

OBSERVE CHRISTMAS AT WAYNE CHURCHES

PROGRAMS TO BE CARRIED OUT

Holiday to Be Appropriately Remembered at Houses of Worship—Gifts for Children

Christmas eve will be appropriately remembered by Wayne churches. Programs suited for the occasion have been prepared, and the children to whom the great event is especially gladness, will be remembered with generous gifts. The following programs have been reported:

Christmas Eve, at the German Lutheran Church will be celebrated with the usual program, consisting of Bible readings, hymns, etc., by members of the Sunday school class. A large and beautifully decorated tree will be the center of attraction. At the close of the program, there will be distribution of gifts, candy, nuts and apples.

Members of the German church northeast of Wayne, are busy preparing for their Christmas celebration at the church this Wednesday evening. The church will be appropriately decorated, and a program of songs, recitations and address will be carried out. All the children will be remembered with candies, nuts, apples and other gifts.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The name of the cantata this Christmas is "In the Clean of the Sun." The scene of the play is on the island of the Philippines. The story is of the promised messiah. Soon some people from Nazareth arrive, having come through Jerusalem, and of the tear of the people who have heard of the coming king foretold by his prophets. The whole play is Jewish throughout in setting and costumes. Among the most prominent characters may be mentioned—Jehoshaphat, Tobiah, Ben Ben, and several choruses of Jewish children.

A large number of musical selections are to be given as the play develops, songs, duets and choruses appropriate to the scenes.

Special decorations in honor of the Christmas festival are being made.

The program committee consists of Mrs. Arthur Norton, chairman, assisted by Mrs. L. A. Cooper, Mrs. H. H. Hoyle, Dr. Arthur and Pearl Hughes. They are giving much effort to the work, and promise a program worth hearing.

REORGANIZATION OF HYLO OIL COMPANY

INTERESTS EASTERN CAPITAL

Capital Stock Increased to $150,000—Headquarters at Sioux City—Station at Wayne

The Hylo Oil Company has been reorganized with its capital stock increased from $25,000 to $150,000. Eastern capitalists have become interested, and figures materially in the formation of a new company. Headquarters will be located at Sioux City, with a station in Wayne, and a tank operating from this point. Another building, 20 by 36 feet, is now in course of construction in Wayne for use as a warehouse. The new company will deal mainly in high-grade gasoline and will probably have its name changed from Hylo Oil Company to the Gasoline Supply Company.

J. C. Wendell retains his interest in the company, and will be actively employed in advancing its interest. Dr. F. C. Zoll who has been prominent in the affairs of the Hylo company, will not be active in the making of the new organization, though continuing as a stockholder. Dr. Zoll will attend strictly and exclusively to the practice of his profession.

MRS. ALBUHAL MERRILL KIMBALL

(By Her Pastor)

Miss Abigail Hill Merrill was born at Turner, Mo., March 9, 1841, and died at Wakefield, Neb., December 16, 1913. At Turner, she grew to womanhood, and was married to Mr. Merrill, a son of the late Mrs. Merrill, on September 19, 1859. She came west with her uncle, Geo. Samuel Merrill of Iowa, who was living at McGregor, Ia. She made her home with her uncle until, on October 15, 1870, she married Levi Kimball, who lived in McGregor until 1870, when they moved to Castalia, Ia., remaining there until 1878, when they came to Wakefield, Neb., where they have since made their home. Death first visited the home on March 18, 1895, when her son, Thomas K. Merrill, was taken away. On September 9, last, the husband, Levi Kimball, passed away suddenly at Grand Island, Neb., while there to attend a board meeting of the trustees of Grand Island college. Three children remain to mourn her loss: Neal, Leola, and Stella. She was a member of the M. E. Church of Wakefield, Neb., where she has since made their home. She filled a large place in her many friends. Quiet and humble, active and faithful, her work reached out into many fields. Her heart was in missionary work, and she was a true and faithful Christian endorser. She planned hard and with her husband in all departments of Christian work, and invested much time and means in religious enterprises. Together with Mr. Kimball, she maintained a gracious, hospitable, Christian home, a home fragrant with the atmosphere of a pure heart in Christ. Servants of the master were welcomed under the roof of the home, and the Christian home and life permeated deeply the lives of the children. The rich legacy of her Christian character will cause many to rise up and call her blessed.

CHRISTMAS TRIAL OF THE PARCELS POST

The Parcel Post will go into effect the first of last January, and its first trial during a Christmas rush has just passed. The local postoffice has handled fully twice the volume of business during the past week, and the parcels have been the same. Fifty-four loaded mail sacks left the Wayne office Monday, and forty-six on Tuesday. The reduced cost of transportation under the new law increases the volume without increasing the receipts.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

On account of Christmas, the public library will be closed on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

BIRTH RECORD

Born, Monday, December 22, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Priest, a daughter, Edna Mary, December 23, to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bahr, a son, Alvin, north of Wayne, a daughter.

ADVERTISED LETTER LIST

Letters: L. Anderson, Miss Laura Berger, Joseph Peely, Miss Emma Heister, Mrs. Matta Leubrich, Mr. W. M. Stock, Post. V. H. McNeal, Dec. 22, 1913.

TO GET SUGGESTIONS TOUCHING FUTURE

PRIZE FOR THE BEST ARTICLE

Criticism of City of Wayne's Class Decried—What Will Make Town Bigger and Better?

The Herald wants information for the benefit of itself and the public, for the benefit of Wayne and every town of its class. The Herald wants to know Wayne's faults and needs, what will make it a city of five or ten thousand people, or what will retard its growth. Criticisms on Wayne, opinion touching its future, will help materially in making a bigger and better city, and there must very properly come from people who are vitally interested. Three or four letters will give us for the best article of not more than 500 words presenting any phase of the subject suggested. The articles may be written up by people living in Wayne or in surrounding territory, and must be handed in at the Herald office, not later than January 10. While the prize is not great, the purpose is not to make money, but to develop and bring out ideas for the benefit of the whole community. Three judges will be appointed to determine the winner and award the prize. The articles which will be published in the Herald, must bear the names of their authors.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT AT CLOSE OF SCHOOL

The Christmas spirit was very evident at the holiday week. The kindergarten and first grade each had a party on Friday afternoon, and the children were all supremely happy and jubilant. Brief exercises, appropriate to the occasion, were presented. Grades two, three, four, five and six gave a half-hour program of Christmas songs in the high school on Friday afternoon. This was greatly enjoyed by all and showed the very excellent work these pupils are doing in their department, under the direction of Mrs. Murray.

HANDLING HEAVY MAILS

Wayne, Dec. 22—Reports from the principal points throughout the county which the Railway mail runs have been received today by Postmaster General Burleson. Practically without exception they showed that conditions are better than during many years past and at no time has the mail service been so good as it is at present. "We have no congestion, either in the railway mail service or in postoffices," said Mr. Burleson tonight. "The increase in the volume of mail has been phenomenal, the rate of increase being such that it is 75 per cent greater than during the holiday season of last year."

DISTRIBUTE GIFTS AMONG WAYNE'S POOR

Supt. J. H. Kemp of the city schools, during Christmas comfort and cheer among the city's poor last Saturday. During the week, he had asked school children to bring to him any contributions they might have for the less fortunate and as a consequence, two bags of staples and clothing were placed where they were most needed. He visited nine families, and in some instances, made possible the purchase of a new pair of shoes for children, he taxed his own generosity to the limit to lighten burden resting on those overtaken by unhappy fate.

CELEBRATION DRINKER

Wayne, Dec. 22—Ed. E. Jones, who drank 320 bottles of beer while locked in the cellar of a saloon here, is still alive, and is inclined to joke about his experience. He declares he had no other food but beer while in the cellar, and that he took things easy. He says he is used to malt beer, and was not afraid of it. He smiled while making these observations to his friends.

FLEGE CASE TO BE ON TRIAL NEXT MONTH

Thurston County Requests Dixon County to Forfeit Bills Caused by Former Trial

Pender Times: Former Congressman J. J. McCarthy of Pomer, and Attorney Fred Berry of Wayne, were in Pender Wednesday. They are the leading attorneys for the defense in the Flege murder case which will probably come up for trial the first full week in January. Since the former trial, which was held here last June, Attorney Davis for the state, has been disqualified by the supreme court on account of his having been employed by young Dickie, camp father to look after the young man's interests, and Attorney Frank Perry of Wayne, who was one of Flege's lawyers in the trial. At the last trial, 129 jurors were drawn before a jury was secured, and it required about a week to secure the jury—and it will probably take more time at the next trial.

Reference to the case, by County Attorney Howard Saxton, was up on Pomer Monday to ask the county board of Dixon county to pay the attorneys who were called in the former trial. He was not successful in this matter, but he has asked that though Thurston county would have to sue Dixon county for a part of the costs in the case. The latter county objects to paying for the attorneys (the county has paid for jurors who were called for one reason or another); they refuse to pay for the telephone bills amounting to something like $6, and they refuse to pay for the lodging for the jury, unless the county will pay for the jury kept together, and a few other items. The telephone bills were contracted by the attorneys for the state. This proposition has left a bad taste in the mouths of people down here who can't understand why this county should be called upon to pay any of Dixon county's costs in this matter.

WELSH OUBROU TO BE DEDICATED SUNDAY

The Welsh Congregational people will dedicate their new house of worship Sunday, December 28. The services will begin Saturday evening, December 27, at 7 o'clock. All day Sunday, at 10, 2 and 7 o'clock. The afternoon services Sunday will be all English, at which services Rev. E. T. Hanford of Lincoln, will preach the dedication sermon. The ministers who are expected to be with us during the meetings being Dr. Hanford, are: Rev. J. G. Evans of Dawn, Mo. and Rev. John Roberts of Williamsburg, and Rev. Mrs. T. Jenkins of Long Creek. It is a genuine addition to the city, and should be called upon to pay any of Dixon county's costs in this matter.

In our grandparents' time, picture taking meant long sittings in uncomfortable, strained attitudes—without success always more or less in doubt.

There was excuse in the old days for not having pictures taken at frequent intervals.

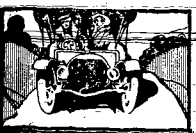

But today, clever photographers, in comfortable studios, with feet plates and fast lenses at their command, make the experience a pleasure.

And you own this satisfaction to yourself and to your friends.

HERALD EXCHANGE GLEANINGS OF WEEK

Coleridge Blade: Henry Korff was in Wayne last week on business regarding the farmers' elevator, and also at Wakefield. While at Wayne, he called on Dr. Ingraham and found him happily busy with his old friend, Medicine. Laurel Advocate: Emil Weber returned from Rochester, Minn., Thursday, his daughter, Mrs. George Darwell, who underwent an operation a few days ago, being considerably better. Mrs. R. L. Lathrop, who is with her, will be home some time this week. Wisner Chronicle: J. E. Johnson, the young man who sustained a broken neck in the George Buskirk ranch two weeks ago, was taken to Sioux City Tuesday to receive treatment at a hospital. The Old Fellows lodge of Wayne of which he is a member, has assumed the care of him, as he has no relatives who are able or disposed to give him aid. Harrison News: At the Methodist church in this city on Monday, December 15, John A. Lindsay and Miss Stella Straight, both of Wayne, were united in marriage by the Rev. R. T. Watson. The happy pair were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Auer, also of Wayne. The bridal party came by automobile, and after a wedding dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Carter, returned to Wayne, where Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay will make their home. An exchange says: After God had finished the rattlesnake, the toad and the frog, he had some more to make. "Left," which he made the knocker. A knocker is a two-legged animal with a scroreser soul, a water-sogged brain and a combination bark-horn of jelly and glue. Where other people carry their hearts, he carries a tumor of rotten principles. When the knocker comes down the street, honest men turn their backs, the angels weep in heaven, and the devil shies before the hell-keep-him-away cry.

A HOME BUYER'S CREED.

Local Trade Review. The commercial city of Ottawa, Kan., coupled with its organization of retail merchants, has been doing some very progressive work in trade building, and in infusing some home trade.

In addition to other features put up by the Ottawa business men, they have adopted a home buyers' creed, and they put this creed in the hands of everyone. It before all classes of people at all times and through many different agencies, and it is doing an educational work in our community.

I buy in Ottawa because - My interests are here;

The commodity which is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in

I believe in transacting business with my friends;

I want to see the goods;

My home merchant "carries" me when I run short;

The dollar I spend at home stays at home, and works for the community in which I live;

The man I buy from stands back of the goods;

I sell what more than I produce here at home, and here I buy;

The man I buy from pays his part of the town, county and state tax;

The man I buy from helps support his school, my church, my lodge, my home.

When I make, mistake, or have some other reason, the man I buy from is here with kindly suggestions, his words are clear, and his pocketbook if need be.

HERE I LIVE, AND HERE I BUY!

CALIFORNIA WOMAN SERIOUSLY ALARMED.

"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and in a great deal of agony I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed.

A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it several times, and it had cured her. I bought a bottle and had used it a few days, and I was rid of the cold and sore throat," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawville, Cal. For sale by all dealers.

GASOLINE EXPLODES CAUSING UGLY BURNS

Carl Gust, living four miles south-east of Wayne, was severely burned by an explosion of gasoline Monday morning. He was trying to start a gas engine, and had built a fire under it, using kerosene. On the smoldering coils, he poured some gasoline in order to arouse the fire and increase the heat.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT THE STATE NORMAL

Last Thursday morning, the chapel here at the State Normal school was given over to a Christmas program by the children attending the model school. The program was given by Miss Pearl Higgins, one of the seniors, who trained the children in the speaking parts of the program, and also by Prof. J. J. Coleman, who had charge of the singing.

The program opened with the shepherd scene, showing a number of shepherds sleeping, and aroused to hear the angel chorus announcing the wonderful birth of the new-born King.

Merry Christmas

Again we come to the great Festival Day which all Christendom celebrates.

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" means more to the world today than it did on the first to be born in Palestine.

So we take this opportunity to thank our customers and friends for their liberal patronage during 1913, which is greatly appreciated, and shall endeavor during the year 1914 to make it to your advantage to give us still more of your patronage by honest, upright dealings.

Our Best Wishes To You and Yours for Health, Happiness and Prosperity.

Yours truly

THE GERMAN STORE

THE GOLD OF MERCY.

Fremont Tribune: The incident of the theft of a loaf of bread from a shop window was woven into a touching tragedy by Victor Hugo. The suffering of Jean Valjean at the gallows adds to his hair-breadth escapes in the powers of France, and the law's heavy hand is not laid upon the one who has nobly offered himself. He contributes, in addition, a work of floor that the sufferers may no longer want for food. The circumstances of the case transmit the baser elements of justice into the refined gold of mercy.

It is a democracy of kindness and gentleness and sympathy as to the humanity itself. In this sad old world there is much distress, but after all, there is usually an antidote for every grief, a solace for every woe.

NOTICE. Now that we have sold our business, we ask all those owing us to come in, to see and settle their accounts. Prompt attention to this matter is necessary. Respectfully, Meister & Buschel.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The rain has fallen night and day, a never ceasing flood; and everywhere chance to stray, there's a view but mist. Wet weather is a view but mist. Some weeks ago, I sadly feared, with rain we'd be blessed; and now the mud drips from my beard and trickles down my vest. Wet gumps splash in my face when horses travel by, and liquid landscape leaves its place, and hits me in the eye. The geese wading handmedowns, and swear beneath their breath, 'the women view their spotted gowns, and long for sudden death. The merchant's dreams of business fade, he mutters, low: "Ods bleed! The farmers won't come in to trade through all these rains of mud!" And in my multitudes, recline, and beg you not to fret; why should we murmur or repine because the world is wet? You know how bitterly you raved last August and July, because the torrents now poured, and all the world was drenched. No matter, what the gods may send, your face looks pained and grey; 'twere better to be glad, my friend, for good you have received.

Make somebody happy today! Rich making that motto solemn, and life that was gloomy and grim. CHRISTMAS gray, at once becomes pleasant and sweet. No odds what direction you go, whichever the pathway you wend, there's somebody weary of woe, there's somebody sick for a friend; there's somebody seeking a guide, some pilgrim who's wandered astray; oh, don't let your help be denied—make somebody happy today! There's somebody tired of the strife, the wearisome struggle for bread, borne down by the burden of life, and envying those who are dead; a little encouragement now may drive his dark visions away, and smooth out a seam from his brow—make somebody happy today! There's somebody sick over there, where there's sunlight is shut from the room; there's somebody deep in despair, babbling so tight as the gloom; there's somebody needing your aid, your solace, wherever you stray; then let not your help be delayed—make somebody happy today. Make somebody happy today, some comfort and sympathy give, and Christmas shall be'er go away, but always and ever shall live.

Christmas is the gloomiest day when our carves are thrown away, and, though spiritless old and gray, CHRISTMAS we uprise and upon the children beam, playing like a four-horse team, till we see the gladness gleam in their eyes. Each a dozen shakes his years, and the ancient chap, appearing, shining with the laughing tears on the floor; for a day our hearts are thawed by the warmth that's all around and we loosen up the wad we adore. Far from all the business grind, and the cares that wrap the mind, for a day we're good and kind, full of cheer; for a day we make life good to our little neighborhood, for a day we're as we should always be. We could hear the Christmas heart in the warbling choir or next, and from greenness the part if we'd try; we could wear the Christmas face in our dingy trading place, letting kindly smiles embrace passer-by. Yes, of course we have a lot, but away they might be laughed; we should work the Christmas graft, all day now, if we'd only try to see how absurd our quarrels be, and the Man of Galilee shows us how.

"Do it early," I've been warning, till my bronchial tubes are loosed. It's too late now, I've my shopping done. THE LATE and you ought to be SHOPPER ashamed. I've been begging and beseeching you to buy your goods early, and now you're kicking at your door. I've been telling others when to do their shopping chores, to relieve their weary bodies clerking in the village stores; oh, I kept my largest pocket, got stuck on my tongue, I forgot to do my shopping until the last-blessed night was hung. Now Remorse comes forth to vink me for my dilatory stand; if the "Wearly Clerk" should lynch me, they won't need a criminal. When a fellow tears his jacket telling others what to do, when he kicks up such a racket that the atmosphere is blue, when he roasts us for our botching, our neglect and shoddy chutzpah, 'twas my bet he'll be here some watching like most other sooty borer.

Sir H. Rider Haggard is surely no laggard, he's turning out narratives long ranting, I've been preaching, I've been bidding, you do it, make up RIDGE way so busy it makes up HAGGARD man dizzy, and stirs up the sawy of E. Oppenheim. He's still writing stories concerning the stories of African chiefs in the dimming age, of braves and witch finders and seers who were blinders yet spelled out a future of bloodshed and gore. An H. Rider story is looking and goes an epic of carnage and battle and crime, and Rider is writing romances of fighting so often he chases poor E. Oppenheim. E. Phillips, God bless him it's ill to distress him—has long held the record for turning out junk; with sops and with-givers he wrote his hand-dingers, and mark his efforts was strictly most punk. He long wore the laurel, and no one could quarrel with him for a minute, dispatching his boys; his reign now is ended, and he has descended, ere reaching his dotage, on dark, evil days. For I will be judged if H. Rider Haggard can't beat him if a block in a specified time; at drawing the locale for hopeless floodplains, H. Rider outdistances E. Oppenheim.

When the state assessor comes to tax your wads, chattels great and lesser, all your household goods, that's the time to frolic SUNBEAM, and to throw your titles; never let the colic overtake your wad. Anyone can amble down a sunlit road, anyone can gambol when he bears no load, but the test of gameness lies in wearing grins when pain, biting lameness, kicks you on the shins. When your teeth are aching with a rattling sound, then you should be shaking, shaking all around; that's the time to frolic with a princely grace, while the pain immortal gallops round your face. We can all be joyous when the world presents nothing to annoy us; but the worthy grins are the ones who while and refuse to swear when they find a thistle placed upon the chair. Here's the sawbones coming to remove your limb; let him find you humming a triumphant hymn. Crowing never made us calm in hours of grief, cussing will not aid us, will not bring relief. Though the worst may come, or sorrow, sickness, fire, or sorrow will never brace us to withstand the strain.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From the Wayne Herald, December 25, 1887: Markets: Oats, 20 cents; wheat, 45 cents; corn, 20 to 25 cents. Improvements made in Wayne during the year 1887 amounted to the sum of $39,725. I. O. Woolston accepts a position as travel salesman for Baker & Bisel of Sioux City.

Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Steele and Mrs. Praxid entertained at a party of friends at the Boyd hotel. On Thursday preceding Christmas, there were at one time eighty-six teams stationed on Main street, and over eight thousand bushels of grain were delivered to the buyers.

From the Wayne Herald, December 27, 1894: Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Muth, December 22, a son.

From the December 22, the telegraph registered 20 degrees below zero. A special train of stock is shipped from Wayne by S. B. Stace and R. W. Washburn.

Chammy Child, gave a party to his young friends in honor of his thirtieth birthday anniversary.

From the Wayne Herald, January 13, 1905: "Cherry-Kate goes to Lincoln to attend the state poultry show. "Dad, the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Roberts of near Carroll. George Wilbur and family and Mrs. Guy Wilbur leave for their new home in Bowling, Ore. During 1904, Judge Hunter issued eighty-eight marriage licenses, six in excess of the number issued in 1903. Mrs. J. M. Pitt would dispose of his home at Ashland, O., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mason, in Wayne. William Wittler sells 240 acres of land to Curt Beahof for a total of $12,000. Robert Baird sells his farm of 160 acres to Bert Hyatt for a consideration of $82,200 per acre.

From Ponca Journal, December 24, 1913: Adam Smith of Missouri, is here visiting his brother-in-law, Messrs. John Jacob and Sigmund Stouffer. Mr. Smith was the first settler of Ponca. He settled here in May, 1836, and built the old "Gonnor house." His cousin, John Baumgardner, came the same time. Mr. Parrel, Charles Buckman, Henry Ford, Gearhart, Carston, Isaac Keegler, and Frank West, came soon after. N. S. Porter, Solomon Stough, Ned Bisbee, Clark, House, Abernethy, and John Rhodes came later in the summer. When they arrived, the land was owned by the Indians. In the fall, the land from the Aoway creek to the Niobrara river was opened to white settlement. The founders of Wayne were laid out in the fall of 1866. Mr. Smith owned the east eighty acres of the township, and Frank West the west forty acres. The township has since been increased in size, and now has 320 acres. These old pioneers had a tough time of it for several years. They struggled through many hardships and privations, and during the time, never succumbed to the discouragements of poverty, nor to fear of Indians. Some of these honored pioneers are here now, others are scattered in different counties. Doubtless localities which the most of them at present occupy, they often contrast with the hard times they experienced twenty-five years ago. Yet, hard as was their frontier life, it was not without enjoyment.

From Ponca Journal, January 6, 1908: The Nebraska legislature contains thirty-six farmers, eighteen lawyers, sixteen merchants, eight physicians, six editors and five railroad men. The two houses contain in all 114 members; fifty senators and eighty-four representatives. In politics, there are 103 republicans, eleven democrats and one greenbacker.

According to Mother Shipton, the people of this mundane sphere have about six months longer to live, and it is about time to commence making wills. Somebody will be $1,000,000, and we will run the chances on remaining after the others are gone, to take care of it, others are gone, by the way of it.

THE CITY THE TOWN A WARRIOR in Cedar county a year ago, by Hon. A. H. Norris, of Genesee county, N. Y., is enjoying a flattering popularity at this time. A large and well-dressed side has been opened by Las' Games, formerly of Dakota county. A good school is being taught by F. W. Phillips. Several new buildings are going up. A postoffice will be established in a few weeks. If the railroad should be extended up the north Logan to Elm City, it seems not improbable it will make that place one of size and importance. Mr. Norris owns in the neighborhood of Elm City, several thousand acres of the most valuable land in Cedar county, and which is offered to actual settlers on the most reasonable terms and prices. It is in the richest, most attractive, and in all respects the most desirable portion of that beautiful valley.

FOREIGN POTATOES
Lincoln, Dec. 19.—Potato growers of Nebraska are planning to resist the lifting of the quarantine on foreign potatoes now enforced by the federal authorities. Throughout the western part of the state, in the heavy potato growing region of Nebraska, the farmers have made a fierce fight with the dry rot. Syndicate methods have shown results, many communities. The importance of foreign potatoes and their use for seed is thought to have been the cause of the spread of the disease. Potato growing is one of the most important industries of northwestern Nebraska. The 1913 crop was valued at $1,031,855.25. The average yield was 100.50 and the average yield was 39.87 bushels to the acre. In 1912, the average yield was 75.04 bushels to the acre. In Sheridan county the 1913 crop was valued at $471,576, and in Deuel county the yield sold for $414,882. A number of other counties in that portion of the state also reported valuable potato crops.

HITCHCOCK (Sixty in Lincoln Journal). Who stands within the senate pat, The one and only democrat! A little leader, please—what's that, Hitchcock?

Who stands alone, like adamant, Unmoved when politicians rant; Himself a bigger man than Grant? Hitchcock.

Whose actions in the senate goad The "organ of the party" here And make poor Nebraska quake with fear? Hitchcock. Who, when his six-year term is through, Will bid his eastern friends adieu, And bid his "Boston" friends "A" T. Hitchcock.
