

DR. MONAHAN TALKS TO AUDIENCES IN WAYNE

PROPOSED SCHOOL PLAN CONSOLIDATION AND COUNTY SYSTEM FOR RURAL SCHOOLS FREELY DISCUSSED.

Dr. A. C. Monahan of the bureau of education, Washington, D. C., lectured at the State Normal chapel Friday evening on the subject, "Consolidation of Rural Schools." This was the second number of the lecture course given for the students and teachers of the summer school. Dr. Monahan is a specialist in the study of rural schools and his lecture, illustrated with stereopticon views of conditions in the one-room and consolidated schools, was highly instructive and interesting.

Dr. Monahan showed news and explained conditions in all parts of the United States. In showing the advantages of the consolidated school over the one-room school he emphasized the fact that consolidation makes it possible for the rural child to secure a high school education equal in all respects to that offered to children of the cities, and often far better suited to his needs without the necessity of leaving home.

The necessity of paying tuition there he declared an injustice; the necessity of going among strangers, away from parental authority, and home influence, a crime against childhood.

One-room School.
But high school instruction in a single room school with but one teacher is an impossibility; for that teacher with only eight grades has so many recitations daily that the time for each recitation is so short that it should be to insure good results. What could be expected if more subjects were added to the course?

Furthermore, the environment of the consolidated school he showed to be far superior. Instead of the little box-like house in a small plot of bare ground without a shrub or tree to make it attractive, the larger building and larger grounds inspire confidence and interest in the planting of shrubs, trees and school grounds.

A fine example shown was that of a school in Tennessee. The building of fine architectural design is surrounded by beautiful lawns and well equipped play grounds and cement walks. Here manual training, domestic science and a thorough course in agriculture are taught.

In some instances the old buildings in the districts considered have been completely avoided, the waste incident to discarding the old buildings and expense of building the new one. In some cases the old buildings were converted into teachers' homes, thus settling the boarding place question.

Transportation.
The question of distance from school is solved by furnishing free transportation which rarely costs the district more than 10 cents per day per child, and in which districts where the distance exceeds four and a half miles, great care being taken in the selection of drivers and the children being made subject to his supervision. Such transportation would seem preferable to a walk to school alone or as is often the case in one county with objectionable companions, free from all restraint.

Mr. Monahan showed the cost of maintaining a consolidated school with its added advantages to be less than that of the one-room school thus united.

The lecture throughout was full of convincing facts and valuable suggestions.

An announcement that Dr. A. C. Monahan of Washington, D. C., would speak Saturday afternoon at the college chapel, on the county unit system of school administration, brought out a large number of interested in education. Dr. Monahan defined the county unit system as that in which a county board of three, five, or any other number of members elected by popular vote, is in charge of all schools in the entire county; this board usually assisted by local boards in the various districts, and a county superintendent and necessary assistant superintendents appointed by the county board.

Presented by Henry F. Leavelle. He said that a careful study of the

COMPLAINT AGAINST THE CHIROPRACTOR

CHARGES LAW VIOLATION

A. D. Lewis Charged With Failure to Comply With State Regulating Practice.

Friday, July 10, a complaint was filed in the county court charging A. D. Lewis, chiropractor, with violating the statute regulating processes of healing. Mabel L. Cleveland, osteopath, being the complainant. It is charged that Mr. Lewis did unlawful practice medicine, surgery, and other methods upon the persons of William L. Cunningham, Fred U. Uchich, A. H. Carter, and Grant S. Meers, on or about certain specific dates, by means of "manipulation, adjusting or otherwise treating and applying his hands" upon the vertebrae of the spinal columns of said people without having first obtained a certificate from the state board of health.

Mr. Lewis was placed under arrest July 11, and was released on his own recognizance in the sum of $200. The date for a hearing has not been fixed. L. A. Kiplinger, A. R. Davis and H. E. Simon are attorneys for the plaintiff. J. B. Berry has been retained by the defendant. It is understood the association of chiropractors will furnish legal talent to assist in the defense of Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis' action against Mr. Lewis reminds people of the proceedings against Dr. J. A. Bumpus, osteopath, in Wayne about fifteen years ago. He was charged with violating the statutes regulating ways and means of treating people who were afflicted.

MANY PLAYERS FOR STATE TENNIS MEET

STARS OF STATE COMING

Eighty-Two Entries Already Made—Plans Being Perfected for the Big Event.

Local tennis enthusiasts are busy making elaborate preparations to entertain the state tennis tournament in this city August 4 to 8. The indications are that this will be the largest state meet yet held, for announcements have already been received of eighty-two entries, a cluster of home entries. When it is remembered that no doubt at least a hundred visiting spectators interested in the numerous star players playing each day will be present, it is evident that Wayne will need to put forth every effort to entertain the visitors.

During this tournament, Wayne people will have an opportunity to see the work of many stars. Harry A. Koch of Omaha city and state champion for 1912 and 1913, and Harry Ellis and C. A. Davis, state doubles champions of last year, will be here to participate in the events. Charles Patterson of Annapolis, Md., Harry F. M. Drainer, the old northeast Nebraska player, Coach Steinh of the Nebraska university football team, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall and plays tennis almost as well as the does football, will be here. Also from Omaha, among them Spike Kennedy, the comedian of the Omaha courts, and Larson, the 19-year-old star who pushed Koch to a five-set match in the Omaha tournament, being John Madden, Bud Colgate, Sam Burns, Dick Stewart, Jack Potter, George Riley, and Robert Howe.

At a meeting of the Wayne Tennis Club Tuesday evening, definite plans were made to keep the enterprise, and entertain the visitors. Wayne people should recognize this as one of the best of opportunities to advertise Wayne, and should rally to the loyal support of it.

DELIGHTFUL PICNIC IN BRESSLER GROVE

TWO HUNDRED TAKE PART

Under Auspices of Masonic and Eastern Star Lodges—Games and Rich Feasts.

The members of the Masonic and Eastern Star lodges and invited friends, about two hundred in all, enjoyed a delightful picnic at Bressler's grove yesterday afternoon and evening. A highly entertaining program of sports was carried out. A team of nine players of indoor baseball, played by two teams of ladies under the leadership of Miss Sara Killen and Miss Reba Nangle, won in a score of 14 to 13 in favor of Miss Killen's team.

A men's game, headed by F. E. Gamble and C. M. Craven and umpired by Miss Day of Sioux City, resulted in a score of 15 to 6 in favor of Craven's team. The losers attributed their failure to the fact that W. D. Redmond watched the umpire more than the ball. In this game, Mayor C. A. Chace and H. F. Wilson made some spectacular plays. As usual, the umpires in these games were accused of rank favoritism.

In the ball driving contest, participated in by a number of ladies, Mrs. J. Woodward Jones was declared the winner. In the ball throwing contest, in which about 20 ladies displayed their skill, the contest was very close between Mrs. W. H. Morris and Misses Kohl and Forbes. Miss Kohl finally winning.

At supper time, a sumptuous picnic dinner was spread which is declared to have been the culminating event of the day.

CEDAR DELEGATION FILL CHAPEL PERIOD UNIQUE PROGRAM GIVEN

One of Most Pleasing Entertainments Ever Presented by County Organization. The Cedar county delegation in the summer session, thirty-seven in all, were given the chapel period Wednesday morning for special program. Mr. Vernon F. Wilson of Huntington acted as chairman and presided a most excellent presiding officer. The program was arranged by Frances Keel of Hartington, and was remarkable for its originality. The program opened with the singing of the Cedar county song. Then followed a reading by Mr. Hering; vocal solo, Mrs. Berg; reading, Miss Rottge; vocal solo, Mrs. C. A. Chace. The closing number was unique. It was a pantomime in several scenes. It opened with a representation of the graduating exercises in a public school in which a young lady received her diploma. Following this the Wayne Normal represented by a young lady in appropriate costume held forth the advantages of coming to Wayne. The offer was refused. In the next scene this sweet girl graduate was teacher of the rural school. Next were the trials and tribulations of incorrigible youngsters, disgruntled school officers and irate parents. Again came the temptation to her to come to the Normal, which this time was accepted. Her registration in the state normal school was complete. The closing of the year, when on commencement day she receives from President Conn a diploma from the Normal. Once more she is employed as a teacher in the public schools, where now she is in complete mastery of the situation. Pupils and school conditions are ideal. The last day comes and the board of education and fond parents express unmistakably, in pantomime, their endorsement of her work. It was one of the best programs ever given by a county organization, and the Cedar county delegation is to be congratulated upon the success of its efforts.

State Normal Notes. Miss Lois F. Forzine has recently been elected in the primary grade of the Carroll. The primary department at Carroll will be in good hands next year.

President Conn returned Friday from the meeting of the N. E. A. at St. Paul. He reports a good program, but the state normal department was not so large as it has been in previous years. Superintendent E. S. Cowan selected Neva J. Orr for the intermediate department of the schools at Albion, and she has been notified of her selection by the board of OTT proved a very successful teacher in the training school during the past year and she will please the people of Albion.

The copy for the annual catalogue of the school is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready for mailing about August 1. It will consist of about seventy-five pages, contain a description of the courses offered by the various departments, and give complete announcements for the year 1914-1915. The third number of the Entertainment course, which is to be given by the Allpress-Misner Concert Company, promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of the summer session. Professor Allpress is a violinist of unusual ability, Mrs. Allpress, pianist and reader, and Miss Misner is highly recommended as a soprano soloist. The date is Thursday, July 16.

Dr. A. C. Monahan's visit at the normal and the addresses delivered before the school proved of great helpfulness to the teachers in attendance at the summer session. It was a great privilege to hear the question of the consolidation of districts and the county unit of administration discussed by one who has made a special study of rural school problems. The large number present at the rural school conference conducted by Dr. Monahan last Saturday afternoon is an evidence of the interest of the school district officers of Wayne county in school affairs. It also shows the loyalty of boards of education to Superintendent Elsie Littell, at whose request these men assembled for the discussion of educational problems. The lecture course committee was decided to open the library only on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons and Saturday evening during July and August.

WARNING TO FARMERS.

Norfolk Daily News: Farmers are warned against feeding eye to their stock this year without first making proper inspection for ergot. After an examination of the eye cut in several of the Madison county fields Val Kuska, the farm demonstrator, selected enough samples to convince him that the animals are in danger of death and lameness unless the farmers look over the eye and throw out that part which is infested with ergot. Mr. Kuska brought samples of eye in which enough ergot was contained to kill an ordinary horse. He detected the little black spots in the eye come during the time the stalk is growing and develop in place of the berry. When eaten by animals the ergot causes death or lameness.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church. (Rev. F. E. Blessing, Pastor).

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The subject of the lesson will be "Blind Bartimaeus." Mark 10:16-52.

Regular divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "Zacchaeus, the Son of Consolation," Luke 19:1-5.

Possibly you have seen with a party of people who were going to explore some deep cavern—the Mammoth cave, or the Catacombs of Rome. If so, you know how the party stood out in the sunlight, and the attendant who knew the journey to be made, passed around among the party and put into the hand of each a lighted candle. How useless it seemed; how pale and colorless the little flame appeared in the gorgeous flood of sunlight.

But as the procession moved along; one after another entered the dark cavern's mouth; one after another lost the splendor of day light; in the hands of each the feeble candle light came out brighter in the darkness and by and by the whole party were walking in the dark, holding fast their candles as if they were their very life, totally dependent now upon what seemed so useless only a short time before.

How true is this scene to every day life, for amid our enjoyments there come dark days, trials and temptations, causing people to grow despondent. But is there no consolation in life? Look to the little man of Jericho, Zacchaeus and there we see a son of consolation.

There will be union services in the evening at 7 o'clock. The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. N. J. Juhnli on next Thursday afternoon.

"The Story of a Bad Boy" will be the sermon for the children, Sunday morning.

"Christ's Work for Humanity," will be the subject of the regular sermon. It will be a somewhat new treatment of an old text, John 3:16. The warm weather seems to have helped our prayer meetings. Our attendance is good and the interest manifested was never better. Spend an hour with us next Wednesday evening.

The Northeastern association meets at Tilden, August 23-30. The chautauqua has closed by this time and schools have not yet begun. So we ought to have a dozen delegates attending this meeting. It will do the Tilden people good to have a large attendance.

A Sunday school picnic? Yes, it is planned to be held next Thursday afternoon. A committee is perfecting arrangements. They will likely ask you for help, which, of course, you will endeavor to give. Remember one time you were a child and you enjoyed a picnic about the best of anything. We shall next thing to eat for picnics make people have appetites. We shall need things to ride in, for all cannot walk. We shall need some older people to help the children with their games. Yes, we shall need the active, hearty help of every one. Let us make this a great event in the life of our Sunday school. If you are under three weeks or over 90 years of age perhaps you had better not think much about it, but if you happen to be between these ages, you belong to the picnic crowd.

FRIENDLY COMMENT ON THE BIG SOUVENIR EDITION ISSUED JOINTLY BY THE TWO WAYNE NEWSPAPERS

Credit to Any Shop.

St. Paul Republican: We are in receipt of the souvenir edition issued by Editor Huse of the Wayne Herald, and it is the finest work of the kind we have ever seen. It is a sixty page magazine with a real art cover. The work is on good paper and is full of cuts showing people and scenes in Wayne and throughout the county. It would be a credit to any large city shop to issue such a work of the printing art.

Proof of Rich Section.

Wisner Chronicle: The Chronicle has perused with special interest the souvenir edition issued jointly by the Democrat and the Herald of Wayne. It is in magazine form and is a high class piece of work in every respect, reflecting great credit to its publishers. It presents the history of our neighbor county and tells the story of its present achievements in all the lines of activity and enterprise that make a people great and prosperous. It is richly illustrated and no one can give it the most casual examination without being impressed with the fact that Wayne is one of the best cities of its size in Nebraska and that Wayne county is one of the richest counties in this matchless commonwealth.

Dubs it a "Dinger."

Pierce Call: The Wayne Herald and Democrat issued a joint souvenir edition for Wayne county last week that was a "dinger." It is in book form and consists of sixty-two pages of well arranged and interesting material, all profusely illustrated. The resources of the county at large as well as the city of Wayne are expounded in splendid articles and the entire work is a credit to the "art preservative," as well as a great advertisement and boost for the newspapers and community.

Comments Co-operation.

Ponca Journal: The two Wayne papers, the Herald and Democrat, got together in a brotherly sort of a way and last week issued a very creditable souvenir of Wayne and Wayne county. The edition was put out in magazine form and consisted of sixty-four pages of cleverly gotten up matter pertaining to the city and county. It is printed upon good quality paper and contains many excellent illustrations of buildings and scenes throughout the county. The man who handled the portrait end of the business must have been a hustler, for the face of nearly every man-business, prominent in the county appears upon the pages of the souvenir edition. Of the many booster editions that have come to the Journal-Leader exchange table the Herald-Democrat number is the best. It is a boost for Wayne and Wayne county and the publishers show a commendable spirit of co-operation on this matter that could be copied with profit by the merchants of Wayne, not mentioning the newspapers of the neighboring towns.

One of Best and Most Complete.

Wyand Tribune: A special souvenir edition was issued jointly last week by the Wayne Herald and Democrat. The edition was unique in book form, profusely illustrated with views of Wayne people, residences and business blocks, together with farm views and other interesting things of the city and county. It was one of the most complete and best arranged and dinged magazines of this nature that has come under our notice and reflects the growth and prosperity of Wayne as well as great credit upon the publishers of Wayne's great country newspapers.

One of the Finest.

Randolph Times: One of the finest special editions ever issued by a newspaper in this section of the state was that put out last week jointly by the Wayne Herald and Democrat. The edition is in magazine form fully printed on high grade paper and contains much matter of information regarding Wayne county and her interests and pictures of people and buildings. It is very creditable to the promoters and to the county.

Model of its Kind.

West Point Democrat: The souvenir edition of the Wayne Democrat and Herald is the most interesting we have seen for years. It is a model of its kind.

Credit to Publishers.

Wisner Free Press: A souvenir edition for Wayne county reached the Free Press office this week sent out by the Wayne papers the Herald and Democrat. It is bound in magazine form and contains sixty-two pages brim full of valuable information concerning Wayne and Wayne county and the people of the county. It has many fine illustrations of homes, business places, and prominent Wayne county people. It is a credit to the publishers who should be highly commended for their efforts in preparing such a finely illustrated edition.

No Fortune for Publishers.

Norfolk Press: The Wayne county booster published by the Wayne Democrat and Herald and edited by Aylett C. Gant, formerly of the Press, is perhaps the finest of the many splendid illustrated papers issued under the plan of the year as almost perfect. It is the work of the Nebraska Press association. There are sixty pages of well written stories calculated to spread the gospel of Wayne county opportunities. The mechanical work is excellent and the illustrations almost perfect. Mr. Gant did it is enough to convince Norfolkians it was done right. It looks like a financial success, but it was gotten up at a considerable expense and the chances are the publishers will make no fortune out of it. It is, however, credit to Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska and the men who are responsible for it.

Good Advertising.

Sioux City Journal: "A souvenir edition of Wayne county" was issued jointly last week by the Wayne, Neb., Herald and Democrat. It is in the form of a book, the pages of which are about half the size of the ordinary newspaper page. The contents were compiled for the publishers by A. C. Gant, and there is abundant evidence that he did his work well and capably. The edition would be creditable to a town much larger than Wayne, and is a revelation of the facilities of the Wayne newspaper offices for doing fine printing. The matter is well arranged, the illustrations profuse and handsome, and the press work excellent. The resources of the county at large, as well as of the city of Wayne, are exploited, and altogether the edition is splendid advertising material for the Wayne newspapers and for the community in which they live.

Worthy Enterprise.

Harrison Republican: A beautiful souvenir edition of the Wayne Herald and the Wayne Democrat comes in the current issue of both papers. It is of the same size and style as the souvenir edition gotten out by this newspaper last fall and contains sixty pages of well written matter. Wayne is a good growing town, and the two institutions which fill their places in it perhaps better than anywhere are its two highly enterprising newspapers. They consistently meet to its prosperity and are magnificent advertisements for the town. They would well represent a town of ten thousand population.

Neatly Prepared.

Osmond Republican: Last week we received souvenir editions of both the Wayne Herald and the Nebraska Democrat. They are very neatly gotten up and do credit to their respective publishers.

Gives Valuable History.

Belden Progress: The souvenir edition for Wayne county issued in connection with the two Wayne papers came to our desk this week. It is printed in magazine form and contains sixty pages and gives his readers a most interesting and up-to-date picture of the county up to the present time. Much credit is due the editors in getting out this edition.

From an Indiana Lawyer.

Franklin, Ind., July 7, 1914.
Mr. A. C. Gant,
Wayne, Neb.

My Dear Mr. Gant:—
I have received a copy of the "Souvenir Edition" of the Wayne Herald and Democrat. You are the editor of this edition, which most certainly reflects much credit upon your ability as a special editor, and marks with distinction the enterprise of the citizens of your city and county. * * * Thanking you very kindly for your favor and wishing you continued success, I am, Very truly yours, William Featherhill.

Pleased With Edition.

Ashton, Idaho, July 6, 1914.
E. W. Huse,
Wayne, Neb.

Dear Friend:—
I just received today the souvenir edition, and I want to compliment the Herald and Democrat on the excellence of the edition. It is certainly pretty complete and reflects credit on the newspapers that had the aggressiveness and pluck to undertake the work and carry it to so successful an end, and also on the patrons of the papers that made the success possible. The subject matter is well handled and the workmanship of the edition is a credit to any print shop. If the cover page is the work of Frank Whitney, may I believe it is, it is a piece of workmanship of which any man can afford to be proud, and I am proud of the boy that did it. But maybe I am not a competent judge in this, for you know that I always thought the "Deacon" was just about one of the best printers that ever stood at the cases. I am sure the former Wayne county people who are now residents of this section who are fortunate enough to have received a copy of this edition prize it very highly, for several have so expressed themselves to me today. I hope you will not feel that I am saying what I do to puff you up in the least. I know the work of a newspaper man is hard and exciting, and I also know from experience that words of appreciation for work well done are an encouragement and help in a measure to lighten the burden of the daily grind. The people of Wayne county ought to be proud of both the Herald and Democrat, not only for this splendid edition, but on account of the most excellent newspapers they issue fifty-two weeks each year. I am always interested in newspapers and on my travels around the country am pretty observant of the various papers that are issued and I am free to say that I find none better and very few country papers anywhere that will bear comparison with the papers of Wayne. With kindest regards to you and the "Deacon" I am yours truly, E. Cunningham.

From Linotype Company.

Chicago, Ill., July 3, 1914.
Mr. E. W. Huse,
Wayne, Neb.

Dear Sir:—
We desire to acknowledge receipt of the copy of the July 2d special edition of the Herald, received by us through our Mr. Westerfield, and congratulate you upon the excellent appearance of same. The cover design is particularly pleasing and shows that considerable taste has been exercised in its handling.

With best wishes for the continued success of the Herald, we remain Yours very truly, Mergenthaler Linotype Company, Geo. E. Lincoln, Manager.

Result Well Credit.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 6, 1914.
Mr. A. C. Gant,
Wayne, Neb.

My Dear Gant:—
I was indeed gratified to receive a copy of the souvenir edition of the Wayne Herald. I had never heard of the town before, but it goes without saying that a burg that will support such an effort in the manner that Wayne did this special edition is an "up-to-date" town. The work presented would have been a credit to a town of many times its size. The souvenir edition was well edited, the make-up was excellent, the illustrations first grade and taking it all in all the result was a credit to everyone who had a hand in its production. * * * With kindest personal regards, I beg to remain, Your friend,—L. W. Henley, Secretary of Indiana Republican State Central Committee.

One of the Best.

Omaha Bee: The Wayne Herald and the Wayne Democrat last week published jointly one of the finest booster editions that ever has been printed in the state of Nebraska. It is in magazine form and consists of sixty-four large pages printed on fine book paper. The editors start with the proposition that "Wayne county is one of the most fertile and productive and promising sections of the middle west, with qualities of citizenship unsurpassed anywhere," and then proceeds with facts, figures and pictures to demonstrate it.

Mighty Creditable.

Norfolk Daily News: A mighty creditable special edition, depicting the wealth of Wayne county, was issued last week by the Herald and Democrat of that thriving city.

WALTER SAVIDGE COMPANY.

Blair-Democrat: The Walter Savidge Carnival Company is furnishing the amusement for our people this week—giving a first class play in the big top each evening, to say nothing of the various amusements that are found with the Savidge company. This is one of the cleanest carnival companies on the road and every person connected with it is a lady or gentleman in the truest sense of the word. The attractions are clean and are being well patronized, the people realizing that Mr. Savidge always gives them the worth of their money whether he visits us in the winter and plays at the opera houses or in the summer with the carnival. The players are familiar to Blair people and are the same who played "The Coward" and later "The Christian" here last winter, both meetings with popular approval. The Savidge Bros. of Sioux City are in the company and have a flying machine that will make flights each afternoon, something well worth seeing. On Thursday night the company will play "Call of the Wood" on Friday evening, "Call of his Mare," Saturday matinee, "Senator's Daughter," and in the evening, "North Caroline Folks." An excellent band gives concerts daily.

Dry Wit.

Because of a wreck a fast train coming north from the southern coast country was laid out all night on a siding in Florida. When two easterners aboard woke in the morning they looked out the window of the car on a dinky flag station and a one room log shack. Over the door of the shack was a ruddy lettered sign reading as follows: "New York—Bar—All Fancy Drinks Served Here!"

Being minded to have some fun, the two fellows stepped from the car, halted there and entered the shack. For furniture it contained a shelf, with three dirt bottles and half a dozen tin cans. One of the fellows picked a rude counter, one chair and a rusty stove. The proprietor, a lanky chap, sat in the chair, while the other sat on the counter. "It was a chilly morning—intently reading a Jacksonville paper three days old."

"The fellow looked at the makeshift bar, and one of them hammered with his knuckles on the wood."

"I'll have a pousse-cafe," he stated, addressing the proprietor.

"I'll take a dry Martini, made with French vermouth," stated his companion.

The owner of the establishment did not raise his eyes from the paper as he drew—

"I'll kick you — Yankee in the house and I—st—looked fit?"—Saturday Evening Post.

No sooner did the senior engineer hear the peremptory summons than he hurried down into the wardrobe...

"Oh, Mebbe, our senior engineer—" said the man of the merchant. "I'll be in his usual office, expirating tone."

"Chisle is really not well, the?" He all know the complaint of Patients of Mrs. Furnace, as the favorite terms her.

Half an hour later he was "upending" his officers and men, who were surprised to find trousers, waist, clearing away the wreck of the ship.

"Night had long since dropped. The luminescent boat lay lurching from side to side, plunging wildly under the tons of green that loaded like lightning rods against her bows and forecastle."

"The first dodged a scattered spray of sea. 'If the engine drive down on us you're gait.'" "You're heave!" as well go down fightin' as not.

his about from the artificers now in safety. It reached his ear as he stepped down into the uproar of smashing, clashing metal.

With heightened anxiety and fear, Widrington stared at the steam suds protruding from the engine room.

"It was then that a brief, eager, cinder burst signalman came hurrying along the main alley on 'chase' engine!"

When Torsbell again dragged himself on the deck he was a mere unshapely mass held together by a bundle of lint.

COLUMN ADVOCATING WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE.

(Under Auspices Local Committee). Lincoln, July 14.—Eighteen reasons why women should have the ballot were included in the arguments filed with the secretary of state yesterday, as the publicity matter published by the state explanatory of the initiative amendment.

It cost the association $125 to have the matter printed in the pamphlet. The matter set forth in the argument follows: "The motto on the Nebraska seal reads, 'Equality Before the Law.' Women should have the vote for the same reason that men should have the vote. The rule of the people can be only half realized so long as half the people are denied the franchise."

"Who can say that thinking women do not want the ballot? Advanced legislation for women and children in states having male suffrage only does not prove that women should not have the ballot. Women's organizations have done much of the work to secure this legislation. The most active women in this work are the firmest believers in equal suffrage. In politics votes count more than petitions.

The increase in the cost of education and other conditions of the state. It is but just that women should have a direct vote in determining these conditions.

Many women in Nebraska pay heavy taxpayers and are entitled to a voice in spending public money. Denial of their right to protect their property and interests is rendered by saying non-resident men and corporations also own property in Nebraska without representation.

Increasing cost of living is government's greatest concern. Ninety per cent of our laws affect the family pocketbook and the family life. Why not give mothers and housewives a chance at this problem?

Women should have a voice in electing the judges of the state. There is no sex in the enforcement of the law, there should be no sex in the enactment of the law.

There are 50,000 wage-earning women in Nebraska who need the protection of the ballot. They should have a part in making the laws under greater privilege than they are at present. Increasing cost of living is government's greatest concern. Ninety per cent of our laws affect the family pocketbook and the family life. Why not give mothers and housewives a chance at this problem?

Women should have a voice in electing the judges of the state. There is no sex in the enforcement of the law, there should be no sex in the enactment of the law.

From the Wayne Herald, July 26, 1890.
P. M. Corbit has sold his great interest in Corbit, Conner & Co.'s dry goods establishment to E. M. Smith.
Harvesting is in progress all over the county. The yield of small grain with the exception of flax is generally going to be very light on account of rust.
Exercises were held Wednesday, July 25, for the presentation of a flag, the gift of Wayne to Casey Post. The presentation speech was made by Senator Fuller, and response on behalf of Casey Post, by A. P. Childs.

From the Wayne Herald, July 25, 1914.
Markets: Wheat, 45 cents; oats, 23 cents; corn, 40 cents; flax, $1.05; butter, 10 cents; eggs, 10 cents; potatoes, 30 cents; hogs, $4.35.
Mrs. Carrie Meyers died July 25, aged 24 years.
It has been suggested that Wayne reorganize its board of trade and with that end in view a meeting will be held July 25, at 8 p. m., at the court house. Wayne county and its advantages should be advertised and this method is now adopted by nearly all cities.

From the Wayne Herald, July 21, 1914.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Grob, July 12.
Next week I. W. Alter will begin the erection of a new residence to cost not less than $2,500.
Born, July 14 to John Hall and wife, a son.
A. B. Clark and Herbert Lessattman are preparing for a big combination sale of Shorthorn cattle in Wayne the last of September. Judge Hunter issued marriage license Tuesday to George E. Stiles and Miss Mabel Gachman, and yesterday to Delbert Dyson and Miss Eunice Reap.

From Ponca Journal, July 22, 1890.
Harry Dorsey has forwarded his bond and expects to take charge of the post office as soon as the session arrives from Washington, this week or next. In the resignation of Mr. Reynolds, Ponca loses a most efficient postmaster, and in the appointment of his successor the citizens may congratulate themselves on having secured one who will keep matters straight and at the same time be accommodating and obliging to all who have business with him.

From Ponca Journal, July 25, 1894.
Jefferson Wilbur of this place returned on Saturday from a trip out west which he made in company with several others. They went about fifty miles, ascertained where they found government land and took timber claims. That country is rapidly filling up, and those who wish to avail themselves of the chance to get government land, will do well to do it at once.
Our old friend, Philo Graves of Wakefield, was in town on Wednesday, in company with Messrs. Waite and Eddy. The three gentlemen are the school board of Wakefield, and are now issuing bonds in accordance with the recent vote of that district for building a new school house. Mr. Graves told us the bonds were to run ten years drawing seven per cent interest, and that they would probably sell at a premium of one of two per cent. The cost of the school-house will be built of brick and will cost not less than $4,000.
It is reported that a bed of coal four feet thick has been struck near Fankton. Dr. T. T. Jones has discovered a vein of coal in the Ponca and mining company. That discovery will be as profitable as ours was there can be no doubt. It will be recollected that the Ponca prospect hole had also four feet of the best of coal in it. We say the best of coal. Its cost including the freight charges on it from Pennsylvania was not less than $15 per ton. As Yankton is a little farther from Pennsylvania than Ponca, it will cost somewhat more there than here to start a first class coal mine.

Sioux City Journal, July 19: "Two of the new engines of the St. Paul road have arrived at St. Paul. Now that the locomotives have come to a well-earned rest, the engine is to be put on again; the rolling stock of the Omaha and Northern Nebraska will be reinforced; two construction trains will be crossed at this city on the Nebraska shore; a dirt train will be run from the bluff back of the shops down to the fill on lower Howard street for the river transfer tracks. All these and various other things will be done with the aid of the thirty odd new engines."

HUMAN WRECKERS IN CITIES.
Fremont Tribune: County Judge Owens of Chicago read his constituents a powerful lecture the other day on the community value of calm and sober times. The occasion was his presentation of the statistics for commitments for insanity from Cook county. They showed a much larger increase than the corresponding increase of population.
Making allowance for the improved tests for determining mental unbalance it is indubitable that a larger proportion of city dwellers each year show themselves incapable of handling their own affairs. The proportion of aberrant times and the proportion of suicides, almost all of which indicate unbalance, also increase.
Judge Owens declares that immorality is the leading cause of insanity, with the stress of undue hurry in second place. In his opinion the greatest number of those who pass through the insane court do so as the result of immoral lives. Coming down to specific criticism he charged that moving pictures and baseball games too secretly stimulate the emotions of those interested. As an offset he recommends teaching children ethical and well ordered lives, both in home and school room, as the best and most quickly applied remedy.
This is the judgment of mature mind at close grips with the subject. If it is true that immorality causes most insanity and that insanity is increasing then immorality must be increasing. This is most disquieting. To outward appearances our moral code is observed most universally and more strictly than the ancients observed theirs. The decay, if it exists, is hidden and glossed over.

Fefferro, the Italian historian, declares modern civilization is superior to that of the Roman empire in all the moralities save one—greed. He convicts us of a hardness of heart where material wealth is concerned that would have shocked those who looked with consternation upon the burning of Rome and the excesses of the emperors. And he issues a solemn warning that surrender of men to Mammon will wreak a lingering vengeance upon the people.
It may be that Judge Owens' report indicates that this vengeance has already begun. Greed surely is responsible for the speed pressure which unhinges the reason of so many. And since the nerve exhaustion resulting from greed-hurry provides a mass appetite for heedless and unhealthy pleasures; which is in turn exploited, it remains an open question whether greed may not also be justly held responsible for many of the wrecks due to immorality. There is no longer room for doubt that in its most flagrant manifestations immorality is "commercialized for profit. Perhaps the influence of greed on morals does not stop short with its chief agents, but extends into respectable circles, destroying where it is not recognized.

Life-Size Portraits of Safe Home Matches

Examine them carefully. Note how strong and sturdy they are. Note, too, what fine heads they have—full, round, well made. Safe Home Matches are better than any matches you have used heretofore. They are made in a better way. No poisonous materials are used. A child might suck the head or several heads off Safe Home Matches. He wouldn't be poisoned. He wouldn't even be seriously ill. For that reason alone Safe Home Matches should be in every home.

Safe Home Matches burn with a steady flame, not by fits and starts. They light anywhere. And yet they are safer than any other brand or type of match.

We ask you to use this new match and to urge others to do likewise. We do not ask you to pay more than you have been paying for matches—merely to see that you get better matches than you have been getting.

BLOWING MONEY.

It's surely funny to blow in money as fast as it is earned, but what will follow, oh gentle Rollé, when all the wealth is burned? Suppose you sicken, and troubles thicken about your lovely face, while dots and purses discourse of heaves as you lie on your back? The job you're holdin', with stipend golden, may leave you any day, and you'll sit sweating, in vain regretting the dough you fooled away. Sell down the plunder, or you will blunder so bad that all your days with melancholy you'll view your folly, bewail your spending craze. If you, have rhino, the people, I know, to you will lift the hat; but none respects you, the world rejects you, if you are busted flat. How sweet and mellow to every fellow is life's serene melody, if he is loaded with uncorroded doubloons, put down in brim! How bleak and dreary, and sad and weary, is age to one who's broke, who sits and hollers about the dollars that he sent up in smoke!

THE CHIGGER.

The little chigger, it toils with vigor, when days are long and warm; with zeal it burrows its winding-tunnels along my shrinking form. The measty chigger, I can't tread the forest, for there we stand on earth, to make life tougher, to make us suffer, and banish peace and mirth. We fear to ramble or lightly gambol in fields of grass or hay, for there the chigger, persistent digger, is waiting for his prey. We tread the forest, for there we're sores, with lumps the chigger made; we turn our faces from pleasant places, and shun the tempting shade. The sneaking chigger, that is no bigger than a needle's eye, can make a man shiver, from lungs to liver, and raise a doleful cry. I loathe and scorn it! The sizzling hornet, that comes into my lodge, with red-hot stinger, is trouble bringer, but gives me chance to dodge. The bee that humbles my spirit, humbles a warning ear to me; the fierce mosquito gives warning, ditto, with vocal legs and wings. But oh, the chigger! It pulls the trigger and shoots me full of juice, by night and morning, without a warning, and makes me raise the deuce!

OLD AND YOUNG.

"If I could be that little boy," the weary grown-up sighed, "my jaded heart would swell with joy, and I'd be satisfied. For with all things are said and done, youth has the right of way; it has monopoly of fun, of gladness, mirth and play. Boys have no problems dark and deep, to make the spirit sore, to rouse them from the midnight sleep, and make them walk the floor. The world's a playground for the kid, grief's a warning ear to him; he does not hear beneath his lid the cares that gnaw the brain. Oh, youth," the grown-up sighed, "could I but have it back again! Could I but say a long good-bye to woes of toiling men!" The lad whose lot is this, in fact, is not cowered up with joy; in fact, he makes a daily fuss because he is a boy. "They grind me with the iron heel," he says, "against my wish, and turnips I must buy and peed, when I would like to fish. I have to hoe the beans and spuds a long and weary while, when I would like to shed my duds and swim about a mile. My dad, he tells me he will tan my jacket if I shirk; oh, chee, I wish I was a man, then, none could me no work!" Alas, no perfect bliss on earth has ever yet been sprung; but let's pretend we're full of mirth though we be old—or young!

TIRED.

Alas, I am weary of swatting, the effort seems use and waste; for weeks I've been painfully trotting around after flies, on their trail; I've doped them with acid carbolio, I've slugged them and caught them with trap; and still on my forehead they frolic, when I lay me down for a nap. I hate the pestiferous fritters, which tickle my scalp with their toes; they're building their nests in my whiskers, they're picknickin' now on my nose. They give me all kinds of diseases, by carrying germs to and fro; I pause here for seventeen days, none of us, I'm sure, I know. I'm strong for those able physicians, who tell us, "Keep swatting, you guys; if you would improve the conditions, and drive from our country the flies!" And yet I am weary of swatting. I've thrown all my weapons away, I'm weary of tirelessly pesting the germ bearers, day after day. Because, in the midst of my labors, I glanced from my ancestral hall, and saw that my indolent neighbors were doing no swatting at all. Under the same sky, they chose every fly out of view, the graft is a sepulchre whited, a sheer waste of muscle and time.

GEORGE FITCH.

He's long and lean and scrawny, and has a solemn air, and folks would say, "That Johnnie is loaded down with care; he has a secret sorrow that gnaws him evermore, and he should try to borrow some sunshine at the store." Which shows how, in their guessing, the folks are off their base, for George has naught distressing about him, but his face. Within him abides no secret, he is a student for grief, the mirth that kills our troubles, and gives our woes relief. You read George Fitch, and after you've conned a score of words, you gurgle round with laughter, and chirrup like the bird. As clean as rippling water his humor flows along; his muse is sure the daughter of joyousness and Song. He cheers the chronic fretter, reforms the dismal bore, and makes this old world better than e'er it was before. It spreads glee by the neck, so what's the odds, dears, if like an undertaker the humorist appears?

CONAN DOYLE.

We ought to give ovation to Arthur Conan Doyle, whose splendidly dramatic and every author has days when he can't write much better than a Goth or a Vandal who is tight, but Doyle has never written a line devoid of grace, or sent me off a-hittin' the flacons for a ha- ha- ha. We don't appreciate him if rightly, but his writing, we have learned to rate him with giants of the earth; but when he has been planted for fifty years, by jing postscript, enchanted, will say he was a king.

Severe Attack of Colic Cured.

E. E. Cross, who travels in Virginia and other Southern States, was taken suddenly and severely ill with colic. At the first store he came to the merchant recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it cured him. No one else could have helped him without a bottle of this preparation. For sale by all dealers.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

A good listener is the best conversationalist. One lives and learns, but he rarely learns as much as he lives. The happiest man probably is a negro with money and gold teeth. Signing a petition probably means less than any other form of penmanship.

Fashion note: Some of the Clinging Costumes seem to hang on a bit too tight.

A small town is one in which a silk hat attracts as much attention as the fire department.

There is more or less romance outside the magazines, and some of it gets into the police court.

"The suff pun on her armor, and dances to the frogs to seek some king or farmer, and has a holiday. She wears a bomb or bluegeoid upon the grand premier, and victims of her dodegon lead sorry lives of fear. Then when the day is over and she is safe in jail, she does not lie in clover, for she the Cause might fight. Instead she shuns her nation, nor tastes of food nor drink, and thus spreads consternation which puts men on the blink. Soon does the warden soften, the jailer sees her free, for she may go more often on some high spring, while she is a terror to statesmen great and small, of victims of her error she is the worst of all. For woman, gentle woman, may lead the well known race as long as she seems human or in her proper place. That woman as a fighter is a sorry sight, indeed, a bully blighter who makes strong men get tight."—Kate Hoskins.

American Rates Lowest in the World

Here are the actual prices paid for service per telephone year in five leading European countries having government ownership, taken from official reports and translated into American money:

Austria	$24.96
Belgium	39.05
France	28.61
Germany	22.69
England	22.20

The average is $29.58 against an average of $30.45 charged by the Bell System in America; but remember, in Austria $1.00 will buy what requires $2.00 in the United States in payment of wages and the purchase of necessities; in Belgium the ratio of prices as compared with the United States is about $1.00 to $2.32, in France $1.00 to $1.48, in Germany $1.00 to $1.50 and in England $1.00 to $2.28.

When the efficiency of the service is considered and when the relative cost of producing the service is computed, American telephone rates are by far the cheapest in the world.
