WYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1916.

PEOPLE TURN OUT TO HEAR PROF. HOLDEN SOURCE OF INFORMATION

Many Valuable Facts Presented by the Distinguished Corn Expert from Iowa.

There were a hundred interested farmers in Wayne to attend the 'corn meet' and to hear the lectures of Prof. P. G. Holden on Tuesday. The weather opposed the meeting and because the day was blustery and raw a great many farmers were unable to be present.

Interested in the Seed Test. Because of the uncertainty of the condition of the seed this year an interest was manifested in the testing of the seed. Last week from different parts of the county samples of corn had been sent in and the agricultural class at the State Normal, under the direction of Prof. E. L. Lackey, subjected them to the test of the normal and have a when the farmers arrived Tuesday at the college they found the laboratory room the scene of an exceedingly interesting exhibition.

At the time for the lecture programed for the afternoon the farmers occupied the front portion of the auditorium, while the student body of the normal and the high school and townspeople filled the rest of the room.

A Bright Introduction.

Prof. C. H. Bright, who was indelible in the promotion of the lecture, came to the platform and said there are sections of our country that specialize in corn and under the name of the section becomes a synonym for their product.

Prof. Holden who is known everywhere as the greatest authority on corn came forward and as one proceeded to capture his audience. He told of some of his experiences in the field and how many times he had to ring the bells in the dormitory of the child's school.

Corn Commitments. When he came to the corn part of his address he took on new vigor and the alert attention of all present attested that he made the topic interesting. He promulgated the following corn commitments:

- 1. That shall test every ear of corn planted.
2. That shall not import seed corn.
3. That shall improve thy seed corn.
4. That shall test thy corn planted.

FOR CONGRESS.

Party leaders over the district are trying to persuade A. R. Davis of Wayne to file as a republican candidate for congress. Mr. Davis' eminent fitness for such candidacy has been recognized for several years. He has ample ability and clear understanding of public questions.

duce as much or as good corn as the corn grown in the locality. As for improving seed he said pick out the best one hundred ears you can find and plant that by itself. He said for the next year. As to his fourth commandment planters were to be sure in marking ridges and big kernels and to be sure the soil is not run through regularly and evenly.

Charts and Diagrams.

He was well equipped with charts and diagrams to illustrate every point he made. Testing charts were shown illustrating the germinating corn in every phase of its growth and development and with racks of seed before him he told every body how to handle the corn when testing—how to prevent making mistakes and how to tell strong germ roots from weak ones. The result of planting weak seed was shown in a diagram of weak, pure stalks on which there was a very small percent of ears. He showed why corn should not be planted in rows after year on the same ground. The corn beetle feeds on nothing but corn roots and it never lays its eggs any place but in corn fields. Hence the fact that the second year you get a damaged crop and the third year a very much decreased or damaged crop.

Get Acquainted With Neighbors.

He advocated farm organization. 'Get acquainted with your neighbors,' he said, 'you may like them.' He said that the farmer should employ a farm demonstrator, that some states now employ as high as eighty of these demonstrators and some countries had five of them. He said that the farmer should have more farms and samples of seed from different localities were planted on this farm and thus the best and poorest seed in the county was discovered and good seed was secured. He said that the farmer requires only a very small percentage to the quality of your yield. He said that you will have one million bushels of corn to divide up among the farmers.

The Evening Lecture.

The evening lecture was well attended, but many of the farmers were unable to stay for the evening meeting. The subject was practical education and was a strong plea for more technical schools. He said that when taught with proper methods girls to live and do their part in the world. 'Teach in the terms of the child's life' was his favorite expression and from that sprang the idea of teaching with practical things. He said that the farmer should use tools, testing of seed, dairying making, habits of birds, insects, health, stock raising, and many other useful things that they must know to be successful. It was with all a great lecture.

ELIZABETH MINNES TAKES FIRST PLACE

The local declamatory contest which was held last evening at the high school auditorium resulted in the victory of Miss Elizabeth Minnes, a senior, of the Wayne district. Her wayne was peculiarly adapted to the reading of her selection, 'The Fleecing of a Football Game.' The selection was from the story 'American Girl' at her first for ball game. She could neither still nor refrain from displaying her ignorance. Miss Minnes created the scene so vividly that her identity was almost lost. It was her sincerity, more than anything else, that won her above the other contestants.

Ralph Ingham gave an almost faultless rendition of the biography of Toussaint L. Ouverture, the chief of San Domingo, who united a freed degraded and despised people. Mr. Ingham stirred the audience to feel deeply for the martyred negro. He was awarded second place. Mabel Hansen presented 'The Little Mother' as a typical story of modern society. The little Christy Riddle carried the listeners back to Grecian days by the reading entitled, 'The Last Word,' a piece which forcefully depicts the power of the tongue. The character of the 'Greatest Gift,' the pitiful story of 'Little Mother,' a paralytic, who was almost miraculously restored to health by the prayers of her little boy Eddie, was given by Virginia Bowler. The characterization of the Mother was especially good. The humorous sketch of 'Uncle Moe's Counting Eggs' by Sidney Macklin was thoroughly enjoyed. The old darkey's absent-minded loquaciousness, sadly interfered with accurate counting. Both before and after the reading the high school orchestra furnished music. The double quartet sang 'O Lord Most Merciful and Forget-Me-Not.' The selections were well rendered and showed both the talent of the singers and the ability of the musical director, Miss Graves.

BOYS' CONFERENCE A GREAT SUCCESS

The Y. M. C. A. leaders of Nebraska and Iowa may well feel 'puffed up' now, over the Sioux City conference for older boys, March 3, 4, and 5, not only because of the splendid response of the highschools but also because of the earnestness of the 450 delegates, shown by their attendance at every session. A spirit of good fellowship dominated the conference.

More than half of the delegates were from Iowa, while South Dakota sent fifty-four men. Nebraska ranked 150 representatives. A list of those who were from Wayne. There was one delegate from Minnesota, representing the government Indian school at Pipestone.

The principal address on Friday was given by Pres. H. H. Warren of the University of South Dakota, who spoke on 'The Conference Key-note.'

Saturday was the big day. The meetings began at 9 and lasted until 10 at night. Rev. C. E. Chapter, A. A. Kennedy and E. Simonds spoke at the morning sessions, after which military bands led the delegates in a grand parade through the city, winding up at the high school campus. In the afternoon, W. M. Parsons delivered his lecture, 'Two Factors in Character Building,' in which he urged the boys to open a bank account. J. R. Lines gave a pointed talk on 'How Big is Your Woodpile?'

Saturday evening brought the climax of the whole affair. The boys gathered at the Martin hotel for a banquet, given by the Commercial club. F. A. A. Jacobs was the master called on Mr. Corbett, president of the club, for the opening speech. He was followed by Rev. Titus Lowe of Omaha.

Sunday morning, the delegates were dismissed at the various churches, and in some cases, assisted in the services. Both in the afternoon and evening, F. O. Koehler of Minnesota, gave excellent addresses, and Harry Goodrich of Iowa closed the conference on Sunday evening.

The boys went back to their home towns fired with enthusiasm, filled with the desire to boost for clean athletics and clean speech, and to have no more of that does not count for clean living.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway points with pardonable pride to the splendid record made by them during the year 1915 in sending 5,067,387 passengers without a single severe injury. This is a remarkable demonstration of what can be accomplished by the hearty cooperation of all employes in conjunction with that active and persistent campaign safety first which organization is maintained by this company. During the same period there were twenty-three trespassers killed on the system, who demonstrate very clearly that the "Omaha" safe road to ride on but very unsafe to walk upon.

often attended commercial club meetings which farmers attended as guests, but up there in the Pierce community the farmers are as active as town men in commercial club work, regarding the town as something of their very own, even though the state laws forbid them to have any voice in the making of town laws. On state university it plays a good part in promoting community interest, and now I have a suggestion to offer to the university people. If they will send their men to a commercial club meeting in the town of Pierce they will be inoculated with the virus of accomplished community interest, and thus be able to carry it to every nook and corner of the state. I do not know to whom the credit belongs for accomplishing in Pierce something which has not been accomplished in any other locality in Nebraska, but I do know the thing has been accomplished. Better still would it be for the cause of community interest if every commercial club in Nebraska would send delegates to the regular meetings of the Pierce Commercial club, there to behold the full fruition of many dreams regarding a better understanding between town people and farmers. My word for it, the delegates will return to their home towns as singing evangelists in a cause which many have heretofore regarded as hopeless.

WAYNE MAN'S LECTURE.

Mr. Gaston made the trip through the valley with a party of tourists a number of years ago, and he described the incidents which accompanied the trip. Many of these humorous and kept the crowd laughing. The word picture of the canyon was beautiful.

Moran went to Sioux City, Friday, and accompanied home for an over Sunday visit her son, Thomas, who is a student in Trinity college at Burlington, Iowa.

Fred Erlechen is hauling material for the new house which he expects to build to replace the one recently destroyed by fire on his farm south of Wayne. Mrs. E. W. Green, accompanied by her daughter, Esther arrived from Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday night to visit with her sisters, Mary Gilbert and with other relatives. They returned to Creighton Saturday morning.

It is reported that Rev. A. S. Buell, pastor of the local Methodist church, is recovering satisfactorily from the effects of a severe attack of appendicitis in a Beatrice hospital, and will be able to return home within a couple of weeks. Mrs. Ed Samuelson came Saturday from Omaha where she spent six weeks in a hospital and underwent an operation. She spent a few days here, a guest of her sister, Mrs. Burrell-Wright, and left Tuesday for her home at Henning, Minn., accompanied by her father, F. P. Pige.

C. F. Sandahl who lives five miles east and one-half mile south of Wayne, was here on business Tuesday. Last week he bought at a public sale at Oakland a fine imported black Percheron stallion. He has advertised in the Herald in a few weeks telling about the animal and another one which he owns. Representative citizens living on the Bloomfield and Crofton branches met with railroad officials at Hartington Wednesday to consider demands for better passenger service on the two lines. There has been a great deal of agitation in behalf of improved service for passenger traffic, and the meeting was well attended over and over and what can be done.

H. C. Henney received Tuesday morning a telegram announcing the death of his brother, Louis Henney, at his home in Dubuque, Ia., and he left for that place Tuesday afternoon. Henney is considered deceased suffered a fractured skull in a fall Sunday, and the result proved fatal. He was 59 years old. He had visited his brother in Wayne, and was known by many here. Wayne friends will extend sympathy.

EFFORT IN BEHALF OF COMMUNITY WELFARE

TALKS AT UNION MEETING Rev. W. L. Gaston and Prof. C. H. Bright Favor Movement in Interest of Boys and Girls.

A union meeting dealing with community welfare was held at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, and a large audience gathered in response to the invitation. Aside from the usual education and instruction caused by fuses burning out and temporary darkness, the meeting passed off as planned. It was an enjoyable occasion, and encouraged the hope for an organized movement in the way of healthful diversion and development for the young in Wayne and surrounding territory.

Rev. S. N. Cross presided and explained the purpose of the meeting. He said it was designed to arouse interest in plans for the summer of young people. He said the purpose aimed at an organization, ultimately resulting in a community house where the young of Wayne and outlying territory would be free to go and, under good environment, secure recreation.

Following songs under the leadership of F. E. Gamble and prayer by H. E. Hickman, Mrs. Ed Laughlin recited a poem by John T. Wharton. She had only started the lights went out, but she completed the recitation without interruption. People in the audience with coughs or disposed to sneeze could not keep their eyes open under the atmosphere of darkness to permit the poem to be sufficiently heard, and so lights restored. Mrs. Laughlin was asked to repeat the poem, which she did. F. E. Gamble and Mrs. A. R. Dwyer delighted the audience with a short.

Rev. W. L. Gaston was the first speaker and after giving the occasion with a few apt puns and humorous references, said he was pleased to see the community welfare movement in progress. He told of a man who had a dog and a boy. He looked carefully after the welfare of the dog, and knew how to find it every night. He paid less attention to the boy and did not know where he spent his nights. He said girls were not so often neglected as boys. Too often anything was good enough for a boy. He spoke of graduating the furniture from the dining room to the living room, then into the kitchen; then wood shed, and finally into the boys' room. He thought homes should be made more attractive for boys. He pointed out the city Y, M. C. A. building as an outlet for a given number of boys. He favored getting together movement on the part of town and country in an organization, which would finally result in a community house. He would bury non-attendance and non-attendance and non-attendance.

Dr. J. H. Bright, pastor of the Presbyterian church, said: "We are willing and ready to do our part in any reasonable, constructive community work that may be proposed. Do not forget the meeting of the united evangelistic committee of eighteen at this church next Sunday afternoon. All who are interested are invited to be present and take part in the discussions, whether members of the committee or not. The subject for the Sunday morning sermon will be: 'The Ministering Master.' The chorister's plan is to have two pieces of extra music at each morning service whenever possible. There will be a violin solo by Joe Ringland next Sunday morning. The Sunday school enrollment is growing steadily, if slowly. In some of the classes, on Sunday morning, there will be reports from the boys' conference at Sioux City. It is hoped that we can organize another Boy Scout patrol at once. There is opportunity in the Sunday school for all who will serve. Let the boys and girls come to the 'Junior' at 3 o'clock. A boy or girl can get more out of the Junior endeavor work than from any other organization of the church except the Sunday school. Find out what your boy or girl does at the Junior meeting and help all you can. We have the best of superintendents and assistants, and the parents can help to make this a great work. The Christian Endeavor society meets each Sunday evening at 6:30. The topic at that meeting will be: 'The Causes of Failure in Life.' The leader will be Miss Elizabeth Hines. Read Proverbs 10-13:2. Maybe we will have a report from the Sioux City conference. Visitors are always welcome at these 6:30 meetings. The evening service next Sunday will be along the line of the young people's work. The subject of the sermon will be: 'Unto Me.' There will be special music at this service.

Everybody is invited.

All Lutheran young people are urged to attend. The Ladies' Aid society will meet Thursday, March 16, at the home of Miss Adrie Stambaugh. M. E. Church. Miss A. J. Holland, a returned foreign missionary, will speak in the Methodist church, next Sunday morning. It is hoped that a large congregation will be present to hear Miss Holland who will have many things of great interest to present from the foreign field. If you are interested in missionary work do not fail to be present.

THE ARMED SHIP CONTROL VERSY. (Baptist Church, Publicity Committee.) The all absorbing topic of interest this week has been the congressional fight and line-up on the proposition to warn Americans not to take passage on armed vessels flying the flag of any of the belligerent countries. According to Mr. Gaston announced that the congregational sabbath next Sunday night at the brick church on the corner, Mr. Gaston will discuss the principle in the proposition and apply it so that every one can see the plain proposition. Those who have not had the time for extensive reading and hardly know which side of the question to take should hear this discussion. Mr. Gaston says that after the political part of it has been presented there is enough in the application for a mighty good sermon. The morning service will be in the same helpful vein as for past weeks and every member of the church and congregation is requested to be present. Report of the evangelistic committee will be made to the church. There will be a good program of music at both services.

TABERNACLE PLAN IS PUT OFF UNTIL FALL. An amount approximating $2,000 was guaranteed by local people the last of the week for building a tabernacle and conducting a series of evangelistic meetings at this place. Accordingly a committee of eight representatives from three churches met Sunday afternoon to consider the proposed undertaking, and it was finally decided by a vote of thirteen to five to defer the campaign until next fall. The Baptists on the committee, five voted for postponement, and those from the Presbyterian church voted in the same way. The six Methodists stood three to three. The majority opinion is that if tabernacle meetings were desirable for Wayne, it would be better to take time to strengthen plans and secure talent of largest possible caliber. It has also been suggested that the tabernacle be built permanently and converted later to use as a community house.

Remember the date, March 11, 1916, at 2 o'clock P. M., Baptist church, Wayne. Nebraska, Dry Federation, by Charles Beckenhauer, District Chairman.

CONSIDERING THE SOURCE. Lincoln Journal: Colonel House, presidential oracle and messenger, arrives from Europe with a warning remark on his lips. "We should remember," said he, "that the people of the belligerent nations are living with their nerves on edge and we should make allowances accordingly." This appeal ranks for sanity of utterance, with that of another recently returned American, Ambassador Morganthau beseeches us to quarantine against war fever. Col. House asks us to remember that Europe is sick and not in its right mind. This we trust is one of the conclusions from his tour of the belligerent countries which Col. House will press in the course of his report to the White House. It is even more important that the country at large see the point. We have seen men stand smiling and with happy unshuffled while another man heaped insults upon them. The offender was drunk. Few of us account it a disgrace to refuse to fight a drunken or insane person. In fact, it is not accounted disgraceful in a man to refuse to take offense when a person unbalanced by wrath insults him. Wait till you are calmer, says the strong wise-man, and then we will discuss the matter. It seems as if a nation considering the frightful consequences involved should be able to be as calm and self controlled as such an individual, and as ready to make allowance for the disturbed state of other people's minds. Colonel House evidently thinks this, and he is regarded as one of the level-headed in these United States.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. The get-together spirit suffers a puncture every time it is "cranked" up. The inspiration which gets out a heavy vote is a desire to vote against somebody.

Don't bewilder yourself by thinking what you have to do tomorrow. Do what you have to do today.

We have been notified of the greatly increased cost of dyes and other things used in the manufacture of paper, and accordingly increased prices of paper which we buy. But we would judge from the appearance of the paper that the costly things heretofore used have been largely eliminated and saved.

The World-Herald devotes editorial space to emphasizing the waste of provisions in hotels and restaurants and many private homes. It says a trained cook could serve a delightful meal from material that goes into the garbage cans of many families. Unnecessary waste from American tables would, if avoided, add materially to permanent wealth. American tastes and habits are shockingly extravagant.

We cannot see that it would be an act of cowardice or sign of weakness nor impair the honor and glory of the United States to warn American citizens to keep off the merchant ships of the belligerent powers. Why stick to technical rights of ocean travel and thereby imperil precious American lives and possibly invite war? If the United States must be forced into the European tragedy, let it be on other grounds than that growing out of daring and unnecessary risk.

Governor Morehead is not averse to having his name go on the Nebraska primary ballot as a candidate for the democratic nomination for vice president according to his expression regarding a petition said to be circulated for that purpose. He is in the hands of his friends, as usual. If they want him for vice president, he is willing to serve even if he has to upset some of his other plans in order to do it. It is such patriotic personal sacrifice for public duty that makes less considerate mortals feel ashamed of themselves.

The permanent dismissal of Dr. W. D. Guttery as superintendent of the Nebraska hospital for the insane at Norfolk was no surprise in view of the charges and subsequent hearing. The board would not reasonably have retained him at the head of the institution. The Norfolk Daily News which preferred the charges, and which is sustained by the board and doubtless by popular judgment, will be justly regarded as having performed a meritorious service in behalf of the state's unfortunate wards. The Norfolk Weekly Press which made a hysterical but futile attempt to defend the superintendent in the face of the evidence, will, in view of its usually vaunted hallelujah for good government and efficient public service, be regarded with more or less contempt.

No public improvement was ever made without opposition. Installing waterworks; electric lights or sewerage system was the triumph of the spirit of progress over a succession of objections and obstacles. Every forward move is fraught with hindrance. But those who oppose are usually the most ardent supporters of an improvement after it has been made. So it will be with paving. A few paved blocks will cause demand for an extension of paved territory. Delay in paving puts off the time when Wayne will take its rightful place among cities of its size and class, and withhold satisfaction, deserved by present inhabitants, for a future generation. Wayne must pave to properly force ahead, and the sooner it does it, the sooner will it realize expectations in the way of growth.

Young people should not encourage themselves to believe the effort for wholesome recreation and amusement for them means that they will be required to give less attention to productive work. Honest toil is indispensable to success and proper character development. Healthful diversion is not intended to take the place of labor. It is calculated to supply the demand during rest periods. Many young people get the mistaken and ruinous notion that they must not work. Nothing is more damaging than idleness. It destroys talent, enfeebles character, creates a burdensome burden on society, and banishes the early hopes of fond parents. The young should not harbor the idea for a moment that any movement for community welfare is expected to diminish the importance or need of active employment in productive endeavor. Every boy and girl must work if he or she expects to make life worth while.

AS TO A TABERNACLE.

Brother E. B. Young who is zealous in behalf of building a tabernacle, importing an evangelist and having a series of meetings, took affront at an editorial in last week's Herald advising ascertainment of popular demand before proceeding with the undertaking, and he projected himself into the inner circle of this sanctum sanctorum long enough to give the editor a "calling down," as he explained at Sunday's committee meeting. He said we were posing as the "religious censor" of the community, whereas we ought to let such affairs alone. Recovering from inflation due to the unexpected distinction, and reflecting on the task which had been thrust upon us, we told him we were willing, feeling happily reconciled to share the honor and responsibility with him. Thus if there were one censor before, there are two now. Brother Young should know that it is within the province of a newspaper to discuss religion as well as politics, society, business and other timely topics, and it should be the duty of the editor to exercise his influence in the direction deemed most effective for the public welfare. The public must be the judge.

Brother Young gets excited because he is in earnest. He means well. He sees Wayne courting swiftly towards the abyss of irretrievable damnation, and believes a tabernacle, animated by an imported evangelist, would head it off. Delay is perilous. Delay may mean for many otherwise rescued, endless smouldering, torture and woe in the sulphurous crematory of eternity. So believing, who would not get excited? Firmly convinced that Wayne is bad and that a tabernacle would prove an effectual remedy, who would not want one built and turned to use as soon as possible? Brother Young is both sincere and consistent, but, also, he may be mistaken, and therefore unjustifiably anxious and ebullient.

While we like the steam which Brother Young puts into a proposition, we believe his view is narrow and his fears unwarranted. If possible, he should develop a broader conception of life and eternity. Lack of church profession is not tantamount to coalition with evil. The fact that an advertisement of the value of a tabernacle, operated by an average evangelist, as compared to other sources of spiritual growth, does not imply that he frowns on forces for good or is inimical to righteous living. Unless an evangelist is of sufficient caliber to lead his fellows into a clearer understanding and appreciation of the spiritual life, emphasizing advantages accruing here and accentuated hereafter, we cannot see that the movement would be justified by results. If there are such evangelists, they are the ones from whom an intelligent community like Wayne should draw. The average evangelist brandishes the flaming emblem of fear, and assaults intelligence with a literal and impossible hell which smacks of materialism and breeds incredulity. This shocks thinking people, and we believe goes harm.

We would all seek to enhance society's spiritual welfare and honorable and exalt the cherished ego which survives the ills and imperfections of the flesh. We should lead people to think right and do right, purifying and brightening the soul for intensified usefulness and enjoyment here and in eternity. We differ as to methods because we differ as to viewpoints. What would convince Brother Young might not convince us. Having spoken, we will be pleased to publish the viewpoint of the other "censor."

POR UNITY AND PROGRESS.

Editor Herald: We have been asked to write a word in regard to the "community welfare" proposition, now being discussed in commercial club circles, press and pulpit, classroom and the home. In the first place, it seems to us that the first prime essential for us in this community is to get closer together before we launch an actual program of constructive social welfare work. We should have a well organized community club including all business men, farmers, and professional men who are interested in community progress. This club should meet once a month for supper and discussion of community matters. The more frequent meetings of an executive committee is not sufficient, however efficient that committee may be.

Another essential, as it seems to us, is a still closer getting together on the part of the churches. The union mid-week meeting should be made a permanent feature of our church work. At these meetings, the coming of the Kingdom of Righteousness in Wayne should be the main theme for discussion and prayer. There is no good reason why we should not also have a union brotherhood. The Christian manhood of the community united in an integral body would be a mighty factor in any forward movement.

It seems to us that we do not need any more building room, provided what we have in Wayne is available for real community work. We have the churches with two good basements, the public library with an excellent room downstairs seldom used, the school and college gymnasiums, our city hall built with community money. None of these mentioned are rendering one cent of the community service that might be secured from them. We do need a Community House worker to devote his whole time to this sort of work. Accompanying man right out of college can be secured for next year if he is sought in time. He can be supported and an office maintained for him for $1,000. It is worth a trial. Why not try it now? Procrastination is the thief of time and opportunity.—S. C. Cross.

PATRIOTISM.

A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men who cultivate them; not by its great forests, but by the men who use them; not by its mines, but by the men who work in them; not by its railways, but by the men who build and run them. America was a great land when Columbus discovered it. Americans have made of it a great nation.

In 1776 our fathers had a vision of a new nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." With that aim they might win for their nation the freedom of the seas. Half a century later they fought through an unparalleled Civil War that they might establish for all time on this continent the inalienable right of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. A third of a century later they fought to emancipate an oppressed neighbor, and, victory won, gave back Cuba to the Cubans, sent an army of school-masters to educate for liberty the Filipinos, asked no war indemnity from their vanquished enemy, but paid him liberally for his property. Meanwhile they offered land freely to any farmer who would live upon and cultivate it, opened to foreign immigrants on equal terms the door of industrial opportunity—shared with them political equality, and provided by universal taxation universal education.

The cynic who can see in this history only a theme for his egotistical satire is no true American, whatever his parentage, whatever his birthplace. He who looks with pride upon this history which his fathers have written by their heroic deeds, who accepts with gratitude the inheritance which they have bequeathed to him, and who highly resolves to preserve this inheritance unimpaired and to pass it on to his descendants, enlarged and enriched, is a true American, be his birthplace or his parentage what it may.—Lyman Abbott.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Grand Island, Neb., March 6.—Eller Vedder, aged 32 a farmer on near Cairo, was found dead in his orchard late this afternoon. Half of his skull had been blown away by the discharge of his shotgun. Mr. Vedder had gone out hunting rabbits late in the afternoon. He was heard to shoot and some of the boys about the house declaring that the father had got a rabbit, went out to see and found the father dead. Death had been instantaneous. He has been in ill health for years.

Court adjourned last Friday until March 15.

We should all seek to enhance society's spiritual welfare and endeavor to exalt the cherished goal which survives the ills and imperfections of the flesh. We should lead people to think right and do right, purifying and brightening the soul for intensified usefulness and enjoyment here and in eternity. We differ as to methods, because we differ as to viewpoints. What would convince Brother Young might not convince us. Having spoken, we will be pleased to publish the viewpoint of the other "censor."

FOR UNITY AND PROGRESS.
Editor Herald:
We have been asked to write a word in regard to the "community welfare" proposition, now being discussed in commercial club circles, press and pulpit, classroom and the home.
In the first place, it seems to us that the first prime essential for us in this community is to get closer together before we launch on a program of constructive social welfare work. We should have a well organized community club including all business men, farmers, and professional men who are interested in community progress. This club should meet once a month for a supper and discussion of community matters. The more frequent meeting of an executive committee is not sufficient, however efficient that committee may be.

Another essential, as it seems to us, is a still closer getting together on the part of the churches. The able union mid-week meeting should be made a permanent feature of our church work at these meetings, the coming of the Kingdom of Righteousness in Wayne should be the main theme for discussion and prayer. There is no good reason why we should not also have a brotherhood of the community united in an integral body would be a mighty factor in any forward movement.

It seems to us that we do not need any more building room; provided what we have in Wayne is available for real community work. We have the churches with two good basements, the public library with an excellent room downstairs seldom used, the school and college gymnasiums, our city hall built with community money. None of these rooms mentioned are rendering one-tenth of the community service that might be secured from them. We do need a Community House worker to devote his whole time to this sort of work. A competent young man right out of college can be secured for next year if he is sought in time. He can be supported and an office maintained for him for $1000. It is worth a trial. Why not try it now? Procrastination is the thief of time and opportunity—S. X. Cross.

PATRIOTISM.
A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men who cultivate them; not by its great forests, but by the men who use them; not by its mines, but by the men who work in them; not by its rail-ways, but by the men who build and run them. America was a great land when Columbus discovered it; Americans have made of it a great nation.
In 1776 our fathers had a vision of a new nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." Without an army they fought the greatest of existing world empires that they might realize this vision. A third of a century later, without a navy they fought the greatest navy in the world that they might win for their nation the freedom of the seas. Half a century later they fought through an unparalleled Civil War that they might establish for all time on this continent the inalienable right of life, liberty, and the unalienable pursuit of happiness. A third of a century later they fought to emancipate an oppressed neighbor, and victory won gave back Cuba to the Cubans, sent an army of schoolmasters to educate for liberty the Filipinos, asked no war indemnity from their vanquished enemy, but paid him liberally for his property. Meanwhile they offered land freely to any farmer who would live upon and cultivate it, opened to foreign immigrants on equal terms the door of industrial opportunity, shared with them political equality, and provided by universal taxation universal education.

The cynic who can see in this history only a theme for his egotistical satire is no true American; whatever his parentage, whatever his birthplace. He who looks with scorn upon this history which his fathers have written by their heroic deeds, who accepts with gratitude the inheritance which they have bequeathed to him, and who highly resolves to preserve this inheritance unimpaired and to pass it on to his descendants enlarged and enriched, is a true American, be his birthplace or his parentage what it may—Lyman Abbott.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.
Grand Island, Neb., March 6.—Eller Veeder, aged 52 a farmer on near Cairo, was found dead in his orchard late this afternoon. Half of his skull had been blown away by the discharge of his shotgun. Mr. Veeder had gone out hunting rabbits late in the afternoon. He was heard to shoot and some of the boys about the house declaring that the father had got a rabbit, went out to see and found the father dead. Death had been instantaneous. He has been in ill health for years.

Court adjourned last Friday until March 15.

GUTTERY'S REMOVAL IS MADE PERMANENT

Lincoln Journal, March 5: By order of the state board of control Dr. W. D. Guttery is no longer superintendent of the state hospital for the insane at Norfolk. Judge Robert K. McKeivey, ex-officio, and Silas A. Holcomb and Henry Gede, comprising the members of the board, arrived at a decision yesterday in the matter of charges preferred against Doctor Guttery. The majority of witnesses to impeach the personal morality of Doctor Guttery and nothing to connect him with a few instances of unjustifiable harsh and abusive methods in the handling of patients, which were urged by certain attendants and nurses contrary to the rules of the institution. The board finds that in certain respects Doctor Guttery was inefficient and incompetent and that the best interests of the hospital and the state require that his suspension heretofore ordered be made permanent.

The board's reasons for finding him inefficient are that while his moral character is not impeached he subjected himself to criticism by women employees with whom he manifested a lack of delicacy in the choice of his language in illustrating his lecture, that he retained inefficient, incompetent and unreliable employees who bore a bad reputation after he knew by exercise of ordinary diligence could have known of their unfitness for such service, that he gave substantial grounds for the charge of partiality to employees, that he spoke disparagingly to subordinate employees concerning members of the hospital medical staff, that he at times ignored heads of departments and his course tended to promote discord, impair discipline and render less efficient the management of the institution.

The state board has chosen no successor for Doctor Guttery. Doctor Carson, first assistant superintendent, who is now acting superintendent, is still in charge.

The findings of the board, prepared by Chairman Kennedy, are as follows:

"On January 3, 1916, the Norfolk Daily News filed with this board a complaint against the administration of Dr. W. D. Guttery as superintendent of the hospital of the insane of Nebraska at Norfolk, charging inefficiency and misconduct. Doctor Guttery thereupon requested a full and proper hearing before the board upon the charges preferred against him. Such hearing was received from duty. On February 2, 1916, the taking of testimony was commenced and more than fifty witnesses have been examined concerning the matters in issue. Without neglecting such hearing was given it is sufficient to say that the board has carefully considered and weighed the evidence and has unanimously reached the following conclusions:

"1. We find that attendants, nurses and all employees have been uniformly instructed to be kind and humane in their treatment of patients and have been positively forbidden to practice cruelty or abuse toward them, that patients generally have been kindly cared for and humanely treated, but that in a few instances unjustifiably harsh and abusive methods have been used by certain attendants and nurses contrary to the rules of the institution and that these instances occurred without the knowledge or acquiescence of the superintendent and against his positive directions.

"2. We find that the superintendent was not negligent, but might have been more efficient in the treatment and management of small pox and diphtheria in the hospital.

"3. We find that the use of profane or obscene language was not habitual about the institution and was strictly forbidden.

Personal Morality.

"4. We find that there is nothing in the record which impeaches the personal morality of the superintendent or imputes any evil intention to him, but that he subjected himself to criticism by women employees, that he manifested a lack of delicacy in the choice of his language in illustrating his lecture, that he retained inefficient, incompetent and unreliable employees who bore a bad reputation after he knew men employees; and that in illustrating his lectures and on other occasions in referring to matters of sex which should be treated in an impersonal and purely scientific way he manifested a lack of that delicacy and tact which is the choice of his language, which was required out of proper consideration for the character of his audience.

"5. We find that however good his motives for so doing the superintendent is not to be held responsible for the state employees who were inefficient, incompetent and unreliable, and employees who bore a bad reputation, after he knew or by the exercise of ordinary diligence could have known of their unfitness for such service.

"6. We find that the superintendent by reason of his actions toward certain employees of said institution gave substantial grounds for the charge of partiality.

"7. We find that the superintendent has spoken disparagingly to subordinate employees concerning members of the medical staff.

"8. We find that the superintendent at times has ignored department heads in dealing with subordinate employees and that by reason thereof and of matters above set forth, his course has tended to promote discord, impair discipline and render less efficient the management of the institution.

"We are constrained therefore to find that Dr. W. D. Guttery is inefficient and incompetent and that the best interests of the hospital and of the state require that the suspension heretofore ordered be made permanent accordingly it will be so ordered."

Three Removals by the Board.

In two former informal complaints against Doctor Guttery the state board dismissed the charges and exonerated him. One complaint related to the death of a patient in the hospital and the other to the fall resulting in the death of a patient who had hidden from attendants and jumped from a third story window.

The board of control has removed two of Governor Morehead's appointees. Doctor Guttery was placed in charge of the Norfolk asylum by Governor Morehead, but later the governor ordered him to remove him for incompetency. Doctor Baxter, appointed superintendent of the Hastings hospital for the insane was removed by the board and the board removed. Doctor Van Der Meer, who had appointed superintendent of the state tubercular hospital at Kearney. The board promoted one of the governor's appointees, Doctor Fast, superintendent of the institute for the deaf and dumb at the hospital of the Hastings hospital. All heads of state institutions were appointed by Governor Morehead; but later the board of control came into existence and the power to appoint heads and to remove them is now vested in the board. What intimations of a constitutional amendment, instead of in the governor. The board upon assuming control of institutions announced that all of the appointees of Governor Morehead would be retained as long as they proved satisfactory.

COSTLY FIRE AT BLAIR.

Blair, Neb., March 4.—The fire which destroyed the old electric light building and the Hans J. Nielsen lumber yards, on Thursday morning, was the costliest blaze in the history of the city. Nielsen's loss is about $25,000, with an insurance of only about $5,000. "The light building and contents were valued at about $15,000 and still belonged to the Nebraska Gas and Electric company, with no insurance, the policy having been cancelled since last December, when the company sustained a loss of $500 by fire of the building. The Crowell Lumber & Grain company had contracted for the building, to be accepted when the machinery was out. Spontaneous combustion in a coal pile caused the fire, and it is reported to have been burning for several days before the fire.

The new municipal light plant, costing over $35,000, with all street and building service, fully wired up, was ready for the current to be turned on, except the exciter, which had failed to arrive. One was obtained from Omaha and light was furnished the same evening.

Owing to some one's blundering the street hydrants in the immediate vicinity of the fire were not in proper order, three of which were frozen up. Parties who first reached the fire, claim that the lumber yards the fire could have been saved with little loss if the water could have been obtained at once.

HOPING FOR THE BEST.

Harrington Herald: "Hope springs eternal in the human heart," and hence we find ourselves at the close of another long, hard winter, hoping and confidently expecting that the new season upon which we are about to enter is going to be as ideal as with just enough rain and just enough sunshine to bring forth a bumper crop. Admitting that the past few seasons have not been all that successful, and that we have them by, we still face the future with hope and the prediction, born of our optimistic natures, that the future is going to be big with achievement. This appears to be the disposition of us disheartened and, though often cast down and often discouraged, we do not, unless hopelessly pessimistic, remain so for any length of time, and are up and at it again as soon as we are able to get on our feet. And, as undiminished optimism and invincible courage have been the salvation of the human race many times in the past, especially so to the pioneers of all ages and all countries. When a person, he is doomed to defeat, and had it not been for the wonderful hopefulness and the invincible optimism of the pioneer, he would have long since failed in his attempt to create a new era of discovery and the present day far-flung civilization would have been impossible. This was true of the pioneers in the early days of this country, it was true of the sturdy men and women who pioneered in our immediate community, and it is true to a greater or less extent of every man and every woman who looks out upon life with courage and hope, and meets it with its splendid courage. We are not cast down by past failure or past defeat, but "hope springs eternal" that the future is going to reclaim the past, and that the burden of the future is lighter, that the brighter and the crops bigger than they have ever been before."

TOO MUCH RAIN.

Lincoln Journal: It is reliably reported from southern California that when they need rain in the vicinity of San Diego they engage a rainmaker and for a certain sum produce it. He claims to have made nineteen trials without a single failure. "This year the water in the San Diego city reservoir was getting low and he offered to fill it for $10,000. The city entered into a contract with him and he went into the mountains to start his machine. At about the same time a committee of one hundred women started a systematic campaign of daily prayers for floods to break the drought not far from the city. The prayers were answered and the rainmaker was also successful. Working together they overrode the matter so seriously that more than 100 people were drowned and thousands of acres of farms were washed into the ocean. Every bridge in San Diego county was washed out two exceptions was washed out. The city refuses to pay the rainmaker and things generally are in a serious way. Col. E. M. Woods of Lincoln, who sends these facts and vouchers for their accuracy, adds that he has not seen a railroad train for nearly four weeks, and would gladly give a couple of dollars to see even a freight.

WILSON'S WONDEROUS WISDOM.

Fremont Tribune: In an address before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States President Wilson said: "I am not interested in any doctrine of protection and I am not interested in any doctrine of free trade. I have been a college professor and I know why because there's nothing in either doctrine."

"Nothing in either? What fools we all have been! How absolutely silly for Alexander Hamilton, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Horace Greeley, James G. Blaine, and William McKinley to advocate protection. How foolish for Calhoun and Cleveland and Parker and Bryan and Champ Clark to advocate free trade. There is nothing in either of them. What ninny Gladstone and Bismarck were to consider this question of fundamental importance. How incompetent our own captains of industry—our conservative business men—who advocate protection when any college professor can tell them "there is nothing in it!"

MORE GASOLINE.

Nebraska Farmer: If a cheap and simple process has been discovered by which kerosene can be converted into gasoline, as the newspapers report, we may cease to worry for a while at least, about the gasoline supply. According to the story published by Dr. W. E. Ritterman of the bureau of mines at Washington has found that by heating kerosene the molecules of the hydro-carbons it contains are broken down into smaller ones, and refined thereby yielding gasoline. Kerosene as kerosene and gasoline each consists of compounds of hydrogen and carbon, the difference being in the number of atoms of hydrogen and carbon in the molecules of the compound. The process seems very plausible. The importance of such a discovery is shown by the fact that in refining crude oil a gallon of kerosene is produced to each gallon of gasoline. In recent years gasoline consumption has been far in excess of kerosene consumption, which has raised the problem of what to do with the kerosene left over. The best part of this story is that the patent on the process has been taken out in the name of the government. There can be no monopoly of the process, therefore, although monopoly in the oil business itself may keep the public from enjoying the fullest measure of benefit from the discovery.

FORMER WAYNE MAN OVERCOME BY THE GAS

H. L. Taylor referred to in the following from Saturday's Sioux City Journal, died in his way and is known by many here:

H. L. Taylor, 1422 Rock street, a cement contractor, last night shortly after 9 o'clock was found in his residence unconscious from asphyxiation. The police were notified and Taylor was taken to the St. Vincent's hospital, where he was given oxygen through a pulmotor. The police surgeon declared that Taylor will recover.

O. L. Taylor, a brother of the gas victim, had an engagement with his brother downtown at 8 o'clock, and when the brother did not arrive he decided to go out to the Rock street house. When he arrived no lights were to be seen from the windows and the doors were locked. The groans were heard from the inside, and Taylor attempted to gain an entrance. The doors being locked, with his fists he broke a window pane and entered. Gas poured through the opening, and Taylor saw his brother sitting in a chair with his body resting on a table.

Immediately the doors and windows were opened and Taylor was placed on a couch. Neighbors were aroused and the police were notified. Patrolman Joseph Young, who lives near by, started a resuscitation process.

Taylor was taken to the hospital in the department automobile.

Taylor has a wife and three children. O. L. Taylor stated last night that his brother's wife yesterday started proceedings for a divorce.

HOLD-UP AT EMERSON

Emerson Enterprise: Last Thursday evening about 8 o'clock while A. A. Davis, of the Davis & Fuller company, was on his way home, and just as he approached the alley near his home and west of the Mrs. Agnes Jensen home, a highwayman stuck a gun in his face and demanded money. Mr. Davis thought it was a joke and brushed by the man with the remark that he could not frighten him—when the highwayman informed him that he meant business. Mr. Davis had considered the money on him and decided to make a fight for it and made a lunge at the man. In avoiding Mr. Davis the highwayman stepped into a hole and staggered into the street. Mr. Davis took advantage of the situation and beat it for home, while the robber beat it down the alley.

The nightwatch was informed of the attempted holdup and scoured the railroad yards. He rounded up a bunch of hoolies, several of whom were tough-looking customers, but none answered the description. The man was of slight build, wore a mackinaw with the collar turned up and had on a cap with the bill pulled down. Mr. Davis thinks it was the work of an amateur, and someone who knew at what time he usually went home. He has not been in the habit of carrying a gun, but assures the writer that he will carry one from now on, and considers the next party that approaches him and demands money will get a hole shot through him.

CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING

Wesner Chronicle: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Albers were surprised by a number of relatives and a few friends last Sunday who gathered at their home to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The afternoon and evening were whittled away in merry converse, and a sumptuous supper was served. The guests brought beautiful and useful gifts of silver to keep Mr. and Mrs. Albers in remembrance of the good will of the donors and the pleasure of the occasion. Rev. Raschke expressed the esteem and best wishes of the guests in an eloquent and fitting address, congratulating their host and hostess upon the completion of twenty-five years of married life and wishing for them many recurring anniversaries of the day.

Mr. John E. Albers and Miss Katherine Bruner were married by Rev. Hediger on the farm where they now reside, it being the home of their parents of the groom of February 27, 1891. They have spent all of the quarter of a century of their wedded life in this vicinity. Children have come to bless their union and gather about the hearthstone of their happy home, and their industry and thrift have been rewarded by a goodly store of the world's riches. And they are surrounded by a circle of true friends who rejoice in their happiness.

Following were present: Messrs. Henry Siemers, H. A. Heyne, J. C. Von Seggern, E. G. Von Seggern, George Scheweers, J. D. Schoeder, Henry Meyer, Rev. Paul Raschke, Misses Laura Michael and Lillian Nielson, Herbert Albers.

AN ECONOMICAL AND COMFORTABLE NOTION

New York March 8.—If all predictions prove true the coming summer should be a most economical one for the family with daughters. Fashion says: "Sport clothes from lawn till dusk and after dark, in simple or elaborate evening frocks are the fashion demands." By being dressed in practical and money-saving, this regime should be comforting and comfortable to a degree; just stop for a moment and consider how many puzzled moments will be saved, and how many times one will be spared that eternal question, "what shall I wear today?"

A Midday Suit of Linen.

A good supply of smart linen blouses, a sport skirt or two, with chic sport coat, and one's wardrobe robes are solved during daylight hours; after, it is a simple matter to select a dainty dance or dinner dress, smart fabric, and in favor and done in its perfect peace.

One must wonder at the sudden enthusiasm for out-of-door sports being shown by the American girl this season; we have been gradually coming to this, but this year it looks as if we were one and all to take up sport for all that it is worth, or at least to look as if we adored tennis, golf, boating, swimming and numberless other excuses for getting out-of-doors.

Some Charming Effects.
 We have been gradually accustoming ourselves to the vivid reds, yellows, greens, and the various startling plaids and stripes which blend so effectively and harmoniously with the blue skies and green grass of the summer fields, the mountains, and the shore, where some of us are fortunate enough to dream the summer through, and others are privileged to spend a playtime week or two.

Among the smartest of the new sports are many of silk jersey, or as it is perhaps more generally known, Italian silk. These suits are often made with coat of a plain color, emerald green, for instance, worn with a smart, short skirt of black and white stripes. White or cream serge too, is a favorite, combined with coat of scarlet, emerald, or bright blue. The coat is usually cuffed, collared and belted with the material of the skirt. Sometimes one sees a coat of stripes with skirt of plain material. The silk-jersey coats and sport coats of other materials will be worn with all types of frock this summer. For spite of the popularity of the plain blouse and skirt, there are any number of attractive tub-frocks being shown just now, and I am quite sure that they will be worn quite as much as in seasons past, more perhaps, as they are more fascinating than for many a year. This is another practical and economical notion.

Charming Sport Blouses.
 Simplicity of cut, combined with the daintiest possible of linen, voile, organdy, or tub silk, is the recipe for the most popular of the summer blouses, to wear with tailored-suit, sport coat, or separate skirt. One of the prettiest I have seen this season was fashioned of a pale pink figured batiste having deep cuffs and sailor collar of white. It was made with open throat and was closed down the front with a white silk cord slipped under a tab on either side of the blouse. The colored lawn and organdy blouse is growing in favor, in fact the colored waist seems to be taking preference over the plain white waist to a marked degree. There is something particularly pleasing about a soft tinted blouse of crepe de chine, Georgette, or one of the new-wash fabrics, combined with a tailored suit that makes its appeal to all. Strictly tailored linen waists of white for morning or sports wear are unusually smart and much in vogue, but for the tailored suit and more dressy wear, the tinted blouse is the favorite. There are any number of attractive, middie blouses for all sorts of summer daytime wear. Oftentimes these are made of the same material and color as the skirt, thereby forming a complete costume, and again they are of a contrasting color and material to wear with various skirts.

Attractive Hats.
 In compliance with Fashion's decree, that sport clothing be supremely favored, the hat shops are purchasing forth many attractive, severe little hats which may be appropriately worn with either tailored or sport suit. Many of these are hand-made fabric hats with just a bit of a ribbon, a bow or ornament, by way of trimming. Some chic models of cretone and others of ratine in soft colorings, are essentially sport hats, but the plain hems, Milans and hand-sewn hats of brim may be worn with either tailored suit or sport costume. Angora braids in one of the most effective of the new braids, in white or a soft color, combined with hemp or Milan. The shiny braids are much in vogue for early tailored wear, in black or colors, trimmed with flowers or ribbons. Patent leather and varnished foliage is most effective for trimming these glazed hats.

At a late hour the company returned to the Grover Francis restaurant for refreshments. A Big Success. The home talent play "Among the Gold Mines" was presented last Saturday night to a packed house. The dramatic plot together with the skillful characterization held the interest of the audience till the last curtain. The following were on the cast: Roy Carter, Gerald E. Cress, Loretto Cullen, Mrs. Grover Francis, Gerald Leuck, Don Carter, Paul Sman and H. Miller. The proceeds were very satisfactory and after all expenses were paid, a neat sum was left to the credit of the association. Dry Federation Meeting. The next meeting held at the opera house last Tuesday evening in the interest of state-wide prohibition was largely attended. Mr. Baird from Omaha gave the address of the evening in which he urged everybody to line up for the prohibition amendment. That the audience was willing to act on the speaker's suggestion was shown by the fact that the majority of those present signed the petition for the amendment to the state constitution. Mr. Baird went to Grace church to conduct a meeting there Wednesday evening. Goes to Iowa. C. C. Hodgson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Monday the wind tore one of the pictures from the wall in the assembly room and sent it crashing to the floor. The frame was broken, but the glass was unharmed. The senior class flower is the daffodil. A most beautiful specimen of this flower was on display in the high school room Monday. As is the custom for each one, a birthday party was given in the primary room in honor of the birthday of little Winifred Stephens. The seniors are deep in the mysteries of advanced arithmetic. They are at present endeavoring to conquer a fist which is difficult to say the least. The twelfth grade has just finished the preparation of themes for English literature class entitled "The Need of the Cooperation of all in a Common Cause." Brightly colored group examinations will be held in Miss Sterling's room, Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10. The seventh grade will be dismissed for the two days. The Welsh team and the high school team played an interesting game last Friday. The final score was a result was a score of 7 to 0 in favor of the high school. The game was a little rough, and Alfred Thomas had the misfortune of breaking his nose but fortunately it was no one's fault. The sophomores entertained the freshmen and faculty in the gymnasium of the high school building Tuesday evening. Each guest was requested to come dressed to represent the color scheme of the state. A series of contests and games and a two-course luncheon was served in the lunch-room. Twenty-five covers were laid and the color scheme was carried out in green and white. Roll call was answered by "my favorite magazine" and each member was dressed to present a book of magazine. Some of the representatives were very skillful and appropriate, such as "The Overall Boys" and "The Young Men" and the best of all was Miss Sterling as "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." The program rendered was as follows: Music by the club; book review, Raymond Woolam; solo by Eunice Linn, a paper on "Manual Training" by Dr. D. J. Jones, and a paper on "The History of Magazines" by Wilma Garwood. After the program a very pleasant social hour was spent in guessing the books represented in various games. Burress Brothers' Sale.
