was not forgotten. After a procession through the halls of the building the girls again proceeded to the first floor where folk dancing and games occupied the time. At the midnight hour of twelve, the boys Josephine Mack of the department of expression presented the boys' Christmas Carol. From the beautiful scene at the beginning when the mother names her child born on Christmas, Carol, through the unspeakably funny speech and action of the Ruggles family, to the pathetic joy of the child in the fireplace she had brought to the poor and the death that comes to the rhythm of sacred music, the audience was amazed, amused, touched and signified its approval by prolonged applause.

Catholic Club Play. Coleman made the following statement in regard to those who appeared upon the program: "I have never heard more excellent work than that of Madame Riheloff whose work at all times was full of artistic sense, control of diction and rare fastidiousness of taste. SAVINGS SERMONETTE

NUMBER THIRTY-FOUR

A WORTHY EXAMPLE

An example of the way money works out in a savings bank for children is shown by a worthy novel plan adopted by a thrifty parent. He wanted to provide a fund for each of his children, when they reached the age of twenty. When each child was born he deposited a dollar in the savings bank in the child's name. The next year his wife is on the child's second birthday, he deposited two dollars. He kept this up each year, making a deposit in dollars, up to his birthday, that he deposited five dollars. When each of his children reached majority there was over $300.00 to be credited in the bank.

The putting aside of this small sum of money each year was a habit of the parent and was not left to the parents of the children. It is a respectable sum. These bank accounts had a very interesting effect on the children. As soon as they were old enough they took a great interest in them. The success of having a bank account had the effect of making them want to swell it.

Why not try it with your children?

FATAL ACCIDENT

Cedar County News: George Seibert, aged 30, a prominent farmer east of Coleridge, is dead, and John Burns, 35, a carpenter of Laurel is suffering from a broken arm and several broken ribs, while Frank Faulk of Coleridge is a badly sprained hip as a result of the knocking of a scaffold, Tuesday afternoon on the Seibert farm.

A barn was in course of construction and all the men were working shingling the roof. Just a few courses had been laid, when they started to work as a team, two men laying and one nailing. When near the center of the scaffold their combined weight caused it to break precipitating them to the ground. Seibert was dead when picked up. The other men were injured.

The body was taken Thursday to John Grove, Io., where it will be interred near his wife. It is survived by two sons, Mart, on the farm, and Harry, who is a resident of Coleridge.

Burns was removed to his home and is resting as easily as can be expected.

BRASS BAND PEOPLE

Harrington Herald: It takes all kinds of people to make a world. It is said, and it is true, that numerous and various classes which populate this mundane sphere stand out conspicuously a species which might be classified as the brass band people. These brass band people have no notion of hiding their light under a bushel or of keeping their right hands in ignorance of what their left hands are doing. They love notoriety, court publicity and thrive on popular acclaim. What they do is always a little more wonderful than anything anybody else ever did, and their slightest movement is accompanied by a great flourish of trumpets. Brass band people, it must be confessed, do succeed in making an impression for a time, at least, and in quite overshadowing their more quiet neighbors, but it is doubtful that their service is any more helpful or their influence any more lasting. At any rate they are a considerable source of amusement to the rest of the world, which, while less spectacular in its movements, is not altogether lacking in brains and experience.

THE CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK

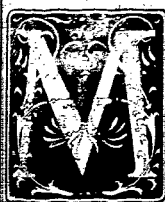

Wayne, Nebraska

Capital, $60,000. Surplus and Profits, $20,000.

The Citizens National Bank takes this opportunity to express the season's highest felicitations. It wishes all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Commercially, the closing year has not been the best in history, even in the United States, nor has it been the worst. The Middle West, including Wayne county, has been especially favored. It has prospered while less fortunate sections have suffered unusual hardship. This bank, among other Wayne institutions, and neighboring rural districts, has made gratifying growth, and appreciates the generous patronage received. The new year approaches bright and reassuring. A larger, busier, and more public-spirited Wayne is rising to take its deserved place as the center of a rich and growing agricultural country. This bank, satisfied with the past and confident of the future, regards the new year with pleasant anticipation, and wishes all unbounded prosperity and happiness.

WINTER SNOWS.

(Sixty)
There are no meadows brown and green.

To write about and fill up space, Since winter snows have fallen here That cover almost every place.

The roofs are white, the streets the same— Inspiring this poetic wheeze We know that winter time has come;

The frolic king-rides upon the breeze, The fleecy clouds obscure the sun, The moon at night is dimly seen; The reckless hunter grabs his gun

And goes, despite the weather seen. And tramps all day in snow and sleet. Unmindful of the wintry gale, Returning home with frozen feet And one poor, crippled, contented, ill.

Next the methods of securing the additional turnover were discussed. These methods included accurate knowledge of stock and merchandise as well as of the tastes and wishes of the customers. It was pointed out that a merchant buying from as few houses as possible to insure a right variety and to buy as close home as an adequate market could be found, new methods of buying will tend to reduce the cost of merchandise, which is largely up to the merchant himself, more frequent and smaller orders, keeping in closer touch with what the market has on offer, and last, the merchant advertising wisely in such a manner.

Advertising's part could have been made a lecture in itself. One of the first points Mr. Stockdale made was to the effect to move the show-rooms in towns and cities that are located in the highest rent quarters are the stores that spend the largest amounts for advertising. That is a fact from which you may draw your own conclusion. The heavier operating expenses of the country stores should allow them to spend a larger per cent of gross sales in advertising.

Miss H. E. Simon and Miss Marie, students here at the city school, were invited to see the play "Peg O' My Day" with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Gilespie.

Mr. Axel Borg who attended the Farmers' convention at Omaha was here Saturday to see his parents, Harry and Mrs. G. M. McCannell, returning Sunday to Java, S. D.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mariott of Sioux Falls, arrived here the latter part of the week for a visit with his parents, Miss Carol Mariott is also here from Madison for a two week vacation.

Miss Florence Anderson and Vernon Eriksen who are attending Augustana college, and Misses Edna Collins and Edna Floyd, Messrs. Clarence Florine, Loren Hunsar, Charles Paul and Elmer Harrison were at the state university again here for the Christmas holidays.

BRENNA.

Mrs. Frank Simon of Wayne, who spent the week at the A. C. Dwyane home.

James Rennie and William Montgomery of Pileys, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lindsay Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baird and Mrs. Maria Wolfe were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Art Aker Sunday.

The two youngest children of O. K. Sellers were on the sick list this week. Fannie who was threatened with pneumonia is still absent from school.

Mrs. Coons who lives on the Carl Wright farm; was taken suddenly ill Friday night; Dr. Ingham was called and pronounced the trouble leakage of the heart. The lady is but little better.

It is claimed that Wayne was favored as to amount of snow during the recent storm. It is being it was necessary to place a scamp shovel in every yard.

Instead of the regular services Sunday afternoon at Grace church, Rev. George McClure preached at seven o'clock in the morning and again in the evening. The children met at the church in the afternoon.

Mrs. George Patterson entertained at dinner last Thursday. Mesdames Gene Gildersleeve, Everett Lindsay, Carl Wright, Art Aker, Fred Baird, and Louis Winegar. The afternoon was spent in making costumes for the Christmas entertainment to be given at Grace church next Friday night.

Last Friday afternoon at her school house Miss Nellie Connell and her pupils gave an interesting Christmas program. The school closed the same day for a two weeks' vacation. Miss Connell left Saturday morning for Blue Springs, Neb., where she will spend her vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Connell.

Harry Benson who is visiting in Brenna, called a letter from his home in Van Ness, Wyo., stating that the threshing machine would be at his place ready to begin the threshing last Saturday. We have called it a very fortunate year for Nebraska, but we are glad to say we all got our threshing done before Christmas week.

Rev. Bruce Wylie of Winside and Rev. George McClure of Dwyane, were entertained at dinner at various homes this week—Friday evening at the Gene Gildersleeve home, Saturday at 12 o'clock dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Winegar, six o'clock the same day with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lindsay and Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Irving Moses.

When considering the work of advertising it was shown that increasing turnover decreased the percentages of expense and turnover means net profit. The effect of advertising on turnover is to increase the sale of seasoable goods, decrease the depreciation and holds permanently in the mind of the customer.

Then came a discussion as to who pays for advertising.

Those who contended that the consumer pays for the advertising were answered, not by argument but by facts and figures culled from the banks of stores under normal conditions of operation. It was positively shown that advertising decreased the cost of distribution because it reduces merchandise prices, reduces selling cost per sale, and benefits the consumer by allowing a better article to be sold at the same price as the same article at a higher price.

In conclusion Mr. Stockdale said: "Advertising expands and grows because it is the most economical method yet discovered of distributing the things we need and want and use.—It points out the buyer to the seller and the seller to the buyer.—It is the least expensive to both."

NOTED SINGER AT THE WAYNE STATE NORMAL

Every seat in the auditorium was taken Friday evening for the recital that was given by Miss Elizabeth Spencer, when music lovers enjoyed an evening of song and music in selections recreated by the Edison Diamond Disc machine.

Abraham Bond, a talented violinist with the Edison company, assisted on the program and announced the different numbers.

He gave a brief introduction, speaking of Edison's work, in seeking the perfect reproduction of music, and his success in obtaining an instrument which adapted itself wonderfully to the recreation of the human voice or any instrument.

The following numbers made up the evening: "Two Larks" from "Aria from 'Toyland'"; "Victor Herbert 'Perceuse' from 'Jocelyn'"; "Gardet 'Ave Maria'"; "Gounod 'Ave Maria'"; "Schubert 'My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice'"; "Saint Saens 'The Moon Drops Low'"; "Cadmian 'The Moon Drops Low'"; "Miss Spencer.

Piano Solo: "Two Larks" from "Aria from 'Toyland'"; "Lishezeki 'I Hear You Calling Me'"; "Marshall 'Happy Days'"; "Stretecki 'Miss Spencer'"; "Violin solo - 'Meditation' from 'This'"; "Mr. Bond - Massenet 'Piano solo - 'Lorelei' paraphrase by Nesvala"; "Silver Threads Among the Bold"; "Miss Spencer sang most effectively, the last song with lowered lights. All her numbers were given with a clearness and roundness of tone that was most pleasing.

She has a beautiful voice, but showed a greater reserve in her singing in illustration of the possibilities of the instrument which accompanied her. The selections she gave were sung to the records her own voice had made.

She sang the same register, with the exception of "Happy Days" in this beautiful number she sang the contralto to her own soprano record. The effect was wonderfully pleasing.

The perfect harmony of Miss Spencer's voice with the instrument and her wonderful control was shown when in her different songs she would sing and the re-created voice of the instrument would be heard alone. The two voices were thoroughly in tone, and wonderfully well balanced.

Mr. Bond's playing of the two Ave Maria numbers was a musical feast as well as a treat. The solo part of the record was sung by Mme. Maria Rappold.

The Edison Diamond Disc machine is a most finished artificial reproduction of musical sound. It reproduces the sound of the great inventor in his endeavor to give to the public the perfect re-creation of tone with the elimination of any suggestion of the mechanical.

The tone is wonderful for its sweetness, clearness, roundness and beautiful quality and its resonance.

Mr. Bond explained that the machines were built for the parlor and the home and not the large auditorium in which they were being heard, but the enunciation was so good, the tones carried so well, the music was as much enjoyed at the extreme end of the auditorium as it was in the gallery.

The audience was representative, and was getting very delightfully entertained, for there was most appreciative applause after each number.

Miss Spencer possesses a gracious charm of person that made her, at once a favorite with her hearers.

Miss Spencer went from here to Mitchell, S. D., and she has a number of concert engagements in the middle west before her return to the east.

OUT-OF-DATE CONGRESS.

Lincoln Journal: After ten days of actual session congress has adjourned over the holidays. In this ten days it has managed to elect a speaker and make some committee assignments. The only legislative work done was the passing of a necessary joint resolution in order to keep alive some taxes which would lapse otherwise, before the holidays are over.

Many a time and oft has been pointed out the absurdly long gap between a mandate of the people by general election and its going into effect by the convening of the congress elected. We do in this country what no other country in the world does. We let a congress make laws after it has been superseeded by the election of a new congress. We elect a new congress in November, the old congress adjourns a month later and for four months the controls legislation even to the extent of determining the national expenditures for a full year. Congressmen re-elected by their constituents continue to control legislation for, in most cases, a full year after their defeat at the polls.

So it has often been said. As a matter of fact, it is still worse than that. The congress elected in November, 1914, has indeed assembled in December, 1915, thirteen months later. But as a matter of fact its work begins early in January, 1916, fourteen months or more after the election. The meeting in December accomplishes little or nothing. The work of congress never really begins, unless extraordinary contingencies arise, until after the holiday adjournment.

In Nebraska we must nominate candidates for a new congress in April. Two of Nebraska's congressmen are now serving their first terms. They were elected over a year ago. Their salaries of $625 a month began more than a year ago, eight months ago. But they have not begun work yet. When the time comes in April for passing judgment on their work they will have been in harness only three months and their next trying out heats will not have been frosted.

We know of no business which keeps employes in positions of trust after it has "fired" them or given notice of dismissal. That would be a most unbusinesslike character of no business which makes a second contract with an employe, without first trying him out fairly under the first. No government appears to do this, save only the United States. The general good character of the men we send to congress keeps this absurd system from leading to the disaster which it invites. But to maintain the invitation is a risky and illogical thing to do. Some day the change which common sense demands will be made. The illustration of the absurdity which every biennium affords will in time have its effect.

A Little Talk About Honesty

IN THIS little chat we want to talk particularly to the man who thinks the telephone operator sometimes lies to him when she says "the line is busy."

In the first place, "Central" is a pretty busy girl. She is not apt to make useless work for herself. In learning that a line is "busy," she performs as many operations as she would in completing a call. It's easier for her to give you the connection you want at once than to put you off with the "busy" report.

The telephone operator's report "the line is busy" does not necessarily mean that the man you want is using the telephone. It may mean that an operator is trying to reach him for someone else who called before you did. If he's on a party line, it may mean that one of the other parties is using the line.

"Central" is a much abused girl, but she is necessary to efficient and dependable telephone service, and she does her work remarkably well.

WOULD EXPEL DOCTOR.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—The council of the Chicago Medical Society in a meeting last night recommended to the society that Dr. H. J. Haiselden of Bollinger baby fame be expelled from the society. An operation might have saved the baby's life but the parents agreed with the surgeon that it should not be performed and the infant was allowed to die. This, however, was not the charge against the doctor. A newspaper under his name, dealing with this case and the subject of eugenics generally, appeared after the demise of the baby. The doctor was charged with non-professional conduct and unethical practice. The decision of the council was executive but Dr. Haiselden is said to have set up the defense that for 2,000 years physicians have subscribed to a policy of secrecy on subjects which ought to be published for the enlightenment of the public.

ALLEN, NEB., WOMAN ESCAPES THE KNIFE.

For years Mrs. L. H. Jeffrey of Allen, Neb., suffered from serious illness. She had dangerous stomach derangement. Mr. Jeffrey learned of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. He investigated. He wrote to a man who had used it. Assured of the absolute safety, he gave a dose to Mrs. Jeffrey. The help it gave his wife led him to write to a St. Louis City druggist: "I wish to say a few words in commendation of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for what it has done for my wife. She has been troubled with gall stones for years. I saw a newspaper advertisement of his wonderful stomach medicine. I bought a bottle. When I got it I gave it to her. It was afraid to give it. It was written by Dr. W. W. Miers of Book Street, Sioux City, and he wrote that it was perfectly safe. My wife took it with satisfactory results. She passed about half a cupful of gall stones. She got some more to complete her cure. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. But as much as whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Got out of your druggist now and try it in an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

Hog Worm Cream CONCENTRATED

All Hogs are Wormy: By the very nature of the hog, his way of living and what he eats, he is bound to be wormy. There is no market for hog worms, and they sap the life blood and your money from the hog. Hog worms stunt young hogs, and a stunted hog is a money loser in the fattening pen. The greatest menace to health and thrift of the hog is worms. A wormless hog will be a choicest hog.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream is certain death to hog worms. It is the cheapest for hog raising and the best investment for hog raisers. It costs you less than 3c per hog. "Each Dose," and if fed once each 30 days will keep them free from worms. No Waste and Proper Dose. Gore's Hog Worm Cream is not like any other medicine; it is a heavily concentrated cream preparation containing an absolute anthelmintic "Worm Killer" and if the directions are followed, each hog is certain to receive the proper dose. You simply mix or stir Gore's Hog Worm Cream in swill. It mixes perfectly and evenly. Put your swill in the trough and there you are.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream is put up in the following sizes with full directions for mixing in swill or water and sold at the following prices: Small size enough for one dose for 25 pigs, price... $1.50 1 gallon enough for one dose for 60 hogs, price... $3.00 1 gallon enough for one dose for 120 hogs, price... $5.00 3 gallons enough for one dose for 360 hogs, price... $10.00 5 gallons enough for one dose for 600 hogs, price... $15.00 10 gallons enough for one dose for 1200 hogs, price... $25.00

Those who heard Miss Elizabeth Spencer, the eminent American Soprano, Friday night at the State Normal Auditorium, in the recent test of tone re-creation with the New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph, witnessed an experiment they will never forget.

The most unique performance ever given before music lovers of this city. And an epoch-making success. Each one in this large and critical audience of 850 sat in amazement at the revelation which greeted their ears.

Music Re-created

As Miss Spencer sang her song in unison with the new Edison, none could tell except by the motion of her lips when she was singing. When the two sang together, they heard but one voice of greater volume.

This was the supreme test—the final proof. By actual comparison, side by side with the artist, the New Edison proved that it re-creates the original tone. Nothing more could be asked. The triumph belongs to Mr. Edison. He has made the phonograph perfect—a real musical instrument.

New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph

The scientific result of Mr. Edison's infinite research. His favorite invention. The one to which he has given practically all his time for the last four years. He has selected laboratory process to the point where each instrument produced is as truly scientific as the original laboratory model.

The wonderful diamond stylus brings out delicate overtones (never before reproduced on the phonograph) which give purity and richness. It makes possible the re-creation of the artist's tones. There are no changes. The better it does away with. Wear on the record has been reduced to a minimum. For the diamond stylus simply floats over the record. Edison records are indistructible.

Free Concerts

Come in and hear the records which were used in Miss Spencer's triumphal tone test. They will be played at the special concert—all this week. No charge for seats. Close your eyes and see if the new Edison does not seem actually to be before you. Judge for yourself why the artist is said to open a new era in music. Or ask to hear your own favorites from the great library of Edison records. We will be glad to play them for you.

PROPOSAL FOR NEW TRAIN ARRANGEMENT

No early morning train leaves Omaha Sunday to connect with the Sioux City-Norfolk passenger, and those people who want to come from Omaha Sunday morning to the city are now inconvenienced. It is proposed that a train be run from Omaha Sunday morning, reaching this point about evening. Further, morning mail from Omaha cannot get here at 10 o'clock as it does on other days of the week, but is sent out by the Norfolk and Chicago connections are made at that place, which often fail, it arrives here at 2:30 in the afternoon. The reason given for the substitution of later service for the early morning train is that the latter was not adequately supported, while the former is taken advantage of by many people who, not wishing to hurry out at an unreasonable hour, will, two hours later, go out from the city to different points on the city & O. line to spend the day. The following has been suggested as practical relief for Wayne and other points on this line, Sundays: Let the Sioux City-Norfolk passenger come to Omaha on Sunday mornings, making connections at Emerson with the Omaha train and thus insuring earlier transportation for both passengers and mail from Omaha and points on this line. This suggestion is feasible and satisfactory, as would seem, the Wayne Commercial club ought to present it to the railroad company for consideration.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

Three local churches—Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist—have made arrangements for the proper observance of the week of prayer, which is always the first full week of the new year. The observance will be maintained throughout the week, according to the schedule which follows below. The first meeting will be Sunday night, and the last on Friday night of next week. Between the closing of the prayer week and the time for the commencement of the union protracted meeting in February, Wednesday of each week will be made a day of prayer and devotion with cottage prayer meetings in the morning, a bible reading in the afternoon, and an address followed by a prayer service in the evening. The following is the tentative program:

- Sunday evening, January 2: At the Methodist church; Rev. S. N. Cross, leader; sermon by Rev. W. T. Gaston; subject: "The Crucifixion, or Earth's Greatest Tragedy."
- Monday evening, January 3: At the Methodist church; Rev. S. N. Cross, leader; sermon by Rev. W. T. Gaston; subject: "The Holy Spirit."
- Tuesday evening, January 4: At the Presbyterian church; Rev. A. S. Buell, leader; sermon by Rev. W. T. Gaston; subject: "The Model Prayer."
- Wednesday evening, January 5: At the Presbyterian church; Rev. A. S. Buell, leader; sermon by Rev. W. T. Gaston; subject: "The Model Prayer."
- Thursday evening, January 6: At the Baptist church; Rev. A. S. Buell, leader; sermon by Rev. S. N. Cross; subject: "How to Pray as We Ought."
- Friday evening, January 7: At the Baptist church; Rev. S. N. Cross, leader; sermon by Rev. A. S. Buell; subject: "The Character of God."

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE.

A union watch night service will be held Friday evening at the Presbyterian church. The Young Ladies' Bible Study circle assisted by the members of the several churches will have the meeting in charge. All are invited to be present.

New Year's services will be held January 1 at 11 o'clock. Let us enter the new year with praise and thanksgiving. Services will be held at 7:30. There will be no Sunday services at Wayne, the pastor preaching at Winside on that day.

The members of the congregation will be asked to help Miss Waugler, one of our missionaries from India, Thursday, January 6 at 7:30. She will speak in German. We hope all members of the congregation and the young folks will be present and will endeavor to have been an inspiration to congregations wherever she has visited. It is very seldom that such an opportunity as this is offered. Be sure to be present.

STATES THAT GO DRY.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Statewide prohibition will become effective in seven states with the coming of the new year. They are Colorado, Iowa, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arkansas, and South Carolina. In California, Colorado, Michigan, Vermont, South Dakota, and the territory of Alaska will vote on a prohibitory amendment on November 1, 1916, nineteen states will have joined the dry column.

Colorado Shuts 1,600 Bars.

Colorado's turning to the dry in the new year will close 1,600 saloons. Sixteen hundred dramshops and eleven breweries will be put out of business in that state. After Friday midnight liquor can be obtained only four ounces at a time, on a non-refillable prescription of a physician and liquor advertisements may not appear in Colorado newspapers after New Year's.

The plan to have several thousand bartenders and brewery workers march on the governor and make a demand for employment is discouraging officials.

The remaining 483 saloons, and sixteen breweries, in Iowa, will close on January 1, 1916, under the legislature a year ago. The breweries which go out of business are capitalized at $4,236,663.

Arkansas Has Draconic Law.
In Arkansas, 100 saloons will go out of business under the most stringent prohibition law in the United States. Under local option elections, all except six of the seventy-five counties have been dry for several months. The new law provides one year in the penitentiary for violations, and clubs are prohibited from serving drinks to members.

Idaho's 20 saloons will close under the "Drug and Liquor" working. An attack on the law is now before the United States supreme court on appeal. Police were called yesterday in many counties in the State of Idaho in handling the crowds which are storming dispensaries before their closing. After the first, each citizen has the right to receive one gallon of whiskey or beer a month.

Par—One-third off after January 1.—Mrs. J. F. Jeffries. D301ad.

The system of feeding to be enforced New Year's afternoon makes preliminary abstinence advisable.

It has been agreed that Wayne stores, excepting drug stores and meat markets will close at noon New Year's day and remain closed during the rest of the day. The drug stores will close at 6:00 a.m. and remain closed until 4:00 p.m. The meat markets will close at 4:00 a.m. and remain closed until 4:00 p.m.

DEATH OF JAMES ALGER.

The funeral of the late James Alger who died at Eaton, Colo., December 22, and whose remains arrived here Friday, was held from the M. E. church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. A. S. Buell officiating, conducted the services. The interment took place in Greenwood cemetery, The Eaton, Colo., Herald of December 24 contains the following account of Mr. Alger:

When James T. Alger passed away on the 22nd of this month, Eaton lost one of its honored and respected citizens. About three weeks ago Mr. Alger was taken with the grip which affected his health. From the very first the physician held out very little hope for his recovery. However Mr. Alger got better and was up and about the house. A few days ago he seemed not so well again, and was unable to rally. The end came on the day, unlooked for and unexpected by his friends.

Mr. Alger was born near West Liberty, Io., January 3, 1846, and was therefore nearly 70 years of age. He was the son of a farmer and a milliner. He had nine children, six girls and three boys. Four sisters and one brother survive him. In October last Mr. Alger visited his old home in Wayne, Neb., where a family reunion was held. Here he again observed the presence of many of his brothers and sisters. He had lived in Wayne nearly 30 years before coming here.

December 22, 1904, Mr. Alger was married to Mrs. Amanda K. Hill, who preceded him to the better world March 25 of the present year. Theirs was a happy Christian home where their friends were always welcomed with a smile and a word of cheer. Mr. Alger was deeply grieved at the death of his wife and his friends noticed that soon thereafter he began to decline.

Mr. Alger was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and had long been an active member. He never took any part in public meetings of the church as he was of a quiet disposition, but he was faithful in his attendance at prayer meetings and the Sunday services of the church.

His funeral services were held at his late home Thursday afternoon by his pastor, James W. Malwood. He was buried at Wayne, Neb., his home before coming to Eaton. Truly a good man has gone from us.

DAN STEPHENS TALKS ON DEFENSE PROGRAM

Washington, Dec. 27.—Congressman Dan V. Stephens has issued a statement in which he declares what he considers the propaganda of special interests for a larger army and navy but does not say definitely just what attitude he will take on the president's program.

"The president," he says, "has taken the middle ground and on the side of conservation as between the small navy men and the militarists. He has no doubt, been compelled by the circumstances to take an advanced position as compared with his former attitude in order to prevent the militarists from forcing their program upon congress. The country has been misled by the propaganda of our army and navy and believing that the nation has no defense worth mentioning against the attacks of a foreign foe. The people have been led to believe that nothing is being done to increase the strength of our army and navy and coast defenses. Nothing could be farther from the truth than this. Since Wilson was elected president the increase cost for new construction for the navy alone was in 1912, twenty million dollars; in 1913, forty-one million dollars; and in 1914, forty-one million dollars; and in 1915, forty-six million dollars. The total increase has been made in these years of the cost of the navy for this year is approximately 150 million dollars, which includes the forty-six million dollars for new construction. The president's cost for a 100-million more a year to be added to the annual normal increase, and the mad militarists want to add 500 millions at one full sweep. Can you see that the president is conservative, but he, the president, is thankful that there will be men in congress more conservative and who will help him to check this career of madness for greater armaments by refusing to be frightened into the camp of the plunderer. It goes on to say we should not startle the 'poor, broken, bleeding nations of Europe,' with a mad craze of armament, and he finds another strong reason for delaying the navy, in the 'danger of wasting our money on war crafts that may be made useless in a few months by new developments in the war zone.' He advocates a government owned merchant fleet as an auxiliary to the navy; the building of all war craft in government navy yards; the repeal of the war stamp tax and the raising of funds by a larger tax on incomes with the exemptions the same as they now are. He also says that the navy should have a fleet of admirals and coast commanders to prevent the possibility of plunging this county into war.

He also advocates giving up the Philippines which, he says, the militarists want to keep because their protection requires large armaments.

HOW TO LIVE.

(Bisby.)

If Christmas cheer might last a year We think it would be great. With bread and meat and pie to eat, Each noon at any rate.

And nuts and cheese and things like these, And fruits the finest seen, And cream and cake—the stomach's joy— Would surely supere.

With pains scarce-known we'd lie and groan. No groan, no groan, we'd deavout our. The doctor he would come and see, And charge us by the hour.

Those who live high the sooner die, And those indeed do well Who eat plain fare and breathe pure air.

And have to work like Trojans. In sin and snow they come and go, As joyful as the birds; The day they die, and they greet their friends With few and modest words.

Perhaps his spread is good corn bread. The sweetest in the land; He banks the fire and then retires, And steps to beat the band.

The frugal meal that makes me glad, Just right from head to feet; So let me score with one line more: We should not will to eat!

CHURCH CALENDAR

Baptist Church. (Rev. W. L. Gaston, Pastor.) Two splendid audiences assembled at the Baptist church last Sunday and listened to sermons appropriate for the last Sunday of the year. An unusually large number of men were in the evening congregation, attracted no doubt, by the subject presented which was a discussion of the world war now devastating Europe. Rev. Gaston paid high tribute to the teaching of Jesus and the work and influence of the church in the world during the last hundred and twenty years. He pointed out in spite of our progress and boasted civilization, we have this last year of the world, slaughtered more men, shed more blood, caused more grief and suffering, killed more people in tons, made more orphans, and exhibited more barbarous savagery, than in any year for the last forty centuries. He regretted the fact that the submarine, the of the Father with the glory which He had with the Father before the world was. He gave up the life of man that He might live with men and throughout the Christian centuries has made His abode in the hearts of His children. The spirit would have been impoverished had there been no Christ child laid in the manger. And the individual life is likewise impoverished which does not have no Christ in the heart within. The spirit which does not bring us the Christ is but a pagan holiday, and the Christmas commiserate that obscures the Christ a travesty. Rich indeed the world of humanity to whom it born this day in the city of David a Savior which Christ the Lord. Happy the wise men and the Shepherds, who come to worship him. Rich indeed that people whose God is the Lord, who give birth to whom is born the Christ and every heart cradles a king. "The theme for next Sunday morning's sermon will be 'Jesus as a religious man.' In the evening there

Charlotte White. A superintendent is to be chosen. Next Sunday will be communion Sunday at this church. New members will be received and an opportunity will be given for the baptism of children. This church will take part in the observance of a united week of prayer next week. There will be union prayer meetings from noon till the beginning of the evangelistic meetings, January 30. The annual financial every-member canvass proved to be a success. There was raised the largest budget in the history of the church for local expenses and benevolences, except when some special project, as building, has been in hand. The men of this church would be pleased to join the men of the other churches in a "United Christian Brotherhood of Wayne." There are many activities in which the united Christian manhood of the community could and should have a hand.

machine guns, and the great field artillery that had dwarfed the hell and destruction of the young men of the Germans, were all the inventions of Christian America, the product of the United States. Mr. Gaston will discuss other phases of the war. Next Sunday there will be the usual services in the morning, but in the evening the Baptist people unite in a union service at the Methodist church at which Mr. Gaston will speak.

Methodist Church. (Rev. A. S. Russell, Pastor.) Christmas has come once more and with it the annual program of the inspiring Sunday school programs with their Christmas trees, the usual giving of presents with their expressions of good-will. And now that the New Year which is at our door. The repeating of the simple and wonderful story of the Savior's birth and the hearing again of the angel's message in song of "Peace on earth and good-will to men."

Presbyterian Church. (Rev. S. Xenophon, Past. Pastor.) The Ladies Aid society will hold their first meeting of the new year with Mrs. Harvey S. Ringland next Wednesday afternoon. Davis; cradle roll, Mrs. J. Woodard Jones; home department, Mrs. D. Noakes; missionary, Mrs. J. G. Mines; temperance, Mrs.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church. Sunday school every Sunday at 10 o'clock. Next Sunday evening the Luther League will meet with the Epworth League in a union meeting at the M. E. church at 6:30 o'clock. This is by invitation from the Epworth League.

Sunday we had Rev. Fetterolf from Perth, Kas. here for a trial service. After the morning service a congregational meeting was held. At this meeting it was decided to extend him a call to become our new pastor. The vote was unanimous and the call was sent to him in the fore part of the week. We expect to hear from him in about ten days deciding whether he will accept the call or not.

The subject of the morning sermon was "He shall see of the travail of his soul and shall be satisfied." Isaiah 53:11. We consider the ideal of this soul as consisting of both the physical and mental anguish through which He (Christ) passed to purchase the world's redemption. His mental suffering was greater than that of any man on account of his sinless nature, being more sensitive to sin and wounding than the average man.

In the second place we consider the things with which He is satisfied. First with the indirect results of his sacrifice. To get a good idea of what his sacrifice was and the results of it, compare the world as it is with Christ as at present and what it would be without him; love, honor, respect, admiration, and all forms of organized relief to assist the unfortunate were unknown to the world that day when Jesus taught the world that all men are brethren.

YULETIDE REVERIES. There is no season of the year when human hearts are half so bright; When Christmas skies, and Christmas cheer, And uncheck'd Christmas appetites. Contribute so to make us glad, Forgetting petty wrongs and hates; When delicious giving is a fact, At least in these United States. Two weeks there be when joy abounds, A great contagion everywhere, And pleasant sights, and pleasant sounds, And pleasant thoughts are in the air. Hearts swell till they are like to burst, As folks on generous errands trek— And then on January First Dad always gets it in the neck.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS. Sioux City Journal: It was much easier to work up the proper Christmas spirit in financial-industrial circles this year than in any other of this year than a year ago. The financial and industrial improvement was graphically illustrated the other day in a comparison between the transactions in stocks and bonds for this year and last year. The table showed that for the corresponding periods of 1915 and 1914 the number of shares of stocks sold was respectively 173,000,000 and 47,000,000. The volume of bonds sold was 300 per cent. The sale of bonds respectively averaged $217,000,000 and $155,000,000, a gain of more than 100 per cent. The industrial improvement is reflected in the materially increased prices for securities. Railway earnings are increasing and there is a shortage of cars to meet transportation demands. There is now on the farms the most valuable lot of crops ever grown in this country. Land is being sold for this season of the year. The retail merchants enjoyed what probably will figure up as the largest holiday trade on record. The buying began early and continued late on a liberal basis. All things considered, purely domestic conditions could hardly have been more favorable for an all-around merry Christmas.

The western railways received an unexpected Christmas present in the form of an interstate commerce commission ruling granting increased freight rates on a number of important commodities, including agricultural implements, canned goods, and boots and shoes. The increase applies to the roads between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and the Rocky mountains, and in the aggregate will mean many hundreds of thousands of dollars of new revenue annually. The case was related to the so called western advance rate case decided a few weeks ago by giving the roads only a part of the increases sought. The present advance, which takes effect the first of next year is believed to end the concessions to the western railroads. The recent grant of increased passenger rates, plus the freight increase, authorized both in the east and the west, plus the increased earnings incident to the railroad rate case decided a few weeks ago, together with the reorganization of over capitalized and otherwise financially exploited systems also is serving a useful purpose in this direction.

Anglo-French bonds are now being traded in freely around 95, which figure they offer an attractive investment for those who have no prejudice against war securities. Resolve to do better.

IS ROOSEVELT A PATRIOT? St. Louis City Journal. Former President Roosevelt is not cutting a patriotic figure—in some of the dope the Washington correspondents are sending out about him. But the way he is treated by the Republicans rooves will induce the progressives to nominate a ticket, and thereby insure the defeat of the republican ticket. They initiate in effect, that Roosevelt will be in either dictating the republican nominee or defeating him. This sort of talk is said to have "high authority."

In the interest of consistency, it is hoped the Washington correspondents will be consistent in their attitude. Roosevelt has not opened his mouth to talk war or politics for the last eighteen months without harshly criticizing the Wilson administration. His denunciation of its weak and wicked European policies, its futile and misguided Mexican policies, its mistaken tariff and trust policies, its extravagant mismanagement of public business and its grossly inadequate preparedness plan. But Roosevelt has been at his best in manhandling President Wilson's treatment of European issues. He has described the European situation in a national and international responsibility. He has talked at all times as if the reelection of such an inefficient president as Wilson and such an inefficient majority as the democratic majority in Congress would be a calamity from which the country might never fully recover. A few days ago Roosevelt described Rihlu Root as the most useful man in the public life of this country. And now the Washington correspondents ask us to believe that rather than contribute to the election of Root to the Presidency—Roosevelt would get out on the firing line and fight with the Wilson crowd. Wilson and his have the colonial proclivities to believe—molly-coddish diplomacy and miserably mischievous leadership in all matters of economic, commercial political importance. Mr. Root is probably the best posted man in the country today on foreign affairs, in which interest most predominate in the close of the war. Incidentally, it is interesting to note that the domestic affairs is recognized by the Americans, regardless of political sympathies. Yet we are asked to believe that Roosevelt, after long and daily studying the subject, has failed to help to elect Wilson in preference to the man who only a few days ago represented Roosevelt's party at a world's championship tennis tournament.

It is suggested that Root's high-toned and miscellaneous at the Chicago convention of 1912 threw a spot light on his real character. The volume may be accepted as far as it goes, but it is not a source that is not to present Roosevelt from supporting Root, but prevent him from supporting Burton, the independent progressive who headed the rock barrel in 1912. It is interesting to note that Root's political life, but always has been a respected republican.

It is possible to credit Roosevelt with deliberate intent to lead the country into a war with Germany. He organized and organized a new party to be called in 1912. That is, he organized the matter of running the country into an international laughing stock. The language is another story. It is going to deliver the country into the economic calamity at home and abroad, and diplomatically, also. The patriotic thing to do is to elect a man who will not form an alliance with Wilson, no matter whether the republicans nominate a conservative or a progressive. And that is the man who is coming from the way he talks, but?

BEREFT OF CHILDREN. Fremont Tribune: The household that has not been bereft of children knows not the shadows that are cast by the Christmas tree nor the inaudible voices that speak of the children who are absent from the hearth.

The day is the celebration of the birth of a child. It is the festival that commemorates the hearty influence and joy of childhood, and that is a day of all the dear ones and of all the Christmas-tides that are gone come back in a swollen flood to chasten our spirits and to bid us to look up and to hope. Hearts that used to leap and to dance in the joy of the child that danced in place of closed in eternal sleep, but on Christmas day we are sensible of their presence as if they had been brought back out of the spirit world and reformatted in the flesh. While we thus muse we smile through our tears in response to the happiness of those whom we can see and touch and strengthen anew our faith that in the near future they will be with us in the same old place that has limitations in neither time nor space nor subject to the wear and pain of carnal things. The Christmas experiences of those who have loved and lost are a strange thing. We know not why, but only know that it is so.

GASOLINE PROSPECTS. Lincoln Journal: While politicians talk of taxing the price of gasoline to new high levels, the price of the oil has been dropping. The follow each other in quick succession. New York is now paying 25 cents for its gasoline. There is every prospect that 25 cents will be reached before spring. The price in New York, but is breaking than due proportion.

If the explanations of the rise which the oil men make are true, the only thing that will tend to lower permanent high prices for their gas engine fuel will be the discovery of new oil fields. Prices are perhaps a little higher on account of the war. Europe is now taking from America oil which formerly came to it from the Russian and Galician oil fields. Back of all, however, goes, according to the oil men's tale, a diminishing output from existing oil wells. Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Illinois, Arizona and Texas have been producing. When the rise in price took place in 1913, the future of oil and gasoline looked so black that prizes were offered for efficient substitutes. Shortly after, however, new discoveries were made in Oklahoma. Moreover, new processes were discovered which increased the gasoline production of crude oil. But now these new wells are failing. The economy is increasing the demand for gasoline sufficiently to overcome the increased supply by virtue of the new manufacturing process. So up goes the price again in 1913. If no new fields are discovered and the price promises to remain up.

After a certain point, of course, denatured alcohol will enter into competition with gasoline as motor fuel. The nearer that moment is, the more likely to come from the west. Already the rising price has resulted in an increased number of wells. Geologists are searching far and near for new oil prospects. Wyoming and Colorado are being explored with hopefulness. In the field new wells are being drilled. The bank has not been milked dry of its petroleum yet. Repetives will be gained again in the near future. It is something of a "lion" petroleum products will have to turn the wheels of the world.

REAVIS MAKES A NOTE OF IT. Fremont Tribune: Frank Reavis, the new republican congressman from the First Nebraska district, appears to have been a little bit surprised when he sat and listened to the comment on the document. "I had thought," he said, "that the raising of revenue necessary to finance the administration's program in the event of its inauguration, that I am mistaken in this, at least in my own mind."

Frank had evidently only been reading the constitution, though it would seem a little singular that he would be informed a person should not also have followed the proceedings of a democratic administration, of statesmanship and the inspiration of which all come from south of the Mason & Dixon line.

The lower house of congress is the one authorized by the constitution to originate all revenue bills, and it is quite believable that an able and independent man like Mr. Reavis felt some shock when the president, not consulting himself with expressing his own views on revenue, submitted details of a bill providing for it. Mr. Reavis not only rebels against imposing a new tax upon the farmer's automobile and his auto engine, but he also is old-fashioned enough to think something should be left by the executive department to the law-making department. Perhaps Mr. Reavis is partly right about it.

THE VOICE ON THE PHONE. Fremont Tribune: An eastern telephone company reminds its patrons that very few of the constituting members of its board of directors are present as they sometimes in their presence as they other times to them over the telephone. It isn't merely the old story about being courteous to the exchange girl, though that is a part of it. It is, though. Many usually even-tempered persons lose their poise the moment they speak unintentionally into the telephone.

And really, wouldn't this simple rule eliminate a vast amount of friction? It had been a great day, for the children and wife, and the cousins and aunts had the day for the day. It will be for the presents were great, and the feed was immense. And the whole show pulled off without thought of expense. Now the turkey was gone—there was nothing left to eat. The meat at the father's collapse. "Twas a Christmas as fine as could ever be had. But alas, and alack, it was all off. For his mind was as blank as the millitant bore. Who believes we get peace by preparing for war. 'Twas a good day for Christmas—the best the postman's brought. In his pack was a bundle of bills to be paid. And the hopes of a "happy new year" among men, To a very great measure, will glimmering die.

one remembers that typhoid from 2005 source must come from the handling of food by hands not sufficiently cleaned of fecal matter, and that from that source it actually does come. The history shows a strong well high irrevocable tendency to turn a somersault. The cleanliness of food factories and the health and personal cleanliness of their employees likewise in the light of scientific supporting facts, a matter of acute personal importance.

Lincoln's last epidemic, one of diphtheria, was traced to a dairy employee who had diphtheria without knowing it. Here is another epidemic supposed to come from an employe of a food factory who was sick without stopping work. The progress of our epidemics and their causation—smallness, shows that the danger from such epidemics is usually small, yet the chance, unfortunately, is there.

It should be, and probably is, only necessary for purveyors of food to know these things to secure careful guarding against them. For heavy duty is not to be expected from anyone upon whom responsibility for such calamities is finally fixed. It is safe to say, however, that many do not know the risk of having built up a reputation for food safety, and the value of contributing to the spread of information on the subject.

MORE MEAT.

Lincoln Journal: In his annual report for the agricultural department, Secretary Houston lets it be known that what he needed most in America for agriculture is an increase in meat animals. "To that and his department has exerted itself to conserve the animal supply. It has fought hog cholera and the cattle plague, and has succeeded in taking toll from the herds of the country. The great loss from animal disease runs close to $200,000,000 a year according to his estimate.

There is another thing that could be done which would increase the stock production more than these attacks on disease. The chief barrier on animal production in the United States now seems to be a belief on the part of producers that they cannot get a fair deal in marketing their product. They believe that the market is a monopoly controlled and that the producer's return is arbitrarily limited. Men who feed cattle for market feel that they are playing a losing game. Bankers are not growing more and more reluctant to furnish loans to meat producers because of the precariousness of the business.

Meat producers have seen the price of hogs down about 25 per cent in the last two months. Their year's product must now be marketed at a price hardly representing cost of feed. There has been an increase in the price of feed this year, but producers believe that the market has been manipulated against them. The fact that the markets are apparently monopoly controlled will always create the feeling that the market is unfair. If they are playing against loaded dice, this is not calculated to stimulate meat production.

If the market for live stock is not arbitrarily controlled, it should be left to the market. It is not necessary to prove this to the satisfaction of the farmers before they can be got to producing live stock at their full capacity.

THE SOLEMN AFTERMATH.

'Twas the week after Christmas, the good nights were sad. And father, dear father, was out of his head; For the bills that came in were a gold. And he wanted to pay but he hadn't the gold. It had been a great day, for the children and wife, and the cousins and aunts had the day for the day. It will be for the presents were great, and the feed was immense. FOOD AND DISEASE.

Lincoln Journal: If we must add potato chips to the possible sources of typhoid fever, as Lincoln's current experience makes likely, the public, in these delicate days, should be warned of the danger that have pasteurized our milk out of deference to the typhoid germ. We have doped our water with chlorine to the same end. Now we must boil our potato chips. The search for the cause of the typhoid cases has brought to light, moreover, still other possible sources of contagion. Raw oysters, fattened on sewage and lettuce fertilized by manures of doubtful fertility might have been the cause. In fact, any food handled by a typhoid infected person may pass on the infection. To be absolutely safe, we must boil or reboke our bread and every other food that we eat, as it comes from the store. When

Another Chance

By ARTHUR J. BURDICK Copyright, 1915, by American People's Association.

NO use a-sighin' for the happy days o' yore. New Year is here. An' he's got a plenty more. Jest as many sunny hours in this year as in last; Jest as many flowers to bloom as blossomed in the past.

No use a-frettin' for the chances you have lost. New Year is here 'th smiles his face across; Jest as many days for work, as many hours for song. As Old Year took with him with the records of 'em wrong.

No use a-mopin' an' a-skulkin' in the dark. New Year is here. A new an' shinin' mark. If ye missed it 'other time, why, don't sit down an' whine; Take another shot at luck an' draw the bead down fine.

No use regrettin' when ye've got another chance. New Year is here. Jump in an' make things dance! Gittin' now an' then a fall ain't counted any sin. If ready when the chance comes, to up-an' try ag'in.

NOTE YOUR OLD ERRORS.

Born's Suggestion For Starting Another Leap on Life's Journey.

Along with most of us the custom of making an elaborate set of resolutions—all of them to be broken per se in a week—belongs to the past. It is a waste of time to sit down and quietly think over their significance in calm retrospect. Such a new idea is to be recommended. Without making vain and foolish resolutions one may carefully note all errors and avoid as many of them as possible in the next year.

If the past year has contained more tears than smiles—tear of the old page, with its blots and mistakes, and throw it away. The fact that the markets are apparently monopoly controlled will always create the feeling that the market is unfair. If they are playing against loaded dice, this is not calculated to stimulate meat production.

Happiness, like disease and misery, is contagious. And just as no one can calculate the amount of harm to other people's dispositions done by the chronic grumbler, it is impossible to conceive of the vast amount of genuine good that we owe to the considerate kindness of those who are blessed with light hearts.

Watch Night In Billville

By FRANK L. STANTON

WATCH NIGHT in Billville was a night of prayer. That ever helped the heathen or pruned the Lord aloud! They came from all the neighborhood, a new life. To watch the old year go out, the new year come in!

The preacher, he give out the hymns, "Salvation fell on free." 'Twas a solemn, sacred grace, that saved a wretch like me. An' "Greenland's Ice Mountains" went rolling on high. 'Till almost took the windows in the "everlastin' sky."

An' then we had a word o' prayer; the preacher stated plain. The object of the meetin', what we never met in any other place. Then read a Bible lesson, which gave our souls relief. Then they set meetin' open for experiences brief.

An' then said brother Stanton, "way down by the door. He'd served the Lord for eighty years an' wanted gittin' more!" An' "Brother Scott, 'Amen!' an' in the word an' more!" 'Till we thought the sleepiest angel up in heaven heard the sound.

An' then we had more singin', an' how the good old time. "When I can read my eye clear to know in the skies!" An' Brother Scott, he said this word: "My soul is here, my heart is here. But, thank the Lord, in heaven I can read my title clear!"

An' the sisters, they stood up an' spoke, an' tears was fallin' fast. For they had hearts to tell us they would meet home at last. An' each one told of grace an' love that lightened up the soul. While some were here, some "where the surge came to roll."

We most forgot the old year, we most forgot the new. In talkin' of the wonders that the love has done for me. An' "I'll tell you your shoutin'—I tell you, it was prime. For we had, to speak it plainly, just a beautiful time!"

I tell you, "prayer a meetin', an' 'I'd have you all to know. The Lord was with them people as the old year turned to go. An' the new year found us happy as the sun, an' the stars were on high. An' that watch night in Billville took its place up in the sky."

FRENCH NEW YEAR CARDS.

Five Words of Correspondence Allowed on Them; but No More. French women and Frenchmen discharge their New Year obligations. A visiting card is put in an envelope of its size, which is left unsealed; and for a week or two the post carries each card to its destination. One may even write on the card five words of mere compliment, such as "This card is very beautiful." But if you write more or if your card words are real compliments, such as "New Year's dinner at 8— and if the postmen look at it, they may notify you to pass at the office and pay $2 fine for infraction or postal law. But if you put the regular letter stamp on the card, the post envelope you may write all you will. The circulation of these cards runs up in Paris, where the post clerks are put on for a month to handle them, for one may begin card calling before Christmas, and may continue to Watch Night, but to Cardless day, in February. Open baskets are put out along the corners to all the French post offices to receive these little envelopes. New Year Breakfast in Japan. In Japan each person has a different table for breakfast on New Year's day. If a home consists of five persons they require a table with five chairs. One or two may happen to be away.

on the various "isms" that were supposed to represent a special protection and defense against heaven. It would seem as if the general public might have been of some service to the community if engaged in other business. There are those who believe that there is a crisis in the life of our race. Let us try to see in what this crisis consists. The church once had an authority over the community that no longer exists. The thinking of the community has been a general average was once done by the pulpit. It is now done by many others as well. The daily press, the magazine, the scientific publication, the school, the newspaper, all exercise an influence upon the minds of all our people. All this has brought a wonderful change in the attitude of the people. A situation has arisen like this: In the public school the young persons learn certain things with regard to the origin of life. The goal of the Sabbath school and hears something altogether different. A little later, he goes to college, and the nature and development of our nation and morals. Again he goes to the church and hears something very different. If very ambitious as a student he goes to the graduate school of some great university and studies philosophy and metaphysics. He returns home to his home community to hear a minister expound a philosophy that he has learned was outgrown a century ago.

It calls for a new type of minister. The new type of minister must be educated in a manner different from the old type. He must be a man who does not mean that he shall be better trained merely in formal knowledge. In that sense present day ministers are often well educated. The meaning is that he shall be a man who has a broad knowledge of science. The supremely important thing is the point of view. You know that Archimedes said that if he could get a fulcrum he could move the world. Just so must the minister get the point of view whereby he may reconcile the conflicting points of view of those whom he seeks to lead.

Now, there is one discovery of modern science that has profound significance for the minister. It is that of evolution. It casts a wholly new light upon the questions with which the church has wrestled, such as the origin of evil, the nature of sin, the deities which characterize it, etc.

It is not necessary that the minister be a specialist in these matters. It is probably necessary that he take his stand with those who accept the unquestioned results of science in the fields of biology, psychology and sociology and endeavor to put their efforts into line with these established things. The minister is to be a leader. The leader is supremely the one who has insight. He sees where the line of advance lies. He seeks to know the heart of the people. His tradition, however, hears and reverberated, shall be permitted to stand in his way. The sublimity of moral leadership is exemplified in Socrates who spent his life raising questions about the point of view of all who have come after him. The dream of Archimedes of a "pou sto" whence he could move the world, was realized in the life of Jesus who shifted the point of view for all time.

Perhaps the most needed part of the equipment of the minister is that of a reasonable estimate of value. The church has developed a remarkable efficiency in influencing its membership and in securing members. Using this technique by means of revivals-and many other forms of suggestion, the church established its control over its people. It is the responsibility of the minister to the utmost advantage to society. Says Professor Ames: "Psychologically, the defects of the conversion experience may be stated in terms of the limitations of a dynamic concept. It cannot present intelligent and rational grounds of action. Conversion is made to turn on a sense of sin but it does not develop the realization of sin in a large way. It seeks for the conception of the character of the subject, and works upon this, without adequate reference to the reality and objectivity, moral quality, and social character of his sin. The pressure is put on the individual to accept a minor matter, such as popular amusements. Participation in them is represented as a chief thing for which forgiveness is needed. There is danger, therefore, that the virtue of the new life shall be as insignificant as the sins of the old. The conversion of modern churches may appear slight when the stress is over, and further devotion to religious interests may be held lightly as a consequence. Such methods afford no sufficient sense of reality and depth for the religious life. They tend to produce formal and superficial, not to say, hypocritical religionists. They confine to set religion apart from one's normal, sane, and well regulated activities, making it seem unnatural and weird. Methods of this kind obscure and minimize the function of education in religion, whereas, any important results which result to follow from the conversion experience actually consist either in making vital some past discipline, or in setting the individual upon the path of new education, or in the influence of the conversion, which is preceded or followed by the effective development of habits, leading to a good character. Then, conversion becomes a momentary phenomenon with no positive significance. What the church is urged to perceive is that under present day conditions salvation comes by no one thing, but that it cannot exist without the regard to the life of society. Most of all, it cannot exist without the activities, their employments, their education, their family relationships, their reading and study. No one institution has a monopoly of the experiences that make men better.

We must now leave merely "throw out the life line" to one of his "brotherly" brethren; we must use all our resources to help all men in every way. To change a man's opinion on a matter of abstract thought may do something for him, but it does little or nothing for society. We must reach men's habits, attitudes, whole mind, and help them to see the important things of life, their relations to the world, to the state, and to discharge their duties to these.

To this end church consolidation must go rapidly forward. The differences among the various denominations, the sectarianism, the agnosticism, help the orthodox church. But let the plants be united as soon as possible into one. "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by far the best medicine in the market for colds and coughs," says Mrs. Albert Blosser, Lima, Ohio. "Many others are of the same opinion. Obtainable everywhere."

Owes Her Good Health to Chamberlain's Tablets.
"I owe my good health to Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. R. G. Neff, Crookston, Ohio. "Two years ago I was an invalid due to stomach trouble. I took three bottles of these Tablets and have since been in the best of health." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Laughter Aids Digestion.
Laughter is one of the most healthful exertions; it is of great help to digestion. A still more effective help is a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets. If you should be troubled with indigestion give them a trial. They only cost a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

ALL MEN'S OVERCOME; GAINING IN WEIGHT.
"This is the story of John Gadeken of Waver, Neb., and how he won back health and happiness. Mr. Gadeken suffered for years from ill health. His trouble began with his stomach. His food was not properly digested, and he grew worse under the care of what he feared was hopelessly bad health.

One day he heard about "Merr's Wonderful Remedy." He took one dose and was astonished by the results. His appetite returned, and he began to gain weight. "My ailments seem to be entirely overcome, as the many symptoms which were constantly bothering me have, like a wonder, all passed away and my health is improving fast. I am also gaining in weight, and I gained five pounds already."

"It has been two weeks since I got through your treatment, and I can say that it has put my stomach and bowels in perfect shape."

"Merr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. —But as much as I am satisfied with the results, I am after-asking: pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try on an absolute guarantee. —If not satisfactory money will be returned."
