ANNUAL RECEPTION TO NORMAL STUDENTS

PRESIDENT EXTENDS WELCOME

Happy Response by Miss Madson—Program Followed by String of Refreshments

Sites the organization of the school has been customary for the faculty at the opening each term to tender a reception to the student body. This delightful event occurred on Tuesday evening. The students prepared in the morning, headed by President and Mrs. Con, and were seated in the chapel with Dean Hahn presiding, a program was rendered. President Con gave the address of welcome, which was followed by a witty response by Miss Madson. Miss Ina Hughes sang a solo, and she was complimented to an encore. Professor Keeley appeared for the first time before a Wayne audience, and delighted his hearers with two selections from the South dialect. The program is the chapter closed with two excellent male quartets, at which the students and faculty were given two very interesting and well-learned songs. The program was then happily decorated for the occasion. Punch and wafers were served, and social time enjoyed until 10:30.

STATE-NORMAL NOTES

Dr. Corkey addressed the students at the annual convocation of the Normal school at Lincoln, Neb. Tuesday morning. Dr. P. Burgess of Carroll will talk to the young men at their meeting next Sunday morning. Mrs. Main and William McEachern representing the Wayne high school appeared before the Normal students Wednesday morning. Miss Hattie Clark reached their destination, and that they were getting their credits shaped up for a year's work at Columbia university.

Miss Linda M. Winter of Norfolk and J. Earl Beach of Mesquit Grove, entered the Normal school as members of this year's senior class. Miss Winter is a graduate of the Norfolk high school with an attendance of three summers in the Wayne Normal. She completed a four-year high school course and spent last year in the University of Nebraska.

Alfred H. Lewis has written Wayne friends that he has been registered in the University of Nebraska, with an allowance of six-and-a-half hours in the college course. This evaluation of credit is being made by the faculty. Mr. Lewis will rank as a junior, and will enable him to complete the work for his Bachelor's degree at the end of two years.

The board of control which directed the work of the Normal school, organized for the work of the ensuing year. This board consists of six members elected from the faculty, namely: J. W. Lewis, H. H. Hahn, Sara J. Killeen, H. H. Drighl, Clyde W. Kerley and J. E. Madson. The board will meet from the student body—Herbert A. Walsh, Margaret Schenkel, Paul A. Becker, Charles E. Meeker, Sidney M. Johnson and George J. Church. A banquet at Mesquit Grove, September 29, 1913, and the attractions for this dinner will be announced in a few days.

The serious classes of the school have been organizing this week. The senior class has selected as officers: President, Pepp Hughes; officers, Vice president, Charles E. Meeker; secretary, John Blakey; treasurer, John H. Hahn; reporter, John H. Hahn; class adviser, Dean H. Hahn. The Junior class has chosen for officers: President, Wm. W. Miller; secretary, E. R. Rogers; treasurer, E. R. Rogers; class adviser, E. R. Rogers; secretary, E. R. Rogers; treasurer, E. R. Rogers; class adviser, E. R. Rogers.

WOLFE-BERGERNS

Yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Wolfe, in Allenton, took place the marriage of Miss Rose Bergman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Bergman, to Mr. Carl Wolfe, son of Carl Wolfe, Sr. Rev. F. Schaller officiated at the ceremony, after which the wedding party of about 100 guests, who were housed at the home of Mrs. Wolfe, departed for the home of the bride.

NEW GARAGE TO BE OPENED

Johnson & Williamson have decided to convert the building which they owned at John Larson and moved to the lot adjoining their marble works into an automobile garage. They are putting in a cement floor and other improvements in the building. They have arranged to handle a high grade car, and will employ an expert to look after repair work.

NEWS OF INTEREST IN WAYNE CITY SCHOOLS

The Freshmen will give a program on Friday

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Theobald were visitors this week. The high school football team will play at Stanton on Saturday. The members of the senior class are putting in their spare minutes selling lecture course tickets. Have you bought yours?

The Wayne-Barnett football game which was to have been played here on Friday of this week was called off on account of the Barnett team's disbanding. The Sophomore class gave the following program on Friday morning: Duet, Lillian Perry and Frances Olson; the Latest Jokes, by Pearl Lane; violin solo by Elizabeth Mines; Dictionary, by Harold Croghan.

Announcements were recently received by Wayne friends of the marriage of Mabel Lewis of Deaver on September 19, to Dr. Lich. Miss Lewis was for two years the teacher of Latin and German in the high school, and has many friends who wish her the best in life. Mr. and Mrs. Lich will live in Boston for a time, he being a student at Harvard.

With two of the regulars not in the lineup against Wakefield last Friday night, the football team was defeated by a score of 28 to 0. This looks bad, but the Wayne team will do better when they meet the Wakefield team again.

On Wednesday morning, Dr. Corkey presided the high school on "Friday Day Standards." He said many people like to well to say "When I was a boy," and others think too much of what they will do in the future. Both classes agreed to present to the all important thing to do this year. The speaker emphasized that present day standards are decidedly practical and democratic. That a high school or college diploma is not a guarantee of success.

Alfred H. Lewis has written Wayne friends that he has been registered in the University of Nebraska, with an allowance of six-and-a-half hours in the college course. This evaluation of credit is being made by the faculty. Mr. Lewis will rank as a junior, and will enable him to complete the work for his Bachelor's degree at the end of two years.

DEADLOCK OVER THE PRIMARY QUESTION

EQUAL DIVISION AT MEETING

Four for Open and Four for Closed Primary—Another Meeting for Definitive Action

The kind of primary to be held to name the next postmaster in Wayne is still undecided by reason of a deadlock among committee and candidates at their meeting last Saturday. Four candidates filed as follows: J. M. Cherry, C. W. Reynolds, C. A. Berry and J. E. Madson. The candidates were authorized to meet with commitment to arrange for the proposed primary.

Mr. Marsteller was absent in the western part of the state. The question of whether a closed or an open primary should be held showed an equal division of ballots, being four for one side and four for the other. Each voter had a firmly fixed opinion and would not change it. Therefore, with the existing deadlock, no progress could be made, and it was decided to meet again on Saturday when Mr. Marsteller could be present to cast the deciding ballot. Asked as to his position by the Herald, he said he had not made up his mind what he would do.

Besides the three candidates, the following names were on the list for the next part in the committee: Ed Wallace, W. A. Keely, W. B. Boston, R. P. Williams, and L. A. Kiplinger. Next Saturday, the manner of conducting the primary will not doubt be determined, and the date will be fixed.

LOTS AT PUBLIC SALE BRING FAIR PRICES

All of the thirty-four Wayne residence lots offered at auction Saturday afternoon were disposed of at fairly good prices. The highest price paid was $400 for a 56-foot lot, and the lowest price was $30 for a 25-foot lot. The property brought an aggregate of $2,220, and promoters, Schell & Thomas, cleared about $500.

The lots are located south of the Wayne State Normal, and are considered very desirable. As the population in this section grows, the demand for such lots will increase. A number who thought expected to put up new residences, will thus add to the value of the property of the neighborhood. Every one who has made a wise real estate investment. In fact, the Herald is informed that some of the purchasers have been offered since the sale more than they paid for the property.

HONEY-LARKE

The marriage of Miss Larkie to Mr. Herbert Honey took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. G. C. Clark, near Sholes this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Sloan of Nacora, officiating. Only near relatives of the bride and groom were present. Following the ceremony, a delicious dinner was served. The young couple left on the afternoon train for Omaha to spend a few days, at the Ak-Sar-Ben, and then will take a trip into Colorado, where they will spend several weeks at the farm near Carroll. The bride is a niece of A. B. Clark, and a sister of Ralph Clark and Hattie Clark of Wayne, and is well known here, having attended the State Normal at Lincoln. The Herald joins their many friends in extending congratulations and good wishes.

EXECUTIVE BOARD DOESN'T HAVE QUORUM

Not enough members of the executive board of the Commercial club got together Tuesday evening to constitute a quorum, and therefore no meeting had to be postponed. Following the meeting, a number of questions to present for the consideration of the committee, and he hopes to have a meeting soon. Among other things, he wants to arrange for a meeting of all club members to discuss proposed improvements for the city.

RECOVERS FROM INJURY

The friends of William Hone are pleased to see him out again. He has been confined to his home as the result of injuries sustained by a fall from a boy riding a bicycle on a sidewalk. His case was struck by the wheel, and in a crippled condition, he could not move himself out of danger. He has suffered severe lacerations, and requires bicycle riding on sidewalks is dangerous practice that ought to be prevented by strict enforcement of the law.

It is a great pleasure to see Paul Clark, who has been in the hospital for some time, back in his home. He is now recovering from his injuries, and is able to move about again.

COURTHOUSE NEWS DURING LAST WEEK

MAN LAYS OUT FINE IN JAIL

Convicted Year Ago on Liquor Selling Charge—New Case in County Court—Licenses

George W. Martin, who was found guilty in the district court at this place a year ago on a charge of selling liquor at Carroll without a license, was taken into custody yesterday by Sheriff George T. Porter to lay out in the county jail the fine of $200 and costs, the latter amounting to $235. At 3 p. m., he will remain in jail ninety-four days.

Tomorrow is the last day when action can be taken to complete naturalization. The following names were filed in the county court this week: Harry Simon vs. Simon Gommans, suit to recover $50 alleged to be due in arrears of rent; R. H. Hony to Miss Ina M. Clark, September 24th; Mr. J. E. Brown vs. Miss Hilda Maching, both of Emerson, September 24th. The last named couple were married by the county clerk.

State vs. Frank Paker who is charged with intoxication at Sholes. Defendant was not yet taken arrested. Kart-Rueher vs. Charles E. Clason, charging breach of contract on the purchase of stock.

DR. NAFFIGER SELLS HOUSE AND PRACTICE

Dr. A. Naffiger closed a deal Tuesday for the sale of his residence and practice in Wayne to Dr. Charles Ingman of Sioux City. The residence alone sold for $5,000. Dr. Ingman will be here another day, and Dr. Naffiger will remain with him a month. Dr. Ingman comes well recommended. Dr. Naffiger expects to go south with his family for the winter in the hope that the change in a milder climate will benefit his health. He is understood here he will locate permanently to engage in the practice of his profession. He is a physician of strong ability, and his family have made many friends who regret to see them leave.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY BAZAAR

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church held a bazaar on Saturday afternoon. Full arrangements had not been made, but it is expected to be an elaborate sale. The society will give a tea next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. N. Neely, when the net proceeds of the bazaar will be turned over to the church. The committee wishes to thank all those who have helped to increase the membership. A large number of new members have been enrolled and the society hopes to double its membership by the campaign.

OSTEOPATH IN SESSION

Grand Session, Nov. 24-25. The fourteenth annual meeting of Nebraska osteopathic association is in progress here. Dr. Atzen of Omaha, secretary, and Dr. Strubbe of Hastings, president, were among the earliest arrivals. In his annual address, the president emphasized the functions of the physician as being a teacher as well as a healer, and at no time more than the present—his conservation of public health is seen.

DAILY COWS ON STAGE

The biggest night show along the Burlington line turned out tonight to greet the daily train. The feature was given in the assembly room of the Public service club, and a unique feature was the exhibition of the "Daily Cows" which were taken from the train to the club rooms, led through the audience and up to the stage, where they occupied positions most appropriate to the exhibition. The exhibition was held in the club rooms, led through the audience and up to the stage, where they occupied positions most appropriate to the exhibition.

PARENTS MAKE MISTAKE

Wayne parents who permit their girls to carry on a practice of going to the depot wait for trains for no other reason than to visit and have a merry time, are making a serious mistake. Unless dosing to meet incoming passengers, they have no business loafing in or around the depot. Boys should be prevented from the same practice.

TYPHOID AFFLICTS TWO WAYNE FAMILIES

USE WATER FROM SAME WELL

Total of Eleven Suffering from Disease—Attending Physicians Report Favorably

The families of L. P. Walker and C. Clasen, living in the southwest part of town, are suffering from typhoid fever, supposed to have been contracted by drinking water from a certain well. Both families used the well, and while the water has not been analyzed, it is believed to be the source of the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker and two children are down with the fever. Mr. Walker's sister from Holdrege, and Mrs. Walker's brother from Hartington, are here, together with a trained nurse, to assist the family. Dr. A. Naffiger who is the attending physician, says the sick members are getting along, and so could be expected.

In the Clasen family, all are sick excepting Mrs. Clasen. Mr. Clasen and five children, and Miss Hazel Smith of Sioux City, who is staying at the Clasen home and attending school, are down with the disease. Antitoxin has been administered to the family, and it is hoped to keep Mrs. Clasen from developing the disease. Dr. S. A. Langan was in attendance, says his patients are better today, and he looks for steady recovery. Mrs. Clasen and a trained nurse, Mrs. Fernand, are looking after the wants of the family.

Want to Save Half Your Coal Bill?

How much money did you spend for coal last year?

Let us say you spent $40. If there was a way in which you could buy that amount of coal this year for $20, you would want to know about it, wouldn't you?

We can't sell you coal for half price, but we can tell you how to heat your entire home perfectly this winter at half the expense of last year's fuel.

With a FAVORITE BASE BURNER you can heat every room in your house comfortably on the coldest days, and do it with less fuel than is possible with any other heating stove.

Because the Favorite is the only base burner that pours heat into the room from every square inch of its surface.

It gets every atom of heat out of the coal and throws it all into the home. None goes up the chimney.

Your home is warm and comfortable on blustery, icy-cold days when with any other base burner your wife and children would be huddling in a frozen group around an apparently inactive stove.

In the triple exposed flues you will find one reason why the Favorite is such a wonderful heating stove. There are many other reasons. Come and see us and we will tell you all about them.

The Substantial Bank Accounts of today, at least most of them, were started a few years ago in a very small way just as we are asking you to make a start. A deposit of a few dollars, in some cases only a single dollar, for the first deposit and then a gradual building up until there is enough to make a good investment. Good investments are the road to financial independence, but saving money or credit is necessary. You place yourself in position to get both when you start a bank account.

Come in and talk this over, let us tell you how an account with this bank will help you in other ways.

Big Ben the busy farmer's friend

Big Ben is for the farmer who believes in the advice of old Ben Franklin. "How dead while sluggish sleep."

He's for the farmer who wants to get up early.

He's for the hard-to-get-up farmer. It's up to him to get up in the fields on time.

He keeps watch time. He's reliable and handsome. He's sturdy, well set and long lived.

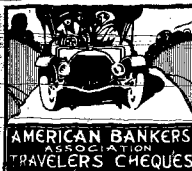

Be first in the fields every morning. Get the farm hands out bright and early. Depend on Big Ben.

He'll more than earn his wages the first month you employ him.

WRITES FOR HERALD.

Nels Darling, lecturer and author, is writing for this paper, by special arrangement, a series of articles on advertising that will prove of interest, not alone to the merchant, but to the general reading public for those not engaged in the mercantile business.

Lake Mr. Darling's talks, these articles will be right to the point, and will have what is commonly called "the punch."

Not one our merchants can afford to miss reading these articles, these short practical talks in Darling's own inimitable style. Watch for them, cut them out, and paste them in your scrap book for future reference.

Darling talks of things that are of interest to every household, and we are fortunate in securing these articles from the pen of a man, who has made a careful study of these questions.

The first talk appears in this issue.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING BY NELS DARLING.

Advertising pays if it is the right kind. The best medium for the retail merchant is the local newspaper, but many of you give the matter little or no attention.

Advertising with some merchants is a side issue, a donation to the paper, considered as a liability instead of a great big asset.

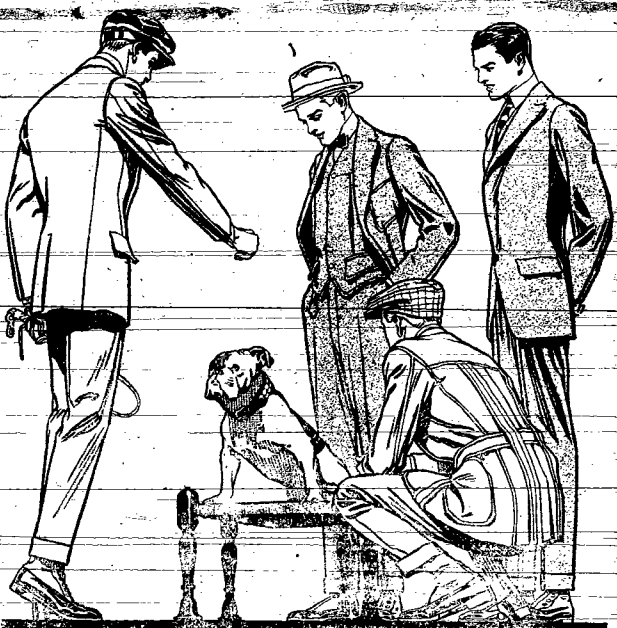

I know that some of you fellows will spend two hours and a half trying to sell a twenty dollar bill of goods, and on the other hand will give a neglected ten minutes to selling a mighty poor ad, that costs you five dollars.

Be honest, you are just too tired or too negligent to make this five do some work. For this amount, you can talk fearfully to a couple of thousand people in a way that will attract them, and make them know that you are selling the goods that they want at the right price.

Any merchant who can talk his goods to a customer can learn to write advertisements with the pulling power. Bear this in mind—your advertisement should always do these three things: First, attract attention; second, hold attention and create interest; third, leave an impression that will last for some time.

An advertisement about our article that is worth more than an advertisement about a dozen things touched upon in a lot of generalities.

Most people of the community know what line of business you are in if you have been in town six months. Do not waste space and money telling them what they already know. If you handle stoves, tell them what kind, what you claim for them, what advantages they have over other stoves, and the selling price. Do not waste space and money telling your advertisements talk—tell something the people will be interested in knowing.

At first it was thought nothing serious would result, but the effect seemed to grow worse with each succeeding day, and the Saturday morning following, his parents and three brothers, Jess; Eric and Andrew, accompanied him to the hospital in Sioux City for an operation, which succeeded so success that had formed as a result of the injury. He rallied from the operation, and seemed to be getting along satisfactorily until Wednesday morning when a change for the worse became apparent, and those near relatives not with him were summoned.

His parents, two sisters—Mrs. John Kay and Nina Thompson—were with him when death came to relieve him of his sufferings. His brother Andrew and wife reached his side just as he was passing away. The other relatives did not arrive until after death had taken place.

Thorwald Thompson was baptized in infancy, and before his death made a confession of Christ, declared his faith and trust in him. One of his last utterances was that "God is knocking at the door," then he reached forth his hands and said goodbye to his parents and sisters who were with him, and asked them to tell the others goodbye for him when he passed away.

FORMER WAYNE MAN GIVEN PROMOTION

The Wayne friends of Arthur L. Tucker will be pleased to learn of his advancement in the banking business at Portland, Ore. The Portland Oregonian of September 18, has this to say of his recent promotion:

Announcement was made yesterday that Arthur L. Tucker, assistant cashier of the Lumbermen's National bank, has been elected cashier, effective September 16. He succeeds in position P. A. Freeman, who recently was promoted to the vice presidency of the Lumbermen's Trust and Savings bank. Mr. Freeman has devoted his entire attention to the institution since its organization three years ago.

Mr. Tucker has been with the Lumbermen's Trust since 1910 in the capacity of assistant note teler. His rise has been steady, and he was promoted successively to the positions of note teler and assistant cashier.

"Mr. Tucker has shown unusual ability and has been a signally successful," said John A. Reading, vice president and managing officer of the Lumbermen's National bank, in making the announcement. "He has displayed judgment of a high degree, and has made good in all respects."

Mr. Freeman's promotion to a trust position in the Lumbermen's Trust & Savings bank was earned by his success as cashier of the Lumbermen's National bank. The National bank is sorry to lose his services as cashier, but he was entitled to the opportunity for advancement. He already has accomplished important results in his new work.

Mr. Tucker was born in Chicago, and came from a family of bankers. When he was 5 years old, the family moved to Wayne, Neb., where his father was one of the Citizens National bank. He entered Cornell college at Mount Vernon, Ia., and was graduated in 1902. He then returned to Wayne, where he became assistant cashier of the Citizens National bank for one year, and from there he went to Cedar Rapids, Neb., where he served two years as cashier of the First National bank.

In 1904, Mr. Tucker bought the First National bank of Carroll, Neb., and consolidated it with the Farmers State bank of the same place. Under his direction, the bank became profitable, and deposits grew from $80,000 to $500,000. In 1910, Mr. Tucker was offered a good price for his bank, and sold it. After a few months' vacation, he came to Portland, and, attracted by the climate and appearance of the city, decided to locate.

Mr. Tucker's father, A. L. Tucker, sr., has retired, and is a resident of San Diego, Cal. His brother, E. W. Tucker, is assistant cashier of the Pacific National bank, Boise, Idaho.

NOTICE.

We are still doing business at the old stand, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary, ready to serve you in the same manner as heretofore.

Now is the time to have those new towers and windmills, pumps, tanks, etc., put up before the weather gets too cold. We are also well supplied with the famous Peter-Schultz Farm Wagon, as well as the new and extra wagon boxes. You will do well to see us for anything in this line.—Meister & Buechel. 82516d

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy extended to us during our sad bereavement in the death of our beloved son and brother, and for the beautiful floral offerings—Mr. and Mrs. Christian Thompson and family.

CAUGHT A BAD COLD.

"Last winter my son caught a very bad cold and the way he coughed was something dreadful," writes Mr. Sarah E. Duncan, of Tipton, Ia. "I thought surely he was going into consumption. We bought just one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that one bottle stopped his cough, and cured his cold completely." For sale by all druggists.—Ad.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The road is long and dusty, his legs are old and rusty, and wendy his wends; his clothes are all in tatters, for nothing in his matters; he has no home or friends. The village housewife shows him the farmers' dogs pursue him and bite him when they can; the little children eye him with dread when they go by him—alas, poor friendless man! He is a lordly warrior, and some cold winter morning we'll find him in a ditch, as dead as old Jack Horner, and in the Pampus' Corner his aimless bones we'll pitch. And once, this weary wanderer had dreams as full of splendor as any you have known; and he had hopes of being to heights of fame surprising where he would stand alone. But ere he sought the treasure he'd give some days to pleasure, some hours to wassail high, and so he played and rambled, in pleasant ways he gambled, and youth went slipping by. He wasted all his chances, and now, as age advances, we see him in his rags; this is the true life story of hosts of failures hoary, of hosts of hungry vags. And is it your endeavor, young man, to brighten and cheer, like this old wreck to bet? Oh, Youth, while you are playing, in wastrel pathways straying, the golden chances flee!

As a mortal man grows older he has pains in hoof of shoulder, by a thousand aches and aching all his weary frame is torn; he THE DOLOUBUS has headache and WAY hay fever till he is a stout believer in the theory of the poet that the life was made to mourn. He has got of resignation, and he's prone to pessimism, and he takes a thousand batman and the bottles strew the yard; he has grip and influenza till his soul is in a frenzy, and he longs to end the journey for this life is heavily laden. And his system's revolution is Dame Nature's retribution for the folly of his conduct in the days of long ago; in his anguish nearly fainting he is paying for the painting, for the wassail and the ruffing, that his evening used to be his headpiece from his neck, oh, since last summer's straining, let's hear no more complaining when Bureau is reigning, when Winter is on deck. September, mid September, you hint of many million men, paying for the dancing boys, the festive and the ember, the and the playing, who are charging up with her knitting, and dad serenely sitting, with skillful fingers fitting the heads on baby's toys.

Oh, you fill me with a pain, Harry Thaw; for you will bob up again, Harry Thaw; I had thought you safely smothered and my life seemed HARRY THAW sweet and grand and I smiled to beat the hand, Harry Thaw. Then, to cook my spirit's goose, Harry Thaw, from freedom you broke loose, Harry Thaw, your name in lurid tints fills the dog gone public prints, Harry Thaw. You're a chestnut old and weird, Harry Thaw, there are hen's nests in your beard.

Harry Thaw, you have wearied gods and men with your hays and your ying, And Adam gazed on her now, yet, galvanized, you come again, Harry Thaw! You're a cheap and poor excuse, Harry Thaw; I'd be glad to see you lose, Harry Thaw, if I thought that you would chase to the jumping over there; take away that almanac, Harry Thaw! You and Evelyn are fools, Harry Thaw, and the countess try with you rocks, Harry Thaw; but the country's getting throd, and when both of you are fired 'twill be some thing much desired, Harry Thaw. What a blessing it will be, Harry Thaw, when you and Evelyn are gone, Harry Thaw! When the daily newsy about prints no Harry-and-repeat, and your wife has frozen feet, Harry Thaw!

September, calm September, with smiling skies of blue! I really don't remember a smoother month than you. You help us in' forget!

SEPTEMBER, the sun has set, and the moon is shining, and the stars are twinkling and sweating—you make us good us new. There is a relaxation from every yoke we wear; there is a compensation for every grief we bear; and you're the princely payment for heat! Every day meant a hot stove to wassail, all September, sweet September, you make Autumn in the billions of December! Full soon will have his sin; but we have been so roasted, so baked and broiled and roasted; that we can reach straight to the heated oil temperate with a grin. Bill Bulger snorted down the trail, and

If any man should ever complain of the cold, by heck, the people ought to sever his headpiece from his neck, oh, since last summer's straining, let's hear no more complaining when Bureau is reigning, when Winter is on deck. September, mid September, you hint of many million men, paying for the dancing boys, the festive and the ember, the and the playing, who are charging up with her knitting, and dad serenely sitting, with skillful fingers fitting the heads on baby's toys.

With leaves of figs and bark and twigs Eva built herself a garment; "ah this will check the rabbitcock," she murmured, "dread

MOTHER EVE I heard her mutter, "W I t h modest taste around her waist she tied the home-made apron; she understood that it was good and through the woods went superior". She had no books on woman's looks, no fashion plates distressing; she was a dense, her own good sense inspired her in her dress, And Adam gazed on her amazed, and cried: "Oh! from my gal away! Without a crown to buy a gown, she's looking scrumptious always!" In modern times, dimes have the dime to buy all kinds of dresses; there's a

"Alas that we should tugged out by France's stanchness totters; we vest may grieve that Mother Eve had more sense than she be displayed. A goddess we call Thaw! When the daily newsy about prints no Harry-and-repeat, and your wife has frozen feet, Harry Thaw!

My well had lost of lost its grip, the water smelled like paint; and every time I took a sip it nearly made me faint. I asked Jim IMPOSSIBLE was the case, and offered him some (repairing cisterns in his game); he said: "It can't be done." He had a hundred reasons why repairs could not be made; and while three hours were dragging by those results, he was dragged by those results, he was dragged. A goddess we call Thaw! When the daily newsy about prints no Harry-and-repeat, and your wife has frozen feet, Harry Thaw!

asked when it was built, and said it had an ancient smell that made his whiskers wile. "Your blamed old well! Uncle Dunning out," he said, with genial laugh; "I reckon it will cost about two dollars and a half." "Go to it, then, my friend," said I, "and you shall have the same. The Gladys at the mine me why the darned job can't be done." Bill Bulger always has a job, he earns the shining dimes; and I have never heard him sob a bit about hard times. Around Jim—Was dark, trouble, lurk, he's the afflicted one; he's always up against some work that simply can't be done.

SATISFACTION. (Sixty in Lincoln Journal.)

These is modified rejoicing in this land of pork and corn. For the nights are fair and pleasant, and the cool winds like the morn. No more days with hot winds freighted make us sick and sore afraid, While the mercury is freezing at a hundred in the shade.

O Nebraska in the autumn is a region passing fair.

Though the cornfields in the country took a bit the worse for wear. These are wheat and milk and apples, which will help to wait as thought. And the silos rock with fodder, and the spuds are not so few.

Shall we not with glad rejoicing make the grand old within ring. As we face a stormy winter and get ready for the spring! If we take the present shortage as a punishment of sins. We may look for crops next summer that will tax our eribs and bins.

DON'T GIVE UP.

Discouraged Citizens Will Find Comfort in the Experience of a Wayne Man.

Experience is the modern instructor. Profit by the experience of others. It may save your life. The experience of friends and neighbors.

The testimony of Wayne people will bring renewed encouragement. Here is a case in point:

Anton Hiegler, Wayne, Neb., says: "About two years ago, my back was very stiff, and I could hardly get up after sitting for awhile. At night, after a hard day's work, I was in such great pain that I could not get my proper rest. The kidney secretions caused me much annoyance by their frequency in passage. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box, and they helped me so greatly that I continued taking them until I was well. I have never had a serious attack of kidney trouble since." Wisconsin has a law which provides a penalty for gossiping, and the first prosecution under it is directed at a man. If gossiping is to be made a crime, a blow will be struck at the joy of living for a lot of otherwise idle minds.

Before another summer rolls around, something should be done by the city authorities to increase reservoir capacity and strengthen the water pressure. If the standpoint can be raised, it should be done. If not, an auxiliary tank could be built.

It has been suggested that all school students be required to wear the same style of gowns to avoid incursion on the part of parents in adopting late and often questionable fashions. Uniformity in gowns would also remove a source of envy, and assist materially in reducing the cost of living.

The New York World proposes to give W. J. Bryan $5,000 per year if he will cut out chautauqua speaking and attend exclusively to the duties of his office, thus creating a total annual income of $20,000. His chautauqua for the past season ranked 18 for him at an amount notably as great as that proposed by the World.

We have heard of the individual who would start his mouth to talking and shut it off and loose it. We have also heard of the fellow who started his mouth and then couldn't stop it. We submit that while the punishment to society is equally severe in both cases, the former is more culpable because of apparent neglect and indifference. The latter deserves commiseration rather than censure.

The prediction is made by a St. Louis man that porthouse steak will sell for more than $1 per pound in ten years unless there is an increase in meat production. Then, if the price of meat is not raised, people will generally have to quit eating meat. However, the wise prediction is safely conditioned on the state of production, and stimulated efforts on the part of stock growers will undoubtedly increase the supply and keep prices within reach of consumers for a long time to come.

The Herald has no bias in the impending postoffice contest, and is not interested in one candidate above another. All in the field are good men against whom nothing can justly be said. It would seem the thing for each voter to support the candidate deemed best fitted for the place and capable of rendering the most efficient and satisfactory service. That is a question to be determined in the interest of public service after careful consideration of voters.

Last week was the time when a number of Nebraska papers issued "numbered editions." The most creditable one, according to copies received at this office, was that issued by the Fremont Herald. It was neatly printed on good paper, and consisted mainly of pictures of the city's buildings and leading men. Good pictures, well printed, told the story of a town's growth and enterprise more forcefully than mere words. We have seen copies of several other very commendable extra editions. Some of the efforts in that direction, however, were poor enough to make Gutenberg turn over in his grave.

Dr. L. A. Merriam of Omaha, has fallen into disfavor with the Missouri Herald. It was neatly printed on good paper, and consisted mainly of pictures of the city's buildings and leading men. Good pictures, well printed, told the story of a town's growth and enterprise more forcefully than mere words. We have seen copies of several other very commendable extra editions. Some of the efforts in that direction, however, were poor enough to make Gutenberg turn over in his grave.

In defense of the detective, it should be stated that in real life he rarely wears false whiskers.

ARMORER'S TOOLS.

Fine Relics of Ancient Times in New York's Art Museum.

Very few people are aware that in the heart of modern New York is a complete armorer's shop, writes E. A. Siverlock in the American Machinist. It is in the basement of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and is equipped with a complete outfit of over 600 armorer's tools. Many of these are very old, having descended from ancestor to man or from father to son through many generations. Their workmanship is excellent. Where steel faces are used, as in the case of the hammers, the welds are clean and perfect, and the junction of iron and steel is distinguishable only by the difference in lustre of the two metals.

The tempering of the steel faces seems to be good and uniform, as neither cracks nor dents are apparent. A cursory glance at these tools will at once apprise us of the origin of many of our modern steel metal workers' implements. The markings on many of the tools are highly polished so that they do not "grip" the metal being worked, which is free to "slide" to the shape desired by the armorer. Every collection of ancient armor requires technical care for its upkeep. The objects are to be kept free from rust and constantly re-mounted, and from time to time restorations must be made to preserve these priceless specimens. In order to carry out this work the museum has arranged the shop referred to so that these necessary operations may be carried on. The armorer's tools once belonged to Daniel Tichauer, but are now the property of the museum's collection of armorer's tools. The outfit consists of over 600 tools and includes nearly 100 kinds of stakes and a great variety of hammers, swages, etc.

RECESSION OF GLACIERS.

Northwest Ice Fields That Once Met the Sea Are Now Inland.

Some attention is being directed to the fact that the Muir glacier is disappearing along its face, and there is some speculation as to how long it will continue to present a great attraction to tourists. No one can answer this question, for the cause of the retreat of Muir glacier is not known. Neither is it known with any certainty for how long a time this great mass has been retreating, which made it famous. Assuming that the earliest charts of the coast are correct and there is every reason to suppose they are, there have been very remarkable recessions of glaciers along the Atlantic coast since the last century, at which time the ice fields that formerly came down to the sea are now a considerable distance from it. As we understand, the recession of Muir glacier is not an isolated phenomenon. The cause of the recession of glaciers is not yet understood, but it is assumed to be an average manifestation of the climate. Glaciers are fed from snow fields, and if they become smaller only one of two explanations seems possible. Either the snowfall in the higher levels must have diminished or the temperature in the lower levels must have become higher. There are several reasons for supposing that the climate of the north Pacific zone is becoming gradually warmer, although the theories are very gradual. Sir Charles Lyell, the famous geologist, in one of his books speaks of the retreating away of a great part of the ice which once covered the world. He is not mistaken, in 1840, and says it was one of the most striking events in the modern history of the world. Hence, the

TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Gazette, October 3, 1885: Samuel Barnes and family move to Wayne county.

Emil Weber moves into his new house south of the Baptist church. Thirty ministers and laymen attended the meeting of Niobrara presbytery in Wayne.

Married, September 24, 1885, J. H. Kelly to Marietta Peck; September 28, 1885, W. E. Tollinger to Emma May Oxford.

From the Wayne Herald, September 27, 1894: Died, September 26, 1894, young son of J. H. Coll.

John M. Thurston is advertised to speak in Wayne October 5. It is estimated that 2,000 people attended the Wayne county fair on one day.

Local market: Wheat, 40 cents; oats, 26 cents; corn, 48 cents; hogs, $4.15; cattle, $3.

James Britton was nominated for state representative by the populist convention.

Del. Strickland and L. C. Gildersleeve leave for Kalspell, Mont., with the intention of buying land.

From the Wayne Herald, September 22, 1894: Fire destroys $15,000 worth of property at Coleridge.

Misses Kate and Ruth Dressler leave for Birmingham, Pa., to attend school. Local market: Wheat, $1.05; corn, 49 cents; oats, 25 cents; cattle, 1.25; hogs, $4.50.

A special train goes to Norfolk to accommodate those who want to hear Speaker Cannon.

William J. Bryan is scheduled to speak in Wayne October 5. He is to be accompanied by P. E. McKillop, candidate for congress.

From the Ponca Journal, October 3, 1889: Near R. H. Wilmer's place in Wayne county is an immense sheep ranch, the proprietor of which has now about 600 sheep.

District Attorney McNish was in town at midnight last week, called Tuesday. He speaks very highly of Wayne county, and regards it as one of the best in the state. Mr. McNish was re-nominated by the republican party last week for the office of district attorney.

The rumor is again current that there is soon to be a branch of the railroad running up the North-Louis valley, and from thence passing through the southern part of Cedar county into Knox and to Niobrara. What effect this will have on Ponca and the northern part of Dixon county remains to be seen. If the railroad is built in that direction through Cedar county, the chances are that Ponca will be, for a long time, the termination of the branch to this place.

From the Ponca Journal, October 3, 1889: The jail cells were moved this week by J. R. Bennett and placed in the new courthouse building, the walls of which are now rapidly going up.

Mr. S. K. Bittenbender and Miss Lizzy Stough, both of this place, were married on Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Stough, the Rev. Mr. Schuler officiating.

Mr. Blank lives up South Creek. He is a hard-headed son of old. He came down to the county seat on Wednesday and brought his stomach with him. Up on reaching town this latter article turned out to be a case of a stomach ache and hunger for supplies. His key, in a red flood, was sent to the rescue, but this only aggravated matters, and put the commandant into trouble, and before he could get out of it Marshal Schaner grabbed him up, and Justice Porter fined him $10.

ARE COLLEGE MAKING GOOD? Fremont Tribune: The college making good? asks Edward Cook, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal in a recent issue of the Outlook. The answer, somewhat but not decisively negative in character, is based on the replies to letters sent to the 1912 graduates of the leading women's colleges.

Of the 1912 graduates of women's universities, these letters show a wide spread ignorance of common English punctuation and spelling.

The letters were graded by a English teacher as though they had been written by school-boys. The 100 letters received from first graduates and those secured a mark from 80 to 100. Of the 100 letters of the first group, 70 were marked 'A' or 'B'. Of the 100 letters of the second group, 70 were marked 'C' or 'D'. SOCIAL EVENTS IN WAYNE AND VICINITY FOR WEEK CLUB MEETINGS AND ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATIONS

The Helping Hand society northwest of town will meet next Tuesday with Mrs. R. Heston.

The Pleasant Valley club, south of town, met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Will Cunningham.

The Bridge Whist club had its first meeting of the season last evening, when it was entertained by Miss Selma Arnold.

Mrs. J. H. Massie entertained the ladies of St. Mary's guild yesterday afternoon. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The O. E. S. had a special meeting Monday evening when a candidate was initiated. The next regular meeting will be Monday, October 13.

The ladies of the Minerva club will be entertained from 2 to 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon by the Central Social circle at the home of Mrs. R. B. Smith, six miles west of Wayne.

The advisory board of the Baptist church entertained the members of the congregation at a reception last evening. A program was carried out, and light refreshments were served.

The C. E. society of the Presbyterian church met at the F. H. Jones home Tuesday evening. After a business meeting, Mrs. Jones served light refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Monday was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. E. C. Tweed, and in honor of the occasion thirty-five lady friends graciously surprised her by gathering at her home in a body in the afternoon for a social time. Mrs. Tweed was presented with a set of butter plates. The time was pleasantly spent, and at an appropriate juncture refreshments, brought by the ladies, were served.

Mrs. G. W. Lamerson entertained the following at a three-course, 6 o'clock dinner Friday: J. W. Toombs, Mrs. M. A. Phillips of Wayne, and Mrs. F. G. Warden and Mrs. Rex Parker of Omaha.

The Junior Bible Study Circle met Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Grothe, with a very good attendance. The lesson on the sixth chapter of Acts was led by Miss Iva Leavey. The next meeting will be tomorrow evening with Mrs. H. O. Ward.

A party of girls happily surprised Miss Hattie Broschert Saturday in honor of her birthday anniversary. The time was spent in games and sociability. The serving of a delicious luncheon brought to a close a most happy evening.

Mrs. Eth Leuppich entertained the Rural Home society last Friday. Following the serving of a delicious two-course dinner, a literary program was carried out. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in general sociability. A few invited guests were present at the meeting.

Last Friday evening, the young people of the Baptist church gave a reception for students of the State Normal. A variety of games occupied attention for a time when a program consisting of songs and readings was given. An attractive and interesting feature was a tent in which a young lady in gypsy attire, told fortunes. Later, all were invited to booths where refreshments were served. Each booth represented a nation, and refreshments were served accordingly. The evening proved an enjoyable one to the 190 students who responded to invitations.

The P. E. O. society met at the home of Mrs. J. G. Miller Monday evening instead of with Mrs. E. S. Blair. The meeting was opened with an address by the president, Mrs. T. B. Hockett, who spoke of the work for the ensuing year. Miss Nangle then sang a solo, which was very much appreciated. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. A. Chase October 9.

The opening day of the Bible Study circle at the home of Mrs. C. M. Christensen was a most pleasant occasion. A number of visitors from out of town were present with kind words for the work. The lesson study was conducted by Mrs. Seefeldt and many fine thoughts were brought out in the discussion. Mrs. Ward will entertain the ladies next week, and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

William Lou entertained a few friends at his home last Friday evening in honor of his seventy-first birthday anniversary. The hours were spent sociably and companionship was served. Those present were: Herman Sand and family, Carl Sand and family, Herman Krempke and wife, C. C. Bastian and wife, and Claus Otto and Chris Kubloff of Norfolk. A most enjoyable time was had by all.

The Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian church had its first meeting of the season Monday evening, at the F. H. Jones home, having been entertained by the president, Miss Marie Wallace. Plans for the future were discussed, and it was decided to devote the year to home missions. Miss Florence Welch was elected treasurer to succeed Miss Maude Grothe who resigned on account of her absence from town. Delicious ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

Last Saturday was the twentieth anniversary of the wedding of Rev. and Mrs. Alexander Corkey, and a surprise party was planned for Mrs. Corkey as a fitting celebration, and the members and friends of the church participated. About 8 o'clock, a friend called to take her downtown, and while she was gone the house soon filled with the members of the surprise party. Returning in a short time, she found a large company assembled who proceeded to congratulate her on her successful completion of twenty years of wedded life. The high school orchestra, under the leadership of Mrs. Murfree, arrived shortly after and gave a delightful program of music. During the evening, Mr. A. R. Davis, on behalf of the company, presented Mrs. Corkey with some beautiful pieces of china as a remembrance of the occasion. Mrs. Corkey responded in a happy speech, thanking her friends for their gifts and for their kind wishes. She was followed by Dr. Corkey who spoke briefly on the subject, "Is Marriage a Failure?" The well-known song, "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet," was sung by Mrs. A. R. Davis, and was much enjoyed by all. The event which was celebrated was brought vividly to the minds of all by an imitation wedding in which Dr. B. N. Donahay acted as groom and Miss Marguerite Forbes took the place of the bride. Mr. L. A. Kiplinger acted as the duly authorized officiant essential to all weddings, and performed his part with dignified efficiency, much to the amusement of all. Before separating, the company were served with light refreshments, and all departed hoping that the minister and his wife would live to celebrate not only their silver anniversary, but their golden wedding as well.

"THE FOUR ARTISTS"

Will present first number of the Wayne Lecture and Entertainment Course.....

Monday Evening, Sept. 29, at Opera House

8:00 O'clock

Each evening, Miss Van Hoose came out first to play the opening piano solo. It didn't matter whether the piano was good or so depraved she had to hit the keys up with her fingers, the people began to sit up. The ushers caught their breath and quit seating people. They had the Bobbinettes back in the happer while that magic playing was going on. She got a hand-yes, really, got a hand, each evening. She set the keynote of quality high for the evening, and from that on, the program ran on that plane with growing enthusiasm.

Now came Jacob Reuter, violinist. He scarcely recognizes his hearers. His world consists of his violin and himself. Each evening he played different things, but the people held their breath to catch every pulse of those strings. His bow brings out great tones, and then his fingers glide up to the highest notes. He shows pluck, strength, rhythm and technique with fingers delicate, and yet manly with the iron gotten by a lifetime of work. His violin sings, weeps, laughs, and sighs with a soul that he has breathed into it these years. He plays a great many of his own compositions, and all the time he is playing he is just talking through the strings. It seems the voice from another and higher world, perhaps the music of heaven. Down in the audience, some are wiping tears, for Jacob's bow is sweeping their heart-strings. Again and again they bring his back to the stage. Jacob is happy. The man who only shines when his chin rests on his violin.

Mrs. Lillian Ringford. The crowd has already surrendered and lies in the enchantment of real art. So when the soprano comes smiling on the stage, she gets a great cheer. She has been getting that cheer right along these years since she began in opera and toured with symphony orchestras, yet she smiles a grateful smile. A pretty woman she is—indeed so—with even a more beautiful disposition. Then she pours forth a great soprano voice that soars big, clear and sweet—so big it carries all with it and people down the street stop to listen. Later in the program, she comes out to read short numbers, children's pieces like the "Moo Cow," that make a big hit.

A big man comes to the stage. He is big in height, big in girth, big in contentance, and as he stands majestically there comes a big cheer for him. F. W. Rickburn, the fourth of the Four Artists, and their manager, sends forth that ponderous voice that pushes out the walls, and yet is so sweet, clear and sympathetic. Few of us have ever heard such a robust baritone, or ever enjoyed the singing of a man so well. Like the Victor dog at the phonograph, we hear the master's voice, and there comes a rapturous response.
