They found Mr. Baird suffering from a concussion of the brain, though he was seen on the road to recovery. Tuesday Dr. G. J. Hess was called to assist Dr. B. M. McIntyre of Winside, in an examination of William Gabler who was thrown from an automobile at a point nine miles southwest of Wayne. Mr. Gabler

THE New Fall Goods are Arriving

LAST Week and this, Mr. Orr has been in the market looking for the best merchandise bargains for Fall and some of the first purchases have already been received.

You may have heard that prices on dry goods are going sky high on account of the extra demand that may be created for our goods because of the war, but so far this is not the case.

Excepting a few, very few, items that have to be imported the prices are no higher.

This week we have unpacked and marked a new lot of Outings, Gingham, Percalines, Shirtings, Fleece lined Dress Goods, Calico, Cretonnes, Silkaines, Muslins, Sheetings, Etc. The prices are no higher and in some items they are even lower than last year.

Very soon our store will be well filled with all of the things in dry goods and groceries that you'll need for Fall. We already have a representative stock of staples, and the dress goods, ready-to-wear and novelties will soon be here.

We want to make a strong bid for your Fall business by promising a complete stock of absolutely dependable merchandise at prices that you will acknowledge are very reasonable.

Mrs. Clyde Oman and Mrs. C. E. Wright arrived Tuesday morning from Worden, Mont., where the Oman family had gone about a month before. Mr. Oman and two daughters, and Mr. Wright decided to come to Wayne in their automobile, and are expected to arrive the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Wright live at Worden, and will visit relatives in Wayne and vicinity before returning home. John Soules, deputy state fire inspector, is keeping his eyes open for sources of possible conflagration. Any accimutations of inflammable rubbish or combustible materials, violating fire regulations and coming within his jurisdiction, will have his prompt effective attention. He regards with disapproval the custom of burning waste paper in screens on the public streets, and may decide to issue an imperial edict stopping the practice. Mrs. E. B. Girton received word Monday announcing the death of her son Vernon Jones in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Girton left in the evening for Ord, Neb., where the remains were shipped for the funeral and interment. The young man was about 26 years old, and was known by many in the city where at one time he attended the city schools. Particulars of his death have not as yet been received in this city. Wayne friends will sympathize with the sorrowing mother. Rev. Mr. Nitzsche of Pender, arrived in Wayne Saturday evening and was the guest of Rev. R. Moehring until Monday morning. Sunday morning, Rev. Mr. Nitzsche preached in the German-Evangelical church in Wayne, and in the afternoon accompanied Rev. Mr. Moehring to Winside to assist in the dedication of the new bell installed in German Evangelical Lutheran Trinity church at that place. The bell weighs 750 pounds and cost about $200. After a sermon by Rev. Nitzsche, Rev. Moehring spoke the dedicatory words. A large congregation attended the services.

Four Cavaliers

A UNIQUE feature of this year's Chautauqua program is the Cavaliers, seven artists in costumes of the Elizabethan period. The picture above shows four of the members of this company. They present music, mostly in form of ballads, of the period they represent and sketches typical of early English life. Their costumes are said to be historically accurate and are said to represent an enormous expenditure in money. They come on the sixth day of the Chautauqua, both afternoon and evening. The costumes, however, will be worn only at one performance.

JUDGE MANFORD SCHOONOVER

JUDGE SCHOONOVER is the Chautauqua's big attraction on the fourth day, which has been announced as "Men's Day." Every man in the community should hear Judge Schoonover at that time. His address will come at night. It is the desire of the Chautauqua management and the local committee to make this a big get-acquainted day. The Chautauqua will have been with us long enough so that by the fourth day every one should feel thoroughly at home and acquainted with outside guests and others who have been brought here by the Chautauqua.

Judge Schoonover's address will be especially interesting to men and yet it is not in any respect a "Men's Meeting" affair. Every one will enjoy it, and every one will be made welcome in the broadest sense of the word.

Mr. Schoonover is prominent as a church worker, though a layman of the church. He serves on one of the important boards appointed by the general conference of his church and is well known as a lawyer and jurist throughout the central west. He is said to have the largest Sunday School class in the state of Kansas.

He is the author of the little pamphlet, "No This Year, Mr. Haynes," which is said to have had a larger distribution than any other similar work with one exception. More than 4,000,000 copies have been published and sent out broadcast.

He is a splendid orator and a clear thinker. At Colorado Springs, Colo., a few years ago he won first place among the orators representing the various states of the middle west in a contest between state representatives at this famous summer resort. Colorado had no representative, but the judges were Colorado men.

Where He Didn't Want to Go.
When Representative Charles Davis of Minnesota first went to congress a friend took him in and introduced him to Speaker Cannon.

"What committee would you like to be on?" inquired Uncle Joe.
"It doesn't matter," replied Davis, "except that I do not want to be on the District of Columbia committee. Do not, oh, do not, put me on the committee on the District of Columbia."
So Cannon put him on the committee on the District of Columbia.—New York Sun.

JOHN G. WOOLLEY

THE hundreds who are following Chautauqua announcements this season will be surprised to learn of the coming on to the Chautauqua circuit this year of John G. Woolley. Mr. Woolley was the most prominent figure on the American platform a few years ago, which position he had maintained a great many years. In the last few years he has been living quietly at his home in Madison, Wis.

But he is coming out again. Some believe it will be his last trip over the Chautauqua lecture circuit, and yet he has not explicitly said so. He stands quite as straight and erect as he did when he first came out and has the full strength and vision of a man who has long stood up under great physical strain and a man who has seen much.

He will deliver his world famous lecture, "A Sower," the fifth day of the Chautauqua, and every man, woman and child in the community may well count it a rare privilege to be able to hear this grand man of the platform, so often referred to as "America's Greatest Orator."

COLUMN ADVOCATING WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

(Under Auspices Local Committee.) Who can say that thinking women do not want the ballot?

Advanced legislation for women and children instates having male suffrage only, does not prove that women should not have the ballot.

The increase in the cost of elections will be trivial. Existing precincts and election boards will take care of the new voters in every county excepting Douglas.

The farmers are the backbone of every agricultural community. In Nebraska they produce most of the wealth of the state.

In suffrage states having a rural population similar to Nebraska, the ratio of women voting in farming districts is relatively as large as the number of women voting in cities.

Abraham Lincoln said: "I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in bearing its burdens, by no means excluding women."

Many of your mothers, wives, sisters, sweethearts, all friends ask you to give them the ballot.
