Acute Indigestion. "I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint, but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat anything without any bad effects." Sold by all dealers.—Ad.

WAR AND WORK.

The nations of Europe are wading in slaughter, the sound of their conflict pierces the world; sometimes may collapse and some dynasties totter before the red flags of the fighters are furled. The men of our village are vastly excited, they sit by the pump in the big public square, explaining how Germany's plans should be fought, how Russia and France are both up in the air...

SCHOOL DAYS.

Oh, shriek with joy, you lucky boy, vacation's nearly ended, and soon you'll tool yourself to school—the thought is surely splendid! We grown folks know how tired you've grown of loafing round and fishing now for your books and slate, gaudy books, you've ardently been wishing. We've seen you weep because they keep the schoolhouse closed all summer; you tired of play in his name, but you get this wireless scheme sends messages afar; it all seems like a dream, and not a bit like war. My soldiers used to slay, with sword and spear they heaved; but now, in half a day, they kill a multitude. Alas, I think you keep your my brave, trusty ones, who fought with rusty spears and muzzle loading guns. The modern fighter knows no weary toil, I ween; he sizes up his foes, and kills them by machine. Had I been thus equipped for but one single hour, I'd surely should have stripped all captains of their power."

the schools will hum—that thought is surely splendid.

WAR.

Oh, somebody poisoned the emperor's dog, gave it of arsenic more than a pound; at dawn it was lying out in the field, legs in the air and its tail on the ground. The emperor muttered, "This insult, by me—most certainly calls for a pound of blood, and now I shall finish on the frame of the king who has done my dog a wrong—no more shall he live." The emperor summoned his three million men, and told them to scrap while the scrapping was fine; the king much offended, emerged from his den, and called for his soldiers, and got them in a line. "Ah, then there was war, and the sickening thud, and there was a soul-searching chorus of groans, and blooders waded through rivers, and holed, or twisted their ankles on blocks of bones. The homes of the people made excellent fires, and women were widowed without their consent; and children were waiting in vain for their sires whose blood for a bow-wow was foolishly spent. And when it was over, and legions were slain, a host of doctors looked at the emperor's spirit—"The head wasn't poisoned," he muttered, "that's plain—the confounded dog was a victim of fits."

NAPOLEON.

If great Napoleon's shade looks down from some red star, do mighty hosts arrayed for stern, decisive war, he'll see so many traps ahead of him in his day, that he will groan, perhaps, and heave a sigh, and say: "Great Scott! Had I possessed such implements as those now quite the rage, I should have knocked my foe's—Ah, those quick firing guns—magnificent, sublime! They scatter tons and tons of hardware at a time! And see those soldiers fly on boiler metal wings! They soar up to the sky, and drop their bombs, by jings! Alas, in all my days I rode a spavined steed, but now in motor cars the generals proceed. When messages I sent, a soldier bore the same, and fomen, as he went, shot fragments from his name, but now this wireless scheme sends messages afar; it all seems like a dream, and not a bit like war. My soldiers used to slay, with sword and spear they heaved; but now, in half a day, they kill a multitude. Alas, I think you keep your my brave, trusty ones, who fought with rusty spears and muzzle loading guns. The modern fighter knows no weary toil, I ween; he sizes up his foes, and kills them by machine. Had I been thus equipped for but one single hour, I'd surely should have stripped all captains of their power."

HOW TO BE HEALTHY.

Each morn, before eating, I walk seaward, and, in my walking, I repeat, in different style, before I eat dinner, and thus, you may see, my health is a winner—just gaze upon me! There is for the glutton but sickness and grief; I never eat mutton or chicken or beef; I never eat puddin' or doughnuts or pie; "Be true for the wooden old turnips," say I! A beet or a pumpkin will make enough fat; the vitals my trunk in will thrive upon that. I never drink water that hasn't been fried, for cooking will slaughter the microbes inside. I boil it in an ewe's skin strain through a rag, and then I go to it, until I've a jag. I do not wear clothing, for duds are a snare; I view them—with loathing, and always go bare. I eat in a stable and sleep in a tree. You think health's a fable? Just gaze upon me. I graze with the horses and bowse with the kine, and science indorses this method of mine. Oh, ye who are ailing, 'tis useless to weep! There's one cure unfailing—come, eat with me a sleep in a tree, and a man who whistles with joy all the day; I'm living on thistles and carrots and hay."

'T WAS EVER THUS.

"Old Rox, in his motor, goes by the side of the highway, and his motor is choked by the dust. The rich are too sassy," the toiling one cries; "their nerve is too brassy, dad swears they're eyes! All things are adjusted unfair in this land, and I'm so disgusted I scarcely can stand. The poor man is cheated clean out of his shirt, and then he is treated as though he were dirt. The wealthy employer goes touring around in his old destroyer, just burning the ground; he scatters the gravel and granite and dust on the workers who travel afar—oh, the crusty! The worker grows wealthy, for industry pays; his bankroll is healthy, and happy his days. And then in his motor he scroaches the road, and some other voter, oppressed by his kind of a truck, is humbled and crushed as too trash! They're flaunt-

I'm proud of my Kitchen

And every new bride is entitled to a completely equipped kitchen of which she can be proud.

It is her work shop, and she deserves the best and most modern implements and appliances for making her work easier and quicker.

Brides need this store, for we can furnish them with every needful and labor saving kitchen device that they want. Brides of one and two decades need us more, for their kitchen furnishings have grown old.

Come and see us. Look over our sanitary ice-saving refrigerators—our durable, handsome enamelled aluminum and cast iron kitchen ware—our colanders, sad irons, percolators, roasters, freezers, etc.

You will be surprised to learn how little a modern kitchen costs, when furnished from our store.

ing their plunder, their ill-gotten cash. Some day, the poor tollies will rise as one man, and to the deplorables will fasten the can." The man thus complaining some day may be rich; then he, too, disdaining the man in the ditch, will speed up his motor and go like a gust; there's always a voter to stand in the dust!

WORRY AS A SUCCESS KILLER

St. Joe News: Perhaps there is nothing else so utterly foolish and unprofitable as the habit of worrying. It saps the nervous energy, and robs us of the strength and vitality necessary for the real work of life. It makes existence a burden and weariness, instead of a perpetual joy and blessing, as it should be. Force and severity are necessary to complete development of character and true success. The man who worries is never self-centered, never perfectly balanced, never at his best; for every moment of mental anxiety takes a vitality and push, and robs him of manhood and power. Worrying indicates a lack of confidence in our strength; it shows that we are unbalanced, that we do not lay hold of the universal energy which leaves no doubt, no uncertainty, no habit of worrying. The man who does not worry, who believes in himself, touches the wires of infinite power. Never doubting, never hesitating, he is constantly reinforced from the Omnipotence that creates planets and suns. The habit of worry is largely a physical infirmity; it is an evidence of lack of harmony in the mental system. The well-posed soul, the self-centered man, never wobbles or hesitates. The infinite balance which preserves him from all shocks

PERHAPS you have learned by bitter experience that some ranges are made that do not stand up—that waste lots of fuel during the first few years they are in use—make bother, work and worry—and are a source of annoyance until they are carted off to the scrap heap. We are building our hopes of business on the belief that our customers are looking for ranges that look and make good. That's why we sell Majestic Ranges. Majestic aren't the lowest priced ranges you can buy—meaning first cost. But the purchase price does not represent the most value you can get for your money. Ask the people here who have placed Majestic Ranges in their homes. They will tell you that Majestic Ranges give perfect backing, day after day with unvarying success. That they save many dollars a year on fuel bills—practically eliminate repair expense—and operate like new ranges after years and years of hard usage. In our store you will find many styles and sizes of cook stoves and ranges. You will see here those that will exactly meet your needs and pocket book. Start saving money every day by investing in a Majestic Range. Carhart Hardware

I Must Have Money and for this reason I will offer you the first and second choice of either quarters of section 16-26-2, Wayne county, Neb, for $115 per acre. This land is three and one half miles northwest of Winslow, Neb, and three and one half miles south of Carroll, Neb. Each quarter improved. Only the first and second choice can be bought at this price. This is the best bargain offered in Wayne county today, and is a chance you will not get again. $10,000 can remain on mortgage on each quarter. A. T. CHAPIN Winside, Neb.

The unsuccessful man may often attribute his failure to procrastination and indecision. He loafs on the job, and doesn't do things now. He thinks he will do them tomorrow, and tomorrow never comes.

Colonel Roosevelt hasn't been able to secure first-page positions in the newspapers since the European war started. Whatever plans he may have for advertising himself again, he will have to defer them.

The Herald believes the electoral franchise should and will be granted to women by the election in November in spite of the objectionable cause of some of its devotees who are over-scrupulous, narrow, and unreasonable. The great body of women who are thoughtful and sober-minded, and who are not disposed to burn red fire and hiss demands and effluence through clenched teeth will give notice and sound judgment to exercise of the ballot by their sex. The hair-trigger, barn-storming, irrational, jump-at-conclusions variety, like their counterparts in the ranks of men, are in too small minority to upset the equilibrium of affairs. Most women have high intelligence, safe judgment, fine sensibilities, and a keen sense of discernment. In their hands, influenced by their few clamorous, ripsaw sisters, the ballot will be used wisely and safely.

The Lincoln News thinks Ross L. Hammond was defeated for the nomination for governor because he supported the republican nominees for president two years ago. Would the News have had him leave his party to support the nominee of some other party, and then return to the party abandoned and seek its favor for governor? Did Howell do that? If not, why Hammond? Hammond is a progressive republican as his record will testify, and it is likely he would have been nominated for governor if the disgraceful and well advertised arrest of Howell in Omaha on the eve of the primary had not happened. Howell is also a progressive republican, and his pre-primary campaign made a favorable impression, gaining support with acquaintance. Republicans will unite in the support of Howell as they would have united in the support of Hammond or Kemp if either had been nominated.

The European war is the product of many years of military education. Each nation had been supplying itself with battleships and death-dealing implements of warfare. Each nation had been supporting and training a great standing army. Soldiers had been schooled in the notion of settling differences in deadly conflict. Talk of peace could not sink deep into the hearts of men taught to fight. No one nation is wholly responsible for the war. No immediate cause prompted it. It is the result of a long-developed system of militarism in which the spirit of fight has been encouraged. The nations have vied with one another in preparations for war in training men and buying engines of destruction. And the more they have trained, the more appalling conflict in the history of the world. It is hoped out of the awful baptism of fire will come less militarism, less rival hate, more practical Christianity, more sincere thought and effort for the establishment of universal peace.

BUY EARLY THIS FALL
BECAUSE
 As yet prices of dry goods have not been affected by the war.
 That is because the goods we now get were on hand at the factories before the war started. Later on, we'll all have to pay more and pretty dress goods and silks and new percales and ginghams are going to be hard to get.
 Buy early this fall. It will pay you well.

The New Fall Goods are Here

Thousands of dollars worth of Dry Goods, Coats and Shoes bought in Chicago last week are now here and ready for you. We have bought by far the largest and finest stock we have ever had because it looks as if the people of our community are bound to enjoy the greatest prosperity they have ever known this fall and we have prepared our store to take care of the trade that is sure to result. You who like first look and first choice of the new goods each season should visit our store this week or next and see the stocks at their very best. You will be pleased as well as surprised to find that the prices on dry goods, coats and shoes have not been advanced. As yet you can buy as cheaply as you did one year ago.

Come Now and Get First Choice OF THE NEW COATS AND SKIRTS

If you expect to buy a Coat or Skirt this fall come now while there are hundreds to choose from and you will have the best chance of the season to get a style and material that will please you. Just now we have hundreds of coats—more coats in fact than you would see in many city stores, at every price from $10 to $30. There are dozens of styles for you to choose from if you come now. This is an exceptionally good year to buy a coat as the styles are the prettiest and most sensible and the materials the warmest and most serviceable you have seen in years and prices are just as reasonable as in former years, because the factories had their goods all bought before the war and are asking no advance in prices yet.

You know now if you are going to have a new coat this winter; if you are by all means get it early while you have such a great assortment to choose from.

Here are the Two Favorite Styles in Ladies' Shoes

For dress wear this dainty shoe of patent kid with cloth upper extending down to the heel is the favorite. The patent is very soft like kid, and the sole is light. It is one of the famous Queen Quality's prettiest fall models and sells at $4.00

For street wear, this shoe with round, comfortable toe is best liked. It is made of gun metal and dull kid with either cloth or leather top, and high or low heels. We guarantee these shoes and make good any reasonable complaint. Prices $3 and $4

Children's Guaranteed Shoes

If your boy or girl give these shoes reasonable wear and the shoe shows any imperfection, we will give you a new pair gladly. If we hadn't sold this particular line of Boys' and Girls' shoes for years, and knew from experience that they were good, we could not afford to make such a promise. They are splendid shoes and sell at very reasonable prices.

You pay $1.50 to $2.50—according to size—for just ordinary shoes for your boys and girls. For the same money you can get these guaranteed shoes and they not only wear well but they look neat and stylish.

We know how to fit children's shoes; we will take good care of their feet if you send them to us.

EXTRACTS FROM THE HERALD EXCHANGES

An Inconsistency.
West Point Republican: A curious state of affairs exists in the office of the state game warden. Claims have been filed against the fur farmer, alleged to have been caused by immense flocks of ducks and geese to a farmer near the Platte river, by the birds coming into his feed yards by the thousand and devouring the corn intended for feed cattle. The state protects birds from destruction, hence the farmer logically reasons that the state is responsible for the damage they do. Another case is that of a woman near Chadron who claims $100 damages from the state by reason of pheasants destroying her garden. The game warden is in a dilemma, as are also the claimants. The state has no money to pay the claims, and the law forbids the killing of the birds.

Sample of Corn.
Wakarusa Republican: William Harrison who lives seven miles south of town, sent this office a sample of corn from his field. The six ears average slightly more than nine and one half inches in length and eight inches in circumference, well filled at butt and tip. That section will have a good yield this year.

Miss Schwerin Nominated.
Pierce Leader: The many friends of Miss Emma Schwerin in this city will be gratified to learn that she was nominated for county superintendent of Cedar county at the primary election last week. Miss Schwerin is classed as one of the very best school instructors of the state, having devoted several years to teaching, and is versed in all branches of school work. Cedar county will do well to elect such a capable lady to preside over her schools—and as they say that Miss Schwerin's nomination is equivalent to an election, it goes without saying that she will fill that office next year. Miss Schwerin is a sister of Sam Dan and Aaron Schwerin of this city.

Fatal Scalding.
Belden Progress: Myles Lov Brackett, the little 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brackett, met with an accident last Saturday afternoon and was so badly scalded that he died the following day. The mother was canning pickles, and had a kettle of water boiling on the gas stove, also a kettle of the pickles cooking, and as her back was turned for a moment, the little son grabbed hold of the box on which the stove was sitting, pulling it over, and spilling the kettle of water and the kettle of pickles over him, and scalding him so badly about the arms and lower part of the body that the flesh came off in places. The doctor was called immediately, and did all that he could do, but the little fellow was so badly burned that it was decided Sunday to take him to a hospital. Dr. Johnson made the trip in his car, but the baby died about two hours after reaching there.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.
"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as more than 12 years ago. At that time, I was seriously ill with summer complaint. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.—Ad.

THE WAR SITUATION.

Herman Ridder in New York Staats-Zeitung: I am informed by a reliable statistician that the entire world will control the destinies of over a billion human beings. I cannot quite grasp such a large idea. It is too staggering. The extent of the struggle numbs my mind and grips my heart. The whole sky seems overcast with danger from the north and south, from the east and west. Never has such a storm gathered over our small mistaken dream of peace.

And now the shadow of the conflict is being cast over our land. Let us be sincere with ourselves with the thought that we can find shelter under the great collapse. The international world is bound together too closely. We depend too much the one upon the other for us to stand aside and not feel the reaction upon our economic life. The chain has snapped, and the business of the world will stop until the broken links are replaced.

We suffer unjustly amid the universal sag of commerce, the financial straits of a general shooting fray. Our importer have already put up their shutters, awaiting the restoration of normal trade conditions. Our manufacturers, and I speak feelingly as a comparatively large manufacturer myself, must prepare against new fields of conquest. Yet manufacturers must adopt a more intensive national selling plan, developing our home markets to meet the shrinkage of European business. We must arrange our affairs in anticipation of the day when industry will awaken new life.

We are still suffering from the hysteria natural to the excitement of the first shock. It will take some time to absorb the thought of a war of this magnitude. We are black here and the silver lining there, we feel the gloom of the thing and the thrill of the thing; we think of the right of the thing and know the wrong. We have not yet tempered our hearts with the logic of our leaders. In a few weeks among the days of our grandfathers waging the same wars; struggling to attain the same hopeless ends.

I am haunted by the vague dread that somehow somewhere we will find ourselves involved in the mess. If our losses are any those resulting from the stoppage of business—if misery is only that following the disarrangement of our economic life, then we can count ourselves the favorite of the gods.

It seems that the cost of suppression in the event of nations is blood. The standards of long ago still sway Europe. It is rule or ruin. And when it is all over, the family of nations can collectively and individually ponder the question: Was the game worth the cost?

"The history of nations is full of wasted effort and misguided zeal. Life is strewn with blasted hopes as eternal space is strewn with dead worlds. It is strange that the nations must make the same mistakes over and over and over again. Struggling for the same shattered ideals, even fighting on the very same battlefields, which time and again have been drenched with the blood of determined men, battling for a futile cause. Experience has taught us the lesson, but we have not learned to profit thereby.

We now that a great wrong is being committed. Each side has a portion of the logic, a measure of equity, but neither has a monopoly of the right. Murder, in a small way, is being committed by each side. The life of another in a personal quarrel has been practically stamped out, but murder on a wholesale plan has never been attempted on such a huge scale. Let not the nations ignore the lesson, for there is justice meted out by the divine hand, and each nation received its just deserts, each would pay a heavy price for its folly. The wonder of it is that in this year of 1914 it should be at all.

The result of the war will show nothing more or less than the temporary superiority of one armed group over the other. Germany can win no greater triumphs than those won in the last forty years in the fields of science and art. France and England can only make a steady marchward. It is hard to see how civilization can directly benefit from such an utter horror, such a complete outraging of our finer sensibilities. If I could but believe that this moment sacrifice of life were to bring about a new order with a guarantee of lasting peace, I could snatch a small shred of hope from the general depression. Otherwise, if all these lives have been snuffed out in vain, then it is simply history repeating itself, only more tragically, in hopeless confusion.

The German army has been triumphant. It is on the eve of great victories. Whatever doubts we felt as to the outcome of the apparently unequal struggle, have been swept aside. Germany is too young, too vigorous, too vital to lay down its life before its work in the world has been accomplished. I fear that long weary months of disaster and triumph will drag their bleeding, painful way across the fields of France and Poland before an armistice calls the halt. I can feel the bitterness herein our land, where we are all trying to soften the racial clash. What must it be in the countries that are roared by the realities of war?

GET TO THE CAUSE.

Wayne People Are Learning the Way.

There is but little peace or comfort and not for it to remain with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure it. The cause is usually a general shooting fray. In going so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over fifty years. Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended by thousands for just such cases. Proof of their effectiveness is in the testimony of this Wayne resident.

Mrs. Henry Hansen, Wayne, Neb., says: "Three years ago, I was annoyed by sudden pains in the small of my back, caused by exertion on the construction of a cold. After several days of suffering, I lay across my loins, and I was so lame and sore that I could not get up after sitting. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me, and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. Nothing seemed to give me permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me, and there has never been the least return of the trouble."

PREJUDICE AND THE PRESS

Sioux City Journal: It is not easy to understand why ordinarily fair-minded people persist in the notion that the newspapers are conspiring to conspire to give this class or that the worst of it. The only conspiracy of which the newspapers as a whole can be accused is a conspiracy to print the news. To that conspiracy, all are parties. So long as they are not more than others in carrying out their part of the plot—some more reckless than is conducive to good result. That the conspiracy or any part of it however involves private citizens against one class and favoritism to another is absurd.

Occasionally in their business of collecting the news the newspapers themselves are thwarted by a conspiracy of the fates. Such has been the fact since the breaking out of the European war. If the newspapers have to print as much news as they have to print, and in regard upon one side or the other, it has been for one reason alone—that they could not get it. Never have they laid their plans more elaborately or more carefully to cover a big news event, and never have they strained themselves so desperately to secure the information for which their readers wait.

No newspaper, even if it might feel the inclination, could afford to favor one class of reputable citizens over another. A newspaper could not hit upon any policy that would be easy to justify, if it were to give a special newspaper to be newspaper of all the people. If class publication, it has no right to pose as a newspaper.

Nor is this notion peculiar to war times. Newspapers are brought into existence with one brand or another, of it every now and then. Letters to the editors frequently give evidence of its existence. Men who have radical ideas on denominationalism especially are prone to jump at conclusions. An amusing phase of the thing is that newspapers often are criticized by partisans of both sides. Prejudice is scented in a mere effort to be fair. It is a case of prejudice begetting a suspicion of prejudice. Whatever else the modern newspaper may be accused of, it is fairly free of either racial or denominational prejudice—and there isn't nearly as much party prejudice either as there was once upon a time.

Here is Good News for Stomach Victims

Some very remarkable results are being obtained by treating stomach, liver and intestinal troubles with pure vegetable oils, which exert a cleansing, soothing and purifying action upon the lower bowels, removing the obstruction of poisonous fecal matter and gases and preventing their absorption by the blood. This done, the food is allowed free passage from the stomach, fermentation ceases and stomach troubles quickly disappear.

George H. Marx, for twenty years a leading Chicago druggist, cured himself and many of his friends of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles of years' standing by this treatment, and so successful was the remedy he devised that it has since been placed in the hands of druggists all over the country, who have sold thousands of bottles.

Though absolutely harmless, the effect of the medicine is so rapid and so strong that one of its remarkable effects is, and within a few hours one feels like a new man. Marx's Vegetable Stomach Remedy is now sold here by

Safe Home Matches are Wonderfully Cheap

A first-class mechanic could not make, in a day, as many Safe Home matches as you can buy for five cents. Even if he could, the matches would not be of uniform size, shape, length, strength or thickness.

We make Safe Home matches by machinery—millions and millions of them daily.

The wood is treated and cut, the sticks grooved and compressed, and the ends paraffined and "double dipped"—all by machinery.

You pay no more for Safe Home matches than for the kind you now use. The price is the same—five cents for a large box of perfect matches.

Why perfect! Because non-poisonous. Because non-sparking. Because the sticks do not break when rightly used. Because the heads do not fall off. Because the flame burns evenly. Because Safe Home Matches are impregnated to prevent live charcoal when the flame is extinguished.

All grocers. Five cents a box.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald, September 13, 1888.
C. U. Fisher is putting in a foundation on his lots, south of P. L. Miller, and will put up a fine residence there next spring.

The araders who put some of the roots in better condition for use, have returned to Sioux City. About eight hundred rods were brought.

The union labor and democratic conventions both met Saturday, the former in the forenoon, and the latter in the afternoon.

A. B. Slater is attending the state fair in Lincoln this week.

B. J. Kass went to Omaha Tuesday to buy dry goods, and expects to take in the state fair at Lincoln before he returns.

From the Wayne Herald, September 26, 1895.
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDonald, Friday, September 25.

George Wilcox has secured the contract for painting the standpipe for the city. On the north side, will be placed the business cards of a number of merchants.

The firm of Working & Kruger has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Working retiring from the firm.

Mrs. M. A. Spears has been elected delegate to attend the state W. C. T. U. convention at Beatrice this coming week.

The republican caucuses held in the different precincts were the largest attended of any held in the county for years.

The Nebraska synod of the Lutheran church met in the Lutheran church of Wayne September 25. Rev. W. C. McCool of Ponca, delivered the synodical sermon.

From the Ponca Journal, September 19, 1884.
Mr. H. E. Jones went to Wayne Wednesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. M. S. Davies.

Last spring, Mr. Gookins had a team driver to this place from his old home in Blackhawk county, to a distance of over two hundred miles. With the team came the family dog, trotting along contentedly behind the wagon. When near Sioux City, the dog was overcome by heat and fatigue, and was left, it was supposed, to die. But according to program, as a letter received recently by Mr. Gookins said the dog had returned to the old farm, having found his way back through an unknown country, a lone tramp of two hundred miles.

The election which came off yesterday in Dixon county on the proposition to relocate the county seat at Martinsburg, resulted in favor of Ponca by an immense majority. Fourteen of the precincts have been left from, and the vote is as follows:

Ponca	767	545
Martinsburg	32	35
Dailybranch	39	30
Jonah	59	30
Hooker	20	5
Newcastle	62	5
Silvercreek	52	49
Southcreek	0	63
Clark	0	39
Summerhill	49	55
Ottercreek	22	10
Calena	1	60
Wakefield	27	136
Springbank	21	74
Ponca	383	12
Logan		12

The above figures are not official, and may in one or two instances vary a little, but not enough to change the result.

The remaining precinct, Logan, has not yet been heard from, but locality will vote for Martinsburg. According to the assessor's returns, there are sixty-two votes in Logan. If all voted, they add sixty-two to the above 545 votes for Martinsburg. Total, then, for Martinsburg, 607 votes. Total for Ponca, 767. Total votes cast in county, 1374 votes. All the votes Ponca required was two fifths. Two fifths of 1374 is 550 which is all that Ponca required. It received 767, and hence had 217 votes more than was necessary.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers, rely on Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil. Fine for cuts, burns, bruises. Should be kept in every home. 25 and 50 cents.—Ad.
