TEACHERS' MEETING PROVIDES BIG SUCCESS

WAYNE EDUCATORS TAKE PART Their Efforts Bank Among Best of Session—Wayne County Teachers in Attendance.

The annual educational gathering of six counties which was held at Emerson last Saturday is more than a mere gathering of interest to the community. It is the "first place" in favor of management of a committee of six county superintendents of whom Mrs. Elsie Littell is an efficient member. Further, it is in territory contiguous to Wayne, and within the range of influence of the local normal school. As a result, in particular, the Wayne people were largely represented on the program. The forenoon session was devoted to sectional meetings. In the primary department, Miss Edith Stocking read a paper on "Thinking Time." Suggestions which will be known and efficient teacher told of the use of devices for interesting children in the series of tests of the city water from different hydrants, and the public will be interested to know that the source of the colon bacilli found in the city water is not definitely determined, but the authorities expect to keep busy until the water is brought to a trace of contamination. According to bacteriology reports, the number of colon bacilli detected have varied according to hydrants from which water was drawn. While many were found in water taken from one hydrant, there was none in water taken from another hydrant in another part of town. For instance, the water taken from the city schoolhouse was found all most free from them. Until tests show the water wholly free from contamination, it is considered unsafe to drink, as a measure of absolute safety, it is boiled for drinking purposes. The secretary of the state board of health writes a local physician that he thinks newspaper treatment of the sort appearing in the Herald is very "flippant." Would the secretary have a newspaper charge the atmosphere with alarm over a condition which has not produced a single case of sickness and interfered throughout the world to have been prompted by the Herald's reference to lack of relationship between typhoid germs and colon bacilli. Dr. F. C. Zell, city physician, and Professor Hickman, bacteriologist at the University of Nebraska, and Y. C. Johnson, A. M. D., which, while holding colon bacilli to be harmful, do not indicate relationship with typhoid. Professor Hickman says, in his opinion, that the connection between bacteriology and typhoid is not correct. The Herald has also found that doctors don't agree. If they could agree, they could expect laymen to come nearer getting at the facts. The Herald is sought to avoid spreading unnecessary fear and, at the same time, urge promptness in finding and removing the source of contamination. This is being done by the authorities, and the Herald is given the opportunity to state the condition with strict attention to the way it is pronounced publicly.

STANDPIPE CLEANED AND MAINS FUSHED

COUNCIL WILL COVER TANK Prof. H. H. Hickman Makes Test of Water Taken From Well—No Colon Bacilli Found in It.

The city standpipe was emptied and cleaned last Friday, and it was found to contain ten inches of mud or sediment. No dead rats were found. The mains of the system have also been cleaned. At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening the condition of the city water was discussed. It is understood steps will be taken without delay to cover the standpipe. This is considered a step of the utmost importance to insure the water supply against contamination. It was proposed to test the water taken directly from the wells, and accordingly a quantity was taken yesterday by Mayor C. A. Connor to Prof. H. H. Hickman for examination. Professor Hickman says the test that he reveals no colon bacilli or other harmful germs. He proposes to make a series of tests of the city water from different hydrants, and the public will be interested to know that the source of the colon bacilli found in the city water is not definitely determined, but the authorities expect to keep busy until the water is brought to a trace of contamination. According to bacteriology reports, the number of colon bacilli detected have varied according to hydrants from which water was drawn. PLANS FOR PROPOSED NEW STATE NORMAL ARCHITECT SUBMITS THEM

Building to Be of Brick With Stone Trimming—Same Type as Library and Science Hall.

J. H. Calkins of Omaha, who has been employed by the Board of Education as architect on the new building to be erected at the Wayne State Normal during the present year, was in the city last Monday to submit preliminary plans to the board of education before completing plans and specifications to be submitted to contractors.

The building will be of brick with stone trimming, 82 by 130 feet in dimensions, three full stories in height and fireproof throughout. The architecture will be of the same type as that of the library and science hall. The entire building will be devoted to the purpose of administration and instruction, and will be suitably and comfortably furnished with direct reference to the needs of the modern schoolroom. The cost will be $85,000.

On the first floor of the building will be located the administrative offices and registration rooms, also provision for the departments of civics and history, drawing and mathematics. The auditorium, 57 by 62 feet, occupies a large part of the second floor, and with the balcony, furnishes a seating capacity for 350. The departments of German, Latin, English, elocution and mechanical drawing will have suitable quarters on the second floor. On the third floor, in addition to the balcony, provision is made for music rooms, storeroom and typewriting, and public school, W. M. C. A. and Catholic clubs.

EXECUTIVE BOARD OF COMMERCIAL CLUB

CONSIDERS ROAD BUILDING

ABOUT $800 Worth of Work Done on Roads in Wayne Vicinity During the Past Season.

If the roads leading to Wayne are not in better condition than at any previous time in the history of the county, it is not the fault of the executive board of the Commercial club. As a matter of fact, travelers say the roads are excellent. Last spring, considerable frequent and vigorous that the roads around Wayne were in bad shape. There were long and loud cries for improvement. The executive board of the Commercial club, determined to be of immediate and practical benefit to the city and vicinity, turned attention to the roads. Accordingly, men with teams and scrapers have been employed all summer. The result is a good road in every direction, with no longer any dirt roads. It is an expense for not coming to the county seat.

ABOUT $800 Worth of Road Building Has Been Done During Summer and at the Meeting of the executive board Tuesday night, plans for $100,000 remaining unpaid. It is expected the county will be relieved of much work which it should have done, will lead the board to ask the county board to shoulder at least a part of the cost. The club's treasury would be a vast amount were it not for its hopes and expectations, and therefore considerable effort will be necessary to raise together the funds to complete the work.

The road work around the county seat has been well done, and large benefit accrues alike to the city and surrounding country. This territory has long been neglected and abandoned. It is expected that the next thing in order is to pay for the work.

FOR DEPOT OPENING

The club's board took up the proposition for a grand opening and sending off for the new depot which is nearing completion. It is expected that the depot will be ready for use November 10, and a motion prevailed to plan an assemblage and suitable program for that date. The function will take place at 10 o'clock, and the request for ladies and gentlemen will be invited. The necessary committee arrangements were appointed. It is proposed to have a series of timely speeches and musical numbers.

To Help the Band.

The board decided to send the city council for a series of dances for the purpose of raising funds with which to assist the organization. A committee visited the council, which was in session at the time, and the request was presented and accepted favorably.

WALTER SAVIDGE IS BUSY WITH NEW PLANS

Walter Savidge, business head of the bridge, is busy with new plans. He will do up his building after reaching headquarters in Wayne Monday morning. Zimmerman and will hold at Lincoln A. H. G. A. at which time the contract will be awarded.

TRAINING DEPARTMENT.

Grades one and two of the training department in charge of Miss Edith Stocking were the guests of the school at convocation last Thursday, delighting the students of the Normal with a demonstration of "The Three Little Pigs." The pigs were represented by Dena Hansen, Vera Lackey and Mary Skiles. Irene Van Norman, Dorothea Erickson and Lyle Mabbott were the men from whom material was furnished to build houses. Mrs. Skiles being the only one of the three who built her house, and whose house stood the blizzing and puffing of the wolf who appeared in the person of Calvin Kopp. All of the interesting details of the story were acted out by the children, and the writer's thanks are due the chimney, and falling into a tub of boiling water made a very exciting climax to the little drama. This exercise by the primary pupils was a part of the language work prepared under the direction of Miss Stocking.

The Herald contracted with Nels Darling for a series of articles treating of the "Home Town," but the said, received six weeks of the value and magnitude of advertising. Three or four were published, and three were returned to be exchanged for those provided for in the contract. Today, the Herald publishes the first one on the "Home Town."

President Wilson, in an article in the July number of the "Home Town," has pointed out the fact that the "Home Town" is the self-sustained town, which will kill the nation. Many of these self-sustained towns, are being in population, are going backward, while the great cities are growing by leaps and bounds.

In the article above referred to, President Wilson adds: "You know what the vitality of America consists of. Its vitality does not lie in New York, nor in Chicago, it will never be supplanted by anything that happens in Saint Louis."

Nearly every city, great and small, every town, large and little, springs into existence as a trading center, a place for the exchange of commodities and that change, not only the commercial, but the social center, for the people of the country, tributary to it.

When a town becomes a great city, it ceases to furnish to the people of the adjacent country the social side of their lives for the art of being a good neighbor is a lost one with the majority of the people in the large commercial centers.

The automobile, the intricate web of the telephone, the electric power and electric to an increasing number of our people. These great centers have in them a lure for the folk of the small communities, of the less pretentious trading centers.

The great city is a vortex into which, being drawn, the very life blood of our nation. People who cannot go to it to make their homes or want to like to live in it, its stores. Human nature is very much the same the world over. Distance lends enchantment.

WOLLY FIGHT FOLLOWS
LONG STANDING FEUD
MARBAL AND FARMERS MIX

After Equivocal Struggle, Latter Arrested and Jailed—Town Reclosed and Feared.

Thursday's Norfolk Daily News gives the following account of the trouble at Hoskins:

Hoskins, Neb., October 11.—From a self-concealing, blood-dripping streets of this village last night when a bitter feud of long standing between the town authorities on one side and two young farmers on the other, resulted in a dramatic scene.
An exciting chase took place in the main street of the town, during which three and lead belched forth from revolvers in the hands of the marshal and a business man. The bullets were aimed at Fred Brucecker and Paul Brucecker, two brothers, and one of the bullets dug its way through the finely part of Paul Brucecker's right hip.

Just before the two Brucecker men fought, there had been a fight on the sidewalk with them on one side and the marshal and his friends on the other side, during which both Bruceckers had been badly beaten by their assailants.
Finally locked in jail.
In the pursuit that followed the fight featured as it was by the crack of revolvers, Fred Brucecker was finally subdued by Marshal Dana with a shot that struck the man and left him unconscious on the ground. Paul, wounded about the head, and shot in the leg, climbed into his buggy for a dash out of town, and probably would have got away but for the fact that his team turned back quickly, upsetting the buggy and throwing him to the ground. Both men were lodged in jail.

Increased Vigilance Committee.
Trouble had been brewing for a long time. The feud had been frequently discussed at the village board meeting.
Marshal Dana was employed because the town board considered him big enough to put the Bruceckers in jail if necessary. Several business men of the town had been carrying guns for some time in anticipation of an emergency and only on Thursday of this week, Marshal Dana had made six bullet holes in the door of a store and of a billiard case, and had distributed the weapons among men of the town.
An old fashioned vigilance committee was to have been organized last night, with the avowed object of maintaining the order. Town authorities say that Fred Brucecker is 23 years old and owns a farm east of Hoskins. Paul is a Rosebud Homesteader of Mellette county, near White River, S. D., and is about 22. He lives at odd times with his relatives east of town. Both were sent to the county jail this morning by Sheriff Porter and Marshal E.

E. Dana.

The little town of Hoskins with a population of less than 300 was topped over by the exciting affair last night.
Brucecker relatives, including about a dozen men, heard of the trouble and over the telephone they came to the town in a body, and the Hoskins authorities feared a jail delivery.
Sheriff Porter came into the village on a late train, and a number of deputies were sworn in for the purpose of checking any further disorder.

Sturgeon Buns Out of Hoolies.
Dr. H. W. Pardon, who is justice of the peace at Hoskins, dressed some of the wounds of the two men in jail, but he ran out of needles after he had treated every cut, sitting in the jail for a late train, and a number of deputies were sworn in for the purpose of checking any further disorder.

The Two Men's Wounds.
Fred Brucecker's wound consisted of a cut below the eye, four scalp wounds, one of them an ugly one, several inches in length, a probable fracture of one bone in the left ankle, badly injured jaw bone, and many bruises which have swollen his face out of proportion. In all, Fred Brucecker has about six cuts
about the head and face.
Paul Brucecker, a wellbuilt youth of light complexion, has a bullet wound in his right thigh, two or three bad scalp wounds, a sprained ankle and a number of bruises.

Both men had been at Wayne where they secured a continuance in a case which was scheduled for trial. They were on their way out of proportion in all, Fred Brucecker has about six cuts
about the head and face.

an one marshal to resign, and have kept the town in a state of panic for some time. The marshal, however, has always been in feeling between a certain number of Hoskins citizens and the farmers living east of that town.

Mayor Otto Gruber declared in statement to the News man who visited Hoskins shortly after the excitement, that Hoskins has been under threats from an organized gang for a number of years. "A woman's suggestion to have been held last night by certain citizens to organize a "vigilance committee" for the purpose of maintaining peace and order at any time. That committee was to have been named "The Law and Order League," and fourteen citizens had signed their names as members of the league. Other citizens were to have joined at last night's meeting.

Prepared Clubs for Battle.
The marshal, he said, was busy all day Thursday, manufacturing police clubs out of the billiard cues in the pool parlors of Deputy Ahrenschild.
The Brucecker, said the mayor, were and the other members of the gang.
He declared that about eight men belonged to the gang and their purpose was to "paint the town red," or "clean out the marshal."

When asked what the gang organization, William Brucker, prominent and respected farmer, denied the story.
He declared that he knew nothing of the gang and declared that the "town committee" was the opportunity of "getting" the two boys, because they were alone in the town that day.

Say Paul Had No Gun.
Mr. Brucecker and a large number of his relatives who had gathered in a "knot" on the main street, dashed emphatically to the front of Paul and revolvers when they left home. Three members of the family declared that Paul's revolver was in his room at the farm home.

Mayor Gruber, Marshal Dana, Deputy Ahrenschild and a number of other Hoskins business men, however, declare that "Hoskins citizens were really "afraid" of the Brucecker brothers.
Their "many" fights and "threats" of subversion, "the opportunity" of "getting" had made their names known to every man, woman and child in the town.

Business Often Paralyzed.
"Our business men have had to close their doors when the two Bruceckers came to town," said Mayor Gruber.
"Our women and children were afraid to go out on the street for fear that these men were in town. One of our saloons had to close up at 7:15 last Saturday night because the two Brucecker men were here painting the town red." Deputy Ahrenschild declares that it is not uncommon for him to close his pool hall most any day when Fred and Paul Brucecker and "their gang" come to Hoskins. He said he did not know of the building last night "to get supper."

Prisoners' Friends Assemble.
"I was listening on the telephone," said one member of the Brucecker family, "and I heard that Fred and Paul were shot. It was the first news we received of the fight. 'Get them' because they were alone and we had been with them, they would not have jumped them."

When the relatives, and a few friends gathered in a knot and conferred on what to do to bring them back to town, after they were refused admitance to the jail, was to telephone for a Norfolk surgeon. During the relatives' conference, Sheriff Porter and Marshal Dana conferred as to what would be attempted, and they gave this as a reason for refusing admitance to the prisoners to newspaper men. "Later, however, a News man was admitted, but friends of the two prisoners made no attempt to be disorderly."

"It is not our intention to break into the jail," said one of the Brucecker family. "Ethan says we are hurt and should have some medical treatment." Explanations that medical treatment had been given, seemed to pacify them.

When the Citizens Gathered.
Mayor Gruber and Marshal Dana gave out statements regarding what they termed "the gang's climax." They covered the entire situation, including the public history of Fred and Paul Brucecker up to the time the news reached Hoskins and Norfolk, and up to the time the marshal insisted on searching Fred for a gun in the store of J. A. Hubbar. The officers declared that Fred Brucecker had struck the Ahrenschild pool hall, struck the proprietor there, and threatened him and threatened the marshal who swore him out and joined his brother at a saloon.

Later, Fred followed the marshal in to the Hubbar store and threatened him. He was reprimanded and searched for a gun. Just as the search was about completed, and no gun was found, Paul jumped at the officer's back, and there was a deadly scuffle.
The store was filled with smoking purchasing goods for a steady sale.

A number of children were in the street as the men rolled out of the store.
The marshal, however, was not fired, but who fired it, no one at Hoskins can say. When the fighters reached the sidewalk, a number of men, armed with the pool cue clubs, came to the officer's assistance. They whacked away at the heads of the Bruceckers, whenever heads appeared.
The Chase Begins.

When the pounding was at its height, Marshal Dana was giving a good account of himself. Fred broke and ran with the marshal behind him. Another shot was fired, and Postmaster Benner told his 4-year-old son to go home. The child was very close to the fighting.

The chase between Fred and the marshal was exciting. It ended near the livery barn where they mixed again.
Fred was asked if he was ready to give up, and in a reply, he connected against the marshal's face. He was felled by a blow from the former Sioux City officer's "billy," got up, resumed fighting, and was struck another blow which rendered him unconscious.

Deputy Ahrenschild and two other men were busy with Paul. The latter fought like a wildcat and succeeded in escaping to the barn. Ahrenschild and as he saw Paul vault over fence, he went to summon more help.
They saw Paul jump into the buggy and he would have escaped if the horses, had not become frightened. When the buggy was overturned, he lay on the ground, almost insensible.

Before the sheriff arrived, however, the Brucecker relatives reached the town. It was the first time the marshal had succeeded in placing the two men behind the bars, and it was feared that the relatives might try to force their way in. About a dozen husky townspeople were deputized and the marshal made frequent visits to the jail.

They had threatened to "get me," said Marshal Dana. "I have been trouble with them ever since. I was employed as marshal of this town.
They drove one marshal from the job, and their sole purpose was to put me out of commission."

Hire Husky Marshal to Fight.
Mayor Gruber admitted that Marshal Dana was employed by the town board for the purpose of riding the town of the "gang." He declared that the actions of Fred and Paul Brucecker had been discussed at a number of meetings of the town board. There are five members of the board, he said, and all were in favor of employing the Sioux City officer to Hoskins for the purpose of curbing the "red painting" of Paul and Fred Brucecker.

Parmer, Marshal Collin of Hoskins declared he had never had trouble with the Brucecker brothers. "There are no better hearted boys in the country when they are sober," said Collin, but that they do go some when they drunk." In most cases, the Hoskins citizens admitted that the doings of Fred and Paul Brucecker gave them much uneasiness.

Hoskins citizen seemed surprised that the news of the fight had reached Norfolk so soon. They expressed surprise that a news man would reach scene before the sheriff had arrived.

Former Marshal Recognized.
The news of the fight had reached Norfolk and York. Sheriff Harry Stevens a lawsuit arose in which it was alleged that the marshal was mugged, and his star gun and lebel taken from him. This case went to the supreme court, but was settled out of court before the term adjourned was required. After this incident, Stevens resigned.

The two Bruceckers were too sore to be out from the town this morning.
County Attorney Kiplinger of Wayne arrived at 11:30 to file formal charges against the men. The friends of the Brucecker were in an ugly mood to day, and threats were being made by the members that more trouble would ensue.

THE WAYNE HERALD

The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County

Published Every Thursday

Entered at the Postoffice at Wayne, Neb., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

HERALD PUBLISHING CO.
E. W. TUBBS, Editor and Manager
Telephone No. 146

Subscription $1.50 a Year

J. L. McBrien, former state superintendent and promoter of a lecture bureau, just died being born, has lately been received into the civil service of the United States government, having been given a place as supervisor in that education at a salary of $2,500 per year.

If Wayne were built or quarried its present size, would fit into the neighborhood here with the present value? Any one understanding the influences that make values would answer in the negative. On the other hand, wouldn't a town twice the size of Wayne, located here, increase real estate values? 'Yes' must be the answer. Then, wouldn't it be to the interest of the farmer and townsman alike to cooperate for the building of a bigger and stronger city?

Aduly cannot depend for growth altogether on natural resources. It moves according to the spirit and energy of its people. Indifference means inertia and no progress. Concentrated activity directed means constant and substantial growth. Omaha, Kansas City and Sioux City are notable examples of what united effort on the part of men can accomplish. Their importance as cities is due more to the well directed energy of their citizens than to any other cause. They were organized and moved forward unswayed by trivial objections. While Wayne cannot hope to be as large as Kansas City, it can expect by organized and unflagging effort, to double its population and business during the next few years. The city should decide on things that need to be done to hasten development, and set about figuring out ways to do them rather than ways to avoid doing them. Progress is made by finding out how to do a thing rather than finding out how to not do it.

There is no doubt the scarcity and consequent high cost of meat can be attributed in a considerable measure to the governmental system a few years ago in abolishing entrance of the western ranges. They usually occupied land on which homesteaders would find making a living impossible. Instead of making due provision to continue cattlemen on the range, and enable them to benefit society, they were compelled to quit the industry and were often prosecuted. Large areas of western range were used for cattle. Small tracts of such land in the shape of homesteads are usually worthless.

Governor Morehead is being urged to make an effort to succeed himself, notwithstanding his pledge not to be a candidate again. One paper asks him if he will run again if petitioned to do so by 25,000 Democrats. The governor is believed to make the race for congress, but may be plunged into a doubtful state of mind if faced by a monster petition as proposed. But a number of other democrats who have been figuring on running for governor next year will expect Morehead to keep his pledge, pastor or no pastor.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Kearns, Pastor.)
Mass by WALTER SHERIDAN at 7:30. Benediction in the evening at 7:30. Catechetical instruction Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. F. Richardson, Pastor.) Preaching services Sunday at 10:45 A. M., and Sunday school at 12. Young people's meeting at 6:30, and preaching at 7:30 p. m.

Methodist Church. (Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor.) Next Sunday morning, the subject for discussion will be "Just a Man," and in the evening "The Half-Way House."

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Cooley, Pastor.)
There will be no preaching services at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, either morning or evening, because of the death of a member of the church, which will be at Omaha. The Sunday school meeting at 10:30 o'clock, and the young people's union will be held at 7 p. m.

German Evangelical Lutheran Church. (Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor.)
Do not forget the missionfest next Sunday. Morning services will begin at 10:30 and in the afternoon at 2:30. The pastor will be assisted in the services by Rev. Mr. Babe of Bloomfield, Rev. Mr. Wellhausen of Norfolk, and Rev. Mr. Holtzberg of Pierce. Dinner will be served by the ladies of the church in a treat on the church lawn.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. F. E. Blessing, Pastor.)
The pastor will use as his subject next Sunday morning, "A Christian Neighbor." Luke x. 36-37. People are prone to think of a neighbor only as one next door to them; one in the immediate vicinity of their homes, but this is a limited meaning. The true meaning of neighbor is "one in need, physically or spiritually." Webster says, a neighbor is one entitled to neighborly kindness. How strange this old world would be if we would not extend the spirit of a neighbor beyond the immediate vicinity of our homes.

"We were never last named" is the interest taken in our first evening services for an article to keep it up. The subject for next Sunday evening will be "The Accepted Publican," Luke xviii, 13, 14.

MOVE TO STAMP OUT CHOLERA IN STATE

Barley's Omaha Bee. (Congressman) Charles H. Sloan is in Omaha conferring with J. H. Bulla, chairman of the Nebraska Livestock Sanitary board, relative to the handling of the government's project to stamp out hog cholera in Nebraska. Under the provisions of the $500,000 appropriation bill which Congressman Sloan was the author, it is aimed to be used in connection with states where the hog industry is quarantined with cholera, and where the local authorities are taking a step forward to subulate and finally eliminate the disease.

Statistics furnished by the Department of Agriculture go to show that as a result of cholera among hogs, there is an annual loss of from $100,000 to $300,000 to the livestock industry of the country, and of this amount about $50,000.00 to $70,000.00 is suffered in Nebraska.

The scheme, that will be used in the one related to the United States and Canada by H. Dorsner, head of the U. S. chemical laboratory of the Department of Agriculture—together with Dr. W. R. Miles of Ames and others who worked on the serum for a long time before it was perfected. It has since been used and endorsed by leading veterinarians in many localities with marked success.

UNIQUE PLEA FOR RIGHTS Under a Lincoln Statute, the Omaha World-Herald reproduces an interesting article by Wilbur P. Bryant of Hartford, as follows, with an introductory explanation:

Because the Cedar county district court dismissed Wilbur P. Bryant's case brought to collect attorney's fees from Earl P. Duncan, the Washington lawyer, through the litigation to the state supreme court on appeal, and before that time today made a unique plea for his rights. He took as a text, Horace Greeley's utterance, "Fame is a reputation acquired by the sweat of one's brow." "Fame, like the immortal soul of Theist, shoots up from the gray sea of life like a mist, and disappears in the atmosphere of history. The names that follow, are those of the following gentlemen: Remond, Francis Armin, Frederick and Bismarck—from the history of the Germanic race, and nothing is left. England never had but two great sovereigns—Elizabeth and Victoria. Only two states presidents will have more than a first name. "Popularity is fickleless itself. The greatest and most sublime of reformers—others—desertion through waving palms over a way paved with the garb of his admirers. Five days are passed, and the self same mob which finds him to be the cross.

"There are two lawyers—the thief and the man, the fiction and the fact." "In the popular conception, the lawyer is a sharper and a scamp, a mortal enemy of every body, from extortion to subornation of perjury. He is not deep enough to damn him. "In fact, he is the most honorable of mankind—his faithful and mistaken goals; he shines who lives like a second sun, and, like a lance, Lord Brougham, in his historic speech in the trial of Queen Caroline, did not expect too strongly the duty of a lawyer to his client, but in the prosecution of a cause, he is bound to do his best.

"A scientist starts out in a fearless search for the truth, discoverable from phenomena. But a lawyer is visited by some shadow who has either petrified a felony, and wishes to strike the entrepreneur, or who wishes to perpetrate some felony, and is hunting for someone to show him a legal way of doing it. There never was a lawyer of this kind, unless he had more than one client, unless that client was no other lawyer."

Some men don't get along very well and others run through marriage. A man who starts his eyes—some do—often carry much misery to the children. What has become of the old-fashioned—well—who should at least have one to look to in a colored hair? Clashes are so thin this winter that many men are becoming like the London business. Looks like an early fall, a gent. A gent of running everyone else's business should devote that ability to his own and get paid for it. How to Be Happy. Through Married." ### Wayne People Are Learning The Way

There is but little peace of comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The mistress begins the morning—leaves to throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure if the cause is inside—the kidneys.

room of the library building this season, the floor gave way under its weight, and on January 23, 1913, it fell to the ground. MRS. JOHN MUNDY.
Mrs. Abbie Mundy, wife of John R. Mundy, of 145 North First street, died at her home at 8:30 o'clock this morning of paralysis. Her first illness came three years ago, and since that time, she has been a semi-invalid. She never to mount her legs, but her hands, her son, Johnny, and two brothers, Tracy and Seth Adams, of this city. Mrs. Mundy was born in Susquehanna, Pa., in 1847, and came to this city with her husband in 1866. The funeral will be held from the home Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be in Spring Lake cemetery.

The dance given at the Aurora Hall, Daily Beacon-News of October 7, brings sadness to the hearts of many in Winside and vicinity. Mrs. John Mundy was a resident of Winside for more than twenty years, and had many friends here who will mourn her departure. She had a great philanthropic heart, as many poor people could testify. No beggar ever asked for bread and was turned away, and even the poor house had to beg at the door. Many poor people who lived near her time could not have been fed and clothed had it not been for the generous Mrs. Mundy.
