HOUSEKEEPERS Must be Watchful

For great efforts are being made in this vicinity to sell baking powders of inferior class, made from alum acids and lime phosphates, both undesirable to those who require high-grade cream of tartar baking powder to make clean and healthful food.

The official Government tests have shown Royal Baking Powder to be a pure, healthful, grape cream of tartar baking powder, of highest strength, and care should be taken to prevent the substitution of any other brand in its place.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price per pound, and is cheaper and better at its price than any other baking powder in the world.

The Wayne Live Stock Pavilion association had its annual meeting in the city hall Saturday afternoon and elected the following officers: F. E. Strahan, president; E. Cunningham, vice president; L. C. Gildersleeve, secretary; Henry Ley, treasurer. A dividend of eight per cent was declared, and the association was found to be in a healthy and prosperous condition.
Mrs. Pingree Hughes was an arrival from Gainesville, Fla., Friday morning to visit her sister, Miss Helen McNeal. In the afternoon she went to Laurel to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McNeal, expecting to remain several weeks.
Mrs. Hughes was accompanied to Laurel by her sister, Miss Hester McNeal, who was compelled to return home on account of illness.

it's another thing to have the clothes "stay put," retain their original lines and look well as long as they last.
Probably no argument I could advance as to why you should have me tailor your clothes to order could be more convincing than this:
"I deliver the goods."

EASTER OBSERVED AT WAYNE CHURCHES

IDEAL WEATHER PREVAILS

Churches Crowded and Services Appropriate—New Hats in Evidence.

Easter Sunday presented ideal weather. It is said to have been the first time in ten years that the elements were consistent with Easter plans and anticipations. New gowns and new hats galore were in evidence and all day the genial sunshine and mild zephyrs invited outdoor enjoyment. The churches had prepared special programs and were attended by large crowds.

M. E. Church.

The sacred cantata, "The Triumph of David," by Dudley Buck, given Sunday evening by the M. E. choir was one of the musical events of the year. The cantata is written in Buck's usual dignified style and melodic beauty. The choruses which were rendered excellently are somewhat unusual as they carry out the old school or "classical" style of port singing. "The Coronation of Herbon" was especially appropriate for the closing of such a beautiful story. The solo parts were ably handled by Mrs. Oman, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Fleetwood and Mr. Lacey, each role being sung with good finish and with a sincerity and certainty which commanded absolute attention. The cantata as a whole showed careful and painstaking training. The choir is to be highly complimented on the good work of the evening. Mr. Alexander displayed his usual good taste in selecting this composition, and much credit is due him for the splendid rendition of the cantata. His success along this line has won him many encomiums, and the gradual growth of his work testifies to his ability as a musician. Ensign Young presided at the organ handing it in an artistic manner. Few choirs are able to furnish the public with a musical of this nature.

English Lutheran.

Easter was a record-breaking day at the English Lutheran church in attendance and interest. Every foot of space was occupied, and many had to turn away on account of being unable to gain admission.

The floral decorations were profuse and beautiful. Twenty-five were configned, and eight others were received into the church. The collection for missions amounted to $56.21. The Sunday school children furnished the program in the evening, and the efforts of the teachers in drilling the young people were rewarded by the excellent manner in which the program was carried out. Appropriate songs and recitations were given.

Baptist Church.

Tastefully arranged flowers made the Baptist church extraordinarily attractive on Easter Sunday. Special music was rendered and the morning sermon on "Easter Religion, and the one in the evening on "The Great Conqueror" were appropriate to the day and were listened to by large and appreciative audiences.

Presbyterian Church.

The Easter service at the Presbyterian church were of exceptional interest and the large congregation which assembled entered into the spirit of Easter day with its wonderful memories and spiritual power. The service was opened by an anthem by the choir, which rendered several special numbers, and the opening responsive readings were given by different Sunday school classes as the Sunday school and church observed the day together. Miss Ruth Ingham gave a recitation and before the offering was taken, which included a special missionary offering by the members of the Sunday school, Mrs. J. G. Mines gave a talk on "Christ for the World." She set forth the missionary duty of the church and answered objections which are raised to the foreign missionary enterprises. She spoke enthusiastically of the results of these missions in all parts of the world and the valuable testimony which they bear to the power of Jesus Christ.

The sermon by the pastor was on the "Results of the Resurrection," the text being found in Romans 1:4. "Jesus Christ, our Lord, declared to be the Son of God with power—by the resurrection from the dead." After showing the necessity for full proof of Christ's divine mission if he was to accomplish his task of redeeming the world from sin and ungodliness, the pastor showed how the enemies of Christ in ancient and in modern times are confused and confounded by the Easter demonstration of Christ's divine life. This fact demolishes every argument which might be used to prove that Christ is a deceiver, and gives assurance unto all men that Jesus is the Lord of all. The sermon closed with an appeal to all believers in the resurrection of Christ to dedicate their lives to Him and His service and thus find salvation.

The church decorations, which included a number of plants, flowers and Easter lilies, were very appropriate.

A number of friends of the congregation from a distance were in attendance as the beautiful day and the good roads made motoring easy and pleasant.

THE FARMERS' SECTION.

Fremont Tribune: One of the most significant things about the reorganization of the Fremont Commercial club is the ready response made by the farmers to the invitation to form a farmers' section of the club. The preliminary meeting held was so largely attended as to be greatly encouraging. That the farm section is to be a success is already a foregone conclusion. It will add immeasurably to the efficiency of the Commercial club with its federated allies.

There is a widespread movement from this bringing town and country into closer union. In so many ways their interests are identical that neglect to cooperate is to fall to meet their opportunities. The average town is so completely dependent upon the country that what affects the country affects the town. And while the country is in somewhat less degree dependent upon the town, their best interests run so nearly parallel that the country cannot afford to ignore the town. * * *

In Gage county eight hundred farmers have a tentative membership in the Beatrice Commercial club. At Blair there are two hundred farmer members of the Commercial club, and they are an enthusiastic section. There are others and will be many more, for it is so sane and rational a proposition that there must be the best of cooperation that the movement is bound to become general.

CLEAN THE CITY.

(Sixty in Lincoln Journal.)

Here's a slogan for us all—
Clean the city.
Do not wait until next fall,
Clean the city.
Do not be afraid to soil
Honest hands with honest toil—
Ere the sun begins to broil,
Clean the city.
Duty calls—a strong appeal—
Clean the city.
Put your shoulder to the wheel,
Clean the city.
Duty calls—observe the cry—
Be alert with ear and eye.
Grab a hoe and don't ask why,
Clean the city.
There is danger in delay—
Clean the city.
This is all I have to say—
Clean the city.

STEPHENS' POSITION.

(Sixty in Lincoln Journal.)

Had Congressman Stephens taken an early and brave stand against the mileage graft, which had men boldly foster and all good men condemn, he might have appealed from the politicians to the people with reasonable hope of being pulled out, but the dark waters of political adversity seem to have closed over him for good.

The friends who erstwhile loved him so
Have turned their backs and quit;
That Daniel's cake has turned to dough
The people all admit.
He heard the toilers of the press—
Demanding jobs for pay;
He said that he could do no less
Than "let the people say."
Said Dan: "Methinks you will do well
To be so satisfied."
"Yes, yes, the people rule, bykells,"
These democrats replied.
Then did ye scribbles, to a man,
In lines that might be heard,
Begin the task of "roasting" Dan
Throughout the bloody Third

They said that he was cold and proud,
Some merely dared a hint:
The boldest called him names, too loud
For me to put in print.
I've known great men who gave no thanks
To those who made them great;
But such confusion in the ranks
Beatshell, at any rate.

No man has ever tried to do
The things that Stephens tried.
By which he meets his Waterloo—
Helena on the side.
A thing he tried ne'er tried before
In party politics:
And here I'll offer nothing more;
It's not my business,
BIX.

WEARY OLD FATHER.

When Father cals his supper, and sits him down to read a book by Edith Tupper, or peradventure, "Queed," oh, let him sit—right until the evening through, and do not raise a not'er thing he ought to do. 'Tis often Weary Father can find at home no peace, his folks raise such a pother, their clamor never ceases. It's "Dad, go spit some kindness before you haveed some fun; the little pile is dwindling, and soon there will be none." "Oh, Dad," says the daughter, "I wish yourself you'd hump, and bring eight tubs of water, and then some from the pump." "Our Noak's ark is busted," complain the little boys, and Father, sad, disgusted, begins to glue the toys. "The cow is in the garden," shrieks Ma, "and you sit there, so help Diddy Varden, and do not seem to care!" From supper-time to bedtime, the old master of the go, until his seeing-red time will cause some blood to flow. Some day, beneath the pressure, his brain will seem a blur, and then—from here to Cheshire, hell strew the earth with fur. His endless worries rend him, they come in such a batch, and soon we'll have to send him to some one's booby hatch.

KILLING TIME.

J. Johnson looks like he would like to burn, though not a kopeck did he earn. His father croaked some years ago, and left him forty kinds of dough, and he has basked in golden ease since he was older than "knee" knees. And life to him is "bleed" and "dread," and every hour seems like a year. He does not work like useful boys, but buys new cars and other toys, and wears of them when they're bought, for nothing seems to reach the spot. He travels here and travels there, and finds new boredom and despair; his only task is killing time, and that's a nuisance and a crime. There's naught on earth will take the kinks from out the soul of J. Johnson, because he never had an old man handed down. I'd rather have one silver bone, that I have earned, than my own, than have a bundle in its title, awarded by some dead one's will.

FRESH PAINT.

It keeps the beauty lover yelling to see a dingy, shabby dwelling, that shrieks aloud for paint; it jars his nerves and racks his spirit, and blasts his eyes, or prety near it, and makes him sick and faint. Some folks will search costly raiment, you wonder how they make the payment, or keep their standoff good; and all the while the shacks they live in are bum and shabby past forgivin', old piles of dingy wood. I hold that painting is a debt of every man, a debt that should be paid; it odds how high you may be flying, you'll stack up cheap if occupying a battered house and frayed. Then let us buy some oil and ochre, and clean up our old houses and set their walls with paint that hits the spot; red paint is best—it's rich and mellow—but you can use pea-green or yellow upon your humble cot. Some paints are bright and others duller, but any old three-cornered color will beat paint at all; so let's go painting all together, and brighten up our dwelling whether it's but or stately hall.

POOR WORK.

You can't afford to do poor work, so, therefore, always shun it; for no excuse or quip or quirk will serve you when you've done it. I hired a man to paint my cow from horns-tips to the udder, and she's all blotched and spotted now, and people view and shudder. "Who did the job?" they always ask, and when I say, "Jim Yellow," they cry, "When we saw such a task we'll hire some other fellow." And so Jim idly stands and swows bad luck has made him nervous, for when the people paint their cows they do not tick his nerves. And thus one's reputation flows, a skiting, here and yonder; and where'er the workman goes, his hum renown will wander. 'Twill face him like an and put him where it hurts the most, and still keep on pursuing. A good renown will travel, too, from Gotham to Empory, and make you friends in places new, and bring you cash and glory. So always do your best, old lunker; let nothing be neglected, and you will gather in the plunk, and live and be respected.

LOVERS.

When we see a youth and maiden through a flood of sunshine (adding), they vow a love eternal, how with them we sympathize! And we wish them countless blessings, with no end to their career; for, should they meet over travel under sunny, cloudless skies, 'Have' for the young and blooming, and they'll always find us booming wedding rings and orange blossoms, and the shower of shoes and rice; every youth should haste and marry, he should never halt or tarry, he should gather in a damsel on the day he has the price. Oh, the whole world loves the lovers (as the blushing maid discovers) and the universe is hoping they may meet; know the dumps, but when patrie and widdy get to acting gay and giddy, then the cold world merely sniggers and refers to them as chumps. Do your loving in your own home, of your own, and yellow moonlight see the winter of evidence, brings the shadow, and the cold; for there's naught on earth that's sadder than to see an ancient gobbler toing round a shelly, old widow, courting like a ten-year-old.

HARD WORK.

It's hard to swat the lyre redhot, and keep the blamed thing twanging, when you've got a cold, with chebe instead around your brampum hanging. I have the gripe, and bark and yip, until I scare the neighbors, still I must do the long day through, any "literary" labors. My lungs are lame, and all my frame seems sore and dilated; I cough and sneeze and bite my knees in anguish unabated. Yet I must raise my loosed lays, some optimism springing, and urge the toffs who have no coughs to keep on my aching head, feels like a foot ball seedy, and when I speak my pulleys creak, my voice is hoarse and weedy; I sob, I pant, kerchoo and rant, I whoop and squeak and strangle, my works are punks throughout my trunk, my nerves are all at a-jangle. I punch the lyre but there's no fire or rapture in my swatting; the winged steed is lame, tudeed, and stumbles when he's trotting. Don't roost too hard the halting, banging, feel him down with cousin; you do not know how much of woe he may have on his person.

AS TO METCALFE.

The return of Richard Metcalfe from Panama, reviews that of his running for governor, and may regard him the strongest man of the democrats could urge forward for the place. But the Lincoln Journal points out that the wise thing for Metcalfe to do is to run for congress. It has this to say: "Mr. Metcalfe's friends, casting about for a job for him, are overlooking the best bet of all. The berth really yawning for Metcalfe is congress. "We say this reluctantly, having sympathy for the trio of democrats already afield in this district. But personal considerations shall not suppress the truth. A place for Metcalfe must be found. He has had an excellent job at Panama, pulled from under him in a way to excite universal commiseration. As a lifelong journalist, "Met." is of course in no position to retire to a castle on the Hudson or a bungalow in California to pass his days in meditative ease. He wouldn't do such a thing if he could. He could hardly stand the financial strain of an ambassadorship to France. He must have a home job. Two years from now he can go against his old antagonist, Mr. Hitchcock, for the senatorship. That is a hopeful fancy. But the present is to be solved first. There is talk of the governorship. For Metcalfe to divide the progressive vote with Berge would be to present the nomination on a platter to the right honorable Fred Volpp of Scrabble. And then, there is Charles Bryan prominently in the way. "The road to congress, on the other hand, is clear despite Messrs. Maguire, Morehead, and Peice. Maguire and Morehead draw on the same brand of democracy. Except Mr. Peice, Metcalfe can have the Bryan democrats to himself almost a split enemy. Mr. Peice, if the matter were rightly presented to him, would no doubt rather be a postmaster in the hand than a congressman in the bush, anyway. "This district, there is reason to believe, is pining for a democratic candidate for congress who can speak above a whisper. The deadly dullness of rubber heels in local congressional politics has grown tiresome. The district is praying to be waked up. Who is there but "Met." to do it?"

THE RULING HABIT.

He Would Travel That One Old Road, Danger or No Danger.

Cyril Mudge, the English actor-manager, who was in this country recently, in making a talk before a dramatic society in New York told a story to illustrate the inborn conservatism of his countrymen—especially those resident in rural parts. He said that through the mists between two villages in Sussex ran a footpath. It was not the quickest route in some cases, but the surest to the other, for it wandered about, but it had been traced originally to the heavy, naked feet of Saxon sorts, and was as hard as iron. It was made into the turf by the heels of countless generations. Everybody in the neighborhood used it because everybody always had.

A friend of Mudge's, a country gentleman, lived midway between the towns and lived, he said, as he used to say, old, existence. One day he heard that a vicious bull was straying about the countryside, chasing innocent pedestrians and frightening children and generally misbehaving himself.

Seeking for some variety from the monotonous, his friend went far in the afternoon hoping to glimpse the bull. Once he heard him below, but he did not see him. For four alternate days he tried to discover the whereabouts of the unraider, but with no luck.

On the fifth evening he hurried afield with a party of friends to find a stile where a hedge crossed the footpath when he heard in the distance through the thickening gloom the patter of flying feet mingling with the thud of heavy hoofs, a convulsive panting and the snorts of some large animal.

Into sight came the local postman, an elderly person, legging along at top speed, his mail pouch bouncing on his hip, his whiskers neatly parted by the wind and blowing backward over his shoulders, and just behind him came the bull, lunging with his horns at the seat of the fugitives.

By half a length the feeling man reached the hedge ahead of his pursuer. He flung himself headlong over the stile and in his safe retreat he breathed, while the bull, below his disappointment, turned and strovel off to seek an easier victim.

The spectator added the quivering postman to his feet. "He almost had you tonight, Fletcher," said the gentleman sympathetically. Fletcher wiped his forehead and gasped: "It's almost 'ad me every night this week"—Saturday Evening Post.

Foiled Him. At the magazine promotion committee that luncheon every Wednesday at the Aldine club Felix Ormsu told this one: "Bill Parker Butler some years ago wrote a story which he thought would fit into the scheme of one of the smaller magazines. He sent the story to the editor. It was printed, but failing to receive payment, he made an inquiry. There came a check for $2. The humorist returned this with the message: 'You probably need this more than I do.' To which the editor replied: 'Thank you. We do.'—New York World.

A Garden Tragedy. William C. Brown, agronomist of his resignation as president of the New York Central, which was the order to go back to farm life, said recently: "With the coming of spring we all feel the call of the country. Fortunately for the poor clerk who feels this call, there are the hills suburban with their vegetable and flower gardens. And what an ardent farmer the suburbanite becomes! "I was staying last spring with a neighbor and he had a small garden. I had some evening for a stroll in his garden when suddenly his wife and I saw him run excitedly up the garden path toward us. He carried a tiny cherry tree no bigger than a small rosebush in one hand.

"'Harry, Mary' he called in hoarse, broken tones. 'The wind has broken the cherry tree.' I arched just in time for the poor little thing to fall in my arms!"

ROMAN MEAL BREAD. Roman Meal is the latest article in the line of food products. "ROMAN MEAL BREAD" is a scientific combination of whole eye flour, whole wheat flour, and deodorized flaxseed meal. The nutritious value of these grains has long been recognized, but flax has not been in general use because of the somewhat strong taste and slightly disagreeable odor. These have now been overcome with the result that a highly nutritious meal, with a rich, delightful flavor that has medicinal properties is now being made.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.) "The Motive for All Christian Activity" will be the subject of the sermon at the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning. The service begins at 10:30 o'clock. There will be no service in the evening at a union meeting at the Baptist church where Dr. Essert will speak.

Sunday school will meet at 12 o'clock next Sunday as usual. The C. E. prayer meeting will be held at 7 o'clock and will close a little early this week, allowing young people to attend the union meeting at the Baptist church.

The cradle roll of the church now numbers over sixty members, and the superintendent, Mrs. A. A. Welch, reported to Mrs. W. H. Morris in her work in connection with this youngest department of the church life. At the congregational meeting of the church on Wednesday evening of last week reports were heard from the different societies in connection with the church and all of the reports showed that the work is progressing successfully in every department. The pastor reported a total membership of 245, and the only new members added since that time makes the total membership now 257. The treasurer's report was also a prosperous one, and the offerings to current expenses and benevolences are generous, almost every member contributing towards both funds. The Ladies' Aid society reported that it was raising money to add a kitchen and parlor to the church equipment, and they have already a large sum on hand. Messrs. F. G. Phillo and A. J. Ferguson were elected as ruling elders for a term of three years. Mr. Phillo succeeding himself, and Mr. Ferguson succeeding A. H. Parr. Messrs. J. T. Bressler and H. S. Ringhand were re-elected as trustees for a term of three years. W. C. Orr presided over the congregational meeting and Mr. Phillo acted as clerk.

Methodist Church. (Rev. C. L. Myers, Pastor.)

We are not far from the Silver anniversary of the Epworth League. Shall we celebrate the day? "They shall look on Him whom they have pierced." "Obitaries of the bible are usually written in a very few words." Not so with the obituary of Christ. A. Louis Caesar was assassinated in the interest of Roman liberty. Louis XVI was guillotined in behalf of revolutionary ideal. Charles I was beheaded because his presence was embarrassing to constitutional rights was crucified because he was dangerous to political leaders. Brian the Hermit in the Lady of the Lake summoned to arms the men by a blood-stained and broken battle-draws all men unto himself. Jesus Christ was crucified by a people 2,000 years ago and his side pierced by a Roman soldier. We earnestly him at all by doing those things displeasing to him. He expects for all Christians' conception of the Epworth League will be held Sunday by Mabel Gossard and Pearl Lase. All the young people are urged to attend.

The midweek prayer meeting is the oldest institution in the church, and even if not very popular at the present it will out live them all. "The Children's Missionary program Sunday afternoon was well attended, there being sixty children and forty adults present. The lesson on Japan was of special interest. The interest shown by the parents is of special help. Come again next month."

Mr. Cook of Oklahoma was a visitor at the morning class. "The triumph of David" was rendered by the choir very acceptably last Sunday evening. It was very nicely rendered having had many hours of practice under the proficient leadership of Mrs. J. L. Alexander.

W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Helt Friday, April 17, at 2:30. Next Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Cleanliness is Next to Godliness." Rev. Essert of the Methodist Episcopal church will preach at a union meeting on the white slavery problem. The "tea and talk" by the Aid society at Mrs. Oman's last week was quite a success. A fine social time was enjoyed. A fine social time at the A. O. U. M. Department is now being organized under the direction of Mrs. Robt. Williamson and Miss Edna. We prefer to have you in the school but if you can't come join the Home Department. Another "tea and talk" at the home of Mrs. Rollie Ley Thursday April 23.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. F. E. Blessing, Pastor.)

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. We urge every member to attend Sunday school and render his assistance in the work.

Services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "The Victory of Faith," John 20:28. "We have had in the history of mankind victories of force and victories of peace. Among the victories of force are such as came to Wellington at Waterloo and to Grant at Appomattox. Among victories of peace are such as came to Christ in the wilderness, in His contest against the Pharisees, and as He gains entrance into the heart of man. But one of the greatest victories ever brought about, was the victory which faith gained over the blind power of unbelief, brought into the popular expression "My Lord and my God."

There will be a union meeting Sunday evening. Dr. F. H. Essert, lecturer for the International Anti-Slavery Association, will be the speaker.

Last Sunday morning was a great day for St. Paul's. The church was crowded to its greatest capacity and many were unable to find standing room. At the eleven o'clock services the confirmation class of twenty-five young people were confirmed, after which eight adults were taken into the church, making a total of thirty-three. There was a very large attendance at communion. In the evening the Sunday school, assisted by the choir, rendered the Easter program to a crowded house. Both services were most impressive and will long be remembered by the members of St. Paul's.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. C. J. Lund, on next Thursday afternoon. If there are any who would like to have a picture of the catechetical class, please speak to the pastor.

First Baptist Church. (Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.)

Our three evening services last week were especially good. The Easter session brought us into closer fellowship with the heroic spirit of Christ.

Easter religion, is good year after year through the entire year. Let us beware of the danger of "occasional religion," a religion that vanishes when the particular season has passed. Through the kindly services of some of the ladies last Sunday the church was beautifully adorned with flowers. Flowers, the symbol of life, of joy, of hope, and thus most fittingly symbolize the Easter truth. He that fashioneth the lily is He in whose care our lives are being shaped.

"The Redeeming God" will be the subject of the sermon next Sunday morning. From what and to what does God seek to bring his people? After nineteen centuries, many people still do not understand some of the fundamentals of Christianity. Many Christians' conception of the christian life is exceedingly narrow and unsatisfying.

The young people will study a very important theme Sunday evening. It is "The sacredness of time. Money lost may be recovered, but time, when lost, is not recovered.

Sunday evening there will be a union service at the Baptist church. Dr. Essert, a national lecturer on moral conditions will be the speaker. See elsewhere a full account of this series of lectures to be rendered here, Sunday and Monday. The Norfolk pastors highly endorse Dr. Essert and his work. He was there about six weeks ago.

On account of the Bankers' banquet at the church on Wednesday evening, the prayer meeting will be held in the pastor's study. Beginning Sunday the time of the evening services will be changed to half an hour later. All evening services (except young people's) at 8 o'clock.

The German Evangelical-Lutheran Church. (Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor.)

There will be no services next Sunday as the minister, Dr. Moehring, is being relocated and otherwise being. Notice of services will be stated in these columns every week. There was a good attendance at both services on Good Friday and Easter Sunday. About one hundred members of the congregation participated in the Good Friday service on Sunday morning. The Northern conference of the German Nebraska district of the Evangelical Lutheran synod will meet in Wayne from May 14 to 17. Members of the congregation are making plans to entertain the visiting ministers.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. William Keenan, Pastor.) Mass on Carroll Sunday at 9 o'clock and in Wayne at 11:15. Catholics attend mass. Benediction in the evening at 7:30.

DR. ESSERT COMES TO WAYNE NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday, April 19, Dr. F. H. Essert, international lecturer for the Anti-Slavery Association, will give two addresses under the auspices of the Wayne Ministerial association. Dr. Essert is the conference evangelist of the M. E. church in Colorado, and is a well-known minister and lecturer. He is making a series of addresses in the churches of Nebraska on a subject of which he is a master, and which demands immediate attention. As a graduate of Wesleyan university, of Lincoln, Nebraska, and a classmate of Rev. C. L. Meyers, the pastor of the Wayne local M. E. church, Dr. Essert has already made a record in this part of the state, and his work as a lecturer is gaining him a national reputation. During his visit to Wayne next Sunday and Monday the program of his lectures will be as follows: Sunday, April 19, at 3 p. m., a message for men only, "Subject," "A Nation's Peril: How it Affects the Taxpayer of Wayne." This meeting will be held at the English Lutheran church. Sunday evening at 8 p. m., a mass meeting at which all are welcome. Subject, "The Blackest Crime in History—White Slavery." This meeting will be held at the Baptist church.

Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a meeting for women only at the Presbyterian church, at which time Dr. Essert will give his lecture, "The Scarlet Man." The closing meeting of the series will be held in the M. E. church.

on Monday evening at 8 p. m. This meeting will be held at the English Lutheran church, at which evening all are welcome, but especially so fathers and mothers. The subject is "The Sacredness of Parenthood." Dr. Essert has spoken in scores of the largest churches in Nebraska, and is recommended by such men as Prof. Fulmer, of Wesleyan university, and the ministers of the state generally. His message is vital to the present, and is based on the essential teachings of christianity on a glaring and hideous evil, which is so vile that its very perpetration has shuddered it, but a justly aroused public opinion demands the exposure, and punishment of the violators of human and divine laws. The origin of the pagan world was not so culpable as the black monstrosities which, so far, have been permitted to flourish in Christian civilization, until the perils has become imminent, and no one is safe. Dr. Essert's addresses for men only and for women only should be heard by both sexes in the interest of public decency to say nothing of Christianity. No boy or girl under twelve years of age will be admitted to these afternoon addresses, but the evening meetings are open to all. After speaking recently in Holdrege, Nebraska, Rev. C. G. Whitist, secretary of the Ministerial association, wrote to Dr. Essert in the name of all the ministers in Holdrege commending the messages as "master addresses" and adding that his "language is such that any person no matter how refined, may listen and be delighted with his choice of words" in dealing with the most difficult subject which a speaker can handle, but at the present time, the frightful evil which must be openly fought and destroyed in the name of Christian civilization.

Successful Meetings at Presbyterian Church.

The meetings last week which were conducted by Rev. S. McComb, D. D. of Sioux City, at the Presbyterian church were very successful, and the closing meeting on Friday evening was particularly impressive. Dr. McComb preached on "The Passover," and at the conclusion of the sermon the ordinance of baptism was administered and eight new members were received into the church after which the pastor preached on "The Passover."

On next Friday evening, April 17, a lecture will be given by Rev. Alexander Corkey at the Gemmill school house, district 62. The lecture will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. There will be an admission charge of 15 cents and 25 cents. The lecture is given under the auspices of Miss Louise Wendt, the teacher, and the pupils of the school. On this occasion Dr. Corkey will give his well-known lecture, "The Best Crop on the Farm."

Preaching Services at McEachen School House.

The Sunday school will meet at the McEachen school next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and at 3 o'clock there will be preaching services. As there were no Easter services at the school house on last Sunday a special program has been prepared dealing with the great Easter doctrine, and the meaning of the day.

Miss Jessie E. Grace will have on display bargains in spring millinery Friday and Saturday. A1614d

CHAUTAQUA PLANS FOR WAYNE THIS YEAR AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

Representative of Redpath-Horner Company Meets With Local Committee.

The Chautauqua program was outlined at a meeting of the local organization Monday night by Harry Minor of the Redpath-Horner circuit who was in town and met with the committee to explain the plans for next summer.

He says the dates will be from August 21 to 27. A shift of a day or two may be made in the next year or so, but that is not probable. The location will be the same as last year.

The plan of the program, as outlined by Mr. Minor, is a bit unusual. It is however, an extension of the Redpath-Horner program of last summer in its emphasis of these four factors: The church, school, community interest and playground.

The Horner idea is a purpose program or nothing. They believe in entertainment, and an abundance of it, but that the greatest good will come from the Chautauqua if even the entertainment can be backed by a strong element of purpose.

"We are going to bring in seven of the highest grade musical numbers that will step on to the Chautauqua platform this summer," Mr. Minor said, "but I want to tell you more about the other features before we discuss the musical and entertainment numbers."

"We believe that the class of people back of the Chautauqua are a busy people. They haven't much time for anything that hasn't real value to it, nor much time to spend with a proposition unless they can get something out of it besides enjoyment. As a result not a proposition as big as the Chautauqua."

"The most important factor for good in your community is your churches. Churches are made up of human beings. Human beings must work intelligently to do their most effective work in any undertaking. We are sending out a man who has done big things in church work to discuss church problems to church people who comprise the greater part of your Chautauqua backers. His name is Roy of Grant and he is the successor of one of the best known preachers in the world, Chas. M. Sheldon, of Topeka. And he is one of the greatest religious workers in the country. His latest big work is in the United Methodist and Religion Forward Movement which swept over the country with such effectiveness a few years ago.

"Every one of you parents and patrons of the public schools realize the responsibility in the education of your boys and girls. And the success of your public school system is largely dependent on the amount of thought and intelligent interest given to it by those who are patrons and supporters of it."

"You expect to grow here in the next few years. And as your town grows, your schools must grow in like proportion. And the men who decide upon the plans for a larger growth of your public schools will make up the Chautauqua next summer. And so we believe that these things should be given careful and intelligent treatment as a part of your Chautauqua. The man we are sending out is a man who understands more about the school system of a town and county like this than those in the big centers down east. He comes right out of Missouri where he has dealt with the difficult problems of small city and rural education and made it go. His name is W. O. Hanson, and he is at one time president of his state education association and has served as assistant to the state superintendent of education. He has addressed teachers' associations and large educational gatherings and has succeeded in a large way in making the subject of education interesting in his addresses to an audience not made up of educators, but of men and women, perhaps who are interested in education.

"The next is the playground. Last year at one time president of his state recreation association and has served as secretary of the Playground and Recreation Association of America. Mr. Weir. And in this work we have only begun. We want clean, supervised play in every town; and we want the people who want it and are eager to know more about it. The man who goes out this year is Dr. Dickinson, associate secretary of the playground association of America; an able speaker, and a scholarly practical man."

"The community interest problem will be handled by General L. C. Boyle of Kansas City. The secretary of the national retail merchants' association, and he will employ General Boyle for this work because he believed him the best man in America. He headed the committee from the Retail Dealers' Association who recently interviewed President Wilson on the amendment to the Sherman anti-trust act which is for the protection of small dealers in their struggle against big monopolies. He was at one time attorney general of Kansas. He is now a civic worker in Kansas City and prominent throughout the country as attorney for the Retail Lumbermen's Association and as an advocate of better conditions favoring the dealer in the smaller cities and towns."

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Wayne Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Wayne citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders, or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine. A Wayne citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills. Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

On motion the city engineer was directed to prepare estimates for the construction of an extension of the water main on First street, west from Sherman street 396 feet with one hydrant. On the alley one block west of Sherman street, on Second street, north 712 feet—eight new hydrants—and on Third street, from Nebraska street east 396 feet to Window street, thence North 2,376 feet to Ninth street, thence west 396 feet to Nebraska street with seven hydrants, also for 25-foot extension to standpipe, a new water tower of 50,000 gallons capacity and also a new pump of 500 gallons per minute capacity, both steam and motor drive pump.

Ordinance No. 222 providing and levying an occupation tax upon various kinds of business and amusements, was read the first time. The following claims were examined and on motion allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the general fund:

Mrs. J. C. Hanson, Wayne, Neb., says: "I have no reason to withdraw anything from the public statement I gave three years ago recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. I had a serious attack of kidney complaint and I suffered terribly from headaches, dizzy spells and tired languid feeling. The kidney secretions were unnatural and I had a dull, heavy ache through my loins. In a few days after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and improvement continued until all symptoms of the complaint disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Revilan No. 44690

Is a dapple gray Percheron stallion. Imported by Watson, Woods & Kelley Co. Weight about 1850 pounds, has good bone and is a good individual. Has proven himself an extra good breeder. My Jack is also registered. He is a Black Spanish Jack with white belly and mealy nose, and extra good boned. He measures fifteen hands and two inches high and weighs about nine hundred and fifty pounds. Is an exceptionally good breeder. I also have Union Medium, Jr. the Frank Strahan trotting stallion. This horse is a standard bred stallion; has a mark of 2:13 1/4; has been a mile in 2:08. This horse has never stood for less than $25, but this year will insure a live colt for $12.50. This horse and Jack will make the season of 1914 at my livery barn, one block west of depot. Terms as follows: $15 to insure a live colt with the Percheron horse or Jack. $12.50 to insure live colt with trotting horse. If mare changes owner or is moved from county, foal bill becomes due at once. Care will be taken to prevent accidents, but should any occur, I will not be responsible. I. E. Ellis, Owner.
