Wayne Will Have to Pave

Walter Savidge who returned last week from a trip through Kansas and Oklahoma, says he saw many paved towns that are smaller than Wayne. He concludes: "Wayne will have to pave if it expects to keep up with towns of its class."

Precinct Assessors

The precinct assessors of Wayne county are meeting with Assessor A. H. Carter at the courthouse today to fix uniformity of rates preliminary to taking up the work of assessing April 1.

city and the two were united in marriage at that place on Tuesday. After a visit at Mr. Gort's home at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the newly wedded couple will return to Wayne the last of the week and will make their home in the Conover residence. Mr. Wade has been associated with the Gardner and Edson companies of the Democrat at this place for five years, and is a young man of excellent habits. His bride is a young lady of attractive personality, fine, womanly attributes. Both will be greeted on their return to Wayne by the hearty good wishes of a host of friends.

HELMS-ALBERS

Amelia B. Helms and John Albers were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church, Thursday, March 23. Rev. R. Moehring performed the ceremony. Miss Amanda Albers, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The bride and Mrs. Helms are both from Randolph.

UNDEIDED WHETHER TO WHISTLE OR PRAY

Sunday's Omaha Bee contained the following reference to a son of Rev. William Gort, former pastor of the Wayne M. E. church: "Shall I whistle or pray?" That is a question which is even more perplexing to the mind of Clifford C. Gort, formerly of Omaha, who is finishing a course in the divinity school of Harvard university. Young Gort is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan university of 1908. He has preached considerably in churches of the east, and whistled a good deal more at entertainments at various social gatherings.

At Destiny's Crossroads

Right at this critical time, however, the Victor and Edison people have begun to recognize his whistling liability to such an extent that it is a question whether he can do so while preaching as he can whistling for the records.

Prominent Wesleyan Student

When young Gort was attending Nebraska Wesleyan university his whistling was already attracting attention. He was frequently present in his whistling contests with the Orphanism society there. He was Ivy day orator also at Wesleyan.

REMEMBERED PARENTS

Norfolk Daily News: Here's a story that reads like a novel, but it's all the better because it's true. Fred Roberts, born in Nebraska some forty years ago—the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Roberts. At an early age he left school to go to work in the old sugar factory. He was the first to offer money to the fact that he rapidly advanced and later became superintendent of the sugar factory at Scottsbluff, Neb. Then he became owner of the electric light plant at that place and the other day he sold it to Roberts immediately was able to deposit in a Denver bank $115,000 in cash as a result of this sale and when this was done he came back to Norfolk to visit his aged parents. The visit was a happy one. Success had not turned the head of Fred Roberts nor made him forget his father and mother. When he got to town the first thing he did was to offer money to his aged parents at 311 South Fifth street, and then he went to a furniture store and bought beautiful furnishings for the home. After that he went to a bank and deposited a certain amount of money to the credit of his father and mother, and then he went away.

SPRING MILLINERY

Freemont Tribune: Spring millinery is as usual, carefully and wonderfully made. Those Paris modistes have shown the effect of the new in their designs for many of the new things looks as if they had been all shot up. The battle of the Marne has put a lot of new kinks in them. They surely have not met their doom as they must have been by accident. Nobody could think up as many designs as would come out of a shooting-match. And the price begins about six inches above the head, extending upward. Nevertheless, as we have hitherto remarked, the ladies look perfectly lovely in the new shapes. Nothing can mar their charm.

IT MEANS WAR

Freemont Tribune: We might as well make up our mind to it. We are at war in Mexico and we have a long and large job on our hands. We will win, of course, but eleven million people of their own ground are against our battle.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP WEEK NEXT MONTH

The governor has designated the week beginning April 10 as clean up and paint up week, and recommends that an organized effort be made to do both. It is urged that yards, vacant lots, alleys and streets be cleaned up in every community.

MONDAY'S MEETING LARGELY ATTENDED

Rev. J. C. Clark of Chicago, accompanied by his wife, organist, singer, Mr. Green, conducted a meeting at the Methodist church Monday night. A large crowd listened to Rev. Mr. Clark's sermon, which emphasized the pressing need of raising the singing fund. Mr. Green was especially appreciated. The Clark-Green company came to Wayne from Fairfax, S. D., where they had just closed a series of meetings.

HIGH COST OF STEEL IN BRIDGE BUILDING

The board of county commissioners met again Tuesday to further consider bids for bridge building. The board adjourned March 17 until March 23 to give time to investigate the cost of steel, and it was found that such material has become so high priced that it is impractical to use it in bridge construction this year. In a later dated March 20, the state engineer says among other things: "Steel has been rising on an average of 5 cents per hundred, per week, and if you find your bids running a little high and decide to reject them, I would suggest that you find what you can do in buying material yourself before rejecting the bids, as steel is 125 per cent higher than it was a year ago."

After carefully considering the question, the board decided, in order to safeguard the interests of taxpayers, to eliminate steel-constructed bridges until present war prices are over. Accordingly the bid of the Standard Bridge company for wooden bridges, which was as low as any hitherto proposed, was accepted. The commissioners desire to be commended for their successful efforts in looking after the county's bridge building without excessive expenditures of money. It is doubtful if any county in the state gets more for its money in bridge building than Wayne county.

MARRIAGE RECORD

Mr. Edward C. Drew and Miss Lillian Ghizoni of Wayne, were united in marriage Thursday, March 23, by the county judge. A marriage license was issued out of the county court March 23 to Mr. Anton B. Helms and Miss Martha Albers, both of Randolph.

BIRTH RECORD

APRIL PROSPECTS

Freemont Tribune: Rev. H. Hicks, the good weather boy, has mixed up fine mass of clouds for April, and the worst of it is it may come true. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th he is going to have "rainfalls amounting to local freshets and floods, with probability of dangerous flooding on the 2nd and 3rd followed by sleet and killing frosts. And, as if that were not enough this is shown in: "On and about the 19th, 20th and 21st, fierce storms of wind, thunder, rain and hail, and in fact, a series of many terrific developments. If you get blown up don't say we didn't tell you so."

Tin Pail Wears 14 Years

We know the hardware business reasonably well. At least well enough to discriminate between good hardware and poor hardware; between real bargains and so-called "bargains." All over the country you see cheap tinware flouted at cheap prices, but how often did that kind of a purchase prove to be a real bargain. There is as much, yes, more difference between two grades of tin pail, for instance, as there is between a calico and a silk dress. While the silk dress costs more, it may not necessarily wear longer than the calico, but a good tin pail will answer every purpose that the cheap one will and last many, many times as long. We have in mind right now a party who owns a tin water pail that has been in constant use more than fourteen years. This pail cost $1.00 and has never been to the repair shop and looks like it is good for several years more of constant use. Now just stop and figure up, please, how many ten-cent or twenty-cent tin pails you have purchased during the past fourteen years, and we will venture to say, repair bills included, that you have spent several times $1.00 for them. Is it necessary to say that good tin pail was purchased in a hardware store. No, for no other class of merchants handle that grade of pail.

- 1-quart tin milk pails with in-set cover 10c and 15c
- 12-quart tin dairy pails 25c to $1.00
- 11-quart tin milk cans, telescopic covers 25 to 75c
- 5-gallon railroad cream cans, good quality, slip-in cover $1.00

 The Herald is in receipt of a home-seekers' special edition of the Pomona, Calif., Daily Review, sent by Col. A. J. Ferguson who is sojourning on the coast. The paper set forth in alluring fashion the attractions of the Pomona valley, and is calculated to give an easterner a spell of western fever. The basis of a man's contentment and enjoyment in southern California, however, is plenty of money, made before he gets there. A man expecting to get rich or even earn a living in the mild climate of the southwest is likely to suffer disappointment.
 Miss Josephine E. Mack, head of the department of expression at the State Normal, left for Chicago Saturday morning in answer to a subpoena requesting her to appear as a witness in a trial at that place. Miss Mack was formerly a student at Northwestern University and it seems that she together with several other of her fellow students lost a considerable amount of money through some sort of an alleged swindle. Since the suspected parties have now been arrested, an attempt will be made to effect a restitution of the loss. Miss Mack will be gone the entire week.
 Norfolk Daily News: Rev. W. L. Gaston of Wayne will be the speaker at the monthly dinner of the Men's Fraternity Monday evening, April 3. The meeting was postponed a week because of the special services in the First Congregational church. Mr. Gaston addressed the club a little more than a year ago, delivering his lecture on the Yosemite national park. He has since delivered the same lecture at the Baptist church here. He proved so popular a speaker that he was asked for a second date. The dinner will be served by the directors of the Y. W. C. A.

Tin Pail Wears 14 Years

We know the hardware business reasonably well. At least well enough to discriminate between good hardware and poor hardware; between real bargains and so-called "bargains." All over the country you see cheap tinware flouted at cheap prices, but how often did that kind of a purchase prove to be a real bargain. There is a much, yes, more difference between two grades of tin pail, for instance, as there is between a calico and a silk dress. While the silk dress costs more, it may not answer every purpose longer than the calico, but a good tin pail will necessarily wear longer than the cheap one will and last many, many times as long. We have in mind right now a party who owns a tin water pail that has been in constant use more than fourteen years. This pail cost $1.00 and has never been to the repair shop and looks like it is good for several years more of constant use. Now just stop and figure up, please, how many ten, fifteen, or twenty-five cent tin pails you have purchased during the past four years, and we will venture to say, repair bills included, that you have spent several times $1.00 on them. Is it necessary to say that good tin pails were purchased in a hardware store. No, for no other class of merchants handle that grade of pail.

- 1-quart tin milk pails with in-set cover 10c and 15c
- 12-quart tin dairy pails 25c to $1.00
- 14-quart tin milk pails with telescopic covers 25 to 75c
- 5-gallon railroad cream cans—good quality, slip-in cover $2.00
- 8-gallon railroad cream cans, good quality, slip-in cover $2.25
- 10-gallon railroad cream cans, good quality, slip-in cover $2.50

Norfolk is the logical point for the county seat of Madison county, and probably everybody thinks so. It is in its context no doubt because of prejudice—prejudice that is never able to give a good reason. Small towns often have a feeling of envy and contempt for the big flourishing center. They like to use the advantages of a large town, but would like rather bigger than help its growth.

The people who live from "hand-to-mouth" seldom come to know what joy and peace and happiness really mean. The great secret of success in life is to spend less than you earn and have the balance where it will make money for you. Living within your income and laying by something in a savings account is not only a matter of wisdom—it is the height of wisdom. Heedless men never stay the fleeting years, and when old age finally overtakes you, the value of a bank account becomes apparent. Start that account now.

would like to see Wayne county republicans show their preference for Hughes by writing in his name. While he is not an avowed candidate, we are confident he will accept the nomination if it is tendered to him by the national convention.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, speaking to a body of New York teachers, said: "You are the poorest paid and least considered individuals in the world." The first charge may be true, but we don't believe there is ground for the last one. No public service wins greater respect than teaching. The teacher is not only regarded an example of intelligence, but is accepted as a model in character and deportment. She is superior in influence, and surpasses in social attention. She is not the least considered aside from the matter of finances. She is no doubt underpaid, but she has made large headway the last dozen years in gaining more nearly her due in salary, and is still making deserved progress in that direction.

Fond parent, do you know where your child spends her evenings? If you don't know, you had better find out. Does she parade the streets looking for a fellow? Does she frequent the depot to attract attention? If you don't know, you should know. It is your duty to ascertain the habits of your girls, and see that they keep aloof from practices and associations that are deleterious and dangerous. The girl who habitually goes to the depot and postoffice and perambulates the streets night and day without other purpose than to win the attentions of men invites moral ruin. If churches or other benevolent organizations find that parents are neglectful of their girls or lack ability to correct careless conduct, they would perform humanitarian service by taking an active hand in directing their footsteps along paths of wisdom. If parents of wayward girls do not see their trend, they ought to be told and helped in the performance of duty. Letting a girl drift toward the maelstrom of ruin without restriction is not in accord with the intention of Christian civilization. And men who encourage an untold of weak and foolish girls ought to be made to suffer.

SPEAKING OF BIRDS.

Do you know that people in the western part of the state consider themselves fortunate if they see even one or two robins during the entire season? Meadow larks and gold sparrows they have in abundance, but thrashers, grosbeaks and warblers they seldom hear because there are no suitable places for these birds to nest. Neither did we have these—especially sweet songers—before twenty years ago. Only since groves and orchards have dotted the prairies with their cooling green, have these birds ventured to stop for summer quarters. And even yet they do not come in large numbers. Many school children have never even seen a rose-breasted grosbeak.

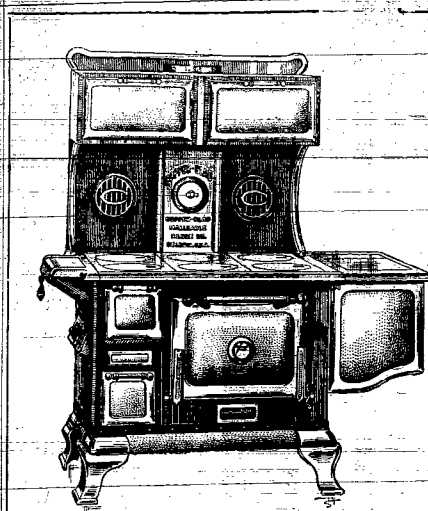

Now, why would it not be a good plan to place in the park and on the college campus several bird houses, houses that would be practical as well as ornamental? In St. Paul every sixth grader in the public schools constructs a bird house during the winter months. Later, each boy enters his house in the annual exhibit. After the display is over these artistic little houses are offered for sale. The grand prize is awarded to the boy whose house is first occupied. The result of all this is that St. Paul boasts of more wild song birds than any other city in America.

Would it not be possible for our well equipped manual training shops both in the high school and at the college to take up this work? Scores of bird houses could be turned out each spring and could then be sold or used by the boys themselves or their home towns. Perched in the forks of trees or balanced on tall poles these rustic little houses add just the right touch of charm. Besides, when the birds return they have tried one of these cozy little homes will return the next season and bring others with them. Soon instead of a few scattering grosbeaks and warblers, there will be hundreds of them and in their wake will come other desirable species.

Such a plan would afford profitable work for the boys, it would beautify the city, and it would beautify and rebble the number of birds nesting in the community. Is it not worth trying?—M. Forbes.

community to attend one of these plays—whatever the quality of the acting.

The thing that most engaged the attention of the writer in watching the matinee performance of the Merchant of Venice was the way in which one star actor can re-create a play and give an audience not Shakespeare, but himself. Shylock, the hero of the plot, into which the master playwright of the ages wrote him as the villain, Shylock the despicable usurer appearing as a Hebrew prophet, Shylock the vengeful, absolutely holding the sympathies of the audience to the very close of the drama, solemnly appealing in his grief, justified in his hate, dignified in his defeat—these are what the people at the opera house saw last Friday.

No one can possibly believe that such was the play Shakespeare wrote. True, the great bard of Avon was not always consistent in the structure of his works. The immediate necessities of the dramatic situation sometimes caused a sacrifice of the harmonious development of the plot. It is true that, in the Merchant of Venice, there are places in which any red-blooded person sympathizes with the Jew, but the effect is soon swept away by meanings that later appear in his abuse of his daughter and in his despicable love of money. In the conception of the author, Antonio, the man who risks all and is securely willing to lose his life for his friend, is undoubtedly the hero. But in the performance last Friday he shrinks to a mere play figure.

Three causes operated to produce the effect of making the villain the hero and the legitimate hero commonplace. The first is the presentation of Shylock by Mr. Dodge. It is not Shylock, but it is a good character well acted. The second cause is that much of the play was omitted, and those parts bring out the petty disgusting side of the character of the Jew. The last cause is the exceedingly weak support given the chief actor by the rest of the cast. An insignificant Antonio, a colorless Bassanio, a Portia who giggled and ranted by turns, set Shylock in such splendid relief that all the hearers almost desired that he have his pound of flesh.

This re-creating of a play by a good actor is not uncommon. Every star has a different Hamlet or Lear or Othello. Would it not have been glorious to see Shakespeare himself act his own hero. The management of the opera house is to be congratulated on bringing us something to think about. Whenever Shakespeare is played in Wayne, I shall attend the performance so long as I can borrow the price of admission.—J. T. House.

thing demanding cash! A man must study and engineer, who'd have ten cents in a passing year, who'd have a bone for the rainy day, and you and staff when he's old and gray to lay a shroud when the journey's done—there's always something demanding more!

PROFESSIONAL.

The tumult and the shouting arise from the crowd, and the fire of their shores, the kings and exulting to their eyes, are wading in a flood of more, so I talk peace, already weary, lest we regret, lest we regret. The nation's honor we'll defend, where'er there shall rise the need; but to this country he no friend who always wants to die and bleed, let's haunt no sword or bayonet, let's regret, lest we regret. The lingo force will never cease, hurrying people safe and sane, who'd rather have the boom of peace than see the landscape strewn with slain; let's gently drown him in his sweat, let's gently, lest we regret. Build up the army, if you will, and make the day great and strong; but don't profess a lust to kill, or talk of annihilating all day long; don't claim that war's the one best bet, lest we regret, lest we regret. Don't be too eager that you'll see the end, you couldn't find a gun, or a rifle, or a target for the guns of men; they never saw before; don't shoot for death and dearth and deb, lest we regret, lest we regret.

PUTTING OFF.

Procrastination is the thief of time, remarked the ancient seer; it is the nursery of grief, the origin of sigh and tear. My impulse is to wait a while, before I do the useful chore; and that is why I have no pile, when others have their sacks of ore. When comes the bitter winter dawn with blizzard-shrieking gales, my pen, and pencil, and ink, and the garden sash. "I'd rather wait till spring before I do such jobs as these; I'll sit before the fire and sing, and thaw the chilblains from my toes." And when the summer breezes blow, my aunt remarks, "Get up a spade, and from the walks remove the snow, instead of sitting in the shade." But I reply, "When winter comes I'll shovel snow, beat the lawn, and plant all kinds of flowers." I postpone. I always have some thin excuse; while others chase the shifting bone. I sit here saying, "What's the use?"

PAYING BILLS.

There's nothing more pleasant than paying your bills, than paying your bills at the time when they're due; it sends through your heart the banjo-like notes, to know that there's nothing charged up against you. You're making the wheels of your village go round, you're giving the workers the best kind of aid, when you dig from your wallet the shilling and pound, and pay your bills in the palace of trade. You're giving the best of the mechanics' pay, you're bidding the banker to sleep never more, you're hanging your wreaths on your family tree, when you pay up your bills at the history store. This man is a king, this prince and knight to his town, he holds the wheels of his own neighbor's wheel, who views the collector with a withering frown, who doesn't pay up when the paying is good.

RED PAINT.

Red paint is pretty as pickled peaches; of rich red paint let the poet sing! Red paint is good for the rustic seats, and excellent for the garden swing. We put red paint on the barn and fence, and know full well, we'll not get it down; red paint is good—bur there is no sense in using it on the sleeping town. Red paint is wholesome and safe and sure, I sing its worth on the page and stump; it's a splendid thing for fire, and wherever and fore-silk for the eastern pump. It can be used when you'd decorate the side panel of the kitchen floor, but not three coats on the wicket.

THE NATIONAL CAMPAIGN.

St. Louis City Journal: A presidential preference primary was held in North Dakota, republican state conventions in Kansas and Maine and a democratic state convention in Missouri during the last week. La Follette and Estabrook were the only candidates for house in the republican ticket in North Dakota, and La Follette was an easy victor, as he had been in North Dakota in 1912. North Dakota is entitled to ten delegates in the national convention. Wilson was unopposed on the democratic ticket. A report from Washington stated that La Follette had been summoned to Wisconsin because of a situation which developed there threatening his interests in the Wisconsin primary to be held April 4. Two regulars and two progressives were chosen at the Kansas state convention for delegates-at-large to the national convention. Harney was the watchword, and no instructions were given the delegates. The Topeka Capital took a poll of the convention, and Hughes had a majority of the 856 votes. The rank of the ballot was as follows: Hughes, 441; Root, 132; Burton, 83; Roosevelt, 77; Cummins, 32; Fairbanks, 21; Weeks, 20; Sherman, 18; La Follette, 9; Knox, 9; Borah, 8; Taft, 3; Mann, 1; McCall, 1; Brundage, 1.

In state and district conventions Maine selected unopposed delegates. The break between the Roosevelt and the McCall-Weeks factions in Massachusetts became even more pronounced. The primary is to be held April 25, and there will be two sets of delegates all down the line. Roosevelt candidates for delegates-at-large are Gardner, Bird, Washburne and Cushing, and candidates who would go to the national convention unpledged, McCall, Weeks, Lodge and Crane. The latter insist that they are not opposed to Roosevelt, especially if it becomes apparent that Roosevelt has most strength among the unopposed delegates. The national party will bring out a candidate of his own, perhaps Knox, and another that he will back Roosevelt, especially if it becomes apparent that Roosevelt has most strength among the unopposed delegates. It is probable that he will choose an unopposed delegate.

Ballots for the presidential preference primary in Iowa, April 10, as distributed to county auditors, disclosed the fact that Cummins will have no opposition on the republican ticket, as Wilson will have none on the democratic ticket. "Burrket and Webster are republican candidates and Major the only democratic candidate for vice-presidential honors. Republican candidates for, president in the Nebraska primary April 18 will be Cummins, Estabrook, Ford and Ross. Ford lives in Detroit; Ross in Lexington, Neb. The Missouri state convention endorsed the present administration and voted unanimously for the renomination of Wilson. A motion to indorse Charles Fox for president in preference to Major was voted down 221 to 107.

A subcommittee of the republican national committee, whose business it is to make arrangements for the national convention, met in Chicago to select a temporary chairman for the convention, but adjourned to lay the matter of having credentials to the purpose. The factories for the honor seemed to be Senator Hardwick of Ohio, Representative Mann of Illinois, and former Secretary of State Knox of Pennsylvania. The committee will open headquarters at the Cosmos in Chicago May 1.

Knox returned from the West Indies Friday, but refused to let the gentlemen of the press anything more exciting than that he had discovered a new bird.

"The Changing Chinese" by Ross analyzes the character of the Chinese people, and seems to prove conclusively that the cause of their peculiar racial traits and degrading poverty is largely on account of the struggle for existence, from pressure of excessive population, ancestor worship, the subjection of women, the decline of military and the ascendancy of scholars.

This is instructive, just at this time when there is so much discussion of military and pacifism in America. He points out the reasons for the dislike of a Chinaman for athletics sports and why he will not fight. He gives great praise to Christians, and gives their credit for much of the progress already made in restricting the use of opium and footbinding. He predicts that the country will become modern within the next fifty years. Railroads and telephones will be common and women will be counted as free as their western sisters. "Provisional Education in the Public Schools." This book will be interesting to those who heard Prof. Holden lecture, as he advocates the same methods of education as the author. "He takes up the need for a change in our text books, suggests new books and methods of instruction."

He says that "The vast majority of our children are for one reason or another drawing little benefit from our school system, and suggests that this is on account of our changing the social conditions and methods of so-called cultural education. This is a book for teachers, but will be found of interest by all who have the welfare of the children at heart. "Every Man a King" by Madden is an interesting discussion of the effect of the mind over the body. Right thinking contributes not only to health, but to success in life in a social and material way; overcomes fear, promotes selfconfidence, builds character, takes away the fear of death, and prolongs the period of youth to an extraordinary old age. This is a book that mothers and teachers should read, and encourage the children to read. "New Books In Library" Lavender and Old Lace, Myrtle Keane's Turn of the Tide, Kate Porter; Penelope's Postscript, Kate D. Wiggins; Way of these Women, E. P. Oppenheim; Valley Road, Mary H. Foote; Scally, Dan Hay; Niblo, Louis J. Vance; Freedman John Galworthy; The River, Edith F. H. Chelcy; Bill McCarty, Edwin Puffar; Song of the Lark, W. S. Cather; Thirty, Vincent O'Brien; Little Glad, Maurice Hewlett; Jean Cabot in British Isles, Gertrude S. Munn; The Mountains, Arthur Winfield; Of Human Bondage, Somerset Maugham; On and Off the Shore, George D'vys; Signs of the Cross, Wilson Barrett; Chel Johanna Spyr; Castle Rockrent, Max Edgworth; Secret History, C. U. and A. M. Williamson; Life of Robert Stevenson, J. Overton; River Boy's on the Plains, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's on Land and Sea, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's on the Mountains, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's on the River, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's in Camp, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's out West, Arthur Winfield; River Boy's in the Auditory, Arthur Winfield; The Trail of the Hawk, Sinclair Lewis.

Some men keep pretty close to their work without catching up with it. If you don't want to have anything on your mind, it is a pleasure to have no such conversation. Rufé Hoskins says his ancestors were so poor that all he inherited from his father was his politics. As a general rule, a woman is superior to a man in the matter of figuring out trouble that will never happen.

Encouraging the Employee

We feel sure that the best service is only to be had when fidelity and loyalty are reciprocal in employer and employee.

It is our purpose to pay employees sufficient compensation to secure their best services and so they may live in comfortable circumstances as the men and women engaged in other lines of work.

We strive to assist worthy employees to accumulate by making it easy for them to acquire a financial interest in the business. Nearly half of all the men employed by this company are stockholders in the company.

We have endeavored to keep our working quarters sanitary and comfortable, for without such conditions the best work would not be possible.

With no expense to the employes, we provide for sickness, disability, injury, old age and death in a broader spirit than any corporation or government.

To make for the highest efficiency in our personnel, we rigidly enforce the principle of advancement dependent upon integrity, ability and meritorious work alone.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES

From Wayne Herald, April 4, 1895:
E. C. Philso went to Omaha. Rollie Ley entertained a few of his friends.
Charles B. Tower has gone to Omaha to study medicine.
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rennie, April 9, 1895.
Miss Grace Neuhard went to Allen to assist in the school entertainment.
Rev. A. F. Ernst has accepted a call to the Presbyterian church at Carroll, Ia.
The Monday club library has been moved to the millinery store opposite the postoffice.
A. J. Ferguson and W. E. Howard have moved into office-rooms over the First National bank.
Marshal Miner states that so far this month eighteen tramps have slept in the "cooler" over night.
S. D. Relyea has just completed a handsome canopy for the soda fountain at R. W. Wilkins & Company.
The Monday club ladies and their husbands were entertained at an Easter party at the E. M. Smith home.

O. B. Kortright has secured the contract for erecting the new Herald building.
The town council of Randolph has passed an ordinance granting the privilege of operating an electric light plant.
The ladies' high five club celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Henry Ley and Mrs. Dan Harrington at a party at the Ley home.
The sheds and barns on the Neck-Orcutt farm eight and one-half miles south of town, were destroyed by fire. Three cowboys were burned making the total loss over $500.
From Wayne Herald-Tribune, April 6, 1895:
George Shaw is building a new residence.
John T. Bressler is building an addition to his house.
Paul and William Heyer have moved to Wayne from Lena, Ill.
J. A. Ettinger is building a residence on his farm north of Wayne. Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ettinger have moved to Wayne from Texas.

John Britton and Miss Ada Raymond, both from Wayne, were married at Sioux City.
H. E. Harris of Wakefield and Miss Susie Davies of Wayne were married April 11, 1895.
H. R. Woodruff and Emil Weber of Tekamah were in Wayne making plans to erect a mill here.
I. N. Fleckinger has rented his residence and will engage in the practice of law in Council Bluffs.
J. B. Moore of Emerson, Ia., has rented the building formerly occupied by Oxford & Merriman. He will fit up the room for a drug store.
From Ponca Journal, March 30, 1892:
A Reynolds, formerly of this place, and now residing near Emerson Junction, was in town on Monday. Mr. Reynolds has lately been building a new house, and making other improvements on his farm. He states that as soon as the reservation, which comes up to the railroad, is offered for sale, there will be a town started at Emerson Junction.

On Tuesday, a fellow from Hell's Bend, Dakota territory, came into town and created quite an excitement by his energy in business. He first tried to steal a pair of overalls from Stough & Mikesell. He was caught, and the act and kicked out. Then he tried to get a sack of flour from Mark Coats. Mark caught him and also booted him out. In his next adventure the thief was more successful. He stole a pair of overalls and sold them for twenty-five cents. This money he prudently invested in several big ox-swallowers of whiskey. He then stole an axe from Mrs. Potter, sold it for $1, and laid it out in more spiritual consolation, which he placed where it would do him the most good. But this daring speculator, who was trying to bull the whiskey market, suddenly came to grief. Sheriff James gobbled him and put him into the jail. During the following night, the prisoner like a caged lion, tried to get out. He found on the floor a carrot, which some wicked boy had flung in. With this fearful weapon he easily pried two bars off the window, and through the breach escaped. There is one thing certain, either the lock-up will have to be strengthened, or else carrots must not be left where prisoners can use them to break out with.

LINCOLN MAN SAVES HIS WIFE

Mrs. Anna A. Dahl of Lincoln Reported When Husband Gave Her Wonderful Remedy.
Death was close upon Mrs. Anna A. Dahl of 1430 1st street, Lincoln, Neb. She was desperately ill with serious derangements of the digestive tract. In fact, at times she was so ill that she knew nothing of what was going on about the sick room.
She recovered most marvelously.
The treatment, that she declared saved her was given when she was so sick she did not know until after she recovered how she had been restored.
The stomach remedy, given to her by her thoughtful husband, was Mary's Wonderful Remedy. Mrs. Dahl, in a good letter, tells of her experience:
"I feel so grateful to you I can't express my feelings on paper. I will make a great effort to see you personally soon. My treatment came while I was too weak to realize anything but the terrible pain. My husband told me to pass at least a thousand gall stones of all sizes and sizes.
"This I know—I have only taken two bottles and I feel better than for years."
Mary's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee. If not satisfactory money will be returned.

We are informed that Max Howsick has purchased a home in Wakefield and expects to move there soon.

Mrs. J. R. Nisson arrived from Bristow, Neb., Friday to visit her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Delp, whose health is very poor at present.

Born, March 27, a nine pound boy, to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dodson of Marysville, Kas. Mrs. Dodson was formerly Miss Tony Belcher, who made her home with her aunt, Mrs. Dan McManigal.

Mrs. T. A. Strait has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Glenwood, Ia. Her father accompanied her home. The Straits were former residents of Leslie, but now live in the adjoining precinct to the west.

BRENNA

Miss Olive Hill of Oakland, Ia., is a guest of Miss Ella Baird this week.

Miss Florence Baird is enjoying her vacation from the Wayne high school this week with relatives in Brenna.

James Baird and Louis Winegar returned from Omaha Friday evening where they had been with shipments of cattle.

Mrs. Ed Lindsay and Mrs. Art Auker received from their father, William Benshoof of Lindsay, Calif., boxes of oranges which were fine. The oranges were picked by Mr. Benshoof and shipped directly here.

On account of the severe wind and dust storm on last Tuesday night only a small audience greeted Mrs. Willis Gray at the regular meeting of the Dry Federation club at the Grace church on that evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of Grace church were badly disappointed in not being able to hold the foot sale in Wayne as advertised for last Saturday. The country ladies appreciate the patronage of the town people at these sales, but the storm Saturday was too severe for some to go who live so far from town.

At 8 o'clock Mrs. B. Hughes entertained at their home in the southern part of Brenna last Monday evening, the occasion being Mr. Hughes' birthday. A number of friends from Winside as well as a large crowd in the country were invited. From the very time the guests had neither Mr. Hughes nor those present will forget the event. Mrs. Hughes served an oyster supper. The crowd stayed until the "wee sma' hours" before going home. All wished Mr. Hughes many happy returns of the day.

The box social at the Henry Glassmeyer school house where Miss Marie Wright teaches was a success in every way. The program was well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all who heard it. In selling the boxes Carl Wright acted as auctioneer and the boxes brought good prices. Miss Helmer will have a box social in her school house one mile north of Grace church next Friday night and Mrs. Marie Wolfe of the Brenna Center school will have a program and box supper the following Friday.

CARROLL VICINITY

March 23. Merle Roe shipped a load of cattle and hogs to Sioux City Friday, returning Friday evening.

George Loeb and family autoed to Wayne on Saturday. The roads are becoming quite good for motor cars now.

Will Yaryan returned from Sioux City Thursday evening. He had shipped a car load of hogs on Tuesday and spent a day visiting relatives.

Mrs. Griffith Carwood and Mrs. James Woolam were hostesses at the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church meeting Wednesday and served a stenious luncheon to about thirty-five ladies.

The Misses Frances and Hylda Barrett were at Wayne the latter part of the week. Their brother, Raymond, returned home from the Normal with them to help with the farm work.

Stanley Robinson of Ashton, Idaho, is here visiting his sister, Mrs. Wilcox and old friends. He will visit his parents at Flankinton, S. D., before returning to his work at Ashton.

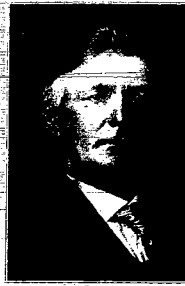

Rev. Scheres of the Lutheran church returned from Rochester Saturday where he left his wife at the hospital and conducted services again on Sunday. His wife is not much better, but their friends hope she will soon be on the way to recovery.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and it is the most distressing and supposed to be incurable. For a few days I was troubled with this local disease and protracted local remedies failed to give me relief. I was with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Before I had given up I saw in your issue a notice of Dr. J. C. Carter's Constitutional Cure, and I bought a bottle. I used it according to directions.
Constitutional cure on the market. It is the only medicine that cures Catarrh of the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
I feel it safe to state. Send for circular and testimonials. Dr. J. C. Carter, P. O.

ORDER OF HEARING ON PETITION FOR APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

State of Nebraska, county of Wayne ss.

To all persons interested in the estate of Emma R. Corzine, deceased:

On reading the petition of Lois Fae Corzine praying that the administration of said estate be granted to Rollie W. Ley as administrator, it is hereby ordered that you, and all persons interested in said matter, may, and do, appear at the county court to be held in and for said county on the 6th day of April, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and of the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Wayne Herald a weekly newspaper printed in said county, for 3 successive weeks prior to said day of hearing.

Witness my hand, and seal of said court, this 14th day of March, 1916. (Seal.) JAMES BRITTON, County Judge.

The Court of Last Resort.
Around the stove of the cross roads grocery is the real court of last resort, for it finally overrules all others. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been brought before this court in almost every cross roads grocery in this country, and has always received a favorable verdict. It is in the county where man expects to receive full value for his money that this remedy is most appreciated. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

PROBATE NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska.

In the matter of the estate of William P. Agler, deceased.

"Notice" is hereby given, that the creditors of the said deceased will meet the administrator of said estate before me, county judge of Wayne county, Nebraska, at the county court room in said county, on the 7th day of April, 1916, and on the 7th day of April, 1916, and on the 7th day of October, 1916, at 10 o'clock a. m., each day, for the purpose of presenting their claims for examination, adjustment and allowance. Six months are allowed for creditors to present their claims and to settle for the administrator, to settle said estate, from the 7th day of April, 1916. This notice will be published in the Wayne Herald for four weeks successively prior to the 7th day of April, 1916. Witness my hand and seal of said court, this 4th day of March, 1916. (Seal.) JAMES BRITTON, County Judge. M914

A Specific Against Colds.
The nearest thing to a specific against colds is a sleeping porch or open bed room and a cold sponge bath every morning when you first get up. Even then you will occasionally take a cold, especially when colds are epidemic, and when you do, you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a great help in enabling you to get rid of it. Try it. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Keep Your Bowels Regular.
As everyone knows, the bowels are the sewerage system of the body, and it is of the greatest importance that they move once each day. If your bowels become constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets just after supper, and they will correct the disorder. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

UNCEASING MISERY.

Some Wayne Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

"There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble." Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney back-ache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. 'Thousands have testified to their merit.

—Proof in Wayne testimony: Mrs. Henry Hansen, Wayne, says: "I was annoyed by sudden pains in the small of my back, caused by exertion or the contraction of a cold. There was a steady, throbbing ache across my loins and I was 40-lame and sore, that I could not get up after sitting. Headaches and dizzy spells annoyed me and the kidney secretions were in bad shape. Nothing brought me any permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me and there has never been the least return of the trouble." Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mrs. Hanson.
