LOVED WAYNE YOUNG WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Elsie Seace Houston, young wife of Ralph Houston, died at her home at Gregory, S. D., Sunday morning at 6 o'clock following an illness covering about three months. Her illness was the fatal trouble. The best medical skill and every care and attention failed to stay the hand of death. The remains were brought to Wayne Monday and funeral services were conducted in the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. E. A. Knapp. Cross with interment in Greenwood cemetery. A large concourse of sympathizing friends attended the services, and many beautiful flowers were evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The deceased was born in Chicago March 10, 1888, and was 26 years old when her parents moved to Wayne. She grew to young womanhood here, attending the public schools, taking a commercial course in the Normal. She was married in Omaha January 1, 1914, to Ralph Houston, and the couple located at Gregory, S. D., where Mr. Houston has been engaged in the jewelry business.

The deceased left a sorrowing husband and infant daughter, besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Seace, and four sisters, Mrs. Clarence Corbit, Mrs. John Scofield, Mrs. Henry Letz, and Miss Lucile Seace, and two brothers, Homer Seace and Charles Seace, all of whom attended the funeral excepting Charles Seace of Luck, Wyo., who was unable to be present. Vernon Houston, brother of the deceased husband, was also in attendance at the last rites.

The deceased was an excellent young woman, and was beloved by a host of friends in Wayne where she spent the most of her life. All regret her untimely death, and partly sympathize with the strictest relatives who survive her.

BELGIUM RELIEF

Belgium has the sympathy of the world in this day of her need. Almost every section of our country is responding to her call. As yet no systematic appeal has been made to the people of Nebraska. But now an appeal is being organized and it is carried on through the governor's office and the various city officials throughout the state. Mayor Chase has just received such an appeal. Rev. Thomas M. C. Birmingham of Omaha, who has been active in this work, has just spoken here next Monday at 7:30 p. m., at the Baptist church. Mr. Birmingham will give the address, which he delivered some time ago, which congress authorized the appeal of humanity, and join with others in doing the Good Samaritan act.

BOARD GRANTS HALF-YEAR PROMOTIONS

The school board met Monday evening, and in addition to routine business, decided to begin a new policy next year, the granting of half-year promotions. This is to enable parents who have had a child losing an entire year, and enable unusually strong students to gain a half-year. Preliminary to the enforcement of this rule, a new class will be organized in the kindergarten department at the beginning of the next session of the State Normal. A grant was granted a request to allow four of the students in its training school to attend the kindergarten for observation and assistance. The State Normal, training school, is overcrowded, and it is believed the allocation will prove mutually advantageous.

THE OFFICIAL YEAR COMMENCES TODAY

Yesterday the retiring county board met to approve official bonds. Mr. G. H. and Mr. J. H. and other business agencies in the class of the year. The retiring member, Eph. A. Corbit, who is succeeded by P. M. Corbit, was presented with a memento set as evidence of the friendship of the board. The official year commences today. Besides the commissioner-in-the-first district, the only changes in county officers are the county superintendent, Miss Pearl Sewell, who succeeds Mrs. Elsie Beckenbauer, who takes the place of Dr. J. J. Williams, and county surveyor Robert H. Jones, who succeeds E. J. Hunter.

PHIL H. KOHL NAMED PRESIDENT PRO TEM

Senator Philip H. Kohl of Wayne, has been named president pro tem of the senate, and therefore, will preside over that body in the absence of the lieutenant governor. On leaving for Lincoln, Mr. Kohl informed the Herald that he was not making a stop over at the home of the committee, which he desired as means for effective legislative service. Therefore the honor was sought, and evidently deemed desirable by senate members. Wayne friends were pleased to know of his recognition.

FIREMEN'S BALL BIG FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The firemen's masquerade ball New Year's night attracted a large crowd of dancers and spectators, and the event netted the boys $125 which will be used to further the work of the organization. The kaleidoscope costumes were very interesting. Prizes were awarded. The success of the ball was gratifying to the firemen and their friends.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS

The man who really wins in a lawsuit is the lawyer.

On the quiet politicians laugh a great deal about equality. A critic should not have indignities which he is used to further the work of the organization. The kaleidoscope costumes were very interesting. Prizes were awarded. The success of the ball was gratifying to the firemen and their friends.

When men fight, women run and scream. When women fight, men sit around and grin. Speaking about the man who seeks the truth, they should lecture less and look about more.

If men are doing the feeding, the visible supply of salad usually is sufficient to meet the demand. If you really have something to say, you had better say it if you split an infinitive occasionally in saying it.

If a man doesn't do well, the neighbors have a great deal to say about how extravagant his wife is. A man who is a good father in his own home, but is not a satisfactory father thinks too well of himself.

This is no time to talk about it, but operating a palm leaf fan is about the hardest work when that sort of thing is in season. By no means a trifling task when the young to young to know about it.

It is the Duty of Mothers to Look to the care of the children's eyes

Many pupils seem dull and do not like to study. It is hard for some of them to see what the teacher...

writes on the blackboard from front seats. All cannot sit in front. Some must sit in back seats. What is the reason for this dullness?

Their Eyes

Do you know children use their eyes more than we do, and they must be right or they can not do good work at school.

See that your children have good eyes—then let them go ahead with their work. Devote my entire time to fitting and making glasses.

NEWS OF THE WAYNE SCHOOLS FOR WEEK

The children of the second grade are very much interested in the dramatization of their stories, among them the "Gingerbread Man" and "Three Goats Billy."

Throughout the upper grades, term reviews are in progress, preparatory to the examinations which will be given next week.

Le Roy Owen of the Junior class is attending a poultry show at St. Joseph, Mo. He is becoming quite a chicken fancier, and is interested in all that pertains to it.

Minnie Harker, Nellie Lane and Dorothy Feibel will be missed from their classes. Dorothy will visit California with her parents, and Martha and Nellie have moved from the city.

The sale of leather articles made by the handicraft classes was very satisfactory, over $10 having been realized. This sum will be used to purchase tools for metal work which will be begun next semester.

The pupils of the first grade are very much interested in the study of the Eskimos, their homes and customs. Through pictures, drawings and stories, they will also become acquainted with the animals of the cold regions.

Mrs. Barrett Wright taught the fifth grade Monday and Tuesday in the absence of the regular teacher, Mrs. Homer Seaco who was absent on account of the death and funeral of the late Mrs. Elsie Seaco Hoatson.

Miss Grace Nettleton of the Senior class is detained at home by the illness of both her father and her mother. The former is suffering with rheumatism, and the latter from a fracture of the bones of an arm, broken in a fall on the ice.

Mrs. Louise Murrice was called to St. Louis, Mo., last week by the serious illness of a sister. Word has been received that Miss Murrice, who her sister had died before her arrival in St. Louis. She will return to resume her work as music supervisor, next week.

The city schools opened Monday morning after the holiday vacation, with a good attendance. Miss Emma Hughes assumed charge of the eighth grade, and Miss Clara Burton, the seventh. These changes in the staff bring to the attention of Miss Pearl Sewell who has begun her work as county superintendent. Miss Janette Garlough is the new kindergarten teacher, in Miss Esce Teich's place.

WEEK'S HAPPENINGS AT NORMAL SCHOOL

The V. W. C. A. held the first meeting of the year in the chapel Wednesday evening.

At the Wednesday morning convocation, the students had the pleasure of listening to several selections of the new records purchased for the department of music.

Basketball practice is going nicely under the direction of Professor Keeckley. The boys met on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday at 3-45, and the girls on Monday and Friday at the same hour.

When school opened Monday morning, there were several new registrations. All the rooms in the boys' dormitories were soon well occupied, and many people in town opened their homes for the accommodation of students.

Building construction is a new subject offered by Professor Hontener, and it promises to be a very popular course. The building class who have recently enrolled. Among the subjects which will be considered are: Planning and constructing of houses, barns, hog houses, windmill tanks, silos and outbuildings.

The winter registrations have provided to the limit the commercial and manual training departments. Professor Lackey has organized a class in animal husbandry, which has been elected by a large number of the young men who have had a general course in agriculture. Helen Axe Brown of Valparaiso, Ind. has been secured for a recital on Thursday evening, January 7.

EXTRACTS FROM THE HERALD EXCHANGES

Pathetic War Incident. Here is one of the pathetic war incidents coming out of the shambles of Europe. Two wounded soldiers—one French, one German—lay side by side on the battlefield. The former passed his water bottle to the latter. The German, who had been ripped a little, kissed the hand of the man who had been his enemy, and said: "There will be no war on the other side."

Presenting Accounts. Wakefield Republican: Recently the doctors who practice in Wayne, physicians and dentists, published a statement that hereafter they will send statements of account monthly. This is customary in other business and we believe the doctors should do likewise. We see no reason why doctors should wait for long periods for their pay and lose a large per cent of it. As in other lines, those who pay must "let it be for those who pay." Let it be done on business principles.

Cost of Meat and Shoes. A news item which comes to us from Chicago under date of December 18, says that meat at 50 cents per pound and shoes at $10 per pair are possibilities within the next two years in the opinion of the government and stockyard experts. They have been taking census of cattle of the country and found a visible supply of less than 35,000,000. As this includes the number of full-grown stock, the number of animals capable of breeding is reduced to an alarmingly deficient supply. "Meat in America will be a rarity before the year ends, with its deficit on our supply," said Henry J. Williamson, government statistician in the department of agriculture today. "Unless scientific breeding for increase is general and slaughter of calves ceases before five years have expired America will find herself in the class of European countries that have to look to importation to supply meat."

Christmas Memories. Fremont Tribune: It is all over but the paying we were going to write, but that isn't true. The memories of Christmas and the Christmas spirit are abiding things, and they are the ones that make it special while the rest in money is trivial compared to the returns provided. The provision is that the gifts were made as tokens of real affection that is shown at other times and in a different manner than at Christmas. The bestowing of gifts may become only a mockery. That is when there is no heart in it. "One day of recognition and memory does not suffice for a whole year's neglect in gratification of affection and attention. No more than being drunk on Sunday atones for a week's neglect and wickedness. But the memories of a real Christmas hallow the day. And these are cumulative so that they become a genetic blood that fills the soul and heart and carries one through the evening of life on its buoyant bosom to the dawn of the afterlife where all of us shall in the glory of eternal radiance "see as face to face."

The Weather. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: We are under deep and lasting obligations to Rev. I. R. Hicks for the January number of his valuable newspaper which treats at length of weather probabilities for that month. His predictions are abundantly copyrighted, so that we are not at liberty to divulge so much as a syllable of what he says will happen about when, but we don't see just how the public would gain or lose were we to print the probabilities for that month, since he generalizes so fluently, and the latitude he gives himself is so great that let it be storm or calm, cold or warm, wet or dry, the prediction can be made to dovetail with the condition as you can't tell where the same are. Here is a mere suggestion, which violates neither the confidence nor the copyright of the gifted meteorologist. From the 11th to the 27th will be a storm period of greater or less intensity, hugging across the coast. From west to east, in the usual manner of such disturbances. A part of the time snow with falling temperatures may be looked for as far south as the latitude of Hannibal, Mo. or snow with rising temperature and falling barometer. Where it is sufficient to cause the precipitation will be less general or not at all. During this period, which will be central on the 27th day, look for rain in some of the southern states (one will do just as well as another), in each case more favorable conditions following the phenomenon of meteorological activity. Of course whatever happens will be attributed to African influence, without which there would be no weather, good, bad or indifferent. Since Vulcan, Venus, and the moon have been copyrighted by Mr. Hicks, we would hesitate to say either in Venus, and only do so under the belief that he will overlook this offense, under a solemn pledge from us that it will not be repeated.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Hings of Emerson, were in Wayne Tuesday consulting with local doctors in regard to the health of their little son.

Nick Hansen went to Wood lot, Tuesday to remain for two weeks.

Miss Mary Meister is home from Omaha, where she has been for the past two months taking dress-making and learning Kiester cutting. She will assist Mrs. Madden, with her sewing school work. Those wishing to go or have sewing done can have the best service. The price will be as usual, fifty cents per day.

Miss Elsie Littel who has served for six years as superintendent of school of Wayne county, retiring the first of the year, and being succeeded by Miss Pearl Sewell, left Sunday morning for Benson, Neb., where her parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Rinesse reside. Miss Littel made an excellent superintendent, and her efforts in behalf of the schools of the county, and her strong, high-minded personality was a potent influence for right thinking and right living. She was greatly missed not only by the teachers of Wayne county, but by an army of other warm friends.

There is an old north of England miser who is very wealthy and who on rare occasions will make a generous gift to some charity. His stock of linen, it is said, consists of two shirts. Of course, wear one while the other is being washed.

Some Suggestions for Starting Names Lap on Life's Journey. Although with most of us the custom of making an elaborate set of resolutions all of them to be broken perhaps in a week belongs to the past, it is by no means a bad idea to sit alone and quietly think over their attainments in calm retrospect.

Without making vain and foolish resolutions, and carefully note all errors and avoid as many of them as possible during the next year. If at the first year has continued no years (than smiles over the old pipe, with its blots and mistakes, and throw it away. A clean new sheet, pure and white, lies before you.

The Poet Philosopher

ALWAYS BUSY.

I called on James Augustus Jinks, a carpenter of fame, to make a pair of kitchen sinks, and mend a couple of drawers. "I can't come, right now," he said, "your little chores to do; I have so blamed much work ahead—the end is not in view. My time for weeks ahead is filled, I'm wanted everywhere; I have all sorts of shackles to build and others to repair." A hundred workmen in the town are saying things are bad; they say they chase all chances down, and cannot earn a cent. And if, perchance, one gets a job, he works for some miserly baron of those employers rob the poor man left and right. If he is chopping down a tree, his strokes are soft and slow; he fears to make a noise lest he won't hear the white noise. He does as little as he can throughout his working days, but he is energetic man when raring for his job. I don't believe that any gent who works with might and main intent on earning every cent, has reason to complain. "The world will hunt him to his fair, to lure his skill and wit; he'll work, seek work in despair, for the world is seeking him."

FAME TRAVELS.

Job Jagsworth came to Penkville's store, upon a breezy autumn day, and there he went to Corber's store, and said, "I've studied here to stay. A check I looked for isn't here, but it will come—it's overdue; so I must ask of you." I fear, some credit for a week or two. Old Corber scratched his nose, and said, "I have a letter here," he said, "informing me that you're a crook." This comes from Mud-Town-on-the-Hill, where you have lived a year or two; if says you never pay a bill while there's a chance to dodge in view. So Mr. Jagsworth, there's the door in which I take an honest pride; I pray you leave my moral store, and soak your head a while outside." There was a time when beats could go from town to town and play their game, for merchants didn't seem to know the way to circumvent the same. But now the man who will not pay is known and sidestepped everywhere; he cannot move so far away, his reputation won't be there, and having won that sort of fame, he'll always be a grievous load, and bring the burning bush of shame, when he has got the crooked road. Be straight, be honest as the day, and never dodge a bill that's due; you'll find where you chance to stray, that work of fame will travel to.

THE PROPHET.

The weather man says "Snow," and then all people know it will be fine, the sun will shine, and warm things up below. The weather man says "Fair," and people everywhere then sticker their feet in goosebumps and go to a rain preparer. The prophet does his best; he seldom takes a rest; all day he scraps with charts and maps from North and South and West. He toils and never tires; he reads expensive wires from Hudson's Bay and Cape Cod, and from the British shires. And still his guess is "punk"; his prophecies are bunk one time in eight he gets it straight, and seven times it's junk. His system's not O. K.; it leads him all to burn; it twice bests perhaps; to burn that day and to bewilder the chase, as he ought to study well the ground-hog of the dell, which knoweth more of weather lore than human sharps can tell. A goosebone he should get, or c'en though he goes in debt, for his system will bewilder the weather or c'en though he goes in debt, he observe the wrags, the wise old cackling hens, the toads and frogs, the barn-yard hogs, the bull snakes in their dens. And then when he foretells the storm that whoops and rages, the wind will howl and bells will tinkle, and he'll be wearing bells.

SUNNY SMILES.

The sunny smile an asset is, and has a hundred uses, but it won't help you in your big, if coupled with excuses. I ordered seven bales of hay from Binx, the local dealer; he said he'd send them right away with horses and four-wheeler. A broken promise makes me sick, and sore and aggravated; and "right away" means pretty quick, where I was waiting. I waited for those seven bales, and still I was denied them; the horses chewed their manger rails, and ate the ropes that tied them. I called on Binx, then man of guile, and turned loose some orations, and he produced his sunny smile, and fifty explanations. "Your musical swimming one indeed. I said, you blame old grates, but they won't give my horses feed when those poor beasts desire it. Here, after I will buy my hay from Theobald, Thomas; he doesn't smile, he's a glad way, but he can keep a horse in the best of condition, and then I wrecked his fodder store, and gloated over the ruins. Whatever you sell in banks or files, you'll succeed you pay for it; but bank too much on sunny smiles—the goods are what men pay for."

BURDEN OF WEALTH.

I never yet have seen a Croesus, who was gay; too much of old long green drips happiness away. "The coin is glibly stuff, it is not vulgar dress, and when you've not enough you feel a total loss. But when you have a pile as big as Johnson's barn, you find you cannot smile or chortle, worth a darn. By day it fills your mind, you dream about your want, and man was not designed to make long green his god. All happenings on earth to you important seem, according to their worth to your financial scheme. Your viewpoint soon is wrong, your climates are rash, you're in a queer or wrong, according to their cash. No more can you trace in genius clothed in rags, but you've a warm embrace, for old man Moneybags. You see all fortune wrecked, and wet with gore, ponds, and talk of wars' effect on mortgages and bonds. And when the Judgment Day we stand in frightened ranks, we'll doubtless hear you say, "This will disturb the banks." Ah, better to be broke, and full of prunes and sars, and think this world a joke, than give our souls to gain."

TOIL AND TALK.

If talk would make the wheels go round, we'd never have hard times; in all our purses would be found a large supply of dimes, but talk will increase the earth, or you'll speak of them, as being of silver, and worth a hundred tons of steel. The most of us are easy marks; our hard earned coin is flung into the hands of soulless sharks who wield the silver tongue. We have to lend a pair of hoses to someone (I never hear of Neighbor Sam's hose), or honor ours, whose record's clean and clear; but when the father, cheerful man, is windily abroad, we die from the tomato can our ancient hoarded wad, and hand it to him with a smile, the set to work with him to raise another goodly pile for 'other. Windy Jim, upon your industry depend, be honest, earnest, brave; you'll always be your own best friend. If you will work and save, the promise of wags' lads, by politics or trade won't bring you more peace or ease, or see your due bills paid. The man who brings your load of coal and sees it safely hined, is better than the sunny soul who only brings you wind."

SEEK A NEW LAW.

The chiropractic doctors met in Lincoln a few days ago, and appointed committees to appear before the legislature in their behalf. There were about fifty delegates in the convention, representing the Nebraska-Chiropractors' association, whose one hundred members are located in various parts of the state. They seek the enactment of a law, such as other states have passed, recognizing the science of chiropractic—and placing the profession on an equal plane with osteopathy. In order to do this, they ask the legislature to create a state board of examiners whose duty it shall be to examine all persons who may wish to practice the chiropractic science in Nebraska. Fees will be imposed, making the board self-sustaining. The governor is authorized to appoint the members of said board, and he will choose men of high standing, thus protecting the interests of the public. The chiropractic science has many thousands of practitioners throughout the United States, and the number are growing rapidly. The Nebraska chiropractors expect the active opposition of the medical doctors, but the legislative committee, of which Dr. Lee W. Edwards of Omaha is chairman, relies upon the people's sense of fair play to bring about the desired recognition by the state.

We understand that on the Fort Peck Indian agency, under charge of Major Porter, there is probability of trouble on account of the multitude of white hunters who are there killing off buffalo. The Indians are mad, naturally, and may take the notion into their heads to lift a few scalps from the intruders.
