SAVINGS SERMONETTE

NUMBER FIFTY-ONE

THERE'S A REASON

The large number of death notices as recorded in the daily papers of men in their prime, is very suggestive.

There is a reason for this. There are days of strenuous activity, and these men, after spending their money and time wastefully during the early period of their lives, awakening suddenly to the necessity of providing for their own declining years and the future of those dependent upon them, overload their vitality beyond endurance. And then comes the breaking point. The snap comes suddenly, and the community witness what really is another human sacrifice upon the altar of early improvidence.

A savings bank provides a place for the safe investment of savings from childhood to the time when the earning capacity in order to insure a peaceful and happy journey on the down-hill life, should be stacked and then cease.

With the education of the people to the enormous benefits of regular saving will necessarily come a decrease of the mortality of men in their prime.

Complaint is made that draymen endeavoring the public by possible runaways by not having weights to hold their teams. ## SAVIDGE OPENS HERE THIRD WEEK IN MAY

Walter Savidge plans to have his carnival season open with an engagement in Wayne during the week beginning May 16. Aside from new features which he has secured, he proposes to strengthen his dramatic program by securing Katharine Day, who has been engaged as leading lady, and who was with the carnival theatre five years ago, arrived from Los Angeles Thursday night to get ready for the opening of the season.

Mr. Savidge has secured the western rights on "The Call of the Cumberland," "That Printer of Udell's," and "Gaustrark," each a strong production and a sure winner of popular favor. A new water-proof tent has been bought for the season, and care was taken to get one that would keep the interior absolutely dry regardless of the weather.

LIVING MODELS IN ORR'S SHOW WINDOWS

In spite of the blustery weather Saturday, the window-people lined up in front of the Orr & Orr store to watch a group of little folks, arrayed in amusing little "breadwinners" play-suits, frolic around a sand pile in the window which was fitted out as a nursery. Four little tots, two boys and two girls, were dressed in sorts of structures in the sand, or played with the toys scattered around, just as though they were entirely alone. This was the first time that a merchant in Wayne has been thought of in this way.

It certainly is a good method and should be more widely used. In the two relays of these living models, the following children appeared: Frederick Berry, Arthur Chastet, Jimmy Wagon, Morris, Don Shertshin, Natalie Johnson, Mary Jane Johnson, Esther May Ingham and Joy Sellers.

PRINTING BALLOTS FOR GOING PRIMARY

The Herald has had its hands full the past week printing ballots for Wayne and Cuming counties. The plant has been running night and day to provide the necessary supplies, in addition to meeting usual demands along other lines.

Wayne county requires about 17,000 regular and judiciary ballots to comply with the law. Each of six parties—republican, democratic, progressive, people's independent, and socialist—has a separate ballot.

The cost to the county in holding a primary will be in the neighborhood of $2,000.

C. W. Reynolds, county clerk, deserves a large measure of credit for the prompt and careful manner in which he looks after details preliminary to a primary or general election. It is doubtful if any clerk in the state has ballot copy ready earlier or in better shape. He takes the initiative and from statute changes shapes his course and pursues it without delay and manifestly without effort. It is well for people to know they have a county clerk who understands his duties thoroughly, and whose unvarying rate is promptness and efficiency.

TO SEEK BEST MARKET A DUTY, SAYS GASTON

"The perfume of the broken box of alabaster has filled the whole town from this day to this," declared Rev. W. L. Gaston at the union meeting at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, as he painted a beautiful word-picture of the loving service of Mary for her master at her home in Bethany, where the "healer and the healed," the Resurrector and the Resurrected had gathered to sup together for the last time.

Rev. Gaston went on to show that Mary in spite of the taunting attitude of Judas, who sneered "Why was not this ointment sold?" had brought her service to the highest mark in the world. "The fundamental law under which society operates is divine, and God has given us the principles of production and distribution," asserted Rev. Gaston. He then urged the young people to "carry their wars of service to the highest market of the world." "Enjoy life, serve God by serving man, work with your brain and feel with your heart," was Mr. Gaston's advice to those who hoped to become leaders.

Both before and after the address a union choir delighted the audience with special music. Miss Delilah Mullen artistically rendered a solo, "The Psalmist and the Puritan."

Not only was there a full house, but fine spirit of cooperation was evident. Without doubt such a federation will result in much good for Wayne as a community.

MOVEMENT FOR WAYNE IMPROVEMENT CLUB

(Contributed.) There is a very laudable movement on foot to organize a Ladies' Improvement club for the purpose of adding to the attractiveness of Wayne and securing, in any possible way, any program of improvement that will make for the advancement of the town, ornamentally, practically, financially, commercially, morally, educationally or socially. The ladies are expected to make a map and if people wake up to the fact, it might just as well be a town that everybody is talking about as one that they never hear about. Wayne can claim its place and sustain it.

Last week letters were sent from the Commercial club to all the ladies' clubs in the city and each was asked to cooperate with the other clubs in a Ladies' Improvement club. It is proposed to clean up and stay clean; to make the place so attractive that the visiting stranger will never forget it, but will talk about it when he gets home for at least six months. This work has better results than any other work suggested, that their selections of partners for life might not seem to indicate it. There are a hundred things that might be done to make a more beautiful Wayne in which the ladies are the very natural leaders. Many towns stand on pedestals to the "electrolier" posts just under the lamps and plant in them willow wands which are to make the baskets, drapes the posts with festoons of green that add much to the scenic aspect of the street.

Cultivate the vacant lots; raise vegetables and flowers; they look better than weeds which are to make can go for charity and the flowers will make life brighter for all. The children will do this work if someone will organize them and lead them.

Soon as the various clubs have responded to the communication of the Commercial club, a meeting for the ladies will be called and the organization launched.

BIRTH RECORD.

WILL GIVE $5 CASH FOR SUITABLE NAME

It may be that there is not much in it, but there is a five dollar bill in the right name for the man, woman or child who will put on his thinking cap and furnish us with the best name for the new Commercial club of Wayne. If you want the prize read every copy of the paper. The Commercial club proposes to reorganize on a broader basis for the accomplishment of more work of a community and fellowship nature. The club proposes to reduce the dues to that every one can afford to belong and become a booster for the community, rather than the town. Every farmer within a radius of ten miles will be invited and urged to join. It is proposed that farmer and merchant and laborer and professional man and business and capitalist work together to make this a great work. In adopting a new constitution the first thing is a name. We want a name. We want a name that is simple and an expressive name. We want it to sound well and to look well when written or printed. We want it to express the object of the organization and one that does not limit the occupations of its membership. It must not be too long. We cannot accept more than five words; fewer, if expressive enough, will be better.

Now think it over. Remember it is for general work by everybody for everybody; now give us a name.

The one sending the name selected will receive $5.

These directions must be strictly observed. Write the proposed name on a separate paper on your local and do not write or print, or even your name.

Write your name and address fully and plainly with date of mailing on another paper and enclose it with the name in an envelope addressed to W. L. Gaston, Secretary Wayne Commercial Club.

All proposed names must reach the secretary on or before night March Saturday, April 22.

As names are received they will be dated and filed.

In case of two or more sending the same name, the prize will go to the first received.—Commercial Club.

For various reasons the ladies thought it advisable to postpone the meeting of the Aid society until after Easter. Due notice will be given of the time of next meeting.

The services for the coming Lord's Day will center in Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem. The morning service is also set apart for the baptism of children. Should it not be convenient for some of the parents to present them at this time, they can speak to the pastor and suitable arrangements can be made to have this sacrament administered later.

Holy Week will be fittingly observed in the church by a series of four sermons beginning Tuesday evening and closing Friday evening with the preparatory service. The sermons will be appropriate to the season and will begin promptly at 8 o'clock.

Offerings for the benevolent work of the church will be received on Easter. An envelope will be sent to every member to receive this contribution. More than half of the synodical year has passed and owing to the long vacancy no offering has been taken for this worthy cause. To make up for this loss each member should contribute liberally so that our apportionment will be fully met before synod meets again. Please do not overlook this.

At the celebration of the Lord's supper on Easter morning, we sincerely hope to see every member. This is the time for the reception of new members.

The federated evening meeting will begin at 7:30. Rev. W. L. Gaston will deliver the lecture of the evening. Come and bring some one with you.

Remember the "Junior" C. B. meeting at 3 o'clock. Urge the boy and girl to prepare for this meeting. This is training for future church work.

We were pleased to notice the extra large number of young men out at the last Sunday evening meeting.

All young people should come next Sunday.

The Sunday school meets each Sunday promptly at 11:30. F. H. Jones is the superintendent. Visitors are always welcome in this school.

The Sunday evening program will be in the hands of a lay committee as soon as the committee can be organized. Live themes will be discussed.

MAYOR CHARLES W. BRYAN Democratic Candidate for Governor

A Constructive Program for Nebraska

Mayor Bryan favors a reduction of the telephone rates in Nebraska to a reasonable basis. He favors a uniform system of scientific good roads building under the direction of state and county engineers and the use of all public labor possible on said construction. He favors municipal ownership of all public utilities to protect towns and cities against exorbitant rates. He favors state hail insurance. He favors the development of the water power of the state by municipal, county and state development, so that cheap electric current can be furnished to light the homes and operate the machinery in the towns and on the farms, to furnish heat in place of high priced coal, and to operate interurban railways throughout the state. He favors permitting farmers to vote in primary and general elections by mail to save time and for convenience.

Mayor Bryan was permanent chairman of the Nebraska State Dry Federation mass meeting and assisted in drafting the dry constitutional amendment. The reforms he advocates are non-partisan and in the interest of the people of the entire state. If elected Governor, he will urge the passage of legislation to enforce the dry constitutional amendment. It is hoped that he will take the lead in securing other progressive legislation needed to protect Nebraska people and develop the state—the same as he has done at Mayor of Lincoln. Insure the nomination of a dry progressive candidate by voting for Charles W. Bryan. Primaries April 18.

visiting at the James Huff and James Baird homes—returned to her home at Oakland, Ia., last Monday.

On account of the sorrow within circles at the Anton Granquist home, the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Grace church which was to have met with Mrs. Ed Lindsay, was postponed.

"Always" always felt in expressing sympathy to sorrowing ones in the loss of a dear one, but when death enters a home as it did that of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Granquist and takes the only two little girls that have before lightened the parents' burdens with their laughter and love, it leaves but little earthly comfort for the bereaved father and mother. God alone can comfort them. The deeds and tender messages of friends can do but little in such a dark hour.

Mrs. Wolfe, the teacher of the prena-cent school, gave a box social and program at her school house Friday night. The school children gave an excellent program which was followed by a home talent play by some of the older people of the district. The last number was a song composed by Charlie Baird and Harry Millward and sung by Mr. Millward. The song was a dedication and Mrs. Millward was called. For an encore he sang one verse in Welsh. The boxes were then sold and the remainder of the evening spent in eating and visiting. The sale of the boxes netted $162.50.

FARM DEMONSTRATOR. Editor Herald; My Dear Sir—Last week I was in Norfolk and at the depot I noticed a thrifty looking "Ford" on either side of which was pointed in plain characters "Madison County Farm Demonstrator."

While I was looking at it a young man with a business air, plainly dressed in a storm jacket with a sheepskin collar and khaki trousers jumped into the car and drove off before I could get near enough to speak. I wanted to meet him. I wanted to talk to a man who represented the newest occupation in our whole industrial world. I wanted to meet him because I had heard of the Madison county man and what he was doing for Madison county.

Luck favors alike both youth and fools. While I was eating my dinner he came in accompanied by Prof. Anderson of the state university and what he was doing for Madison county. the out-door life. His hands were hard and calloused. I knew he was a practical man and earned his salary.

He moves his office around from town to town so as to be in touch with all parts of the county. When he goes out to any farm for a special demonstration all the farmers in that immediate neighborhood are phoned and they come together and so he talks and demonstrates to a neighborhood group instead of to one man, and his usefulness is multiplied. He meets men on their farms; he meets them in their town; he meets them in their school houses and talks to them and explains the things which they should know; the things to which he has devoted his life study.

Two hundred men agreeing to pay each $5 for two years can secure such a man to help in Wayne county. With this high priced land we have got to raise more and better stuff. If we make farming pay interest on the investment. Sincerely yours, W. L. Gaston

Republican Candidate For County Assessor

Having served a five-year term four years ago satisfactorily, he asks for the support of the republican party at the primaries April 18.

AN ENDORSEMENT.

To Wayne Herald:—It is a pleasure and I deem it a duty at this time to say something in regard to the candidacy of A. T. Witter for county assessor. Why? For many reasons: He served the county five years as assessor with credit to himself and county. He labored for all, with no friends for favor or enemies to punish. He is a bookkeeper with no superior in Wayne county. He was told by the secretary of the state board of equalization that he had the best set of books in the state; these books were partly designed by him and were so simplified that a child can readily turn to any information desired in regard to taxes or assessment in Wayne county. He knows the business from A to Z. In closing his office four years ago he left a record that should be considered sufficient to nominate and elect him for another four years.—A TAX PAYER.

DR. JENKEN L. JONES LECTURES AT WAYNE

It was a very appreciative audience that gathered at the auditorium last Friday evening and listened to the lecture of Dr. Jenken Lloyd Jones on the subject of "International Peace." Before taking up the subject of the evening the speaker reviewed briefly his trip to Europe as a member of the Ford peace expedition. He expressed himself as being proud of the fact that he was connected with the Ford party and said that the expedition was not able to show visible results, having been beset with many difficulties from the beginning. He felt that the press was unfair in its treatment, and added that yellow journalism reached its lowest level in dealing with the peace party.

The first stop made on the journey was at Christiania, Norway, arriving there on Christmas eve and in the teeth of the worst storm that had been known in years. Here Dr. Jones had the privilege of addressing the students of the university, most of whom understood his message delivered in English. From the Norwegian capital the party journeyed to Stockholm, Sweden, at which place courtesy was also extended to them. Copenhagen came next on the trip. Before leaving Sweden the party was warned that things were on a different basis in Denmark; that public discussion of questions pertaining to the war was strictly prohibited. Yet in the Danish capital one of the best results of the trip was that an opinion was tendered this party by the leading newspapers of Denmark, following which the paper gave the expedition considerable space and attempted to define the mission of the Ford peace party. The fourth stop was to be made at the Hague, and to reach this city by rail, it was necessary for them to pass through a part of Germany. The United States had refused to grant passports for the Ford party to visit any country engaged in war; therefore the German government had no right to extend such a courtesy, and if granted, great caution would have to be observed and each member of the party carefully searched. The other alternative was to reach the Hague by way of the North Sea over waters strewed with mines. After being delayed for a short time, permission was received from Berlin to pass over German territory, and much to their delight, the officer very generously passed the entire party without the annoyance of inquiry or search. Two public meetings were held at the Hague and here the party broke up, having held in all meetings in seven cities of Europe.

The remainder of Dr. Jones' lecture was devoted to a discussion of "International Peace," which he claimed we must believe in or throw away our New Testament. The following are some of the characteristic utterances in the second part of his lecture:

"Europe knows now the awful fallacy that seems to confuse and blind so many people. If we want peace we must get ready for war! Build a new battleship and you provoke the other powers to match it. Increased armaments are always increase irritants. Some profess to believe that if the European nations ever get out of the present struggle, some of them will swagger across the Atlantic with a chip on their shoulder. The conditions of safety in any nation are, in fact, not so many young men, the volunteers. We are on the eve of a new standard of courage, a new day and a new dawn of heroism. The new era will be one of law and order and not of force. Military preparations on the part of a nation is like a pistol in the pocket of an individual; it is likely to go off at the wrong time in the wrong place, and hit the wrong man. The false philosophy of preparedness came to its logical conclusion in the barbed wire trenches of Europe."

If nominated and elected Sheriff of Wayne County, I will do my best to serve the public faithfully and efficiently.

appearing in the Chicago paper: Omaha, Neb.—They've picked on the poor widow long enough. Stony-hearted attorneys have foreclosed mortgages on her, dissolute sons have robbed the crock of all its cash to purchase rum, and husbands who removed have come home to administer an occasional conjugal beating, but—

That's all over with. Mrs. B. C. Turpin of Omaha says: "Girls, step up and meet Mrs. Turpin, the widow's friend, and one herself. Also meet Mrs. Turpin's three children, even if they haven't anything to do with the story of how their mother has organized the Society of American Widows."

Smooth Widow's Path. Mrs. Turpin just got sick and tired of seeing the way the stierhood was treated. The society is the result. There's nothing it won't do, according to Mrs. Turpin's prospectus, to make the widow's hard road a path of elderwood and roses. Upon the payment of $3 yearly dues it will undertake to see to it of town widows' shopping, establishment of a sewing department, an employment agency, a downtown rest room for members, 2 magazines, an advisory committee to help out any poor widow with words of counsel (absolutely free,) and other features for the advancement of the widow's cause, such as free medical service and talks on thrift.

It is the only organization of its kind in the world. Any white woman, if she can produce evidence that her husband is under the sod, or sent hence via the divorce court, can belong.

Takes Slap at Mere Man. Mrs. Turpin in her prospectus doesn't hand the men a thing—O, no! Try as hard as she may, she can't say much for them.

"that a widow would command a certain amount of respect that the dignity of womanhood and particularly her motherhood if she had children would cause men to pay her. But instead of assisting her every known obstacle is thrown in her way."

And though she may look the same, she is never treated the same. Her former companions take advantage of her or drift away from her. And Mrs. Turpin asks if that's the case, now what, O what, will happen when vast droves of war widows come streaming to our shores after the end of the European conflict?

Mrs. Turpin begs the widowed sisterhood to take advantage of the full now and get together under the banner of organization.

When a man begins traveling for his health, the chances are he won't catch up with it.

The Bell Engineering Staff

Working out complex scientific and engineering problems, the Bell Telephone System has a general staff of more than 500 technical, electrical and mechanical experts.

Most, if not all, the telephone instrumentalities that have led to improvement in telephone service in the world were either evolved by, or adopted and developed by, this staff.

The Bell System's general engineering staff includes a greater number of scientific, technical and mechanical experts of a higher grade than can be found in all the other government or private telephone administrations in the world combined.

By means of this centralized general staff the Bell System is able to keep in advance of the telephone art, avoid repetition and duplication of work, and give each Associated Company in the System expert advice and expert assistance.

The cost of this work is large, but it is spread over a vast system and the cost to each community is very small. The expense has been warranted a hundred-fold by results. It has enabled the Bell System to give the best and the cheapest telephone service in the world.

This is clean-up week, and Wayne has been busy getting rid of the winter's accumulation of rubbish preliminary to welcoming the new verdure and soft zephyrs of summer time.

Fred S. Berry, republican candidate for county attorney, is a legal adviser and trial lawyer of high rank. If a man would employ him to look after his private legal business, he ought to vote for him to look after the county's legal affairs.

C. A. Randall of Newman Grove, who is a candidate for railway commissioner, has been a staunch friend of the Wayne State Normal. As a member of the state senate, he took part in the location of a state school here. It would seem fitting to remember him on primary day.

John L. Kennedy, republican candidate for United States senator, attended the meeting of the Northeast Nebraska Press association in Wayne, Neb., and made a very favorable impression. The votes he will receive in Wayne county on primary day will attest to such favor.

The assurance of the Northeast Nebraska Teachers' association coming to Wayne next spring and the prospect of other conventions ought to stimulate interest in the provision of increased modern hotel accommodations.

W. L. Minor who is on the republican primary ballot as a candidate for state auditor, served as deputy one term prior to the democratic regime; and is known as a man of pleasing personality and high efficiency. Wayne county republicans can make no mistake by voting for him.

Schools and churches now give dramatic performances—and think they are all right. When we took part in such amateur entertainments of the winter past, we were reminded that we were doing wrong. The popular attitude has apparently undergone much change.

H. P. Shumway, republican candidate for lieutenant governor, lives at Wakefield, and has good reason to expect large support from republicans in this part of the state. His record in the senate is very creditable, and of special interest to Wayne county, his co-operation in behalf of the Wayne State Normal entitles him to reciprocal consideration.

S. R. McKelvie is pointed out as the candidate for governor who will support the prohibition amendment, but who is not making his campaign on that issue. It is pointed out that he is the one on whom to concentrate support in order to avoid splitting the anti-wet vote among three dry men and thus nominating a wet man. Mr. McKelvie is familiar with all branches of the state's industries, and is believed to be eminently equipped for the governorship.

It does not require surpassing wisdom to effectually attack apparent follies in religious belief. It requires more wisdom to replace orthodoxy with something more logical, more helpful, and more hopeful. From the ashes of destroyed dogmas that have proven untenable and unbelievable, should rise reconstructed belief, advanced and brightened, giving confidence and comfort—mere destruction is dark and pessimistic. A constructive policy breathes optimism, assurance, cheer.

The primary next Tuesday will give voters an opportunity to participate directly in the nomination of party candidates, and they should take advantage of it. In voting for presidential preference, republicans will do well to write in the name of Charles E. Hughes. He is the man the republican national convention is most likely to name, and if he is named he will undoubtedly accept. Nebraska should help nominate him, and Wayne county ought to contribute its full share.

James C. Dahlman and Arthur F. Mullen are rival candidates for the democratic nomination for national commissioner. Senator Phil Kohl, John T. Bressler, and other Wayne people who were instrumental in the location of the state normal in Wayne assure the Herald that they are friendly to the movement to bring the school here. Democrats of Wayne county are therefore urged to remember the State Normal when they reach national committee men on the ballot next Tuesday, and vote accordingly.

STATE LAND COMMISSIONER

Voices interested in good government should vote for the re-nomination of our present republican Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, Fred Beckmann.

Mr. Beckmann, looking personally after the appropriation of school lands, has made it possible for the state to receive $49,000.31 more than the original appropriation.

During his administration, school lands in twenty-six counties have been reappraised for leasing purposes, increasing the yearly income about $60,000.00 per year. This is certainly a great help to the taxpayers.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

THE POOR LISTENER

Let us in the grocery store discuss the current events, each eye, when my laborer comes with other industrious agents. We talk of the scrapping in France, discuss the high prices of hay, and each gives the others a chance to say what they suffer for. When Johnson animates his jaws, we listen politely to him when Jimpon stands up for his cause, we cheer his remarks with a vim. There's peace in that grocery store, each orator feels at his best, till Kishaw, the clamorous bore, comes in to take part in the fight. This man, with his head full of wheels, too oft in our presence has sinned; he wants to make all of the spiebs, to furnish the bulk of the wind. That's why we old fellows arose, last night, at the grocery store, and lifted that chump with our toes, and hoisted him clear through the door. Free speech is a blessing to men, without it no race can advance; but talkers should patie nose and then, and give other fellows a chance.

THE YELLOW LEAF.

My step is feeble now and slow, that was once so bold; my hair, once dark as the midnight, now my feet are cold, my legs are thin, my waist is fat, I have an ache in every leg, I cannot run or skin the cat, I am waxing old. I look around with gloomy eyes, at the growing lads; I like to sit and mope, with the ancient lads, and call how boys of other days were better than the modern jays, of higher aims and nobler ways, shunning foolish fads. "With such a bunch of skates on deck," sadly lament, "this poor old world will go to wreck, I will stake a cent;" the graybeards all agree "It's right, and say the country's in a plight with all these giddy youths in sight, on amusements bent. There is, alas, no other sign, that 'tis our old days that are these mournful notes of mine, which I here relate; for when a man talks bunk at last, compares the present with the past, and finds degeneration vast, he should pull his freight.

THE GREAT BOON.

The boon of peace is sick as grease, and we should guard and prize it, and love it well, for war is hell—no delegate denies it. On Europe's straits, where peace is cast, and all the kings are scrappy, the people know the depths of woe, and not a soul is happy. But here, where peace fulfills its lease, with industry, its neighbor, remote from fate, we wait and hear the sounds of honest labor. The mill wheels hum—the plumbers plumb the farmets go a-seeding, and you can walk a city block and see no fellow bleeding. The spinner spins, the weaver weaves, the cooper coopers, the bootle—oh, happy land, wherein the hand is playing Yankee Doodle! Such peace as this is surely bliss, the timbre sounds our gladness: the psalter psalms, the waiter waits—to whom for war is madness! By Europe's streams the moonlight gleams on pale and glistly corse, and heaven frowns on blackened towns and shattered gins and horses. But on this shore no wave of war, against the honest folk, washes: the sunlight shines on pumpkin vines, and large and luscious squashes.

GARDENING.

I do not like to dig and till the garden—it's too hard a chore; I'd rather take a dollar bill and buy my onions at the store. When first the vernal breezes blow, men feel desire to hew the soil, and with their spades and shovels they go—Ah, and chortle as they toil. But vernal breezes soon expire; the sizzling wind of summer blows, and sets the toiler's head a-rear—and tens his neck and bakes his nose. And as the onions heat, the ants and bugs give the nervous weeds a whack, a million ants and bugs and flies crawl up his legs and bite his back. And then he hates his sowed-off farm, he grows enough for seven gents; his cast of the dice has changed, his string beans look like twenty cents. Oh, I have gardened in the past, and know the fever-born of spring glows bright a while, but does not last; it is in the end a thing, I do not like the cake and hoe, I will not ply them any more; when I want turnips I will go and buy the blamed things at the store.

DOWN GRADE.

The road down hill is easy, your gait is brisk and breezy, companionship is gay; and as you trot along it—the dead game sports who through it will cheer you on your way. You ply—the bowl and flagon, and jeer the water wagon, the hydrant and the pump, and, laughing at the sorrow which will arrive tomorrow, you bark to the dust. Your cat grows ever swifter, with willie-waught and sniffer, four fingers at a throw; with decency you quarrel, and sneer at all things moral and to the dump you go. Oh, Taster eyes and faster you speed on to disaster, and steeper is the slope; friend, stop and look and listen, white yet in sight there glisten the snowy robes of hope! Should you turn around and scramble back through the rock and bramble, a weary, racking climb; but there are hands to aid them, and though sore feet delayed them, they reach the top in time. But most of those who amble down hill don't try to scramble back to the healthful pump, back to the sane existence, they're leaving in the distance, but keep on to the dump.

MOTORING.

When first a fellow gets a car, he navigates it slowly; "base fiends," he says, "those speeders are their course is most unlovely." There'll be no reckless speed for him; such stuff annoys him greatly; he will not scorch or scoot or skim, but jog along sedately. "Oh, safety is the proper stuff," he says, when feeling chatty; "twelve miles an hour is fast enough for any man not batty. The accidents of which we read are caused by silly duffers who have hit abnormal speed, and many a victim suffers." But when he's had his car nine weeks, he sends it forth a-humming, and every country village shrieks when it bobs along, him coming. "To crawl along," he says, "is worse than walking is, dod-gast me! I don't propose that every hearse shall go a-whizzing past me!" And so he scorches, in his glee, and then, some balmy morning, his winds his car around a tree, and furnishes a warning.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Wayne Reader.

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorsers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twicetold and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It's from a Wayne resident and says: "I had a serious attack of kidney complaint and suffered terribly from headaches, dizzy spells and a tired, languid feeling. The kidney secretions were unusual and I had a dull, heavy ache through my loins. In a few days after I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and improvement continued until all symptoms of the complaint disappeared. I have no reason to withdraw anything from the statement I gave some years ago, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hanson, Buffalo, N. Y., writes Mr. Pross, Buffalo, N. Y.: "I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism."

"It has been used by myself and other members of my family time and time again during the past six years and always giving the best of satisfaction." The quick relief from pain which Chamberlain's Liniment affords is alone worth many times the cost. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

THE EARLY DAYS IN TWO COUNTIES.

From Wayne Herald, May 2, 1895:
Bert Morgan moved to Parker,
S. D.
Samuel Alexander was in Omaha
on business.
Dr. H. G. Leisenring made a business trip to Chicago.
Rev. W. H. Spaulding held Episcopal services in Mellor hall.
An organization of the Sons of Veterans has been made.
The banks will close promptly at 4 o'clock, except Saturday.
Fifteen men went to Norfolk to attend the seventy-sixth anniversary of the L. O. O. F. lodge.
Furchner, Duerig & Company took in 1,500 dozen eggs, or fifty-two cases, during one day.
Ten Wayne guests attended the silver wedding anniversary of Mr.
and Mrs. A. H. Carter of Winside.
The reception was held in the opera house. The musical Union orchestra of Wayne furnished music during the evening.
Wayne was mapped out for a city of 3,500 to 4,000 people and the prophecy of the early pioneers will yet be realized. When this city has one of the "sugar" beet factories in the United States, and also a college with 500 students as well as one or two other much-needed institutions, then Wayne will have reached its zenith.

From Logan Valley Herald,
March 30, 1883:
D. W. Britton was in Chicago on business.
West Point has a new $75,000
roller flour mill.
F. C. Gault has resigned his position as county surveyor.
Mrs. Frank Fuller has returned from a visit at Washington.
Mrs. G. B. Stone and children have joined Mr. Stone in Wayne.
Charles E. Hunt has erected a feed mill on the lot north of the old Shull blacksmith shop.
Births: To Mr. and Mrs. C. C.
Bosteder, a son, March 26, 1883; to Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Feather, a daughter, March 26, 1883.
The Eldorado store has been enlarged and completely redecorated, and G. Engel has a new stock of merchandise and groceries on the road.

From Ponca Journal, April 20, 1882:
On Saturday, E. Beller bought to us a peck of new potatoes.
Whether he raised them by means of a hot house or magic, we know not, but the potatoes were a material fact and were raised this spring.
On Saturday we had a pleasant
call from our old friend Capt. Mc-Henry, the proprietor of the Wayne county mill. The mill is about two and one-half miles from Wakefield and is run by one of the splendid water powers of the Logan and is having an immense business.
As a memento, the Captain brought us a wash tub full of eggs, inviting us to eat the eggs but to bring the tub over when we go there fishing, all which we will be most happy to do.
Astronomers report that within a few days past, an immense comet has been discovered, which is making a shot towards the sun at the rate of two millions of miles per day. It is claimed that about the middle of June, in trying to flip around the sun, (according to the custom of comets,) it cannot avoid slapping that luminary on the back with its tail. Then a great concussion, commotion and heat will ensue, whereby the earth will be baked together with all those of its inhabitants who do not escape by balloons.
