Treasurer, Capital stock paid in, National Bank notes outstanding, Undivided profits, Individual deposits subject to check, Demand certificates of deposit, Due to other National banks and bills rediscounted.

Total $98,040.84... In contrast, it is interesting to note that the statement made at the close of business June 30, 1915, showed total resources of $464,539.23... The deposits amounted to $314,218.65... Undivided profits and money reserved for taxes and improvements amounted to $20,057.68... It should be remembered that during the course of this development two other strong branches... besides the establishment of banks at other points in the country. CHURCH CALENDAR

Methodist Church
(Rev. A. E. Buel, Pastor)
All of the church services were well attended last Sunday considering the fact that many of the members and regular attendants were out of town. The pastor spoke on the "Evolution of the church—the church as the dynamic of Christian Brotherhood." An interesting was taken to apply on the benevolence of the church for this conference year. The Sunday school and Epworth League had very interesting and profitable sessions.

You are most cordially invited to worship with us next Sunday.

Praying at 10 a. m. Sunday school at 11:45. Epworth League at 8 p. m. The union open air service at 7 p. m. on the court house lawn at 7 p. m.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Everybody invited.

The fourth quarterly communion service will be held the first Sunday in September.

for this synodical year will be held Sunday, September 12.

The pastor is gathering his catechetical class for this year, can you give him any assistance?—W. A. Buel

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to worship with us.

Presbyterian Church
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor)
The regular morning preaching service is at 10:30 o'clock. All are invited to worship with us. Vacation visitors are especially welcome at the morning service. Rev. Lloyd Cunningham will preach. There will be special music at this service.

Remember that the Sunday school is a part of the morning service, and ought to be. Every member of the church should remain for the session of Sunday school. Never absent, unless he has reason that he can conscientiously give to the Divine Master.

Remember the Junior Endeavor at 7 o'clock. Miss Mabel Devlin is superintendent. Send the children. This is training for the church work of tomorrow. Find out the plans of the superintendent and help your little ones a little at home to be ready.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will meet one more Sunday at 6:00 o'clock. This church should be proud of the way in which the young people have been "in the way" of the summer. There will be time next Sunday evening to attend the young folks' meeting and also the vesper services in the park.

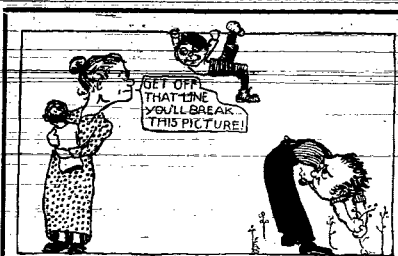

Come to the communion at 7 o'clock. The union services have accomplished a great good. It would be a great thing for the cause of the Master here if the services in all the churches of Wayne could be made union in the evenings all the year around.

Bryan took away the "historic desk" on which the most important state documents of several generations have been signed.

Mr. Bryan's retention of the desk over the original story for many years, but it deserves to be speeded on its way.

"Those who are interested enough to make inquiry will find that it is customary for officials to purchase from the government pieces of furniture for which they have formed an attachment. Each cabinet member, for instance, takes the chair which has been used at the president's council table, paying therefor the cost of a new one. Mr. Bryan takes his depositing for it $65.00. He also buys his desk chair for $50.00 and the desk for $25.00—the cost of new furniture of the same character. The desk is the one used by him in signing the peace treaties. It is strange that he is fond of it."

All this is a matter of record at Washington according to Mr. Bryan's statement. If not, he has a golden opportunity for the New York newspaper to expose the former secretary as a procurator as well as a purveyor of public property. Let us check one on which a "long succession" of presidents made history? Mr. Bryan's statement leaves the impression that he also "made history" on this one, private desks having been carried away by the officials who succeeded him. If this is not the case, he leaves a wide opening through which the harpoons will soon be entering with all the speed of a West Indian hurricane.

Ridiculous!

How could a bone in my back get out of place?

Stop and think of a few of the twists and turns that back of yours gets in a day.

You know the large muscles on each side of the spine are all that hold each little bone in its proper place. If the muscles are perfectly developed you are safe. But there are very few backs that are perfectly developed.

Your own reason will tell you that if a wrench does get one little bone out of place, some part of your body must suffer.

MRS. HARRIMAN OBJECTS

Omaha, Aug. 21.—After Union Pacific officials and the head of the McKean Motor Car Co. had fully determined to give over the McKean plant largely to the manufacturing and finishing of strap castings during the rest of the European war, all preparations had suddenly been abandoned.

It was announced unofficially this morning that it was none other than Mrs. E. H. Harriman, widow of the financial head of the great railroad system, that put the question on the nation's manufacturing plant for the McKean shop.

Blue prints had been received and contracts had been planned when Mrs. Harriman first heard of the proposed campaign through press dispatches.

She immediately telegraphed communication with the directors at New York and the legal department at Omaha, positively forbidding any such work being done—at least—at this time.

An all church service at 8 o'clock has been uniformly good during the summer months. Some shifting and readjusting must be done in the Sunday school, because of the leaving of some of our officers and teachers. But in a little while we hope to have every place filled again, by regular workers. We deeply feel our loss in this work, but appreciate the spirit of cooperation manifested. Sunday school people during this period of change. Willing is a beautiful and almost indispensable quality in Christian work. More willing workers, and fewer weary willies is the motto of the church.

"Burden Bearing" will be the subject of the sermon Sunday morning. Next Sunday evening will be our last lawn service this season. Altogether these services have been well attended and very enjoyable.

The young people will meet at 8 o'clock Sunday evening for their service. The missionary committee is arranging an interesting program. Wednesday evening will be our convenient meeting. Our prayer meetings this summer have been among the best we have had. Each meeting has been well attended and a good spirit prevailed. Our members should attend these meetings and do not be missing—great means of Christian growth.

The first of the week the pastor goes to Omaha to speak at the assembly. He will attend the Emmanual church this year.

Billy Sunday expects to begin his work in Omaha the first Sunday in September. There seems a strong probability that he will be able to come to Wayne for one Monday morning service.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RENDERS AN OPINION

Lincoln, August 22.—The "historic desk" went the other side of the water yesterday afternoon, and at each blow off went the official head of a state officer, and Nebraska was left without a state railway commissioner.

The noise from the office of the attorney general was a declaration that a vacancy exists in the office of the state railway commissioner, that a vacancy exists in the office of the state railway commissioner, that a vacancy exists in the office of the state railway commissioner.

Attorney General Morehead declared the office vacant, and the state railway commissioner, H. T. Clarke, H. G. Taylor, and J. H. Mall to file a bond after they were elected by the people of the state and entered upon their duties vacated their offices. It is generally to be expected that the attorney general, there is no state railway commission and it is the duty of Governor Morehead to appoint three railway commissioners.

Attorney General Reed prepared an opinion in writing holding that there is a vacancy in the commission and presented it in person to Governor Morehead. The governor took the matter over and his employees went right on doing business.

The decision of the attorney general came just at a time when all was calm at the state house. There had been no question before the officers for some time and most of them were planning to attend a democratic get-together dinner in the evening. This decision created a big stir in the capitol and in a short time all was confusion.

When the officials calmed down, Brother Thomas L. Hall of the railway commission and Brother George E. Hall, state treasurer, were both in the office of Attorney General Reed. The state treasurer being there to consult the attorney general in regard to the duty of the state treasurer and state auditor in the matter of permitting state departments to use fees deposited in the treasury for the support of such departments.

If the attorney general is right in his view of the alleged forfeiture of the office of the railway commissioner, the case did not file a bond. Railway Commissioner Tom Hall was kicked himself and his two associates out of office. It was Commissioner Reed's duty to call the attorney general's attention to the question of an official bond.

Governor Not Ready to Act

Governor Morehead, after a meeting with the attorney general, declined to say until Monday.

"There may be something in the contention of the attorney general," he said; "it may be that there is a question before me. I am inclined, however, to the belief that I ought not take action until the courts have declared a vacancy to exist. I do not see how I could appoint until I know positively there is a vacancy in the office of state railway commissioner. I shall reserve the right to appoint whom I please."

The latter statement was in answer to whether he intended to take action in appointing the new railway commissioners if he finds it necessary to appoint, or whether he would appoint three new commissioners.

If the courts should uphold the attorney general the governor would appoint the present commissioners and they could file bonds as appointive officers filling a vacancy. This would necessitate their running for election next year for the unexpired portions of the terms to which they have already been elected by the people. The term of office is six years. Mr. Clarke has one year more to serve. Mr. Hall five years and Mr. Taylor three years.

Reed's $1,000,000 Job

When Attorney General Reed took through with this matter he will see what he can do to recover about $1,000,000 worth of land that the state gave to railroad companies as a bonus for building lines, land which the roads received and later sold to whoever cared to buy. He will also bring a suit to test the legality of the state law creating the state normal bonus law. Reed's contention is that the constitution in existence in 1869, when the state made grants of land to railroads prohibited such grants and that the act giving away state lands was unconstitutional. He is thinking about trying to recover the land for the state. There are 500,000 acres of such land. It was given to the various corporations that are a part of the Burlington railroad system.

The Union Pacific road received lands from the government, but not from the state.

Commissioner Taylor Receives News

Railway Commissioner Taylor was told of the action of the attorney general in mandating the appointment of three commissioners. He had nothing to say and that the commission probably would not issue any statement until a meeting is held. Chairman H. T. Clarke was also notified.

Commissioner Taylor said when Judge W. G. Hastings gave the commission an opinion holding that the commissioners have jurisdiction over public grain warehouses, the matter of the duty of the commission to give an official bond was discussed informally. Commissioner Hall presenting the question verbally to Judge Hastings. Mr. Taylor said Judge Hastings had not investigated the matter, but from the facts presented to him was inclined to the belief that the constitutional provision relating to a bond to be given by rail-stare officers applied only to the officers created by the original constitution and not to railway commissioners.

Shall a test Case Be Filed?

It is evident that the governor does not intend to attempt to appoint until the courts declare a vacancy in the office of state railway commissioners. Attorney General Reed declined to say whether or not he intended to file a suit in quo warranto to test the title of the present officers to the office. He also declined to say whether or not he intended to issue writs of quo warranto coming from the commission," said State Treasurer George E. Hall, "because they have an appropriation for such salaries and the present officers are such old-time officers and their salaries are not subject to the order of law. This is different from the case of several state departments that have no specific ap-

SAVINGS SERMONETTE

NUMBER SEVENTEEN

SAVE A LITTLE.

Every man who is obliged to work for his living should make a point to lay up a little money for that "rainy day" which we are all liable to encounter when least expected. The best way to do this is to open an account with a savings bank. Accumulated money is always safe, it is always ready to use when needed. Scrape together a few dollars, make one first deposit, receive your bankbook, and then resolve to deposit a given sum, small though it be, once a month, or once a week, according to circumstances. Nobody knows without trying it how easy a thing it is to save money when an account with a bank has been opened. With such an account a man feels a desire to enlarge his deposit. It gives him a lesson in frugality and economy, weans him from habits of extravagance and is the very best guard in the world against intemperance, dissipation and vice.

Regular divine worship every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon for next Sunday morning will be "A Battered Birthing." Gen. 35. "What profit shall the birthing do to me?" There was very much in Esau which could be greatly admired. He was of good humor, off-handed, manly, and fond of field sports. He and not Jacob would in society have carried off the prize. He was a fair sample of a worldly man. He knew nothing of consecration of heart to God, or of spiritual aspirations. He was the confederate we see who shows indifference to the birthing which carried with it a certain spiritual advantage. He comes in spirit from the field. Single the postage of Jacob's wife, Leah, said to Jacob, "I have borne thee a son, and thou hast said, 'What profit shall the birthing do to me?' So Esau sold his birthing; the bartered with his brother."

There will be union services on the court house lawn this Sunday evening. This will close the union service for this summer.

CARE OF FARM TOOLS

Walter Farmer. From year to year farmers are getting better tools. They are forced to by the difficulty in securing competent help and the higher wages for that help. Therefore, every year it becomes more imperative that farmers should hone their tools when not in use. This, we know, involves additional expense, but we are all in a position where we must stand that expense or do worse.

The mower most imperative that the farmer uses only a few days in the year, is an expensive implement, but it is a necessary one, and it is important to preserve its life as long as possible. Every tool ever invented is subject to depreciation. The more care is taken of it, the less that depreciation is. One of the great causes of depreciation is exposure to the weather. Hence, a farmer who might have a good fifteen years is usually worn out in two or four years. When we come to consider how few days in the year we use any of our harvesting tools, we can see the necessity of reducing this depreciation as far as possible.

Every farmer should have a tool house, in which every tool should be stored after it has been used for that season. The wearing parts should be protected by greasing. The same with the plow, with the harrow, with every other tool. The time may come when we shall have to cooperate in the purchase of these tools, or be subject to the necessity to have a tool house for such implements as reapers, binders, hay loaders, corn harvesters, on some one farm, in which they can be kept rather compactly, without paying for the depreciation on a tool house would be a good deal less than on the machinery which it is intended to house. We are obliged to do this, or buy new ones for every one should be worn out. It's a case of "fish or cut-bait."

MR. BRYAN'S DESK

Lincoln, August 22.—The indignant letters have appeared in the past week or two in the New York Times excoriating Mr. Bryan for taking away the "historic desk" which had belonged to the department of state since the days of the republic in the interests of the country the long succession of secretaries, many of whom in the eyes of the nation have performed greater service than the present secretary. The desk had been removed to his home. The statement has been published again and again that Mr.

GOOD TIMES IN NEBRASKA.
Lincoln Trade Review: It only requires a visit to the coast states east or west, in this country, to bring home the realization that the most prosperous section of the United States today is found in the Missouri valley states.

We are not fully appreciative how much better business conditions are with us than they are elsewhere. Those in other sections see it and realize it and while they are talking the advantages of their own localities, they are actually enjoying the Missouri valley the largest measure of prosperity at the present time.

This is one section that being so overwhelmingly agricultural, is really reaping the benefits through high prices for food stuffs on account of the war. The coast states, the cotton states, all of them are suffering because of the tremendous decline in foreign-commerce and trade.

A comparison of building and business expansion in this section with that of others is surprisingly in our favor. The Pacific coast states are at a stand still—in many localities, business and development have been arrested in their expansion beyond all reason; the market for what is most largely produced on the coast states, with the exception of wheat, has been greatly curtailed. Business men cannot do. The number of unemployed and those who are earning at less than half their capacity, even professional and trades people, is abnormally large there.

It is no time for business men, salesmen, trade and professional men to seek to better their conditions by being lured to the Pacific coast. We live in Nebraska and in the middle west are so much better situated, and conditions surrounding us are so much more favorable, that one and all, we ought to be self-gratulating all the time; that we are so in a large degree is in striking contrast with the universal pessimism that prevails on the Pacific coast. We are in touch with conditions below the surface.

A CHANT OF HATE.

(Bisby)
The summer is dying, that is clear,
A little while and it won't be here,
And the birds won't sing, nor the buzz-bugs hum,
Nor flies and mosquitoes go and come.

No, the frost will smite as it does
each year,
And the leaves on the trees grow
brown and sere;
And the farmer will harvest his corn
and beans,
And the housewife will put up her winter cuds.

But the winter that I hate is the winter that
And the money expended to keep us warm.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Knecht of South Bend, Neb., came to Winside Tuesday evening to surprise their daughter, Mrs. Sam Reichert and to be present at the old settlers' picnic.

They return to their home in a number of years.

Fern Reynolds accompanied by Beulah Holcomb left for Sioux City last Sunday where Beulah will visit relatives for a few days. Fern has a first hand experience in this part of Nebraska in '84, and Mrs. Ben Cox of Carroll, Mrs. Livingstone, Mrs. Pryor, sr., Mrs. H. M. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bressler and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bressler and John T. Bressler of Wayne, were among the old settlers whom we met in Winside for the good time Wednesday.

Saturday noon two of John Newman's boys got into chasing another around in the woods and one little fellow, Garfield, hit the cream separator with such force that he received a three cornered cut on the bridge of his nose. As Mr. Newman saw how bad he was hurt he decided to call Chas. Schenberger who brought them to Dr. McEntyre's office in his car. It was found necessary to take three stitches and the little fellow who is only about 5 years old, stood for the work without any anesthetic and without one word of complaint.

The Savigde Carnival company arrived in Winside Sunday evening about five minutes ahead of the rain and there was one merry chase about answering to secure programs for the crowd. Monday and Tuesday were spent getting things set up and ready for Wednesday.

D. Quinn suffered a partial stroke of paralysis Tuesday while at work on the road, about two miles west of town. He was brought to town to the Frank Hart home where he was reported improving Wednesday. His niece, Miss M. Wallace of Wayne came to Winside Wednesday to see him.

Another of the Wm. Gutzman boys was hurt Friday when he got mixed up with the mowing machine and received a cut that required four stitches to be taken in his arm. He is getting along nicely. Emil the boy who received the serious injury, was able to come in for the picnic Wednesday.

The 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Westehorser ran into a pitchfork yesterday and one of the tines penetrated his head three inches below the ear. He was unconscious this morning. The physician, Dr. B. M. McEntyre, is unable as yet to say.

Miss Belle and Nan Woodcock of Evanston, Ill., arrived in Winside Monday evening to visit in the home of their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Farran. While here they will spend a part of their time in the A. T. Chapin home and be entertained for an afternoon at a time by a number of the Winside ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Archer of Bentonville, Ark., arrived in Winside Tuesday evening to surprise their daughter, Mrs. M. Knecht and family and to attend the old settlers' picnic. Mr. and Mrs. Archer lived on a farm in this vicinity for some time and later moved to Iowa where they lived until about six years ago when they moved to Bentonville.

Miss Mabel Slingsby came to Winside Thursday evening to take charge of Morrow's millinery department and has been kept so busy that she has not had time to consider the difficulty getting new trimmed head for stock. The new hats are all neat shapes. This season at least, we will not have to see "freak hats." Let us hope they are gone for good.

Howard Dancy, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of Winside, received a broken arm Tuesday evening when he slid with a couple of bushels of oats off of the load that he was hauling from the field. He was taken to the hospital and had a bone in his leg fractured. His uncle Harry Hornby for whom he was working hurried him to town and the bone was soon set.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Knutson and twin sons of Sioux City, Io, were guests at the picnic at Winside Monday. They were on their way to Hartington, where Mrs. Knutson and the boys will visit relatives while Mr. Knutson, who travels for the Shenberg company of Sioux City makes the rest of his trip. He will then return to Hartington and the family will auto back to Sioux City.

A number of the merchants had attractively decorated windows for the old settlers' day, but P. H. Morrow's store would surely have been given first prize had there been a prize given for windows. The little log cabin with its old-fashioned farm yard, live leak, rustic bridge, rail fences and the ponds with live fish in it was surely worthy of mention, and attracted a great deal of attention.

A. W. Titter of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cressey of Pender, and Robt. Sneath of Pender, and J. R. Morrissey of Carroll, who took in this part of Nebraska in '84, and Mrs. and Mrs. Ben Cox of Carroll, Mrs. Livingstone, Mrs. Pryor, sr., Mrs. H. M. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bressler and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bressler and John T. Bressler of Wayne, were among the old settlers whom we met in Winside for the good time Wednesday.

Saturday noon two of John Newman's boys got into chasing another around in the woods and one little fellow, Garfield, hit the cream separator with such force that he received a three cornered cut on the bridge of his nose. As Mr. Newman saw how bad he was hurt he decided to call Chas. Schenberger who brought them to Dr. McEntyre's office in his car. It was found necessary to take three stitches and the little fellow who is only about 5 years old, stood for the work without any anesthetic and without one word of complaint.

Last Thursday afternoon Mrs. Wm. Hoyer entertained the Misses Clara and Edna Hoyer, Miss Grace, Helen Rehmus, Lena Dimmet and Miss Alvina Leaders of Winside in honor of her niece, Miss Hazel Lyons of Omaha, who will return to her home the latter part of this week or the first of next.

Miss Lyons is well known in Winside and has lived with her parents on a farm near here most of her childhood days. Mrs. Hoyer was assisted by her mother, Mrs. John Boock. The young ladies played games, took snapshots and had a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Hoyer served dainty refreshments.

Last Friday evening was the regular meeting night for the Royal Neighbors of Winside camp and after the business meeting was closed a social hour was enjoyed. Briefly invited the ladies to follow them which they did until they reached the Perrin lawn. When all had assembled, coffee, brush and other fuel were piled together and a fire started. The evening was good and good home-made rolls. The majority of us had never in all our sweet young lives taken part in anything of this sort before, and we were more enthusiastic than our mothers are over their out-door gatherings.

Of course we have not named a third of the people, who came to Winside for the picnic, but have endeavored to mention all whose names were given to us and those whose names were possibly heard of, by telling about those present. It would be to say that everybody and his brother was here if there was any way possible for him to get here. The rain scared away some of our guests, but great many of them returned in the evening, and as nearly as we were able to find out the general sentiment was that Winsiders had done their best and everything had a good time and forgot the rain.

Mr. K. D. Frost who has sold her residence here expects to move to Emerson, Neb., the last of August. Monday afternoon Mrs. Frost was greatly surprised when about twenty-two members of the Home Improvement Association here to spend the afternoon with her.

Grandma Frost is very proud of the fact that twice in the past year her friends have thought enough of her to come to her home because they wanted to and because they were invited. After a pleasant afternoon of visiting the ladies served a delicious lunch and departed for their homes, sorry that Mrs. Frost could not have known her even for only a few years.

Fifteen auto loads of patriotic citizens including the band boys left Winside Friday morning on a hooster trip, advertising the town and old settlers' picnic. They visited Carroll, Wayne, Wakefield, and Wisner where they stopped for dinner. After this they went to Pilger, Stanton, Norfolk, Hoskins and home again. There were no serious accidents on the whole trip. Although John Leuck's car broke an axle between Carroll and Wayne and were obliged to rent a car in Wayne to finish the trip. Messrs. Lloyd Holcomb and Clarence Tilson were pretty badly scratched up on the way home when the car they were in hit a bad place in the road, and they were in a mix-up with the top of the car and some of the musical instruments. Miss Esther Tillson also received a black eye in the same manner, but not one of the boys had a good time and any of them would have been willing to have gone again soon. A number of car owners backed out of the trip because of the rains here the first of the week, but all were sorry later in the week when the weather met on the entire trip, which by the way is unusual for us, but we really enjoyed it.
