Conservation of Resources

It is considered the world over that the best way to conserve one's income is to carry a checking account with a good bank. Being thus helped to administer the income with due regard for safety, and always having present and incentive to keep a growing balance.
This strong, safe and helpful bank, wants the accounts of more of those good managers—men, women and children—who are trying to conserve their resources.

PLEASE STAND UP.

Six thousand readers of the Herald, will you please stand up. Here is something important. Here is a statement concerning a Nebraska bred-roan product—the story of a young man on a Nebraska farm with a herd of Scotch strain cattle, the son of a young breeder who has already attracted more than local attention, and is now in both the prize ring and the market with very creditable roans and reds—Milk and beef, blended with frame and weight, fashion the types he is producing.

F. V. MCGUIRE.

F. V. McGuire lives twelve and one-half miles south of Wayne, eight miles northwest of Wisner, or five miles northeast of Pilger. He gets his mail at Wisner, and his phone line runs out from the same place. He is a young man, still on the morning side of life, with the chances of success largely in his favor. In the stock vernacular I would trace him back to imported Irish strains and to that add all the "pep" of the home bred American type. He is the son of R. P. McGuire, of Wisner. He is a graduate of the Wisner high school, and also of the noted Bryant and Stratton Business college of Chicago. All but three years of his life have been spent on the farm he now operates. A few years ago he was married to Miss Sadie Murray, a prominent young lady who was also a graduate of the Wisner school. They are interesting young people, and have a fine start in life.

FINE FARM AND CROPS.

For eleven years Mr. McGuire has been farming for himself. There are four hundred and forty acres in the home farm and two hundred and thirty in another farm six miles away. While you are on the home place I want you to look around. Notice that the creek runs clear through it. Over there on the west slope is a fine spring. Down there in the valley is an artesian well, that sends up warm water for the cattle in the winter. Come up on this hill and you can see one hundred and eighty acres of mighty robust corn. There is where he raised sixty acres of oats and thirty acres of spring wheat—not ordinary spring wheat, but a new variety with the dago name of "Marcus." It is fine, plump, heavy, even-berried wheat. Out there is the pasture, several acres of it seeded to sweet clover, the rest to blue grass. But look at the cattle!

SCOTCH CATTLE.

No matter what extraction McGuire might be, his cattle are Scotch, as pure a strain of Scotch as I have found in any Nebraska herd; and the type and color are as good as the strain. Eight years ago he bought several cows which traced back to famous families, from a man named Raffenburg who shipped them into this state from Iowa. These cows were classy and aristocratic. They were eligible to the Scotch four hundred anywhere. Their descendants, sets of a famous Scotch Chief, form the herd that grazes the pasture today. Here they are: Acorn Blossom, Fair Faustina, Merry Lady, Mysie Princess, Orange Queen 5th, Red Blossom and a score of others, all of which trace back to imported dams. Fine families are represented, milk-strain families, beef-famed families, families that will add quality to anybody's herd.

Here you stop and read the roster of proud blooded families they represent, each one an imported dam that came to rich American herds with its off-spring. A good part of the off-spring is still in the McGuire herd. Here they are:

- FASHIONS—
- RED ROSE
- ORANGE BLOSSOM
- PHYLIS
- BLANCHE
- MRS. MOTTIS
- WHITE ROSE
- YOUNG MARY
- ROSE OF SHARON

If you buy a bull or heifer of McGuire, red or roan, you are having into one of these families in which the best blood of two hundred years of breeding.

PASTURE SCENE, MCGUIRE FARM

BIG FLAT BACKS.

The McGuire cattle are big. They stand up well with big bone, legs well under them, type, moulded horns, and big flat backs, color painted to order, and everything else that goes with big Scotch cattle. They are fine milkers. They are profitable dairy cattle, but that lacks some of being all. They serve on the meat block, as well as in the milk bucket, and you can't go wrong if you buy this kind. If they don't give their weight in milk every third day, they are valuable down at the butcher shop. Take this stock of cattle and give them a sale and a fair chance and they will rank up well with any other breed, as all-around good producers of milk, meat, or tallow. Some other strains may send more milk into the milkhouse and some may go on the block and cut juicier steaks, but for both milk and beef Scotch Durham Short-horns, or any other name by which they are known, are hard to beat. Yes, sir, they are as hard to beat as hard boiled eggs.

When the world learns to eat beef no more, when bread no longer cries for butter, and babies of beasts and men, are born milk-weaned into the world, then and not until then will the Durham have outlived its usefulness. Until such time shall come men will raise cattle. Seek out the best, the best adapted to your purpose and breed them as nearly perfect as selection of stock will permit. If you want to support the family, and pay the hired man with cream checks, and save the ten cents per pound that you get for beef on the hoof to pay off the mortgage, don't pass up the Durhams. Go down to McGuire's, buy a good young bull, or some of those blocky heifers and start in to make farming pay.

THE BULLS THAT HAVE BEEN.

Here is just as good a place as any to mention some of the bulls that have headed the McGuire herd, and are responsible for its present status. The herd is about equally divided between the reds and roans. The first bull owned by Mr. McGuire after he launched into thoroughbreds was a fine model. He was roan, a strong well marked roan and down to the present generations he has bestowed the roan body and red neck. His name was Choice Acorn 367404. He belonged to the fancy class and lived to breed a herd that perpetuates his type and family.

The second bull was Diamond Goods, 376892. He was bred by John O'Kane, of Sebecha, Kansas. He was out of an imported cow owned by O'Kane and was sired by Prince of Tebo-Lawn, son of Choice Goods. O'Kane also bred American Flag, a bull that went to the International Stock Show at Chicago in 1900 and captured the first yearling prize. Diamond Goods, like Choice Acorn, has left his mark, in form and weight, on the herd and thus, from Diamond and Acorn the grace and strength of stone and oak have been transmitted to the McGuire pastures.

THE BULL THAT IS NOW.

This year running at the herd head is a fine young roan, registered as Missie's Knight, 375031. He is smooth with straight line, and elegant mould, kind eyed, and small horned. His type, his family, his credentials, all give him license to be a great breeder. He is a fine animal and just such style that every farmer should have whose fancy lightly turns to Durhams. He was bred by Ignat Spender of West Point, Nebraska.

THE MAKE UP OF THE HERD.

Now here is the place to stick a peg. Every farmer who expects to improve his grade herd; every fine stock breeder who would like to cross his strain with another as strong and pure as can be found anywhere in three

FAIR FAUSTINA.

One of the big roan thoroughbreds on the McGuire farm. She is a great individual and traces back to FASHIONS, an important dam and founder of an important and aristocratic family. Fair Faustina's coloring are all true to type and color.

states should by this time have so that he will know what Mr. McGuire has in his herds and offers for sale.

First, let it be known that there are thirty-two big cows, all registered and bred as described above. Some are deep reds and some are classy roans, but they are all good and all big and all Short-horns.

Next remember there are ten heifers that bear about in their bodies the qualities of their dams, and form marks of their sires.

And now come seven bulls, yearlings. They are too, are reds and roans of silk texture. They are ready to go out to seven herds on seven farms and render valuable service to any man who purchases them. This is the stuff to buy while it is young and unblemished. The first buyer will get a splendid pick. The poorest of the seven is good. The best of the seven, if he can be discovered, is a daisy. Breed to this type, Oh Wayne county, and quality will soar away on golden wings, to high and higher grades.

Twenty spring calves, all of them able to write their names in the books of the American Short-horn Association, all of them able to read their titles clear to purple lineage and imported dams, are a prize bunch. They are bulls and heifers, twelve and eight respectively. Keep your eyes on these calves. If you raise cattle you may want one. They are blocky and heavy and are well started on the road toward fine cattle.

AN EXTENSIVE FEEDER.

Large Volumes of Beef and Pork, the Output of the McGuire Yards—Culls Are Fattened for the Market—Only the Fittest Survive to Breed.

Along with the fine stock proposition, Mr. McGuire is an extensive feeder of both hogs and cattle. Down in the feed yard by the creek where the grass and weeds refuse to grow, are long lines of feed banks. These together with the Durhams that swarmed the barnyard and overran the fields prompted queries which disclosed the magnitude of the feeding operations of Mr. McGuire. Each year after the crop is harvested, into these yards go from one hundred to one hundred and fifty steers of prime feed, and followed by hundreds of hogs, are fed for the spring and summer markets. This means the handling of much corn, the employment of considerable help, and under the management of the young breeder, lucrative returns. It means, also, that culls from the Short-horn breeding are not crowded onto buyers, regardless of whether they are individually correct or not. The culls, the discards, those which lack the full points of the prime, are sent to the feed yard, and there as grades make good the claim that high grades, of blood and breeding, are the most profitable cattle to keep or feed. This finds a market for a class that some fine stockmen would put out, to supply the demand for herd leaders. This makes Mr. McGuire a safe man to deal with.

Last year a fine great barn was erected and this adds to the attractiveness of the place and increases the facilities for handling fine stock.

Over on Mr. McGuire's other place he feeds a bunch of cattle and hogs every year the same as on the home place. In this, however, he is trying an experiment which so far has worked out successfully.

A LA HENRY FORD.

Here he operates on the profit sharing plan, a la Henry Ford, and finds it a great incentive to his men, who are part-proprietors, are interested in their work and take the best of care of everything on the place, crops, stock, barns and fences. Each man has an interest in the business and they get paid according to their work, and no effort of theirs put forth out of working hours goes unrewarded. When they are making a dollar for Mr. McGuire, they are making one for themselves.

VISIT THE MCGUIRE PLACE.

Visit the McGuire place if you can and you will be cordially received every where with courtesy. The stock is always on exhibition and whether you buy or not it is no trouble to show you. Let us all promote unswerving interest and all possible information given. Elsewhere on this page are shown cuts of some of the McGuire stock. These cuts are made from actual photographs taken by C. J. Craven of Wayne, of stock now on the place. They were made for this exhibition.

A BLOODIED FAMILY

UNCLE WALT

The Poet-Philosopher

DRY WEATHER.
Throughout the west the long July, like some champagne, was extra dry; the skies were blue, day after day, the sun pursued its red-hot way; when the clouds gathered they had been felt as though they had been fried. The gossamer prophets had their fling, and prophesied like everything. "I heard a rain crow all day long, and that's a sign that ne'er goes wrong," one prophet said, to weeping jays; "I will have a rain within two days." "This morn' the eastern sky was red," another hunter-chaiyovant said; "that is a sign that rain will come, and save our crops of waving grain. There is a ring about the moon," remarked another wise gossamer, "and when the moon is wearing rings, there's bound to be a rain, by jings." The jays observed a graybird seen, ever showing fear, of moving fast, fast, excited, round the post, and squeal and gallop back again, and when the pigs took an issue, you bet your boots there'll be a rain. But all the prophets missed their guess, and but augmented our diatribes, by promising a sweet succrate the while we sizzled in our grease.

THE SILVER LINING.
To our hearts' consolation, right, some solace always is in sight, what ever trouble life may bring; he'll find cause to smile and sing. Jim Wilkins had a patch of beans and garlichokes and other greens, the finest ever raised through the city on honest prairie. One night his Spitzpucker's cow, which has long a retreating brown, went bulging into Wilkins' yard, when no night watchman was on guard. At dawn, when Jim was awoken, he saw the cow had pushed his nose, to gaze upon his garden sass, he found but ruin there, alas! I thought to hear him rant and swear, and see him paw and tear his hair, but he surveyed with a half grin, the wreckage that I should be in. "How thankful I should be," said he; "she didn't eat my chree tree! She spared the closheline and the pump; why should I have a doleful dump? I'm thankful too, two, but as to the third, it had been a warthing, now, or if some big rhinoceros had come and put this stunt across, there'd not be any landscape here, so watch me smile from ear to ear." I put him in a padded cell, where he is doing very well.

BAD ROADS.
The roads that lead to Hayseed Center make people's tempers warm; in wild rage, with voice of Suez, they clamor for reform. The roads are full of holes and ridges, that bust our costly tires, and there are swayed, creaking bridges, together tied with wires. We have a lovely grown-up road, which is a wonder; and it seems seven times a pity bad roads must black her eye. Our city hall is rich with gilding, we've churches and we've schools, and our large new gymnasium building is fixed with swimming pools. We have a bank and three physicians, and in our public square there is a stand where our musicians play tunes beyond compare. We ought to grow, and yet we're shrunken, because one road is bad, for folks won't come, unless they're drunken, — to see our lovely grand. And still we'll foul away our taxes, and have our roads a wreck, till we apply our little axes to some official neck.

SOMETHING NEW.
The man who writes, the long year through, hears readers say, "Write something new! The thoughts you spring, from day to day, are bearded things, all worn and gray." But there is nothing new on earth, there is no thought of modern birth; there is no plot or song or tale that Noah didn't say was stale. I've read James Boswell's book again; in it Sam Johnson's best of men, expressed his views on things, of which the mortal mind may dream. And like an oracle he spoke, and I delight to watch his smoke, but never did he make remark that wasn't known in Noah's ark. — But he was a tank, and they are all away, were spoken in the Johnson way, and, though he's been a long time dead, we cherish still the things he said. Since every thought on earth is old, and baggy-kneed and blue with many a profit, they are all yours, you to strain at saying something new. We'll take old thoughts we find astray, and doll them up as best we may.

MOUNTAIN AIR.
Dried up and baked on windswept plains, too long unvisited by rains, to me the mountains called; and I inhale the mountain air, which toned the nerves, restoring hair to heads that long were bald. When to Colorado came, spranny absent-racked my frame, that life was but a grief; I had less fever and a cold. — and all the dope the druggists afforded no relief. I had the string, and did the best of me of my life, very make-believe; I had got improving nails; I had got spavins on my knees, but I've forgotten all diseases, among these hills and vales. After all the year of tows, I walk in black handkerchiefs, my start is pine-tree's branch; I lidly scale these western Alps, and play upon their snowy seals, and ride the avalanche. The mountain air it tones, it makes that vital current which along an old gent's veins; it makes his lagging step grow bold, and makes him think he's too young, old, and banishes his pains.

CHARITY.
A man came feebly to my door; he'd walked a hundred miles or more, since last he had a meal; he said, "The road is harsh and long, and words, however fierce and strong, can't tell how tough I feel. I beg you for a half a pint, that I may get myself a bunk, and something I can eat; for I am old and fear I'd die if I again must hungry line, in a alley, or in street, — I'm sooth." I said, "I'm glad to aid the man whose fortunes are decayed, his prayer I do not spurn; but it would impoverize you, friend, if haply I should give or lend some coin you do not earn. I'll give you fifty cents." I said, "if you will wait your catchload, and prune those bushes, and make the sidewalk good and straight, and nail some hinges on the gate, and mend the bumblebees." And you might think the winnow screens, and how they catch of Lima beans, and see what falls of pump, and skin the milk in wonder-pans, and gather up the old tin cans, and take them to the dump? That pilgrim, ancient and foreman, regarded me with little, slight scorn, and shuffled out of reach; it merely shows that homeless men don't really want to earn the yen they soulfully beseech.

Free, independent of hotels and eating houses, he cooks his grub and lives in a more simple and primitive manner than did Abraham and his contemporaries. He delivered a lecture at Gambia's hall on Friday evening. The lecture was descriptive of Judea and Jerusalem and also gave an interesting account of the Turks. The monk went from here to Sioux City. He stated that he should return to Jerusalem in about three weeks.

In the congressional candidacy of William Warner, republicans are given the opportunity to elect one of the ablest men in the district. He is well equipped for the office, and every republican can support him without explanation or apology.

Charles E. Hughes will be as firm in his affairs as president as he is in pointing out imperfections in the present administration's policies, and if his record as governor of New York is a safe criterion, he will be wise and effective in the exercise of executive judgment.

President Wilson would seem to have seriously bungled his attempt at settling the threatened railway strike. Instead of insisting on arbitration with fair treatment for each side, he has asked the roads to yield the main ground-of-dispute. Nothing is fairer than arbitration, and a demand for arbitration would not only have been supported by the public, but generally approved by railway employes and employers.

The war which has shut off importations from European countries, and caused almost a famine in some commodities, shows up in most emphatic style the deficiencies in American production. In this resourceful country, we certainly do not lack raw materials, but we do lack manufacturing and finishing processes. After two years of war, it would look as though American initiative and enterprise would have been able to amply meet every want.

Governor Morehead is stirring himself in behalf of a reconstructed state house. He has invited Speaker Jackson of the last house and President of the Senate Phil H. Kohl and several other leaders of the legislature to meet him in Lincoln August 28 and confer with State Engineer Johnson over the condition of the shaky and crumbling structure. One wing of the state house is pointed off as particularly unsafe. It is said to be liable to tumble down. The governor wants something done to brace up the one wing at least. The capitol of Nebraska has long been an eyesore and a source of unfavorable criticism. It is not indicative of the wealth and enterprise of the state.

If there is no law to force operation of transportation lines while differences between employers and employees are settled, no law one should be passed. The violation of any federal law, injuring society, calls for prosecution and punishment. The public is given relief. Suspension of railway traffic would be a violation of federal law. Then any industrial differences, figured like any case triable to a court, ought to be tried and legally disposed of without disturbing arteries of trade and sources of public welfare. It would seem as important, if necessary, to draft men for railway service as for military service, and it should be made as possible to do one as the other. If the constitution interferes, change the constitution.

The threatened railroad strike would be a great misfortune to this country. In such an eventuality, the public and country counting forces would be seriously hurt. It is not just to allow the innocent masses to suffer injury and hardship because of the obstinacy of either the railroad companies or the one hundred thousand employes on the other. Any industrial dispute that can't be amicably settled between parties to the disagreement ought to be submitted by compulsion to a fair and impartial court of arbitration and thrashed out and decided on its merits the same as any case tried before a judicial tribunal. Then all disputants ought to be compelled to yield to the finding. A strike involving the machinery of civilization and industry should be made illegal and impossible by law. The government is greater than any railroad or any industrial organization, and can and should make provision to safeguard the public interest against calamity from selfish disputes. Such government action would not trample individual rights as much as to permit liberty to settle the labor differences by means of a strike.

The New Goods Are Here

Would You Enjoy First Choice?

Then come now, as the splendid assortment of merchandise bought in the East the past three weeks is mostly here and ready for your selection.

Get First Choice of the New Suits and Coats

If you come now you can choose from 1200 garments. Such a very great number of coats and suits are here now because we are receiving the hundreds of garments we will soon send out for special sales in 65 towns around us. You can have your choice from all these garments if you come now before we ship them out. Here you can choose your suit or coat from a finer, larger stock than is shown in most city stores and you will get them at much below city prices. There are many garments in every size from a child's two year to a ladies' 50-inch bust and at every price from $5.00 to $75.00. If you are particular, if you enjoy first choice, and especially, if you are hard to fit, come now while we have this splendid, big assortment from which to choose.

These Dress Goods and Silks Are Most Favored

There are certain cloths and certain colors that are going to be very stylish this fall, and there are some new ways of making them up into waists and dresses that are proving very popular. In the eastern cities we attended fashion displays and style exhibits where we could get the correct information on these subjects, and then we bought the silks and dress goods and trimmings that we found were to be stylish. In Chicago, a prize of $1,000 was given for the nicest dress designed by an American dressmaker; we went to see the dresses that were sent in and gained many ideas that also helped us choose our stock. These new dress goods and silks are here now—with trimmings and buttons and linings to match, and we are ready to show you the correct materials and favored colors for fall, and help you select the stylish way to make your dress or waist or skirt.

Stylish Skirts and Dressy Waists

You will like our new Fall Skirts. The styles are the prettiest and neatest we have had in years, and the materials are varied enough to suit every taste. Besides the serviceable poplin and serge a great many silks in plaids and stripes are being used and just within the past two weeks skirts of black satin are in great demand. We will have them all here for you very soon, many of them being imported by Saturday.

Shirt waists of Tub Silk, Crepe de Chen, and Plaid Taffetas are most popular, with Georgette Crepe the favorite in real dressy waists. Many of our new ones are here, and more are expected by Saturday.

This Nobby Shoe $5.00 Many Others at $3.75 and $4.00

Illustrated above is a type of Ladies' Dress Shoe that cannot be had in good-wearing quality for less than $5.00 in black and $6.00 to $7.50 in fancy colors. They are made of kid, and the price is $5.00 to $7.50 because kid skins come mostly from abroad and are now very scarce and high-priced. In other good leathers, however, there are many styles in very pretty shoes that we can sell you at $3.75 to $4.00, which is very little more than last year's prices. No matter what your wants, we have all the correct styles for you in the Famous Queen Quality shoes and some new styles in soft, easy shoes that will greatly please the comfort-seekers.

Get These Good School Shoes At Moderate Prices

They are "Kreider's" the same make of guaranteed, good-wearing, good-looking shoes you have always bought here for your boys and girls. Prices are very little higher than last year, because we bought them months ago, before the last stiff advance in leather prices. Bring the children here and we will fit them as carefully as we do the grown-ups. At a moderate price, you will get good-looking shoes made by "Kreider," that are well known for their wearing qualities to hundreds of Wayne families.

Among the Producers of Wayne County....

By WARD RANDOL, Staff representative of the Herald.

Martin Andersen.

Two and one-half miles west of Sholes, and three miles south of Randolph is the quarter section owned and operated by Martin Andersen. He took possession of this place three years ago and is working hard to get the soil and improvements in the best possible shape. This year he reports sixty acres of corn and forty acres of oats, both of which he is making six head of cows. The cream is sold at a good profit. The Andersen home is but a quarter of a mile from a good rural school.

W. W. Berntline.

W. W. Berntline owns a splendid quarter section of land, eight miles west and one and one-half miles south of Wayne. He took possession of this place fifteen years ago and has been operating it ever since. Just half of the acreage is devoted to corn this year. Twenty-five acres of oats shocked up good and heavy. The balance of the 160 acres is used in pasture, building site, etc. One set of cattle was finished for market during the last season, and only ten head are left in the yards. There is a total of fifty spring pigs in addition to the fourteen head of old hogs.

William Bowles, Jr.

William Bowles, Jr., is just starting out in the farming business for himself, and the scene of his operations is a 160-acre farm sixteen miles west and four and one-half miles north of Wayne. This farm is the property of his father, William Bowles, sr., who moved on the place thirteen years ago. The son has spent the greater part of his life on this farm and so he is in a position to handle the soil to the best advantage. This year he has seventy acres of corn and forty-five acres of oats. Ten of the remaining acres are in hay and the rest of the land is devoted to pasture. Mr. Bowles has not had time to get the place stocked very heavily as yet, but he states that he intended to make five stock one of the main features on the farm. At present he has a herd of thirty-three spring pigs in addition to five old hogs. Mr. Bowles is a congenial man to meet and is sure to make a big success at his profession.

G. W. Kingston.

Eight miles west and six miles north of Wayne is a fine 200-acre farm owned and operated by G. W. Kingston. This year they are cropping the land with ninety acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, and approximately alfalfa. Forty acres of hay with the balance in pasture of a good variety. A good share of the grain is fed to stock, there now being 135 head of hogs of all ages and in the neighborhood of forty-five head of cattle on hand. One car of cattle was shipped on April 13, and fifty head of hogs were recently sold. The improvements on the Kingston farm are first class. The house, which is of very recent construction and shows excellent taste. The barnyard buildings are well adapted to the operations of the place. It is planned to erect a new hog house, 22x40, some time this fall.

Otto Gehrke.

This is the seventh year that Otto Gehrke has been operating a quarter section one mile west and three miles north of Winslow. Just a half of the land is in corn this year and it promises to be the best crop he has ever raised on this farm. Forty acres of oats made a very satisfactory yield. Fifteen acres are devoted to alfalfa and a good pasture occupies the balance of the quarter. Mr. Gehrke deals in stock only conservatively. He now has twenty-five head of hogs and ten head of cattle. Forty-five head of hogs and twenty head of cattle were recently sold from this farm.

Frank Lorenz.

Fourteen miles west and one-half mile north of Wayne is a good quarter section owned and operated by Frank Lorenz. He has only been on this place four years, but he has not wasted any time in getting his farm in the most desirable shape. This year he has sixty-five acres of corn and fifty-five acres of oats and alfalfa crops. There are eight acres of alfalfa with the balance of the land in pasture. As to stock there are twenty-five head of hogs of all ages and twenty-six head of cattle.

Peter Jakobson.

In 1891 Peter Jakobson came to this county, but he did not settle permanently until nine years ago when he purchased a desirable eighty-two miles south of Winslow. On account of the comparatively small acreage Mr. Jakobson is able to give a great deal of attention to each crop. His thirty-acre patch of corn is the biggest and best he has ever seen. Twenty-five acres of oats also made a big yield every year this fall. There are small fields of both alfalfa and sweet clover. The last time Mr. Jakobson visited this county was in 1915, and he finds that some of our very well in this county.

try and is exceedingly hardy. Another unusual feature in this county is the raising of beets for stock feeding purposes, but Mr. Jakobson thinks this will become more popular in the future. In the line of stock fifty head of spring pigs in addition to the six-old-hogs were reported. One hundred and eight head of hogs and fifty-six head of cattle were the stock shipments from this farm during the past season. The cattle in the yards totaled five head at the time these figures were taken. The Jakobson farm is well improved, two of the best buildings being a hog house 20x40 and a barn 34x52. A fine grove containing several different kinds trees adds much to the attractiveness of the building site.

William Koepke.

William Koepke owns a 120-acre farm four miles south of town and in addition he operates another eighty, rented from other parties. For crops this year he reports seventy acres of corn, eighty acres of oats, ten acres of alfalfa with the balance in pasture of a good variety. Last season he fed and shipped a car each of cattle and hogs. Stock on hand includes twenty head of hogs of all ages, eight head of head of feeders. Eleven cows bring in a steady income to Mr. Koepke from the sale of cream.

A. M. Davis.

A quarter section of land just one mile west of town has been operated for the past eight years by A. M. Davis, who purchased it at that time. Of the 160 acres, ninety are devoted to corn. Eighteen acres are seeded to alfalfa and the balance of the land is taken up with pasture, groves and building site. One of the big jobs on the Davis farm is the milking of a center of cows which produce cream rich in butter fat. Forty head of hogs were finished during the past season. Fifty head of spring pigs and twelve old hogs constitute the herd at the present time. There are forty head of stock cattle that will feed out at a good profit a little later in the season.

G. A. Lewis.

In twenty-five years' residence on his farm a mile north of Winslow G. A. Lewis has had time to develop the land and to add many substantial improvements. The house is modern in every detail and the barnyard buildings are of fine type and kept in good repair at all times. A grove of 100 evergreens in addition to fifty pines and about that number of cedars is a feature that receives a good deal of favorable comment from visitors. Mr. Lewis reports sixty acres of corn, thirty acres of oats, ten acres of alfalfa with the balance in tame-grass. His herd of hogs includes thirty spring pigs and six head of old stock. After selling two cars of cattle Mr. Lewis now has thirty-five head left in the yards.

E. Gehrke.

Five years ago E. Gehrke purchased an eighty-two miles south of Winslow. He is working to convert it into a real home, and to practice intensive farming in such a way that his operations will warrant his continuing on a small farm. This year he has fifty acres of corn that are sure to bring a big net income. Eighteen acres are devoted to oats and the rest of the eighty is in pasture.

Chris Rushman.

Twenty-four years ago Chris Rushman came to this county from Douglas county, but he has been farming the place he is now occupying only for the last five years. It is a quarter section, located two miles south of Winslow. Mr. Rushman realized a good income per acre on forty acres of oats this fall. Sixty-five acres of corn are developing big ears and plenty of them. Ten acres are devoted to alfalfa and the balance of the acreage is in prairie hay. Mr. Rushman does not deal in stock to any great extent. At the time of this visit he had twelve head of good type cattle in the yards.

Burress Brothers.

One of the institutions that has done much to advertise Carroll and Wayne county is the high class stock farm operated by the Burress Brothers, P. C. and C. C. Burress. As is well known throughout the section of the country, the specialty on this farm is horses, thoroughbred Percheron and Belgian horses that have secured for their owners an enviable reputation. Each year between forty and fifty such animals are raised and find ready sale among breeders of fine horses. These horses are comfortably housed in three large barns, measuring 40x100, 32x48, and 32x42. The Burress Brothers know well how to feed and care for the young horses and to bring them to maturity smooth and sound. Hogs and cattle are also big features on the Burress farm. The yardmaster Chester White has on the average of twelve cars of cattle are fed out and sold at a high figure. The scene of all these various operations is a fifty-acre farm included in the corporation of Carroll. The Burresses have been on this place for the past eleven years, although they have been residents in the county fourteen years. The land is divided into five pastures and substantially fenced with five-foot woven-wire. The entire acreage is devoted to alfalfa. This is a farm where things are done on a large scale and it is certainly worth while to pay it a visit.

G. C. Loeb.

A farm which is already equipped with a good seed-of-buildings and on which it is proposed to place new improvements in the near future is that of G. C. Loeb, eight miles west and six miles north of Wayne. All during the five years of Mr. Loeb's residence here it has been his aim to increase the productivity of his farm, and at the same time, to make it a more attractive home. Heavy broilers and a wide variety of drifts fruit trees evidence some of his efforts along that direction. The barn always attracts attention because of its size. It is 60x48, with 22-foot posts. A corn crib and a hog house are some of the proposed improvements. Last season Mr. Loeb sold 1,700 bushels of corn and 2,200 bushels of oats. Some of the grain was fed to stock. Fifty-five head of hogs and a small bunch of cattle were marketed, and now there are eighty head of the old stock. In addition to twelve head of feeders Mr. Loeb is milking six cows. The crops for the year include the following: Seventy-five acres of corn, fifty acres of oats, ten acres of alfalfa with the balance of the 160 acres taken up with a small pasture, building site and groves.

Martin Jensen.

Martin Jensen moved to this county thirty-two years ago and eleven years ago purchased a 120-acre farm, fourteen miles west of Wayne. He has improved the place in good shape and has water piped to all the buildings and yards. This year he reports forty-six acres of corn, twenty-two acres of oats, besides thirty-five acres of alfalfa and a good-sized pasture. Mr. Jensen raises stock on a small scale. At present he has about forty head of hogs and about the same number of cattle. The Jensens milk five cows and sell the cream at a high figure. One car of cattle was finished for market by Mr. Jensen during the past season.

C. O. Sellon.

This makes the twenty-fourth year that C. O. Sellon has been on an enviable reputation. Each year between four and five miles north of Wayne. Mr. Sellon is thoroughly progressive and has his farm equipped in splendid shape. One of the latest conveniences added is 8-16 H. C. tractor with which he does all the plowing, seeding and binding on the farm. He thinks this engine is the greatest labor saver that he has had on the farm. The crops on this half are a barn 40x72 and a corn crib section for this year include: One 32x50, hundred-fifty acres of corn, seventy-five acres of oats, ninety acres of alfalfa, forty acres of pasture. In the line of stock there are about 150 head of hogs of all ages and thirty head of cattle. Two cars of hogs were finished for market during the

CARROLL.

Miss Margaret Forbes of the Herald staff is editor of this department, and will visit Carroll every Monday. Any new contributions to these columns from town or country will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive new or renewed subscriptions.

Plan to Reduce Rates. Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Morris made a business trip to Lincoln and Omaha Friday and Saturday for the purpose of investigating rates for electrical devices other than light. As a result Mr. Morris has decided to furnish power for motors, ranges and other appliances at reduced rate, probably 5-cents. This of course will also necessitate Sunday service, which is greatly appreciated by all patrons. Such an extension of service will put the Independent Light and Power company in the class with plants in towns much larger than Carroll.

Rev. Keller to New Field. The congregation of the Baptist church regretted very much to learn that Rev. M. E. Keller had resigned his charge at Carroll. Rev. Keller has been the pastor for a little over three years and was much esteemed by all the citizens of Carroll and vicinity as well as by his own parishioners. He will be with his wife and daughter, Miss Louise, and son, Omar, left this morning for Blue Earth, Minn., where he will minister in the Baptist church. Friends wish the Kellers success and happiness in their new field.

Thrown From Horse. The horse which Lloyd Morris, son of Lot John Morris, was riding early in the morning of the 29th, when he started the heavy harness of horses behind her and missing her footing on a culvert she plunged headlong into a ditch and fell with her full weight on top of the rider. The boy escaped unscathed for three and one-half hours, but although he was badly bruised and cut about the head, no bones were broken and it is thought that no serious results will follow.

School Opens Monday. The public schools of Carroll will open Monday morning with C. E. Mason at the helm as superintendent. The boy committee in charge of the school work by Mrs. Marie Porter, principal, and Miss Ruth Sterling, assistant principal. Miss Bea Murphy will have charge of the grammar room. Miss Mary Williams, Miss Joe Reed and Miss Stella Turner will teach in the intermediate, second primary and first primary departments respectively.

Auto Turns Turtle. Last Wednesday while Peter Larson with his daughter was driving along the road about half way between Winside and Carroll, the car skidded into a rut, washed by the recent heavy rains, and began to roll until the driver lost all control. Although the car turned turtle, throwing both the occupants out, neither of them was seriously injured. The machine, however, was badly wrecked.

In Honor of Teacher. The young ladies of Mrs. M. O. Keller's Sunday school recently gave a pleasant concert in her honor last Saturday night. They gathered at the home of Miss Eulalia Hurlbert and spent the hours in a social way. During the evening very nice refreshments were enjoyed. The table cloth to show their appreciation of her association with them during the past three years.

Jolly Surprise Party. On Friday evening a bevy of girls gave Miss Louise Keller a genuine surprise when they met at the home of Miss Neva Landager east of town for a farewell party to her honor. Miss Keller did not give until all the other girls had collected.

Breaks His Jaw. James Ahern, son of Mrs. John Ahern, who lives north of town, sustained a fracture of the jaw when the clutch on an engine he was starting slipped, releasing the crank which struck him squarely on the side of the face. The boy is getting along as well as could be expected.

Exchange Pupils. Rev. M. L. Dilley of Octavia, and Rev. M. O. Keller, exchanged pupils Sunday morning. Rev. Dilley is a candidate for the Baptist charge at Carroll, but the matter will not be definitely decided until the church board holds its next meeting.

Mrs. Wava Garwood spent Tuesday afternoon in Wayne. Miss Jessie Grace of Wayne was a Carroll visitor Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. N. Serres went to Orchard Sunday to attend a missionfest. Mrs. Fred Schrader is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Shenelberg at Winside.

Mrs. Frank James who has been confined to her bed for several days is improving rapidly. Miss Mary Hanson and Peter and James Hanson went to Creighton Friday to spend a week.

The Farmers' Union and John Shannon each shipped a car of hogs to Sioux City Sunday evening. Mrs. Ella Kelly came Friday from Carroll, Ia., to visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Smith.

Fred Schader and daughter, Alma, and son, Ed, autored to Osgood, Minn., to attend a missionfest.

Miss Katherine Owens was a passenger to Sioux City Tuesday morning to visit with friends a few days.

Mrs. A. J. Williams and daughter, Mary, left Friday morning for LeRoy, Minn., for a two weeks' visit.

Master Francis Hughes, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hughes, has been critically ill for several days, is improving slowly.

Merlin Willis, brother of L. F. Willis, left Monday for his home at Sioux City. Mr. Willis had been employed in the Index office during the summer.

Will Thomas, John Davis, Frank James and T. J. Thomas went to Hooper yesterday to look over the distributing plant of the Buick automobile factory.

The Carroll band is in Winside today to furnish music for the Farmers' Union picnic. A large delegation of Carroll people also attended the picnic.

Mrs. A. L. Larson and daughter, Lavon, of Hooper, who were weekend guests at the Charles Linn home in Carroll, went to Hoskins Monday to visit Mrs. A. Linn.

Charles Higgins left Friday for Sidney to look after his interests during the threshing season. He will return in about a week, in his car which he had previously left at Sidney.

Prof. H. W. Owens, vocal instructor and chorus director from Creighton, will give a concert at the Welsh Presbyterian church Sunday. He is a brother to E. P. Owens.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Morris made a business trip to Lincoln and Omaha Friday and Saturday for the purpose of investigating rates for electrical devices other than light. As a result Mr. Morris has decided to furnish power for motors, ranges and other appliances at reduced rate, probably 5-cents. This of course will also necessitate Sunday service, which is greatly appreciated by all patrons. Such an extension of service will put the Independent Light and Power company in the class with plants in towns much larger than Carroll.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Morris and son, Donald, returned Saturday evening from their trip to Kansas City and Guthrie, Okla. Mr. Morris took some time relative to the raising of fancy live stock at the Graham school while Mrs. Morris spent the time with relatives. The entire trip was made by auto.

Prof. H. W. Owens returned to his home in Chicago Monday after spending his vacation at the home of his brother, E. P. Owens. Prof. Owens was one of the three members that founded the music conservatory at Winona Lake, Ind. At present he is a vocal instructor and chorus director at a conservatory in Chicago.

George Westrop and daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bati Westrop, autored to Carroll from Bellevue last Thursday to accompany home the former's mother who had been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Heeren for a few days. The Heeren and Westropes lived at the same home twenty-one years ago when Wayne county was little more than a prairie.

Among those who attended the circus at Norfolk Saturday were the following: Jons Christensen, Charles Ben Davis, George and Ed Fitzsimmons, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mick, Miss Anna Griffith, Miss Nellie Baker, Mr. and Mrs. George Linn, William Owens, W. E. James and Katherine and Miss Lizzie Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Richards and Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Roberts left Tuesday morning for Lake Crystal, Minn., to attend the wedding of the Welch Presbyterian church. They expect to be gone for about two weeks. Others who left during the week for Lake Crystal are: Mrs. Griffith Williams, W. M. Williams, Mrs. A. E. H. Hancher, Hanna and Mrs. Ellis Owens and daughter, Mabel.

WAKEFIELD. Miss Margaret Forbes of the Herald staff is editor of this department, and will visit Wakefield every Tuesday. Any new contributions to these columns from town or country will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive new or renewed subscriptions.

School Once More. The Wakefield public schools swung open their doors Monday morning after the usual summer vacation. The total enrollment is 247. The names of the teachers and number of students enrolled in each grade follow: Miss Helen Rockwell, first and second grades, with twenty-one and twenty-three pupils respectively; Miss Lillian Plank, third and fourth grades with twenty-three and eighteen pupils; Miss Mamie McCorkindale, fifth and sixth grades with seventeen and twenty-two pupils, and Miss Eleanor C. PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

Lincoln Journal, August 26: In response to an inquiry from the Nebraska Dry Federation Governor Arthur Capper of Kansas has issued a second statement in reply to the arranged advertisements of the Nebraska prosperity league.

State of Kansas, Arthur Capper, Governor, Topeka, Aug. 24.—J. T. Thompson, Nebraska Dry Federation, Lincoln, Neb. Dear Mr. Thompson: I have your letter of August 19 enclosing copy of an advertisement published in an Omaha newspaper by the Nebraska prosperity league.

As usual the liquor forces take no particular pains to present the situation in its true light. They give the figures showing the number of prisoners actually incarcerated in the state to give the figures which form the real index to the prevalence of crime—the rate of commitment to prison. The rate for prisoners of all kinds actually incarcerated per 100,000 population in Kansas is 91.1; in Nebraska it is 55.1.

It is necessary to examine the rate of commitment. The rate of commitment per 100,000 population in Kansas is 196, while in Nebraska it is 482—a fact which demonstrates the liberal parole system followed in Nebraska as compared with Kansas. Likewise Nebraska with 500,000 less population than Kansas committed 5,888 delinquents in 1910, while Kansas committed 4,594.

The severity of the Kansas statutes must also be taken into consideration in a discussion of the prison population of the two states. The commission of certain crimes in Kansas send men to the penitentiary while the same offenses committed in Nebraska are punishable by jail sentences. It seems that the booze interests failed to mention this fact. Why?

The following cases are among those that illustrate the penalties as misdemeanors while Kansas punishes as felonies. A felony is a crime punishable by confinement in the penitentiary while a misdemeanor sends the offender to the county jail. The following are included in the prison reports, the misdemeanor man is not.

Administering medicine to produce abortion in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska it is a misdemeanor. Deserting a wife or children in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska a misdemeanor. Stealing chickens in Kansas is a felony; Nebraska law has treated this crime as a misdemeanor until 1915.

Receiving stolen property in Kansas is a felony; providing property taken in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska the theft must be $35 or more—nearly twice as much as in Kansas. Receiving stolen property in Kansas is a felony; providing property taken in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska the theft must be $35 or more—nearly twice as much as in Kansas.

Running a lottery business in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska a misdemeanor. Running a public gambling house in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska a misdemeanor.

in Kansas is a felony; in Nebraska, a misdemeanor.

Obtaining property by fraud or false pretense is a felony in Kansas if $20 or more is procured; the same crime is a misdemeanor in Nebraska unless $35 or more is procured.

A second conviction for selling liquor in Kansas is a felony; it is a misdemeanor in Nebraska.

There are other cases in which Kansas makes the offense a felony and Nebraska only a misdemeanor. The difference in value necessary to constitute a felony in Kansas and Nebraska will include a large number of cases.

A letter addressed to J. K. Coddling, warden Kansas state penitentiary, Lansing, Kas., will get a reply to the part of the advertisement attributed to him. Very respectfully, (Signed), ARTHUR CAPPER, Governor.

Why It Costs More to Furnish Telephone Service in a Large Town Than in a Small One

Telephones usually increase in number as a town grows, and the more telephones there are the more opportunities there are for the use of each telephone.

The more calls there are from each telephone the more it costs to operate that telephone and the more wear there is on the equipment.

Also the equipment per telephone is more expensive in larger places. For example, in a town of 10,000 people the more intricate and complicated switchboard that has to be used costs nearly five times as much per subscriber connected as in a town of 1,000 people.

Subscribers in the town of 10,000 people live on an average three times as far from the central office as in the smaller place. Also subscribers move more in large centers, and these moves cost money.

A more exacting grade of service is required in larger places, which increases the operating costs. Again wages, taxes and rents are higher as a town grows larger. Then too, in larger places we are generally asked to place our wires underground in cables, which is very expensive.

These are some of the reasons why telephone rates cannot be as low in large towns as in small ones.

HAVE YOU A BAD BACK?

If You Have, the Statement of this Wayne Resident Will Interest You.

Does your back ache, night and day?
 Tires work; destroy your rest?
 Does it stab you through and through?
 When you stoop or lift or bend?
 Then your kidneys may be weak. Often backache is the clue. Just to give you further proof, The kidney action may be wrong. If attention is not paid, More distress will soon appear. Headaches, dizzy spells and nerves, Uric acid and its ills Make the burden worse and worse. Liniments and plasters can't Reach the inward cause at all; Help the kidneys—use the pills Wayne folks have tried and proved.

What they say you can believe. Read this Wayne man's account. See him, ask him, if you doubt. Ole Hurstad, retired farmer, Wayne, says: "I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills for sometime. The relief they gave me and others of the family of backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble has convinced me that they are reliable."

Write 3c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy; get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hurstad recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Cure for Cholera Morbus.

When our little boy, now seven years old, was a baby he was cured of cholera morbus by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, writes Mrs. Sidney Simmus, Fair Haven, N. Y. "Since then other members of my family have used this valuable medicine for colic and bowel trouble with good satisfaction and I gladly endorse it as a remedy of exceptional merit. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

For regular action of the bowels; easy natural movements, relief of constipation, try Doan's Regulax. 25c at all stores.—Adv.

The Best Thing for Diarrhoea.

About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Every day is an emergency with some men.

Gold bricks are put up in many different kinds of packages.

Sympathy seldom prevents the under dog from getting whipped.

Luxuries become necessities after one has enjoyed them for a time.

Smile and the world will smile with you and wonder what became of your brain.

He that laughs last is sometimes an Englishman who has just caught the drift of the joke.

The Best Laxative.

To keep the bowels regular the best laxative is outdoor exercise. Drink a full glass of water half an hour before breakfast and eat an abundance of fruit and vegetables, also establish a regular habit and be sure that your bowels move once each day. When a medicine is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are pleasant to take and mild and gentle in effect. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Does Prohibition Save the Boy?

The Promise:

State Prohibition is being urged on the citizens of Nebraska on the plea that it will save the boy.

Let us see whether Prohibition has saved the boys of Kansas, where state Prohibition has been tried for 35 years.

The Actual Result:

KANSAS, Sentenced by inmates Oct. 1, 1915:
 Reformatory . . . . . 330
 Boys' Industrial School . . . 264
 Total for Kansas . . . . . 594

NEBRASKA, Sentenced by inmates Oct. 1, 1915:
 (No Reformatory) . . . . . none
 Boys' Industrial School . . . 199
 Total for Nebraska . . . . . 199

[The figures for Kansas were compiled by Chas. M. Hines, Chairman of the Kansas State Board of Corrections, and the figures for Nebraska were compiled by the Board of Commissioners of State Institutions.]

Why Do Three Times as Many Boys Go Wrong in Kansas?

J. K. Coddling, warden of the Kansas penitentiary, lays the blame on "The Little Alley joints" that exist all over Kansas, where, he says, men and boys congregate night after night to play poker, shoot craps, and indulge in debauchery.

[See the warden's report on page 42 of the Proceedings of the Kansas Conference of Charities and Corrections, held at Lawrence, Kansas, November, 1915.]

Judge Roy T. Osborne, of Independence, Kansas

On page 13 of the same report, says:

"In the little more than ten years the juvenile court has been established in Kansas, children under sixteen years of age, in this state, have committed practically every crime in the calendar, including murder in the first degree. * * * It is astounding to observe the absolute indifference of many parents to the moral welfare of their offspring. * * * In nearly every community there are places and forms of amusement unwholesome for children."

M. G. McKenzie, Chaplain of the Reformatory in Kansas

Says on page 59 of the First Biennial Report, Kansas State Board of Corrections:

"Of these boys, 202 acknowledged they drank more or less; 275 used tobacco, 77 gambled. Most of these boys ran around considerable, and were away from home when they got into trouble; 265 were from homes broken by death or divorce."

THE ALLEY JOINT in Kansas is the corrupting influence that lands so many Kansas boys in the Reformatory and Industrial School.
