

PREPARATIONS FOR VISITING EDITORS

GOOD TIME ANTICIPATED

The Series of Programs—Names of Committees—Ladies Invited—to The Banquet.

Plans are fast maturing for the meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Press association in Wayne on Friday and Saturday of next week, and everything points to an auspicious time. Committees have been named by the president of the Commercial club and are published hereafter. It is believed each member can be depended on to render active service and be a vital force in promoting the enterprise. The programs are presented to the public today.

The event of special public interest will be the banquet in the Baptist church parlors, served by the ladies of that denomination. The Baptist ladies have an established reputation for excellent meals and excellent service, and in the forthcoming event will amply maintain their high standard. Wayne people, ladies as well as men, will be invited to share in the enjoyment of the occasion. The cost to Wayne people will be $1 per plate, and guests will be served free. As the capacity of the banquet hall is limited, and sufficient room will have to be reserved for visitors, those desiring to attend should apply to the committee for tickets as early as possible. Preliminary to and during the banquet an orchestra will discourse appropriate music. On account of the ladies and to facilitate speaking no smoking will be allowed in the banquet hall, though every one so desired will be equipped with the requisite of a fragrant smoke before leaving.

Editors who have not thus signified their intention to come should notify Secretary E. O. Gardner, Wayne, on delay in order that calculations can be made accordingly. Every editor is heartily invited, and it is guaranteed the best time Wayne knows how to provide.

NEIHARDT PLANS TO VISIT WAYNE NORMAL

John G. Neihardt, famous poet, who lived in Wayne for a number of years and attended college here, has written the U. S. House of Representatives Normal book with favor on a suggestion to appear at the Normal. The letter, which will interest the public, follows:

Dear Prof. Huse:

Your suggestion appeals to me. I would like to read some of my things at the Normal, and, while I feel that just now my time ought to yield me something, I could not bring myself to name a sum for which I could come to you. But I have a way out, I think, that ought to be fair all around.

Perhaps some of your societies thought they might make a little money. Why could not such a society arrange an entertainment, charge a reasonable admission price and give me a percentage above my expenses? I would not be greedy, but I would like to see the money reduced the terms. I could furnish the committee with some good advertising material for the local papers. Some music could be furnished by your own people, no doubt.

It was very good of you to express your belief in me. I prize all such expressions of faith. It is impossible to estimate their value to one engaged in creative work.

Prof. Huse, whom I always remember in the same moment with Prof. Fife, wrote me a letter the other day—the kind one keeps—Yours, John G. Neihardt.

The Monday club met this week with Mrs. P. E. K. Mellor. Mrs. B. Beckenauer talked on "Herbs and Beverages" and Mrs. H. H. Hahn talked on "Spices and Extracts and Starches and Sugars." The club will meet next Monday with Mrs. Clara B. Ellis. Papers were read: "Holland People and Towns" by Mrs. Rolfe Lewis, and "Industries of Holland" by Mrs. E. Hufford. Mrs. Ellis gave an interesting report of the national E. P. O. convention recently held in St. Paul, Minn., in which she attended as delegate from Nebraska. Mrs. T. T. Jones rendered musical selections.

Interested in the Chicago declaration of principles to frighten any republican conservative on economic questions. It is, no, however, calculated to appeal to republicans who may lean toward conservatism in foreign policy.

In calling their convention for the same week as the republican national convention and inviting the republicans to consider nomination of a fusion candidate the progressive strategists have placed their party in a position which will insure a sure on the republican party.

AUTOMOBILE TAX. - Bibby: We don't mind a tax on automobiles if the government needs the money for useful expenditures, but if used for anything else, such as war munitions-manufactures, may the same be blown to Balbyback by spontaneous combustion!

Not for hoats to make their names, Armed with ugly looking guns, As a menace and a dare To the nations over there.

On the other side the sea, But on this side, it seems to me, Are of almost matched strength. All the nations of the earth By our acts would be inspired; Angry guns would not be fired At a people so engaged.

Not worth a war, nor would they fight, At the soul-inspiring sight Of men toiling in the night, Toiling all the livelong day— Not to mutilate and slay On a wise, constructive plan For the benefit of man.

Better roads should be our plea, It's the battle cry for me. If that flag could be unfurled All the way around the world, We'd forget the arts of war, For we cannot voice no more. Would be heard this side of Strix, Wouldn't that be bully? BIX.

Think you ever consider the power of compound interest? When you save it not mere count, it is nothing more nor less than learning money—loaning it to a bank. Just supposing that at the age of twenty you were to begin depositing $300 per week in a bank...

progressives in the normal course of events will defer their nomination until after the republicans have acted. They have already declared that if the republicans name a president they will vote for him; they trust to carry out their principles; they also will nominate him. Conversely, notice has been served that if the republicans fail to accept progressive dictation a third ticket will be placed in the field...

What republican candidate would be satisfactory to the progressive strategists? We know now that Roosevelt would be satisfactory. We do not know that any other candidate would be satisfactory. The Roosevelt strategy is based on the theory that if the republican conservatives must accept a progressive they would rather swallow Roosevelt than a less able leader on their side.

Those who would be resistant to Roosevelt in charge of an expanded army and navy during a period of extraordinary international friction have good reason to worry. It is not that they are not strong enough to be formidable.

From Ponca Journal, January 27, 1881:

Smallpox, measles, diphtheria, mumps, and many other diseases seems to be holding high carnival in all parts of the northwest. Not an exchange reaches us but containing accounts of the prevalence of one or more of these maladies, and the number of fatalities is remarkable.

This widespread sickness is occasioned no doubt by the excessive cold and violent storms of the present winter, which so prostrate people that they become easily affected with disease. While cold weather is considered healthy, extreme cold acts on the system like extreme heat, and overtaxes the vital energies.

The simplest complaint takes hold like the most malignant disease, and contagion finds in a community many easy victims who fall before it, and the cause of many new-made mourners in the city of the dead.

A man from Springbank came over to see the sights in the county, capital one day last week. As the day wore away and the shades of eve were falling fast, he repaired to one of the best restaurants, and imbibed some of P. H. Best's choicest. Then he repaired and imbibed again. Likewise another time. Ditto some more. In course of time, he thought to take a walk about town, view the parks and inspect the city hall. During his travels he met some one who produced a flask and offered him a sip, and as it was about that time of the day with him, he accepted, drank long and deep. This, as he claims, was the last he remembered, and next morning when he awoke, he found himself minus some $15 in money, that at the commencement of his sojourn he had in his pocket-book. He claims that the liquor given him on the street was drugged, and that he was robbed of the money, though he was already so much under the influence of liquor as to be unable to remember what was offered it. When it was considered that he had been drinking all the evening, and of course spending his money, this cry of theft might appear on the face of it a little garry, and the plea of a better, a very good way to account for the money he had laid out in drinks.

Itching piles provoke profanely but profanely won't remove them. Doan's Ointment is recommended for itching, bleeding or protruding piles. See at any drug store.—Adv.

If Heaven is to be entirely satisfactory to a dyspeptic, he will be able to eat sausage and buckwheat cakes with syrup and impunity on that beautiful shore.

Prince Albert is such friendly tobacco that it just makes a man sorry he didn't get wind of this pipe and cigarette smoke long, long ago. He counts it lost time, quick as the goodness of Prince Albert gets firm set in his life! The patented process fixes that—and cuts out bite and parch!

Get on the right-smoke-track soon as you know how! Understand yourself how much you'll like the national joy smoke

It stands to reason, doesn't it, that if men all over the nation, all over the world, prefer P. A. that it must have all the qualities to satisfy your fondest desires?

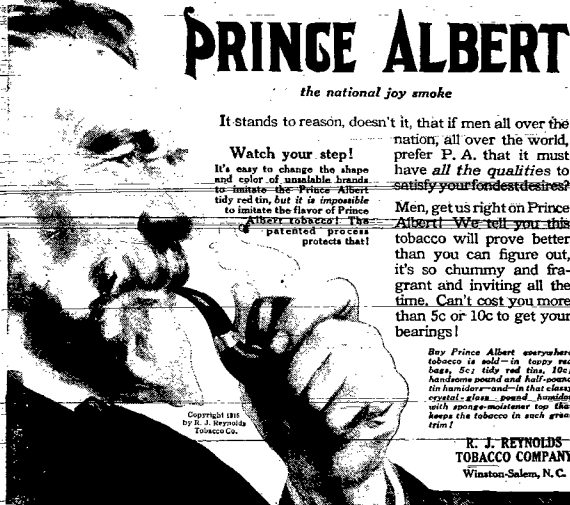

Watch your step!

It's easy to change the shape and color of unsalable brands to imitate the Prince Albert's tidy red tin, but it is impossible to imitate the flavor of Prince Albert's tobacco! The patented process protects that!

Men, get us right on Prince Albert. We tell you this tobacco will prove better than you can figure out, it's so chummy and fragrant and inviting all the time. Can't cost you more than 5c or 10c to get your bearings!

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold—in tins, red bags, 5c tins and tins, 10c handkerchief and half-ounce tin handkerchief—and in that clear and has never been used. Will sell for $4000 cash.—FRANK WHITE, N.E.V. Herald office, Wayne.

CLAIMS ARREST WAS WHOLLY UNWARRANTED

C. W. Garlock, mentioned in the following from the Randolph Times is known by many in Wayne. C. W. Garlock of South Sioux City, for some half dozen years a seller of Indian pills over northeast Nebraska and well known in Randolph and other neighboring towns was thrown into jail at Belden Saturday. The Belden marshal made the arrest on the charge that Mr. Garlock was peddling goods without a license from the village clerk as by ordinance provided. The marshal demanded two dollars as license money, or he would throw the medicine-vendor into jail.

Very early in the negotiations the keeper of Belden's peace was in the head hold of a live wire—in fact a live wire was refused to pay a fine and told the marshal to lock him up and he would serve "time" rather than sign any public docket and thereby acknowledge himself a criminal. The marshal made the arrest and Garlock was in the Belden bastle about an hour and a half. Justice W. F. Schwerin was appealed to but refused to issue a commission for the charging man and eventually went to the jail, we understand, and advised the immediate release of the live wire inmate. Garlock will be in no hurry to get the marshal seemed anxious to let go of something he got in his getting warm. Mr. Garlock came on to Randolph, but he says he isn't through with Belden by any means. While here Mr. Garlock engaged the services of Attorney Writtle and another lawyer to bring suit for damages because of the arrest of a peaceable citizen without a warrant, and for incarcerating him in jail without cause. Mr. Garlock's story was that a small amount of medicine was found in the hotel and on this transaction the marshal assumed authority. Garlock claims the hotel was his temporary home, and that his act did not constitute peddling. He was arrested for the first time and hasn't come down very much yet.

This editor has known Garlock for some twenty odd years and knows he is a fighter, especially when motives or principles are at stake. Somebody will get a lift before the man from South Soo lets up.

Lincoln, Jan. 17.—After hesitating whether to run for president or senator, ex-Senator E. J. Burkett of Lincoln will file as a candidate for the vice presidency. This is the announcement made by him to newspaper representatives called to his office according to information given out by United Press here. A Senator Burkett says he will make a campaign for support in the west, which, though it has for years elected solid delegations for republican presidents, has never been recognized on a national republican ticket. The name of Senator A. B. Cummins will be filed in Nebraska for the republican nomination for president of the United States early this week, according to information given out at Council Bluffs by Robert B. Wallace, who is in charge of the Cummins campaign in Iowa and Nebraska. Mr. Wallace says that a petition upon which the filing is to be based has already been signed and is in the possession of Cummins in Lincoln and will probably be

GORE'S Hog Worm Cream CONCENTRATED

All Hogs are Wormy: By the very nature of the hog, his way of living and what he eats, he is bound to be wormy.

There is no market for hog worms, and they sap the life blood of your money from the hog. Hog worms stunt young hogs, and a stunted hog is a money loser in the fattening pen.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream is certain death to hog worms. It is the cheapest insurance and the best investment for hog raisers.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream is not like any other medicine; it is a heavily concentrated cream preparation containing an absolute anthelmintic "Worm Killer" and if the directions are followed, each hog is certain to receive the proper dose.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream is put up in the following sizes with full directions for mixing in swill or water and sold at the following prices: Small size enough for one dose for 25 hogs, price, $1.50; 1 gallon enough for one dose for 60 hogs, price, $3.00; 1 gallon enough for one dose for 120 hogs, price, $5.00; 3 gallons enough for one dose for 360 hogs, price, $15.00; 5 gallons enough for one dose for 600 hogs, price, $25.00; 10 gallons enough for one dose for 1200 hogs, price, $45.00.

Gore's Hog Worm Cream should be kept in a cool place. Order today. Sent named post prepaid. No risk. Money returned if dissatisfied.

JUST A CHANGE OF FASHION.

There never was a president who was treated by the press of the opposition as unscrupulously and especially than Woodrow Wilson has been by the republicans. When the caricaturing, denunciation and vilification of Abraham Lincoln, U. S. Grant and other republican presidents is recalled, the uniform courtesy and fairness of the republicans is all the more conspicuous that it would be if the infamous course pursued toward the great presidents named had not been pursued by the republican press especially during 1861-1863—Martin Register.

The simple facts are these: Calling names and lambasting the opposition were a recognized part of the journalism of those days; just as they are a part of the oratory of the stump and that sort of politics, both in the press and on the platform, has gone out of fashion. No more can people be made to think less of a statesman because he happens to be tall and ungainly, and calling him a "hobnob" or "Lincoln's enemies used to call him," would not now be considered a convincing argument.

The Journal's files of forty years ago offer an illustration to the point. In 1873 Shepherd Leffler made a speech in the Democratic caucus and a half of it, Shepherd Leffler was quite a man in his day in Iowa. He served in six territorial legislatures, two constitutional conventions, was making a prominent part in the framing of the constitution of the state, and three United States congresses and on the occasion of the speech in question he was the gubernatorial, or, as the Journal described it, "the mongrel" party that backs him for the governorship.

"Leffler is tall and gaunt, has a small head with a rather high but narrow and retreating forehead and a face which indicates neither character nor strength," stated The Journal, in harrowing detail, and without doubt, this article was a fair example of the political journalism of that time. "His chin is small, his broad cheeks like a side of a sole-leather, his nose is like the beak of a bird of prey. His eyes we couldn't get a glimpse of, but we saw the caverns in which they hid. No beard relieves the monotony of his long, expressive features, his crop of thin, straight hair, brushed back of the ears, serves as a veil to hide the unpromising phenological developments of his carniam."

And so on. "Candidates expected abuse—'as you got it. It was part of the game. 'Yet Benjamin F. Gue, in his 'History of Iowa,' says of Shepherd Leffler that 'few public officials in Iowa exercised so wise an influence in shaping its policy, framing and enforcing its laws and formulating its constitutions in the pioneer periods.'—Sioux City Journal.

LEAP YEAR.

Lincoln, I imagine, seemed securely away at the bottom of a coffin, placed there evidently by a hurried printer in need of a filler, we find a "leap year joke." No need to describe the joke. Everybody knows the leap year joke in all its forms. There it lay, lonely, weak and wan, as if the last of a decadent race.

That reminds us, hasn't there been a strange dearth of leap year discussion since the present year of 366 days was ushered in? It has seemed so. Of course it may be only seeming. We are all growing old. "Maybe the quadrennial leap year issue is confined to the young and is as much alive among the young today as it was when we were among the young. The trend of the times leads, however, to a different supposition. It would be strange if leap year should retain its old interest since the condition that maintained it has changed.

For better or for worse, the simpering sabbies of the age of civility have been resolved under the influence of the age of feminism into a very frank, assertive and determined character. The "leap year" who smash windows for suffrage need a special dispensation in the way of a leap year? Absurd. While our American girls have not felt obliged to assert their rights in any such destructive manner, they get there just the same. Such a change in the status of the women—spells inevitable oblivion for leap year as a matrimonial agency. If the change has come—yet it will.

There has been some reason to believe that leap year has been a disingenuous institution from the first and based on facts that never existed. The literature of the age of feminism advances readily the conclusion that the modern cynicism, leads the unemotional historian to think that every year was leap year heretofore as it is to be hereafter—that man's prerogative of proposing marriage has resembled nothing more, even among the softest of Sultans, than the prerogative of the fish to say when it shall be landed. If that was the case, the mask is now off. Another outgrowth-institution is ended.

CALL ENDORSES KOHL.

The following endorsement of the record of Eugene C. Kohl, of the Pierce Call, republican, will please that gentleman and his friends: "While The Call is a republican paper it has a warm feeling for Phil Kohl, of Wayne, and if he decides to be a candidate again in this district for state senator we should feel like supporting him, as we have in the past two elections. Although a democrat, Senator Kohl is not narrow in his political views and has not trifled with the political machine of the state in every instance. He has made a good record in the senate and has represented this district with honor. He is really first class gubernatorial timber, but is not looked upon as such by the bosses of his party on account of his independence."

QUALIFICATION.

The lawyer deeply delves in law That he may get possession Of concrete truth on which to draw, Else he will not worth a draw. In his sublime profession, The preacher strives to understand The nature of his calling. While deep, related truth at hand, He builds each week a structure grand, Propped to prevent its falling. The doctor dears what he's about, Which is the proper scope of his. The farmer, too, beyond a doubt— But anybody can get out A first-class daily paper.
