The prize is on exhibition in J. G. Mines jewelry store. Mrs. C. E. Nevin of Laurel, gave a report Tuesday morning at the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, which was held in Pawnee City, in October. The report was read in the city library at Wayne, and the local clubs were represented. The report was excellent, and was listened to with interest. The residence of V. A. Senter had a unique experience last Friday. Mrs. Senter found the rooms filling with smoke. She rushed upstairs, and then into the basement, but could not find the cause of the fire. There, finally, she discovered that a celluloid comb, lying on a table, had been ignited by the rays of the sun, which

WEEK'S HAPPENINGS AT NORMAL SCHOOL. The next meeting of the board of education will be held at Lincoln on December 8. The normal male quartet report:

NEWS OF THE WAYNE SCHOOLS FOR WEEK. Teachers and pupils are enjoying a vacation of two days, this week. Miss Katherine Lewis is teaching the sixth grade this week on account of the absence of Miss Della Abbott. Miss Arel Ellyson, of the intermediate class, is at her home at Newcastle, having been called home by the serious illness of her father. The kindergarten department entertained the primary pupils yesterday afternoon. Miss Alwine Meyer of the high school faculty will spend her vacation at her home at Columbus. Miss Jessie Teich will go to her home at Bancroft. Visitors of the week were Misses Lucile Seace, Lenore LeGrand, Elizabeth Taylor, Effie Riddell, Mrs. Eli Laughlin, Mrs. Arthur Norton and Dr. J. T. House. The fourth grade favored the high school with a Thanksgiving song Tuesday afternoon, which was very well rendered and much enjoyed by the high school. The three delegates to the High School Leaders' Conference to be held at Emerson Dec. 5 and 6, were elected Wednesday. Those chosen were Warda Randol, Cooper Ellis and Leroy Owen. Dr. J. T. House addressed the high school Friday morning on "Reasons Why One Should Read the Classics." He stated that any great book deals with crucial experiences common to all people, and that through reading great stories of life we are better able to understand those about us. The address was thoroughly appreciated by all and especially by those in the English classes. The juniors have reason to be proud of the program presented by the class Thursday morning. It consisted of readings by Warda Randol, Grace Nettleton and Francis Oman, and a collection of Swedish songs sung in that language by Anna Granquist. The programs given from week to week are improving with each effort. Some of the grades enjoyed Thanksgiving programs Wednesday afternoon. The junior class and high school teachers enjoyed a very pleasant party in the music room at the high school Friday evening. Children's games were indulged in as it was a "little folks' party." Prizes were awarded to Everett Hoguewood as being costumed to best represent a little boy, to Elizabeth Mines as being the youngest appearing girl and Miss Mabel Dayton as the most little-girlish appearing teacher. Refreshments were served and the company dispersed feeling that the event was one long to be remembered.

Women appreciate the Economy of this Store

Every woman who wants to buy with both sides of every dollar she spends can do so by watching our advertisements each week. We don't set aside certain days to give bargains. Every day you will find our prices decidedly lower than in any other store in town. But true economy is not so much in paying the smallest prices as it is in paying the smallest prices and getting the best merchandise. We sell nothing that we cannot recommend ourselves. Right now we offer you the best quality in enamel and tin ware—cutlery—and kitchen and home furnishings—for less money than you can buy them for anywhere else. It is not our word you have to take for this. Come and see for yourself.

PUBLIC AUCTION FOR REAL ESTATE SALES. Elsewhere in this issue you will two properties advertised to be sold at public auction. This method of disposing of real estate is not new in many parts of the country, but it is somewhat surprising that the up-to-date west is behind many of the older communities in this particular. It seems to be the only logical way to sell this or any other kind of property. When sold in this way and, given proper publicity by advertising, it brings seller and buyer together in a way that cannot be done by any other means and where tried has fully demonstrated it as being the most feasible method of getting satisfactory prices to the seller. You can have a property that for some good reason you wish to dispose of and your nearest neighbor would be a willing purchaser if he knew of your desire to sell, but unless you just happened to mention it would never know you wanted to sell, and consequently make no attempt to buy, and should he find out you wanted to sell, and he wanted to buy, his first move would not be to let you know it, but try to make you believe that he either couldn't or wouldn't buy under any circumstances. He wouldn't under these conditions spread the news to your neighbors or other persons who would become competitors for the unique social event last Saturday evening under the name of "County Fair." The proceeds of the evening netted the association $23.42. The November number of the Goldenrod made its appearance Tuesday. A number of excellent half tones and appropriate cartoons make this an unusually attractive issue. The entertainment committee has secured Mrs. James Miller to act as accompanist for Marion Green when he appears for a recital at the chapel of the school on Wednesday evening, December 2. November 30 closes the semi-annual period and the usual report to the governor will be made, giving a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures from June to November inclusive. The Booster Association of the school took charge of the general exercises Friday morning at a holiday rally in the interest of the big football game with Bellevue which is scheduled for Thanksgiving day! A new bulletin will be mailed from the office of the school this week announcing the short winter courses, which will begin on Monday, November 30. The subjects receiving special emphasis will be Agriculture, Manual Training, Bookkeeping, Arithmetic and English Composition. There is an increasing demand for members of the faculty to address educational meetings held in various parts of the state. Last Saturday Professor Britell filled an engagement at Lynch, Professor Bright was at Clearwater, Miss Fairchild addressed a patrons' meeting at Battle Creek and Dean Hahn spoke at Frooper.

More than fifty applicants for a teachers' certificate were registered in the state examination held at the normal last Friday and Saturday. Professor Keckley returned Monday from Alliance, Ohio, where he was called last week by a telegram announcing the death of his grandmother. In addition to her duties as high school principal at Osmond, Miss Margaret Schemel is taking in absentia work in the University of Nebraska. Mr. C. THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES

M. E. Church.
(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor.)
Whether you were at the devotional meeting of the Epworth League last Sunday evening or not you will want to be present next Sunday. The young people are putting on a good program and are anxious to have you as a regular attendant. Why not make the 6:30 service a regular number in your Sunday attendance? A very decided awakening of interest was manifested in the Ladies' Bible Class last Sunday and better things are yet to come. Watch the class grow. Come on men, you had better get busy or the ladies will get your banner. The subject for the lesson next Sunday is, "Christ Crucified," found in Mark 15:21-41 and Luke 23:39-43. The Golden Text, "Surely Hath He borne our griefs and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God and afflicted."

Two very attentive audiences greeted the pastor last Sunday. The morning theme was, "God's Will and Man's Will." The message was in part, "The penal code in our civil laws is based upon the fact that man is a willing and responsible being. The co-operation, rather than submission, with the Father's will is the highest function of the human will. Not to surrender the rudder of life's career, but to steer that life by the light of the Father's revealed will is true success. That doing the will of God is not only a suitable epithet for a tombstone but a high privilege to be enjoyed by all who wills to co-operate with the Father's will. We should live now to do God's will, not waiting for holier times. There are parts of God's will that can only be done on earth. Then let us be up and about the Father's business. The tasks assigned may differ from those in the heavens, but the manner of doing them is always as in heaven. In the natural heavens the will of God is always implicitly obeyed. There the performers have no choice. It is a mechanical obedience with no power to refuse or fail to obey. With man it is different. He must will to obey, or he may even will to disobey. Is the result of will and intelligence to be rebellion? Is our glory to be because our shame? Or do we do His will because we know His character and own his kingdom? "Lo I come in the volume of the book it is written of me to do thy will O God." The service for next Sunday morning will be under the direction of the society for the cure and prevention of tuberculosis. Doctor George J. Hess and Professor Hickman will deliver the addresses. The subject for the Epworth League devotional meeting at 6:30, will be Builders of Methodism. William Taylor, Pathfinder, on three continents. Matt. 28:19-20. The subject for the evening's sermon will be "Then the Fiat," from the text, "First the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear." Mark 4:29. Remember the Thanksgiving service in the Presbyterian church Thursday evening.

First Baptist Church.
(Rev. B. P. Richardson, Pastor.)
Last Sunday afternoon, a number of young people accompanied the pastor to the Stamm schoolhouse, and rendered several splendid musical numbers. The house was full, and everyone seemed to enjoy the service very much. We hope to have someone go along with us every time, to help with the music.
In the morning, at the church, four members were received into church membership, and at the evening service seven young people were baptized, thus publicly testifying to their faith in Christ.
Several of these people were reached because someone became interested in them, talked to them, and then told the pastor about them. Every member of the church ought to be a connecting link between the pastor and some unsaved person. Have you found such a one, talked to him, and then told the pastor?
The ladies feel very grateful for the hearty support given them by everyone on last Friday. It was one of the most successful affairs we have had for a long time. We feel grateful to the ladies for their faithful labors.
On December 4, in the evening, the young people are planning for a large, enthusiastic social. They are undertaking something worth while. They need and deserve your help.
Sunday morning the pastor will preach on the subject, "The Measure of Value."
In the evening, his subject will be, "Jesus on Calvary." This will be the beginning of a series of sermons preparatory to the Christmas message.
The young people's meeting will be in charge of the missionary committee Sunday evening.
Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, the Mission circle will meet with Mrs. C. D. Martin. Mrs. C. E. Sprague will be the leader.
On Monday, the pastor went to Norfolk to meet with Secretary Berry and the pastors of the association in conference over the needs of the weaker churches in this part of the state.

ject of the lesson will be "Christ Crucified." Mark 15:21-41.
Regular morning services at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "The Call of Eternity," Micah 2:10. In the bloom of youth when the young man or the young woman, stands looking into the face of the world, there come many calls. Trade with all its rush, fever, wear and waste, lays its hands upon the young and says, "I need you to plan, think, toil, accumulate and die in my service." Society likewise sends its call, saying the need you wish your wit, beauty, talents and accomplishments to shine in the brilliant circles of fashion, and I will give you pleasure if you will yield." Professional life also comes with its call, and says, "I need you to adorn your chosen calling and will gratify your highest ambitions if you will come."—But from down the many vanished centuries there sounds another voice, with greater emphasis and power: "Arise ye and depart, for this is not your rest."
Evening services at 7:45 o'clock. The theme for the evening will be "Rekindling the Fading Light," Luke 11:35.
Luther League at 6:45 o'clock. All of the young people of the church are requested to be present.
The regular Thanksgiving services will be held at the Presbyterian church.
The next meeting of the Ladies' Aid society will be held at the home of Mrs. E. C. Tweed, on December 3.
The ladies will hold their annual Bazaar on December 12. Catechetical class meets every Saturday afternoon at half past two. If there are any who wish to enter the class, be present next Saturday.
A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

NO PUBLIC WATER TO FIGHT FIRE AT ALLEN

Allen, Neb., Nov. 21.—Fire starting in the R. P. Good product station, at 6 o'clock last night burned down the Edwards & Bradford lumber yard and store and four other buildings. The blaze started in the chimney of the Good building, then the flames caught the Charles A. Stewart building adjoining, and occupied as a produce station by J. D. McDevitt. The Edwards & Bradford store, across a sixteen-foot alley, soon was in flames. The residence of H. C. Heck, owned by Edwards & Bradford, caught next, and then the flames spread to an unoccupied dwelling house.

The blaze was discovered soon after it had started and the volunteer fire department responded, but there was no water. A bucket brigade got buy and carried water from the neighboring cisterns.

The buildings destroyed were the two-story frame building of R. P. Good, one-story frame building of Charles A. Stewart, Edwards & Bradford store, Edwards & Bradford dwelling house, and a dwelling house belonging to an Omaha woman.

Most of the furniture, stock and fixtures in the Stewart and Good buildings were saved. Most of the household goods of Mr. Heckt were also saved. Some of the Edwards & Bradford stock was carried out.

Several families moved their goods out on the streets. Both the electric light plant and the gas plant were put out of business, as was also the telephone system but the telephone company had a crew of men at work within an hour from the time the fire started. H. H. Jarvis of Edwards & Bradford, estimated the loss to his company at $20,000, which is covered by insurance. The company made arrangements to resume business at once, ordering a new stock of lumber by wire.

The entire loss is estimated at $30,000.

CHICAGO DECLARES OFF ANNUAL STOCK SHOW

A letter from Chicago announces that the international live stock exposition to have opened November 28 and closed December 5, has been declared off on account of the appearance of the dreaded "foot and mouth" disease in the east and middle west. The secretary of the exposition explains as follows: "The federal government has taken the most careful and energetic action to confine the disease in the region of its appearance, and it has been deemed unwise to bring together the enormous crowds that flock to the international."

"As you are well aware, the Union stockyards have been closed down for a period of ten days, the first time in fifty years that not a hoof has been in the yards. Under federal inspection it was thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and all stock is now being unloaded in daylight under federal inspection, in order to prevent any possibility of any infection."

"All interests here at the yards are cooperating most energetically in supporting the government and states in the elimination of this dreaded scourge of Europe. Everyone should heartily cooperate in this endeavor to stamp out, in no uncertain manner this awful disease and not permit it to jeopardize the value of their herds and flocks."

Christmas is only five weeks away. We are always very busy just before Christmas. We will give a beautiful calendar, with your own photo in it, with every sitting amounting to $5 or over, made before December 15. People get photos for Christmas presents more every year. We are making nice photos than ever before, and nothing you can give will afford more pleasure. Come in early.—C. M. Craven, N124.

T. J. Caffee has bought out Seitz's market, and will make it a first-class establishment. Call and see the choice meats of all kinds which he has prepared for the appetite of his patrons.

On account of a gorge, the ice on the river on Sunday was so firm that several persons crossed over on the ice. It was not a very safe proceeding, however. A short distance above and below, the river was free of ice.

A letter received this week by Mr. Philleo from one of the business men of Blair, states that in that place last week, the market price of hogs was as low as $3 per hundred pounds, corn 13 cents, and wheat 35 cents per bushel, and business generally dull. From this it appears that Blair does not in price come up to Ponca. Here the price of hogs last week was $3.55 to $3.75, corn 18 to 20 cents, wheat 45 to 55, and business very lively.

The market price of hogs in Ponca ranged from $3.55 to $3.62 yesterday, on which day 280 hogs were bought, and $3,000 paid out for them. The largest hogs thus far marketed this season were five which were brought in this week by James Hjellen, and which weighed 2,550 pounds, or an average of 510 pounds each. Since Thursday morning, of last week, eight days, the hogs here brought at Ponca and shipped on, or hand,

Safe Home Matches are Wonderfully Cheap

A first-class mechanic could not make, in a day, as many Safe Home matches as you can buy for five cents. Even if he could, the matches would not be of uniform size, shape, length, strength or thickness.

We make Safe Home matches by machinery—millions and millions of them daily. The wood is treated and cut, the sticks grooved and compressed, and the ends paraffined and "double dipped"—all by machinery.

You pay no more for Safe Home matches than for the kind you now use. The price is the same—five cents for a large box of perfect matches.

Why perfect! Because non-poisonous. Because non-sparking. Because the sticks do not break when rightly used. Because the heads do not fall off. Because the flame burns evenly. Because Safe Home Matches are impregnated to prevent live charcoal when the flame is extinguished.

All grocers. Five cents a box.

The Diamond Match Company

eighteen cars of hogs, weighing 351,000 pounds, and costing $12,811.50.
A box social will be given at the school in district No. 64, on Saturday evening, November 28. Everyone invited.—Thora McClarran, Teacher. N261.

We Wish You a Joyous Thanksgiving Day

There's real delight in being sentimental now and then; in opening one's heart; in anointing one's soul with the oil of kindness; in passing along a part of the happiness one feels.

It is good to be alive at Thanksgiving time—to share the joys of youth and home—to increase our happiness by giving a part to others.

In this golden time we hope your cup may be filled, and that in truth your Thanksgiving Day may be all it meant to the forefathers who created it.

HERALD EXCHANGE GLEANINGS OF WEEK

Friendly Comment.

Under Times: The Wayne Herald has been designated as one of the fifty-two best weekly newspapers in the United States. The Herald is in every way worthy of the designation. It is truly an ideal weekly newspaper.

The Enormous Cost.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Statisticians have discovered, or think they have, that the war in Europe is costing the countries engaged in it at the rate of $20,000 a minute, or $28,000,000 a day. If it runs on at that rate for a year, it will make a staggering sum total of more than ten billion, which is more than one can think without spraining his thinker.

More Rain Next Year.

Hartington Herald: In a conversation with the editor of the Herald, J. A. Dendinger of this city, expressed the hope and expectation that another year will bring a change in the climate and that the normal amount of rainfall in Nebraska will be restored. He said that this had been his observation—that after a number of years of dry weather the rain began to fall and that crops again returned to their normal condition. He also observed what is apparently true—that you can never boast of a bumper crop until it is harvested; that the crop which looks the best in June not infrequently turns out to be the poorest in September. Mr. Dendinger was for many years a farmer of Cedar county before moving to town, and his remarks are based on long experience.

Miss Van Gilder Honored.

Kanville Enterprise: The young ladies' kensington entertained Tuesday evening at the Annex hall complimentary to Miss Katherine Van Gilder and Mae Aegerter in honor of their approaching marriages. The evening was spent in dancing. The Misses Katherine Bough and Veronica Lorge served punch and water to the guests. Miss Laura Holfeld of Coleridge, Miss Hattie Schultz from Pierce, and Mrs. Hensh from Bloomfield, were out-of-town guests. * * * Miss Zulu Van Gilder entertained the young ladies' kensington Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hamblin. Needlework took up the hours of the evening. Several vocal selections were rendered by Mr. Hamblin and Miss Helen Hamblin. Miss Van Gilder requested each member of the kensington to bring a tried recipe for a cook book which she had prepared for Katherine. A surprise kitchen shower had been planned on the afternoon Miss Katherine was informed that there were a number of young ladies in a room, for which she should search. To the strains of soft and loud music, played by Miss Nellie Thordike, she was enabled to find them. After thanking the hostess for the pleasant evening, and wishing Kathryn happiness in her future married life, the girls retired to their homes.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: Robert J. Burdette, familiarly known as "Bob," has gone to his long rest, the only good rest he has had in many years. He was a poet and a humorist of the highest type, whose recognition was earned. He never courted notoriety, nor had his head turned by it. His humor was never forced. He did not strive to be "funny." It seemed to possess an inexhaustible fund of mother wit that bubbled up with the spontaneity of a fountain, always as clean and wholesome and satisfying as the waters of a mountain spring. Most esteemed a part of his very nature, yet he was perfectly frank and fearless in expressing his convictions before "eminent" characters who might disagree with him. In 1904, the commercial club of St. Louis gave a banquet in honor of the American Press Humorists, and among the distinguished speakers of the evening was the gifted and entirely self-satisfied editor of the Dispatch, who in his remarks could not, nor did he essay to disguise his personal contempt for newspaper men who were given to treating the solemn and weighty problems of life with seeming levity. He was more than critical, he was discourteous, and grossly so. The next speaker on the program was Mr. Burdette. His theme was entirely foreign to that touched by the man who preceded him, but to the wonder, amusement and joy of all present, except the arrogant editor of the Post-Dispatch, the little giant of Pasadena dropped the subject he had intended to discuss, and proceeded in the most eloquent offhand, easy manner to answer every point made by the preceding speaker, in the most kindly and gentle language at his command. He signed him alive, and hung his side on the fence. He cut him up and salted him down; then put him together again, reinvested him with what he had been divested, and assured him of the good will of the members of the association who never blamed a man for what he couldn't help. Burdette's humor was never coarse. It contained no poison. He was an optimist. He believed in people. He was a friend, and because of it, he had friends. They were legion. He will be remembered.

A Natural Result.

Lincoln Journal: Nebraska election boards should understand that it is no reflection on their character and intelligence if they have overlooked thirty thousand votes or so for the three defeated party circle amendments. The Nebraska ballot is as long as art and as complicated as a legal phrase. Philadelphia lawyers dispute the interpretation thereof, and we venture there isn't more than one professor in the university who could count them and record and certify the result correctly. The Nebraska ballot calls for experts to cast and a supreme court to count. To expect a plain college graduate or agriculturist to count the Nebraska vote and report it correctly is as absurd as to expect a professor of philosophy to build a good bridge across the Platte. We demand the impossible of our election boards. If the result is a tangle, the fault is ours.

The state has to do one of two things: (1) The most shortest and simplify the ballot so that non-professionals can cope with it, or (2) must add a school of election judging to its university courses in the hope finally of turning out ten thousand specialists each to cope successfully with our ballot at election time.

Be a Booster.

St. Paul Journal: Calamity howling in November, 1914, will have no effect on the election in November, 1916. On the other hand, howling in November, 1914, may help business in 1914, 1915, and 1916. Be a booster.

EDUCATION A SAFEGUARD.

It is interesting to note that education is a safeguard to morality as revealed by an investigation made by the Municipal court of Chicago. The report given in the course of an address by Judge Charles N. Goodnow of the Chicago Municipal court, encourages mental development as an impetus to right living, and is well reading and considering. Following is the report: "The examination of two hundred cases of prostitutes by the psychopathic laboratory of the Municipal court of Chicago has brought out some interesting conclusions. We do not regard them as final, however, as they are based on a study of the women in the Morals court in classes of two hundred further to substantiate these tentative conclusions or unmake them. "The chief reasons for the first delinquency of girls examined compare as follows: Promise of marriage 77 Drinking 20 Desire of fine dress 19 Lack of parental restraint 15 Dance halls 5 All other causes, each 3 "Drinking was given as the largest secondary cause, with amusement parks, dress, lack of parental restraint, dance halls, and other causes following. Breaking up the home by divorce was found to be a vital factor also. "The great majority of cases were found to be of American born, the parents of offenders as well as the women themselves. "Certain types of employment requiring little mental caliber were found to be the usual pursuits of most of the women. Salaries were in most cases very low, and of those who earned more than $14 weekly all were on the 'Hoags - Ninety never were employed. "Most of the cases left the grammar school at 14 years of age, as soon as permitted by the law. Only a very few attended high school, and no case was recorded as completing the high school course."

NOTICE.

A little group of literary men once supping at a certain hotel in the heart of London after watching anecdotes of extra and omitted 'his jovially agreed complete on the spot in writing a "Petition" of the aggrieved letter to the inhabitants of the district for better treatment. The note was to be a set of chessmen, and the eruption that won it was composed in fourteen minutes. It ran thus: Whereas: By you I have been driven From 'nutes' from 'ome from 'ope, from 'seven.

And pleased by your most learned society in hectic, hancous and hancley—Nif chor'd it, though he had 'twinease With harrogance and humpidence I determine full remain! And beg you'll mend your huncelation!

See Your Own Faults. Make sure that, however good you may be, you have faults that, however dull you may be, you can find out what they are, and that, however slight they may be, you would better make some patient effort to get quit of them.—Runkin.

"Patrick H. McCarran once told of a funny incident that happened in Rome," said a Brooklyn lawyer. "McCarran said that on his first visit to Rome, after he had seen the Coliseum and the Forum, he visited the Ara Coeli church, on the left of the Capitol hill. He climbed the grand stairway leading to the church, the finest open air stairway in the world. He pushed back the heavy leather curtain, and, entering, he found a service in progress. So he got out his hat on the marble floor at his side and took a seat.

"After ten minutes or so he decided he was cold and rushed down for his hat. But a restrainer hand was laid

"YOU MUST BE DOIN' WELL." cash bag that contained the day's receipts. It was generally heavy. "If you must be doin' well," remarked the gentleman frequently. "Oh, ay," the lady would reply. "It's a gold bit business." But she did not disclose that besides the moderate receipts the bag contained the counter weights. The canny lover only discovered that fact after marriage.

A Cobb Story. Irvin S. Cobb is a Kentuckian and was in at the Blue Grass State one in awhile. He joined his fellow Kentuckians at a banquet in New York one time, telling them that every one of them erred or applauded when the orchestra played "My Old Kentucky Home," but that not one of them could be taken back until the extradition papers had been fought through every court.

Not on the Map. Mrs. Norman had a maid, Jane, who said a lover in the street. One day she received a letter from him who sought her mistress and asked if she might see a map. A while after she returned to Mrs. Norman again and said she could not find the place where her lover was. "Where is it, do you say, Jane?" asked the mistress. "Jhoranceville," replied Jane, after another careful perusal of the letter. Mrs. Norman searched the map, but so such place could be found. "Jane," she said, "please let me see the name of the letter which gives the name of the place where the lover is." Jane complied, and Mrs. Norman read: "I am in durance ville, but hope soon to be sent home."—National Monthly.

Barred Out. An old gentleman by the name of Page, finding a young lady's glove at a popular resort, presented it to her with the following words: If from your love you take the letter G Your glove is love, which I devote to thee. To this the lady returned the following answer: From your love you take the letter P Your Page is love, and that won't do for me. —Ladies Home Journal.

ORDER OF HEARING ON ORIGINAL PROBATE OF WILL.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne County, ss.

At a county court, held at the county courtroom, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 6th day of November, 1914.

Present, James Britton, county judge.

In the matter of the estate of Mary A. Rafferty, deceased. On reading and filing the petition of M. H. Rafferty, praying that the instrument filed on the 4th day of November, 1914, and purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last Will and Testament of said Mary A. Rafferty, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed, and that the administration of said estate may be granted to Grace Rafferty as executrix.

Ordered, that November 30, A. D. 1914, at 10 o'clock a.m. bassteno for hearing said petition, when all persons interested in said matter may appear at a county court to be held in and for said county, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald, a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

(Seal) JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS.

The city council of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, will receive sealed bids for the construction of a steel water tank and appurtenances on lot 3, in block 4 of Lake's addition to Wayne, Nebraska, of about 60,000 gallons capacity and 100 feet to the top. The tank shall be covered and have a four-foot riser pipe from the tank to the top. The bids shall include foundations and the extension of the eight-inch water main and connecting with the tank, and not to exceed 150 feet. There shall also be an overflow pipe within the riser pipe and extending to the top of the tank and connected with the sewer, same to not exceed fifty feet, and also an opening in the bottom with quick opening valve for flushing out the tank.

All bids shall be for a lump sum, and filed with the city clerk on or before December 1, 1914, at 8 o'clock p. m.

Each bidder shall furnish his own specifications. The council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

By order of the city council, N192 J. M. Cherry, City Clerk.

PROBATE NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of Alexander Corley, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the creditors of the said deceased will meet the executrix of said estate, before me, county judge of Wayne county, Nebraska, at the county courtroom in said county, on the 15th day of December, 1914, and on the 15th day of June, 1915, at 10 o'clock a. m., each day, for the purpose of presenting their claims for examination, adjustment and allowance. Six months are allowed for creditors to present their claims, and one year for the executrix to settle said estate, from the 15th day of December, 1914. This notice will be published in the Wayne Herald for four weeks successively prior to the 15th day of December, 1914.

Witness my hand and seal of said court, this 13th day of November, 1914. JAMES BRITTON, County Judge, N194

HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY

One of Wayne County's Choice Farms AT PUBLIC AUCTION

SALE AT 2:30 P. M.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1914

This farm is located one mile west and one and one half miles south of Wayne and consists of eighty acres, all practically fenced hog tight, and is not only one of the best improved farms in this part of Nebraska, but is one of the best lying and best producing farms. It is within easy reach of the excellent high school of Wayne, where is also located the splendid Nebraska State Normal college.

This farm has a very good house, the main part is 28 x 28, one and a half stories with an addition of 20 x 20 of one story and contains nine good, comfortable rooms.

Barn 48 x 48, with room for twenty tons of hay and stabling for eighteen horses, and an oats bin of 500 bushels capacity. Sunlight hoghouse 20 x 48. Double cornerbarn 28 x 32, with shingle roof and driveway between cribs. 2,000-bushel granary, cattle sheds, chicken houses—in fact all necessary buildings.

Four acres of splendid orchard with apples, plums, cherries, grapes, and berries of every kind. Good grove, and farm splendidly cross fenced with good feed yards and two splendid wells of water, and a good cistern.

This is an ideal farm and home, and is positively going to be sold on above date to the highest bidder without any reserve. The terms will be liberal, and made known on day of sale. I have purchased a big farm in another part of the state and must sell, so this is your opportunity. For further information, call on or write to the auctioneers.
