

STATE NORMAL YEAR BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

SOME IMPROVEMENTS MADE

Close of the Present Week to Find Everything in Readiness for the Opening.

Monday, September 14, is the date set for the opening of the fifth year of the Wayne Normal as a state school. The six weeks of vacation since the close of the summer session have given an opportunity for the management of the school to look after much needed repairs and improvements on buildings and the end of the present week will find everything in readiness for the opening of the new term.

Among the improvements made during the summer the following may be mentioned: A heating tunnel from the old pipe line in the new administration building; new wardrobes placed in the dormitory rooms; nearly all dormitory rooms reacquainted; a new gas machine installed for use in the domestic science department; repair of the roof on Terrace hall; new floors in the corridors and some of the rooms of the Terrace hall; new gates for the large boiler.

The erection of a temporary gymnasium is now under consideration. When the old building was removed the gymnasium then in use was partitioned and has since been used to provide classrooms for the existing school. This leaves the school without any facilities for indoor athletics. At the last meeting of the board, President Conn was authorized to secure plans and report the probable cost of a gymnasium. Professor Hunter is working out the plans, and they will be ready to submit for the approval of the board on October 1.

STATE NORMAL NOTES

President Conn attended a conference of normal school presidents at Lincoln Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Betcher was granted a leave of absence at the meeting of the board held on August 25, and she expects to spend a year in the University of Chicago.

Two members of the Wayne alumni have recently received notices of election to positions in public school work. J. Earl Beach will be principal of the Taylor, Neb., schools, and James E. Britton will have charge of Latin and mathematics at Crofton.

The pupils of the training school met last Monday, and the following grades were organized for the ensuing year: Kindergarten, first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth. Grades five and seven, because of the lack of room, will not be represented in the work of the Normal this year. Pupils who expect to enter the kindergarten or grades one and two should report at the ward building on Monday at 8 o'clock. All other grades will meet at the same hour in the training school room.

TRADE CARNIVAL IN WAYNE ALL NEXT WEEK

SPECIAL BARGAIN OFFERS

Merchants Open Fall Buying Season With Extra Attractive Announcements

Wayne's stores have been carefully stocked to meet the requirements of the most critical and exacting buyers, and are now advertising this week as opening week, offering extra bargains and planning to carry off trade in fall and winter goods in a manner sure to please the public.

When a Wayne merchant makes a reduction in price of any commodity, he cuts below the real value, which it should sell. He doesn't stick the price up a few notches in order to seem to bring it down lower when he makes a cut. He couldn't do it if he would, and he wouldn't do it if he could. People know him, and they know the qualities and values of goods offered for sale. It would not be possible to fool the buyer with the goods in hand for inspection.

The local dealer wishes to sustain his good reputation and further increase himself in the confidence and esteem of the public. He is here all the time. He is anxious to build bigger and better. His hope lies in strengthened friendship and enlarged trade. Thus, when he cuts down a price he virtually makes a loss on the public. He is here all the time in the hope of further stimulating closer trade relations. That is what Wayne merchants propose to do next week in beginning the fall trading campaign. Read their announcements in this issue and see what they have prepared to offer.

CHRISTIAN PROPHECY AND EUROPEAN WAR

Last Sunday evening, Dr. Alexander Corkey preached on the war in Europe and its relation to Christianity, taking for his text, Mark xiv, 7. "When ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars, be not troubled; for such things must needs be; but the end is not yet."

He began his discourse by stating that Christianity was no more to blame for the tragic war in Europe than it was to blame for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. "The very same spirit of envy, greed and hatred which was responsible for the death of Christ is the cause of the present tragedy which is crucifying the peasantry of Europe on the cross of war."

After stating that the present war is the most savage, barbarous and bloody war ever seen on earth, and giving the statistics showing the stupendous nature of the struggle, the speaker narrated the rapid progress of events from the assassination of the heir to the Austrian throne until the whole of Europe, with the exception of border nations, was plunged into the barbarities of modern warfare.

"Does anyone think," asked the speaker, "that the pistol shot of a Serbian student was any more to blame for the war in Europe than the crucifixion of Jesus Christ was to blame for the crucifixion of Jesus Christ?" He then set forth his views of the real causes of the present war. "Two things are to blame for this wreck of European civilization and for the human slaughter pens in Belgium, France, Germany, Austria, and Russia," declared Dr. Corkey. "These two things are militarism and the despotism of kings." The government of Europe has been a government of Europe has been a government of Europe has been a government of Europe have cost the poor toilers of the continent upwards of $60,000,000,000 in the last twenty years. Eight million idle men have been supported by overtaxed and overburdened people in times of peace. Year after year, these eight million men not doing one stroke of productive work, but educating themselves in methods of slaughtering their fellow men. The millions of Europe—since the war, and they were the cause of the war, which the conflict between Austria and Serbia offered for a general war. "Militarism has propagated in Russh, Germany, France, and other European countries race hatred, brutal ideals, and actual paganism, and has been throttling Christianity until the love of Jesus Christ seems to have departed altogether from the nations of Europe and is supplanted by a bitterness and a racial hatred which seem impossible to the American people. "Let Europe have the blessings of popular government that America has enjoyed for over a century: let its nations enjoy government of the people, by the people and for the people, and even in Europe the different nationalities will soon learn from the gospel of Christ that all Europeans are brothers and that God is the common father of them all."

Christian people ought to look on this war as a means of positive blessing to the world, just as our own terrible Civil War became in the end a blessing to America. "This war will deal militarism in Europe a death blow," the speaker asserted, "and after it is over, some kings may be looking for new jobs." It would not be surprising to find some ex-kings of Europe on the lecture platform in America a few years hence, lecturing on the "Triumphs of Democracy." In closing, the speaker showed the folly of war as a rational means of settling disputes among nations. He said the first war in the world was the famous war between Cain and Abel. Cain mobilized his forces quickly, attacked Abel suddenly on the flank, and murdered him, gaining a victory, and utterly annihilating his enemy. In war, the man who can murder most surely and quickly like Cain is always the victor, but anyone man might does not make right, and the blood of righteous Abel still speaks though he has been dead for thousands of years, and preaches to men the wickedness, folly, and madness of war as a method of settling disputes among men who are made in the image of God.

Under God, freedom will have a new birth of freedom in coming years, and Christianity will have a new meaning in the ill-fated continent. Once more Christians in Europe will be able to pray sincerely for freedom, that his Kingdom may come and his will be done on earth as it is in heaven.

Standing in the picture behind the cattle, reading from left to right, are Fred A. Patterson, buyer for the Cudaby Packing company, who purchased the cattle; James B.  The temporary organization was then made permanent, and the following candidates were placed in nomination: For treasurer, I. O. Woolston; for clerk, M. O. Cunningham; for sheriff, the first ballot resulted, Tracy 20, Trotter 10, Cunningham 29. Cunningham received the nomination on the second ballot.  From Ponca Journal, September 26, 1884:
 A melancholy and discouraging disaster set in on Tuesday, the first day of the fair.
 Monday evening was an evening of misfortunes and scurrillages. One man was mauled by a slungshot, another had his face mopped and got bounced out of doors, another tried to carve a man with a razor, and another tumbled into the creek and came near drowning.
 Last week's election was the third county seat contest in this county since its organization. The first occurred some twenty or twenty-five years ago, and was between Ponca and the town of Dixon, a place then the westernmost town of the county. There were not many people in the county at the time, yet they all turned out and made a desperate fight. Ponca won by a small majority. Eight years ago, there was a contest between Ponca and Martinsburg, in which that place lacked only eight votes of getting the county seat.

Come Now and Get First Choice of the New Fall Goods

Our Store is Now Ready for Your Fall Business

Hundreds of New Coats Ready for You

If you come in now you will find dozens and dozens of coats in your size to choose from. You can try on all the new styles and have plenty opportunity to see which best becomes you. This is an especially good year to buy a coat because the materials are so warm and serviceable and the styles so sensible. If the cape coats of a few years ago, there are dozens of pretty plain styles with slightly flared skirts to choose from. Folks who wear large sizes will find the styles this year just suited to them. As for price, you will not pay a cent more than usual on account of the war, because the factories had all their cloth bought before the war trouble started, and as long as their present stock lasts they are not raising their prices. The latest prices—$24.00—will buy a good warm coat and at $12.50 to $20.00, there are hundreds to choose from. A few real time ones are $25.00 and $30.00.

We believe you will be surprised when you see the hundreds of coats that are here—there are more coats than you would expect to find in a dozen stores like this, and you will wonder how we ever expect to sell them all. We have developed a business through which we sell hundreds of coats in other places, and on this account we have more coats here now than you would see in most city stores. When you want a coat, you do not need to send or go away from home to get a big selection. You can find one of the largest stocks in the state here in your own town and you can buy your coat at much below what city people pay. And what is most important—you can see what you are getting here, you can have plenty of time to make your selection and if your coat should be more unsatisfactory in any way, we are right here to replace it.

Come in this week and try on the coats—the one that will please you better than any you would find all season may be here now.

Buy Guaranteed School Shoes

If reasonable wear brings out any defect in a pair of our boys' or girls' shoes, we have the manufacturer's permission to replace them. You do not have to wait while we correspond with him—you'll get new shoes on the spot. In six years we have had very few complaints about Kreider's school shoes and we know they are the best to be had. The good part of it is that they are no higher in price than ordinary shoes. $1.50 to $2.50, according to size, one year to six years, buys a good looking, good wearing shoe and for 50 cents more you can get the prettiest styles in baby doll patents and gum metals you will find. We know how to fit your children's feet, and if you bring them to us, we will fit them properly or not at all. Most of our foot troubles come from the wrongly fitted shoes we wore when children. You can save your children these troubles by bringing them to us for their shoes.

Buy Early This Fall

If you do, you will get your goods at the same prices you paid one year ago. The goods we have now were bought by the big wholesale houses before the foreign war scare and they very generously are not asking any more for the goods at long as their present stock lasts. When they buy again, they will without question have to pay a stiff advance for many things and that means you and I will have to pay more. We bought heavily on account of this condition and we believe you will save money by getting the things you are going to need this fall early, while the present stock lasts.

Buy Sample Blankets and Save One-third

Every year the Chicago firm for whom I traveled allows us to buy their road salesmen's sample blankets. These are blankets which the salesmen carry about the country in trunks when taking orders. Sometimes they get slightly soiled, so the house adopts the plan of selling all samples at one third discount. These blankets are the pick of hand-washed wools, always are and when you buy them, you not only save one third but you get the best blankets to be had. Last year, our samples were sold before the winter was fairly started, as people have learned how cheap they are. We have several hundred pairs again this season, but it would be wise for you to come early if you want them.

This Style Shoe is the Great Favorite for Dress Wear

You will notice that the cloth upper extends clear down to the heel, only the vamp and toe being made of patent leather. The patent is very light weight—the sole is thin, and this together with the cut out heel gives the shoe a very light, fine, dressy appearance. Such is the fashion in dress shoes this season, and it will mean that you should have another pair of good stout dull leather shoes with roomy toes and broader heels for street and every day wear. Whatever style you desire is here now in your size in the Famous Queen Quality make, and if you are at all hard to fit, now is the time to come, while we have every size and width.

Queen Quality shoes must be good as more of them are sold than any other shoe made, and they cost no more than ordinary shoes—$3.00, $3.50, and $4.00.

If you wish to freshen up a bit after a dusty ride in from the country, visit the rest room on the balcony in the rear of our store, where you will find a looking glass and comb, wash basin and towel, and a whisk broom. There is also a ladies' and children's toilet on the balcony and a place to take care of the little ones. We built this balcony for your comfort, and you will please us by using it whenever you are in town.

All the New Skirts Have Long Junics

The skirt shown here is a very popular style, and made of fine serge or wool poplin. It sells for $6.00. Other styles with pleated or scalloped tunics sell at $6.00 and $7.50. For those who like a skirt wide around the bottom, there are styles in which the foundation skirt is pleated. These are very becoming to large figures. Young folks who want novelty styles will find pretty styles made up of a combination of Roman stripe tunic and plain foundation or vice versa. One very good seller is a full accordion pleated skirt of a rich plaid.

The prices of all the skirts are very reasonable—$6.00 to $7.50, and $8.75 for a few made of silk warp materials.

Before the end of the week we expect from New York a shipment of pretty waists in crepes, organdies, and silks, to sell at $1.25 and $2.50.

THE WAYNE HERALD

The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County.

Published Every Thursday.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wayne, Neb., as Second Class Mail Matter.

E. W. HULSE, Editor and Proprietor

Subscription, $1.50 a Year.

The Herald has no responsibility for the contents of the Labor day edition of the Union Advocate of Sioux City.

The publication was prepared under the management of A. C. Gant who will be remembered as having directed the souvenir edition of the two Wayne papers, and the production is very creditable in all respects. It contains fifty-six pages, and is neatly printed on good paper. As a special edition expert, Mr. Gant is a top-notch.

Baseball is often the source of a great deal of open friction between towns. On account of disagreement over a game at the county fair at Stanton last week, the Pilger Herald, claiming to reflect the feeling of home people, is vigorous in its adverse criticism. The Fullerton Post defends its town's ball team against what it claims was a savage and unwarranted attack from the St. Paul Photograph. Often the people of a town rally to the support of their ball team so intensely that they regard the opposing club and all its friends with open enmity. The result is bitterness between the towns of rival teams, and the ill will of each is apt to find full expression in the local newspaper. For the promotion of business and social enjoyment, the friendship of neighboring towns should be cultivated, and if maintaining a ball team engenders bitter antagonism and hatred, it should be disbanded and forgotten as soon as possible.

The terrible European tragedy, reviving the spirit of the middle ages, should thrill every person in America with gratitude over citizenship in a country free from the influence of militarism. Every citizen, whether he is here by birth or adoption, should be thankful that he lives under a flag which fosters peace, equal opportunity, equal nobility, and freedom from class distinction. The highest civilization, shown by an individual or reflected by a government, is given in the highest regard for the rights of others, the most unselfish devotion to uplifting other people, other races, making them better in soul, cleaner and healthier in thoughts and modes of living, and happier in all their relations. The United States government, putting into practice the wishes of a majority of its people, is manifestly superior in all the attributes of genuine civilization that of any other nation in the world. Thus, the man, woman, or child whose lot is cast here, should be truly appreciative and thankful, and should not only do his or her part in encouraging still higher standards at home, but should also breathe into the crushed and bleeding hearts of Europe the spirit of peace and good will, that the tinsel of monarchs and the dross of militarism may disappear, and be supplanted by a civilization exalted and sustained by practical christianity.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church.
 (Rev. F. E. Blessing, Pastor.)
 Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be, "The Ten Virgins," Matt. xxv, 1-3.

 Divine worship every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and in the evening at 8 o'clock.
 The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be, "A Divine Temple," Ephesians ii, 20-22. When we speak of a temple, our thoughts go back to the central shrine of Judaism, which was situated in Jerusalem. The first "house of God" was the tabernacle of ancient times, but this was replaced during Solomon's time by a permanent structure of great magnificence. But when we speak of the temple we do not alone think of the ancient temple of the Jews, but we also think of the temple of the Holy Ghost, the human body. As Paul says, "Know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost?"

But within the temple of clay there is still a grander temple than that of the ancient Jews, or even the human body. It is the image of God, the human soul. As man builds this temple, so he rears this structure, he will determine whether it is a divine or a satanic structure.
 The subjects of the evening sermons for the rest of this month will be based upon the subject, "Life." For September 31, "The Value of Life," James iv, 14; September 20, "A Standard Life," Acts xxvii, 29; September 27, "Life's Center and Circumference," Col. iii, 11.
 The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. W. C. Martin on next Thursday afternoon, September 10.
 All who are expecting to enter the catechetical class this year please give your names to the pastor as soon as possible.
 The annual meeting of the Nebraska synod of the general synod Evangelical-Lutheran church, will be held at Allen, Neb., on October 7-11.

 (Rev. Alexander Corkey, Pastor.)
 On next Sunday morning, the new baptismal font which has been prepared by the Presbyterian church by Mr. and Mrs. John T. Brestler will be dedicated to its sacred use, and the ordinance of infant baptism will be administered by the pastor. The subject of the special sermon will be, "What Manner of Child Shall This Be?"
 In the evening, the pastor will preach on the subject, "Signs of a New Epoch in the World." This sermon will show the bright light which is cast on human destiny at present by the ideals and government of America in contrast with the depressing effect of civilization's breakdown in Europe.
 There will be a "birthday" picnic at the home of Mrs. Ash, south of town, next Thursday afternoon, when the ladies of the congregation will meet for a picnic supper, each bringing as many pennies as they are years old. The men are invited out to the supper.
 Last Sunday morning, a large attendance of the membership greeted the pastor on his return from his three months' leave of absence. He spoke briefly of his regret that he would leave them again, so soon, thanking the congregation for their many kindnesses during his pleasant pastorate in Wayne. Speaking from the text, "I have learned from experience," he said that all of life was a school, and our deepest lessons are learned in the school of experience. The Christian learns in this school the value of the Bible and the all-important truth that our fellow men are worthy of confidence. Apart from their ignorance, which is being constantly removed, men show their likeness to their creator, and when we do unto our fellow men as we want them to do unto us we find that the world is peopled with men who respond honorably and kindly to our efforts. The chief lesson experience teaches is a profound trust in God and the growing assurance that he makes no mistakes in his dealings with his earth-born children. The men of faith are the men who have achieved, and in the fellowship of Christian people our own faith is strengthened.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison, Miss Lulu Morrison, Mrs. James Morrison, Sr., and Howard Morrison, all of Coleridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Adams of Laurel, were Sunday visitors at the R. R. Smith home west of town. They came over by automobile, and returned Sunday evening.

W. L. Richardson of Bonesteel, S. D., was in Wayne Friday renewing acquaintances and looking after property which he owns here. He visited his son on a farm near Wakefield Thursday. Richardson moved from Wayne to Bonesteel five years ago. Near town he owns a farm on which his sons are employed, and he divides his attention between the place and a transfer line.

Zeph Morgan, who sold his farm seven miles southwest of Wayne, to Carl Wright, who moved here recently from Montana, went Monday to Red Oak, Ia., near where he owns a farm, and where he will locate. He is there this week to build a barn and make other improvements and was accompanied by C. Cassen who has been employed at the work. Mr. Morgan sold his crop and stock to Mr. Wright, and therefore will soon be ready to move.

The Herald wishes to call attention to the meeting of the Wayne Chautauqua association to be held in the office of A. R. Davis Monday evening, September 14, at 7.30 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and consider the question of holding a chautauqua next year. Members of the association and all others interested in the chautauqua movement ought to attend and give their course to consideration of the proposition. It would be most unfortunate to abandon the chautauqua, and people who are alive to the best interests of the town would not have it given up. The way to insure continuance of the enterprise is to get behind it and help push it along. Plans for the future will be considered at the meeting Monday evening.

At a meeting of the county superintendents of Wayne, Dakota, Thurston, Burt, Cedar, and Dixon, at Emerson, Tuesday, the following officers of the association were elected: H. M. Barton of Emerson president, W. A. Poucher of Talcott secretary. It was decided to hold a teachers' meeting at Emerson October 10, and a program will be issued in due time. Both the republican and democratic candidates for state superintendent will be invited to attend and address the meeting. Kate McHugh of Omaha will also be asked to take part in the program. Prof. O. R. Bowen and Prof. C. H. Bright of Wayne, will be asked to speak in the high school section. Miss Alwine Luers of Wayne, will lead the primary

Big Ben should be in every farmer's home

You men who live on the farm have got to be heavy workers. And if you are heavy workers you require heavy watches and lots of it.

For heavy sleep is heavy work's friend and it is heavy sleep that you require for the heavy sleeper to get up without help.

That's where Big Ben comes in. Big Ben makes it easy every morning.

Big Ben is a truth-telling and reliable alarm clock.

He gets you up, he never fails. You're always up on the dot if he's in the sleeping room.

See him in my window next time you come to town. Hear about your good morning. He is well worth meeting, indeed.

FARMER DEVELOPS NEW APPRECIATION

Reprinted from Ashton, Idaho, Enterprise: The Farm Journal, Philadelphia, received the following letter from an Iowa farmer, and reprinted it in its last issue:

"We farmers need awakening to the fact that we have unmistakably reached the period where we must think and plan. I am one of the slow German farmers, that had to be shown, and I am now giving my experience—that others may profit for knowledge is more expensive now than it was ten years ago.

Twenty-nine years ago I began my farm career. I had an old team and $50. Our furniture was mostly home-made—chairs, cupboards and lounge made from drygoods boxes, neatly covered with ten-cent cretonne by my girl-wife. We wanted eighty acres. Being a boy of good habits, I got all needed machinery and groceries of our home merchants on credit, until fall crops were sold. The first year was a wet season, and I did not make enough to pay my creditors. I was forced on date of promise and explained conditions, paying as much to each as possible, and they all carried the balance over another year. They continued to accommodate me until I was able to buy a forty-acre piece of my own.

As soon as I owned these few acres, the mail-order houses began sending me catalogues, and gradually I began getting my loose change to them, sending my accounts stand in my home town, where I had gotten my accommodation when I needed it.

We then had one of the thriftiest little villages in the state—good line of business in all branches, merchants who are willing to help an honest fellow over a bad year, and a town full of people who came twice a week to trade and visit. Our little country town supported a library, high school, band, ball team, and we had big celebrations every year. A farm near a live town soon doubles in value. I sold my forty acres at a big advance and bought an eighty, gradually adding to it until I had two hundred acres of the best land in Iowa. I then felt no need of making favors, and found it easy to patronize the mail order agents that came almost weekly to our door. I regret to say that I was the first in the county to make up a neighborhood bill and send it to a mail order house. Though we got bit once in a while, we got in the habit of sending away for stuff.

Gradually our merchants lessened their stocks of goods—for lack of patronage. Finally, we began to realize that when we needed a bolt quickly for machinery, or clothing for sickness or death, we had to wait a week or more for it, which wasn't so pleasant. One by one, merchants moved to places where they were appreciated, and men of less energy moved in. Gradually our town has gone down; our business houses are "chucky" in appearance, and there are empty stores, schools, churches and walks are going down, we have no band, no library, no ball team. There is no business in the town, and therefore no taxes to keep things up. Hotel is closed for lack of travel. Go down to the depot and get the freight pull in, and you see the sequel in mail order packages.

Nine years ago, my farm was worth $195 an acre; today I'd have a hard matter to sell at $167 an acre. It is too far from a live town so every farmer has said that wants to buy. He wants a place near the schools and churches, where his children can have advantages. I have awakened to the fact that in helping to pull the town down, it has cost me $5,600 in nine years. Like majority of farmers, I didn't figure far enough ahead. This sort of business means going away with country towns. What will it mean to have only a few large cities at a distance of five hundred or one thousand miles? What are we going to do with our children, who are demanding a better advantage than we had?

Those cities we help to build return no favors; they take our money, but offer no credit in time of need. If we want high schools, etc., we must raise the money and build near our farm homes or send our boys and girls to the cities at great expense, amidst temptations of which the farm has no equal. Neither am I the only awakening farmer. These mail order agents that come to our homes every week are becoming a nuisance, and unless it doesn't leave the women and children alone on the farm.

These are some facts that need consideration, and I have decided that the safest proposition all around is for the country people to look after their own interest, and build up their own country towns that bring value to their farms. Let those who want to patronize the city mail order houses go there to live, getting their living where they give their patronage. The remainder of my life will be given to building up the home town that I helped to pull down. Brother farmers, you can take my advice or get your knowledge the way I got mine.—Hans Garbus.
