DEMOCRACY HOLDS COUNTY CONVENTION

RINGING SPEECHES MADE

Set of Resolutions Adopted--Delegates to State Convention Are Duly Named.

Representatives of Wayne county democracy met in the district court room last Saturday afternoon, and passed resolutions, selected delegates to the state-convention, named a central committee and listened to speeches.

Walter Gaebler of Winside was chosen temporary chairman, and J. H. Kemp of Wayne temporary secretary, and the temporary organization was later made permanent. The following committees were appointed: On resolutions, C. J. Rindell, L. A. Kiplinger and E. O. Gardner; on delegates to state convention by acclamation: Philip H. Kohl, W. O. Hanssen, L. A. Kiplinger, Henry Bartels, J. H. Massie, Simon Strate, W. H. James, Charley Killian.

The following resolutions were adopted:

The democrats of Wayne county, in convention assembled join all thinking men and women (fathers and mothers) of America in praise to God for the defeat of William Howard Taft and Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, and tender our gratitude to Woodrow Wilson, who, in spite of active conspirators abroad and pretended patriotic leagues at home, has kept this republic with honor out of the consuming broils of the out-world war. He has so confounded those who criticize his diplomacy that they resort to joining the ruler of Mexico in charging him with desiring war to advance his political interests.

We most heartily commend the economic measures of the democratic administration which have resulted in such universal prosperity, such as has not been felt the people under any other rule, and has driven his critics to resort to their old tariff twaddle with its sophistry that the foreigner pays our tariff taxes. The wisdom of his militant and economic acts challenge the criticism, not only of its opponents in this country, but of the world, and its record both civil and militant has our most hearty endorsement.

We commend the officials of our state from governor down for the many economic reforms put in force for and for the thorough business methods in which the affairs of the state are being handled, and ask all citizens who believe in the economical administration of state affairs to endorse the past reforms by their vote in November.

To the end that the people of the state may be freed from the clutch of transportation and fuel monopoly, we urge that the members of the next legislature take decided steps toward providing for the public ownership and use of the water power of this state.

We heartily endorse the idea of a state tax of one cent per acre, the fund thus raised to be paid to relieve the losses inflicted by hail upon growing crops.

We commend the loyalty and patriotism of the young men who have been called to defend our southern border from the raids of a disorganized and impoverished people who are striving to free themselves from the oppressive hand of monopoly, and we recommend that this great and prosperous state give additional compensation to the men who have made this sacrifice. We believe that the men who fight for our country should not be asked to serve for less compensation than they received at home.

We favor the re-submission of the revenue amendment, so dishonestly defeated in 1914, that the taxing power of the state may be made more elastic and thus conform to more modern methods of raising the needed revenues for state expenses.

At the conclusion of the business two speeches were staged. L. A. Kiplinger talked on "The Democrats' National and State Administrations," and in the course of his remarks he spoke very favorably of both. Having first convinced himself, he talked courageously and encouragingly of the future, and his party optimism was endorsed by his auditors as evidenced by the applause he received. C. J. Rindell, democratic candidate for representative, gave the other speech, taking for his text "Republicanism vs. Democracy." His remarks indicated strong bias for democracy. He made a stirring speech, and was warmly applauded.

Among the Producers of Wayne County....

Fred Westerhaus.
The buildings on the 160-acre place, recently occupied by Fred Westerhaus are all new. It is located seven miles southwest of Wayne. The house, 32x32, is convenient in detail, and the barn, 31x42, is sufficiently large to house all the necessary. Mr. Westerhaus crops the land with fifty acres of wheat and oats and sixty acres of corn. Mr. Westerhaus is full of enterprise in detail, and is anxious to make his place one of the most desirable in the community.

H. W. Winterstein.
One hundred and twenty acres of the Morrison estate, six miles southwest of town has been farmed for the last seven years by H. W. Winterstein. This year, Mr. Winterstein has sixty acres of corn and about 100 acres of alfalfa. The farm is devoted to alfalfa and pasture. Two carloads of hogs have been finished for market during the past season, and there are now over seventy-five head in the yards. A herd of sixteen head of cattle includes several good milch cows. The buildings on this place are fair. A good grove and a running stream through the place are interesting features.

Charles Heikes.
Moving from Dakota City the first of March Charles Heikes began his operations on a 260-acre farm owned by Ed Owens and located one-half mile west of town. Mr. Heikes is a thorough good stock man, having at present sixty head of cattle and 620 head of hogs. As to crops he has 115 acres of corn, thirty-five acres of oats and eight acres of alfalfa. The balance of the acreage which is seeded to hay and pasture grasses. The improvements on this place are exceptionally good and its facilities and natural advantages for stock raising are all that could be desired.

L. G. Cook.
For fifteen consecutive years L. G. Cook has lived on a quarter section of land, four and one-half miles southwest of town, which he has made his home farm. Mr. Cook rents 135 acres, cropping the place in this way: One hundred five acres corn, ninety-five acres oats, fifteen acres alfalfa with the balance in good pasture and alfalfa. Not long ago Mr. Cook sold one car of hogs leaving him a herd totaling 185 head. He also has on hand thirty head of cattle. Good buildings as well as a fine orchard and grove enhance the value of this farm.

Fred Ellis.
This is the second year that a quarter section of land, three miles west of Wayne, owned by June Conger, has been farmed by his son-in-law, Fred Ellis. Besides sowing fifty acres of small grain and tending seventy acres of corn, Mr. Ellis has eighty head of hogs to care for. A new barn to be built this fall will make a substantial improvement on this place.

M. F. Jones.
M. F. Jones operates a half section of land, three and one-half miles southwest of Wayne. This farm is owned by D. A. Jones, one of Wayne and is equipped with a good set of buildings. The present tenant has the land which is under cultivation about equally divided between corn and oats. Both crops show a good even stand and promise a big yield. Mr. Jones has sown two carloads of hogs and still has 100 head of all ages on hand.

W. C. Wroebel.
For two years W. C. Wroebel has owned an eight, two and one-half miles straight south of town.

Call On... Wm. Piepenstock For

HARNESSES Saddles and Everything in Horse Furnishing Line

Also carry a full line of Trucks, suit cases, and gloves.

Mr. Wroebel has this year raised fifty-eight acres of corn and thirteen acres of oats. The remaining small acreage is in grass. After selling thirty head of hogs, Mr. Wroebel has thirty-two head still on hand. Good butternut, a good orchard and splendid place make this an attractive location.

W. Y. Miles.
Three-fourths of a mile west of town are the 337 acres of land which comprise the Rennick farm. For four years W. Y. Miles has been the tenant on this place which is a real home in that it has a big grove for the necessary protection, a large orchard to furnish an abundance of fruit, and a group of good buildings placed on an attractive site. Mr. Miles reports 165 acres corn, thirty-eight acres wheat, forty-five acres alfalfa, besides the acreage in pasture and hay. This farm, well adapted for stock and there are at present 250 hogs and forty-one cattle on hand. Two cars of cattle and one car of hogs were marketed last year.

Julius Knutsen.
This is the third year that Julius Knutsen has farmed a quarter section of the Hansen land, twelve miles southeast of Wayne. Mr. Knutsen is caring for eighty acres of corn, sixty acres of oats, which will soon be harvested. The remaining forty acres are seeded to pasture and alfalfa. As to stock on this farm, there are eighty head of hogs and six head of cattle of good type.

H. J. Hansen.
Twelve miles southeast of Wayne is a forty owned by H. J. Hansen. For thirty-two years he has made this his home. He raises an additional quarter section making him a total of 200 acres. One-half of this acreage is planted to corn and half that amount is in oats, the rest being used for pasture and hay land. Mr. Hansen has seventy head of good type hogs and a small herd of dairy cattle.

K. Henry Meyer.
For more than thirty years K. Henry Meyer has farmed a dandy quarter section, eight miles southwest of Wayne. His crop plan this year he has sixty acres of corn, and forty-two acres of oats. A good pasture and a heavy yielding hay field take up the remainder of the land. Mr. Meyer is a conservative stockman, having two cars of hogs and two cars of cattle the past season. He now has about 140 head of hogs of all ages. This place is well adapted for just such a combination of grain raising and live stock as Mr. Meyer is practicing.

Will F. Meyer.
For the past two years Will F. Meyer has been farming 170 acres, owned K. H. Meyer. This year he has sown for corn, 135 acres of corn and thirty-six acres of oats. The balance of the acreage is devoted to pasture and tame hay. Mr. Meyer had sixty-nine spring rosters when this data was taken. There are also two cars of hogs on hand. Mr. Meyer is much interested in stock and expects to enlarge along that line as rapidly as possible.

Frank Larson.
A stock farmer that needs no apologies is located six and one-half miles southeast of Wayne. The 400 acres in this farm are owned and operated by Frank Larson who was born and reared on this place. The stock raising here has been comprised of ten carloads of cattle and three cars of hogs. Another car of hogs is almost ready for market. Eighty-five head of stock cattle will also be fattened in the near future. As to spring pigs he has a car of 250 in addition to ten old hogs. Mr. Larson devotes 150 acres of his land to pasture and alfalfa, nearly all of which enter into the feeding of the hogs and cattle. The 250 acres under cultivation are divided into 140 acres corn, sixty acres oats and fifty acres wheat. Fine improvements and a productive orchard help to make this one of the desirable farms in the county.

August Dangberg.
August Dangberg is one of the early settlers of this county, having located thirty years ago on a choice quarter section of land five miles south of town. Mr. Dangberg has suffered ill health for some time and is now taking treatment at the Lutheran hospital in Sioux City. Mrs. Dangberg reports that her husband's health is improving, although not rapidly as they had hoped for. With competent help, the work on the farm is being pushed in spite of Mr. Dangberg's absence. Last year he raised 125 acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, and like amount of spring wheat and half that amount in fall wheat. This leaves enough land for a big pasture and quite an acreage of hay. After making one car of hogs, there are left thirty-eight head on the place. One hundred spring rosters and sixty old hogs are in the yards. This place is well improved, a new barn 42x56, being one of the buildings recently erected.

Louis Ulrich.
Five miles southwest of town lies the quarter section owned by Louis Ulrich, who has made his home here for twenty-eight years. For his crop scheme this season Mr. Ulrich has twenty-five acres each of oats and wheat and fifty-five acres of corn. The remaining fifty-five acres are devoted to pasture and hay. Mr. Ulrich has seventy hogs of all ages, and thirty-three cattle at present, having sold sixty head of hogs recently. This place is equipped with a set of good buildings with a fair sized grove and orchard forming an excellent background. A very productive vineyard is another noticeable feature.

Herman Suhrl.
Moving from Lincoln March 1, 1904, a farm situated on a 20-acre tract, southwest of town, owned by William Fehrs. He has 110 acres of corn and thirty-five acres of oats with pasture and meadow comprising the remainder. Mr. Suhrl becomes better established in this community, no doubt he will extend his live stock operations and thus realize a greater profit on the grain raised.

F. W. Vahlkamp.
For twenty-one years F. W. Vahlkamp has been located on a quarter section farm, four and one-half miles southwest of town. In addition to the main farm, Mr. Vahlkamp operates another forty, which he leases. This allows him ninety acres of corn, sixty-five acres of oats with a considerable acreage reserved for grass and hay. Mr. Vahlkamp is a dairy enthusiast. At present he is milking nine cows which bring him profitable returns each week. The place is well improved and is made attractive by heavy groves and orchards.

W. S. Brown.
For thirty years W. S. Brown has lived in this county. He now owns a fine half section of land, four miles south of Wayne. All but seventy acres of this land Mr. Brown operates as a home. In his farm, he has lived more than once, Mr. Brown has fully decided that the farm is the better place to live. And his farm is a pleasant place to visit, for the well arranged twelve-room house has all the modern conveniences on the orchard and grove. Mr. Brown has taken the Herald for thirty years and has been interested in watching the paper keep pace with the development of the country.

August Temme.
Moving from Wayne about a year ago, August Temme located on a quarter section, three and one-half miles southwest of town. In addition he rents ninety-five acres, and has a fine orchard, and the balance of the acreage for small grain and pasture. Mr. Temme has not had time to stock up very heavily as yet, but he has nineteen head of cattle and forty-six pigs on hand. He had a good start in the live stock business.

Charles S. Ash.
Charles S. Ash has lived on his splendid quarter-section of land one mile south of town for twenty years. Each inch of the land comprising this farm lies in a valley and it is for this reason, exceptionally fertile and productive. For crops Mr. Ash has sixty acres corn and forty acres oats, the other sixty having been seeded to pasture and alfalfa. In addition he has a one-half car of hogs and one car of cattle. Mr. Ash still has 150 head of hogs and fifty cattle. The improvements on this farm are all substantial. The big barn 40x40 is equipped with a full size storage basement. There is also five-foot basement under the hog house. The house is fitted with waterworks and a heating plant. Mr. Ash and family are especially well located for they are within easy reaching distance of town and yet are far enough out to take advantage of all the resources of country life.

Henry Krieger.
Twenty-four years on one place and at one job is a fairly good record, yet that is the showing Henry Krieger has made on his farm, nine miles southwest of town. Mr. Krieger has been a steady applicant and required a splendid half section of land, which he has converted into a large farm. Last season he marketed two car loads each of hogs and cattle, and has at present 160 head of hogs, and forty-five head of cattle that will feed out in good condition.

From Ponca Journal, July 13, 1892. "Poet Rockwell, now in Wayne writes to Mr. Mattison of this place that he has not yet given up his journey to Washington territory, and if he can sell his horses and wagon he will go on the cars.

The Sioux City West, of the 30th, says: "T. C. West, formerly in the mercantile business at Ponca and still a resident of that town, yesterday showed a reporter some specimens he had found on a forty-acre tract he owns north of Ponca.

One looked like a poor quality of pulverized shoe leather, and on being rubbed between the fingers gave a gloss such as lampendul dust imparts. This, Mr. West said, is plumbago, the material from which pencils and stoveblack is made.

Another specimen produced looks like hardpan clay, only more pure. This has a strong taste of alum. Mr. West says that a capitalist has offered to put up $10,000 and go the following.

We have received an interesting communication from J. C. LaFollette of this place, which for lack of room we cannot detail in a shorter article than the 12th of April he has been building a farm-house for Mr. Adams McPherson of Elk Valley, Dakota county. The house is large, the main part of it being 14 by 23 with an addition 14 by 20. Under the house is a cellar, 14 by 20 feet. The house has thirteen doors and twenty-four windows. The entire cost was $1,500.00 and is the best of its kind for convenience and comfort he has ever seen.

The material used in the building is all of first class, and the work was done in a first class manner, and the house is now one of the best finished in northern Nebraska. Mr. LaFollette says that in that part of the county the crops all look well and that improvements and prosperity is the general rule among the citizens.

RECEIVE SALARIES WHILE WITH GUARD

Liberal provisions for the coming twelve months are made by the Bell Telephone system for its employees.

The Bell Telephone system has granted for the first three months and the fraction of the month in which the men are called to the colors. For the remaining nine months salaries will continue to be paid for the government.

Upon the return from duty employees will be given employment as far as the needs of telephone service will permit.

At the end of twelve months further consideration of these provisions will be made.

The policy announced is as follows: "Employees of the Bell System who, on the 18th of June, 1916, were members of the national guard or naval militia, and who have been called into service by orders issued accordance with the proclamation of the president of the United States of that date, or who may be called into service by similar orders, shall be allowed full pay at the normal rate in effect on that date in each case, during absence in such service not to exceed three full months and the fraction of the month which may be similar service, and thereafter for a period not exceeding nine additional months, full pay at such rate less the amount in each case paid by the government.

Such employees will also be considered, for the purposes of the Employees' Benefit Plan, as being continuously employed in the system while absent on such duty and upon return from such duty or after honorable discharge, will be given such employment as the needs of the service will permit and the employee is able and fitted to perform.

On account of the importance of our service to the government and public interest of war we must take care not to cripple it. Therefore, the names of those who are willing to enlist hereafter will be noted and if subsequently desired by the government, we will aid in supplying skilled men for the particular service for which men specially trained are required. Those who hereafter enlist with the company's approval will be treated in the same manner as employees who were members of the national guard or naval militia on June 18, 1916.

"Further consideration in due time will be given to the matter of service beyond the period herein provided for. In case the state or federal makes provision for dependents of the men in service, or the situation is otherwise substantially changed, this arrangement may be modified as in the judgment of the companies, the changed conditions may warrant."

FATAL FALL. Stuart, Neb., July 8. - A. L. Thurman, a barber of this city, fell down the cellar steps at his home yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, receiving injuries from which he died at 8:30 o'clock last night. His skull was fractured and he did not regain consciousness. Dr. Root of Bassett and Dr. Campbell of Tilden were called to attend to him, but were unable to avail. Mrs. Thurman is prostrated with grief and her condition is said to be serious.

Mr. Thurman was very popular and his sudden death was a great shock to the community.

Ep. Route, Sunday, July 9, 1916.

Thursday morning brought us rumors that we were to entertain our thirty-six boys. Later in the day the actual orders came and we received notice that we would leave on Friday morning.
Thursday evening was another big night on the grounds. Hundreds of visitors were present. Among those from Wayne were: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Midler and Ted, Mrs. Meier and Mrs. Kate Carpenter, coming in Mr. Midler's car.
Chaplain Becher of the Fifth held a communion service from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m. in the auditorium this same evening for the boys of both regiments who desired to attend. A large number were there and there was one baptism.
We were awakened about 4 o'clock Friday morning and the camp was a scene of real activity until we got away. The bed-ticks were emptied of their straw and each man made up his pack in the preparation of leaving.
The company led the column which marched to the Burlington coaches south of the fair grounds. Newspaper reports had stated that we would have Pullman and tourist cars, but such was not the case. Companies E, F, G, and H, the band, supply department and officers occupied the special train consisting of twelve coaches, one Pullman, one Pullman and one Pullman in the rear. We are using the same equipment through to our destination.
Left Lincoln at 10:20 a. m. and enjoyed a five-hour ride through Nebraska and the "show me" state to St. Joseph. A few more hours' ride and we were in Kansas City.
At Kansas City the M. K. & T. took charge and then we had a suspicion that we were going to Texas.

After a considerable wait at Rosedale, Kas., across from Kansas City we left at 7:40 p. m. and soon were being carried across the fertile plains of southeast Kansas, which section seemed to be in a very prosperous condition.
Passed through Parsons, Kas., during the night and early Saturday morning, found us at Muskogee, Okla. The ride from the latter city to the state line was through a country containing much timber, interspersed with small acreages of corn, cotton or other crops. We saw very few great fields like those in our state.
The first city of importance in Texas that came to our vision was Denison. Arrived in Dallas in the early afternoon. There is surely a large and up-to-date city. At Dallas free picture postcards, postage included were distributed which were much appreciated by the boys.
Arrived in Waco in the evening where we were given more postal cards and better treats for which we were also very grateful.
The fertile prairie country from Denison to Waco was a constant reminder of our own fair Nebraska. We saw great fields of grain in shocks, stacks or already threshed and ripening fields of corn, and cotton also and some of that in bloom. As a general rule, however, there is a conspicuous absence of up-to-date farm houses like those at home. Of course, this is not true, but not in the same proportion. And there is a noticeable lack of a general progressive spirit like that of the north.
We told that we passed through Austin, the state capital city, during Saturday night. Arrived in Houston Sunday morning. This morning and were there several hours. Houston is about fifty miles from the Gulf of Mexico. Had an opportunity to eat a good breakfast here and get Sunday paper.
Left about 9 a. m. over the St. L. & N. to toward Brownsville. A couple of the trains were consolidated and there are between forty and fifty cars in this one now.
Today we have enjoyed several varieties of scenery. Long stretches of plains, then miles and miles of prairie, then through a section of fine farms with growing crops of corn, cotton, rice and other products.
We have not at any time today been over fifty miles perhaps from the Gulf and it is a writing this a pleasant, cooling breeze coming in through the open car window.
The boys appear to be in as good spirits as ever and I once more take shape. The barn is 36x44 with an adjoining eight foot shed. In crops Mr. Krieger reports 125 acres corn, forty acres oats and a small acreage of alfalfa. This leaves almost half of his farm for pasture and hayland. The building site on this farm is made attractive by orchards and groves. It is indeed one of the best places of which Wayne county may well be proud.

Louis Schulte.

A farm that has recently been improved by three new buildings is that of Louis Schulte, vice of one-half mile southwest of town. The farm 36x40, a new corn crib and granary combined, and a modern hog house, 18x40, are the late improvements. Mr. Schulte goes into live stock on a conservative scale. Last season he marketed a car load of hogs and about thirty to two head of cattle and about three times that number of hogs. In addition to a generous acreage in pasture and hayland, Mr. Schulte reports ninety-three acres of corn, twenty acres of alfalfa, and twenty-five acres of alfalfa. Mr. Schulte has been located on this farm for eighteen consecutive years.

William Koch.

For twenty-three years William Koch has lived on a farm, a half section, located eight and one-half miles southwest of Wayne. He has seen bad years and good years, but taken as a whole, he is willing to put his O. K. on Wayne county. This year he is farming to the extent of 100 acres of corn, and ninety acres of small grain. Forty acres in clover, alfalfa and timothy provide for his horses and cowboys. His head, having marketed one-half car long ago. One hundred is his total in hogs, one car of which he shipped recently. The improvements on the whole are good, a new corn crib being one of the more recent additions. A productive orchard and a big ash and maple grove evidence the fact that in early days Mr. Koch spent time and money in beautifying the home grounds as well as in producing bumper crops.

Louis Thies.

Another good stock farm is that operated by Louis Thies for the past nine years. It comprises 240 acres and is located eight and one-half miles southwest of Wayne and four and one-half miles from the Meyer place. The quality of the stock produced on this farm can be judged by the fact that two car loads of fat steers recently sold at $10.25 in Omaha. After marketing a car load of hogs, Mr. Thies still has 130 head of hogs in the yards. In crops, Mr. Thies has 125 acres in corn, forty acres in oats, twenty acres each in alfalfa and clover.

W. F. Danberg.

W. F. Danberg is farming a quarter section of his father's land, eight miles southwest of town. In addition he rents a quarter section of other parties, cropping the 320 acres in this way: Fifty acres oats, forty acres wheat, thirty acres alfalfa, 135 acres corn. In addition to the heavy work in the field due to such a big acreage of corn, Mr. Danberg cares for fifty head of hogs and cattle. The buildings on this place, however, Mr. Danberg is fortunate in being located just two miles from a live country church.

Bert Surber.

On the first of March, Bert Surber moved on the 120-acre Reiser farm, seven miles southwest of town. Twenty acres, rented from other parties, having been very successful of 140 acres which he divides into sixty acres corn, twenty acres oats and a good-sized pasture and hay meadow. Mr. Surber has a drove of almost a 100 hogs of all ages. Mr. Surber has the very best stock with chickens of the thoroughbred Barred Rock strain. At present his 450 small chicks and about seventy old hens.

A. C. Dean.

Four years ago A. C. Dean gave up his position as operator in the Wayne station and after taking a short course at the university station farm, he began his farming operations on one-half mile southwest of town. This farm is well equipped for stock raising and Mr. Dean is now feeding eighty-six head to be marketed for baby beef. Mr. Dean is trying out a new system of feeding, whereby the stock is not confined to the yards at all. They are allowed to run on a pasture of sweet clover and blue grass, and whatever grain is fed is given them in the field, thus eliminating the work of cleaning up the yards. Mr. Dean plans to have a herd of about 150 hogs following each bunch of cattle to pick up any grain that might otherwise be wasted. At the time of this visit there was a bunch of thirty little pigs and twelve sows. Recent stock shipments from this farm comprise one car each of hogs and cattle. The entire farm, except sixty acres, is seeded in pasture. This new type of feeding is certainly worth a trial, and the sample will watch results of Mr. Dean's experiment with interest. The spacious, well-planned house on the Dean farm attracts much attention. It is finished entirely in oak and is equipped with a new heating system and an electric light plant. When groves and fruit and ornamental trees have had time to grow into a beautiful background, this will indeed be an attractive home.

Jacob Reibold.

Jacob Reibold is the tenant on a half section, nine miles southwest of town, owned by George Von Seggern. This year Mr. Reibold has 135 acres of corn, 110 acres of small grain, twenty-six acres of alfalfa with the balance of the land in pasture. Mr. Reibold has every promise of a large yield in both corn and small grain. Mr. Reibold has a herd of thirty-one head of stock cattle of good type.

Henry Meyer.

Within half a mile of town is a very desirable eighty, owned by Henry Meyer for the last five years. By raising a small drove of hogs each year, and by milking several good cows along with intensive farming of the land, Mr. Meyer has made his operations successful. Last season he marketed forty head of hogs, and now he has the same number of young pigs besides seventeen old hogs. At present there are eight cows in the yard and the Meyer place. Twenty-five acres of corn, and fifteen acres of oats comprise the grain crop this year. A good orchard is another winning feature on this farm.

Claus Rathmann.

For four years Claus Rathmann has operated a quarter section, twelve miles southwest of Wayne. He has lived his land in alfalfa and corn, twenty-five acres of small grain, with the other land in alfalfa and groves. After selling 100 head of hogs, Mr. Rathmann has that many more in the yards. He also has thirty-five head of good stock cattle. The buildings on this place are good, making the farm especially adaptable for a combination of grain raising and live stock.

Jens Christensen.

Jens Christensen is raising from fifty to two acre, bean farming on the Splitzer farm, twelve miles southwest of town. His farm comprises 110 acres, forty of which are planted to corn, twelve to alfalfa and the balance to small grain. Mr. Christensen has a total of over eighty hogs, sixty of which are this spring's stock. Mr. Christensen likes his present location and expects to stay by Wayne county.

W. D. Hughes.

W. D. Hughes farms a quarter section, eight miles from Winside and fourteen miles from Wayne, which is owned by Curt Bengshoff. In addition he rents sixty acres of alfalfa and crops his land with twenty acres corn, fifty acres alfalfa, sixty acres oats and a considerable acreage of pasture and heavy yielding hay land. A noticeable feature on this place is the stock. Mr. Hughes has only eleven head of cattle. He has a drove of sixty stock hogs. A young grove and orchard give promise of future protection and beauty.

Fred Baird.

Another of Breun's progressive farmers is Fred Baird, who for the past eight years has farmed 200 acres, twelve miles southwest of town, owned by Joseph Baird. This year Mr. Baird has one hundred and forty in oats. The rest of the place is seeded to alfalfa and pasture. As to stock there are a total of 120 hogs and fifteen head of cattle. One car of stock was recently marketed. The house is large, new and modern. The barn, which is of recent construction and is 36x50, Mr. Baird is enthusiastic about his work and spares no time or energy to make his a successful farm.

Luther Milliken.

For four years Luther Milliken has rented the 160-acre Brune farm, lying five and one-half miles southwest of town. He is busy now laying by his sixty acres of corn in time to begin the harvesting of sixty acres of small grain. In the winter stock Mr. Milliken has twenty-five cattle and sixty head of hogs. The work horses on this farm, seven in number, are of a fine quality.

O. W. Milliken.

A fair-sized orchard furnishes an abundance of the best varieties of fruits while a heavy grove affords adequate protection. The buildings are all in good repair, the barn being just recently constructed.

O. W. Milliken.

In addition to the home farm of 160 acres, O. W. Milliken rents enough additional land to afford him the following crop: One hundred eighty acres corn, fifty acres each of oats and spring wheat, twenty-five acres alfalfa and a good sized pasture. Besides managing this extensive crop layout, Mr. Milliken has a total of 100 head of hogs and twenty-five head of stock and dairy cattle together. Last season Mr. Milliken realized a good profit on a car load of cattle and half car of hogs. Most of the buildings on this place are new and plans are being made to erect a modern hog house 40x24. The building site is well protected by grove and orchard.

Carl E. Wright.

For several years Carl E. Wright engaged in farming in Montana, but two years ago he and his family returned to Wayne, locating seven and one-fourth miles southwest of Wayne. His first season cropping in this quarter section with sixty-five acres corn, forty-five acres small grain, ten acres in pasture, with the balance in alfalfa. Mr. Wright marked ninety spring pigs, seventy-five shoats and twenty old hogs. He also has two cars of calves in the yards, having already shipped one car this season. The place is well equipped for stock, the buildings are new, and there is a hog house, modern in every detail. An orchard of fifty apple trees besides an abundance of cherries and other small fruit are minor items in favor of this place. Mr. Wright is a thoroughly progressive farmer. He has a large crew of men, and with which to do most of the heavy work, thus lessening the amount of hired labor required to operate the farm and rendering the task less strenuous at many points.

William E. Wade.

The first of March William E. Wade of Pilger, moved on the John M. Barrett half section of land, seven and one-half miles southwest of town. Mr. Wade has been more than busy cultivating 200 acres of corn, and now 100 acres of small grain just beginning to turn will claim his attention. If the favorable weather continues, Mr. Wade will certainly have an enormous crop of grain and alfalfa in the fields. In order to get the field work done on time and in the most satisfactory manner, Mr. Wade keeps fourteen horses, capable of standing all kinds of hard work. There are also twenty cattle and about thirty pigs on this place. Mr. Wade is surely a hustler, and cannot fail to make good in so rich a country.

Henry Glassmeyer.

For four years Henry Glassmeyer has had possession of a 160-acre farm, seven and one-half miles southwest of town. This year Mr. Glassmeyer has sixty acres each of corn and oats with the balance of the acreage in pasture and hayland. Along with his crops, Mr. Glassmeyer makes a herd of nine cows, which he declares net him very profitable returns. At the time this visit was made, Mr. Glassmeyer had twenty-five hogs in the yards about to farrow, and fifty small piglets. He has a bunch of twelve calves. Thought and labor have been expended on the planning and upkeep of the home premises. A good orchard and inviting grove are two attractive features.

Walter Taylor.

The ranch, twelve miles southwest of town, comprising 500 acres and owned by William Remick, has been farmed for the past three years by Walter Taylor. When these figures were taken Mr. Taylor had 115 head of cattle, but since that time he has shipped five cars, marketing them at a high figure. Earlier in the season he had shipped two cars of cattle and these shipments together with four cars of small grain make a total of finished stock which has left this farm in one season. It is evident that so much stock requires enormous amounts of grain and other foods. This year, Mr. Taylor is raising 215 acres of corn, fifty acres of small grain besides cutting at least three crops on a fifty-acre patch of alfalfa. Then there is an excellent meadow of forty acres and a good sized pasture. This ranch is a busy place at all times. It is equipped with good buildings, and the work of caring for live stock is made as easy as possible.

Charles Goebbert.

Twelve and one-half miles southwest of town is a quarter section of land, owned by George Beres and successfully operated for five years by Charles Goebbert. The following crops are reported for this year: Ninety acres corn, fifty-two acres oats, with the remaining acres devoted to pasture and hay land. Although Mr. Goebbert does not make a specialty of live stock, yet last season he marketed a car load of hogs of splendid type and now has sixty head in his yards. He also has twenty head of cattle, most of which are milk cows of a good strain.

Henry Westerhaus.

When a young man, Henry Westerhaus came over from Germany to try his fortune in America. For the last twenty-five years he has lived on a 400-acre farm, seven miles southwest of town. It speaks well for his industry and managing ability that he has been able to acquire so valuable a piece of property. Mr. Westerhaus reports the following as his crops for the year: One hundred twenty acres corn, sixty-five acres wheat, ninety acres of oats, with the balance of the place in valley hayland which yields enormous crops. Mr. Westerhaus is engaged in both cattle and hogs and raises both to quite an extent. At present he has 4,000 bushels of old corn which he is undecided whether to sell or feed to stock. All the buildings on this place are modern

Children's Diseases

Most diseases that man suffers could be prevented if the influence of the Spine as a causative factor were recognized. About 95 per cent of all diseases in children and adults are dependent upon traumatic causes. In children, falls and restlessness in play are responsible for nearly all the trouble they suffer from, as the control of children during play is practically an impossibility. Therefore, to forestall the possibility of disease in children, parents should insist upon an examination of the spine being made every six months. Nature always tries to make the best of a bad situation; health is only a relative condition, and while many parents are under the impression their children are enjoying robust health, if an examination of the spine be made, displaced vertebrae are reasonably certain to be found, that are sure to produce future trouble unless corrected.

A bright youth just on the verge of manhood, the pride of fond parents, is gone. 'Tis not for those on earth to question why. Yet as our hearts are filled with sympathy for the family at this time we cannot help wondering the reason why he was not allowed to stay. There are no other members of the family sick at this time. One daughter, Edna, is just getting over the fever.

Lincoln Journal.—Among the leaders in the uprising of the middle '90's against abuses of power by American captains of industry was Colliers' Weekly. As a sign of the times, therefore, we find nothing sadder just now than discussion in the magazine of "Our Financial Stake in Mexico." The respectful way in which former malefactors of great wealth are here addressed suggests that the turn of time has now brought us into complete "opposition" to 1916.

We read of the "masterful ambition" of Huntington. When we were bawling out the crimes-of-the-Southern Pacific, ten years ago, the "masterful ambition" of Huntington was described in uglier if not shorter words. The "frenzy" of the Guggenheims is a friendly description not common in the days when a Colorado Guggenheim was financing his way into the United States senate. Now we read of the "vision of Harriman" and the "courage and sacrifice" of the captains in general who have put a billion dollars into the development and exploitation of Mexico. We were less kindly ten years ago.

Fifteen years ago the country was fawning upon its "captains of industry." We had come from the depths of depression into the light of prosperity, associated with the names of Mark Hanna and the trust building Morgan, and to their kind all was the praise for our deliverance. Then, like a clap from a clear sky, came exposures such as the life insurance liberties taken by some of these captains. For years at that it took a brave man to say a good word for a millionaire. Now we have been through another depression, and the king of financial empires is clearly coming back to favor, which may be a sign that we feel better and realize a need to give thanks to somebody for our deliverance. When such times come, the "empire builders" are always at hand to receive our homage.

It is to be hoped we shall not go to such lengths in adoration of the conquerors of the financial and business world as we did when last these had their day. For if we are immoderate in our praises, we shall be also immoderate in the blame which is to follow. It is best, indeed, to stick to the facts as far as they can be ascertained, which will mean neither deification of the plutocrats nor unrestrained vilification. These gentlemen are about as other men. They are successful in acquiring power, and when men are after power they are not apt to be squeamish as to methods. It is one of the constant curses of the people of the United States to keep these strenuous champions bound. No matter how many "empires" they build we can't have them running senates and owning political parties. Neither is it necessary to hate them. To keep their great money interests of the country from owning and controlling the country, the age long contest between money and men, is the perennial hide and seek of American politics and American economic adjustment. The working out of that contest calls for neither eras of adulation nor eras of expatiation, but for a steady evolution of democratic forces. We trust that present tendencies to glorify the kings of business over men in a war of unrestrained rule by big business and its sequence, another unrestrained reaction against it.

Constipation and Indigestion.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and must say they are the best I have ever used for constipation and indigestion. My wife also used them for indigestion and they did her good," writes Eugene S. Knight, Wilmington, N. C. Chamberlain's Tablets are mild and gentle in their action. Give them a trial. You are certain to be pleased with the agreeable laxative effect which they produce. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS.

Sioux City Journal: Announcement that the entente allies are laying plans for a postwar coalition is causing not a little worry among far-sighted American business men. While details have not been published, it is understood that Great Britain, Russia, France, Japan, Italy and the other nations interested in the entente intend to arrange their tariff schedules, shipping regulations, etc., to shut out the trade of Germany, Austria and their associates in the present war. It is expected that the allies also will bring such pressure as they may be able to exert to bear on neutral to secure their cooperation in the work of bottling up the Teutons in world trade.

A reactionary commercial alliance will be formed by the central empires as a matter of course, and will resort to life expedients to build up their own foreign trade at the expense of the allies. As the greatest fields for European trade after the war will be the United States and South America, where the United States also is figuring on building up a large trade, it will readily be seen that American business and diplomacy will be intimately connected with the operations of the entente. The ideal situation from the American standpoint would be one in which the United States could keep on terms with both groups and trade with both without discrimination. Whether it will be possible to approximate such a solution of the problem is a question over which there may be much debate. The best solution would be an agreement in the form of a peace treaty against continuing the struggle in the commercial field.

In the stock market last week specialties came in for some heavy bombardment. The drive was started by the strength of the disclosure that the administration is planning a revenue tax on munitions production. It was supported by information to the effect that some war contracts have fallen far short of the profits anticipated when they were undertaken.

competitive buying shows abatement on the whole, although there is a remarkably small falling off in the volume of production. The steel, wool and cotton industries are enjoying the most prosperous periods in their history.

Crop prospects have been materially improved by the midsummer weather.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches and Pains of Wayne People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and generally when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys.

No need to take the statement of someone living far away as evidence. Here is a case right in this locality.

R. D. Alter, carpenter, Wakefield, Neb., says: "I suffered from kidney complaint. My back was lame and painful and my kidneys were not acting right. I had headaches and dizzy spells and at times my sight was very poor. Through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, my health improved."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—see Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Alter had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
