

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR HOLIDAY VACATION

USUAL CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Appropriate Exercises in Different Rooms Mark Closing of School Notes.

The city schools closed yesterday afternoon for the annual holiday vacation. Appropriate exercises were held in the various rooms and the spirit of Christmas was everywhere evident. The children of the first grade entertained the kindergarten with a Christmas program and tree. Candy and nuts were distributed in most Christmas boxes and the children spent a happy hour together. In the high school, the seventh and eighth grades assembled and a program of Christmas music was rendered. Each of these grades and the high school contributed numbers, and the third, fourth and sixth grades also visited the room, each singing a selection. Throughout the afternoon a great many visitors were present.

School Notes.

A donation of fruit, vegetables, and clothing was made by the schools, all contributions being voluntary on the part of the pupils. A large amount was collected and placed in the hands of the commercial club for distribution among the needy.

A number of the alumni of the high school, now home from the higher institutions of learning, have called at the school this week. They are always welcome to their old haunts, and the school always feels a keen interest in their progress.

Of the teachers, Mr. A. E. Nordgren will spend the vacation at his home at Newman's Grove. Miss Alvine Meyer, at Columbus, Miss Emma Hughes, at the home of her brother at Fremont, Miss Sewell, Abbott, Nickel, Pawelski, Welch, Huyck and Mesdames Murfree, Seace, and Phillips, and Professor O. R. Bowen will remain in Wayne. Warda Sandel of the junior class went to Kansas City Tuesday to spend the vacation with relatives. Miss Esse Teich left this afternoon for her home at Bancroft, where she will spend the remainder of the week with her parents and then go to Oakland, California, where she will teach. Miss Janette Garlough of Chicago will take her place in the kindergarten.

WEEK'S HAPPENINGS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

A union meeting of the literary societies was held last Friday evening.

The holiday season begins Thursday, December 24, and class work will resume on Monday, January 4. Professor J. G. W. Lewis will attend a meeting of the National Political Science association, which meets in Chicago on December 26.

Wednesday morning the chapel program was given over to the reading school, and a Christmas program was rendered by that department.

Professor and Mrs. E. E. Lackey went to the former's old home in Kansas Tuesday to be present at the marriage of his sister. From there, Professor Lackey expects to go to Chicago to attend a meeting of the National Geographic association.

A very interesting event was held in the chapel Monday evening under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The program was arranged under the direction of Miss Hazel Day of Mornington, and consisted of music, readings, pantomimes, etc. It was well attended, and the receipts of the evening amounted to more than $40.

A much appreciated gift received by Dr. House was a copy of 'Browning from a former pupil of the Holiday vacation special arrangement will be made for those who enter for the short courses. Professor Lackey will offer a course in farm management for those who wish to study problems of greater efficiency in the management of farms; Professor Hunter whose department is always crowded at this season of the year, will run his class schedule late in the afternoon in order to accommodate those who are interested in lath and forge. Professor Wiley has provided classes in bookkeeping so that those who dropped out last spring can continue the subject with but little loss of time. The three days preceding the Christmas vacation were homecoming days at the Normal, and students and faculty were glad to greet visitors who were here during other weeks. Among the visitors were the following: John Rockwell, superintendent of schools, Butte, Neb.; Katherine Healey, teacher, Crofton, Neb.; Martha J. Wooley, principal of Phillips, Pittsburg, Mo.; Eugene W. Sablin, teacher of German and history, Lynch, Neb.; Neva J. Orr, intermediate department, Albion, Neb.; Mahel H. Banks, primary department, Sioux City, Io.; Mrs. Jessie Martin, formerly Miss Benson, of the Bankers' of Fort Morgan, Colo.; Miss Linda W. Winter, primary department, Sioux City, Io.; Gladys Kline, intermediate department, Sioux City, Io.; G. E. Cress, superintendent of schools, Winslow, Neb.; Ernest Samuelson, manual training and agriculture, Lynd, Minn.; Alma Grant, student of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.; Glenn Giverslee, student of Wesleyan University, Springfield, Vt.; Nebr., James McEchou, student of University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.; Marjorie Kohl, student of Baldwin school, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Miss Piper and the young ladies of her hall gave a Christmas entertainment to the students and faculty of the school in the chapel on Tuesday evening. The program follows: Piano Duet "Miss Hozzover and Donelson Reading," "Goin' to the White Swan," "Miss Martha J. Wooley Drill," "When the Great Big Dipper Did the Tango." Twelve young ladies.

The Mechanical Dolls, representing advertisements, given by six girls, and directed by Miss Eugenia Madson.

Spanish Dance "Miss Marguerite Anderson Pantomime demonstration of how young ladies of Terrace Hall act when they attend the Crystal with their escorts. Five young ladies Negro Chorus and Drill.

Foot Ball Banquet. On Thursday, December 17, at 9:30 p. m. President and Mrs. H. U. Conn entertained the Wayne State Normal football squad of 1914 to a sumptuous feast. It was a rare treat for the boys. From candied grape fruit to café noir the boys were as busy as bees. The menu included all the good things of the season and the boys did them justice.

The table decorations were the normal colors. The place cards were handsome ones, especially designed by the students of the art department.

After the repeat had been served, the season of 1914 was eloquently toasted.

Professor Keeckley acted as toastmaster and guests were responded to by the following players: Becker, Hester, Wilcox, Ralph Moore, Muselman and Captain Marstellar. Professor Hunter and President Conn responded to impromptu toasts.

Mrs. Conn proved herself the best of hostesses. The guests, besides the thirty-five members of the football squad, included Professor and Mrs. Keeckley and Professor and Mrs. Hunter.

The event will be a memorable one in the football season of 1914.

SALE OF PURE BRED HORSES AT CARROLL

The sale of pure bred horses from the barns of Burgess Brothers and W. H. Billeter, at Carroll, Tuesday, was largely attended and proved very satisfactory. The top price was $1,000 for the best $1,000. The average was $441. Pat McGuire of Holstein, Io., and Fred R. Jarvis of Carroll, were the auctioneers.

WAYNE YOUNG MAN WEDS.

Frank Kloppling of Wayne, was married Saturday at Sterling, Ill., to Miss Mary Ann, Carl Vickers. The young couple will return to Wayne county about the middle of January, and will live on a farm three miles east of Carroll. The groom is a son of Henry Kloppling of the Wayne vicinity.

Bible Circle Meets.

The Bible Circle met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. S. Buell. The time was spent in sewing and sorting clothes received for Christmas gifts, which were turned over to the commercial club. Several of the ladies belonging to the circle had been appointed as a committee by the Commercial club to look after the contributions that were received.

Birthday Surprise.

Mr. Craig Newsom, a very happy crowd assembled at the home of Mrs. Holjenbeck on Friday of last week, and from there marched in a body to the Peter Coyle home to remind Mrs. Coyle of her seventy-third birthday anniversary. A complete surprise was successfully carried out by Mrs. Holjenbeck, assisted by Mrs. Coyle's daughters, Mrs. T. W. Moran of Wayne, and Mrs. H. W. Whittaker of Tekamah, who arrived on the early train. Mrs. Morgan of Tekamah, who assisted Mrs. Holjenbeck, enjoyed a fine dinner and the afternoon was passed in a joyous manner. Mrs. Coyle was the recipient of many beautiful cards, to remind her in the years to come of this happy event. A picture of the company was taken as the guests were leaving. Those present were Mesdames Moran, Whittaker, Gibbs, Garner, Loomis, Martin, Morgan, Bell, Dye, Stapleton, Lindquist, and Miss Emma Lindquist.

THIRTEEN FAMILIES GIVEN ASSISTANCE

The officers of the Commercial club, with the co-operation of local ministers and teachers, have organized thirteen families who are in need of help.

Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury of the State Normal faculty, left Wednesday afternoon for her home at Defiance, O., where she will spend the vacation with her guests.

The public sale at the Wayne pavilion last Saturday attracted the usual crowd of buyers and the thing offered was sold readily. The proceeds will be January 2.

FARM DEMONSTRATOR DISCUSSED IN WAYNE MOVEMENT IS EXPLAINED

A. E. Anderson, in Charge of Farm Demonstration Work, Speaks in Wayne County.

A. E. Anderson, in charge of farm demonstration work and agent of the United States department of agriculture, spoke in Wayne, Winslow and Carroll audiences last week, and was given an attentive hearing at each point. Many people are interested in the services of a farm demonstrator, and are anxious to see one employed in this county. Mr. Anderson's explanation of the duties and purposes of a farm demonstrator is substantially as follows:

"There seems to be a current misunderstanding among people that the farm demonstrator is a kind of adviser or agricultural expert who is in the county to give advice to farmers. He is there as an employee of a farmers' organization in the county to work with them for the agricultural betterment of that county, and not simply to tell farmers how to do things. Every county has local conditions and problems all of its own. These can best be solved with the county itself by a series of acts of which the demonstrator cooperates with a number of farmers in that county. By trying out under practical farm conditions, advanced practices comparing different methods already in practice, the results obtained will apply to the farming of that community. In every community there are farmers who are making a success in their line of work. Universally they are found to be using the best practices adapted to their conditions. A knowledge of the most successful farmers' methods if spread over the county, would be of immeasurable help to all farmers living under like conditions. It is the duty of the farm demonstrator to study and analyze the systems and practices used by the most successful farmers and to spread that knowledge to other people in the county who can make use of it."

Again, the farm demonstrator is in touch with the various experiment stations and the United States department of Agriculture, and has access to all of their specialists and their knowledge in line of farming. Whenever any information is needed in the county of a special nature, he is in position to get the best that is available from either the state experiment station of this state and other states or from the United States department of agriculture. The farm demonstrator also, in going over the county, meets with people who have live stock or other articles for sale, and also meets with people who wish to buy those very things. It is the duty of the farm demonstrator to get the best of getting the buyer and seller in touch with each other. It is also his duty to assist in finding better markets for the products raised by the farmers of the county. One farm demonstrator in the county of this state has a market for $15,000 worth of alfalfa seed in eastern states which brought to the farmers of that county a net price of from $1 to $2 per bushel more than the local price.

In short, the farm demonstrator is in the county to help in an organization of farmers to represent them and to work with them and for them towards increasing the net financial income from farming, both by increased production and by proper distribution and marketing. A farm demonstrator can do nothing alone in a county. The farmers themselves must be interested and take the initiative in organizing to conduct such work in the county or it will never succeed in any county where the farmers have organized and have employed a competent man as farm demonstrator, the work has proven highly practical. If those who are inclined to be 'skeptical on this subject' would investigate the work being done in counties where farm demonstrators are employed, they soon learn the real method under which the work is carried on and would farm demonstration work really means, and what has been accomplished in the county of this state having farm demonstrators, one is neither competent to criticize nor to pass judgment on the work.

Christmas and New Year GREETINGS

"For we know, not every morrow can be said;
So forgetting all the sorrow we have had,
Let us fold away our fears,
And put by our foolish tears
And through all our coming years
Just be glad."

With all kind thoughts and all good wishes for your Christmas and the New Year

Which Will You Buy?

One curious thing about matches is this: You pay no more for the best than for the worst.
Five cents a box is the standard price for matches.
For five cents your grocer will give you a box of ordinary matches or a box of Safe Home Matches.
Under certain conditions ordinary matches are very dangerous.

Under all conditions, Safe Home Matches are the safest matches in the world. They are absolutely non-poisonous.
They ignite at a temperature in excess of 300° Fahr.—150° more than ordinary matches. They do not spark. They do not sputter. The sticks are strong and sturdy and do not break easily.

Holiday Greetings

TO

Every Man, Woman, Child and Baby in Wayne and vicinity.

We wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

May 1915 bring to you all a full realization of your fondest hopes.

This is the sincere wish of Orr & Morris Co.

They returned to Wayne Wednesday morning.

Mrs. C. J. Johnson went Friday to Sioux City where she spent two days with her daughter, Miss Anna Peterson, who is a teacher in the Sioux City schools. Miss Peterson returned with her Saturday evening to spend her holiday vacation at her home in Wayne.

Ernest Samuelson who teaches at Lind, Minn., and who returned to his home in Wakefield, Saturday, was in Wayne over Monday, guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Clark. Mr. Samuelson says even yielded as high as sixty-five bushels to the acre in the vicinity of Lind.

Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the Shultheis Pharmacy was the scene of an incipient blaze caused by an explosion of gasoline, used to heat the soda fountain. The alarm was sounded, and firemen were on hand promptly. The effective use of a chemical engine made throwing water unnecessary, and reduced the damage materially.—The wall of the building, which belongs to E. E. Raymond, was scorched in proximity to the explosion and wood work near the fountain was damaged.

Attorney C. A. Kingsbury of Ponca, was in Wayne on business Monday. He reports that his brother, E. B. Kingsbury, has bought F. F. Meade's interest in the Ponca Journal-Leader plant and will now be sole proprietor. The paper, which was converted into a semi-weekly some months ago, will be changed back to a weekly, which is the sensible thing to do. The Herald never heard of a semi-weekly that wouldn't be more of a success as a weekly. Mr. Meade who retires as a weekly, Mr. Meade who retires as a weekly, where the demand for ability and energy is so great as in the north.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Richardson, formerly of this place, are spending the winter at Palmyra, Mo., but expect to return to Wayne March 1, to locate permanently. Mr. Richardson writes that Palmyra was founded before the Civil war, and is an odd town, different from towns north and west. He reports some cheap coal and others higher there. Good coal can be bought for $2.75 per ton, and wood $2.50 per load. Hay sells from $16.50 to $20 per ton. The weather has been cold lately, the temperature running as low as four below zero. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson send the season's greetings to their many Wayne friends.

Friday's Sioux City Tribune mentions a former Wayne Citizen, G. J.

MAXWELL MOVIES ARE SEEN BY WAYNE CROWD

A large crowd gathered at the Crystal theatre Tuesday night to see the Maxwell moving pictures which were a great success and all who were fortunate enough to attend went away highly pleased.

The complete operation of building the car was carried out, starting from the time the huge open heart furnace was tapped, and going from there to the rolling mills and forging departments; then following the parts to the machine shops, until finally the assembling departments were reached, and the car stood out complete; a glowing tribute to the skill of our engineers who designed it, and to the master minds who conceived the Maxwell.

The pictures were ably explained by G. E. Mapes, a factory expert, and enthusiasm reached a climax when Will Bill Turner drove the Maxwell up Mt. Hamilton for a world's record.

We think that such entertainments as this should be encouraged by townspeople, and that Mr. A. L. Laas, the Maxwell dealer, should receive the thanks of people for bringing this entertainment here.

WHAT THE RAILROADS DO WITH THEIR INCOME

WHY THEY ARE CONSIDERED THE GREAT BUSINESS BAROMETER OF THE NATION

In contemplating the crisis which confronts the railroads at the present time, and which was briefly explained in last week's article, it is important for the reader to realize that the railroads and the public face each other under radically changed conditions today from those which prevailed a few years ago. The abuses and scandals which have been aired before the Interstate Commerce commission during recent months were perpetrated for the most part under the old regime of a dozen or so years ago, and can never be repeated under the conditions which now prevail. On the one hand, the Interstate Commerce commission and the different states, either through their Public Utility commissions or legislatures, say what rates the railroads shall charge for service. In addition to this a proposal is now pending in congress to give the government the right to investigate all new interstate securities before they can be placed upon the market, while similar authority is already being exercised within the states by the different public utility commissions. This means that the last vestige of control over their finances will have been taken away from the railroads, and that henceforth their affairs will be absolutely in the hands of the people's hands. In this connection, we wish to again remind the reader that the hundreds of honest railroad officials throughout the country—men who have managed their enterprises without the slightest scandal or public criticism—should not be condemned because of the misdeeds of a few. With an aroused public conscience on the one hand and scores of railroad officials throughout the country sincerely and actively cooperating with the different public authorities on the other, we can safely let bygones be bygones—wipe the slate, and with a square deal for the people, the railroads and the railroads alike "start over again."

The President's Anxiety.
In last week's article we quoted a portion of President Wilson's recent reply to a group of eastern railroad executives. That the president has become profoundly concerned over the present crisis which confronts the transportation companies is once more made strikingly apparent in his letter concerning the inauguration of the new banking system to Secretary McAdoo a few days ago, in which he said:

"The railroads of the country are almost as much affected (by the war) not so much because their business is curtailed as because their credit is called in question by doubt as to their earning capacity. There is no other interest so central to the business welfare of the country as this. No doubt, in the light of the new day, with its new understanding of the problem of the railroads will also be met and dealt with in a spirit of candor and justice."

Like utterances have come from scores of other prominent public men and financiers during the last few weeks—men who are above making a selfish plea for any private or corporate interest and whose sole desire is that American business shall emerge from the present precarious situation without disaster. Under these circumstances it is the merest justice for any citizen to treat the present crisis lightly or flippantly, for we are passing through a period in which the financial resources of every nation in the world will be tested as never before.

Where Railroad Receipts Go.
In order that the reader may realize what a tremendous factor the railroads are in the every day business life of the nation and what they mean to its prosperity, we wish to analyze briefly what becomes of an average year's railroad income. Just as the idea has prevailed in the minds of many that the railroads are owned by a few rich men, so the thought has also found deep root in the public which millions of dollars from the public which go into the coffers of a handful of millionaires, and which are permanently withdrawn from the thrift and industry of the people.

At the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, the records at Washington show that the railroads of the United States had collected a gross income from all branches of their service amounting to $3,118,929,318. Of this sum, $1,373,830,389 was paid out for labor—or, to put it in another way, almost fifty cents out of every dollar they took in was immediately paid out to the hundreds of thousands of men and women whom they employ in the conduct of their business. For maintenance of way, equipment, depots, etc., they disbursed $929,167,491—or almost another thousand million dollars—and in this vast item the reader can grasp what railroad prosperity means to the great steel mills, the lumber and coal industry, the big car and locomotive building concerns, and other sources of railroad supplies. In taxes they paid out the enormous sum of $123,682,118, which helped to maintain the public schools, public highways and other revenue expenses of every state, county and incorporated town and city in the country. After the interest had been paid on their funded debt, and all other characters of debt, they had been net, that is, $265,676,400 of which they declared dividends and to use as a surplus fund for emergencies and improvements of one kind and another.

In other words, after the railroads got through paying for their labor, taxes, lumber, coal, interest and other necessary expenses, the above-mentioned more than $153,000,000 was all the surplus they had left for themselves out of an income of more than three billion dollars—and this, too, upon an interest in the gigantic sum of twenty billion dollars, or less than one per cent upon the total capital invested in the railroads of the country. That it can be seen that on the basis of the present rates the railroads pay back to the public in one way and another practically every dollar they receive for service.

Burning Candle at Both Ends.
As at matter of fact, every railroad in the country had charge paid a proper percentage for depreciation, instead of having had a surplus of $153,000,000 left in 1913, they would have had an actual deficit running into the millions. Some of the larger systems have freed yearly depreciation charges—many scores of the weaker lines, in their frantic endeavor to pay the interest on their debts and maintain the standing of their securities, save every dollar of their income to do so, and hence, one of the most alarming phases of the present railroad situation is that this process of "burning the candle at both ends" means a deterioration of rolling stock and roadbeds which will render the continued safe and adequate and safe service for the public impossible in the very near future. In a recent article, James J. Hill, the great "Empire Builder of the North," points out that American railroads should spend at least $500,000,000 annually in improvements and betterments—and it is therefore no exaggeration to say that rapidly deteriorating equipment is one of the ghosts which haunt hundreds of railroad managers throughout the country at the present hour.

As was stated in last week's article, the operating income of the railroads for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, was $2,000,000,000 less than for 1913, while expense and taxes were $700,000,000 greater. It can therefore be seen at a glance that unless the railroads are given some increase in rates in the very near future, the time when many of them will go upon the rocks of financial ruin is not far off—and yet the slight increase necessary to save them is so small that the average citizen would not be conscious of it after it had gone into effect.

A Barometer of Prosperity.
It is an old saying that when the railroads are prosperous, everybody is prosperous, and the manner in which their income is disbursed, as above explained, tells the reason why. In short, for years they have been regarded as the great business barometer of the nation. No other industry in the country employs so many men as do the railroads, and, furthermore, it is a high grade of labor employed upon as lucrative a basis as obtains in any other large industry. When times are good, nearly two million people, first and last, are employed by the railroads, and when the vast army is working full time and is contented the millions they pay out for merchandise and for the living necessities produced on the farm cannot help but have a tremendous effect upon the commerce and agriculture of the country.

But this is only half the story. Aside from the nearly two million operatives directly employed by the railroads in normal times, the hundreds of thousands of men who work in the great steel mills, the coal mines, the lumber industry, and in the big car and locomotive shops are equally vitally affected for when the railroads are making extensive improvements and buying heavily of these supplies, it means that the great industries are running full shift and when the railroads are subsiding only upon absolute necessities it means that many of them are only working half shift while scores are shut down altogether.

That the farmer has a very vital and personal interest in this situation should be apparent at a glance. When the millions of laboring men in the United States are profitably employed, and when all our great industrial enterprises are running full shift, it means that he will have a larger demand and receive a higher price for the things he produces on his farm—for his corn, wheat, pork, beef, mutton, cotton, wool and other farm products. In other words, so closely allied is the transportation problem to all the other great interests of the nation that the general welfare of the railroads has become a fundamental concern of every other interest.

Mrs. McClain's Experience With Croup.

"When my boy Ray was small he was subject to croup, and I was always alarmed at such times. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy proved far better than any other for this trouble. It always relieved him quickly. I am never without it, and I can assure you for I know it is a positive cure for croup," writes Mrs. W. R. McClain, Blairsville, Pa. For sale by all dealers.—Ad.

Sick Headache.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them, and the periodic attacks of sick headache will disappear. Mrs. John Fishon of Roseville, O., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two or three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies, but nothing helped me until I came out of the sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." Holiday Baking

YOU will use the best flour you can buy for New Year's baking, because your friends will visit you, and your relatives will eat some of your cooking and baking. Good bread, light rolls, and, in fact, everything must be the very best because people will talk. We have solved the problem. Just use a sack of WAYNE SUPERLATIVE and it will do the rest. The mere fact that all the flour manufactured by the Wayne Roller Mills is consumed within a radius of fifteen miles of Wayne, proves conclusively that WAYNE SUPERLATIVE is the best flour on the market today for the money. All dealers in Wayne county handle it. As several salesmen from outside mills have said: "Our strongest competition on the Wayne market is the flour made from your local mill." Which speaks worlds for our flour. Start the New Year right by using Wayne flour.

THE WAYNE HERALD

The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County.

Senator Phil H. Kohl of Wayne, is considered a strong probability for president of the senate. He is regarded a potent force in democratic ranks of the state, and if he wants the place mentioned, he is very likely to have it. People of all political parties in Wayne would be pleased to see him thus honored.

The newly installed editor of the consolidated Randolph papers does not relish the abundance of advice freely given him by neighboring publications. He knows what he can do better than those who are not on the ground, and will discard patent "inroads" and take other forward steps as conditions warrant.

Under paid advertising, the railroads are having a series of articles, published in leading Nebraska papers, taking the public into their confidence and asking for treatment in accordance with the facts. The railroads have been objects of so much criticism and adverse legislation during the past few years that they feel at this time the necessity of defending their investments and calling for a new deal. Five articles discussing the subject from the railroads' viewpoint will be published, the first one appearing in last week's Herald.

Little knocks and disappointments are usually friendly, serving to modify self-conceit, prevent feelings of lordly superiority and steel the body and soul to greater and better, and make possible greater achievement. If an individual's pathway were wholly free from annoyances, he would become intolerably arrogant, and his talents and character would become so weak that he could accomplish nothing worth while for society or himself. Thus, as we often feel unnecessarily harrowed by little troubles, we should be encouraged by the fact that we come out of the facile brushwood and strength, and better fitted to live for self and others.

The recurrence of the Christmas season stimulates fellowship and generosity. Not in many years has there been the unyielding giving to the unfortunate people as there is at this time. History does not reveal a parallel to the present need in that respect. War-swept Europe—especially crushed and devastated Belgium—has been the object of America's greatest benevolence. Food, clothing, and toys have gone in abundance from all parts of the United States to unfortunate Europe, and many there will feel a debt of gratitude to a generous country, still secure in peace and plenty. The call for charity from abroad has stimulated more liberal charity at home, and accordingly those who have been able to give, have been prompted to bestow gifts on deserving people more abundantly than ever.

"If you are looking for a job, don't come to California," is the warning issued by the state commission on immigration and housing, and published generally over the United States. If you have plenty of money, and want to spend it during away time, you are urged to go to California, where willing hands will gratify your needs. If you have surplus capital that you want to sink or soak forever in a questionable venture, chasing the ignis fatuus of great wealth, you are earnestly implored to go to California where a suave and eager reception committee, consisting of divers land agents and other agents, is in waiting. But if you want employment, or returns on an investment, carefully avoid the state. That is the warning, and it should be strictly complied with. The state is overrun with idle men, and people seeking work so far outnumber opportunities, that the burdened state immigration commission has found it necessary to tell those who want employment to keep away.

A somewhat extended acquaintance with the well-known human race leads this heathen to confess that the hypocrites are often pleasant persons.

The average woman is entirely too suspicious. If a letter to her husband is perfumed she becomes suspicious, and if a letter to her husband contains a pretty circular from a whiskey house she seems displeased. By the way, a certain reformer's friends will never realize what trouble they have brought on him by mailing him dozens of liquor circulars each day. That is no way to treat a man during the festive Christmas season.

Rejoicings Upon the New Year's Coming of Age

By CHARLES LAMB

The Old Year being dead and the New Year coming of age, which he does so valiantly as to reason as the birth is out of the old gentleman's body, nothing would serve the young spark but he must do a dinner upon the occasion, to which all the Days in the year were invited. The Festivals whom he deputed as his stewards, were accordingly taken with the notion they had been engaged time out of mind, they said. In providing mirth and good cheer for the occasion, and it was true they should have a taste of their own bodies.

It was stily debated among them whether the Fests should be admitted. Some said the appearance of such guests, with their invited faces, would not be so good as the guests of the evening. But the old Jestion was overruled by Christ. The old Jestion who had a design upon Ash Wednesday day, as you shall see hereafter, and a mighty desire to see how the old gentleman would behave himself, because invited in the name of the Vigils were requested to come with them out to light the gentlerok home at night.

All the Days came. Covers were provided for 200 guests at the principal table, with an enormous knife and fork at the sideboard for the Twenty-ninth of February.

Central Meat Market

Wishes the general public a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, and offers the suggestion that if you are not already trading with this market, you resolve to do so with the beginning of 1915.

Fred R. Dean, Prop.

Wishing one and all a Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year

I take this opportunity to thank my many patrons for past favors and pledge you my best services in the future.

R. N. DONAHEY OPTICIAN

N. B. I will be absent from the city during the next week, spending the holiday season with the home folks.

To the Happy Little New Year

You bring us happiness, delight, Renewed soul and heart tonight, Fair child of purity and grace, We liken to your soul and face A lily bright.

The old year dies; now, roseate grows The dawn of our mounting career with snows, Your breath so faint, of fragrance rare, Your smiling lips we would compare To blushing rose.

Ah, sweet the east a ruddy bar, Your father, Time, awaits your car, When you alight what glad surprise, What happiness, shines in your eyes, Bright morning star!

Oh, sweet and happy little one, To every weary mortal I am one, And faith and hope you will renew 'Neath New Year's eve.

IN the heart of that star, Lie the axes equipped, And that come from afar Has swept over the world, Every heart is at flame, and the beautiful ring.

In the honor of the nation that Jesus is King.

WE rejoice in the light, And we echo the song That comes down through the night From the heavenly throne, Aye, we shout to the lovely evangel that bring.

And we greet in its cradle our Saviour And King To be born in the air, There's a mother's deep prayer, And a sob, a low cry.

And the star rains its fire while the beautiful ring, For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

THESE is a tumult of joy For the wonderful birth, For the Virgin's sweet boy, In the cold of the earth, Aye, the star rains its fire, and the beautiful ring, For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

Merry Christmas AND Happy New Year FROM The Wayne Meat Market

The season just closed has been a prosperous one for this market, and we approach the new year with assurance that we will merit increasing patronage.

J. W. KINSEY, Prop.

MARRIAGE RECORD.

Mr. Gust Olson and Miss Laura Larson, both of Wakefield, were united in marriage by Judge James Britton at this place Saturday, December 19.

Tuesday, December 22, a marriage license was issued by the county court to Mr. Ivor Morrison and Miss Iva May Burress, both of Carroll.

Wednesday, December 23, the county judge married James W. Birdsall to Maude Hill, both of Bloomfield.

VARIETY STORE CONTEST.

As a result of the voting contest in J. C. Nuss' Variety Store, the following were awarded prizes: Girls—Emma Writter, first, big doll; Genevieve Wright, second, desk; Prudence Bash, third, set of scissors; Bernice Hansen, fourth, suitcase; Lily Eckrenkamp, fifth, game; Boys—Walter Kret, first, automobile; Henry Egg, second, punching bag.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE TO INSURE A HAPPY NEW YEAR?

The best resolve to make at this season is to resolve to make others happy. This not only brings happiness to others, but to ourselves. It does not spring from the selfish desire to please ourselves by pleasing others, but from the proper love which prompts us to do for others what we would have them do for us. In giving pleasure we receive pleasure, and thus the New Year is made brighter and happier for all.

We sincerely wish you all A Merry Christmas AND A Happy New Year

If our relations in the past have been pleasant and profitable to us both, the credit lies largely with you for your forbearance and appreciation of our efforts to serve. For these we thank you as heartily as for the splendid patronage you have given us.

Yours truly, C. R. WITTER

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From the Wayne Herald, January 7, 1892:

The excavating for the hotel annex was completed.

Robert Mellor purchased the School for just north of the Kast building.

Mrs. M. S. Davies received news of the death of her brother, Lovel S. Jones, at Chicopee, Mo.

The W. C. T. U. gave a reception for Miss Charlotte M. White, county superintendent.

Six new students entered the Nebraska Normal college.

A. T. Witter bought the merchandise stock of Ferebee & Garner.

Born, Saturday, January 4, 1892, a son to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goll.

Mrs. R. Q. Warnock was called to Cogden, Io., by the death of Mr. Warnack's mother at that place.

Miss Mamie Wallace and Misses Mary and Lizzie Connor returned to Bellevue college.

January 2, 1892, Mr. M. D. Leach and Miss Ella Parsons were married by County Judge Martin.

B. F. Swan moved into the residence property he purchased from A. B. Slater.

New Year receptions were given by Mr. and Mrs. H. Ley, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright, Rev. and Mrs. Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Britton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Northrop, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smith.

From the Wayne Herald, December 26, 1889:

Ethel Blanche Seace, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Seace, died Thursday, December 19, 1889, of pneumonia.

A special train of thirteen cars of cattle were shipped to Omaha by Ran Frazier, Strahan & Steele, and Alex Scott.

A party of Wayne hunters killed a deer near Concord. They were Henry Meyers, C. A. Chace, F. L. Neely, W. J. Perry, and W. H. McNeal.

A party was given at the R. Phillo home.

Mr. Terwilliger of Wayne, who owned the Commercial hotel at Wakefield, sold it to Mr. Weed of Pender.

J. Tower shipped cattle to Omaha. A concert was given at the church by the Presbyterian Sunday school.

A car of supplies for the Dakota sufferers was sent from Wayne.

From the Ponca Journal, December 21, 1883:

Arrived at the residence of Rialto Phillo, esq., Tuesday evening, December 18, 1883, Hon. William F. Norris and Miss Ethel L. Phillo, all of Ponca, Rev. Robert L. Wheeler officiating clergyman.

The temporary railroad bridge across the Missouri between Sioux City and Govington was on Friday of last week, knocked out of line by the ice which came down the river.

It is now straightened up and repaired and is all right again for the passage of trains.

Bob Scott was called to conductor month only equalled what is now carried in a day. Mr. Scott has lately been reconnoitering Oregon and Washington territory, and will in the spring settle on his farm in the southwestern part of the county and into the stock business.

Messrs. W. S. Sullenger, and Caffee started on Wednesday for Tennessee. Mr. Sullenger will visit the old battlefields where he fought and bled, and will, if he sees a fine tract of timber, purchase the same with a view to opening it in the lumber business. These gentlemen will return to Ponca in about two weeks. Where they will go will not be quite far enough south for oranges and strawberries, but it will be far enough to see a country several degrees warmer than it is here. It is a country of forests, sweet potatoes, upland cotton, chili fever, and hospitable people. We hope W. S., and C. will have a good time, and presume they will.

Sick Two Years With Indigestion.

"Two years ago I was greatly benefited through using two or three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. S. A. Keller, Elda, O. "Before taking them I was sick for two years with indigestion." Sold by all dealers.—Ad.

LEARN SOMETHING.

Learn something every day; you'll surely find it: the more you learn the more you go along the upward way. Learn something every hour, and rise to fame and power: it's ill to find a stagnant mind, a brain that's turning sour.

PROSPERITY COMING.

Prosperity is due the sunshine statesmen say; hard times that made us blue, will shortly pass away. The olden days of learning's time: With love regained the soaring bird; the Sage's printed line!

RHEUMATISM.

Oh, pain and painful ailment, that means the prompt dereliction of comfort and of peace! Oh, rank disease that rustles, around the joints and muscles, around the torso (seldom cease)!

HORSE VS. AUTO.

My good old trusty mare, named Myrtle, which to my cart I daily hitch, was ne'er accused of turning turtle and dumping people in the ditch.

and shriek and dust and stench; as nothing breaks. I don't crawl under to fix her with a monkey wrench. I take my nephews and my nieces for pleasant drives, when day is o'er; we all come home, but not in pieces.

WHAT'S THE USE?

Man toils at his appointed task till his hair is gray and teeth are loose; and pines now and then to ask, in tones dejected, 'What's the use?' We have distempers of the mind when we are tired and sorely tried; we'd like to quit the beastly grind; but the tail go with the hide.

DRINKING SONG.

There's joy in the tavern; from underground cavern the landlord has brought us the best that's in season: the best of the merry in Thomas and Jerry, and punches and mashes and cocktails galore.

ROBERTS-BURTON SHORT HORNSALE.

One of the coming sales at the Wayne pavilion that should mean much to the farmers of this county, is the Short-horn sale, to be held here Thursday, January 14, at which time Messrs. Roberts & Burton will dispose of forty-three head of practical Short-horn cattle.

EXTRACTS FROM THE HERALD EXCHANGES

Regrettable Lapse. The newspapers of the country are devoting a good deal of attention to the regrettable lapse of Speaker Champ Clark at Detroit.

mitted to draw any erroneous conclusions from this discussion, to free the speaker. 'Some would be free to put a premium on me.' Next, to mildly chastise is but natural out of respect for his high office. To neglect to draw a proper moral would be inexcusable.—Fremont Tribune.

Sixty Years Ago.

The Humaneville Leader reproduces a 60-year old sale bill as follows: State of Missouri, county of Pike. To whom it may concern: The undersigned will, Tuesday, September 29, A. D. 1846, sell at public outcry for cash on premises, where Coon creek crosses the Missouri road, the following chattels, to-wit: Nine yoke of oxen, with yoke and chains two wagons with wheels, three nigger waggons, four back niggers, three bigger boys, two prairie plows, twenty-five steel traps, one barrel pickled cabbage, one hoghead of loblacker, two nigger hoes, the spinning wheel, and some three fox hounds, a lot of coon milk and skunk skins, and a lot of other articles.

City Christmas Tree.

Neligh, Neb., report in Norfolk Daily News: This city will have its first municipal Christmas tree on Thursday evening of this week. The entire population is invited to the tree-charging of the ladies of the Tuesday Evening Musical, an organization of thirty members formed in Neligh during the early season of 1912.

A Cheap Politician.

Dixley in Emerald Journal: We fear Theodore Roosevelt is degenerating into a cheap political shot-put, or something of that sort and sound. He is unsparring in his criticism of the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

A Biennial Aburdity.

New York Independent: Last month a new congress was elected. Last week a new session of congress opened. Is it the new congress that is holding this new session. Certainly not.

IT'S GREAT FOR BALMY

BOWLS AND STOMACHS. It's a great relief to have chronic stomach trouble or constipation, no matter how long standing, to try one of these little pills. Some are called the summer pills, and so on. As the bowbles grow to the desired size the stomachs shake them gently off their backs on the floor. Here they are allowed to rest until they are frozen into hard, round, shiny, wonderfully colored bright balls to hang on kidnap Christmas trees. It is estimated that one can make 500 finished ornaments in a day.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT. Wayne Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Wayne, given below, you must come to this conclusion: 'A remedy which proved so beneficial years ago with the kidneys, can naturally be expected to do the same work in similar cases.' Read this: Mrs. J. C. Hanson, Wayne, says: 'I had a serious attack of kidney complaint and suffered terribly from headaches, dizzy spells, and a tired languid feeling. The kidney secretions were unnatural, and I had a dull, heavy ache through my kidneys. In a few days after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and improvement continued until all symptoms of the complaint disappeared. I have no reason to withhold anything from the statement of Mrs. Hanson's recovery. So we recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.' Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hanson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., Ad.

THE WEEK WITH THE CHURCHES
German Evangelical Lutheran Church.
(Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor.)
Sunday school next Sunday at 10 o'clock; preaching services at 11 o'clock.

St Paul's English Lutheran Church.
Sunday school every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Regular divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the evening at a quarter to eight.

The subject of the morning sermon will be "God, Our Guide." Plain text, 1st. We are living in a sinful world. In a number of subtle ways we are kind to the world, subject to its influences, caught by its whirl of excitement, absorbed by its pressing claims, and easily we become of the world as well as in the world. But everything the world presents to us is below us, and beneath us. It contains so many pitfalls and snares we cannot avoid them by ourselves. Our eyes have been greatly obscured by sin, therefore, we are very much in need of a guide. We can not live in this old world, and get the best out of it, unless we have a guide to lead us from falling, and to the best treasures.

If we would take a trip through the Yellowstone Park we would want a guide, so that we would be able to get the best out of our trip. So it is in our trip through the world, we must have a guide.

The evening sermon will be based upon the subject, "A Glance into the Valley of Decision." Joel III, 14. Luther League every Sunday evening at 6:45. Come and enjoy the hour with the young people.

The Ladies' Aid society met last Thursday with Mrs. Ole Hurstad; a most enjoyable meeting was held. The president gave the report of the bazaar and it proved to be the best the ladies have ever had. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday of the new year.

The calendars of the church have been received and are on sale. See the pastor or the president of the Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. Lundberg.

The Christmas program will be given Christmas eve.

The catechetical class will meet in the pastor's study, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Methodist Church.
(A. S. Buell, Pastor.)
Dr. C. M. Shepherd of Lincoln, spoke in behalf of the retired ministers of Nebraska at the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Although Mr. Shepherd is a man of nearly seventy years he is well preserved and is a vigorous and intensely interesting speaker. His message on the "Joys and Tragedies of Retirement" was a masterful presentation of the cause of the retired minister.

The choir did itself credit in the rendition of the cantata, "The Star of Hope," on last Sunday evening. This was a kind of a musical program that not only pleased the music loving people but also carries the gospel story with conviction to the hearts of the audience. Such a service strengthens faith and stimulates the devotional life. What more beautiful sentiment could one find than that expressed in one of the solos, that, although there was no room for the Christ Child in the inn, "There is room in My heart for Him." We shall be pleased to have the choir take the Sunday evening service again.

The Sunday school committees having the matter in charge are making preparations for a most delightful occasion on Christmas Eve. Santa Claus is expected to be in evidence. The Christmas tree from Santa's own forest, of the very finest, will serve Santa as a convenient pack for his many Christmas joys. Of course there will be boys and girls by the tens and dozens, with their fathers, mothers, uncles, aunts, and cousins, all anxious to see Santa and sing on Christmas Eve. Everybody is invited to come to our Christmas program and cantata.

The Christmas story will be the subject for next Sunday's sermon. Let us all strive to give ourselves over to the Christ to be His as never before. The evening sermon will be New Year's message on the subject of "Invoking a Life."

A Christmas Message.
(By A. S. Buell.)
"For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a savior, which is Christ the Lord."

Christmas is here once more and we of all the people of the earth are most favored. When we consider that the coming of the Christ child has meant to the world, it certainly is reason for rejoicing.

That Christianity has not saved the continent of Europe from war is sad, and yet the blame cannot be laid, to Christianity, but rather to the lack of Christianity; not to the Christ, but to the men who refuse the Christ room in their hearts and lives.

Theoretical Christianity cannot save the world, but applied Christianity is the final solution of every pressing problem. It is not the mere concealing of the truths of Christianity. The civilized world conceals the truths of Christ. So did the demon-possessed men of Christ's own day, and declared that they knew him to be "Christ, the Heile King of God." That confession did not save them from the torments of their own devilishness. It is not what is concealed but what is assimilated of the truth that shall set you free. I may acknowledge that God is good for all, but if I do not eat no food I will die of starvation. I may concede all the truths of the Christ child and yet die a most unchristian death. The life must be nourished by the partaking and assimilating of the food in which the individual believes. There is as much difference between the concealing of the truths of christianity and becoming christian as there is between the concealing of the truth of the whiteness of food and the taking of the food into the body where it becomes the life of the body. There is all too much of that kind of christianity in the world today which is the mere assent to the truths of christianity with no vital infilling and renewing of the life by the assimilating of the Christ life.

The great problem of the modern church is how to overcome the indifference toward the church caused by the all but universal concession of the truths for which the church stands.

Who shall say but that the great tragedy of war, with its atrocious for war itself is an atrocity—is the legitimate harvest of the cold hearts that have been, untouched by the real spirit of the Christ while they have professed a faith and have mentally conceded he tenets of revealed truth?

The great war in Europe has broken the spell of that charmed life of the soldier on dress parade, with bright uniforms—long columns of marching men with martial music—and has revealed the truth that this monstrous beast with snapping eyes that sparkle like diamonds and with graceful maneuvers like the folds of a mighty serpent, is indeed the venomous beast with sharpened fangs and poisonous sting. It is the fangs constrictor that having once entwined itself about the nations of men, is tightening its coils and driving home the sting of certain death.

At this Christmas time, God is calling men to himself. Men have been content with temporal blessings. They have given their minds to worldly things—the great and astounding discoveries and inventions in the sciences, the unprecedented commercial development and the multiplied means of pleasure, together with the deceiving notion that if they concealed the truths of christianity, and at times attended to the forms of the church ceremonies such as baptism and the eucharist, that they were therefore necessarily christian.

Commercialism, science, invention and pleasure, together with the forms of religion, are not enough to save the world. If you constantly increase man's power and at the same time do not increase his goodness, he will pull the whole temple of civilization down to ruin.

If these things are our only salvation, then there is nothing for humanity to look forward to but a bloody tomb.

But it is Christmas, and we have the Christ, and to him we must turn, and he has power to save men from which we concede. You say that if we have Christ and he has power, then why does he not end the great war? Our answer is that it not Christ's mission. Christ did not come to earth to save men from hell. He came to save men from sin, and to make them new creatures having the mind of Christ. He did not come to save sinners from reaping the sure penalty of their own offenses. He came to win men from the offense. He came to call men and to empower, but never to compel men to live holy lives. He warns of the awful results of sin and sel-

"A Merry Christmas To All"

The spirit of Christmas is shown in the happy faces of the people we meet on the street, in the jolly, good-natured bustle of the shoppers and in the mysterious hiding of bundles.

Kindness and forgiveness and laughter will be on the telephone wires all during the joyous holiday season.

The spirit of Christmas is in the very air we breathe these days. By its ties we are drawn closer to friends and relatives.

Old time friends will be reminded that they are not forgotten. Where in the old days one Christmas gift was made in person ten will now be made by telephone.

All through the holidays the telephone will be flashing millions of greetings and good wishes far and near over its network of wires.

If you have a surplus of happiness during the holiday season, why not telephone a part of it to someone who has less?

The telephone will carry the slightest infection of the human voice out to the far-away friend and relative. The telephone, you know, is the great and almost limitless roadway over which Christmas spirit may travel.

You Are Careful to Avoid

That place or person known to contain or have a contagious disease? You would not shake hands with your best friend if you knew he had smallpox. Exercising the same intelligence and wise precaution can you consistently continue to imbibe water from a well that is located anywhere near an outdoor closet and feel that you are playing safe so far as your health is concerned? Of course you can't. The very vein which supplies that well may, for all you know, flow directly beneath that out-door closet. But if this is not real in your case, what about the transmission of disease by flies or filth and disease germs from the closet to your food in your home.

Again, leaving out the question of the comfort and convenience which can be gained by the use of an indoor closet, can you afford to endanger your health by exposure to cold, with the possibility of contracting habits of irregularity, which the use of an out-door closet entails.

Along with the big corporations and institutions throughout the country let "Safety First" be your slogan and start the New Year right by cheating the undertaker out of any prospective business in your family, due to the use of this relic of a barbaric age, by installing a "Hypoc" Aseptic closet in your home.

Mark Simpson is enjoying a visit from his brother, Edward, whose home is in Oakdale, Iowa.

Neighbors in the vicinity are putting up the first crop of ice from the pond made for that purpose last fall.

Miss Mabel Johnson is spending her vacation from school work at the normal with her sister, Mrs. Andrew Stamm.

The school and Sunday school in the Wilbur district had a program and Christmas tree for the children in the school house yesterday afternoon. A large crowd attended.

An excellent program was rendered to a large crowd at the box social at the Beckman school house last Friday night. The program was followed by the sale of twenty baskets and voting for the prettiest lady and the homeliest man, the proceeds in all amounting to forty dollars. A new organ has been purchased for the school.

PLANT A CHRISTMAS TREE.

A correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer offers a timely and pertinent idea that should command the attention of every citizen. It refers to the use of Christmas trees over the day's festivities.

In explanation of her plan she offers the following clipping from Good Housekeeping:

"An eastern city carried out an idea that cost but a few cents, and initiated by any progressive organization of women. After New Year's wagons went from house to house carrying a small Christmas tree. These were taken to the public squares, where they were thrust into the ground in artistic groups and climpes of varying heights.

In some cases they act as wind shields for the growing shrubs and evergreens, which are often, though but temporary tenants, they make attractive, restful scenes upon the city squares. Compare this with the fate of Christmas trees in your neighborhood.

After a short week of timbered squares, and one who has seen them in the alleysways or litter up the back yard for weeks."

This interesting question is added: "Certainly the Christmas trees in the southwest corner of the square are a great improvement over the evergreens that are often seen here. They are just some little evergreen trees."

Worth considering isn't it? Morgan, President of the House, For Which He Paid $500,000. It was the latest J. Pierpont Morgan who gave the costliest present ever bestowed upon a man.

He gave the Broadway Magazine. The gift, to his son, was a bronzenette plate of a hundred roses, with fifteen poems for sermons on the top floor, at the corner of Thirty-sixth street and Madison avenue. The deed of gift followed twice the name of J. Pierpont Morgan.

He presented the third house in the Morgan colony on Madison avenue to his son. To one corner stands the original Morgan mansion, built by the great man; the magnificent marble museum and art gallery filled with treasures gathered by the collector.

Next to the Morgan homestead stands the home of Mrs. Herbert Satterlee. Mrs. Morgan's daughter, and adjoining Mrs. Satterlee's home is the home of J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., the costliest present ever made on the island of Manhattan, representing an expenditure of $500,000.

After dinner, in the esteem of those upon whom Christmas rains a golden shower, the motorcar, whose ordinary speed is a mile in two minutes and costing $10,000, is a mere bagatelle to a spoiled prince, and a gift of his son, who has a paupered little beauty as the end of her dolls. She wants ever a larger and more wonderful car, and it was in obedience to her wish that the car as large as a fireman flat, with folding bed, table and separate compartments, was being used and added to the family expenditure.

And after automobile architects the Jewellers. Diamond thrags at $100,000. Mrs. Morgan's diamond bracelet, worth $85, are not uncommon purchases at Yuletide, and a diamond tirst is a poor affair that does not cost approximately $100,000.
