WAYNE STATE NORMAL

The music furnished by the Men's Apollo club special numbers were sung by Professors Coleman and Lackey, and by Mrs. William Edward Johnson, Miss Bessie Crockett was accompanist. Rev. W. L. Gaston gave the invocation and Rev. S. Xenophon Cross read the scripture lesson.

Dr. Young chose his text from First Kings, 18:21: "How long halt ye between two opinions? If Baal then follow him!" The theme was "Decision of Character and Its Cultivation." The speaker said in part:

Men and women of character are always in demand. This age demands strong men, but a man's strength is commensurate with his character. "As a man is, so is his strength." In the long-run character counts.

The standards in all walks of life are rising and character is the determining factor. The price of success is rising as well as the cost of living. Decision of character is the vital thing. A man to be a factor in society must be a man of conviction. He must have definite views and set purposes. The man of decision of character knows where he is going and what he is going to do. Every mind to be the best must be a single-track mind.

"This one thing I do," it must have concentration of a life in a given task gives great working power to the worker. The battle of life is lost when a man loses his power of decision. Decision of character is a thing to be cultivated. First of all, it must have a physical basis. A man ought to have vigor and virility of physical manhood. In addition to a physical basis he must have a mental equipment. He must be master of the conscious and subconscious mind.

When a person is master of himself, and his mind he is ready for his task. Men do not find their places by chance, but by earnest study and honest inquiry. A ruling passion, a high enthusiasm will make it possible to weld all the factors of a life into a character of decision. A craft of industry said there are problems in the spiritual and social world which are like some of our metals; altogether refractory to temperature, they will melt with great heat and there is no other possibility of melting them.

The man of decision is always a man of character. The "hacker" in England is a person held in contempt because he does not decide to enlist when his country calls in her hour of peril.

Four rules on habit by Professor Williams were given: 1. In the acquisition of a new habit or the leaving off of an old one, we must take care to launch ourselves with as strong and decided an initiative as possible. 2. Never suffer an exception to occur until the new habit is securely rooted in your life. 3. Seize the very first possible opportunity to act on every resolution you make and on every emotional prompting you may experience in the direction of the habits you aspire to gain. 4. Keep the faculty of effort alive in you by a little gratuitous exercise every day.

Obedience to those four rules will help us in securing decision of character. This is not a talk for talk's sake; it is talking to a point. Many young people are undisciplined, have not made up their minds. They seem to live their lives in the after-whiles.

"Afterwhile—and one intends to be gentle to his friends—To walk with them through the bush Of still revolves over the plash Of home-leading fields, and stand Long at parting hand in hand. One, in time, will joy to take New resolves for someone's sake. Wearing then the look that lies Clear and pure in other eyes. He will soothe and reconcile His own conscience—afterwhile."

Do not live your lives in a state of indecision; decide. Decide today; do it now. Begin; begin at once. Decide—only to yourself and your friends that your direction and destiny are determined.

Freemont Tribune: How time flies and conditions change. One would not think it possible that the following could have been as it was, the national defense plank of the progressive platform of 1912:

"The progressive party deplores the survival in our civilization of the barbaric system of warfare among nations, with its enormous waste of resources even in time of peace and the consequent impoverishment of the life of the toiling masses. We pledge the party to use its best endeavors to substitute judicial and other peaceful means of settling international differences. We favor an international agreement for the limitation of naval forces. Pending such an agreement, and as the best means of preserving peace, we pledge ourselves to maintain for the present the policy of building two battleships a year."

AMONG PRODUCERS OF WAYNE COUNTY

(By I. C. Frohmayer, Herald's special staff representative.)

Wayside Notes.

Is the result of your seed corn test and your stand of corn showing any marked difference? The amount of precipitation up to this time is less by more than an inch than during the same period last year.

William A. Meyer is erecting a new barn on the eighty acres of land near Wakefield, which he purchased last fall.

While the rain of last Saturday was not as badly needed at the downtown the week before, farmers welcome the rainfall and now wish for warm weather.

Two extra good animals of the Shorthorn breed were recently delivered by William A. Meyer, one being sold to Henry Klipping and the other to Roy Jeffery.

The family of C. E. Nelson are expected to arrive in Wayne as early date from Sweden, where Mr. Nelson has remained until property interests there could be disposed of. Elmer Boeckenhauer of west of Wakefield who had the misfortune of having a leg broken some time ago, is now able to be about with the aid of a cane and hopes soon to get about in his usually brisk manner.

The recent rains have helped the prospects for an abundant hay crop in this county. Owing to heavy rains last year much of the hay was lost and this year many of the farmers will either build barns or get hay covers to save the crop.

L. S. Johnson.

L. S. Johnson removed to Wayne county twenty years ago and settled on what is now a finely improved 160-acre farm three miles north and three miles west of Wakefield. He has during this period he has built a number of substantial buildings and now has a very comfortable, home-like place. A water system furnishes a handy supply to all parts of the buildings and the yards are kept up in the neatest possible manner. This year he will have eighty acres of corn, fifty acres oats, twelve of alfalfa, ten acres in pasture, balance hog pasture and building site. He raises a few good hogs each year and now has forty head of spring pigs. Grain and hogs together with a few cows are the main source of income on this farm, and everything is moving along at a satisfactory rate, with the prospects bright for another prosperous season.

Charles Lessman.

Charles Lessman is this year venturing the 267-acre farm two miles north and three and three quarters miles east of Wayne, which he recently sold to Orin Harms of Wakefield. Mr. Lessman has purchased a 160-acre farm of John Krieger and will take possession March 1, 1917. He has resided in Dixon county for thirty-two years and is one of its best citizens. Corn and hogs are the main issue with him, two cars of hogs having been marketed, another ear load will be shipped soon, and the bunch of spring are fine, numbering 150. One hundred twenty-five acres are planted to corn, balance alfalfa, hay and pasture. Asked as to any special item of farm work, Mr. Lessman laid much emphasis on dairying and said he would not think of quitting this branch of farm work as it had been very profitable. Mr. Lessman and his wife are at present milking twelve cows, selling the butter at 30 cents per pound during the whole year, which nets from $80 to $85 per month. This summer they intend to milk an average of twenty-five cows with a corresponding increase in income. With the ideal conditions prevailing in this section it would appear that more farmers could profit by following along the lines adopted by Mr. Lessman.

J. W. Linsted.

For the past two years J. W. Linsted has rented 240 acres of land three miles west of Wakefield, owned by Charles Johnson of that place. He had previously resided in Wayne county six years. He has eighty-five acres in corn, thirty-three of oats, twenty acres of spring wheat, fifty laid and pasture making up the remainder. He has sold a half-car of cattle, has thirty hogs to market soon, and eight spring pigs are making a good growth. Each year he raises a good bunch of cattle and now has twenty-five fine spring calves. The raising of big crops and good stock is the big idea on this farm.

S. E. Soderberg.

S. E. Soderberg is the owner of a quarter section of land three and one-half miles west of Wakefield, eighty acres being in Wayne county, the other eighty in Dixon county. During the twenty years he has spent here, improvements have been gradually made until he now has one of the finest farm homes in that vicinity, with a seven-room house, good barns, sheds, etc. the building site being well-protected and the appearance of the place enhanced by a big growth of timber. He marketed 104 head of hogs and sixteen head of cattle; the spring pigs coming along fair with a total of over 100. For the past six years he has been raising thoroughbred Shorthorn cat plenty of water at the time of filling furnishes a well balanced, highly nutritious ration for all kinds of stock and is giving me good results. In regard to live stock he marketed sixty hogs and twenty-five head of cattle, all of his own raising, believing this to be the safer method to follow to make sure of a reasonable profit. He has 100 spring pigs which are doing nicely. The pigs on either side of the acre are planted to corn, forty in oats, balance in pasture and hay meadow. Well posted on affairs in general, a deep thinker along lines pertaining to farm work, a man with whom it is a pleasure to visit.—Man-Is-Lem Koogner.

Elmer Boeckenhauer.

Things on the Mrs. J. S. Britton farm, west of Wakefield and rented by Elmer Boeckenhauer, show the result of good management, even if he has been taking an unforeseen dip off this spring on account of a factored leg which has kept him from doing any of the manual labor. Eighty acres have been planted to corn, eighty to alfalfa and twenty-five acres will be made to timothy and clover. He has marketed forty head of hogs, but the spring pigs did not come up to expectations in number, sixty head being the total he has. His barn has an erected grove, good hedges, new barn erected last fall, which has room for twelve head of horses and cattle, 1200 bushel of grain and twenty-five tons of hay. A number of other improvements will likely be made this season. Mr. Boeckenhauer has spent most of his life in this section, possesses the faculty of seeing the good side of all things, and the determination to make success his goal.

Fred W. Meyer.

Fred W. Meyer is the tenant on a good 200-acre place, three miles north and three miles west of Wakefield, owned by his father, William Meyer of Wayne. He has lived on this farm for twenty-seven years following along the lines of swain and live-stock. For the past eight years he has been gradually working into the thoroughbred cattle business and now has fifteen head of extra good animals of the Shorthorn breed as a foundation for his own raising. He marketed a half-car of cattle, a little less some time ago, and while things have not been breaking favorably for him in regard to spring pigs, there is a total of seventy-five with the little calves all wanted. He will have sixty acres of corn, twenty each of wheat and oats, and there are 100 acres of meadow and pasture. All improvements on this farm are first class and taking the place as a well-kept and well-protected for the production of live stock.

Gus Hermann.

Dixon county secured another good farmer when Gus Hermann settled on the Claus Russman quarter section land, one mile north and four miles west of Wakefield. Mr. Hermann moved to this place from Hubbard this spring and is rapidly getting things in shape for a successful year. The one thing foremost in his mind is the raising of live stock, and he now has thirty-five head of cattle on pasture and will procure more as soon as possible. Thirty spring pigs are now in the pens and this number will be added by later arrivals. He has planted fifty acres in corn, fifty acres in small grain, balance of place being in meadow and pasture. Combining a thorough knowledge of live stock with a good farm on which to carry on his operations, Mr. Hermann should surely enjoy his share of prosperity.

L. Koogner.

At the L. Koogner farm three and one-half miles northwest of Wakefield, we were this week very busily engaged in pruning the orchard—and it is a good one. Our few minutes spent there were greatly enjoyed and if time were a second permit me could tell of many good things seen and heard there. The building site commands a broad view of the Logan valley, and all buildings are kept in an excellent condition, all having been built by the present owner during his twenty-two years spent on this farm. Among late improvements are a fine new hog house and machine shed. Water is piped to all buildings and yards. A stave silo, 16x26 feet, with 100 tons capacity, attracted our attention and in regard to his experience with same Mr. Koogner said: "Although results the first year were not very satisfactory, I can now say with confidence that it is one of the best feeds ever properly handled. Contrary to some authorities I would use the very best of corn with a big stalk and ear; in fact the best corn it is possible to grow should be put into the silo. The well matured stalk will furnish the sugar content and the well developed ear the flavor and balance to the ration. This, with the addition of plenty of water at the time of filling furnishes a well balanced, highly nutritious ration for all kinds of stock and is giving me good results. In regard to live stock he marketed sixty hogs and twenty-five head of cattle, all of his own raising, believing this to be the safer method to follow to make sure of a reasonable profit. He has 100 spring pigs which are doing nicely. The pigs on either side of the acre are planted to corn, forty in oats, balance in pasture and hay meadow. Well posted on affairs in general, a deep thinker along lines pertaining to farm work, a man with whom it is a pleasure to visit.—Man-Is-Lem Koogner.

E. W. Hesse, one of the owners of the bank, was in a room adjoining that wherein the holdup was taking place, but so silently was it carried out that he did not realize the robbery had occurred until Zachman informed him of what had happened.

SIoux CITY ROBBERY.

Sioux City, Ia., May 22.—A masked robber entered the Farmers and Merchants bank here at 11:00 today and forced the cashier at the point of a pistol to turn over from $800 to $1,000 and then made his escape.

Cashier Zachman had just been counting the cash on hand.

Zachman was so excited he was unable fully to comprehend what was happening until it had occurred. The robber is said to have rushed out of the building and entered a stairway leading to the second floor. From this floor he jumped to the alley and escaped. The money taken consisted of bills and silver.

Bulletin No. 1

A Mistake in the Policy of the Bethlehem Steel Company

To the People:

The Senate of the United States has passed a bill to spend $11,000,000 of the People's money to build a government armor plant. The measure is now before the House of Representatives.

It is said that manufacturers of armor have "pouged" the country in the past, and that a government plant is necessary to secure armor more cheaply.

The mistake of the Bethlehem Steel Company has been that it has kept quiet.

We have allowed irresponsible assertions to be made for so long without denial that many people now believe them to be proven facts.

We shall make the mistake of silence no longer.

Henceforth we shall pursue a policy of publicity. Misinformation will not be permitted to go uncorrected.

It is and has been the policy of our Company to deal with the American Government fairly and squarely.

We shall henceforth place the details of our relations with the Government before the American People.

The United States has for twenty years obtained the highest grade of armor and has paid a lower price for it than by any other great naval power.

Persons who desire to know the truth about the armor plant, should read the National Affairs, from the Herald and see that the armor plant is not a mistake, but the chief naval power of the world, was made there before the armor plant.

England, $503 per ton (France, $460; Germany, $490; Japan, $490); UNITED STATES, $425.

A government plant cannot make armor any cheaper than we can do it; and—

We are prepared to manufacture armor at any price which the Government itself shall name as fair. THAT BEING SO, SHOULD $11,000,000 OF THE PEOPLE'S MONEY BE WASTED TO BUILD A GOVERNMENT PLANT?

National Defense and International Peace

Are You Ready to Play Your Part?

THE power of a nation in time of need is the producing power of her industries.

America must find out what this producing power is and then develop it. The capacity of every plant must be gauged. The ability of every man must be known. For War is Mechanical. It is Electrical. It is Chemical. It is Mining. Manufacturing. Transportation. It is EVERY phase of a nation's life.

"THE NATION'S DEFENSE."
Thirty thousand Engineers today are serving YOUR COUNTRY without pay. They are making a national contribution to the National Defense. They are helping YOUR COUNTRY to FIND ITSELF and YOU! They are sharing the chances of conquest. Something such as never happened before in the history of the world. YOUR ARMIES in the field will be the crest of a Wave of Industry, as wide as the American Continent and as deep as the American Soul. They are helping to build the Empire which the Associated American Clubs of the World have pledged their services to the President of the United States. And this contribution is being made by the paper, in part of a nation-wide effort to secure YOUR cooperation with the Engineers.

"WHAT CAN I DO?"
This is, doubtless, the question you are asking yourself. How is the answer? If you are a manufacturer, find out what this producing power is and then develop it. If you are a working man, find out what this producing power is and then develop it. If you are a soldier in the Army, find out what this producing power is and then develop it. If you are a business man, find out what this producing power is and then develop it. If you are a citizen, find out what this producing power is and then develop it. BOARD WON'T RAISE ASSESSED VALUATION

Lincoln, Neb., May 23.—No material increase will be made in the assessed valuation of railroad property in Nebraska this year, while the valuations of other property will be added down, as much as possible. Final action in the matter will be taken at a meeting of the State Board of Equalization to be held Wednesday morning.

A meeting of the equalization board held this morning brought out that none of the members of the board thought there should be a material increase in the valuation of the railroads.

Tax Commissioners A. W. Scribner of the Union Pacific and R. D. Pollard of the Burlington appeared before the board in opposition to any increase.

Farm Values Higher.
State Auditor Smith has collected figures from twenty-one counties showing an increase in valuations and taxes on farm lands from 1911 to 1915. These showed in some instances the taxes have been more than doubled. Railroad companies have likewise been increased although not in the same ratio. The value of land and agricultural products has increased more rapidly in the last two years than the value of railroad property and that an increase in railroad assessments would not necessarily follow the raising of land valuations this year. However, the board members said they would like to preserve a parity between the different kinds of property as nearly as possible.

How to Avoid Difficulty.
In lieu of raising the railroads two other ideas were suggested. It was suggested the board in equalizing real estate assessments could lower the valuations in counties which appeared to be much higher than the average, and thus bring the total down somewhere near what it was in 1915. The other provided for a reduction of the state levy again.

Object to Cutting Levy.
One objection was raised to lowering the state levy—that it would all have to come out of the state general fund. The law fixes the tax at 1.34 mills for the support of the state university, and 3.4 of a mill for the support of the normal schools. All the board can do in relation to a lower state levy will be to cut down the general fund tax below 4 mills and State Treasurer Hall takes the view that this would not produce sufficient money on which to run the government.

The total assessed valuation in 1915 was $481,000,000 in round numbers. This year it may reach $500,000,000. If it does the board will probably feel justified in reducing the real estate valuations, as this form of property bears the brunt of the increase.

DECLINES AS DELEGATE.

York, Neb., May 23.—Judge Arthur G. Wray, who has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the bull moose party in Nebraska since its organization four years ago, sent to the secretary of state today his declination to serve as a delegate to the national progressive convention in Chicago next month. In stating his reasons, Judge Wray says: "I always have entertained a friendly feeling towards Colonel Roosevelt and respect his ability and courage. My first presidential vote was cast for him in 1904. I went with him into the new progressive party and represented this state on the national platform committee of 1912.

"Nebraska progressives, however, have instructed me as a delegate to the coming Chicago convention to vote for Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. I have entertained the belief all along that there was a possibility of Colonel Roosevelt receding somewhat from his extreme military views, but since his drastic speech at Detroit, and its unjust inroads against men whose loyalty is above question, I cannot conscientiously go to Chicago and carry out binding instructions to vote in the progressive convention for his nomination. "I am sorry that the progressive party has been carried away by the issue of increased military armament, and those of us who are for greater democracy, social and industrial justice, prohibition, and peace may yet be compelled to cooperate in a new movement before our principles are crystallized into law."

John Lutt, jr., and family visited the home of Mrs. Louis Hanson Sunday afternoon.

DEFENDS PRIMARY.

Lincoln Journal: In these dark days for the primary it is worth while to remind ourselves that practically all of the arguments against the popular nominations will apply with equal force to popular elections. Hear a company of intellectuals discourse upon government, and in a short time the condemnation of the primary will be extended to an equally vigorous denunciation of general suffrage. The incompetency of the people to manage their own affairs has always been a popular subject with the favorers of reform. Just as the so-called "higher classes" put up with universal suffrage because they can not get rid of it, they will in the course of time become reconciled to popular nominations, with such safeguards and modifications as experience suggests.

The primary system, in fact, is in much the position of the general election in the old days, when the ballot box was defiled by bribery, fraudulent ballots and all of the familiar tricks of the ward-heeters. Instead of abolishing elections and turning the country over to the management of some benevolent despot, the people set themselves to the task of reforming abuses. They adopted the Australian ballot and are now working on corrupt practices and a few other things to make them effective. Just enough has been accomplished to indicate the certainty of salutary reforms in the near future. Popular elections have never presented a more logical aspect than they do at this moment.

When it was proposed a quarter of a century ago to proceed with election reforms the believers in democracy were among the leaders in the movement. When it is proposed to proceed with reforms in the management of the direct primary, the friends of that system will not sit tight and demand that it be left alone. They will be among the first to urge changes to the end that the system may be perfected and made a real agency for the control of the government by the people. Once adopted it is as a result to disappear from the political arena. It is here to stay. The sooner that fact is recognized by its enemies as well as its friends the sooner will real progress be made in bringing it to a more workable condition.

FINED FOR ASSAULT.

Allen, Neb., May 20.—The case of Frank Scott against E. A. Williams on a charge of assault and battery was tried in the county court at Ponca before County Judge F. D. Pales, and the defendant was found guilty and fined $25 and costs, amounting to $39.85. Scott was working on the farm for Williams and trouble arose over wages. The case attracted much attention. The plaintiff was represented by the county attorney, C. A. Kingsbury, and the defendant by ex-Congressman H. J. Metchy. The defendant has appealed the case to the fall term of the district court.

Commencement Week.
This is a very important week for the six graduates of the Windside high school. The exercises started off nicely with the baccalaureate service Sunday evening. It was given by Rev. J. Bruce Wylie at the Methodist church. His theme presented the fact that a high school education opens the door of wisdom and offers the opportunity for a good education and a better life. The choir sang an especially beautiful anthem, entitled "Only Jesus." Last evening the class play, "Such a Life" was successfully staged by the senior class. Paul Simon as William Dillingham in an amusing original estate deal, who with his father-in-law, Gerald Leuck in the cast, attempt to boom bogus lots on Long Island. They succeed in selling some to an actress, Velma Hecht, but unfortunately she leaves her gloves in their yacht. They are found by Robert Slocum, who was impersonated by Ulrich Press. In the hope of winning favor from Miss Leuck, she takes the glove from her mother Pauline Dillingham who posed as Blanche Dillingham, the real estate agent. Together with her mother-in-law, she starts an investigation. Fabrics of all kinds follow. Annie Laubschlag and Mrs. John McKinney as Mr. and Mrs. Brooks arrive on the scene to complicate matters, as does Miss Leuck. After the play, the actress' husband, however, the ladies finally see the truth of the situation and everything ends happily. The acting was spirited throughout and the play was entertaining. The exercises will be held tonight at the auditorium, where Rev. W. L. Cannon will give the address.

Interesting Meeting.

Twenty-two years ago these two men, as boys, attended school together and they had not seen each other for seventeen years. While in Norfolk, Mr. Farrer chanced to be glancing over a Norfolk paper which had been wrapped around his old friend's letter to his mother. His eye fell upon Rev. Wylie's name and as soon as he discovered that his old schoolmate lived so near he determined to go to Windside to see him. Accordingly, the two men met in the city and Mr. Farrer had a jolly time recalling happenings of their boyhood days.
