Rev. J. G. Galloway, pastor of the M. E. church at Winnsboro, was at Wayne Monday on his way home from Holden where he preached Sunday. Mrs. Sylvia Jones occupied the Holden charge. He says he has been in the ministry thirty years and has built fourteen new churches during that time. He has engineered plans for each, and both were started and completed about the same time.

Norfolk Daily News, December 11: H. Sebring, a former Norfolk man, pleaded guilty to a white slavery charge in federal court at Lincoln, according to notes received by Norfolkans who had been previously notified to appear as witnesses in this case sometime in January. Sebring was charged with sending money to a Norfolk girl with which she used to purchase transportation to Kansas. Following her departure the girl came home and her case was brought to the attention of County Attorney Dowling who took the matter before federal authorities. The case was made considerably more serious by announcement in the county prosecutor's office that a child had been born and that the defendant should be made to share the responsibility for the offense.

"BLACKEST CRIME IN HISTORY" IS CHARGE

That was a big meeting in every way at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening. More than 200 people enjoyed the excellent hall-music program and listened attentively for more than an hour to the masterful lecture by Dr. F. H. Essert of Denver.
Dr. Essert's general subject is "White Slavery and Sex Hygiene." The particular theme of the Sunday evening address was: "The Blackest Crime in History." In a very direct way, the speaker narrated many appalling conditions in our country brought about by the Black Plague. The impurity of life, the atrocious—lawless—poisonage—of—the insanity—nervousness and general inefficiency of the people of this country.
While Dr. Essert's language was exceedingly earnest and startling, it was at the same time pure and gave rise to the most sensitive person could not take offense at anything he said. The lecture might be defined as both educational and inspirational. It certainly made many persons decide to give themselves with new zeal and earnestness to the great problem of social reform along these lines.
Here is a man with a message. He is not only a master in the general presentation of facts, but knows how to speak as well. Night at time street walking, lounging about the depot and postoffice corridor, etc., were denounced as evils of greater magnitude than any evil he described before a mixed audience.
All the churches of Wayne were fairly represented in the Sunday evening audience and, at the close of the lecture, all rose as one to give approval to the speaker's message. This subject is safe in few hands. Dr. Essert discusses it in a safe, efficient way and does not off-ense to the good taste of anyone.

THE GOOD FELLOWS.

Sioux City Journal: The essence of the Christmas spirit is usefulness. There is no medium through which it can be brought to bear more effectively than through the Good Fellow movement.
There always is some degree of selfishness in giving to one's own. At best, one gratifies normal desire to do well by his relatives and friends. Inevitably there always is compensation in expressions of pleasure and gratitude over the realization of Christmas longings. Usually there is material compensation in the form of some return gift, an acknowledgment of the gifts of family and friendship. Accordingly, Christmas giving is in some degree a matter of exchange and gratification. It is a gift to those who have not, and that is not the truest exemplification of the best form of Christmas giving.

Most of the Christmas gifts go to those who have. The Good Fellow idea of Christmas giving is to give to those who have not. No family can enjoy a merry Christmas without a fire in the stove and food on the table. No boy or girl can have a happy holiday in threadbare clothes and scuffed shoes. No Good Fellow can feel that his cup of Christmas joy is full to the brim so long as he knows in the same community cold and hunger and want are the only Christmas visitors in some family circles.
The Good Fellow gives merely for the satisfaction of doing his share to see that the unfortunates as well as the fortunate get in on the Christmas cheer. He gives without thought of direct acknowledgment of his generosity. Usually he will not even see any of the happiness which he contributes. He knows that there is need which has no claim on him save as a brother of humanity. As such a brother he gives freely to meet it. And the process gives him an inner glow such as accompanies none of his conventional Christmas gifts.

The Good Fellow casts his bread upon the water and it comes back to him instantly, multiplied manifold in the consciousness of unselfish service as a laugh by the great master whose will the Christmas holiday commemorates.
Be a Good Fellow!

FOUR-YEAR TERMS URGED.

Grand Island, Neb., Dec. 10.—Four-year terms for county officers will be an issue before the coming legislative session if some members of county officers' organizations have their way about it. The county officers' association, which will meet on Tuesday at Alliance, is expected to make the initial move in this matter and to pass resolutions asking for such a change.
Not only will they ask that the terms of present officers be extended and the legal term be made four years for county officers, but they will also insist that the fee system as applied to some county officers be abolished. That is a proposition made by some members of this organization, and it is understood that these changes will be urged in the summer address to be given by the association to be made by President Gus Neumann of this city. It is understood that a number of county clerks over the state have expressed themselves as favorable to this change in the law relating to the four-year term of office, although the same unanimity may not be found for the abolishment of the fee system. It is said that on this matter there may be a division of opinion.

The recent election caused a material change in the membership of the association and some of the more prominent members will not be county clerks after the first of the year. Nevertheless, a big attendance is looked for and some of the coming members have shown a desire to be present and take part in the deliberations of the association.

Methodist Church.

At the sermon hour next Sunday morning the pastor will discuss "World Missions as Related to World Peace," from the viewpoint of Caroline Avator Mason, author of a book entitled "World Missions and World Peace." A study of Christ's Conquest. This is the text book of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and is one of the very best they have in all their splendid course of study. This sermon is at the request of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and all of the women of the congregation will be interested in this message. The discourse will, however, be of equal interest to men and young people and should be a thought provoking message. Our splendid choir will have special music and the new Methodist Hymnals recently purchased will insure every attendant the use of a song book and the opportunity to join in the hymns and responsive readings.

The evening service will be for the young people and the older folks who wish to keep young. The text is John 8:12, "The Light of Life" light upon the making of a life." Splendid audiences greet the pastor from Sabbath to Sabbath at both the morning and evening services. You are invited to join them and come to the place of worship. If it should happen that you should come late and have to take a seat in the side room you would even there be comfortable and within easy hearing distance from the speaker.

The Christmas sermon with special Christmas anthem will be Sunday morning, December 24. The choir and Sunday school are arranging an unusual Christmas cantata for Sunday evening, December 24. Come and let us worship in spirit and in truth. Let us make more of the devotional life that we may have heart to make more of the social life.

"BLACKEST CRIME IN HISTORY" IS CHARGE

That was a big meeting in every way at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening. More than 300 people enjoyed the excellent half-hour music program and listened attentively for more than an hour to the masterful lecture by Dr. F. H. Essert of Denver.

Grand Island, Neb., Dec. 10.—Four-year terms for county officers would be an issue before the coming legislative year if some members of county officers' organizations have their way about it. The county clerks' association, which will meet on Tuesday afternoon, is expected to make the initial move in this matter and to pass resolutions asking legislative action. It is expected that they will also insist that the terms of present officers be extended and the legal term be made four years for all county officers.

The opinion of the court declares the law unconstitutional, by the state supreme court.

The ruling came in the form of a decision on three cases against the Northwestern railroad, consolidated and appealed from Brown, Dawes and Holt counties. The shippers had obtained judgments for delays in shipping stock from South Omaha into the state.

The opinion in the court declares the law unreasonable, if applied without exception, as it was. The law was passed in 1905 and amended four years later.

expressed themselves as favorable to this change in the law relating to the four-year term of office, although the same unanimity may not be found for the abolishment of the fee system. It is said that on this matter there may be a division of opinion.

The recent election caused a material change in the membership of the association and some of the more prominent members will not be county clerks after the first of the year. Nevertheless, a big attendance is looked for and some of the coming members have shown a desire to be present and take part in the deliberations of the association.

The sessions of the association will last three days. Secretary Patterson has expressed the opinion that the attendance will be the largest in the history of the organization.

AN ASSOCIATION TO CATCH AUTO THIEVES

The Northeast Nebraska Protective association has been temporarily organized, the object being, by a combination of effort and funds, to make it difficult for automobile thieves to get away with their plunder and escape punishment. The organization was started at Carroll last week, officiated by Henry Bartels as president and Vaughn Williams as secretary and treasurer. The organization will be completed and incorporated at Norfolk December 19. Automobile stealing has become so common that organized means to stop it is highly advisable.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 9.—The Nebraska law requiring railroads to transport live stock in shipment at an average of eighteen miles an hour on main lines and fourteen miles an hour on branch lines less than 22 miles in length was today declared unconstitutional, by the state supreme court.

The ruling came in the form of a decision on three cases against the Northwestern railroad, consolidated and appealed from Brown, Dawes and Holt counties. The shippers had obtained judgments for delays in shipping stock from South Omaha into the state.

The opinion in the court declares the law unreasonable, if applied without exception, as it was. The law was passed in 1905 and amended four years later.

Methodist Church.

(Rev. A. S. Buell, Pastor.)
At the sermon hour next Sunday morning the pastor will discuss "World Missions as Related to World Peace," from the viewpoint of Caroline Awtrey Mason, author of a book entitled "World Missions and World Peace."

A study of Christ's Conquests. This is the direct home of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society and is one of the very best they have in all their splendid course of study. This sermon at the request of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and all of the women of the congregation will be interested in this message. The discourse will, however, be of equal interest to men and young people and should be a thought provoking message. Our splendid choir will have special music and the new Methodist Hymnals recently purchased will insure every attendant the use of a song book and the opportunity to join in the hymns and responsive readings.

The evening service will be for the young people and the older folks who wish to keep young. The text is John 12, "The Light of Life, or light upon the making of a life." Splendid audiences greet the pastor from Sabbath to Sabbath both the morning and evening services. You are invited to join them and come to the place of worship. If it should happen that you should come late and have to take a seat in the side room you would even there be comfortable and within easy hearing distance from the speaker.

The Christmas sermon with special Christmas anthem will be Sunday morning, December 24. The choir and Sunday school are arranging an unusual Christmas cantata for Sunday evening, December 24. Come and let us worship in spirit and in truth. Let us make more of the devotional life that we may have heart to make more of the social life.

The German Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Mrs. Eva M. Graves has been secured to direct the evening choir as choister. There will be an excellent music program next Sunday evening.

There are now fine classes of young men and the larger boys in the Sunday school. There is still room for more recruits. We shall be pleased to see you there next Sunday at 11:30.

The service next Sunday evening at 7:30 is to be in the nature of a preparedness peace meeting. Whatever your views you will be interested. A good program of inspiring music is being prepared for this occasion.

People are waking up to the fact that it's a mighty good investment to buy shoes at our prices, judging from the enormous crowds that are so liberally patronizing our Money-raising sale. Buying shoes by the armful is the rule and not the exception! The crowds have been so large that with our limited floor space we could not at times serve them as we would like to have done. But everybody was very good about it, and if they had their corns stepped on made no complaint whatever.

We must have money, and this high grade stock is being sold for about half what it should bring, in order to get it. Do you think for a minute that we would give away these goods if we didn't have to?

Shoe manufacturers tell us to prepare for another awful advance in prices. We believe them as they would gain nothing by deceiving us. It's the same with us. We DO NOT wish to mislead you in any way, as we must have your confidence and patronage after this sale ends.

A healthy man who doesn't feel cheerful and generous during the Christmas season may be catalogued as a hopeless grouch and tightwad.

The habit of doing things under-taken reflects refreshing efficiency. The man who promises much and accomplishes little, always ready with excuse and apology, will cut small figure in the affairs of the world.

There is already talk of the nomination of President Wilson for a third term. The fact that the Democrats in the platform of 1912 for one term was triumphantly disregarded will make it easy to upset objections to a third term.

A New York report states that twenty-eight Oklahoma newspapers have been forced to suspend publication on account of the high cost of newsprint. Many others have reduced the number of pages issued. No industry has been hit harder by the present era of exorbitant prices than that of the newspaper.

The organized campaign against automobile thieves leads us to reflect serenely on the safety of our lives. It is able to start the animal during these cold days without putting a hot poultice on its lungs, he is welcome to it, though we would ask the privilege of being called in to see how the operation is performed.

Nearly every forward step in the progress of a community, big or little is fraught with opposition. It is nature's way of sharpening and quickening the enterprising majority by a few obstacles kicking and pulling back. The man in the unfortunate role of knocker also moderates and steadies headway—their is a most useful mission we can think of to his credit.

Tuesday's newspaper reports stated that Germany and her allies were ready to enter negotiations leading to lasting peace. It is the universal hope that a way to peace will be found, that sanity will be restored to the governments of Europe and that peaceful pursuits will supplant war and waste. All the battling nations have suffered irreparable loss in men and treasure, and all should welcome peace and a cessation of death and destruction.

According to a Chicago report, three different organizations are conducting inquiries into the immoderately high cost of food products. It is believed greedy speculators have over-used storage plants with intent to corner food supplies and make them high-priced. It is hoped investigations will be more than get rich quick and result in defeating some of those who wish to per form tricks by squeezing and impoverishing the consuming public.

It has been suggested that the military system of the United States be so changed that the soldiers will be producers in different lines of endeavor, and therefore better paid. They could be employed in industrial and agricultural operations, and at the same time be trained for military duty. They would be yielding important service without engaging in war, and results would enable sufficient salaries to make their service more attractive. Production in some useful endeavor, in addition to military training, would mean increased efficiency.

A newspaper's experience with people is kaleidoscopic, and an editor must not be too sensitive to either flowers or thorns if he would get along without having his feelings buoyed up to the top notch one minute only to be dashed to the ground the next minute. He must not rise so high under the influence of praise that he will fall and break his neck when he is hit by a shaft of adversity. A mistake or omission, though seemingly trivial, often excites rebuke, and is given more importance than it deserves. A news-paragraph or editorial that calls forth approval from one is apt to elicit condemnation from another. The editor exercises his best judgment always, but it is impossible for him to please everybody all the time. Moses Warner of the Lyons Mirror, is the only living editor who can do that.

A few weeks ago we suggested as mild sort of retribution for the sins of Ponca in defeating south Dixon county candidates, mentioned by way of complaint by the Emerson Enterprise and Allen News, that the county seat be grabbed away from Ponca and relocated at Allen. We further suggested that voters of Logan township, Dixon county, take off their coats and help detach the seat of government from the dear old town on the river, having it clearly understood that as compensation it would be granted to separate from Dixon county and become attached to Wayne county. Ponca—Sweet Auburn—apparently protested not. It shows fine heroism and fortitude in willingness to lie still while the operation is being performed. The News of Allen doesn't say whether the county seat would be acceptable to that town or not, though it is assumed if it—the county government—were put into a galling spot and shot into the town by the south part of the county, it would be properly taken care of and made to feel at home. The Emerson Enterprise, alert to the value of the suggestion, makes this observation: "Let us make a prediction. Dixon county is not always going to put up with its present court-house. Neither is Dixon county going to put good money into a new court house which is cut off from the rest of the county both geographically and by railroad. Allen is also in this position as regards the railroad. People object to taking a week's journey when they go to get a marriage license. One thing in Allen's favor over Ponca is that the county will get Allen from anywhere in the county."

CITY COUNCIL.
Wayne, Neb., December 7, 1916. The city council met, at the call of the mayor, there being present, Mayor D. H. Cunningham, Councilmen Harrington, Lamberson, Hansen, Hiscoc, Poulsen and Gildersleeve.

Waldemar Michaelson appeared for the Alamo Engine and Supply company and agreed to make good any defects with any material in line of pipe on Main street running south from the railroad tracks. "Breaking In" Miss Willy

Story of a Girl on a Ranch

By CLARRISSA MACKIE

Miss Wilhelmina Moore was dressed as she had been had worked for many months and had made money. She made it her friends in the town where she lived did not know and she did not enlighten them.

Just why Miss Moore kept her profession or her business a secret was a mystery. Some said that it was because she was ashamed of it, some that she did not care to tell, others she made so much money when they all go into the same line and that she did not enlighten them.

However these things were all hidden had come back home from one of her trips, long time ago, looking as if she had been kept. Her doctor gave her a tonic, but it did not help.

Wilhelmina's pulse showed a big ranch to be near, and the moment her doctor suggested an out of door life she thought that she would like to visit for a few days on the ranch.

At 6:30 they got out from the Big Y in the boss' big red automobile, escorted by all the cowpunches on horse back.

Inside the family theater the boss gave the hands a sack of reserved seats, while the wife and Willy were escorted to a lower box.

When the theater was filled the lights were turned on and the white screen appeared the scenes of the evening, the favorite film actress, Miss Bill Moore, in "A Lover's Progress."

"There was an indrawn breath of surprise when the charmingly familiar face of Miss Wilhelmina Moore appeared on the screen.

"She could break a ducking broncho, she could throw a lariat and bring a steer," he said, "and she could ride like mad on an unsteady horse, she hang over a precipice and dragged her unperiled lover from certain death, and she was restored to his arms."

"Not a man in the Big Y outfit but was furiously jealous of that screen beauty."

"And when the lights flashed up there was such a thunder of applause that the building threatened to collapse under the weight of it."

"You've broken them all in, honey," murmured the boss, "and you're a Willy out of the car when they reached home. There's one of 'em," but his sister's hand-kerchief-closet his lips, and her face red.

Peasants Were Platinum Buttons. "With that," said the man, "I'll give you an ounce," said a widely known manufacturing jeweler of this city, "it may be hard to give that half a century or so ago possible in Russia were clothing buttons of this metal on their vesting. They were also using it for handles of knives, forks, spoons, and the workmen in the jewelry shops were using it for making 'pickle' pans, a contrivance, now made of copper, that plays quite an important part in the making of jewelry. At that time platinum cost $3 an ounce, and as Russia it was so little use for it that the Russian government decided to make some of it in lieu of silver. The Russian people, however, were ignorant of the new metal, fearing that it had no value, and it was not long before the coins were out of circulation. It was then that they began to appear as buttons and to be melted for purposes more utilitarian than decorative." New York Times.

Man as a Meat Eater. "That man has eaten beef, pork and mutton for the last few years," said Professor M. W. Lyon, Jr., of the George Washington University, in an article in Science, from the life history of three of the Toulou signata, or beef tapeworm, Oeuvola solium, or pork tapeworm, and Diphilobothrium latum, or fish tapeworm, which he differentiated. Part of their lives they spent in human beings, part in the animals from which they are named, and both these hosts are necessary to their development.

"We have no evidence that species of man," said Professor Lyon, "and the species have probably had as slow an evolution as man. The conclusion seems clear that the present day cattle and pigs or their immediate ancestors, and perhaps himself, for as many ages as needed for these factors to attain their present degree of differentiation."

"Three Sheets in the Wind." "What was the excuse for drunkenness, three sheets in the wind?" a landsman asked a sailor the other day. "Well," said the sailor, "it's the only excuse I know. The two lower corners of a ship's sail are held taut by two ropes, one called a tack and another called a sheet. The sheet is always very tight, but the tack is looser according to the wind, and the looser the sheet is the more freely the sail swings. If the sail is quite tight, it is said to be 'in the wind.' Now, suppose that all three of a ship's sails were quite tight. They would then fly about very crazily, and the work would be ruined. The course of the ship would be a zig-zag one, and the reason for this would be that the sails were 'in the wind.' That, I guess, is why a man when he sighs in his course is said to be 'three sheets in the wind' also."

Proper Breathing. "To breathe properly take a deep, slow breath, another and another. Put both hands on the chest and as you breathe in and out. Put one hand on the low ribs in front and the other opposite it on the back. The chest and back swell as you breathe. There is a powerful muscle called the diaphragm that lies between the chest and the abdomen. As the heart and lungs are in the chest, the diaphragm may be called the floor of the chest. It is fastened to the backbone, the ribs and the sternum, or breastbone. And when people speak of diaphragmatic breathing, they mean they are using the now-filling the lungs with air and emptying them by the expansion and contraction."

Banked Rails. In rounding a curve the tendency of the weight of a train is invariably to shift to the outside. To overcome this tendency the outer rail of a curve is raised on a higher level than the inside, the angle of the curve is raised in proportion to the sharpness of the curve as determined by the principles of engineering. If both rails of a curved track were of exactly the same elevation a train would not dare round it at high speed.

In Behalf of Accuracy. The reporter was interviewing the leading politician. "Er," said the politician, "is the age of steel, and?" "Pardon me, please," interrupted the interviewer, "but in behalf of accuracy I should like to know what word?" "Browning's Magazine."

Diplomatic. "I want you to sell the fair society leader," to give me a plain option as to my latest photograph." "Thank you," said the society leader, "to specify in plain terms that portrait would be impossible!" -London Telegraph.

Difficult Sympathy. The bride to be—"My only wish is about mother. She's bound to miss me terribly. I'll try to make her as comfortable as I can." "Well, she can't complain. After all, she's had you longer than most mothers keep their daughters."—Sydney Bulletin.

Fatal Error. "I thought I had given up burnt wood art, dearie." "Ferdinand, how can you be so foolish? This is a pie!"—Kansas City.

BANK ROBBERS TAKEN NEAR NEBRASKA TOWN

Sioux City, Ia., Dec. 9.—The two men who robbed the Winslow state bank at Winslow, Neb., yesterday afternoon were caught by a posse in the woods near Winnebago, Neb., last night.

The two bandits were captured after they had overcome City Marshal Clinton Huffman of Winnebago and damaged him. They then ran to the woods which they were surrounded by a posse. The farmers closed in on them and they surrendered.

They admitted to Winslow robbery, but refused to give their names.

$1,000 in Gold Found

A bag containing $1,000 in gold and silver, on which the name of the Winslow bank was printed, was found in the woods. It is believed they hid some of the loot in the woods. In running away from Huffman, the men carried in a sack containing $500 in silver. This bag also had the name of the Winslow bank printed on it.

The robbers are being held for Sheriff Pat Dorsey of Pender, Neb. A description of the men follows: One middle aged, smooth face; one with right eye, weighs 175 pounds, considerably gray and dark complexioned.

The other robber is smooth face, weighs about 165 pounds; one man, with a beard, weighs 150 pounds, well dressed.

Fremont, Neb., Dec. 9.—At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon two bandits who drove a speedy-looking automobile held up Assistant Cashier Ruwe of the Winslow state bank at Winslow, twelve miles north of Fremont. The robbers got between $2,000 and $7,000 in cash and escaped.

Cashier George Voll was standing in the bank lobby and Assistant Cashier Ruwe was standing at the cashier's window when the robbers, who had driven up in their automobile, leisurely entered. Suddenly they flashed their pistols. One of them covered Ruwe and the other covered Voll. They demanded cash and then forced themselves behind the counter. They secured all the money in sight.

At this time several Winslow people were in the street, not far from the bank, which is a cement block building on Winslow's main thoroughfare. These persons in the street saw the robbers as they fled. Winslow bank was being "stuck up."

Escape In an Auto.

The two young bankers hardly had time to recover from their shock before the robbery had been completed and the two bandits were getting away. The men ran out of the bank carrying their loot, which they threw into the rear seat. They climbed into the front seat and drove off. They traveled for three miles and then turned north, indicating that Sioux City might be their destination.

They traveled about 10 miles, a farmer was that near the bridge east of town, this automobile, a Buick-six with nickel plated bumpers, was joined by another car, that fell in behind it. What part this latter car played in the holdup is uncertain. It was said that the occupants of this car apparently were in waiting for the robbers.

Traced Fifteen Miles

The robbers were seen fifteen miles north and east of Winslow shortly before 3 o'clock.

Posses of farmers were formed and a score of automobiles started in pursuit.

At about 10 miles north of Winslow Sheriff W. C. Condit at Fremont was notified by telephone fifteen minutes after the robbery. He directed the pursuit by means of telegrams.

Sheriff Condit, Chief of Police Peterson, Patrolman Claid Clark and J. C. Cook left for Winslow in Sheriff Condit's car.

Before leaving Sheriff Condit telephoned to the sheriffs of all the county seats in surrounding counties, Sioux City and Omaha and gave descriptions of the bandits.

Sheriff Condit expected the robbers to head for Missouri river and he sent out word to have all crossings watched carefully.

Tall and Short One.

The two young bank officers as well as several other citizens are able to furnish good descriptions of the robbers.

One of the men is tall and dark haired, with a full growth of beard. He wore a brown hat. The other man is short, smooth-shaven and stout.

The Winslow State bank is one of the strong county banks of Dodge county. It was established in 1907, soon after the Burlington built here.

It is located in Sioux City, A. H. Ruwe is president. The capital is $20,000 and loans are $150,000. The bank will not be seriously inconvenienced by its loss.

Two Shots Fired.

Information from the Winslow bank was that one of the robbers fired two shots into the wall of the building, instantly they stopped. This was to frighten the two young officials.

One of them then walked behind the counter and holdings his pistol close to the head of Assistant Cashier Ruwe, demanded that he open the safe. Ruwe opened the vault. Then, at command of the robber, he turned over the cash. A checking up showed that about $6,500 is missing. The loss is covered by burglary insurance.

About five minutes were consumed by the robbers in accomplishing their task. Meaning no one, but Cashier Voll and his assistant knew what was going on.

It was said that when the men first drove to Winslow they stopped in front of the bank and looked in, but did not attempt to enter until about five minutes later. In the meantime they searched some tobacco at a store. They left their car in front of the bank.

ported to have obtained about $7,000 and a jail is still being made for each.

In Jail at Pender. Both men arrested and lodged in the county jail at Pender gave "John Doe" names. A description furnished of one of them closely answers that of Sioux City men who had records as crooks.

Judge Cook, county attorney, and W. C. Condit, sheriff of Dodge county, who trailed the robbers out of Winslow northward, are bending their efforts to find more cash and get a line on the identities of the robbers.

The prisoners will be taken from Pender to the Dodge county jail at Fremont today.

Car Stolen at Omaha. Omaha, Dec. 9.—The automobile used by the Winslow bank robbers is the property of Roger Homan of Omaha. It was stolen Thursday night from his garage within forty feet of the sleeping porch occupied by Mr. Homan. The robbers filed the lock off the garage.

The car is reported almost a complete wreck, having struck a stump while the robbers were driving at high speed in their flight from Winslow. A bullet hole through the rear seat testifies to the good marksmanship of some of their pursuers.

THE FIELD OF BUSINESS. If we are not convinced we can use it, the New York money market reached its climax on Monday last when call money was quoted at 15 per cent. This is the highest rate for three years, being 10 per cent over the mark reached during the week the European war broke out.

The real cause of the present high rate is the adoption of the more conservative loaning policy by the banks. The week closed with a replenished bank reserve and money quotations back at a normal basis.

Wheat began the week in a depressed condition, with prices 25 cents under the recent high point. High money rates, embargo talk, reports of submarines in the Atlantic and late news from Europe, all contributed to the depression.

The material recession in prices brought out the European buyers in force and the purchase of some 6,000,000 bushels rapidly sent prices upward. The week closed with a more cheerful feeling among the bidders than on Thursday.

The surprise of the week was a drop of $14 a bale in the price of cotton, following the publication of official figures on spinning operations for the year.

Ferment over high prices continued. A federal investigation of price boosting for speculative purposes is under way, while several states and cities have undertaken investigations along the same line.

A number of cities have raised their eggs and butter dropped aggregate in response to boycotts. Wage increases affecting ten of thousands of workers were announced on account of the increased cost of living.

Recent increases have been taking the form of bonuses by which the employees are given a certain percentage of their yearly earnings. The advantage of this system is that it permits division of abnormal profits with employees without committing concerns to a permanent increase in fixed charges.

Under the bonus system employees' earnings would drop during their normal basis automatically as soon as the earnings of the concerns drop.

Commercially, demand continues to outrun supply and means of distribution. The railroads are proceeding to apply the progressive surcharge system recently approved by the interstate commerce commission.

Under this system shippers must pay increasing heavy charges for cars held more than forty-eight hours. Some shippers claim that the result will be further price increases to the public, due to inability to release the cars within the time specified, but generally the result will be that the regulation will speed up the process of loading and unloading cars.

Holiday buying is proceeding on an enormous scale and it is believed to surpass all former records as to quantity and quality.

TIME TO ACT. Nebraska Farmer: Now is the time, it seems to me, for a concerted effort to secure government ownership of the railroads. I do not mean that I should question in all its phases it is in a state of flux. Railroads are clamoring for rate increases and for the establishment of the state railway commissions. Serious railroad labor troubles are threatening. And on top of all the country is experiencing a breakdown in rail transportation. If ever the time was ripe to press for government ownership of the railroads, it is now. I do not mean that we should take advantage of a combination of circumstances to "put something over" my point is that the railroad question—ultimate must be met by government ownship, and that the seriousness of the present situation makes immediate action desirable. Patching up the regulating system will only prolong the agony. Problems would remain under government ownership of course, but the biggest ones would be solved as soon as the government took the railroads over. I believe that if the country could believe that on government ownership of railroads now the proposition would carry by a tremendous majority. Cannot a way be found to register the sentiment of the country with congress which the railroad question is being considered?

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine with trimmings of silk lace. She wore a veil and wreath and carried an arm bouquet of white and pink carnations. The bride's attendants were Miss Louise Wittler and Miss Betha Reuter. The former, a sister of the bride, was dressed in delicate pink and the latter, a cousin of the bride, wore pale blue. Herman Hese-man, brother of the bridegroom, and August Wittler, brother of the bride, attended Mrs. Hese-man. Miss Hattie Fischer played the wedding march and Rev. ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS. It never looks well for a sloppy woman to be a reformer. A woman not only figures on the last word, but on a good many preceding it. A boy's efforts to wash his hands are the nearest approach to zero in efficiency. What has become of the old-fashioned girl who was a great help to her mother? If a girl thinks she has a voice, she is reasonably willing to give a demonstration to prove it. The fact that it is no disgrace to be poor isn't much consolation to a man when he's broke. Much of mother's popularity with her children is due to the fact that she is willing to wait on them. A poor man can sometimes spend a pleasant evening thinking how generous he would be if he had money.

HON. ANSON A. WELCH.

Elected to succeed himself as one of the judges of the Ninth judicial district. Judge Welch was admitted to the bar before the supreme court of Illinois in 1883, located at Wayne, Neb., in July, 1885 and has resided here since then. He served one term as county superintendent of schools and three terms as county attorney. He was appointed judge of the Ninth judicial district by Governor Sheldon in February, 1907, and was elected to the full term and to fill vacancy without primary or election opposition in November, 1907. He was nominated by the republicans in 1911 without opposition.

HON WILLIAM V. ALLEN.

Elected one of the two judges of the Ninth judicial district to succeed Judge Andrew Oleson. Judge Allen began the practice of law more than forty year ago. He was elected district judge in 1891 and served until 1893 when the state legislature elected him, United States senator. His term expired March 4, 1899. That year he was appointed district judge to succeed Judge Robinson who was elected to congress, but before the time came to qualify he was appointed by Governor Poynter United States senator to succeed Senator Hayward, deceased.

WISNER DEDICATES NEW SCHOOL HOUSE

Wisner, Neb., Dec. 11.—Wisner formerly dedicated its new $40,000 high school building. Friday in the afternoon the building was opened to the public for inspection. Light refreshments were served by the domestic science department. At 4 o'clock the program commenced with music by the high school orchestra. The afternoon speakers were: Co. Sgt. Edward Miller and W. H. Clemmons, state superintendent. The program closed with a number by the high school girls' quartet.

The building was open in the evening from 7 until 8:30 for inspection. At 8:30 a musical program was rendered by the Wisner orchestra. The speakers of the evening were Prof. A. A. Ward of the University of Nebraska and Pres. U. S. Conn of the Wayne State Normal. Pres. E. M. Snyder presented the building to the community and Attorney John Gross made the acceptance address.

The program was rendered as planned with the exception of an address by State Superintendent Thomas who could not be present on account of a previous speaking engagement on this date.

THE PRICE OF FREEDOM.

Lincoln Journal: The United States is discovering to its disgust that democratic capitalism has raised prices for many necessities than are the people of war torn countries. Bread is said to be higher here than in France which is due partly to our wheat for its bread. Steel products are said to be cheaper in Germany withstanding its steel is being feverishly worked up into war materials for its own armies, than in the United States, which is at present. The exceptions might be extended indefinitely.

The difference in price is due to a difference in social philosophy and government practice. The Krupp, perhaps the most active business enterprise in Germany or the world just now, have been allowed to declare only a 12 per cent dividend this year, and half of that is retained by the government as a loan. Compared with the way our own steel magnates have hoarded profits this is extremely modest. Germany has not allowed the play of supply and demand to heap profits for those happening to control the supply in a time of abnormal demand. France likewise has controlled by government the amount of profit a dealer in food or a manufacturer of a necessity should be allowed to take. Thereby prices in war strained countries have in some important instances remained below price levels in prosperous America.

These are the prices we have been paying for our freedom. Rather than have government meddling overmuch with our private affairs we submit to abuses that are with a name too well supervised economic game. Rather than take arbitrary measures against men who have gained economic advantage or privilege and use their advantage to mulct us, we submit to the abuse pending our discovery of a way to end by natural means. Set a despot over us, grant that he be a benevolent despot, and the price of the necessities of life would be sent tumbling overboard. Mr. Rockefeller's income would shortly shrink under arbitrary prices for gasoline, from fifty millions a year to a good deal less than half that. The water in steel stock would begin to drip away. And as to Mr. What's-his-name, the Chicago egg king, he would be off his throne before he could cross his fingers.

But who wants these gains at the cost of submission to a despot? Not we. Emerson quotes Fisher Ames as saying that a despotism is like a ship which floats beautifully but sinks when it strikes a rock; while a republic is like a raft whose passengers have their feet wet half the time, but which floats in spite of breakers. Our feet are good and wet in the economic waters which present conditions have brought our raft into, yet we would rather be in our plight than in that of Germany or France. And ultimately we shall learn to waterproof our raft. That, at least, is the American faith.

Aurora Republican: If we are to have an embargo on food products, by all means let it also apply to munitions of war, cotton and print paper. Farmers are not the only people who are anxious a harvest from present abnormal conditions, nor is the downtrodden laboring man the only fellow who has just made an out-of-pocket loss.
What is sauce for the gander should be reasonably palatable dessert for the female species.
Randolph Times: Have you prepared the poultry house for severe winter weather? If not, why not get it done at once? Do not wait until the damage has been done, but get it right away. By attention now you will relieve much suffering by your fowls and their comfort will be less fatalities in the flock and more eggs during the winter months. Those who fail to prepare for the comfort of poultry now will be compelled to work at it during the icy northern blasts of the winter, so why not now?
Aurora Republican: People in rural districts, particularly in the west, have no conception of the effect of having habits in the city upon the cost of living. The farmer buys his sugar by the 100-pound sack. City consumers buy largely in 2-pound or 5-pound packages. Most of the commodities the city man buys are delivered in the smallest parcels it is practicable for the dealer to sell. Comparatively few city homes have more than a day's supply of food on hand. This method of handling food is necessarily expensive. It takes as much of a clerk's time to sell one pound of sugar as to sell 100 pounds. It costs more than 100 times as much to deliver 100 pounds of sugar in one-pound packages as to deliver it in one package. For the small packages require wrapping paper, twine, handling, entries on bills, etc. The eastern city resident buys his apples by the quarter peck, whereas the westerner buys by the barrel or box. If city people could adopt the western and country method of buying, the high cost of living would be largely solved.

From Ponca Journal, December 15, 1881: At the election next fall will be voted whether the constitution shall be amended so as to confer the right of suffrage upon the women of the state.

It must be very encouraging to those in favor of woman's suffrage to notice that their number is increasing every day, and with great assurance that a large majority of the newspapers of the state have enlisted under the popular banner of the ladies.

But we have heard, and with great surprise and regret, that Father Martin of the Dakota City Argus has come out as a most bitter opponent of the women in this project.

It seems hardly possible that this report can be true, especially when we consider that he is a man of superabundant ability, brave and chivalrous humanitarianism, and who has the most extraordinary gifts as a masterly delineator of all that is great and noble in female character, as appears in his astonishingly romantic and exquisitely repulsive tale, "The Conflict of Love and Money."

He who, by his transcendent pen, can create such an adorably magnificent creature as a Jane, giving her the strength of a bison and the fearlessness of a lion, whereby she is enabled to fight and overcome wickedness, and who with unblanching countenance, firm tread and resolute demeanor, charges, revolver in hand, upon ravaging robbers, shooting and destroying them; he who, we say, is so great, and so noble in female ability, can hardly, if he reflects the matter over, be in favor of refusing to women the right of suffrage.

E. V. TOBE APPOINTED TO PLACE IN NORMAL

Lincoln, Dec. 11.—Attempts to prevent State Superintendent Thompson from putting across anything he might be interested in at the last meeting he would have with the State Normal board, came to naught today when the representatives of the old crowd, which has fought him for years, were unable to gain control.

An attempt was made by Caviness to have the matter put over until another meeting, but the board voted his proposition down by a four to three vote. Superintendent Conn of the Wayne normal proposed both Teed and Yoder for the position, and said that either would be satisfactory. The place carries with it a salary of $155 per month for the first year.

OMAHA'S CLEARINGS EXCEEDED A BILLION

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 13.—Preliminary surveys being made by the bureau of publicity indicate a great increase in volume of business in the various lines during the year. In many lines, the increase will run as high as one hundred per cent.

Omaha has always aspired to clear one billion dollars through its clearing house banks. That has been the peg the high mark has been hung upon. But this year it has been knocked so far away that the billion dollar mark looks small. Omaha's clearings this year will total a billion and one-quarter, or one billion dollars more than its previous banner year.

FUNDS ASSIGNED FOR THE NORMAL SCHOOLS

Lincoln, Dec. 11.—The State Normal board is holding its session of the year this afternoon with Frank Pilger, the new member, present.

In the report of the board it is shown that the following assignments of funds were made to each school from the appropriation for maintenance: Chadron, $85,000; Peru, $180,000; Kearney, $160,000; and Wayne, $120,000, a total of $545,000.

FARMERS CONSIDER IMPORTANT PROBLEM

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 13.—The relation of the prices of farm products to general prosperity is the subject which the Farmers Equity Union has given the subject of the convention will be held in Omaha, December 20, 21 and 22.

A. E. Chamberlain of Aberdeen, S. D. farm paper editor, will open the discussion of this subject. The federal farm loan board act is also given a prominent place in the program, and the attention of a representative from the Washington office will explain the C. O. Drayton of Greenville, Ill., president of the association, and George L. Denny, secretary, predict a large meeting in December. This organization honored Omaha by holding here two years in succession, a tribute to Omaha's territory and its agricultural prominence.

WRONG AGAIN

Harrington Herald: In spite of and notwithstanding the wonderful advances which have been made in the past few years in the sciences, it is just as hard for father to get his socks darned now as it ever was.

It isn't any disgrace to be poor; it's the inconvenience of poverty which makes men sigh for riches.

Making Christmas Cheery

By RUTH SPRAGUE

Sing a song of Christmas trees, Many strange fruits bearing; Gently gifts from overseas, Coolly home wrought gifts that please, With love unwarping.

Sing a song of Christmas thought For the poor and dreary; Glad surprise to and ones brought, No poor little one forgot-- This makes Christmas cheery.

HUMOR AND RELIGION.

Lincoln Journal: The presence of some delightful humor in the scriptures is our warrant for regarding a sense of humor as a religious quality. If the Prophet Elijah could have his fun in his contest with the fireless priests of Baal, who should be without fun? Indeed, it is possible that with little more cultivation of the spiritual sense of humor much troublesome misunderstanding between religious people might have been avoided. For instance, in connection with Jonah and his whale and Elisha and his bears. Most of the religious history which religious people would like to forget would have been less gruesome had more of Elijah's mantle of humor fallen upon his successors in prophecy.

In the support of these hypotheses we find our neighbor Bishop Tilden and his reaction to certain absurd recent occurrences in these parts. There had been what might be called a row of the religious sensibilities. Now such things only grow into feuds among humorless people. Because they live on sordidly and sour bread the Kentucky mountaineers hate to be humiliated, hence their feuds. But thank heaven, ozone fed Nebraska is not in that dangerous situation. The bishop sees with inspired vision that the true essence of the recent tragedy was Constable-Miller's dehumanized but He regrets only that the omnipresent movie man was out of town.

How like a cooling hose upon a perspiring man is said and correctly sound a view of the case. We are safe from an ecclesiastical war in these parts so long as there be such ecclesiastics who know how to laugh. Heavens, if only Europe could be got to laugh for one minute it would quit fighting! In the coming day when uttering science instead of juries determines who are criminals and insane, the man without a sense of humor will be placed under restraint as a dangerous defective.

We would recommend to the Mence that with all haste it employ the best humorist that money can buy. To such of our Catholic neighbors as feel disturbed by criticisms of their religion we offer the same advice. Then we shall all be happier and safer. We are not sure but that humor should be taught in Sunday school and catechism class. For a certainty, along with faith, hope, love, tolerance and such other ingredients as enter into salvation must go, as indispensable as oil in our automobile cylinders, the saving sense of humor.

PROHIBITION AND POLITICS.

Sioux City Journal: In Nebraska, South Dakota and several other states where prohibition has been adopted by constitutional amendment the question was treated as a moral rather than as a political issue. In instances where attempts were made to elect or defeat candidates for nomination or election to public office on the ground that they were for or against prohibition those attempts were quite generally defeated by the voters, who seemed to be able to differentiate very clearly between what a candidate might think concerning prohibition and his general qualifications for the office he sought. This being the case, it is no wonder that Mr. Bryan will succeed in making prohibition the "paramount issue" in the campaign of 1920. This is especially true because the record of non-republican party so far as prohibition is concerned is superior to that of the democratic party save in those southern states where prohibition was adopted by the whites in order to keep the negro population as sober as possible, the southern whites being the only men even going so far as to sacrifice their own liking for an occasional nip in order to keep liquor from the blacks.

John Barleycorn, my Jo John, you've had a merry time; You've put to rout most every lout inside the fighting ring; But state by state declares of late that you are doomed to go; You're passing thru your Waterloo, John Barleycorn, my Jo.

John Barleycorn, my Jo John, you know that this is true, Full many a state declare of late that you are doomed to go; The poor and rich have found the "ditch" because you acted so; You led them to believe, John Barleycorn, my Jo.

John Barleycorn, my Jo John, the "demon" has hady scared; I said no state could pay the freight unless your life was spared; Abominable booze and all must lose—nobody stands show; That sort of chaff must make you laugh, John Barleycorn, my Jo.

John Barleycorn, my Jo John, you've worked for many years, For all you're worth to make the earth a wretched waste of fairs; You're doom is sealed, you sausage-spielt, you've felt the fatal blow— You'll not be raised, the Lord be praised John Barleycorn, my Jo.
