The high school appreciates this move instituted by the freshman class and it is hoped that other classes will respond in the same manner. The domestic science classes under the direction of Miss Margaret Killian held a candy sale last Saturday afternoon. The proceeds were used for a decided success. The proceeds of the sale were used in buying some new records for the victrol. At convocation Wednesday, the class in their cooking aprons, occupied the platform and gave a brief program of songs and readings, and played the records purchased for the school. The girls and their teacher are to be congratulated on the success of the enterprise.

LIVED ONLY ABOUT HOUR

Skull Crushed Under Wheels Causing Hemorrhage of Brain—Home in Wisconsin.

Howard C. Davis, employed as one of two telegraph operators in the depot at Wakefield, fell in front of a gasoline car on the railroad track, three miles east of Wayne, at 11:15 o'clock Sunday forenoon. SAVINGS SERMONETTE

NUMBER FORTY-FOUR

A JUDGE'S OPINION

A learned judge in sentencing an old man, a college graduate, said: "Many of the sorrows which overtake people in their old age are due to the fact that in their younger and more prosperous days, they failed to create a habit of systematic saving. If I had the judicial power I should compel every man, woman and child to keep a savings account with some good bank and make a monthly addition to it, even if the deposit were only a few dimes. Saving paves the way to a peaceful old age."

If you are on the shady side of life as you are living in retirement and comfort, or are you struggling under a burden growing more difficult with each succeeding year?

Remember, there is no friend like money when we are old and helpless. An accumulation of cash will afford the protection needed.

The railroad company has put in cutovers and made other improvements which Siemon Goemann says will prevent water from standing on his place in the southwestern part of the city. PLEASANT VALLEY CLUB HEARS ADDRESS

There was a very pleasant and profitable gathering, last Thursday, at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Laughlin, two and one-half miles south of town. The occasion was an all day making and dinner of the Pleasant Valley club, a social organization of the county, and a training community south of town.

At the noon hour a very substantial and elaborate dinner was served, in which all present were lively participants. It was not an ordinary dinner, but a "repast" of the best where there is plenty of everything that is good to eat, and the presiding lady an excellent cook and an adept at proper serving.

After the dinner had been dispatched the ladies gave in a variety that complimented the culinary skill of the hostess, more than printed paragraphs could possibly do. Mrs. J. H. Mize called for order and introduced the program. She emphasized the fact that responded to their names with some statement of "Bird lore" which was not only entertaining but instructive and showed the disposition of the club members to investigate profitable subjects. By the courtesy of the chair lady the gentlemen present were called upon to tell what they knew about birds. It goes without saying that they were not as familiar with the feathered tribe as their wives. Some of them, however, could tell a chicken from a duck, had heard of a crow, and had seen a "lark."

W. L. Gaston, who had been invited to deliver a community talk and other advertising matter for the Poland China and Duroc Jersey pig sale at his farm March 7, was sweeping over the country obliterating city limits and bringing the business man and the farmer together. He emphasized the fact that "No man liveth to himself" that we were dependent each upon the other and without the country there could be no town and without the town there could be but small communities dependent on the country upon the farm. If everybody lived on farms and were tillers of the soil there would be a surfeit of things to eat and everything crude and unrefined. The country is the backbone of any community and but to distribute the products of soil and labor, and capital was only an equipment—a tool to fashion results.

We are all dependent upon soil and soil. With your products of the soil you come to the city for the products of toil and for your bread and meat we give you clothes and furniture and luxuries. It has been estimated by experts that it costs as much to sell thirty dollars worth of goods in the country village or the big city, when you spend a dollar in your home town you leave thirty cents at home in your home town and that thirty cents goes to the farmer who grows the merchant, his clerk, his bookkeeper, the insurance agent, the banker, the lawyer, the school teacher, the officer of the law, the preacher and the street laborer. All these turn in and build homes, pave streets, erect churches and school houses and build a community that furnishes a demand for the things raised on the farm. The more preachers, teachers, lawyers, and editors you have in town next to your farm the better. You market you have for your butter, eggs, milk and vegetables, and the more valuable your farm is and the greater your social advantages from the farm. By applying the golden rule we help each other and all become prosperous. Only a very selfish man would want a fine home for himself with all manner of plenty, and everybody around him on the verge of starvation. Only a selfish man, whether farmer or merchant, wants to take advantage of others' necessities to get more than his products are worth and to buy from others their products for less than they are worth.

Let former and merchant and professional men live together and work together and for the interest of each other and best conditions will be realized. Community houses where men have been built in the past are joining with his fellow of the town in a new social life that unifies, divides distinction and class.

He made a plea for better understanding, and a more general recognition of the fact that all interests are common.

At the close of Rev. Gaston's remarks, Rev. Buell was called upon and responded very happily.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Buell, Mr. and Mrs. Will Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Liverhouse, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilleslee, Mr. and Mrs. David Gilleslee, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roe, Mr. and Mrs.

WANTS BETTER SERVICE

Bloomfield Journal's suggestion of the Commercial club circulated a petition to the Railway Commission Tuesday asking that body to compel the C. St. P. & O. Ry. company to put on a passenger train service on this branch. Similar petitions were circulated in other towns between this town and Wayne and all were signed to all to all they were presented.

The amount of new passenger branch justifies a service that will give the people at this time by the railroad company and the Journal knows what it is speaking about when it insists that service be asked for be granted.

HINNERICHS-REUTER.

Mr. Herbert Hinnerichs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinnerichs, was united in marriage to Miss Lena Reuter, Thursday, February 17, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. at the German Lutheran church, northeast of Wayne. Rev. E. Gebrike, the pastor, performing the ceremony in the presence of a circle of relatives and friends. Miss Martha Hinnerichs acted as bridesmaid, and Herbert Reuter as best man. Gilbert Eckentkamp carried the ring in a rose. The bride was gowned in cream crepe and had a long, flowing, white shadow-lace. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a dress of white messaline. Prof. Theodore Smith played the wedding music.

Following the ceremony and congratulations, the bridal party repaired to the Henry Hinnerichs home where invited guests gathered for a reception in honor of the occasion. At 6 o'clock a sumptuous wedding feast was served. The table was decorated in white and pink, carnations and fern leaves being used. A social-time followed the repast.

Their many friends extend heartiest good wishes. Mrs. H. Eckentkamp and Ernest Gresselman of Arlington were among the guests at the wedding.

HOLDEN, THE CORN MAN IS COMING TO WAYNE

It will be very interesting to this entire community to learn that Prof. P. G. Holden, the corn man of Iowa, coming to visit Wayne on one of his Nebraska tours and will stop off for an afternoon and evening here in Wayne on Tuesday, March 7, and if a place large enough to hold the crowd can be procured it will be a very valuable arrangement for this entire county.

It goes without saying that no man in the United States is a better authority on corn and crop rotation than Professor Holden. He is in the realm of corn what Burbank is to the horticultural world. He is the wizard of the corn stalk. For years he was at the head of the corn tests and experiments of the Iowa Agriculture college at Ames and during his connection with that college he called to all parts of the state to talk corn and to demonstrate varieties and seed selection. These talks were so interesting, and the Iowa farmers created such a demand for them, that he soon made a lecture tour attracted and for several years made the chautauqua circuit. With charts, diagrams, and all kinds of corn exhibits he taught the farmers how to select seed, what variety to plant and more important than all, how to secure a good stand. For the last few years he has been demonstrating all of his time to public demonstrations and corn lectures.

It is claimed that Prof. Holden added two million bushels to the annual corn yield of Iowa alone to say nothing of what he has done for other states since his work has become general. There is a very glowing demand for him in Iowa and other great corn states and the people of Nebraska are to be congratulated that he has been secured for an itinerary in this state.
Corn is king. It is the great crop of Nebraska and if farmers learn how to germinate and mature a ninety per cent stand they have added several million bushels to the corn yield of the state. If corn yield can be increased, people want it increased here in Wayne county.

Wayne county farmers are as progressive and are alert for the latest and most improved methods as any to be found anywhere. The coming of Prof. Holden will be of inestimable value to Wayne county farmers. It will be of benefit to every man who hears him. It will help to get a better stand of corn and a better stand of corn in the field makes better standing at the bank.
Full details of the meeting will be published next week.

MRS. MONA NEIHARDT OFFERS HER TALENT

A communication was recently received from the sculptress, Mrs. Mona Neihardt of Bancroft, in which she suggests a proposition which should be of great interest to every public-spirited citizen. She offers to execute a bust of the late Prof. J. M. Pile if the alumni or student body would agree to have it cast into bronze. A great many people have expressed the opinion that there should be some sign of recognition and appreciation of the life of the man who so completely gave himself to the building up of the normal and to the general progress of Wayne. Here then is the opportunity. Mrs. Neihardt is a true artist and the value of the bust in terms of cash would be at least $1,000. It would be especially appropriate to have the work done by Mrs. Neihardt, the wife of John G. Neihardt, who was reared in Wayne and as a young man studied at the normal.

Ahern's Store News

The New Spring Goods Are Here

The goods we bought while in Chicago the past two weeks are now in stock, ready for your selection. We expect a splendid business this spring and summer, and have prepared for it with the largest and finest stocks of summer goods we have ever shown. We are anxious to show you these new goods and invite you to come as early as possible while our stocks are at their best.

Coats

Suits

Wash Goods

All the materials for making of summer dresses and waists purchased in Chicago during the past two weeks are now in stock. You will find a good selection of the goods and trimmings used in making the best liked dresses and waists at the Chicago Style Show, and we will help you plan the newest ways of making them up. Georgette Crepes, Pussy Willow Taffetas, Silk Marquisesettes, Flowered Silk Chiffons and Fancy Silks are much favored for the nicer dresses; gold and Silver Laces and Bands, gold decorated allover Laces and Chiffons, and fine net Lace Bouncings being the popular trimmings. For afternoon washable dresses there are scores of dainty materials in flowered, striped and plaid designs at all prices from 10c to 60c per yard.

We have laid all the goods out on counters, where you can examine them at your leisure, and we want you to come now while the assortment is in at its best. About Gingham. You have been reading a good deal about poor colors in these goods, and there will be a lot of trouble with many of these goods that are now being made, because it is impossible to get some certain fast color dyes, which are made only in Germany, but our stock of gingham were bought six months ago, made up during the winter, and are absolutely fast colors, the same as we have always sold. Prices are no higher than last year, as long as our present stock lasts; so you can buy gingham here and feel secure about the colors and values you are getting.

Dozens and dozens of them are here for you now. This will be a great suit season and we have prepared for it. The styles are very sensible and becoming to almost everyone. Just now we have an exceptional number of suits because the suits we use in giving our special sales in other towns are coming in. Now is the time to make your choice, while there are so many to select from. If you are particularly hard on it, we have suits made to measure by a firm of Chicago ladies' tailors who guarantee an absolutely perfect fit. They have been making suits for you for years, and no matter what your figure, we know they will fit you. We have their samples here to show you.

For many very good reasons it is advisable to order your suit early this spring. Nice materials are very scarce on account of the dye situation, many mills being closed down entirely. You will avoid disappointment by getting your suit now.

New Curtain Materials

A great deal of attention is now being paid to the draping of the home windows. Lace curtains are very little used, their place being taken almost entirely by nets and side drapes. Nets and drapes of certain materials are correct for living rooms and dining rooms, while an entirely different sort of nets and drapes are required for the bedrooms. There are many different and effective ways of hanging these curtains, too. We have made quite a study of the new window draping and have brought a nice selection of the newest nets and drapes to match almost any color scheme you may wish carried out. Come in and let us help you plan pretty and effective curtains for any of your rooms.

Shoes

The new styles in "Queen Quality" shoes for ladies and "Kreider's" shoes for the girls are now on display. We have the correct styles for you in footwear that will give satisfaction both in comfort and wear. Prices are very reasonable, $3.50 to $4.

churches of Wayne will be able to get together in a union tabernacle meeting in the near future. Such a meeting should prove to be of value.

The C. E. society extends an urgent invitation to all to visit at any of the 6:30 Sunday evening meetings. We are always pleased to have any of the friends of Christian Endeavor drop into the meetings and take some part in them. We believe in our organization and are striving to stand by our motto: "For Christ and the Church." All the young people of the church are eligible to membership.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.
(First Baptist Church.)

The popular congregations that are attending the regular Sunday evening services at the Baptist church have already heard and expect pertinent and unique subjects to be programed. So far they have not been disappointed and next Sunday evening will be no exception to the rule. Rev. Gaston has announced that next Sunday evening he will speak on the very suggestive topic "The high cost of living." This puts the old growl about the high cost of living in a new light and gives the preacher a splendid opportunity to say "that it costs too much to be ornery and that one can't afford to do mean things— they cost too much. This will be a Sunday evening lecture that every young person should hear and the people of Wayne, generally, who are not regular church attendants some place else should turn out and hear what Mr. Gaston has to say about the price of being mean and the cost of not living up to the standard. There will be special music by a large choir and their chorus work will be interspersed with solo and duet work by some of our best local talent.

If you are not a church goer make up your mind to attend next Sunday and hear a vigorous sermon in which pithy things are said in a manner to impress them upon the hearers so that they are hard to forget. If you attend you will be instructed and entertained.

PLAN TO ENTERTAIN THE ROAD OVERSEERS

The three commissioners of Wayne county have resolved to make greater improvement in road building the coming year than ever before, and looking to that end propose to get together at an early date all the sixty-five road overseers of the county for a get-together, discussing the subject and agreeing as nearly as possible the best methods to pursue. It is hoped thereby to secure more uniformity and permanency in road building. It is proposed to hold the get-together meeting in Wayne with a banquet and program of speeches. The purpose to secure better roads without larger expenditures of money will be applauded all over the county. ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY.

Fremont, Neb. Feb. 21—E. R. Gurney, the well known Fremont banker, has announced his candidacy for election as delegate-at-large to the republican national convention at Chicago. In making the announcement, Mr. Gurney sent out the following letter:

"In making this announcement, I beg to submit the following in order that I may not benefit by or suffer through any misunderstanding. I am an old-fashioned republican without hypophores or prefixes. I am a stand-patter. I believe in protection and in preparedness, the latter because I love peace. I do not admire the present administration, its foreign policies are weak and its handling of the situation in Mexico and the Philippines has been varying in degree from contemptible to damnable.

"It will be the duty of the Chicago convention to nominate a winning ticket, and if I am elected a delegate I will use my best endeavors to vote wisely in decision. While I am not always have been regular in my republicanism, I am not afraid to look new problems in the face, and I shall vote to get our party progressive in the future as it has been in the past more than sixty years in the past. It will be my inclination to throw out olive branches to any reasonable degree at the Chicago convention, that our brethren of progressive leanings may be with us again, a united family in the face of a common political enemy. The nation needs the republican party now. I believe more critically than at any time in the past forty years."

TEKAMAH MAN LOST.

Tekamah, Neb., Feb. 22—W. A. Foyers, aged 60, manager of the Farmers Elevator company of this city, went out for a walk before breakfast yesterday morning and has not returned. He has been in poor health for several months, suffering from a complication of diseases and his sudden disappearance is causing much anxiety.

Searching parties have hunted all over Butte county and the authorities have telephoned Omaha and nearby towns in an effort to find him but without success. He is described as of slender build, with gray hair, wearing a dark suit and brown overcoat, without a collar or tie. The sheriff of Butte county asks that any information concerning the missing man be furnished him. Moyer has been in the habit of taking long walks before breakfast and it was nearly an hour before search for him began.

BRIDGES ENDANGERED.

Louisville, Neb., Feb. 22—Ice in the Platte river broke yesterday afternoon, a united family in the face made by railroad men to protect the river bridges here. Some of the ice is nearly three feet thick and gorges have formed in several places, the largest being a mile and a half up the stream from here. The lowlands are under water and the Rock Island trains were unable to move. Burlington trains manage to creep along the river, but ice and debris are thrown upon the right-of-way continually. The wagon bridge is in greatest danger, several ice breakers having been broken and one bend having gone. The Missouri Pacific bridge is holding, but if the big gorge above breaks it is believed both west wagon bridges will go out.

The fact that the government regulates railroad rates tends reason to the request that it also regulate salaries of railroad employees.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet-Philosopher

TRUTH IS MIGHTY.

The truth is mighty and must prevail, and if you are out for the fame or late, just paste that note inside your hat, and let the people know where you're at. Yes, one may profit by his deceit, by handing him to the folks he'll meet, by dishing lies when the lying's good, by selling nutcases or hams of wood. But when he's rich he will surely find his coin won't buy him a peaceful mind, or gain respect from the men who honestly chase the hopeful yen. The truth is ever the one best bet, and the tainted coin that the rascals get, the sharper kind and the tricksters' gold, will bring them tomorrow as they grow old. I'd hate to size up my pile of wealth, and know I got it by lies and stealth, by cheating Thomas and bilking Jake, by advertising some rotten fake. Oh, better far is the hard-earned dime, than the gain stained by a scoundrel's crime, than the tainted man with his tainted kale. The truth is mighty and must prevail.

ODE TO COALMAN

Oh, coalman, bring your coat, and know it, with all its wealth of growing greens, when every long-battered house-pier sends sunbeams to the magazines. The summer will be with it shortly, to fill a want that's never been felt, a desire that's never been stout and portly will wonder why they do not melt. And then the fall, both chill and balmy, and when the nights grow cold and clammy we'll put-up stores and plug the pipes. Then winter, arrogant and burly, will shake us with his frosty fins, and we'll do our shopping early, before the Christmas rush begins. But for the days, during the seasons, they hurry past, to come no more; and there are fifty thousand reasons why we should make each moment score.

METHUSELAH.

Methuselah, that grand old gent, saw centuries pass by; the generations came and went, and he refused to die. So doubt in among the faddists tanks the faddists drew their breath; and he was told by his board cranks just how to sidestep death. I seem to see them at his side, and hear them give advice. "Eat, and digest," says the faddist; "that has been kept on ice. Sleep out of doors, in rain or gale, or you'll be on the blink; hold all the air that you inhale, and fry the things you drink. Eat less than half of what you eat, and save it for your bread; if you are fond of beef or fish, eat liverwurst instead." The faddists spring their spials and died; Methuselah shed tears, but lived nine hundred years. His voice across the distance calls a cheering word to me: "I ate ice cream and codfish balls, and was from sickness free. I filled myself with scrambled eggs, and steaks from slaughtered stags, and drank on active legs for near a thousand years."

BAD COOKING.

What is it roughens true love's course, and makes men cuss till they are hoarse, and leads to quarrels and divorces? Bad cooking. What fills the eyes with tears, and aggers the matrimonial team, and makes the married life a scream? Bad cooking. What is it comes when women prance to such party and to dance, and leave some one else to do the work of cooking. What follows when the girls grow smart, and say they're wedded to their Art, and learn some 'bsen-junk by heart? Bad cooking. What happens when they play the piano, and some one else has to instead of frying German carp? Bad cooking. What is it fills unlimely graves, out where the bonavard blitzez waves, with victims of the kitchen knife? Bad cooking. What is it drives the boys from home, in glaring, noisy dens to roam, and from cold stews to blow the foam? Bad cooking. Why are the people taking pills, and medicine in flower pills, and always saying doctor's bills? Bad cooking.

MY NEIGHBOR.

I love my neighbor as myself, and wish him peace and pie and pelf. Yet human nature's strong in me, and when I look across and see my neighbor reading clothes and hair, and sore-throat-a-poisoned bear, because he's had a most horrid and grievous joint right in the glim, I do not feel one-half as bad as if that lunk myself I had. In fact—it's painful to relate—I rather like to contemplate my neighbor when he's in despair, and biting chunks out of the air. But when he toddles to my place, I pull a sympathetic face, and tell him how my bosom bleeds, give him the solace that he needs, and send him home with a full smile. You see my heart is full of guile. It's just a common, garden heart, responding more to private smart, than to the painful stings and pricks which may afflict the other fellow. My trifling, and my glib me more than halfurchin'd the heart, and four which may adorn my neighbor's neck, and make his life a greswome wreck. It is a sad thing to confess; and yet we're most alike, I guess.

WASHINGTON.

Like some lone mountain in the night, lifting grim and snow-capped, severely white, into the silence of the upper air, serene, remote, and always changeless there, the Firm as that mountain in the day of dread, when Freedom wept, and pointed her dead, grim as that mountain to the ruthless foe, waiving the land that wearied of its woe; strong as that mountain, 'neath his load of care, when brave men faltered on a sick despair, so does his fame, like that lone mountain, rise, cleaving the mists and reaching to the skies; bright as the beams that on its summit glow, firm as its rocks and stainless as its snow!

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From Wayne Herald, March 14, 1895: Born, to Rev. A. F. Ernst and Mrs. M. N. Conover and two little daughters went to Mashallowan, Monday, in response to a telegram announcing the death of Mrs. Conover's father.

Ho cholera which has been raging here has abated, due to the want of material to work on. Most of the farmers have either lost or sold nearly all their supply.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church gave an afternoon tea at the residence of Willis Howard yesterday and a supper in the evening for the members.

Quite a number of Russia thistles are already to commence growing here this spring, and unless the farmers are very careful they will see such a start that it will be impossible to get rid of them. An "early" prevention," you know.

Dr. Leisinger returned from Omaha Thursday evening last.

When the doctor went away he informed us that he was going to attend a wedding, and we hoped would prove to be his own, but it was his sister's.

We expect to chronicle the arrival of the Doctor with a Mrs. Doctor before long, however.

From Wayne Herald-Tribune, March 5, 1895: A new paper, to be called The Wayne Journal, will be launched on the troubled waters in a week or two.

Wells on Main street at the Second and Third street crossings for fire protection are being discussed and will probably be put in.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Justice Hughes has made it quite clear that he is not a candidate for president, that he does not think it proper for a justice of the Supreme Court to enter into, or be brought into, the swirl of national politics. That he is sincere in this attitude no one questions. That he prefers the exalted office now holds to the presidency is quite likely. But he has never said, has never said that he would refuse the nomination if given to him, nor is it probable that he will say it. For one reason he would be reluctant to refuse that had not been formally offered to him. But the greater reason, we think, lies in his high ideal of public duty. He feels, he must feel, that if he call for him should become chief justice, he would not accept it. No man of his character could refuse the demand of his party that he serve it in the highest office in the gift of the people. However regretful he might be, however unwilling to fore-machinery and labor in sinking a shaft, and have actually commenced getting the coal out, then the bounty is to be paid. When the company have done all that they are probably get along very well without the bounty. If the shaft are to have the money at all should be now, in order to assist in sinking the shaft. It appears we had a very magnanimous legislature.

From Ponca Journal, March 10, 1891: It is reported that the legislature of this state made an appropriation of $4,000 to pay to the Ponca Coal company for discovering a four and half foot vein of coal here, which is very well so far. But the legislature annexed a proviso that the bounty should be paid only when the vein was opened and worked. After the company had expended $25,000 in machinery and labor in sinking a shaft, and have actually commenced getting the coal out, then the bounty is to be paid. When the company have done all that they are probably get along very well without the bounty. If the shaft are to have the money at all should be now, in order to assist in sinking the shaft. It appears we had a very magnanimous legislature.

From St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Feb. 23, 1895: According to the last accounts there were five feet of water from the Cheyenne river on the Missouri river ice at Pierre. How the ice can hold with so much water on it is a mystery. At Yankton there was an eighteen inch rise yesterday morning. The river there was unsafe for the passage of teams, and several broke through, but were saved without much trouble.

"At this city the river under the ice had raised but an inch during the twenty-four hours ending yesterday morning. There was a foot of water in the wagon-track on the ice yesterday, and parties down from the river there about a mile from the river open for some distance above its mouth on Sunday.

"The wind during the thaw of the past three days has been from the north, northwest or northeast. If there should be a change from the south the old Muddy may break loose almost any time.

"There is the deepest snow in all the country drained by the Missouri river, this city, that has ever been shown in the State. In places four feet would be a low average depth for the snow. On the Cheyenne and Fort Sully the snow is reported four feet deep. There is no definite report from the country about Bismark, but from the regular way in what the Northern Pacific trains have been running it is inferred that the snow up that way is not so deep. Farther west, in Montana, the snow is reported all the way from two to four feet deep on the level, but the rise from this mountain snow will not reach this part of the river until long after the spring rise has passed.

"The rise that is to be feared is the one that will come with the breaking up of the ice should the snow in this section go off with too sudden a thaw, or with a rain. The chances are that the snow will continue to waste away as it has been doing, for it is too early in the season for a rapid thaw, but the thickness of the ice and the depth of the snow makes a disastrous break-up possible if not probable."

JUSTICE HUGHES.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Justice Hughes has made it quite clear that he is not a candidate for president, that he does not think it proper for a justice of the Supreme Court to enter into, or be brought into, the swirl of national politics. That he is sincere in this attitude no one questions. That he prefers the exalted office now holds to the presidency is quite likely. But he has never said, has never said that he would refuse the nomination if given to him, nor is it probable that he will say it. For one reason he would be reluctant to refuse that had not been formally offered to him. But the greater reason, we think, lies in his high ideal of public duty. He feels, he must feel, that if he call for him should become chief justice, he would not accept it. No man of his character could refuse the demand of his party that he serve it in the highest office in the gift of the people. However regretful he might be, however unwilling to fore-machinery and labor in sinking a shaft, and have actually commenced getting the coal out, then the bounty is to be paid. When the company have done all that they are probably get along very well without the bounty. If the shaft are to have the money at all should be now, in order to assist in sinking the shaft. It appears we had a very magnanimous legislature.

Justice Hughes may not, and would not want, the presidency, but he is not the sort of man who would make his nomination impossible by such a positive declaration as that of Gen. Sherman: "I will not accept if nominated, and I do not wish to serve. There were reasons for Sherman's curt refusal that do not exist in this case and the circumstances are not at all parallel. Justice Hughes, notwithstanding his judicial office, is a statesman by education, training and instinct; Sherman was a soldier. Mr. Hughes is, no doubt, the strongest man in the republican party today. It is a prevailing opinion that he would be the nominee if he would announce a candidacy to serve his name to go before the convention. There is no probability that he will do that, but it is conceivable that he may be nominated despite his objections.

The sympathetic character of the French makes the life of the ambulance man much more pleasant for the limblest man than would otherwise be the case; he is shown every possible kindness...

The Basis of Rates

The last few years have been perilous ones for public utilities. The cost of equipment and of labor have been constantly increasing, while there have been few increases in rates.

We do not believe that any public utility can furnish, nor the public obtain, permanent and efficient service without a fair profit.

The public is our only source of revenue and any increased taxes, material or labor costs must always be met by the telephone users either directly or indirectly.

We have always endeavored to adjust our telephone rates to make it possible for everyone to be connected who would add to the value of the service, thus giving the greatest good to the greatest number.

We believe that the public is best served by our charging rates that will afford us enough money to maintain and operate our system properly, furnish a sufficient surplus fund with which to rebuild or restore parts of the plant when worn out, and earn a fair rate of interest for the men and women who have their savings invested in our property.
