of its goodness; put up in five-cent and ten-cent loaves. You cannot heat-out bread for quality.

MR. FARMER—Have you ever used ADVO Quick Feed? It is one of the best ever put out on the market. It is made from cracked Indian-corn, whole milk, egg, cracked kafir-corn, cracked wheat, oatmeal and charcoal. This is served under the Nebraska feeding staff laws, by A. A. Jackson, deputy commissioner, whose tag is an every 100-pound sack. Our price for this fine chick feed is $2.40 per 100-pound sack or 10 pounds for 25 cents, in the bulk.

COMMITTEE

NO CAUSE TO WORRY OVER CROP OUTLOOK

There is no occasion to worry over crop conditions or prospects by reason of the cold, backward season, according to the testimony of leading railroad men. Yesterday's Omaha Bee given this assurance.

"As to the corn, Superintendent Allen of the Burlington, says there is no cause for worry. He estimates that 75 per cent of the seed is in the ground and regardless of the fact that the weather has been cold, much of it is showing through the ground, scouting the idea of 'crops of nothing'."

"General anger Walters of the Northwestern estimates that throughout Northwestern territory in the corn growing belt, fully 75 per cent of the planting has been completed. Much of the early planting has been done, and it is now as far as the ground is dry enough to be worked."

"Mr. Walters is looking forward to the biggest and best crop of corn that Nebraska has ever raised." Having watched Nebraska crop conditions for several years, he says that the weather must get it; at this time, the crop report will mean, within ninety-five days from planting."

SEMON DEVOTED TO GRADUATING CLASS

LUTHERAN PASTOR PREACHES

Large Audience Attends the Annual Service—Class Ourselves in Floral Decorations.

High school faculty and class as represented in a body at the elaborate services: Faculty: Superintendent J. H. Kemp, Principal Mrs. M. A. Phillips, Miss Katherine Lewis, Miss Hertha B. Professor E. L. ... Class: Ruth Eberhart, Ida Hughes, Marie Wright, Goldie Chase, John Lower, Bessie Crockett, Edward Jones, Marjorie Kohl, Raymond Fox, Grace ...

The annual baccalaureate service for the graduating class of the Wayne high school was delivered by Rev. Floyd E. Blessing of the Lutheran church, at the M. E. church Sunday evening before a large audience. The service was held in the gymnasium and was carried out in the floral decorations. Members of the class and high school faculty attended in a body and occupied front seats reserved for them. The singing was furnished by the M. E. choir under the leadership of Professor L. L. Alexander. Rev. Alexander Corkey of the Presbyterian church, read the scripture lesson, Rev. P. B. Richardson of the Baptist church, led in prayer, and Rev. P. B. Richardson of the M. E. church had charge of the services and pronounced the benediction.

"This benediction is part of your inheritance as you members of the class of 1913 of the Wayne high school, some of the most abiding memories of the soul. You have been struggling hard and long for this benediction—some of you through struggles you will be liberated to the man plodding his way up the mountainside, as he advances, he meets with the many discouragements and disappointments of mountain climbing, but the farther up the mountain, the more beautiful does the scenery become, and when he reaches the summit he stands face to face with the sight, the like of which he has never seen.

"You young people, have been climbing life's mountain of knowledge, you have struggled with some of its hard problems and have solved them, and now you stand face to face with a new and higher mountain. You will never meet a period, unique and alone, but a period never to be forgotten. This period is not only important to you because it does that time in your life when you go forth from the public schools of Wayne, but because you will have to face the problems of the profession of life. Now will your future days and years get your earning and will present to you some of life's greatest possibilities. They will lift up to you some of its prizes and show you some of its chief principles for right living.

"But in the solution of the great problem of life, one thing must be kept in mind, one principle must not be forgotten, and that one principle is: there is a purpose in life. Therefore, turn your attention this evening with me to the theme, "A Life with a Purpose." The purpose of life is to live with a purpose in every life. It is useless for me to say that there is no purpose in life, that each individual has been born into the world to meet with life's sorrows, pains and conflicts, and then to pass to the great beyond. If life were merely a series of misadventures, there would be no ideals to accomplish, there would be no distinguished from the lifeless objects which we see about us each day. The pessimist may say life has no purpose. The idealist may say there are no ideals in life to be obtained, but when we look at the world around us, we must have failed to apprehend the hunger and thirst of humanity, they have failed to guide the wanderer upon life's troubled sea; they have been unable to strike the silent chords of man's heart and cause them to be recorded in the name which was inscribed upon Calvary's cross.

"But from down the vanished century ties flourish, come floating clear and sweet the message of peace and good cheer—words which have sounded the silent chords of man's heart and have caused them to leap forth to the praise of Him who has given us the thought that there is a purpose to life.

"For He who is the head of the Christian church, the pattern of the human race, tells us, "To this end I have been born, and to this end am I come into the world: that I should bear witness unto the truth."

"It has been over nineteen centuries since Christ was born in a manger at Bethlehem. His birth was not insignificant to the people in that day. To them, he was only a child who like all others must die young and with the great stir of humanity, but—his death there were implanted the greatest possibilities which have ever been implanted in the life of a human being. In that little life there was a purpose, which the whole world was made to see, and which was to relate to the purpose of it. Thus, as it was with the Babe of Bethlehem, it is with every babe born into this great world. No man or woman is sent into the world on a fool's errand, or on no errand.

"You young people as you have some of the best years of life set aside upon life's troubled sea, do not be discouraged, but remember there is a purpose in your life.

"Since there is a purpose in each life, that purpose must be brought out, it must be definitely known. Every great undertaking has been well thought out, the plan has been properly laid, the purpose has been definitely known, before work was begun.

"If you should enter St. Paul's cathedral and look about you, you would be moved with wonder and admiration as you see its massive walls, the numerous pillars and the wonderful dome and, no doubt, you would ask yourself the question, "From whence is this beauty and grandeur?"

"But if you would reflect, you would realize that the beauty and grandeur of that building are the culmination of the plans of the architect, which its architect had before him. When the head architect saw upon Bethlehem plain and the message was announced to the world: "For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ, the Lord," there was proclaimed to the world the great work of Jesus Christ, but not until the age of 12 years did Christ tell us of that purpose. He was with the doctors in the temple asking questions while his parents sought Him in sorrow, and when they found Him in Jerusalem, he said to his father, "Why didst thou seek me here, when thou shouldst have sought me here?"

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

German Evangelical Lutheran. (Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor). Next Sunday preaching services and Sunday school at the usual hours. Young people's meeting at 7 in the evening.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Keane, Pastor). Mass at 8:30 in Wayne Sunday, followed by benediction. Catechism at 11:30. There will be Mass at Carroll a week from Sunday, June 1.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. Floyd E. Blessing, Pastor). There will be services next Sunday morning at the usual time. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. We are getting along nicely with the Sunday school work, but we would like to have every member of the church in the Sunday school. The Sunday school is the preparatory school to the church, so let us make the best of the Sunday school.

Regular preaching services at 11 o'clock. The morning theme will be "Life's Reward." The services have been well attended since the pastor returned from the East, but we are looking for better attendance. We are always glad to see strangers and visitors and we invite you to worship with us.

The Ladies Aid society will meet on Thursday of this week at the home of Mrs. M. A. Phillips. The choir will hold its rehearsal on Thursday evening. On Wednesday of last week a reception was given to the pastor and wife. Although the evening was stormy, there was a good attendance. Brief letters were given by the pastors of the city churches, all of which were enjoyed. In connection with the reception the members gave the pastor and wife a very pleasant surprise in the form of a liberal donation.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. P. B. Richardson, Pastor). The memorial services on behalf of the G. A. R. and the auxiliary circle will be held in the Baptist church Sunday morning. The veterans will meet at the room and march to the church in a body. The pastor will be the subject, "The Nation and the Soldier." The choir, under Professor Davies' leadership will furnish appropriate music. We cordially invite friends of the comrades to meet with us. Services will begin promptly at 10:45.

Presbyterian church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor). The memorial services on behalf of the G. A. R. and the auxiliary circle will be held in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. The veterans will meet at the room and march to the church in a body. The pastor will be the subject, "The Nation and the Soldier." The choir, under Professor Davies' leadership will furnish appropriate music. We cordially invite friends of the comrades to meet with us. Services will begin promptly at 10:45.

Methodist church. (Rev. P. B. Richardson, Pastor). Another week has gone with its round of services—a little out of the ordinary, but enjoyable, nevertheless. Next Sunday, our services will consist of the morning service, Sunday school and Epworth League. The day school for a memorial for our departed heroes, the thought for the sermon will be in keeping with the day. Remember Sunday school is at 8 o'clock and a place for all ages of Bible students will be found, and if you are a constant attendant on Sunday school, you will find a welcome here, and older people than you present to give you the welcome.

The Epworth League service was led by the Junior Bible Circle last meeting and all enjoyed the spirit of labor. The Epworth League will meet on Sunday, the service will be led by Mrs. M. A. Phillips; subject, "The Cross of Jesus," Matt. 26:27, 28, and Heb. 12:2. Let every one be on time for the meeting, so that all may attend the baccalaureate at the Presbyterian church. It is a safe assumption that English weeds would not have become so militant and violent if they had been as well treated as are American weeds.

Carl Wayne do as well as O'Neill in the matter of a new hotel? O'Neill recently completed a new one costing $60,000. Does that town warrant as it can support a more costly hotel than Wayne?

Beggers should be required to prove the state of their poverty and helplessness before being permitted to canvass the town for help. They should be required to present certificates of merit from local authorities. Without real assistance, people are often imposed on by observing characters.

Strict adherence to truth and maintenance of highest integrity are indispensable to popular esteem and enduring success. No matter how smart one may be, if it is to be used honestly to benefit the truth and trust his fellowmen justly and squarely, he will fall far short of the position in the world for which his brilliancy has fitted him.

Evangelist Billy Sunday has refused to consider a proposition to labor with the wicked of Omaha until every church in the town gives the request for his presence. Jan. 7 Sunday too particular if he can grant Omaha from the clutches of Pluto, shouldn't he get busy even if all denunciations do not unite in urging 'his assault'?

The split in the republican party has been due mainly to rivalry among would-be bosses. The masses agree on all essentials and could get together on a platform that is progressive and constructive—not radical on the one hand nor ultra conservative on the other. And the masses of the party should not allow themselves to be kept apart by the selfish ambitions of rival politicians within the party.

A five-year-old boy has been arrested for smoking cigarettes and carrying smoking cigarettes and the county attorney has given notice that he proposes to rigidly enforce the anti-cigarette law. It is likely in Wayne, and every other town in the state, that he found boys who are violating the law. Cigarette smoking is a nervous habit, and whenever it is possible to employ the law to prevent the young from becoming addicted to it, it ought to be used.

For a few weeks, public exhibition of the state normal school will take place, and commencement exercises mark the completion of certain courses of study by students. The Wayne high school is giving its graduates the proper send-off this week. Next week the State Normal will have the floor. Other schools everywhere are doing the same. Many bright young men and women have thus reached a juncture in their schooling. Some will turn at once to music-making vocations, while others will plan to take up studies in higher institutions of learning. All are anxious to get along well in life, and hope to become useful and prosperous members of society. It takes courage, stability of character, and a sense of responsibility and discrimination to get comfortably over the rough places, in life, and it is well for students to understand that such qualities are quite as essential for development as the mental training required by the school or college curriculum.

July Fourth is not far off, and its approach reminds one of the difference between the celebration of the nation's natal day now and thirty years ago. In this western country, thirty years ago, the Fourth was anticipated as one of the very few big days of the year. Boys and girls talked about and prepared for it weeks ahead. They were thrilled with joyous expectancy. They laid in a supply of cheap and harmless fireworks, and could have a grand time at little cost. There were no telephones and no automobiles, and therefore communication and transportation were not so easy as they are today.

Many of the Fourth finds the primitive country in complete readiness to celebrate. Mostly lumber wages survey people from the sparsely settled surrounding territory to the town grove. They start early and bumping along through the best and dust arrive in time to inspect the grandstand, lemonade stands, circular swing and dancing platform, in advance of the patriotic exercises. They trudge up town to see the parade, and wait two hours in the broiling sun before the program commences.

For the parade, the floats are represented by girls, dressed in white, with red and blue sashes, and with the bespangled goddess of liberty, ride triumphantly in a hayrack drawn by four horses, which the driver doesn't know how to drive, and which don't know how to drive. The parade ends in the town square, and if an accident happens and some one is hurt, the excitement increases, and there is more to talk about the rest of the day, and longer, if results prove serious. After the band and hayrack fall of animate states comes the conclusion of the parade in the shape of a lot of callistopians. Then people fall in line and march to the grove, the women perspiring and tired, and the children with noses blistered and peeled under the influence of the hot sun. At the grove, the band plays, the choir sings, the nation prayer, the schoolmaster reads the declaration of independence, and the town orator describes with much feeling how the colonies threw off the yoke of British rule. Firecrackers pop around the head of the speaker, and the smell of burning powder reminds the people of the heroism of their colonial forefathers. The rough seats grow harder as the orator hawls his praise of the cause of the revolution, and the audience twists restlessly, wishing that a merciful Providence would interpose and stop the flood of words. In a crowd of noisy people rather and spread their wealth of articles on the grass covered ground and eat with a relish unknown to the luxurious and easy life of today. Acquaintances, kept apart since the previous Fourth, are renewed, and joy rises and swells into a feeling of festive and physical discomfort. A grassed pig and a few rats occupy the attention of some in the afternoon. The young ride in the rope swing operated by a horse; they dance, chew gum, patronize the refreshment stands, and stay for the stupendous display of fireworks in the evening. After the windup, everybody goes home tired to the limit. It is different now. People do not toil so hard to enjoy themselves. Thick settlements, telephones, automobiles, good roads, and easier ways for diversion give diversion not enjoyed thirty years ago.

HOUSEKEEPERS ARE GIVEN OPPORTUNITY
During the summer term at the State Normal, a conference for housekeepers will be held in the household science department. This will consist of a series of eight informal meetings or conferences to be held on Wednesdays after-noon of each week, beginning June 1. The object of these meetings is to study scientific ways of conducting home work for the best interests of the family; to discuss the best expenditure of time, strength and money to secure the highest efficiency; and for the exchange of facts and physical ideas. In themselves, are not sufficient to give a thorough understanding of the subjects of which they treat, but will introduce these subjects preparatory to a further acquaintance with them.

SALUTE THE DEAD

A Memorial Day Poem
By JAMES A. EDERTON
[Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.]

The dead part rises before me
Tut it memory like yesterday,
And I rub my eyes as I realize
It is fifty years away.
There remain, like ghosts of those mighty souls,
These few of us—past and gray.

COMRADES AND FRIENDS AND BROTHERS,
And when next May brings again this day
A few more names will be read,
Perhaps they'll be ours as men deck with flowers
The graves of the soldier dead.

Gates Almost Given Away

HERE you are, you farmers who are so proud of your homes, crops and machinery yet neglect to put up good gates. We have just received a big shipment of Iowa Gates, to loan out on free trial just to show you that these steel gates add value to your farm and save you time, trouble and annoyance—winter and summer.

The Famous Iowa Gate

(The Sensation of the Year)

Is an exhibition at our store—right now? Note the big, heavy frame, the large No. 8 wires and how strong the gate is built. Drop in and take a look at it. The cut gives you an idea of the worth of this gate. See how adjustable it is, rates $25.00 and is guaranteed to satisfy you or you get your money back at any time.

SUGGESTED BY THE HERALD EXCHANGES

The West Point Republican expresses the hope that the attempt to revise the republican party will be upward instead of downward.

The Osmond M. W. A. is planning for a big picnic June 4. Head officers of the order will be present to speak, and a good time is guaranteed.

W. C. Montgomery, editor of the Pilot Herald, will receive the hearty sympathy of the Nebraska press over the loss of his little son who died after a brief illness.

The South Sioux Record reports plans for a lot of improvements at Crystal lake this season. A new hotel, with twenty-five rooms, is among the new things in prospect.

Automobiles are not used to being run by editors, as witness the one at Hartington which dumped the editor of the News, wrenching one of his wrists and wrecking the looks of his face.

C. S. Hughes, who suits the postoffice newspaper at Pennington, has filed on a homestead in Wyoming and expects to move there as soon as he can release himself from present duties.

Members of the Aurora graduating class have restored a custom that was in vogue years ago, of giving their own orations at commencement, rather than having one address by a more or less expert orator. The class has not, however, restored the subjects which were trotted out and around the ring rounder under the old system. "The High Cost of Living," and the "Panama Canal" release "The Pyramids" and "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy." The only way graduating classes could seem to get away from the old and worn subjects with "worn" addresses was suggested once per year to quit the practice entirely. New subjects have grown up during the interim, and will enable the public to tolerate return of the old custom.

REFERRING TO WAYNE.

Hartington Enterprise: W. Moritz and E. J. Clark were up from Wayne last Friday looking up the opportunity for opening a pool hall in this city. After learning that the license was $1,000, they gave it up.

Creighton News: The Wayne Herald of last week contains the pictures of the Junior English class of the Wayne Normal, who are to do the local work for the Herald this week. Miss Gladys Bush is a member of this class and will be one of the editors.

South Sioux City Record: At Wayne, next week, the members of the Junior English class of the Wayne Normal, who are to do the local work for the Herald this week. Miss Gladys Bush is a member of this class and will be one of the editors.

Wayne Leader: The business men of Wayne are surely energetic and enterprising. For some time past, they have wanted the railroad company to build a depot there that would be worth while and it looks as though they were going to get one of the best depots in the state outside of the larger cities. We congratulate the people of Wayne on this good fortune. Almost that piece might have shared as well a couple of years ago, when the railroad company patched up the old shack and let it go at that.

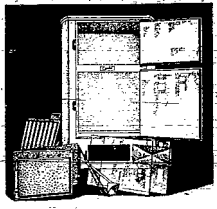

Norfolk Press: The Wayne depot case has at last been settled by an agreement of the Minneapolis & Omaha railway company to construct a new brick station to cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The citizens of Wayne some time ago appeared before the railway commission asking for the new depot. The commission ordered the company to build the station and the railway refused to do so and appealed the matter to the supreme court. The case was to have been argued this week, but the company agreed to build the depot and the case probably will not be heard.

Winning Tribune: A week ago, British agent, local editor of the Wayne Herald, wrote a novel little article about the new Winside jail and just for fun called it "Hotel Strong," as Tom Strong is the village marshal; and now Tom is kept busy answering inquiries from various supply houses relative to hotel distillers. Last week he was in receipt of a letter from one house in Des Moines offering reduced prices on hotel registers and with the letter was sent a pencil to be used in the hotel. Now, Tom doesn't exactly care to run hotels, but he says to beg with him he will guarantee good treatment, sanitary beds, plenty of hot bread and water—and every person entering will be given to understand that there will be no lights burning after sundown; no porter to blacken their shoes; and no leaving in the morning with the decision of their own.
