ENTHUSIASTIC GALA DAY AT STATE NORMAL

FITTING SPEECHES MADE IN PROGRESS THIS WEEK

The enthusiasm of the school and the patrons was constantly in evidence during the gala day in which was celebrated the completion of the new administration building at the Normal. It was a fitting climax to the five years since the state took charge of the institution and placed President U. S. Conn in charge. Some days before the celebration former students and alumni began to drop into town until there was a considerable number of them. On the morning of the festive car many more from nearby towns and from former discharges. The people of Wayne and vicinity came in crowds, filling the new auditorium and the hall of the new building, and all expressing admiration of the artistic and convenient structure that now crowns Normal Hill. The Stanton Ladies' Quartet opened the program at ten o'clock with a city music society style of lighted arias. Scarcely four voices blend so well or singers display such taste and technique. The neighboring town of Signon may properly take pride in this popular organization.

At the close of this part of the program, President Conn extended greetings and Dean Hahn, the presiding officer of the morning session, introduced Superintendent A. D. Thomas as the first special attraction. Mr. Thomas is always a favorite with a Wayne audience, and on this occasion maintained his place in the esteem of his hearers. After paying tribute to the memory of our great hero, he and a few glowing words of appreciation of the work of President Conn, the speaker presented the following considerations: First, the need of greater freedom to executives in charge of our educational institutions; second, the need of protecting such institutions by the establishment of endowments; third, the need of a movement for rural uplift.

The second speaker of the morning was Charles S. Smith, president of the University of Nebraska. This was the first visit of the chancellor to Wayne and his greeting to the people was in happy vein. After the friendly words of introduction, he presented a most interesting and substantial argument in justification of the state in the expenditure of money for educational purposes and for such buildings as the one in which he spoke. The school, he pointed out, is the best investment of the valuations that we can civilization. It is the place in which the people learn to use the things already invented and to demand more. The Yankee schoolmaster, he declared, is one of the greatest factors. The people of Nebraska are rapidly learning to appreciate Chancellor Avery for what he is, not merely a successful executive, but an original and careful thinker as well.

After music by the quartet, Mr. Rogers appeared, costumed as a Jew and megalomaniac to the crowd the events of the afternoon, led in the singing of the Normal school song composed by Miss Mabel Banks of the class of 1913, and thereafter the Wayne yell was given with a hearty will.

From twelve to two p. m. citizens of the town, students, faculty and friends gathered for a social dinner on the campus or had a spread in an improvised dining hall within the building. Students' Carnival. After the classic, cultured and dignified program of the morning, and the schoolmasters' love-feast of the early afternoon, the program was turned over to the students for a few hours' revelry. A little nonsense now and then, as related by the best of men. The audience anticipated a treat in real fun and merry-making as the "stunts" were well advertised. The halls were literally covered with indoor posters, which were furnished by magical artists from Colfax county.

The announcement of the program was made by the carnival jester, E. R. Rogers. It is needless to say that the appreciation and interest of such laughter. The program was interspersed with college songs. (Continued on page 4.)

BIG CROWDS ATTEND WAYNE CHAUTAUQUE

EDUCATIONAL LECTURES AND HIGH CLASS MUSIC—WEEK OF ENJOYMENT AND BENEFIT.

The Wayne chautauque opened Sunday afternoon with the ten packed and keen interest manifested. The Chicago male quartet furnished the music for the opening session. A summary of the interesting lectures by Homer B. Hubbard is given on page ten of today's Herald. Miss Grace Lankin who has charge of the children, organized her work the first of the week, and promises to have a well trained army by the close of the week. Articles touching her laudable work here and elsewhere will be found on pages eight and ten of this paper.

The Chicago quartet provided the prelude Monday afternoon, and a popular concert in the evening. Harold E. Kessinger who was to have lectured Monday afternoon was compelled to cancel the engagement, and Mr. Hulbert took his place, giving his satisfaction to the executive crowd.

The Apollo Concert company gave a concert Tuesday afternoon and furnished the prelude to the lecture by Louis Williams in the evening. Mr. Williams gave chemical and scientific demonstrations and some of the achievements in the use of electricity. He showed different results produced by combining and separating gases, and demonstrated wireless control of electricity. On account of the direct current and actual voltage of the local electric plant, he was unable to perform some of his usual experiments. His explanations were given in unique and entertaining style.

On account of sickness, Charles E. Rusk was unable to be present to lecture yesterday afternoon, and his place was filled very acceptably by Dr. John Brushingham of Chicago. He said in beginning his lecture: "The world has ever delighted to crown heroes and its kings; Gardens are woven for the victors and diadems adorn the brows of king and queen."

We would give homage to the noble hero of the world's renown and place crowns on heads that richly deserve them although they have remained uncrowned. "Crown his majesty, the American citizen, because of what he has accomplished. In an incredibly short time, he has made the desert to bloom and blossom as the rose. He has drained swamps, cleared away forests, built cities, founded free institutions, established an empire."

Crown him because of what he has done. No slave he! The highest type of man that God has developed is man free in conscience and in spirit. It is his majesty, the American citizen, because he knows why he is; we know he is.

The lecturer went on to say that the term, "hyphenated American," should be erased from our vocabulary. It is not the accident of birth, but American spirit that makes an American. Not Irish-American, or German-American, but American is the term to be applied to all who love our flag and uphold our sacred institutions. Dr. Brushingham took some pretty hard rap on socialism. He stands for reform, bettering of all conditions that affect the average citizen, but avers that the socialist propagandists are trying to cure a single eye for our social ills.

"Use the ballot in peace and a loyal army and navy in time of war, if it come, all in the hands of intelligent citizens or their approved representatives. In this age, we must mean the impulse of the rabble at any time for the righting of real or imaginary wrongs." The lecture was plentifully interspersed with bright and witty sayings and spicy jokes of a healthful character. The speaker came out rather forcefully for woman suffrage which measure he made clear was not a socialist matter at all, but one of the best reforms in which all are interested. A hearty response was accorded the lecturer at the close. Every event of the week will be well worth attending. Frank Stockton will give this afternoon a lecture on the subject of "Business and the Future." Tonight the Waldens, magicians, will give an entertainment. Tomorrow afternoon will be a lecture by Gov. Geo. H. Hodges

PAUL CHIPPERFIELD LOSES LIFE IN CREEK

WAS SWIMMING IN STREAM

Paul Chipperfield, aged 17 years, was drowned in Plum creek, about eight miles south of U. S. yesterday morning about 11 o'clock. He was employed on the farm of Arthur Gramquist, and with a Gramquist boy, aged 13, was swimming in water that, due to heavy rains, had backed into a deep ditch from the creek. It is believed the boy was seized with cramps, and was unable to save himself. His young companion became frightened when he sank in the water with a cry for assistance, and ran to a neighboring farm for help. The body was found in eight feet of water near the place where the boy drowned.

Paul Chipperfield is a son of Rev. R. T. Chipperfield, district superintendent of the M. E. church, living at Morrisdale, Sioux Falls. The boy attended the Wayne high school the past year, and was a member of the ninth grade. The father came to Wayne last evening and accompanied the remains to Sioux City this morning. The boy is survived by his parents and three sisters, a brother having died several years ago. While attending school here, he lived with the Noah Williamson family. Companions in school and other friends will regret to hear of his untimely death.

DROWNED NEAR WAYNE.

Wayne, Neb., July 14.—Ed Lang, 36-year-old farmer, was drowned here and his 12-year-old son was drowned last evening at about 7 o'clock. The boy started to ride a horse across a creek swollen by heavy rains. The current swept the horse away. The boy jumped into the stream to rescue the horse and succeeded in reaching him, but the current was so strong he was unable to make headway, and was carried down the stream about 100 yards where both went down. A volunteer fire department was called and summoned aid. Efforts were made to recover the bodies, but to no avail. Mr. Lang is in Montana. Lang was a man about 40 years old and is said to have been a member of the G. A. R.

General Robbins, a young farmer living nine miles northeast of town was drowned at 8 o'clock yesterday. Some small boys were playing on a plank across a creek and the plank broke, precipitating one of the boys into the water. Robbins jumped in and managed to save the boy, but was swept away by the current and lost his life. Searchers were soon on the scene and the body was found about 200 yards from the place. Robbins was about 23 years old and unmarried.

Mr. Crossland called upon those who are to go out as high school teachers to interest their pupils in the advantages of the Rhodes-Scholarship. He said his first interest came through the suggestion of Professor E. P. Wilson, formerly superintendent of the Wayne public schools, and further stated that in nearly every case American students at Oxford have won the prize because they were interested and encouraged by some superintendent or principal.

Mr. Crossland's address was well received, and the students of the Normal hope to have the privilege of hearing him again before the summer session ends.

SUICIDES WITHOUT AN APPARENT CAUSE

WOMEN TAKE THEIR LIVES One at Wisner and Another at Stanton Commit Rash Acts of Self Destruction. Wisner, Neb., July 12.—A verdict of self destruction was returned at noon today by the coroner's jury which investigated the death of Mrs. A. C. Thielen, wife of the recently slain fornicum in her home here while her husband was asleep in an adjoining bed room. Mrs. Thielen was one of the most popular women in Wisner and the inquiry by the coroner failed to disclose any motive for the deed. Mr. Thielen was one of the judges at the West Point races which closed Saturday. He returned home late Sunday and his wife told him she would call him for dinner. He remained in bed and Mrs. Thielen proceeded to dress two chickens for dinner. Some time between 10 and 11 o'clock she returned on the bed room and found her husband lying on the bed face up. She thought King, then 11:30 o'clock. The shot did not awaken Mr. Thielen and Mrs. Thielen's parents, who live next door, did not hear it although their windows were open. Coroner C. L. Riley conducted the inquest. None of Mrs. Thielen's friends or relatives can give any hint as to the cause of her act. Some time ago she underwent an operation but her health has been very good. Her sister stayed with her the night before her death and she complained of a pain in her back; she gave no other indication that she was not in her usual health. Mrs. Thielen was a member of the Eastern Star and the Royal Neighbors. The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Thielen is a prominent stockman and has a large number of friends among the cattlemen in north Nebraska. They had no children.

North Daily News, July 13.—Mrs. Henry McKinsey, 26 years old wife of a prominent Stanton county ranchman, four miles southeast of Stanton, committed suicide Monday afternoon by hanging herself with a pair of silk stockings tied to a bed post. The death occurred at 10:30 o'clock. The inquest was held at 10:30 Monday night. In a delicate condition and having been ill for several months Mrs. McKinsey became despondent and while her husband was out in the field she locked herself in the house and ended her life. The husband is distracted with grief and relatives in Norfolk—Mrs. W. A. Moldenhauer, the mother, and a brother, A. W. Moldenhauer, are here to attend the funeral. Mrs. McKinsey was formerly Dora Moldenhauer, a Norfolk high school girl. She was married seven months ago to the young Stanton county ranchman and the young couple have been very happy. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. McKinsey were in Stanton visiting with relatives and Mrs. McKinsey appeared in good spirits. Monday morning, however, she seemed gloomy and her husband did not return to the field and then later she laughed and appeared rational. She then pleaded with her husband to return to his work and...

Norfolk Daily News, July 13.—The block system of train dispatching of the M. & O. road went into effect at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. Several of the road officials were in Norfolk to watch the first day's operation under the new system. The division is divided into blocks from which trains can neither be released or enter unless the block is "cleared" by the operator who receives the usual train orders from the dispatchers. By this system the company expects to facilitate the service as well as make travel more safe. Last Saturday, the day following Chancellor Avery's visit to Wayne, he suffered an experience which his friends here greatly regret. He was returning to a hospital with three members of the university faculty who had been overcome with gas, he struck a little girl who was in the street, and at first it was feared fatal injuries had been inflicted. He was using the machine to avoid the child, but did not succeed altogether. Late reports from the little girl state that she is recovering with no serious consequences anticipated.

explained that the wool would go to her room and rest and sleep. Finds Body in Room. When Mr. McKinsey returned to the farm yard at 8:30 in the evening he missed his wife who usually met him. He called and received no response. Then he attempted to open the door and found it latched from within. He then broke into the house and found his wife's body in her room. The body was brought to Norfolk Tuesday evening, and funeral services will be held from the home of the mother, Mrs. W. A. Moldenhauer, 515 South Fifth street. TOURNAMENT CLOSES The Northeast Nebraska Tennis association closed its annual tournament in Wayne last Saturday, and the tournament next year will be held at Norfolk. In the singles finals Frank Morgan of Wayne, defeated Paul Langenberg of Walthill, and won the championship. The cup holder, Harry Oldham of Creighton, defaulted in the challenging round. In the doubles South and Daland of Norfolk, defaulted to Mathewson and Langenberg of Walthill, in the challenge round because they were unable to give business on Saturday. This leaves the Walthill team two legs on the cup and with one more winning they would retain it permanently. SCARCITY OF WOOL It is a fact, patent to people conversant with the subject that wool was never so scarce as it is today, a condition which will continue as long as the European war lasts to stimulate the demand beyond the supply. Armies in the field require all the wool they can get, and it is being bought in both the form of manufactured woolsens and raw material. Consequently, values in wool clothing are naturally advanced, and a woolsen suit is worth more today than it was a year ago. Therefore, when a store reduces prices of clothing in a special sale, such as Gamble & Senter advertises this week, it is offering a rare opportunity to get supplies at big saving. A reduction in the price of clothing today means more than it did a year ago. The buying public will serve itself well by considering and taking advantage of the special bargains offered by the Gamble & Senter store.

cheers, and yells, showing the spirit and zest of the life of the school, and the general feeling was everywhere in evidence. The first number, was a "lacy dance" by Douglas county. This county produced a gay little ballet dancer, light and airy as a feather, who danced the Spanish Tambourine Dance.

Following this, a wonderful "Auto Stunt" was performed by Holt county. Jimmie got out his automobile, not a "tinnyer's dream," and just as he was ready to speed down the highway, he was besieged by a hevy of Holt county's daintiest maidens, who prevailed upon Jimmie to take them out riding; but he found to his sorrow, that trying to watch and listen to a bunch of "pretty girls" was a failure. They walked home.

The next number, "Knock Relay" by Knox county, was a splendid paralytic relay race, which created hearty applause. After the race they fell in line for the paralytic drill. The paralytic being decorated with the college colors, added much to the beauty of the intricate measures of the drill.

"Absolute Necessities" by Dodge county, was a very interesting comedy. The performers entered, which looked as though they had stepped out of the last pages of the Ladies Home Journal, and they fairly took the audience by the ears of voice and picture. But to some of the daily utilities, or absolute necessities of men. They certainly had to Dodge Washington and Cuming.

The students next entertained the audience by some good old college songs, and as the sounds died out the scurry of feet and expressed laughter were heard back of the scenes. Then the curtain rolled up and revealed the "Fine Arts Exhibit" put on by Boyd county. This exhibit consisted of splendid figures in wax equipped with scientific, mechanical devices. The connoisseur of art would each one up and the performances were so much like the actual human performance that all regretted to see them run down. The figures were Padeski, Paderewski, Betsy Ross, Hebe, and W. J. Bryan. The second part was a song written by one of the accomplished Boyd county students.

Immediately after this the crowds all dispersed, the flowers were abundant, and the trees were full of songbirds. The crowd was a wonderful mocking bird leading the chorus, for George Wilcox was whistling.

Following this, "Iowa in two parts." This was a concert in two parts. The first part was a song dedicated to Iowa; the second a wondrous song, accompanied by all the primitive musical instruments. The leader has never been equalled in the art of directing a chorus. We hope to see them carry their talents to a higher sphere.

South Dakota next produced the "Colored Supplement, Miss Muff and Miss Jeff." The audience realized that this was not the imagination of an artist, but the real thing. "Swain-Dykens" was produce a "Mutt" eight feet tall, and a "Jeff" seven feet in circumference. Jokes upon the faculty and coyote hunting were the order of the day.

Wayne county was fortunate enough to be able to produce the "Great Knights of Uncle Remus" from Alabama. These minstrels could not be surpassed even by the Dixie Concert company. The audience listened with breathless delight to their comic melodies characteristic of the old days. The West Hall boys entertained next with a "kangaroo stunt." While this may be a type of the student life in college, it is not the predominant spirit of West Hall; but it afforded a great deal of merriment. Kinney being a good subject to imitate, as he came out of the fray with the usual smile.

This closed the indoor, or side show, program for the day, and the Field Marshal, or Commander, "Woodrow" Wilson, announced the order of the parade. The Red Men, the oldest American inhabitant, took the lead, then the counties with their emblems and banners and last but not least the Circus Parade.

The Circus proper of Cedar county was the first out-door number, and without a doubt it was the greatest show on earth. The band and circus were of no consequence. Every artisan seen in America for the first time. Their trained wild animals could not be surpassed. If you have seen this circus, no need to go to Barnum & Bailey's.

The next was "The Indian War Dance," produced by Burt and Thurston counties. This was an excellent reproduction of Indian life. Their costumes and make-ups were equal to "Rain in the Face," "Crazy Horse" or any of the other distinguished chiefs. The war dance was well given to the accompaniment of the primitive music of the tom-tom. The last in order was the "Merry-makers," Platte and Stanton counties, anticipating some of the real work of play in this work-a-day world, entered into the race play spirit and gave two folk dances, entitled "Antony" and "The Hungarian Folk Dance." The audience caught the spirit of fun and joined in for a second round.

Artists' Recital. By far the largest attendance of the day was at the evening session, at which time, following a formal reception by the faculty, more than one thousand people gathered in the new auditorium to listen to a joint recital by Miss Helen Axen Brown of Chicago and Mrs. Marie Montfort Keeckley.

The song recital was all that could be expected. Miss Brown again proved herself a singer of much force and finish. She possesses an excellent soprano voice of great flexibility and beautiful quality. Her program was well selected and each number given with the best artistic finish.

The many hearty encores were proof that her hearers were delightfully pleased.

The part of Mrs. Marie Montfort Keeckley on the program came fully up to the anticipations of her friends. In accordance with her custom she took as her selection which has first rank in literary merit, Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew." Probably few in the audience were able to appreciate the amount of labor necessary for the acquisition of the perfect technique with which the reader represented the turbulent Kate, the boisterous and determined lover, and the timid old father. While Mrs. Keeckley's enunciation and interpretation are perfect, and every gesture graceful and fitting, yet perhaps the most remarkable part of her work is her facial expression, a point in which few readers equal her. Wayne people may be depended upon to come in crowds whenever Mrs. Keeckley is on the program.

CROPS AND PROSPERITY. Lincoln Journal. The July 1 crop report of the bureau of agriculture continues the bright promises of the May and June reports. The great cereal crops of corn, wheat, rye, oats and rice promise yields above the average, with wheat promising to break all records. Nebraska is in line with the general condition. Its corn is backward the result of cool weather, but its wheat will make up for any lack in corn. With continued moisture the corn will gain in condition through July and August.

Professor H. C. Moore has recently published a book in which he attempts to prove that business prosperity or adversity in the United States is the direct consequence of crop conditions. Business prosperity goes in cycles because the cereal crops of the great grain producing states go in cycles. The crops go in cycles because the rainfall goes in cycles, one of thirty-three years and one of eight years. Large crops cause increased demand for industrial products, with ensuing increase in prices of goods and labor; and we have prosperity. Poor crops cause a reverse action.

This may be disputed. Many investigators have studied the correspondence between industrial prosperity and industrial crops and have written a paper in advocacy of the common theory that the English economic cycle is the result of the crop cycles of India. We may hold that no one cause makes up the action and reaction of economic conditions and accuse Prof. Moore of mistaking a part for the whole. But that crops have vital relation to prosperity, the "miserable child" cannot but see.

For these crops and crop prospects in time of destructive war we are accordingly most fortunate. It was good in the war, if anything good can be in it, to come in the course of our "wet cycle." We are thus enabled to absorb the shock of nations and keep them from starving while they turn their strength to pure destructiveness. Never was a good crop year more timely than now.

Traveling Man's Experience.

"In the summer of 1898 I had a very severe attack of cholera morbus. Two physicians worked over me from four a. m. to 6 p. m. without giving me any relief and then told me they did not expect me to live; that I had best telegraph for my family. Instead of doing so, I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and take no rest. I took a double dose according to the directions and went to sleep after the second dose. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping point, a well man but feeling rather shaky from the severity of the attack," writes H. W. Ireland, Louisville, Ky. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

HOW TO MAKE AND KEEP PUBLIC ROAD SMOOTH

(By American Highway Association) The traffic on our roads and highways is increasing rapidly. It is necessary to develop roads, chuck holes and depressions. The chief purpose of road maintenance is to prevent and remedy this destructive action. To be successful and efficient road maintenance must be systematic and continuous. Haphazard work is expensive and unsatisfactory. If the road is very rough and uneven or the crown very low the road machine for grading is very efficient for placing it in shape. One must guard, however, against the all too common practice of scraping the soil and other vegetable matter and debris from the sides and edges on to the road. In actual fact, on the clay and heavy soil roads all vegetable or spongy material should be carefully excluded. Such materials absorb moisture readily and furnish a soft, spongy surface which will not last. The road surface should be built up with the best material possible—material which will pack and consolidate under traffic and which will be as nearly water proof as possible.

...sible and will wear uniformly. In general the road machine or grader should be used in the spring of the year while the ground is moist and in such conditions the work is done with the least effort. THE FUTURE CITYZEN

The following is an excerpt from an address given by Miss Grace M. Lamkin, who has charge of the children in the playground feature of the chautauqua: "The boy of today is the man of tomorrow. It is the future citizen that we are doing to train up. How giving him an opportunity are we giving him to get in touch with the real machinery of life? Excellent and necessary as his school training is, it does not touch the real world."

There is a responsibility of the present. But there is also a responsibility of the future. The full measure of good citizenship must be taught. The best education a boy can have is that which fits him for his work in life. The best work in life is not wholly an individual affair. There is a community claim. The sooner the boy is taught to understand this the sooner he will become a worthy citizen.

How many fathers have given this side of the boy's education any thought? We complain of the boy who acquires the habit of truancy. We wonder why he seeks the resorts which we know are not good for him. We are tempted sometimes to wonder if his tendencies are abnormal.

And who's fault is it? Are we offering him any other channel to work of his energies? Is there any other place for him to go where the right places? The home is attractive.

Yes—from the settled man's standpoint of the real work of life. Say what you will, the boy knows that he is not doing real things. Unconsciously and naturally he feels the need. He finds the bright life and excitement of the streets and the home. And parents wonder—and remonstrate.

Is there not something else to do? Is there not some practical way of connecting the boy up with life? It is axiomatic that the average boy responds to the responsibility thrown upon him. It is not soon to begin putting the responsibility on him when he takes on his civic process.

And there are better methods than we are using. Better methods have been a slogan in your business affairs. Have you got any more important business affairs in life than training the boy to efficient citizenship? If you think you have some body or something has been feeling you into a wrong viewpoint.

But how shall we go at it? Well, in Evanston, Ill., for instance, the Commercial club has secured and kept up a commercial and boys club which has a membership of 240 boys. They manage its affairs. They have a wide field of civic activities. Many of the big things the city is doing for a better community life require the active and intelligent work of the details. A great deal of the responsibility for these details is put on the boys' shoulders.

And they have never failed to stand up under it and make good. In Rochester, N. Y., the big business men take a few hours each week and with a squad of boys visit some of the big shops or stores or offices and explain how the wheels go around. They make the boys and boys' club meetings and other public gatherings and some competent man is detailed to explain all about how things are done.

Norfolk Neb., has a chapter of commerce which entertains the boys of the city regularly every week and gives an annual dinner to them. Members make it a point to be present and interest the lads in an explanation of how real things are done in a real way. In Johnstown, Pa., and in Toledo, O., they have established some municipal playgrounds. The older boys have been given regular appointments as policemen and they keep the neighborhood in the best possible order and there is no lawbreaking or trouble. They are learning responsibility.

...ing in Iowa, he says. For the larger cities, New York, Chicago and other of the municipal authorities have accepted the plan of the city of Chicago. The plan is to have the street cleaners and park cleaners by reforming any thing that needs attention. Iowa Comment

The "Rolls" to Arrow, speaking of the work of Miss Grace M. Lamkin in the organized city feature of the chautauqua, says: "The playground feature of the chautauqua was started Monday morning, with Miss Grace Lamkin in charge. The children and young people responded heartily to the invitation to participate in this work and the class consists of about 140. We would like to go into this feature in detail, but lack of time this week will not permit. During the past two years much has been done which has benefited the physical and indoor physical work in Iowa. Here is an opportunity to learn from a competent instructor and one full of experience, the real benefits and advantages of this work. Miss Lamkin has been in the work for ten years and is a physical culturist of considerable reputation. We hope an inspiration will come to our people through her being here and that it will prove to be the starting point of a movement that will bring results."

DRAG THE ROADS (By The Herald) It's too wet to plow the corn. Drag the roads. Do not mope about forever. Drag the roads. When the harvester won't run for the want of wind and sun, Here's a thought for every one— Drag the roads. Clouds will scatter by and by— Drag the roads. Warmth of air and blue of sky— Drag the roads. Do not grumble, grouch and mope. But with heart of faith and hope, Face the music— that's the dearest— Drag the roads.

MAKING CITIZENS.

Freemont Tribune: A feature of the Fourth of July celebration at New Orleans was the holding of a mass meeting of citizens for the benefit and detection of newly naturalized citizens.

In view of present circumstances that give a new meaning and a new and important citizenship to the method of creating the true citizen, the foreign-born persons into Americans is to be commended. The observance of Fourth of July might well be enlarged, also, to embrace a ceremony to welcome into the ranks of our citizenry all those native born persons who have reached their majority during the year.

In the severest tests that have ever come upon the country for foreign-born citizens have met the emergencies with patriotic zeal; the vast majority of them have. But during revolution there were Tories who mocked the efforts of the colony, they saved themselves from their mass meeting exercises. Absenteeism there was even in the loyalists.

The contents of the best medicine for our most serious and constant attention. For a century streams of citizens from every nook and corner of the earth have poured into it. The amalgamation of these into a composite and distinctive nationality that has a thorough comprehension of the aims and objects of democracy must be a steady and constant process, wisely directed. To that end statesmanship may find a field of important work. Dual citizenship must not exist.

The old method of formally converting the raw material from other countries into the finished product of American citizenship, was very serious indeed. It rested largely with political campaign committees, who sought out eligibles, urged them before the proper authorities, administered the oath of allegiance in a perfunctory way and even paid the fee of initiation into this great solidarity of sovereign citizenship. It was done solely for political advantage. It lacked dignity and impressive ceremony, vastly less than imposed by the study of international treaties. Of late years the process has been improved, but it is yet far from what it might well be.

The Fourth of July would be given a new meaning, if celebrated throughout the country making it recognition day, for new citizens, native and foreign born, with impressive ceremonies befitting the day and its purpose. New Orleans has set a good initial example.

FATAL ACCIDENT. Blair, Neb., July 11. Helen, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Pounds, was run over about 6 o'clock yesterday evening by an automobile driven by John Nelson, a farmer living just west of Blair. She received injuries, which resulted in her death at 11 o'clock last night. She was returning home with her parents, when

LINCOLN MAN SAVES HIS WIFE

Mrs. Anna A. Dahl of Lincoln Restored When Husband Gives Her Wonderful Remedy.

Death was close upon Mrs. Anna A. Dahl of 1439 F street, Lincoln, Neb. She was desperately ill with serious derangements of the digestive tract. In fact, at times she was so ill that she knew nothing of what was going on about the sick room.

She recovered most marvelously. The treatment that she declared saved her was given when she was so sick she did not know until after she recovered how she had been restored. The stomach remedy given to her by her thoughtful husband, was Mrs. Winder's Remedy. Mrs. Dahl, in a long letter, tells of her experience: "I feel so grateful to you I can't express my feelings on paper. I will make a great effort to see you personally soon. My treatment came while I was to die to realize any thing but the terrible pain. My husband tells me I passed at least a thousand gall stones, of all shapes and sizes."

"This I know—I have better taken the bottles and I feel better than for years." Mrs. Winder's Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, assurance of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get the bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee, if not satisfactory money will be returned.

LECTURE ON ORIENT
BY HOMER B. HULBERT

The first lecture of the chautau-que course was given by Homer B.
 Hulbert. He spoke to a large audience Sunday afternoon at the chau-tauque for Harold E. Kessinger Monday afternoon, the latter having been unable to fill his engagement.
 Mr. Hulbert spoke interestingly of China, Korea and Japan. He began by showing the present economic status of our country proper upon our securing a degree share of the markets of China. He illustrated the houses and the underlying business of the country and the freedom from hereditary aristocracy.
 Comparing Japan with the Chinese, it appears that they are fundamentally different in origin, temperament, language and religion.
 Mr. Hulbert widened the gap between them and China and made military autocracy the standard of manhood. The speaker showed that the rapidity of Japan's change was caused by the fact that the country was forced to make the change or lose their caste.
 He described America's attempted opening of Korea in 1874 and the splendid fight the Koreans put up.
 After the opened gates of Korea in 1882, the missionaries and the Japanese political agents began to each warring civilization there, the American giving the fundamental things and the Japanese the mere superficial.
 At a meeting Monday night the following committees were appointed to serve on and before the old-esters' picnic day, August 25:

 Francis, Louis Needham.

 le, E. W. Cullen, G. A. Merriam,

 C. Lantz, Miss Loreto Cullen.

 The committees for the celebration of the Fourth of July turned are anxious for more funds and Winside hopes to give everyone a good time. The 'Savidge' Carnival company will be here that week and on the splendid work the American missionaries had done in Korea and the fact that Korea bids fair to be come a Christian land, but for the support of Japan who by intimidation and nameless torture has attempted to destroy the influence of the church there. Japan has now decreed that there shall be no religious teaching in any school, public or private. This applies to missionaries to mission schools.

 Mr. Hulbert said the reason Japan will not fight us this side of the Pacific is because she never fights except in a certain and a limited sure she could hold the Pacific slope permanently. He said that Japan is acting in a suicidal manner in China because whichever side wins in the present war will make an alliance with Russia and Japan will be driven off the mainland of Asia. Her actions are more inimical to England than to any other western power.
 As for the Philippines, America must continue to hold them for they break the control of Japan from Kamtschatka southward across the face of China all-oi which Japan covets except these.
 Japan's entire assured wealth is a billion dollars less than the United States. The people pay out fifty cents of every dollar they earn in taxes. Japan can fight no great war because she could not borrow a cent from the United States. She is hypothetical. The people of California knew their own problem and will allow no interference, and rightly so.

 the play that will turn the so-called bad boy or girl to better living, better thinking and better doing, and that will mean to the already clean boy or girl an uplift and incentive to higher things. Anything that has a deep underlying principle in child nature we may call play.

"There are two forms of play."
 There is "unsupervised play" where the "backward child" has no opportunity whatever and is pushed aside by the "know-all" child who thinks no one belongs in the game but him.
 You see the disadvantage of this kind of play. There is on the other hand supervised play, which develops fairness and squareness and gives the backward boy and girl a chance. It develops friendship, loyalty, courtesy, competition and a keen interest in every part of the game and inspires the desire to win it possible.

"Every mother in every home, every teacher in every school, whether country or city, can make her influence more felt and her personality stronger, if she will interest herself in outdoor sports. The boys and girls feel that you are interested in their games. Take part in them. Be able to supervise them.
 Not only will you be drawn closer to the boys and girls, but you will be doing a service in a way that will gain their confidence and interest."

"We are as old as we feel. If we keep much of the child spirit within us we will be better teachers, better mothers, better fathers, better social leaders, our personalities will be made stronger and we will be made broader men and women.
 Keep in the child world. There is so much there for all of us to learn so much toward character building and toward more perfect manhood and womanhood."

COUNTY ADVISERS FOR WOMEN

Wallace's Farmer: It seems but yesterday when we had the first county adviser for the farmer. Farmers were glad to have her. We had had her did they need? We earnestly commented this movement, predicting that its extent would be limited only by the number of men capable of being advisers; for a man must be a very capable man to be a successful county adviser. He must know about as much as the college professor. He must be a mixer; must know men and how to handle them.
 Then he must know farming, actual farming, and be familiar with all its details. The time will come when every county in the agricultural sector of the United States will have a county adviser.

The latest brand-new thing is a county adviser for women. This comes to us a sort of surprise. We had not really thought of that, but we are not prepared even to now to predict with any degree of certainty its success. We have had them in New York, Massachusetts, Missouri, Oklahoma, and quite recently there has been appointed one in Hinton, Kentucky.

"We don't know how the movement originated in the other states mentioned, but in Illinois it originated with the women themselves.
 There was a strong suspicion that it will never succeed till the women take it up. A hundred farm women got together, originated and planned and proceeded to carry their plan into execution by getting about seven hundred women in the county to give or pledge a dollar a year each for three years toward securing a county adviser, to whom they pay eighteen hundred dollars a year."

"We imagine we see the eyes of some of our farm girls snap when they think of that eighteen hundred dollars a year, and of the fun there would be in riding around in an automobile over the county, and talking to women about what? Domestic economy, social life, cooperation in church and school, better ventilation, better arranged houses and especially kitchens, perhaps poultry.
 When women generally get to doing this, there is going to be trouble for some of the old fellows who seem to think that anything is good enough for their wives."

It is going to take a pretty big sort of woman to handle that sort of work, and it is a very tough job.
 And the county will be fortunate if some farmer doesn't see what she is worth and pre-empt her. It is not possible about it, but it has always seemed to us that women are a little sensitive when their household operations are criticized, and it will require rare tact and discretion and sound judgment.

Let us have these county advisers everywhere, and then we are willing to pay for them, and when the advanced women are ready to stand by their county advisers. Otherwise it will be of little use. The Agricultural Department, through the Lever bill, helps out these women, first getting them advisers, and then in-giving them half as much money as they raise themselves. In the case we have mentioned, they have practically raised fifty hundred dollars, and will have to use for the salary only two hundred and fifty of the money given them by the government, and have four hundred and fifty dollars left for other expenses outside of salary.

We would very much like to hear of a county adviser for women in every county in which Wallace's Farmer circulates. We are ready to give the movement a boost, but women must get them. They are ready to play Aggie Paul's part farm women: "You remember he said: 'Help these women that labor with me in the gospel.' We can only help; the women themselves must lead."

The heavy rain Wednesday morning caused considerable danger but at this writing it is impossible to say just how much. Some report five stage missing and others state that they have more than that which belongs to them, so it is hoped that when the water goes down each owner will be able to gather in his own.

The rain began to fall here about 2:10 Wednesday morning and between that time and 7:30 a. m. we had two inches of water, according to the gauge at the Merchants State bank.

The east-bound passenger was caught in the flood a mile west of town Wednesday morning and did not get out of town until about six in the evening.

The roadbed west of town was washed out for some distance, but after the water went down enough of the track was made safe and the passenger ran into town where it was held until the track four miles east could be made safe.

Through the draw between Moses Bros. Lumber house and Dr. McIntyre's property all morning, but did not get high enough to run over the bank until about 7 a. m. At this time the Main street and the park were converted into the lake that we are growing used to seeing.

John Gabler, sr., works faithfully every day, that the weather is fit to make the park the prettiest spot that it should be, but he just gets it thoroughly straightened up after one flood when we have another.

As we understand it, this park land was deeded to the town for park purposes and if it ever used for any other purpose it will revert to the original owner. Couldn't anyone or some one who knows his business to come here and put in a few acres and dig the water to the creek instead of having a mud hole of half of the town before it can reach the creek.
