

PUBLICATIONS HOLD COUNTY CONVENTION

ADOPT BRIEF PLATFORM

Delegates to State Convention and County Committee are Daily Chosen.

The republican county convention held in the district court room in Wayne Saturday afternoon, selected delegates to the republican state convention, named a county central committee and adopted a set of resolutions. All precincts excepting six were represented and the business of the convention moved along smoothly and satisfactorily.

The average county convention of today does not arouse the fervid excitement which was evident in meetings of the kind under the old order some years ago when officers were hung upon as possible prizes.

Mr. S. Linn of Carroll, was elected temporary chairman and C. J. French temporary secretary.

A committee on resolutions was appointed as follows: Fred S. Berry, J. E. Hancock, Dr. J. J. Williams, H. E. Siman, and Mat Jones.

We, the republicans of Wayne county, Neb., in convention assembled, hereby endorse the platform adopted by the national convention at Chicago, and pledge our undivided and enthusiastic support to the same.

We heartily endorse John L. Kennedy for United States senator and William P. Warner for congress, and our candidates for state and county offices, and we pledge them our support.

We favor a more economical administration of state affairs, and urge that every possible effort be made to reduce the taxation to our people.

We condemn the efforts of state officers who are attempting to pass themselves off as patriots, and especially the actions of the present state food commissioner who, without a voice of protest from any member of the present democratic state administration, attempts to seize an office for the next six years to come.

County Central Committee. The Wayne county central committee was chosen as follows: Garfield, Art Ziegler, Woking, Gus Schroeder, Sherman, T. A. Jackson, Hunter, Will Cunningham, Chapin, William Prince.

Whiter, Oscar Johnson, Winside, H. E. Siman, Wayne First ward, John Shannon, Wayne Second ward, G. A. Lamberson, Wayne, Third ward, L. C. Gildersleeve.

Hancock, S. H. Rew, Brown, James Baird, Strahan, August Witter, Plum Creek, George Berrie, Leslie, Amos Longe, Logan, Charles E. Heikes.

The following delegates were chosen to represent Wayne county in the state convention on recommendation of a committee: John D. Williams, M. S. Linn, F. S. Berry, G. S. Mears, G. E. French, S. E. Anker, E. W. Closson, C. W. Anderson, August Behmer, Dr. J. J. Williams, H. E. Siman, and Charles G. Speckles.

Rev. W. L. Gaston was called on for a speech, and responded in a very acceptable manner. He excused the democratic administration for its blundering and inefficiency on account of lack of experience. He complimented President Wilson as a scholarly gentleman, but one who is unequal to the task of chief executive of a great nation. The speaker eulogized Hughes as a statesman and a man of his caliber. Mr. Gaston was followed by F. S. Berry and H. E. Siman each of whom endorsed the sentiments expressed by the first speaker, and added with emphasis good words in behalf of the congressional candidacy of William P. Warner. S. E. Anker made a brief talk in which he strongly upheld republican principles and urged united support of such principles in November.

REASSURING REPORT ABOUT STATE'S CROPS

Omaha, Dec. 27. The greatest wheat crop in the history of Nebraska has been harvested. What is true of wheat is also true of oats and what is true of wheat and oats promises to be true with reference to corn. Such is the information conveyed by the weekly crop report of the Northwestern Railroad company for the week ending Saturday night.

The Northwestern lines cover a goodly portion of the wheat and corn belt of Nebraska and the data relative to crops is gathered weekly by the company agents and sent to headquarters here.

The report for last week indicated that throughout Nebraska all of the wheat has been harvested and considerable threshing done. Wheat is yielding twenty-five to thirty-five bushels per acre and generally is grading No. 2 hard. Oats are turning out anywhere from thirty to forty bushels per acre and are grading high.

In practically all localities in the area covered by the Northwestern, rains have been timely and copious. Very few localities are in need of moisture and corn is making a wonderful growth.

MUSIC OF HIGH ORDER WAYNE STATE NORMAL

On Monday evening Walter Allen Stults, basso-contralto of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., gave a concert program of chamber entertainment concert at the Normal. Mr. Stults is possessed of an excellent voice and has developed a remarkable technique. The program contained much music of the highest order and the singing was greatly enjoyed. Perhaps the best number of the evening was the aria from "Simon Boccanegra" by Verdi. Mr. Stults is the voice instructor of Miss Ardath Conn and was entertained during his stay in Wayne at the home of the president of the Normal.

READING AND MUSIC PLEASE LARGE CROWD

Last Thursday night Miss Josephine M. Mack as reader and the Male quartet of the Normal gave a very interesting program in the auditorium. The quartet sang both classical and popular music and acquitted themselves well. Miss Mack read "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" in a manner fitted to the sympathetic tone of the program. Both the reading and the music were greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Harry Linton who has been studying at Grand Island Baptist college during the school year, was visiting with Wayne friends between trains yesterday, going to spend some time with relatives in Hartington.

A. L. Row arrived Saturday noon by auto from Grand Island, and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Trumbauer in Wayne. Mr. Row and Mr. Trumbauer drove to Emerson Saturday afternoon, the latter returning to Wayne by rail Sunday evening.

Miss Elsie Ford Piper expects to leave Saturday to spend her vacation in the east. She will visit her sister, Mrs. Clark Hagenbach at Cleveland, and then go to New York City to spend some time with another sister, Miss Jane L. Piper, who is studying at Columbia university.

G. W. Barker arrived yesterday morning from Chicago and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Spahr the first of the week. He is spending today with his step daughter, Mrs. David A. Cronhardt of Luther, Md., who is a guest of Miss Elsie Ford Piper in Wayne. Barker expects to return to Chicago tomorrow.

Mrs. Agnes Kiplinger returned Tuesday morning from a visit of several weeks with friends and relatives at Freepoor and Chicago. Four of the sisters of the family were together for some time in Illinois. One sister, Mrs. Harrier Cook of Dallas, Texas, accompanied Mrs. Kiplinger home to visit her in Wayne.

Mrs. E. B. Young returned Friday from Orestis, Minn., where she has spent a week with her mother, Mrs. D. A. Harden, who is quite ill. Mrs. Young returned to Wayne sooner than she had expected on account of learning that Mr. Young had fallen on a ladder and fractured one of his ribs. Mr. Young is able to about again by this time.

APPRECIATION

July 25, 1916. "Mr. Frank S. Morgan, Secretary N. O. A. Wayne, Neb. "Dear Sir: "Upon the undersigned committee has devolved the pleasant task of conveying to your local association an appreciation of the work of your committee. The committee is greatly indebted to the acknowledgments of the tennis men, who enjoyed the many pleasures of the past week at Wayne. "The tournament itself was undoubtedly the most successful in the history of the organization, the character of the play being high class; the contests well fought and interest well sustained. This fortunate result was largely due to the weather conditions, the splendid condition of the playing courts at all times, and the large crowds attending each day's play. "But even more noteworthy was the unstinted and never ceasing hospitality of our hosts, and it is this particular feature we wish to particularly acknowledge at this time. We realize how arduous the undertaking to provide entertainment for so long a time, but we feel we can safely say that each guest left Wayne feeling that he had been marked for special attentions and courtesies. "May we therefore, in behalf of the entire membership of the Nebraska Tennis association, extend our sincere thanks to your association and splendid little city for the pleasures of the past week. "Cordially yours, Ralph E. Weaverling, North Bend, John Madden, Omaha, Charles Patterson, Arapahoe, Harold Partridge, Fremont.

OMAHA MEN WINNERS

In the finals at the tennis meet, Ralph Powell of Omaha won the championship singles, and he and Hanighen, also of Omaha, took the prize on doubles.

DEATH OF MRS. KEEFFE SHOOKS COMMUNITY

The news of the death of Mrs. Richard H. Keeffe at Miles City, Montana last December caused many hearts to ache in this community. Prior to her marriage to Mr. Keeffe of Sioux City, on June 8, 1916, she was Miss Margaret Carroll, well known throughout this section of the state. Margaret Carroll was born in Winneschick county, Iowa, on May 17, 1889. When three years of age, she came to Wayne county with her parents, who settled on a farm, ten miles northeast of Randolph. She completed her elementary education in the rural schools, and later entered the Wayne Normal. After taking a short course in that institution, she taught for three years in the country. Soon after her final graduation from the Normal she was chosen head of the department of elocution, Miss Carroll was very successful in her work here, but resigned in order to take up more advanced study in the Columbia School of Expression at Chicago, from which school she has graduated in 1911. Her skill as a teacher and her natural adaptability to dramatic work led her to establish the Carroll School of Dramatic Expression at Sioux City. It was in this school that she attained her greatest success and popularity. Miss Carroll had devoted her entire time and energy to this work until the time of her marriage about six weeks ago. Her husband, the late William Keeffe, officiating, and she and her husband left immediately for Miles City, Mont., where they spent the few short weeks of happy domestic life. Mrs. Keeffe had been ill only few days, but her death came as a great shock to her mother, who was on her way to Miles City to visit her. The funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church at Randolph Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The celebrant of the solemn requiem of High Mass was the Rev. William Kearns of Wayne, assisted by the Rev. B. Lordeman of Randolph and Rev. F. Kings of Osmond. The services were delivered by Rev. William Kearns. Besides her husband, and mother, Mrs. E. Brothel, the deceased leaves six children and two sisters, all of Randolph. The funeral was largely attended at the home of the deceased and the depth of their sorrow it was evident that the deceased knew well how to cement the bond of friendship between herself and others. The sincere sympathy of the community extended to the sorrowing family, and many kind relatives in the lags of their loved one.

HOW TO GET THIS $225 ALUMINUM GRIDDLE AT A SAVING OF $140

Get 60 cents worth of Karo from your grocer, and send the labels to us together with 85 cents and we'll send you this $2.25 Solid Aluminum Griddle by prepaid parcel post.

HERE is a clean cash saving of $140—and thousands of housewives have already taken advantage of this remarkable chance to get an aluminum griddle for less than the wholesale price.

This Aluminum Griddle needs no greasing. It doesn't chip or rust. It heats uniformly over entire baking surface—doesn't burn the cakes in one spot and leave them underdone in another. It doesn't smoke up the kitchen—and the cakes are more digestible than when fried in grease.

At great expense we are seeking to place a Karo Aluminum Griddle in the homes of all Karo users, so that Karo—the famous spread for griddle cakes and waffles—may be served on the most deliciously baked cakes that can be made.

You know Karo, of course. Nearly everybody does—65,000,000 cans sold last year alone. And you can't know the wonderful cleanliness and durability of Aluminum wares.

If you are a Karo user already then you know all about this wonderful saving—you know how fine it is as a spread for breads, how delicious it is with griddle cakes, waffles, hot biscuits and corn bread.

Get 50 cents worth of Karo from your grocer at once, and send the labels and 85 cents (P. O. money order or stamps) to us and get one of these Aluminum Griddles by prepaid parcel post.

Remember that our supply is going fast—so get your Karo today. We will also send you free one of the famous Cora Products Cook Books.

Geo. T. Porter were communing together in the former's office Saturday when some one brought in copies of the Logan Valley Herald, published July 20, 1883. The judge found among the advertisements which included that of his own store, one of the store of Henry Lee.
In the Lee advertisement he noticed mention of W. A. Wood mowers and Domestic sewing machines, and calling attention to the fact, the sheriff testified that he bought one of the mowers and one of the sewing machines from the Lee store at that time, and that the sewing machine is still among his household effects and is still rendering good service.
Thus, the machine has been employed thirty-three years.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED IN RIVER AT PIERCE

Pierce, Neb., July 21.—Carl Hon-sky, 18 years old, was drowned in the Northfork river at 8 o'clock last night while he was bathing, just behind the mill dam, with several younger boys. He was only a fair swimmer and it is supposed he was seized with cramps and perhaps heart failure. The water is very cold at the point where the drowning occurred, as the river is fed by hot springs.

Honisky's companions saw him come up once and evidently he was trying to attract attention. He was not seen after that. The alarm was sounded and a large crowd gathered to watch a score or more of swimmers and divers search for the body.
The body was found about one hour after the drowning in eighteen feet of water.

The dead boy was the oldest son of Anton Honisky, a carpenter and former owner of a pool hall. He was of a quiet and unassuming disposition and had many friends.

Fred R. Dean, Proprietor

Among the Producers of Wayne County....

By WARD RANDOL
Staff Representative of the Herald

John Loeback.

John Loeback came to Wayne county in 1897 and bought a quarter section of land. He has since 1914. This farm lies five miles west and six and one-half miles south of Wayne. The buildings are all new. The barn is 32x36, the house 26x30, and the large horse stable. During the last season Mr. Loeback shipped eighty-five head of hogs and two cars of fat cattle. He now has on hand 125 head of hogs of all ages and fifteen head of cattle. He reports the following crops: One hundred forty-five acres of corn, seventy acres of oats with the rest of the place devoted to hay and pasture. Mr. Loeback rents an additional ninety acres of land near his own farm.

George McEachen.

A splendid 430-acre farm six miles west of town is the seat of George McEachen's endeavors. He is cropping and marketing three car loads of corn. One hundred ten acres of corn, seventy-five acres of oats, sixty acres of alfalfa. In addition to these crops there is a large acreage of hay and pasture. This farm is well equipped for stock raising. Mr. McEachen finished for market during the last year nine cars of cattle, and still had 120 head in the yards at the time these figures were taken. He raises the Poland China hogs, which he marketed three car loads during the winter. He now has on hand about seventy-five head of old hogs besides a big bunch of spring pigs.

G. C. Haller.

It was in 1887, a little less than thirty years ago, that G. C. Haller bought a farm five miles west and two and one-half miles south of Wayne. Having lived on the place ever since that time, he has been able to make many improvements and conveniences until now it is well-equipped with buildings. The farm, which comprises 240 acres, is divided as follows: Seventy-five acres of corn, sixty acres of oats, twenty acres of wheat, forty acres of alfalfa and the balance in hay land. At the time of this visit Mr. Haller had forty-two head of fat cattle in the yards, besides a few head of stock cattle.

Peter Iversen.

It was in 1900 that Peter Iversen first came to this county and for the past few years he has been farming a 160-acre farm, which is the property of George Hartman, and is located five miles west and six and one-half miles south of Wayne. Mr. Iversen makes a specialty of Duroc Jersey hogs. In fact, he has spent a great deal of time during the last few years in building up his herd. He has produced a long, smooth, heavy-boned type of animal that shows first-class quality. At the present time he has in the neighborhood of thirty head of spring pigs and about a third that number of older hogs. This is a comparatively small herd, but Mr. Iversen believes in quality first and quantity second. He also has thirty head of good-type cattle. His crops for the season are: Seventy acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, ten acres alfalfa and the balance in pasture and a good hay meadow.

Henry Reilman.

Henry Reilman came to this county twenty-five years ago and bought a quarter section of land five miles west and three miles south of Wayne. He has operated the farm all during these years until just recently when he retired from active work and is building a home near Winslow. His farm is well improved. The barn is an immense structure, 36x66. Mr. Reilman is an orderly careful breeder of Duroc Jersey hogs, having on hand fifty head of all ages at the present time. He recently marketed thirty-five head. After selling a car load of cattle Mr. Reilman has twenty-two head left in the yards. There is a herd of seven car cows on the farm and a flock of over 300 young chickens. The sale of cream and eggs nets the Reilman a substantial income. The crops are: Sixty-five acres of corn, forty acres of oats, eight acres of wheat with the remaining acres devoted to grass and hay.

Donald Porter.

For the past three years Donald Porter has been operating a farm, the property of his father, George T. Porter. It is situated eleven miles north and four and one-half miles south of Wayne. There is a total acreage of 170 acres, part of which is rented from outside parties. Of this ninety acres are in corn, thirty-five in oats, ten in alfalfa and the rest in pasture. After finishing about ninety head of hogs for market during the past season Mr. Porter now has left on the twenty-five head of spring pigs. He has sixteen head of stock cattle in addition to five milch cows. The improvements on this farm are good, the barn being of special interest. It is a square building 48x60 and is arranged for the comfort of the horses and the convenience of those who care for them.

C. J. Hermier.

Last fall C. J. Hermier bought from John Sherman a quarter section of land, lying eleven miles west and five miles north of Wayne. The first of March Mr. Hermier took possession of this farm, and cropped it in the following manner: Sixty-five acres of corn, 100 acres of oats, thirty acres of alfalfa, twenty-five acres of clover. Mr. Hermier rents an additional eighty from outside parties. The improvements on this place are first class and are well arranged for feeding stock. Mr. Hermier is tending 132 head of spring pigs besides the twenty-eight head of old stock. Last season he marketed 140 head of hogs and quite a bunch of cattle. Mr. Hermier is pleased with his new location and intends to add additional improvements from time to time.

Walter Tietgen.

This is the third year that Walter Tietgen has been the tenant on the Fred Cole farm, eleven miles west and one mile north of Wayne. This place comprises 240 acres and is this year cropped in the following manner: Ninety acres of corn, 104 acres of oats, with the balance of the farm devoted to pasture and grass. The buildings on this place are all new.

James Stevens, Jr.

James Stevens, Jr., is this year farming 240 acres of his father's land, which is located eleven miles west and five miles north of Wayne. Mr. Stevens' major crop is corn, of which he has an even 100 acres. Half that amount is in oats. There is a ten-acre patch of alfalfa, besides sixty acres in pasture and twenty acres in clover. Mr. Stevens has not had time to stock his farm very heavily as yet. However, he has a bunch of spring pigs, totaling forty at the present time, and a few old hogs. During the season he has sold one car of hogs and two cars of cattle. He now has fifty-four head of cattle in the yards. The buildings on this farm are in good repair.

Paul Barrel.

For thirteen years Paul Barrel has lived on fine quarter section, eleven miles west and six and one-half miles north of Wayne, and just a few rods from a fine rural school. Mr. Barrel raises the Poland China hogs, having at this time about seventy-five head of the spring stock and fourteen head of old hogs. He has sixteen head of cattle in the yards. It is evident that Mr. Barrel is not superstitious about the number "49", in fact, he believes that this is bound to be a bumper year. His crops include the following: Fifty-five acres of corn, and a like amount of oats. The rest of the acreage is devoted to pasture and hay land.

John Griener.

John Griener was born and reared in this county. For the past seven years he has been operating a half-section of the George Mellor land, lying four miles and three-quarter miles west and one and one-half miles south of Wayne. In addition to this he rents another thirty. This affords him an acreage of 210 acres for corn, 130 acres of oats and fifty acres for alfalfa. The rest of the farm is taken up with pasture and hay land. After finishing one car and one-half cars of hogs for market, Mr. Griener now has fifty-five head of old hogs and 130 head of spring pigs left. He sold three cars of cattle on June 17, so that at the time this data was taken he had only a few head of cattle on hand.

Nels Jorgensen.

Nels Jorgensen came to this county in 1892 and for the last eleven years he has been operating a quarter section of land five miles west and five miles south of Wayne. He owns 160 acres, which he is cropping as follows: Sixty acres of corn, fifty acres of oats with the balance in pasture and hay land. Mr. Jorgensen raises Chester White hogs, having over 125 head in all. He recently marketed about seventy-five head. He has a small herd of stock cattle and six head of milch cows. The cream produced is sold each week at a good profit.

Fred Wacker.

Although Fred Wacker has been in this county for several years he has only been on the George Mellor farm, five miles west and one-half mile south of Wayne, since the first of last March. This is a 329 acre farm and is equipped with a good set of buildings. There are 35 acres of the major crop, corn. Then there are 110 acres of oats and almost forty acres of alfalfa. The rest of the acreage is in pasture. Mr. Wacker has forty head of spring pigs and eighteen head of old hogs of the Duroc Jersey strain. In addition to the twenty-five head of stock cattle there are eight head of milch cows, which produce cream rich in butter fat.

Frank Schulte.

In 1900 Frank Schulte moved to this county from Missouri, and six years ago he bought a quarter section of land four and a half miles west and one-half mile south of Wayne. In addition to this, Mr. Schulte rents eighty acres of the Conger land. This year he has eighty-two acres of corn, and an even eighty acres of oats. The rest of the 240 acres is devoted to hay and pasture. This is an attractive home, and the best appearance of the building site. The barn is roomy, being 36x38. In stock lines, Mr. Schulte now has about 140 head of spring pigs and thirty head of old hogs. He finished seventy head for market not long ago. In the yards are twenty-two head of cattle, besides the eleven head of milch cows. The Schultes sell the cream, realizing in this way a steady cash income each week.

Henry Tietgen.

A quarter section of land, located nine and one-half miles west and eight and one-half miles south of Wayne has been owned and operated by Henry Tietgen for the past seven years. Mr. Tietgen handles the Chester White hogs, having a little over a hundred head of all ages at the present time. As to stock cattle he has twenty head and seven milch cows. He marketed a car load of hogs not long ago. He reports the following crops: Sixty acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, twelve acres alfalfa with the remainder turned over to pasture and hay.

William Warnemude.

William Warnemude for four years has rented a quarter section of land of Dr. Wightman, who has moved from Wayne to California. The farm is located ten miles west and six miles north of Wayne. Mr. Warnemude deals in Duroc Jersey hogs. Last season he sold more during the past year. He now has than forty head of fine specimens of the breed, and at present has twenty-five head of spring stock besides six old hogs. There are eleven head of cattle in the yards, including the milch cows. The crops for this year: Sixty-five acres each of corn and oats, fifteen acres of alfalfa with the rest sowed to grasses.

H. E. Lage.

Ten miles west and seven miles north of Wayne is the country home of Henry Lage. The house, 26x30, is modern in every sense of the word. It is equipped with a splendid light plant. A well-planned orchard and neatly kept grounds add to the attractiveness of the place. Of the 280 acres in the farm, 120 acres are devoted to corn, eighty-five to oats, and twelve to alfalfa, leaving the balance for pasture. As to stock there are sixty spring pigs in addition to the eleven head of old hogs. Mr. Lage marketed sixty-four head of hogs and a small bunch of cattle during the past year. He now has forty-one head of stock cattle in the yards, and also eight head of cows. Mr. Lage has lived on this place for twelve years.

C. O. Hartman.

This is the sixth year that C. O. Hartman has been renting the 160-acre farm, eleven miles west and two and one-half miles north of Wayne, from Dr. W. C. Wightman. This farm lies exceptionally well and there is a stream of water running through it. The improvements are good and are adapted to the raising of live stock on a small scale. Mr. Hartman has about eighty head of hogs of all ages, and thirty-one head of cattle. His crops are: Sixty acres corn, thirty acres oats, ten acres alfalfa and thirty acres pasture.

H. P. Stoltenberg.

H. P. Stoltenberg owns a quarter section of land, ten and one-half miles west and seven and one-half miles north of Wayne. This year he has just fifty acres each of corn, and oats. There are twenty-five acres of alfalfa and quite an acreage of hay and pasture. After marketing sixty-five head of hogs, Mr. Stoltenberg now has considerable more than a hundred head of all ages left. In the yards are twenty head of stock cattle, in addition to a small herd of dairy cattle. Several gallons of cream are sold each week from the Stoltenberg farm.

John Jenkins.

John Jenkins owns 100 acres of Wayne county land, which lies eleven miles west and one and one-half miles north of town. He has been on this farm for sixteen consecutive years, and has put a great deal of capital into the improvements. Besides grain farming, Mr. Jenkins finds time to care for 125 head of hogs, all but twenty-five head of which are spring pigs. Last year he marketed only twenty-five

Unsurpassed Opportunity IN Nebraska Land

Many Wayne county people are becoming interested in Cheyenne county lands which can be paid for with one crop. All who have investigated up to this time, have bought and are uniformly well satisfied.

The Range Eternal

THE inner wall is of heavy gauge Keystone metal, completely covering and protecting the asbestos. It is held in place by rivets. It makes an excellent deflecting plate for heat around the oven. Compare this arrangement with open webs, washers, and strips of steel which hold the asbestos in place in other ranges.

A black sheet coated with any rust resisting product is liable to blister in use. Keystone metal will not do this.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

HARVEST TIME

Arise and work, spellbinding neighbor! The farmers call for men to labor. A thousand miles of wheat is standing, the strength of harvest is demanding. The farmers shriek for husky fellows, who's sound in wind and limb and bellows, to toil behind the clanging reaper-gee-haw, then O dreamer, sleeper, you will not hit a single sheaf. Around the village pump you linger; to honest toil you are not partial; you'd rather roast the statesman Marshall, or prove that Woodrow Wilson's record in politics is gravely deflected, or show that Hughes is misbehaving by his antipathy to shaving, than go forth where the harvest rages, and gather in a prince's wages. The wheat is exposed, say the grangers; snoring to machine drivers, because they are hot men to reap it, and in the shock and windrows, they are surely seems a crime, and pity that every village, town and city, must have its string of idle talkers when the harvest is in. Go forth and drill along the stubble, and ease the farmer's mind of trouble.

AUTO PERILS

How would drive his auto sanely, the way of safety always chosen, the corner would follow vainly along the course that he pursues. I lean against the barb wire fence, and watch the driver as they pass, and some have blunted all their senses by lapping liquor from a glass; and some are in so great a hurry they hit up fifty miles an hour like lightning streaks along their scenery, and then their gas-torn power. And cars are run by spring-aided giddy, who do not keep their eyes ahead; they slay a man who leaves a widdy, and seven orphans needing bread. And cars are run by new beginners, who dig around mile and laces; and then imagine they'd be winners of medals on the racing track. With accidents on every acre, the death list grows, and gives us pain; the coroner and undertaker are busy gathering the skin. The laws we have are surely feeble, it's hard to see what good they are, when all the boneheads and the reckless may run amuck with motor car.

SAM AND JIM

When old Sam Johnson sat in state, that man of learning, wise and great, with Burke and Goldsmith and the rest, Jim Boswell was the butt and jest. They all must have flung at Jim, and none had much respect for him. Melinks had some prophetic dub appeared before them at their club, and said: "This man who is your goat, at whom you laugh, with scowling brow, will by the multitudes be read, when all your junk is stale and dead." Old Sam would then have raised a roar: "Begone, false prophet—there's the door!" And yet great Johnson, mighty sage, the best of his age, lives on in the book that Jim so reverently wrote of him. Jim's immortality is sure; down to the Judgment 'twill endure, while those who jeered his little games, have left but half-forgotten names. And it may be men now on earth, whose work we think has little worth, will leave a deathless fame behind when they have put their humble grin, while pompous prodigies lie down, and dying, kill off their renown.

SMALL POTATOES.

The man who has a patch of beans, or succotash, or other greens, believes the gods would make a hit if for that patch's benefit he regulated wind and rain; and when they don't, it gives him pain. If from his little footy field he thinks he'll have a bounteous yield, he doesn't seem to care a rap how it may fare with the wind and Jack. Destroying half an acre and beat the stuffing from neighbor's wheat a cloudburst on your fellow's oak, and then another's shorthorn shams; or may be, just across the way, the lightning hits a stack of hay; and he will view his little stretch of acres, and say (the wretch!) "The climate's perfect. I remember there's been enough of wind and rain; no man could ask a better show than we are getting here below!" But if his little patch of rape he finds in unthrifty shape, the fact that neighbors' crops are well will prevent his doleful whine. He is a small bore skate, you say; ah, well, we all are built that way.

SUMMER DIET

It's seldom that I give advice, to readers, as to diet; the doctors do it, and their price has started me on a riot. "Exceeding and blessed meal," the gifted doctor hollers, "you ought to eat, if you could find—now, cough in seven dollars." The summer's hard on brain and nerve, and makes us total-lossy; some simple rules we should observe, if we'd be feeling fussy. We ought to fill ourselves with greens, and eat of the best of the season. Eating pork and beef-steak means that we'll be overcheated. You wouldn't have your winter duds when solar rays are busily working when another's spoils are rarely just as dirty. A journey forth with stately tread, where garden sass is growing, and eat a luscious cabbage head, when hunger's pangs I'm knowing. No well-done, potato-heat for me! That's the only thing I plug for, and I'm the tree, and Fletcherize it slowly. No, sweetened drinks, but Adam's ale, around my stomach washes, and when I hunger I regale my works with prunes and squashes. By eating things like these my health is butressed strong and pillared, and I will bet a slice of wealth that I can whip Jess Willard.

EUROPE'S WAR

Is there no end to the scrap that now incardines the man? Must those hoarse guns forever boom? Must all of Europe be a bomb? I've written William once or twice, and begged he'd put his sword on rest; and he'd told me to be implored to call his devastating horde. To Francis Joseph I've explained how his great realm is being drained of blood and whiskers by the fight, and begged that he would stop things right. "No more your deadly weapons-forge," I wrote last month, to good King George, and, shooting airships on the fly, he's been too busy to reply. "Destroy the shotgun and the lance," I wrote the president of France; "you cut the shrapnel and the shell, and tell the White-Winged Dove a spell." My letters all come back to me, unopened from across the sea. I call up kings by telephone, and they delectate my heads-as-hone. The kings will listen if you spiel of deadly poisons and grey steel, but if you boast the boon of peace, they lose their heads and will "Police." Will, listen if you spiel of deadly

AS WAYNE APPEARED TO WORLD-HERALD MAN

Ross H. Chamberlin in Sunday World-Herald: You're pretty fresh the boss says to me during a lull in the work last week. You better go ahead and get your rays and look like a general player over, and see what you can see, and take a photograph along to take pictures of it, on account of you may forget some of it on the way back perhaps, or overcome by the heat or something. There might be quite a crowd up there, he says. It will be pretty hot work, too, and we don't want you to overstrain your brain, because we ain't got any more like I'd do it, and then I asked who the photographer was on the job, because I had my fingers crossed if he was going to be an Omaha guy. These Omaha photographers always being in the way, and I didn't want to see a busy photographer, and I did.

Met by Delegation.

Went up to Wayne all right, and was met at the Northwestern depot by a delegation headed by Frank Fisher, one of the guys who supports the book on tennis, says I was to live at his house in Wayne, and be put in a flivver with Morg's typewriter and my other collar, and we went out to his house. We stayed there four days and I guess the way to breakfast. I was very happy with had of never seen us. Well, there was quite a crowd on hand for the tennis tournament all day, and among others was Don Cunningham, who was pastime as a mason; if Wayne they had'n't busy at something else. We asked Don how comes it he is mayor, and he says the town can't get along without him, and we believe him.

Chance for Mistake.

After he had been in Wayne long enough to act like a home guard we went over and sat under one of the trees by the courts, and a guy says they were for the spectators. I says it was good advertising for me to sit in one of the chairs and have Charley Green take my picture, but he said, "I couldn't see it that way and then people would think it was astrecher when they seen in it."

Which shows how tired I looked from working hard.

These Wayne fellows wouldn't let me alone a minute, always sending around cigars or something and wondering if there wasn't something more they could do. Finally he had to tell them that this attention was going to our head and that press-people would begin to think we really were somebody if they didn't stop.

"A Real Newspaper Guy."

Jim Brittain, who edited the Wayne Daily Racket during the tournament, came over and got acquainted. Here was a feller after our own heart, so to speak, being as he is a newspaper guy. He wanted to know if we had any news, and we said no, and the next morning he had a half column interview with us, which shows he is a real newspaper guy.

The first night in Wayne the Wayne boys gave the visiting fellows a banquet at the Gem Cafe, which is a feed in more ways than one. The feed was a regular one too, and Jack, I'm sure, eat so much that the proprietor had to threaten to send in an extra bill if he didn't cut it out.

All of the regular fellows were here and the toasts after dinner developed into a "Hot" Charley Mathewson, the well known member of the school board at Walthill, was never in Wayne. He would change his tune right away if he would visit there. Wayne legal light, some little time to arrange bond and the like.

"Here's a Go!"

Frank Morgan asked us if we would respond to a toast, and we said yes, we would say, "Here's a go!" and he said no, that ain't the kind of a toast. What he wanted was for us to make a speech, so when Fred Berry—the boss—got up and began to tell the boys all about us we suddenly remember an engagement with the postmaster and ducked until the storm had subsided. No doubt we could have gotten away with the speech all right, but safety first has been our motto for a long time.

During our first afternoon in Wayne the pilot asked us if we didn't want to rest our tired head a bit, and we said yes, he took us to the club rooms which the Wayne boys had fitted up. There we found a lot of easy chairs and a baby grand and a flock of songs and Johnny Madden.

A Little Music.

Just as we entered the place Madden and Paul Mines and Jimmy Ahern and George Roe were away up in the topmost branches of the "For you I pine tree," and Madden was attempting to strangle one of the loveliest little notes we ever heard. He had some difficulty with it, but finally beat it into submission and the festivities continued.

Wayne is a funny little town. No, we don't mean like the comic side of too, and Jack, I'm sure, from a tennis point of view. A guy told us on the way to Wayne that tennis might be all right, but he wouldn't fall for any game where he had to yell "40, love" to a full grown man on the other side of a net. This fellow, who probably was a fresh city drummer, was never in Wayne. He would change his tune right away if he would visit there. Wayne is all tennis and a full yard wide. Everybody there plays tennis or keeps the scores or does something to help out. Honest to goodness we never seen such a town before.

Bunch of Live Wires.

The Wayne Tennis club composed of a great bunch of live wires—you know the kind of fellows we mean. They go down into their pockets and spend some regular money whenever the occasion requires, and as Charley Mathewson, the Walthill school board man said, "Wayne has made the Nebraska Lawn Tennis association."

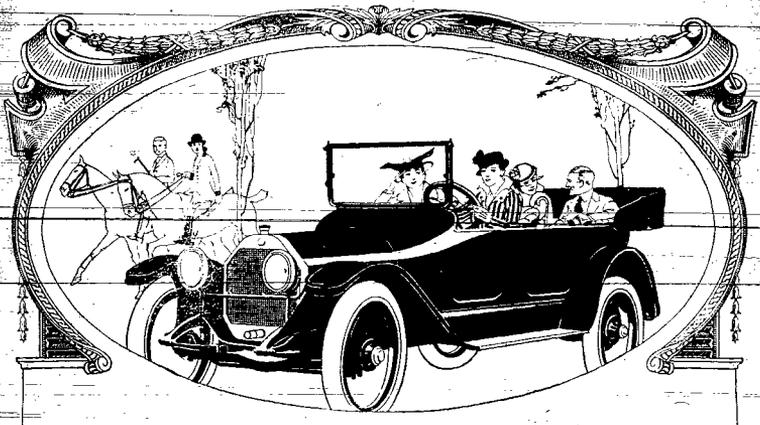

Second the motion Charley.

Wayne is essentially a farming community. That is, the fellows in Wayne are not farmers, but they live in the center of one of the most prosperous farming communities in the State. They have to be a pretty clever bunch of boys to keep pace with the farmers too. Wayne's residence section is a swell affair, to use a bit of slang, and what the business section lacks in highfalutin dress it makes up in activity. There's always something doing down town in Wayne.

This was the second time in three years that Wayne entertained Nebraska's premier tennis players, and if Wayne had been selfish enough to ask for next year's tournament the credit here had to go to a good opposition. Everybody knows that Wayne will show 'em a good time, and they all want to go back.

The next time Wayne has the tournament we are going to ask the boss if we can't go up there again so we can get some more of Mrs. Fisher's muffins. We felt ashamed the way we eat those muffins, but home cooking was a treat and, besides, the muffins were so hot and light they fairly melted in our mouths. We hope this pleases the boss, because if it doesn't he may not let us go back to the next tournament.

NOW ON DISPLAY—THE LIGHT EIGHT DE LUXE

One cannot help being seriously impressed by the dignity and prestige that surround the name Oldsmobile. For nearly two decades it has served as the title of a distinguished motor car. But we urge you earnestly to let the name carry as little weight as possible in your consideration of Oldsmobile Light Eight. Focus your attention, rather, upon the merit of the car itself.

The eight-cylinder motor—clean and simple in design—gives forth a strong, smooth-flowing stream of power. It frees from twelve to fourteen miles of swift flight from each gallon of gasoline. Note the roomy luxury of the big body—the wheel-base is 120 inches. Note the restful comfort of the deep upholstery. Observe, too, the skilled workmanship and studied refinement evident in even the minor particulars of finish and appointment. It is this unusual excellence in construction and performance that has lifted Oldsmobile sales to the present point—the highest in their history. Demonstration at your convenience. Call or write us today.

Conservation of Resources

It is conceded the world over that the best way to conserve one's income is to carry a checking account with a good bank. Being thus helped to administer the income with due regard for safety, and always having present and incentive to keep a growing balance.

This strong, safe and helpful bank, wants the accounts of more of those good managers—men, women and children—who are trying to conserve their resources.

Isaac Jones.

Isaac Jones lives on a 160-acre farm, twelve miles west and five miles north of Wayne. Of the total acreage almost half is in corn. Mr. Jones has twenty acres alfalfa, and the balance is in timothy and clover hay. Almost all of the hay is consumed on this farm, for there are twelve work horses to be fed the year round. There are also seven head of dairy cattle besides about a car load of stock cattle in the yards. Mr. Jones thinks it more profitable to raise butter for the market than to raise hogs. Mr. Jones has thirty head of young stock besides the seven old hogs. Every one is hustling on the Jones farm these days getting the second crop of milk cut and put up in good shape.

William Morris.

William Morris lives on a 160-acre farm, lying twelve miles west and five miles north of town. His crop scheme for this year includes sixty acres of corn, forty-five acres of oats, and twenty acres of alfalfa. Mr. Morris believes in keeping up with the times, and he has planted twenty acres of sweet clover for feeding purposes. He has a silo of good size, and considers that the clover and alfalfa make splendid ensilage. After marketing twenty-five head of hogs, Mr. Morris has only seven head of old hogs left. But there are eighty head of spring pigs that are making exceptionally rapid growth. The cattle on this farm total ten head. The Morris farm is located on the west side of the county church west of Carroll.

Celyn Morris.

Celyn Morris is the owner of a splendid farm, comprising 120 acres, twelve miles west and four miles north of Wayne. Although Mr. Morris has operated this place for only three years, by careful rotation of the crops and fertilization of the hill and he has increased the production and thriftiness of every acre of the farm. The fifty acres of corn, recently laid by, are now tasseling out in fine shape. As to other crops there are forty acres of oats and twenty acres of alfalfa. Mr. Morris is a dealer in Duroc Jersey hogs and now has eighty head of fine spring stock. During the last season he marketed sixty head of hogs at a good price for the market. The buildings on this place are good, the barn, 54x40, furnishing comfortable quarters for the horses and also admits of the storing of large tonnage of hay.

Howell Rees.

Howell Rees came to this county from Red Oak, Ia., more than twenty-five years ago, and has during those years acquired several splendid farms in Wayne county. He lives on a farm, thirteen miles west and three and one-half miles north of Wayne, or four and three-quarters of mile west of Carroll. The Rees home is located on three quarters mile west from a good rural school and one and three-quarters miles from a country church. This year Mr. Rees reports the following crop layout: One hundred acres of corn, twenty-five acres of alfalfa, and twenty-five acres of alfalfa, besides a considerable acreage of hay and pasture. A big barn, 62x82, is a noticeable feature in the building group. Mr. Rees has 125 head of Duroc Jersey hogs, twenty-five of which are old hogs. Last season two cars of hogs were marketed as well as thirty-five head of cattle in the yards. The Reeses milk seven head of cows and realize a good profit on about 350 chickens of a good laying type.

Herbert Jenkins.

Herbert Jenkins is the tenant on a 160-acre farm, belonging to Eben Jenkins. The farm is located eleven miles west and two miles north of Wayne. Mr. Jenkins crops the land in this manner: Seventy acres of corn, thirty-five acres of oats, and eight acres of alfalfa with the balance in pasture. In the line of live stock he has thirteen head of old hogs and thirty spring pigs. He marketed thirty-five head not long ago. Besides ten head of stock cattle, there is a herd of six milch cows of the best milking strains. The Jenkins sell the cream, which tests high. The buildings on this place are all practical new and of a good type, combining convenience and beauty. The place is one and one-half miles from the church of the community.

Lot Morris.

A quarter section of land, twelve miles west and three and one-half miles north of Wayne is the property of Lot Morris who took possession only a year ago. This place is admirably located, for it is only a mile from a school and a half mile from a thriving country church. The 160 acres are cropped in the following way: Corn, fifty acres; oats, forty acres; alfalfa, fourteen acres. Besides these crops Mr. Morris has quite an acreage of clover hay which yields on the average of forty tons a year. His barn, a structure 62x80, has a big capacity for hay. Mr. Morris goes into live stock on a small scale. At present he has six old hogs and a total of fifty-three spring pigs. Not long ago he marketed thirty head of hogs. He has fifteen head of cattle in the yards having recently sold eleven.

Harry Tucker.

One of the attractive country homes of the county is that of Harry Tucker, located twelve and one-half miles west and two and one-half miles north of town. The fact that Mr. Tucker has lived on the one place for twenty-nine years partly explains the real home-like atmosphere of the place. Perhaps the feature first noticed is the fine house, 32x30, which was leased as just as good on the interior as the exterior suggested. It is equipped with power and electric lights as well as one of the best heating systems on the market. The other improvements are good. Mr. Tucker has twenty old hogs and forty-five spring pigs. As to cattle he reports only two head at the present time. He crops the land as follows: One hundred forty acres of corn, thirty acres of oats, and twenty-five acres of alfalfa. Mr. Tucker likes farm life, and is interested in any move to make it more attractive.

Henry Theophilus.

For the past years Henry Theophilus has been operating a quarter section of the Henry Vahlkamp land, one mile east of Sholes. He has finished laying off his seventy-five-acre parcel of alfalfa, which is a big yield. Thirty acres of oats are in shock. The rest of the land is in pasture and the building site. As to stock Mr. Theophilus has eleven head of old hogs and one hundred spring pigs. During the last season he marketed about ninety head. He has nine head of cattle, part of which are milch cows.

A. L. Hurlburt.

A. L. Hurlburt came to Wayne county thirty-three years ago, and for the past few years he has been operating a half section of the Goddard estate. This land lies two miles southeast of Sholes. Mr. Hurlburt has the following crops for the season: Two hundred acres of corn, thirty-five acres of oats, and eighty acres of alfalfa. This big acreage of alfalfa means lots of heavy work, but it is certainly a profitable crop, for it can be gotten into stock here getting well. One of the big features on this farm is the herd of ten milch cows. All of the work is done outside, however, as they sell the cream, churning only enough to keep home use. Besides the dairy herd, there are fifty head of stock cattle, and a small bunch was recently marketed. After selling sixty-five head of hogs, Mr. Hurlburt has over a hundred head left of all ages.

Axel Erickson.

Moving from the Wayne vicinity, Axel Erickson has been operating for the past year a quarter section of land, one and one-half miles east and a like distance south of Sholes. This is called the "Morningside Farm" and is owned by Griff Davis. The buildings are good. The barn is 40x56 and the house is 28x32. The place is being made to erect two corn cribs, each 30x32. Mr. Erickson does not have very much stock on hand at the present time. There are thirty-five head of hogs in all, five of them being old ones. In the yards are five head of cattle. He crops his land in this way: Seventy acres corn, and fifty-five acres oats with the balance devoted to pasture and hay land.

P. N. Oberg.

The tenant during the year just on the Eph Anderson farm, eight miles east and one mile south of Wayne has been P. N. Oberg. Although he only came to Wayne county a year ago, yet he is very enthusiastic over this section and expects to remain here permanently. He crops his land this way: One hundred fifty acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, ten acres of wheat, and the rest of the 280 acres given over to alfalfa and pasture. The improvements are good and especially adapted to live stock. Mr. Oberg is interested in both hogs and cattle, and during the short time he has been on this place he has finished seventy-five head of hogs and two cars of cattle for market. He now has in the neighborhood of 200 hogs, a few over half of them being of this spring's stock. At present he has sixty head of cattle in the yards to feed out some time this fall.

T. J. Thomas.

Eleven miles west and two miles north of Wayne is a splendid half section of land, the property of T. J. Thomas. Mr. Thomas has made his home on this place for the last nine years, and has equipped it with every complete set of farm buildings. On the part that he operates himself, he has 140 acres of corn and ninety acres of oats. He is also taking care of fifty acres of alfalfa, and has quite an acreage of pasture. He has a few stock on hand, being interested in hogs. The spring pigs total 250 head and there are close to 100 head of other ages. Last year he raised 130 head for market. Besides a small herd of dairy cattle, which nets a good cash return each week from the sale of butter, Mr. Thomas has thirty head of stock cattle in the yards. The buildings on the home place are fine. The barn is a roomy structure, 64x60.

David Rees.

David Rees operates 160 acres, owned by Howell Rees and located eleven miles west and two and one-half miles north of Wayne. Of the 160 acres almost half is in corn, twenty-five acres are devoted to oats, and eighteen are in alfalfa. When these notes were taken Mr. Rees had about fifty head of old hogs and the spring pigs. Not long ago he marketed 600 head of hogs. He now has about thirty head of cattle in the yards, after shipping one car load recently. There is an especially well-arranged barn on this place. Its dimensions are 60x38.

William Wittle.

The first of March William Wittle moved from his home at Laurel to a farm, six miles west and two miles south of Wayne. This farm is owned by William Koch. Of the 160 acres almost half is in corn, twenty-five acres are devoted to oats, and eighteen are in alfalfa. When these notes were taken Mr. Wittle had about thirty head of hogs and the spring pigs, and a few head of milch cows.

Fred Mattes.

Fred Mattes has only been in Wayne county since 1906, but he is now the owner of a quarter section of splendid land. It is located six miles west and four miles south of Wayne. This year Mr. Mattes has

WAKEFIELD.

Miss Margaret Forbes of the Herald staff is editor of thirteenth partment, and will visit Wakefield every Tuesday. Any news contributions to these columns from town or country will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive new or renewal subscriptions.

Accidents.

Wakefield seems to be having a run on accidents. The past few days Mrs. Hanson, who was sweeping on a road and is just beginning to hobble around again. Mrs. John (Grandma) Davis who is 79 years old stumbled and fell off the porch Tuesday morning, breaking her right shoulder. Mrs. Hanson and going out doors after dark one night last week, lost her footing and fell, dislocating her left shoulder. Mrs. Leonard Diecht had an unpleasant encounter with bees Sunday and as a result is suffering from a severe case of poisoning from their stings. Last Friday night, shortly after 10 o'clock, Joe Cramer, the night watchman, thought he heard a disturbance in the back part of the new building being constructed by N. Y. Erickson. He started in to investigate, but stepped into a hole in the floor, falling several feet. Robert Hanson who happened to be working in his photograph gallery just above heard his screams and ran to the aid of Dr. E. J. Fleetwood who called and it was found that Mr. Cramer had broken the femur bone in his left leg just below the hip. This will mean at least eight weeks in bed for Mr. Cramer. People will be glad to learn that all the patients are recovering satisfactorily from their accidents.

Threshing Begun.

Threshing has begun in the Wakefield vicinity and from all reports the small grain is turning out as well as prospects promised. The first of the week John Johnson threshed forty acres of oats which yielded 2000 bushels by measure. The grain is of the best quality and will go to learn that all the patients are recovering satisfactorily from their accidents. Emil Blaker has sold two of his five threshing outfits. Frank Larson purchased one of the engines and a new Avery separator and is very busy these days. Mr. Blaker is working on the other three outfits himself. Much of the threshing will be done out of the shock this year and people will watch with interest the reports from various farms.

Hassed Anderson.

Miss Mable Anderson, daughter of Mrs. A. O. Anderson and Mr. William Hassed were married last Wednesday in Omaha. Miss Anderson has always lived in this vicinity for the past two years had taught in the Concord schools. The groom has been employed as printer in the Republican office at Wakefield for over a year. CHURCH CALENDAR

Methodist Church.
(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor).
The pastor and his family have gone to Lincoln this week to attend to church matters and to attend the Epworth assembly. There will be the regular Sunday school at 11:45 Sunday morning at the M. E. church. There will be union lawn services and union young people's services at court house lawn Sunday evening.

The German Evangelical Lutheran Church.
(Rev. R. Moehring, Pastor).
There will be Sunday school next Sunday at 10 o'clock and preaching at 11 o'clock. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the pastor will preach at the Wesleyan. Members of the congregation are requested to remember the bazaar to be held in a building opposite the Herald office Saturday July 29.

The DUNDONALD Secret.
At the union service held on the court house lawn at 7 o'clock next Sunday evening W. L. Gaston will deliver a lecture on the Dundonald Secret. The Dundonald Secret is causing a great deal of comment in high military circles throughout the world today and although no man except a few sworn officials know what it is, Mr. Gaston will discuss all that is known concerning it and leave you to decide yourself whether the last death bolt in the present world war will be hurled by the dead arm of Lord Dundonald.

The morning services will be held as usual at the Baptist church and Rev. Gaston will conduct the service and bring you something new concerning the old book.

St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.
(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor).
Sunday school next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.
Divine worship with sermon at 11 a. m. In the evening the congregation is asked to attend the union services on the court house lawn.
At the close of the union meeting the young people are urged to meet at the church for the regular Lutheran league service.
The Ladies' Aid society will hold its next meeting at the country home of Mrs. C. W. Johnson, two miles north of town, Thursday, afternoon, August 3.

Presbyterian Church.
(Rev. S. Xenophon Cross, Pastor).
All have the privilege of attending the union open-air meeting on the court house lawn on Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, and it is worth the time and effort of anybody to be at one of these meetings.
The Y. P. S. C. E. held a meeting of fine interest at the church last Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. The meeting for next Sunday will probably be at the same hour. Miss Charlotte White has been asked to lead this meeting.
Sunday school attendance keeps up excellently right through the hot weather. We desire to urge that parents render every assistance that may be necessary to make it possible for every boy and girl to be in Sunday school and on time every Sunday.
Boost for the coming great Fife evangelistic meetings. Remind your friends of the date, September 10. Secure some of the official stationery and write to all who are in reach of Wayne and ask them to come. This meeting can be made of supreme value to every right interest of the community.
We especially invite out-of-town summer visitors in Wayne to attend our Sunday morning church services. This service is at 10 o'clock. The sermon theme next Sunday morning will be, "The Ministry of Surprise." There will be special music. Come to the morning service and bring your friends with you. All are cordially welcome.

MUSICAL EVANGELISTS.

This is said of the musical work of the Fife Brothers, evangelists who will hold a series of meetings in Wayne in September.
The Fife Brothers, "World's Most Musical Evangelists," of Plymouth, Ind., are natives of Kentucky, having been born in Hardin county, ten miles from the native home of Abraham Lincoln. There are several distinctive features of their work that put them in a class by themselves in union evangelism. First, Mr. Clyde Lee Fife is the only evangelist leaving every brother and sister associated with him in his work, and whose helpers have attained the highest degree of efficiency known in their particular lines, each one having had years of experience both in concert and in evangelistic work. All are pupils of some of the foremost teachers in their line. Second, Mr. Fife and his brothers are the third generation of preachers, singers and musicians, from the Fife family of Kentucky. Third, he has never conducted a campaign in a city where prohibition was on issue. The city did not vote "dry" after the close of the campaign. Fourth, he has never failed to hold the most extensive revival of religion, and draw the largest crowds, of any evangelist that ever preceded him in any city to which he has gone. Fifth, he is the only evangelist in the world who has among his regular helpers an orchestra, quartet, vocal and instrumental soloists, a male trio, a reader and impersonator. His series of $1,000-worth of musical instruments and equipment. This affords them the best musical attraction of any evangelistic company of this number of people in the world.

The Reason for a Telephone Company's Depreciation Reserve

Pat up a suit of clothes how you will, it will gradually wear out and have to be replaced by a new one.

Just so it is with the telephone property. Some parts of it wear out quicker than others, but repair it again and again as we do, finally it wears out.

In addition to the wearing out of the property a good many of the parts are year by year becoming obsolete and out-of-date and are replaced by something better.

Each year we set aside out of the money we take in from the sale of telephone service an amount which we estimate represents the wearing out of our telephone property during that period.

This money is invested back in the plant, and thus temporarily employed as additional capital on which no dividends or interest charges are paid.

Through our policy of setting aside a depreciation reserve to provide for the rebuilding or replacement of the property, present telephone users pay for the wearing out of the plant instead of passing the debt on to the next generation.

Lack of recognition of this principle has caused many failures in private industries and is a frequent mistake in public institutions.

Our policy of setting aside a depreciation reserve is now generally accepted as the fairest way to provide for the rebuilding or replacement of the equipment when it wears out.
