DUTY TEACHERS ARE

QUESTS OF V. D. OLIV

One of the very pleasant social events of the season was an elaborate party given last Friday evening by the members of the U. D. club at the H. H. Jones home. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jones, the principal teachers and of the State Normal faculty, Misses Helen and Dorothy Peibel visited the ladies in receiving the guests.

The entertainment began with a singing through the room and into the basket counted a score. This game was the inspiration for school girls given with all the enthusiasm, loyalty, and vigor of a crowd at a football game. The college song over the high school by a narrow margin, but in the football game which followed, the high school gained the victory.

Progressive games were then indulged in. Miss Elsie Ford Piper carried off the prize for football, and Miss Abbie Lucas received the consolation prize, a copy of Mother Goose rhymes. The four guests playing the last game together were partners for refreshments which were served in courses at elegantly appointed tables. The favors were red carnations.

The merry party departed at a late hour giving a hearty adieu to the U. D.'s and vowing the evening one long to be remembered.

The Lutheran ladies will hold a social, good exchange and the Luther League will have a conference Saturday, December 11, in the building opposite the Herald office.

DODGE COUNTY COURT HOUSE BAZED BY FIRE

Prescott, Neb., Dec. 8. The Dodge county court house was destroyed by fire early this morning, resulting in a loss of about $100,000. All the contents of any value were locked in the vaults and were undamaged. The county carried insurance of $200,000.

The fire broke out in the treasurer's office in the southeast corner of the building and had gained good headway when the second story flames soon spread to the second story and then to the cupola. The entire roof and ceiling of the rooms on the second floor were destroyed. The firemen saved the lower floors which were saved from being burned. W. E. Weber, bookkeeper-in-law of Mr. Morehouse, accompanied Dr. Jones.

The building was erected in 1888, following the destruction of the old court house, by the December 11, 1887, fire. It was a substantial structure, built in a brick and stone. The county board of supervisors, who this day received word of the disaster, could not remember exactly the date of the completion of a combined county and county building being destroyed by fire. Some of the county supervisors are known to be in the city.

The county board of supervisors is expected to meet to hear of the loss. It is the cheapest possible medium for advertising because of its large circulation—seen locally, at the county. It will reach the people you want to reach. Also remember that the Herald news file can be sold for less than any other method for advertising. See the Herald when planning to advertise your ads.

The Herald is expecting an increasing flow of new and renewal subscriptions during this month. Call at the Herald office if possible, and while planning leave the cash and while planning leave the cash and while planning leave the cash.

If you can't come in person, write by mail. The Herald wants to have an entirely cash-in-advance list by January 1.

SCHOOL MEN MEET IN WAYNE AND ORGANIZE MANY TOPICS DISCUSSED

Eleven Officers Elected Wayne Chosen as Permanent Place of Meeting.

"Don guessing and find out how to know" was the sum of the meaning of the address of Dean H. H. Hahn, of the Wayne State Normal, at the first meeting of the Northeast Nebraska School Men's Round Table in Wayne Tuesday morning. By means of charts the speaker showed how standards of educational efficiency may be set up and applied to educational processes in a school in doing good work. The larger number of men gathered to listen and discuss showed their interest by the closest attention and an occasional question. Mr. Hahn, through his students in the department of education and in other ways, has himself prepared many studies along this line. His problem is: "Can we have actual measurements of educational efficiency, as the great corporations have developed measurements of industrial efficiency?" His answer is that we believe that such measurements are in process of being made and that we believe that such measurements are the basis of the movement. Such was the address at the first meeting of the club. But how of the club itself? It arose out of the discussion of a few school men of this corner of the state at the meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Teachers' association at Norfolk last spring. It was believed that a gathering of men engaged in certain lines of school work for discussion of their own problems would be fruitful. Accordingly, H. M. Eaton of Emerson, A. F. Gulliver of Bloomfield, E. D. Lundak of Wakefield, O. R. Bowen of Wayne, and President U. S. Conn of the Normal were made a committee to arrange for the first meeting. A permanent organization was effected. Wayne was chosen as the regular place of meeting. All men in northeast Nebraska engaged in supervision, high school or normal school work are eligible to membership. There shall be not fewer than two meetings a year. The honor of the first presidency went by acclamation to President U. S. Conn. W. D. Knutson was chosen secretary and A. H. Dixon vice president.

At twelve fifteen a delicious dinner was served by the domestic science department of the normal under the direction of Miss Mary Mahood, the efficient head of that work.

In the afternoon the following subjects called out spirited discussion: How may the superintendent measure the teacher's efficiency? Why are so many high school freshmen so poorly prepared for the work of the high school? How may a superintendent in a school of eight to twelve teachers really superintend? Relation of board to superintendent. Relation of superintendent to teachers. May supervision be overdone? Inter-school athletics. Manner of conducting recluses. How to provide for exceptional children. What should be considered in promotion? Departmental instruction.

Perhaps the topic of greatest interest was that of supervision. There seemed to be nearly unanimous sentiment against any tyrannical interference with the initiative of the teachers by the superintendent. There was decided feeling that the superintendent should have a voice in the selection of every teacher in the school as a means, not only of securing competent teachers, but of unity in the school as well. It would have been well could school boards have heard the frank discussion of the difficulties of securing efficient work when the teacher holds his place by reason of considerations other than efficiency as tested by the one who is held responsible for the final results.

The following were in attendance: Supt. A. F. Gulliver, Bloomfield; Supt. H. M. Eaton, Emerson; Pres. U. S. Conn, Wayne; Prof. I. L. Britell, Wayne; Supt. C. L. Culler, Harrington; Supt. C. F. Lehr, Plainville; Dean H. H. Hahn, Wayne; Supt. Ward Tower, Wauna; Supt. E. R. Rogers, Pilger; Supt. A. P. Borg, Coleridge; Supt. A. H. Dixon, Tekamah; Supt. W. E. Clark, Pandora; Supt. C. A. Jones, Gerald; Supt. E. C. Grant, Randolph; Prof. H. H. Hickman, Wayne; Dr. J. T. House, Wayne; Supt. C. P. White, Webster; Supt. C. Wright, Hoopay, Fred-E. E. Wayne; Prof. E. J. Hunteiner, Wayne; Prof. C. H. Bright, Wayne; Registrar W. D. Redmond, Wayne; Supt. C. C. Mason, Belden; Supt. O. R. Bowen, Wayne; Frank Lancaster, Wayne; Harold Borce, Holman; Wilfred E. Voss, Dakota City; A. E. Cress, Windsor; J. J. Coleman, Wayne; T. E. Ashton, Wayne; O. H. Binson, Osmond; Prof. J. C. W. NOT DEPENDABLE.

Bibby: If anything could be worse than war this is it. George Walker Kelley was engaged to marry Annie Chamer, daughter of the richest man in Collegeville, Pa. Invitations to the wedding had gone forth and gifts to the value of several thousand dollars were arranged for the inspection of those who made them when Miss Angelina Wilhelm, a trained nurse of Philadelphia appeared at the home of the Chamers, and spoiled the romance by declaring that she had a prior claim to the hand and heart of the same Mr. Kelley. The reason the wedding was declared off, the gifts returned, and the groom-elect received notice that the Chamer mansion was closed against him forever.

His is, indeed, a sad estate. A grievous one for fair. Sore-smitten by the hand of fate. His every hope lies desolate—No comfort anywhere.

He thought when first he made a vow that Wilhelm his should be; That Angelina possessed no cash And so he broke her heart to smash In favor of Marie.

But deeds like his will never do, He doused his own bright glim; The girls will manage to pull through But Kelley's heart is broke in two, And there's no hope for him.

He hoped in fortune's smile to bask In the glow of fortune's crown; Marie was rich as he could ask, To court her was a pleasant task; Alas, she turned him down.

He had exiled this fix, One should be faithful from the start, Should play a square and honest part In love or business. BIX.

PEACE AND WAR
(Bixby)

Today the boat's majestic prow Is headed north by east, And Henry Ford is fighting now, With fury of a beast, To keep those peace-prong guests of his From seeing just how sick he is.

I know Ford's temper is not bad In ordinary times, But anyone gets fighting mad When his provision climbs To heights almost as high as he, And throws itself into the sea.

And of the guests, full half on board, Though not inclined to fight, Can sympathize with Mr. Ford, 'Til his unhappy plight, While each essays his grief to drown, But cannot keep his 'rivernuts' down.

To cross the ocean is no dream Of joy this time of year; You hear the angry north winds scream And kitchen doors your fear, The nights increase your fear, The kitchen doors have a smell Like Sherman said war is—that's where.

When safe upon the other side These well-loved friends of mine Have found, repeat, sad time to dry Their clothing, soaked with fire, Will warring nations then accord An audience to Mr. Ford?

Much do I fear the battle yell Will for no moment cease, And that the roar of shot and shell Will drown the cry for peace; Whereat, the injury delegates Will head for the United States.

Not in the lands across the sea, In Germany or Greece, But here's the place to seem to me To educate for peace, And get mankind to banking less On national prejudices.

And, while I feel no great concern For those who went with Ford, I shall await the boat's return In hope that those on board Will do their level best to "queer" The military spirit here.

Well, anyhow, sail on proud ship— The glory of the west— Although I rather think the trip A futile one at best! Let all put in their strongesticks For peace. There's nothing better BIX.

SLOW-ACTING DEMOCRACY.
Nebraska Farmer—A Nebraska congressman has announced his candidacy for renomination before he has served a day in the house of representatives of the term for which he was elected more than a year ago. And at that he wasn't so previous for the primaries come next April. His constituents will be called upon to pass judgment on his work before he has served five months in congress. It is so ever thus. Unless a special session of congress is called, no representative has a voice in the government for more than a year after he is elected, and he must stand for re-election before he has fairly had time to show what he means to do. Congressmen and senators should begin their work in December following the election at which they are chosen. That would make congress more responsive to the will of the people. It is rather obvious, however, that the framers of our constitution didn't mean that the national government should be very responsive to the public will.

Ladies' Suit and Coat Sale Extraordinary

Fine $20.00 to $30.00 Suits at $12.50

There is a special reason for these ridiculously low prices. These coats and suits are part of the stock we used in giving our special sales in towns around us. We gave our last sales this week and we have left from this special stock 30 nice suits, 52 coats, 65 children's coats, and 48 skirts. These garments we must close out at some price; we don't expect even first cost to ourselves out of them. We will be well satisfied if we sell them at the great reduction offered. The suits are exceptionally fine. They are the last styles brought out. Many of them are fur-trimmed. All are made of extra nice poplin, broadcloth, and wool serges, mostly black, brown, and dark blue in color. At $12.50 they are as cheap as a dress, and the jackets are those sensible, medium-length, partly fitted styles that you can wear another season nicely. You have never seen such nice suits priced anywhere near so low. We think these suits will sell very quickly at $12.50, and believe you will do well to come early.

Coats, $5.75, $10.75, $15.75

The $5.75 coats are mostly black kerseys with black velvet collar and cuff trimming. They are a neat black coat that you can wear for all occasions, either in winter, fall or early spring.

The coats at $10.75 include corduroys, plain blue, and brown kerseys, and fancy mixtures. About 20 of them are black baby lambs and caraculs made up in both medium and long lengths, in regular and extra large sizes.

There are only 8 of the $15.75 coats. They are fur-trimmed corduroys and fancy mixtures in especially fine cloth and late styles.

These coats are all splendid bargains.

We will make you correspondingly low prices on children's coats, of which we still have a nice assortment.

By express, we just received a nice assortment of fancy silk and crepe de chien waists. There are both light and dark colors. Made up in very new styles, and priced very reasonably at $3.75.

The Nebraska State Journal this week contained the following concerning great evangelistic movements: "There have been four great evangelistic movements in this country in the last two hundred years. The first was in the time of Jonathan Edwards when the New Birth was accentuated. The second was in the time of Charles G. Finney when practical religion was emphasized. The third was the outgrowth of the Fulton street prayer meeting of New York City, when prayer was accentuated. The last is the present movement, called personal evangelism, perhaps the most important and far reaching of all. Importance as the place met at the Jackson. The program follows: Hymn, "My Country 'Tis of Thee"; Scripture Reading, Luke 19:1-6; Prayer; "The Early Days of Sheldon Jackson and His Decision to be a Missionary." Sheldon Jackson's

THE BEEF SUPPLY

Fremont Tribune: The Lincoln Journal prints a resume of the extinction of ticks on cattle in the south that most prove of interest to the tick-fleece growers of the cornbelt. This matter appears as important as is the extinction of the boll weevil to cotton growers. Says the Journal:

On December 1 the cattle tick quarantine was raised on 12,333 square miles of Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia land. This will mean that the tick has been eradicated in those areas, qualifying their cattle to go untroubled to market. This makes the total of tickless territory 50,000 square miles.

"Inside these areas cattle may be grown with as little difficulty as in the tick-free north. Cattle from these areas are selling higher prices on the market than cattle from tick-infested districts. The removal of the tick handicap makes the south a good cattle country, having the advantage over the north of the want of bad winters. The tickless areas increase, the live stock industry may be expected to have the south to reckon with. Dairying in particular should thrive there."

"The moral of this story is the lesson in the possibilities of things. The southern cattle tick is a pestiferous insect scattered everywhere. Its eradication would seem about as easy as the banishment of the chigger from chigger-infested areas. The removal of the industrious ant. Through the cooperation of the government the thing has been done as to limited areas, and it is only a question of time till the work will be completed. The fact that soon have in tickless territory will be many dollars higher in price per acre than tick infested land will force the spread of the free territory."

"Pessimists will find pleasure in the opposition to the federal government's efforts to confer a boon upon the south. To an outsider, the offer to eradicate a pest of this kind would seem a wholly welcome event. The work required the cooperation of the farmers, however, or at least their quiescence. The way some of these flew to the defense of their personal liberties to conserve the public was a wonder. In some counties which by popular vote had approved the anti-tick campaign there was such opposition that the courts had to be called in. In one Arkansas county the tanks maintained One Alabama county voted 9 to 1 against the ticks. Yet in one corner there was such devoted defense of the ticks of their fathers that the county was not set free as a whole. "Such is the inability of some people in every community to adapt themselves to new ideas or conditions, even the most wholesome. In spite of such, however, the work is going forward and the country's milk and meat supply should in time reflect the consequence."

POSTOFFICE AND POLITICS.

Lincoln Journal: Senator Norris went the whole way, in his address before the civil service reform league in Philadelphia, in taking the postoffice out of politics. He said that the presidential postmasters under civil service with the rest. The political appointment of men to the higher salaried positions shuts the door of hope to those under the civil service, depriving the postoffice of the ambition and energy in its employes which would come through the possibility of indefinite advancement. You could dismiss all the political officeholders in the postoffice department, says the Nebraska senator, and the work of the postoffice would go on indefinitely without hindrance. Yet these are the employes who hold the positions of honor and high emolument. Senator Norris would have the postmaster general appointed for a long tenure, taking him out of politics, and would then place all appointments in the civil service lists. A million dollars a year could then be saved in salary reductions along in offices held as political spoils. On such a business basis the postoffice would be so greatly improved, he thinks, that 1-cent postage would follow. In addition, state and municipal officials would be encouraged by the example to remove their own administrative service from the domain of politics. There is no doubt that this thing will come. It is all a question of how long the public will be content to have public office used by its elected officials to buy its own votes.

MAN NOT DEAD.

Stanton Pickett, last Thursday morning undertaker W. N. Orris received a telegram from Frank Moorehead at Rapid City, S. D., that his father-in-law, J. H. Baker, had died in the old soldier's sanitarium at Hot Springs, S. D., and his remains would be sent here for burial and ordered the undertaker to make all arrangements for the funeral which he did. He had the grave dug, ordered the flowers and notified the pastor to prepare a sermon that would be appropriate for a departed old soldier. The Congregational church was decorated with bunting and flags; the choir sang a special song. Even the Stanton Register had the following notice in its last week's edition:

"The funeral of J. H. Baker, an old resident of Stanton, was held from the Congregational church on Thursday afternoon. Obituary next week."

But when the pallbearers went to the depot to convey the corpse to the church they were given a message which read: "J. H. Baker not dead. It was another Baker who died at sanitarium."

It has not yet been figured out who the joke is on, Baker, the undertaker, the preacher, the newspaper or the pallbearers; however, the relatives and friends of Mr. Baker are pleased to know that he is still in the land of the living and hope it will be many a day before he has to have his grave dug again.

DO YOU HAVE DIZZY SPELLS?

It is important to learn the Cause. As Many Wayne People Have.

Dizziness is never a disease of itself—it's only a symptom of some deeper seated trouble. Much dizziness is caused by disordered kidneys failing to filter all the poisons from the blood. These poisons attack the nerves and dizziness results. If you are subject to dizziness, there is good reason to suspect your kidneys, and if you suffer headache, headache, and irregularity of the kidney secretions, you have further proof. Many Wayne people have learned the value of Doan's Kidney Pills in just such cases. Read this Wayne resident's statement:

Mrs. Joseph Schmalstieg, Wayne, says: "I was troubled by a heavy, dull ache through my kidneys and back and I also had dizzy spells and headaches. The kidney secretions were unnatural and plainly showed that my kidneys needed attention. Doan's Kidney Pills drove away the pains in my back and cured up my system. Since then, whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have relieved me."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Schmalstieg had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

As political platforms become more numerous, they seem to be becoming less binding.

The American congress, again in session, will vie with the European war in filling first page positions in American newspapers.

Henry Ford will win plaudits at home over his peace ship even though he doesn't attract favorable attention from the warring crowned heads of Europe.

Prayers of hate, praying for the destruction of the enemy, are among evidences of the deplorable depths of savagery to which European nations at war have allowed themselves to sink.

The man who has the habit of shouting accusations of "graft" and howling indignantly about the need of reforms, will bear watching. He should be viewed with some suspicion, at least.

The Ponca Advocate offers a newly installed system of street lights as additional proof of a live town. We would suggest as still further proof that Ponca dealers increase newspaper advertising appropriations.

People who are too lazy to study and who don't study, would have the world believe they know as much as those who do study and who learn something. So, too, those who don't work have the possessions of those who do work.

Some towns have found Christmas trees a source of great enjoyment and satisfaction. It might be advisable for Wayne to look into the merits of such an enterprise, and if it is found, as desirable as represented, to make the necessary arrangements to have one.

Democratic papers give cordial endorsement to the refusal of Justice Hughes to allow his name to appear on the presidential ballot in the Nebraska primary next spring. They commend his good judgment. They believe he will be named as a member of the supreme court, and manifest a great deal of interest in his personal comfort.

It would seem that other Aurora editors envy the fame accruing to Clark Perkins of the Republic of that city, by reason of his recent hold-up experience which cost him $10. Any one of the other editors by having that much money on his person at one time, and properly advertising the fact, could undoubtedly enjoy similar distinction.

Mayor Charley Bryan of Lincoln refused to sign the petition placing Woodrow Wilson before voters in the Nebraska primary for the democratic presidential nomination. Whether the refusal was due to reflection on the one-term plank in the democratic platform or to estrangement between Charley's brother, William, and the president, is not explained.

It doesn't take much to make some people feel they are a powerful force in the world. In journalism, for instance, a man plugging along in most pitiful mediocrity imagines he is the reincarnation of Charles A. Dana, and has as enjoyable a time reflecting on his influence and achievements as though he were not bolstered up purely by imagination.

It has been suggested that instead of raising money with which to support an evangelist for a special religious campaign, the local ministers be employed for the purpose and given the accruing financial benefits. It is doubtful if there is a professional evangelist in the state equal in ability to any one of Wayne's preachers. Personally, if we were going to pay real money to any one to tell us how we were wicked and headed direct for Tartarus, we would prefer to pay it to local talent.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Sioux City Journal: A big bulge in wheat prices followed the action of the Canadian government in commencing 20,000,000 bushels of wheat in eastern Canadian elevators and warehouses. The action of the government meant no more than that it had a commission to supply the allies with a large quantity of wheat and wanted to secure it without money-tying up the market. However, the maneuver was interpreted everywhere as an indication that Europe regarded higher prices during the winter as a certainty. The recent rise in prices recorded at the close of the week was a natural consequence of buying based on this impression.

The only cloud now visible on the commercial horizon is due to a congestion of freight in eastern terminals. It is estimated that 50,000 loaded cars are standing at terminals in or near New York. A good deal of this merchandise is intended for export. Lack of shipping and warehouse facilities is responsible for the blockade. Several roads have declared an embargo on shipments of export, and concerted action is planned by the interested eastern roads to lift the blockade.

Official reports to the federal reserve board and unofficial reports to newspapers and financial institutions agree in reflecting a nationwide condition of better business. Even in the Pacific Coast District of the northwest business is steadily climbing the upgrade. Bank clearings for October established a new high water mark, the total exceeding that of January, 1910, the previous record month, by more than 18 per cent.

Money continues easy, with an indication of possible stringency. A new time loan low record for recent years was established in New York when six months loans were quoted in Wall street at 24 per cent.

MISS MACK READS AT CONVOCAION HOUR

The normal school people are delighted with the knowledge that the institution has a reader-artist of high rank in Miss Josephine Mack, who recently became a member of the faculty of the local institution, directing the work in expression and physical training. Her unusual ability was revealed last Friday morning when the chapel hour was given over to her reading of the "Man in the Shadow." To begin with, the story itself is beautiful and touching as will be recalled by many who some years since read it in a magazine. It is the tale of an unusually brilliant graduate of an eastern university, who, after leaving college, had failed to loom large in the list of alumni, because he had been burdened with a peculiarly heavy debt of honor. With delicate feeling, a clear and beautiful voice well under control, wonderful facial expression and perfect stage bearing, Miss Mack read the dramatic story of the class reunion and the toast to the "Man in the Shadow" in a way to stir every heart. The unanimity of appreciation by faculty and students appeared in the closest attention and the prolonged cheering at the close of the reading, as well as in the hearty congratulations. It is hoped that ere long Miss Mack may be prevailed upon to appear before a Wayne city audience and in neighboring towns. That she is an

PETITION LOOKING TO COUNTY SEAT MOVE

Norfolk Daily News, Dec. 7: More than 3,000 legal voters of Madison county have already signed the petition asking the county com-

MISSIONERS TO CALL AN ELECTION FOR RELOCATION OF THE COUNTY SEAT

As only 2,475 names were needed on the petition to assure the calling of the election, there is a surplus of 1,000 names already on the document, the success of the movement is assured and the election will undoubtedly be called. Besides the more than 3,000 voters who have already signed the petition, 400 additional signatures are practically assured.

Norfolk is circulating a petition calling for a special election to vote on the relocation of the county seat. Norfolk wants to take the county seat away from Madison, and believes it will have the support of enough voters to do it.

A Word About Telephone Manners

MOST people these days pay more attention to telephone manners than they used to, but—well, we won't say it.

The telephone "Hello" is no longer in use among particular people. It is becoming obsolete because it is both meaningless and time-wasting. It's an ungraceful and rude little word—and there's a better way.

In the modern, up-to-date business establishment, the telephone is answered thus: "Jones & Company, Mr. Smith speaking."

This same man in his home will answer his telephone thus: "Mr. Smith speaking."

When his home telephone is answered by a servant he has instructed her to say, "Mr. Smith's residence."

When one is through talking a cheery "Good-bye" ends the conversation pleasantly. It's one of those little things in life that are worth while.
