Many democrats believe that one of the results of the banquet will be the getting into the gubernatorial contest of Brother Charlie Bryan. This is said to be the reason why the patronage question remains unsettled. The fact that Gov. McCreck has accepted an invitation to speak at a banquet when it has always been a rule not to have state candidates speak at similar occasions, gives foundation for the rumor that the government has determined not to break his campaign promise that he would not seek re-nomination, and will make the try for the congressional nomination which under the rules of the club, is considered a state office. He repelled instead of attracting people, and then blamed his neighbors for being different and unfriendly. His opinions were severe. He believed in the extreme of future punishment for the wicked, and exemplified his conviction of mercy by establishing a private convent of his very own, and seeing to it that fuel for the flame never ran short. It is quite as easy and much more satisfying to get the happy habit and make others happy for the little time to dwell on the earth, and we shall be none the worse for it when we are called to "get off the earth" and make room for the generation to follow. Things will not always be as gay As wished by children of the East, But let us be happy while we may. And sorrow only when we must. FORMER WAYNE MAN IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Stoday's Sioux City Journal announces that Thomas J. Steele will be the democratic candidate for congress in the Eleventh Iowa district. Mr. Steele was one of the pioneer residents of Wayne. He came here when the town was started, and was prominently identified with its early growth. He was a stockholder and director in the First National bank at this place, and was at one time engaged in the hardware business here. He was conspicuous in many efforts for the upbuilding of the town. The prospect, as announced by the Journal, being a three-cornered contest, would give the democratic candidate an opportunity not usually presented.

ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED ABANDON LONG MARCH

Sacramento, Cal., March 16.—A strong north wind last night did more to solve the problem presented by "General" Kelley's army of unemployed than any other agency has yet been able to accomplish. Camped on the Yolo levee across the Sacramento river from this city with no protection from the wind-driven sands, the army disintegrated rapidly during the night and it was estimated today that not more than 300 remained of the 1,500 that came to Sacramento a week ago.

Hunger also had much to do with the desertions. Now that the novelty of the army's presence has worn off, food contributions have almost ceased and the men are hungry. It is believed the march to Washington will be abandoned as the remnants of the army will scatter in various directions. A hunger strike was threatened by the army today. A few loaves of bread was all the food sent across the river up to noon and the march determined among the men said they would starve until they had to be taken to hospitals.

He Stirred Up Business.

With a view to stirring up business a restaurant keeper in an English town played one day a rather daring announcement at the door of his business.

"This notice will next day, a man went in and had dinner enough for two. As he was leaving without paying, the proprietor stopped him at the door and demanded payment.

"That notice which was still posted at the door, and the customer, pointing to it, asked what it meant.

"It means exactly what it says," replied the weary proprietor. "There is no charge for dinner tomorrow."

"Good," said the customer. "My name is Morrow, so I am entitled to a free dinner."

Riley's Gold Mine.

"James Hutchinson," said a dentist, "carried a great quantity of gold in his mouth. One day, seated in the operating chair, while some minor work was being done, I left him for a moment. I heard a gentle murmur. Mr. Hutchinson had taken up a hand mirror, was looking at his teeth, and indulging in a talk to himself. 'Well, well, well,' said the poet, 'what a quantity of gold. Looks as if I had taken a national bank and had for my money a great quantity of gold.'"

THE PROPRIETOR STIRRED HIM.

The Wayne Normal school basketball team defeated the Bellevue college basketball five by the score 23 to 20 in a hard-fought contest Thursday evening, March 12, in Bellevue college gymnasium. The game was warmly contested throughout.

WILL IT BE A BOY OR A GIRL?
Interest in the First National Bank's Panama Canal Essay Contest is growing. More Essays Coming in—Big job ahead for the prize jury.
There is keen rivalry between the school boys and the school girls of the town as to which division of the student army will carry off the $100.00 prize in the Panama Canal essay contest.

The National Bank's Panama Canal essay contest is now in progress. The contest is now in progress. The contest is now in progress.

The school boys say that there is "nothing to it." They expect to walk away with the first prize of $100.00. They point out that the Canal is a man's job and that to write the proper kind of a 200-word essay requires a masculine brain.

The girls, on the other hand, claim that they are quite as capable as the boys of producing the kind of an essay that will take the prize, and in addition to that, they insist that they are studying the matter more carefully and will produce center and more painstaking work.

The second prize of $50.00 and third prize of $30.00 are looked upon as carrying practically as high honor as the first prize, and the fact that there are three prizes to be won makes the rivalry among the young folks exciting.

COMPLAINT AGAINST STATE BOARD MEMBER

GOVERNOR ASKED TO OUST HIM

A. H. Vielle of Norfolk Charged With Selling Goods to Local Normal—Makes Statement.

Lincoln Journal, March 14: George H. Stetson of Kearney yesterday filed a request with Governor Morehead that A. H. Vielle of Norfolk be ousted as a member of the state board of education.

The governor has set April 14, as the day for the hearing. The amounts of goods sold to the Wayne normal by the firm in which Mr. Vielle is a partner are alleged by Mr. Stetson to be as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Date and Amount. Rows include November 17, 1913 ($172.50), December 16, 1913 ($50.00), June 14, 1912 ($309.00), June 14, 1913 ($428.00), June 14, 1912 ($113.70), October 10, 1912 ($218.50), March 23, 1913 ($730.00).

All of these amounts are alleged to have been sent up by Dr. A. O. Thomas, deputy head of the Kearney normal.

Some at the state house expressed doubt as to the right of the governor to remove Mr. Vielle should he desire to do so while others contend that the governor has the right to remove any officer.

Mr. Vielle was appointed by Governor Altreich for a term of five years and has over a year yet to serve.

Vielle Makes Statement.

Norfolk, Neb., March 14.—Regarding statements made to George Stetson in connection with the purchase of supplies from the firm of Hoffman & Vielle of this city for state normal schools, A. H. Vielle, president of the state normal board, said today that these supplies had been sold to the state by his partner, W. B. Hoffman, personally, and not by the firm, and that the sales were all on a competitive bid basis.

TOO MANY SKINNERS ON WESTERN COAST

Theodore Duerig who visited Wayne friends for a few days last week, left Sunday evening on his return to Long Pine, Neb., where the family moved recently from Chico, Calif. Mr. Duerig and family left Wayne last April, 1913, on their way with the intention of living permanently if the country proved satisfactory.

Mr. Duerig reports that he was disappointed in California, and is glad to be back in Nebraska. He could not see that movement was so safe and promising in the coast state as they suppose, nor could he find opportunities for remunerative business or employment in any line as attractive as was to be found in Nebraska.

PROBATE NOTICE TO CREDITORS. In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald, March 25, 1885: Local markets: Oats, 20 cents; wheat, 55 cents; corn, 30 cents. More snow fell March 19, 1885, than during any previous storm of the winter. The residence of William Hamme, five miles southeast of Wayne, was destroyed by fire March 21, 1885. The county commissioners appointed F. E. Moss county surveyor in place of C. D. Martin who resigned. The water term of the Wayne academy closes and the spring term will open after a week's vacation. Teachers of the county are urged to attend to review work.

From the Wayne Herald, March 21, 1885: Born, March 14, 1885, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McDonald. J. Glasgow of Randolph buys the steam laundry in Wayne. James Reanick's hard frozen high grade calves for $3.70 per hundred. Died, of paralysis, Mrs. M. E. Merrill, of Carroll, March 15, 1885. The residence of Walt Cook in the western part of town was destroyed by fire. Ted Parry bought of P. M. Griffith eleven head of excellent cattle for $70 per head. Eva Larimer, daughter of Thomas Larimer, formerly of Wayne, was burned to death as the result of a gas-bath explosion in Chicago. Married, March 18, 1885, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, in Plum Creek, Miss Anna Thompson to Mr. Alex Subr.

From Wayne Herald, March 24, 1904: Rev. P. Birrell resigns as pastor of the First Christian church. Born, March 20, 1904, a son to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mason of Stanton. Building of the new telephone exchange in Wayne nears completion. Charles Wagner fell down a flight of stairs in a warehouse at Altoona and was fatally injured. Died, March 19, 1904, Mrs. Mathilde Dies, at her home seven miles north of Wayne; March 18, Christian Nekes, fourteen miles southwest of Wayne.

From Ponca Journal, March 25, 1880: There were millions in it for the farmers—the snow storm of last week. It moistened up the ground in good shape for wheat, of which there is quite an amount already sown in the county, and much more is rapidly being sown apace under the soil. The farmers' confidence of a large crop this season. Last year in Dakota county, an Indian was deliberately shot and killed by one... who was terrified but the grand jury did not find an indictment against him, he went on his way rejoicing. Afterwards, another grand jury found an indictment against him, but it was too late, for he had escaped. As to that first grand jury, who refused on the most positive and conclusive evidence, to indict a white man for killing an Indian, we would like as a matter of curiosity to know whether any of them were members of the petit jury which last week convicted two Indians of killing a white man on evidence which ought not to convict a dog of stealing a bone. We had better go back to the good old days of Judge Lynch, by whose impartial tribunal, Mr... would have had his neck elongated, and probably the poor devil of Indians would have been strung in the same way, provided there was proof they had killed a man, and provided there was proof that he was not a myth which had been conceived in the brain of a self-confident murderer suffering on oath that he did not know the difference between truth and a lie.

From Ponca Journal, March 21, 1884: Mr. Starks, owner of the mineral well, is our authority for the statement that O. P. Sullenger will build a large hotel near the well this spring, and while he attends the wants of those that hunger, Mr. Starks will cure the ills and ails of the afflicted. Success be to the enterprise.

An immense crowd gathered to witness the final appearance of the Buchanan comedy company in "Black Diamond" Saturday evening. Every crack of standing room was occupied and finally the doors had to be closed, as no more could squeeze in. From the immense number which attended the theatre in the past week and the fact that the hall was not near large enough to accommodate the crowd with comfort, it is evident that Ponca should have a larger hall. As the hall now is a company can appear with neither pleasure nor profit before an audience. The stage is so small that it is impossible for them to do justice to a play, making it necessary often to cut from it the finest acts, as was the case several times last week. Were the room larger, and if it had better means of escape in case of fire, more people would attend plays when they did come, and more troups would make this town a point on their routes.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

On Monday, after Sabbath rest, a man shouts and goes with him, roll up his sleeves, pull down MONDAY his vest, and show there are no flies on him. If happy fortune he deserves, he'll laugh to scorn "this Monday's" woe, and he will say: "Now, watch my curves and look at the width of my hall now." The starlight glint on Monday morn, our pause with groceries to ponder; go paint the fence or shell the corn, and work with music in your soul; go forth among the busy men, and show them you can do your share, and who the stubbornness against you'll find you right side up with care. Old hodkins! Deny the skates who start the week with idle hands! The Master of the Vineyard waits and for our laborer's shovels. Tradition says that Monday's time, but that it is should seem a joke, if we have useful work to do, and strength to bear our padded yoke. The man who has an honest task should never to a roak give vent, nor hide his face behind a mask of grumblings and slanders, and who has a right to sleep unless he has no work to do, or having work, is too blamed sick to tarry thence to pursue.

Oh, Tuesday is a large, fat, day, indosed by pulpit and by press; at day in the evening find their joys at home. TUESDAY mental calm and distress. On Tuesday bustling people thrive, and see their bank accounts increased, we all are glad that we're alive when Tuesday's sun shines in the East. But Tuesday has no charm for men who play the old and hoisting game; who fain would own the potent yen, but will not work to get the same. You see that hook in every town, the shirtless, lanky, frowny ghoss; they're holding dry-goods boxes down, or bracing poles and shoring posts. Fair butchers have no show there; as on her shining way she drifts, she's the hunk-and-butcher. "Seatt!" Her girls are for the lusting boys who bump themselves the whole day long, and in the evening find their joys at home. You could not ask a smoother day on which your labors to pursue; but if you fol the hours away, all days will look alike to you.

This is a cheate and cheerful day, that makes a hit most everywhere; it took three medals and a ribbon at the county fair. WEDNESDAY (they say) a ribbon at the county fair. On Monday man begins the week, and hardly get his job on straightly next day he labors like a strach; on Wednesday he has struck his gate. He then makes every motion calm, and thus he doesn't draw a blank; night then him with a large amount of real marmos in the bank. Old Wicks... while other gossies roamed abroad, and spent the golden hours in play.

And Wicks—bumped himself so well, and showed such stunning zeal and vim (our listener for the dinner tell) they named this blooming day for him. So Wednesday is the workers' day, the day on which we chase the boxes; it is on time for foolish play, it is no day for drowsy drows. On Wednesday we should prove the sun when that orb rises in the West, and say, "Before your trip is done, we'll fill with plunks the treasure chest!" And then when comes the rainy day—each day have some, and well again—"You cannot freeze our feet," we'll say, and open up a can of gin. Saiget to work while Wednesday dwells upon Time's evanescent chart, and then when sounds the evening bells, you'll go to rest with peaceful heart.

When Thursday comes, with smiling eyes, all other days seem cheap and vain; I always think we THURSDAY might be wise and band if a gold-headed cane. Then, son of Odin, pot of woe, believe me, cooler, you reach, and when a serap-he busts for the other gold you end a wreath. And so for him they named this day—a hint that we should grip our loins, make war on sloth, foot habits, and gather in the sparkling coins. In older days they used to wade around in blood and dead men's bones, but all such customs are decayed, with ancient swords and ancient thrones. We do not fight today with clubs, with axes or with bombs, but yet we must meet the warlike gods who try to seize the pudding first. The battle in the busy mart is fiercer than was Flodden Field, and strikes more terror to the heart, though he'er a playmore, do we wield. And Thursday brings new martial fire to warriors who are drowsed in sleep the arm that's prone to tire, and fill with zeal the languid breast. If this is false—if Thursday fails to nerve us for a further strain, well may the gods indulge in walls—the Son of Odin lived in vain!

James Jimpson Jones drew fifteen lones each week where he was clerking; and this good soul J. J. JONES deserved his roll, for he was fond of working. And accept work to work with him, roll and there deposit a few iron men; and that, again, was foolishness—or was it? The other boys, who sampled joys and pastimes free and airy, made fun of Jones, who saved his bones, and shunned diversions merry. "He never does an eight-stroke, as his the boys' doer," they used to say: "the 'hopeless' joy!" He should be named instanter. He has no whirls with chorus girls, he does not back the ponies; he does not class at all, alas, with modern macaronis. The boys grew old who once were bold and full of pep and flow, and soon and frayed asked for the aid, dead broke and totality. James Jimpson Jones, who saved his bones, is living in a palace, and he has bucks to throw at ducks, and diamonds on his gallus. In youth he worked and never shirked, though hard was his employment; his life was clean, and now, serene, in age he finds enjoyment.

The backbone of winter is tricky and mean, it puts us too oft in despondent mood. Just when the symptoms of backbone are seen, it puts on the clamps, and the stuff is all off. For weeks it will languish and lead us to think that winter is over, and then all for knees, and then it indulges in yaman and kink, and man is kept busy a-shedding the weeps. When man doffs his flannels and covers his frame with light underclothing and buys a straw hat, the backbone of winter takes chips in the game, and sends him pneumonia or something like that. The robes get fooled just as much as the men, and while they are warbling away in the land, the backbone of winter gets playful again, and freezes the dog-dagged birds where they stand. The hens start to lay in a generous mood, so people can purchase some eggs at the store, and then the old backbone, unslightly rude, just gives them cold feet, and they cackle no more. If winter in season has hooted and sneezed; it's highly improper a protest to bring; but hang the old backbone! It should be impeached for raising a fuss when we're ready for spring!

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES.

German Evangelical Lutheran Church (Rev. K. Moehring, Pastor) Sunday, there will be services at 11 o'clock and Sunday school at 10.

St. Mary's Catholic Church (Rev. William J. Schurz, Pastor) Mass in Wayne Sunday morning at 10:15. Benediction in the evening at 7:30. Lenten devotion Friday evening at 7:30. Catechetical instruction at 11 o'clock Sunday.

Methodist Church (Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor) When the Methodist class meeting was held by a large majority of the membership. There were great leaders and public speakers as well as testifying christians. There are 173,459 Sunday schools in North America. Do you belong to one of them?

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday, March 20, at 2:30 p. m., with Mrs. G. E. Porter. The second quarterly conference is called for March 25, at 8 o'clock. Let all members be present. April 3, is to be a great time for the Epworth League. Bishop Bowman, at the age of 97, went to rest last week. The Epworth League recently paid $45 on the piano.

For the past eight years saloons have been going to business as the mark of forty a day in the United States.

First Baptist Church (Rev. H. P. Richardson, Pastor) Dr. Wilson Mills of Omaha, our budget secretary gave us two good sermons Sunday. His morning sermon was along the right line, and his sermons in the evening was one of the best we have seen. A deep interest was shown when he threw on the screen, in contrast, the picture of a man with doctor and one of our christian medical missionaries. We have new methods of teaching missions ought to be used more extensively. Science is believing. The fruits of christian missions are evidence enough for all followers of our Lord. Our budget year closes March 31. Some of our members have made no pledge yet. Others have only partly paid the pledge made. This must be attended to within a few days. Mr. Glen Wade is our budget treasurer. Sunday morning our service will commemorate one of the most significant events in our denominational life. The subject of the sermon will be: "Following the Master." It will be the record of one of the most fascinating chapters in history. The young people will be led by Miss Iva Sahn. Let us all help make this an enthusiastic meeting. Preaching at 7:30 p. m.

The Sunday school has lined up in the great trip to Palestine. The two great states, Macedonia and Lantania, have been chartered for the trip. Have you gotten your ticket yet? Get aboard Sunday. It is a great trip. Get your button and show your colors. The meetings at Norfolk were very good. Monday it was the best meeting in the Baptist church for years. Twenty-two were received into the church; five others were to come in Sunday, and about ten more made a profession of faith. We greatly appreciate the opportunity to help the church and wish to thank everyone who helped maintain the work at home during the pastor's absence.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church (Rev. P. E. Blessing, Pastor) The church had every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The children are preparing an Easter program which will be rendered Easter evening. Regular divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the evening at half past seven. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Best Friend, Betrayed," Luke 22:47, 48. It is human nature to want friends. But of all our friends, how many can we really depend upon? As long as we enjoy life and prosperity, and do not meet with any trouble, our friends are faithful, but let our calamity befall us, then we learn who our friends really are. As we look at the life of the Christ, we find that only a very few of his supposed friends were faithful to him. The writer of the book of Proverbs, says: "A man that hath friends must show himself friendly and there is a friend that sticks closer than a brother." How few are they who really know what a friend Jesus is. "What a friend we have in Jesus," but like Judas, man betrays his best friend. The evening service for the last few evenings have been based upon the sayings of Christ, from the best will be made by the pastor.

based upon the Fourth saying and the theme will be "The Solitude of Christ," Matthew 27:46.

Please keep in mind the services which will be held during Holy week. The Ladies Aid society will meet at the home of Miss Mary Swanson, on next Thursday afternoon. Miss Aida Stambough will entertain. The catechetical class will meet Saturday afternoon at half past ten. A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Presbyterian Church (Rev. Alexander Fowler, Pastor) "The Secret of the Power and Popularity of the Church" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. In the evening the pastor will begin a series of three Lenten sermons on the subject, "Jesus Christ, as He Is, His Parables, Miracles and Prayers." Next Sunday evening the sermon will be a discourse on "The Best of all the Parables." There will be special music.

The men of the church will meet for a social evening on Friday evening of this week at the home of Mr. L. A. Kiplinger. The program will consist of a review of the "Best Business Manual for the Twentieth Century" by Supt. J. H. Kemp; a paper on "Hygiene and Health" by Dr. C. T. Jingham; a talk by Mr. James Melstoth, and a discussion on "How to line up a Community on the side of Right." A musical program by imported artists will also be given, and a social time enjoyed.

In the sermons last Sunday morning the pastor preached on "The Goodness of God," and set forth the bible teaching that this earth was created by God especially to show forth His goodness. In the judgment of the fallen angels, God manifested His justice, and in the creation of the universe He showed His power and wisdom, but in His dealings with men He shows above all else, that He is good. Nature proclaims in the four seasons of the year the goodness of earth's creator. God's providence over His people witnesses to His constant goodness, but it is in the redemption of man through the sacrifice of His only-begotten Son that God manifests His goodness to all men. If any man refuses to give up sin and so inherits hell God can truly say, "I fallow you, but I did not save you."

The program for Passion Week, April 21st to 25th, has been prepared, and includes meetings every evening of that week, except Saturday. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. Dr. S. McComb of Sioux City.

BYRAN ON THE BIBLE.

William J. Bryan, in an address at Springfield, Miss.: It is not necessary to defend the bible today. It is time to bring those who reject it to the test. The bible is not the work of God, it is the work of men. If it is the work of men, men can make today as good a book as the bible or men have degenerated. Men ought to be able to make a better book today than the bible. For if the bible was the work of men it was made by a few men of a single place, and not by the people of all the other one of our countries, at a time when they had no universities or libraries, no swift ships to bring the news from every quarter of the earth. If the atheists reject the bible as the work of God, let them make a book as good; let them select—all the wisdom that man kind has accumulated; give them the benefit of every library. And when they are ready let them give us a book to take the place of the bible; if they cannot do it, let them confess either that God made it or that nineteen centuries of civilization have as degenerated down that man cannot do what he did then. In other lines man has made marvellous progress; there is just one science in which mankind has made no progress—that is the science of which the bible treats; it is the science of morals. If any man tells you that the bible is not a blessing, tell him that he can prove it in just one way, and that is to go and live in a country where the bible is not known. Measure its value by its effect upon your own lives, by the influence that it has exerted upon communities, by the lives that stand out conspicuous for their strength. Two years ago my wife and I read together a life of Gladstone by Moody and was amazed to find the life written by Gladstone when he was 21 years old, explaining to his father why he thought he ought to be a minister. What was it that made him great, more than any other thing? It was the strength that he brought from the bible. South of the equator I met a man who never read the bible till he was 22; then he read it alone and it made him a Christian. He never held a high position and yet he has grown until he is the most powerful figure in the south; when some one says to him, "What is your more than the government's condemnation?—What made him strong? It was the bible; he built upon the word of God."

I thought that goodness is to be measured by service. A look like the bible is good always and everywhere; it fits into the life of everyone. It is a book that will direct your path when you need a guide. And when you come to this it is the only book that a man cares to have beside him. Next to the bible I present the Christ of whom the bible tells and I present him as the son of God and savior of the world. He says: "I am the way, the truth, the life." If you have difficulty in understanding the divinity of Christ it is because you test him by the standards of man; take him out of the man class and put him in the God class, and then you will understand him. Tell me he could not perform a miracle? It is doing it to-day. Tell me he could not have raised one from the dead? It is doing it to-day. I visited a mission in New York and heard the stories of a dozen men who told how they had left their lives of crime and had come into that little town, been agitated, looked into their faces and I could understand the change that had taken place and I could understand as I had not understood what the new birth means.

HERALD EXCHANGE CLEANINGS OF WEEK

Bloomfield citizens have just made a contract for a six-day chaletauqua next summer. Dinkola City is not so near dead as we had supposed. It has voted $10,000 in bonds to build a system of water works.

Wahoo has withdrawn its application for the proposed reformatory because its citizens do not agree as to the desirability of the institution.

Bandolph had a "get-together" lunquet, served at $1 per plate, Monday night. Local and imported speakers had places on the program.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Laurel Stock Pavilion conducted last week a dividend of eight per cent was declared.

At the spring election in Stanton a proposition to issue bonds for the purpose of building a sewer system will be voted on. The sum of $7,000 will be needed.

The town of Aurora, in Hamilton county, has taken steps to extend its paving. If more paving is good for Aurora, a start in that direction would seem to be good for Wayne.

West Point Democrat: A peculiar red light, resembling a big ball of fire, has been seen at different times at night by farmers living a few miles north east of this city. A number of reliable persons, of undoubted integrity, have seen the light and efforts have been made to ascertain what it was and whence it came, but to no avail. While taken as a joke at first, it has become quite a serious matter. No one has yet been able to solve the mystery of the light. Many theories have been promulgated but upon investigation they proved to be useless to solve the riddle. It has been seen at different hours of the night and early morning. Walt Mason in Emporia Gazette: "Boys who are going to a great deal of trouble in order to become skillful chasers and smokers of tobacco should do something useful. One Who Knows says that the price of the pipe is not worth the candle. One Who Knows has been using tobacco for thirty odd years. And now that he is wasting old, and it is hard to cut loose from ancient habits, he has to do it. The one thing a scare left him had he swore off. It means weeks of misery and vain longings and travail of spirit. There is no lady so wretched, so cranky, so forsaken, as the tobacco fan who is trying to get along without his favorite pipe. Boys who are learning to smoke should remember that it is effort wasted. Some day the doc will look at them cross-eyed, and tell them they'll have to cut it out, and then they'll begin to wish they had learned the millinery trade instead of learning to smoke."

INDICATING STOMACH TROUBLE CURED.

There is nothing more disconcerting than a chronic disorder of the stomach, be it of such nature that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle! "About one year ago," says P. H. Beck, of Wakelee, Mich., "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt perfectly well. I had previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by all dealers.

BANKED ALL HIS MONEY.

Then Exploded His Views on the Use of a Check Book.

During a financial stringency some years ago a Swedish farmer in one of the middle-west states had some savings on the bank market and upon receiving his check in payment immediately went to the local bank to cash on his side. Upon presentation of the check the banker said to him, "Do you wish the money on this check?"

"Well, I think I just so well take him," was the quick reply.

"You really want the money?" "Well, I think I take the money."

"But do you really need the money?" asked the banker.

"Well, no; I don't exactly need him, but I think I take the money."

"Well," said the banker, "if you really want the money of course I will give it to you, but I thought if you did not wish to carry over-night special account and deposit the money and then check against it as you needed it."

"Oh, yes, I send my checks here you will refuse to pay them."

"Oh, no, we won't; if you open the account we will pay your checks whenever they come in."

This seemed assuring to the Swede, and he said, "Well, if you pay my checks I will open an account with you." The account was opened and passbook and check book handed to the new customer.
